Note and Comment

Ismael Bedard, a French-Canadian farmer, of Charlebourg, Quebec county, claims the distinction for his family of having lived longer in one place than any other family in North America. His forebears have held the same farm without interruption in the succession, since 1623, according to the returns of a questionnaire sent out to parish priests in the province by the Arts and Sciences and Letters Society there. Ismael Bedard, the present owner, has been on the land 30 years. He has a family of grown sons and the house in which he lives is believed to be the original building erected in 1623.

Every small store, as well as many large ones, have to serve a lot of customers under circumstances that involve a loss to the merchant, especially when insignificant purchases must be delivered or charged or both. It frequently happens that the service required in handling small items costs as much or more than the goods themselves. A trade journal recently published a story which illustrates the point. A little girl was sent to buy a nickel's worth of asafetida, to be charged to her mother's account. Asking the name of the mother, the druggist was told that it was Mrs. Schumann Slickemier. He thought for an instant, and then said to the child: "Oh, take it for nothing and run along. It's worth more than a nickel for me to spell asafetida, let alone that name."

As contrasted with many preceding elections, it is a relief, not to have the question of loyalty or disloyalty of any of the parties being impugned. Canadians as a whole are loyal, irrespective of party. Personalities, also are little discussed this time, and the chief discussion is around matters of national policy. There never was a time in Canada when there was also so much for leaders to do to promote unity and harmony amongst the different sections of the Dominion. We have a diversity of interests from one coast to the other, and though it does seem impossible to legislate without any discrimination against any section of the country, that party which can come most closely to that ideal is the one most needed.

A man said to us the other day that the newspapers ought to keep hammering at the fact that vehicles of all kinds should carry some sort of lights when using the highways at night. So they should. A menace so great to the public safety for which there is so easy a remedy demands the attention of everyone with anxiety for life and limb of themselves and their fellow beings. Strange to say the opposition to legislation that would compel so much greater safety on the highways comes from those most in danger. We don't drive a horse and rig; but if we did we are sure we would not want to have the pleasure marred by continuous anxiety as to whether the next driver were going to see us in time to prevent his smashing us up. We would feel immeasurably more secure with a warning lamp of some kind attached to our vehicle in so conspicuous a place that nonns but a drunken driver could fail to miss us. The absence of the lighted lamp on horse-drawn vehicles on this continent is but one of the many examples of disregard for human life so characteristic of America. In this respect our ideals may gradually approach the example set by the Motherland, the people of which so excel in all problems of traffic. Long experience over there taught them the necessity of lights on all vehicles even bicycles. A move towards this in this country will not only make our lives safer but keep our nerves easier. The next session of the Ontario legislature is sure to see this matter discussed; is it too much to hope for some definite steps by our legislators?

WORLD EVENTS IN REVIEW
By G. A. MacBain

Over the atmosphere of rejoicing which has prevailed in Europe and the rest of the world for the past week comes the shadow of doubt with the news that the opponents of the Locarno pacts in Germany are attempting to force an election over the issue. Three Nationalist ministers have resigned and President Hindenburg may be compelled to put the subject of the security pacts before the German people. While, even in that event, the first great and noble attempt to create peace in Europe may be sustained by popular vote, yet it indicates that Germany still has in the councils of her government bitter opponents of co-operation with the allies, men who have not given up their dreams of revenge. As a sign of her good will Great Britain has ordered the withdrawal of her troops from Cologne to Wiesbaden as a preliminary to the placing of the official signatures upon the Locarno pacts at the meeting to be held in London on December 17.

Independent of both sides, one of the results achieved at the Locarno conference has been a new air of optimism in regard to the United States, France, and some of the other European states have now adopted an attitude that Europe will work after her own affairs much better without the interference of Uncle Sam. As President Wilson held the position Germany adopted after the signing of the Treaty of Versailles, naturally the European states are delighted to have achieved such magnificent results at a conference confined entirely to European delegates. In the case of Germany did not have President Wilson there to embarrass the allies and so forced to meet the other delegates on a business-like basis, the German delegates finally agreed to the proposed basis of European peace. President Coolidge is still keen to call a conference on disarmament, but his tentative suggestions are being coldly received by the members of the League of Nations who point to that institution as the proper channel on which to set afloat the ark of disarmament.

France Has Costly War
France in the meantime is facing a new political crisis over the matter of the debt settlement. M. Caillaux faces a hostile chamber of deputies which has declined to accept the terms offered by Washington as being beyond the capacity of France to pay. The war with the Moroccans has proved a costly pastime and nine hundred and sixty million francs have gone into the support of that campaign. Only sixty million francs was voted for the purpose and the department of war has spent nine hundred million francs more than they were authorized to do. There have been more than ten thousand casualties among the French troops exclusive of the colonials.

A Woman's Devotion
The devotion of a Canadian woman to her soldier husband was strikingly indicated in the report that Mrs. T. Whitehead and her daughter, Lorraine, of Victoria, walked nearly fifteen hundred miles to Qu'Appelle, Sask., in an effort to reach Toronto where Mr. Whitehead is ill. Returned soldiers in Qu'Appelle took her case in hand and she was assisted along the rest of the way.

Is It a Cenotaph?
Toronto is to unveil the official municipal cenotaph on Armistice Day but in the meantime there has raged a controversy over the inscription. In the original design the words "To the Fallen" were to have appeared, but the inscription now reads "This, all who served, 1914-1918." This, of course, for the present removes the suggestion of the memorial being a cenotaph, intended to be a representation of a grave. In the years to come when the survivors of the world war have all died, it will indeed be a cenotaph, but for the present ex-soldiers ask if they are expected to parade in honor to themselves, and lay wreaths to their own glory at the foot of the stone? The strongest protests comes from the returned men, including the blind soldiers and inmates of the military hospitals and the suggestion has even been made that the memorial be torn down and rebuilt as a cenotaph.

Use Eggs in Election
Glasgow University students take their politics seriously as indicated by the report of the election contest to decide who is to be rector of that institution. There were three candidates, Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, G. K. Chesterton, the famous man of letters, and Sydney Webb, the ex-Labor Minister. The electorate, it appears, have been collecting eggs for a year past and on election day no less than twenty thousand bad eggs added "atmosphere" to the intensely exciting balloting. Chamberlain won the contest with 1,242 votes, Chesterton followed with 968 and Webb was a poor third with 285 votes.

Communists on Trial
The government of Great Britain is manifesting a strong hand in the matter of the twelve Communists who have been arrested and charged with conspiring against the peace of the people. The trial is taking place at the famous Bow Street Police Station, London, and the supporters of the prisoners gather outside the prison waving red flags and singing Red songs in defiance of the law. John Ross Campbell, editor of the Workers' Weekly, and the man over whom indirectly the Labor government came to grief last year, is one of the prisoners. They are accused of seeking to overthrow the government by force, of antagonizing the various classes of society and "camping with the loyalty" of the army and navy.

New War in Balkans
The flame of war has again broken out in the Balkans and Greece and Bulgaria have developed all the symptoms of a bad attack of war fever. While Bulgaria may have irritated the Greeks in retaliation, it remains a fact that Greek troops have actually taken up their position on Bulgarian territory. Bulgaria made an appeal to the League of Nations for intervention and M. Briand, acting president of the League, called a meeting for Monday to deal with the problem, a meeting which was attended by Austen Chamberlain, as both France and Britain are distressed by the outbreak of war following so closely on their peace efforts at Locarno. It is indicated that the great powers will use very possible effort to quench the fiery spirits of the Greek and Bulgarian militarists.

Both combatants agree to accept the ruling of the League, and Greece explains that her army became unruly and got beyond control.
The manager of beauty shows says the contestants are beautiful but dumb. Dumb belles, we assume.—Montreal Herald.

Joy Kills By Shock
It has often been said that joy never kills, but a sad case which proves to be the exception to this rule is reported from Bridgeburg. Frederick Clark, who has been blind for twenty years and whose persistent cheerfulness and hopefulness had inspired his friends with the idea of raising funds for an operation which might restore his sight, underwent the operation and when the bandages were removed he discovered that he could actually see. The excitement, however, was too great, and he died of shock within four hours.

FACTS ABOUT MEAT

INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO RAISE AND THOSE WHO EAT.

Why Meat Is Tough — Sources of Meat — Nutritive Value — Inspection — Late Blight of Potato.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The annual per capita consumption of meat has almost doubled during the last fifty years. Refrigeration, and increased facilities for transportation have been important factors in the development. In the United States and England as late as 1870, the average man ate only a few pounds of meat for the year. The public markets was unclean and was used of course, and the meat was of inferior quality.

Meat is due to the fact that the animal will, for the most part, eat what is put before it. The quality of the meat is largely determined by the quality of the feed.

The nutritive value of meat depends upon the presence of proteins and fats. The meat bases, or nitrogenous extracts have little food value. These meat bases are the principal substances in beef extracts. Beef extracts, while of no great nutritive importance, are valued because their ingredients are in a state of solution and therefore easily absorbed by people whose digestion is at fault.

Meat Inspection. So long as animals are permitted to be slaughtered in any barn or cellar, it is impossible to exercise a proper control over meat as sold by butcher shops in the smaller cities and towns. In the large city abattoirs in Toronto and Montreal, the Government inspectors send to the tank carcasses that are not fit for human food, approximately one per cent of all slaughtered. No one is inspecting the cut in the country, or small town kill, and apparently everything goes to market. It is unpleasant to close one's teeth on a caseated, tubercular lesion, or on the cystic form of a tape worm, while eating dinner. But we are doing it, and in our ignorance do not seem to mind. If all meats were Government inspected, the per capita consumption of meat would increase. People must have meat, all like it, and all are interested in the conditions under which it is prepared.

Late Blight of Potato. The damage done by this destructive vine disease is largely dependent upon weather conditions. During cool and wet seasons it spreads rapidly, doing great destruction to the potato foliage if not checked through the timely application of Bordeaux Bordeaux spray.

The first symptoms of the disease show up as small, irregular, yellowish green spots on the leaves which quickly turn brown, and may cover the leaf in two days. On the under surface a white mildew-like growth appears bearing the spores which spread the disease to other plants. With climatic conditions just right a crop may be destroyed in three or four days. One infested plant will infect a field. If the weather is wet and cool watch for symptoms and, if noted, spray with Bordeaux at ten day intervals.—Dept. of Extension, O.A.C., Guelph.

THE LIGHT OF OTHER DAYS.

Some Amusing Stories of Well-Known People.

Many stories are told of the journalist's ingenuity and resource in gathering news for his paper. One of the best concerns the famous De Blowitz, a former correspondent of the London Times.

At the time of the Conference at Berlin in 1878, the utmost precautions had been taken to prevent news leaking out, and every journalist in Berlin was at his wits' end to discover anything. De Blowitz had an "accomplice," a young man attached to one of the diplomats. He was to bring De Blowitz word of all that happened.

It would have been fatal to success for the pair to have been seen speaking together, so the following ruse was arranged: Every day the young man came to lunch at De Blowitz's hotel with the news of the day in the lining of his hat. When he left he took De Blowitz's hat instead of his own, and the correspondent thereupon took possession of the hat containing the news.

One day the conspirators had a scare, for one of De Blowitz's rivals took the hat by mistake! Luckily he returned it without finding what was hidden inside. Thus "the Times," one of the newspapers, had accounts of the conference as they were being given. De Blowitz is as follows:—

"I learned a good deal about babies of which I was ignorant before," he said. "For one thing, I never realized that their feeding was so complicated. I thought one gave them an occasional bottle, and the chief object was to stop them from howling!"

That is, possibly, the chief masculine object; but, happily for the babies, there are feminine folk with other less selfish notions.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Verdun, Montreal, Quebec. — "I am one of thousands who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have great faith in it. I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and I shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had." — Mrs. THOS. H. GARDNER, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere.

BROOKE

Service in St. James' church will be at three p.m., next Sunday, Nov. 1st.

The Young Country School Ma'am, a play full of fun and containing good moral will be given on Nov. 6th, in the 6th line Bethesda United Church, Brooke, by the Bethesda Dramatic Club. Good orchestra between acts. Admission 35c and 25c. Concert begins at eight p.m. sharp.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed in Chalmers church on Sunday forenoon. This service will be the closing one in Rev. Mr. Mackintosh's ministry, before he leaves to take over the charge of Burns church, Milverton.

The Rally Day service at Bethesda United church last Sunday, Oct. 18th proved to be a decided success in spite of the inclement weather. Thirteen young ladies took the several parts in costume, three representing Canadian C.G.I.T. girls and the others representing the lands in which the United church is carrying on Missions. The pageant represented the problem of the races. Peace exhorted the young Canadians to demonstrate a better way of putting an end to the differences than by the sword. A good-sized audience took part in the singing and worship and everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy the Rally exercises.

Next Sunday, Nov. 1st, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in Bethesda at 11 o'clock, and at Walnut at 2:30. Salem people are cordially invited to join in either morning or afternoon service. No service at Salem in evening.

OBITUARY

MR. DAVID ROCHE

After a lingering illness, David Roche, a pioneer in Watford, died at his home, 397 Parkville, on Wednesday, Oct. 29th, at the age of 70 years.

Mr. Roche was the 800-mile wick, Ont., August 16th, to England for many years, carrying on a grocery business in Watford. He was accompanied by his brother, Thomas, who purchased the hotel property known as the Roche House, and continued in the business for twenty-five years. Like all his brothers, Mr. Roche was a lover and breeder of thoroughbred horses and an enthusiastic sportsman. In the eighties, he was one of Ontario's outstanding rifle shots, having won numerous prizes as a marksman. He was one of the six brothers that belonged to the famous Watford fire hose team. For eleven years he was chief of the Fire Department and during his rule brought the department to a high degree of efficiency.

Owing to poor health, five years ago, he gave up business and moved to Toronto with his family. Since then his health gradually failed, until death claimed him. He was one whose history today leaves, here in Watford and in Toronto, an example of an ideal citizen and a perfect Christian.

Besides his wife, formerly Mary A. O'Meara, London, Ont., there are left to mourn his loss four sons, Jno. B. Toronto; Fred L., Vancouver; C. J. Montreal; and Dr. Norbert J. Chicago; four daughters, Mrs. Edith Langan at home; Sister Mary Margaret, St. Michael's Hospital, Miss Loretta at home and Mrs. O. P. Sullivan, Toronto. Also five brothers, Thomas, Watford; Michael, Forest, John, Stratford; Charles, Pt. Huron; and William, London; and one sister, Mrs. Emma O'Meara, Detroit.

On Friday morning, Oct. 23rd, the funeral took place from his late home to St. Vincent de Paul church, where many friends paid their last respects to one they loved. Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Ryan, with Rev. Father Culliton as deacon, and Rev. Father Smith, sub-deacon. Rev. Father C. James was present in the Sanctuary. The pallbearers were his four brothers, Thomas, Michael, John and Charles; and Frank Hillis and Sam Mitchell of Toronto.

Interment was made in Mount Hope cemetery, Toronto. Among those from a distance who attended the funeral of the late David Roche, Toronto, were Charles M. Roche, Montreal; Dr. Norbert J. Roche, Chicago; Mrs. Emma O'Meara and son Michael, Detroit; Thomas Roche, Watford; Michael Roche, Forest; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roche, of Port Huron; John Roche and son, Murray, Stratford; Mrs. A. McDonald, Wingham; Mrs. F. Hubbard, Forest; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. O'Meara, Lewiston, Pa.; James and Daniel McIntyre, London; Charles McManus, Sarnia; and Dr. J. McGillicuddy, Watford.

The Detroit river bridge, as now being planned will be the longest suspension bridge in the world. The proposed bridge is of the suspension type, with a span of 1,850 feet below the harbor piers. A clearance of 110 feet is sufficient to permit the passage of any boat which can navigate the Great Lakes. A 47-foot roadway will accommodate five lines of traffic.

Rev. W. Mackintosh in London account of the death of Mrs. W. Jenkins.

Miss Colleena Taylor, Lorne ave, Petrolia, on Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Campbell, who was 59 years, 3 months and 5 days old, had spent the most of her life in the vicinity of Shiloh, Ennisville township. She was an active member in the Shiloh United church and was well liked by a host of friends. Deceased spent the past six months at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Taylor, where she died on Thursday morning. She is survived by one son, Nelson Campbell of Shiloh, one daughter, Mrs. E. Taylor, Petrolia; two brothers, William Springstead of Carletonville, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Charles Graham of Sarnia; one grandson also survives. Rev. James W. Fenrose officiated at the funeral, which was largely attended. He was assisted by Rev. A. Murray Stuart of St. Paul's United church of Petrolia. The floral offerings were very beautiful and of large number; the pallbearers were William Campbell; R. Graham, A. Graham, M. Murray, Wm. Cuthers and Frank Clancy. Interment took place in Oil City cemetery.

Crushed stone is being placed on Alvinston's main street, to cover the rough surface resulting from a hard season's wear.

Five years in Kingston penitentiary was the sentence meted out to the three young Toronto women, Isobel Prouse, Bessie Carroll and Jennie McMinn on a charge of murder. This is the case in which the three girls, inmates of the women's jail farm, bound and gagged the night matron, Margaret Mick, and made their escape the night of May 24th last. Miss Mick was found dead the following morning having been strangled to death.

A WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

No Wonder Health Gives Out and She Becomes Weak and Despondent

It is literally true concerning woman in the home that her work is never done. She starts with housework when she rises in the morning and is kept busy up to the time she retires at night. The work must be done whether she is feeling well or not. It is no wonder that she often breaks down under the strain. She becomes breathless at slight exertion, feels exhausted if she walks up stairs. Headaches and dizzy spells become frequent, and life seems a burden. Much of this trouble is due to the fact that her blood has become thin and watery, and to regain her good health she must take a reliable blood-enriching tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The value of this tonic medicine is shown by the statement of Mrs. Mary Nolan, Lintlaw, Sask., who says: "When I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was a physical wreck. It was with great difficulty that I could do light housework. I suffered from headaches, my heart would beat violently at the least exertion, and I always felt tired and depressed. I did not sleep well at night, and I had no appetite—my limbs would swell as in dropsy. It was at this stage that a neighbor advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had used the pills for some weeks before I began to feel their benefit, and thus encouraged I continued taking them for several months, when I was again as strong and well as ever I had been. I have no hesitation in saying that these pills are a remarkable blood builder, and strength renewer and I shall ever be grateful for what they did for me."

You can get these pills from your druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHILDREN LIKE THEM

Baby's Own Tablets Are Effective and Easy to Give

You do not have to coax and threaten to get the little ones to take Baby's Own Tablets. The ease with which they are given, as compared with liquid medicines, will appeal to every mother. None is spilled or wasted; you know just how big a dose has reached the little stomach. As a remedy for the ills of childhood arising from derangements of the stomach and bowels they are most satisfactory.

Mrs. Rose Voyer, Williamstown, Conn., says: "I used Baby's Own Tablets in the Canadian Northwest and found them a wonderful medicine for children's troubles, especially indigestion and constipation. I have also given them to my children for simple fever and the restlessness accompanying teething and they always gave relief. I can recommend Baby's Own Tablets to all mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Wrong Extreme

By MARY JORDAN GARTH

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"Bound for the city, eh?"

"Yes, Allen," replied bluff, hearty and handsome Marvin Farr, young enough to be in love with life and all its concomitants, and old enough to be engaged to Mrs. Eunice Brayton, a widow of twenty-eight, pretty as a picture and having like himself a comfortable amount of means.

"I suppose your property there needs looking after occasionally," submitted Farr's friend.

"Yes, that, and, confidentially—I'm to look for a wedding ring."

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed Allen, with genuine pleasure in his face.

"Yes, I've been engaged to Mrs. Brayton since the first of the year, and we're to be married next month."

"You deserve congratulations, old fellow!" declared Allen warmly. "She is a charming lady and you should be very happy."

When he first reached Columbus, Farr had gone to the office of a life insurance company. Next day he had a hotel he received a letter from a physician of that name.

He thrust it into his pocket, and glanced it over he fairly started.

He did not sleep that night. He went about like a man with fearsome dread. He quickened his pace whenever he passed a jewelry store, he had no heart in business, and put in time wandering idly about.

One day, coming out of a stock broker's office where he had sat casually viewing blackboard and crowd, he came plump up against Arnold Day, the brother of his fiancée.

"Why, Farr!" exclaimed Day. "What's the matter? You look ill."

"Oh, just a touch of indigestion," evaded Farr and Day went on his way, puzzled and wondering.

At the end of a week Farr returned to his home town. He called upon Eunice. She could not help but notice the change in him. He was preoccupied, had lost weight and amazed her at his second call by saying:

"Eunice, I'm going to ask you to postpone the wedding. Something came up in the city that requires my attention for some time to come."

"Marvin, dear, if it is your business, or the lack of money," began the loyal Eunice, "you know what I have in yours."

"Oh, dear! No! Nothing of that kind," asserted Farr stanchly. "Don't ask me to go into details. If you wouldn't mind, let us put off the wedding for a time."

"Most surely, Marvin, provided you let me know your special worry when it gets too hard for you to bear alone."

"So affairs drifted on as they had done, only that Eunice began to fret over the great change in her promised husband. One day she told her brother all her vague fears.

"Why, I think I can figure it out," said the latter. "I remember now that I met Farr in the city coming out of one of those speculation joints where men lose thousands in an hour. I'll wager Farr has been foolish enough to invest in some wildcat stock and has lost his money."

Forthwith, Eunice approached Farr on the subject. She accompanied it with a memorandum of her means. "It's all yours, Marvin," she said generously. "Come, use it to help you out of your difficulties and become the smiling contented man you were."

Farr was touched deeply. Here was a proof of the earnest love of his confiding fiancée that was simply irresistible. His eyes grew humid, his voice trembled with emotion as he said, "Eunice, I am going to tell you all about it. I have postponed the wedding because I may not live long."

"Marvin! how ridiculous!" immediately cried out Eunice. "Oh dear! What has ever put that nonsensical rubbish in your head?"

"The best authority in the world," declared Farr gravely. "It is heart-rending to think that the future bears no hope for me, because you can never become my wife. I may not live a year."

"If it were only a month, dear, all the more should I wish to be your nurse, your wife."

"You see," confessed Farr reluctantly, "at Columbus I was examined for life insurance to be made out in your favor. I received the report on my application next day—declined! I think I have the report here. I haven't had the nerve to look at it since I received it," and Farr groped in his pocket and brought to light the document in question.

Eunice grew pale as she read it. According to its contents Marvin Farr was afflicted with hereditary ailments which had already secured a destructive hold on his bodily functions. She gasped, she turned the sheet over in her hands helplessly. Then she sprang to her feet with a hysterical, but joyous cry.

"Oh Marvin!" she palpitated, "this was not for you. See on the back: 'Report on Walter Doyle.' That's not you. My dear! my dear! don't you understand? They sent you the wrong report, and this Walter Doyle is probably the happiest man in the world because he has been pronounced a perfect paragon of health."

And Eunice threw her arms about the neck of the man she loved, lit suddenly from the lowest depths misery to the radiant held light.

Why Glasgow?

The newly-published "Place-names" has shed light on the origin of some of our cities and towns.

How many people in Glasgow know the origin of the name?

It is derived from the Celtic word "glas" meaning "green" and "gow" meaning "hill" or "mountain".

Nottingham, the name of the city, is derived from the Saxon words "not" meaning "wood" and "ingham" meaning "dwelling place".

Tydfil was derived from the Welsh words "ty" meaning "house" and "dfil" meaning "white".

Now the centre of the town, Tiverton, is derived from the Saxon words "tiver" meaning "ford" and "ton" meaning "town".

London, the name of the city, is derived from the Saxon words "lunden" meaning "stronghold" and "wic" meaning "dwelling place".

At a pigeon race which have been held at the Black distance of a mile and three-quarters, raises an interest in the limit of a few years back.

There are numerous birds in England which have been bred by the carrier pigeons.

Ordinary letter and precision, was the 800-mile journey from Marseilles, to England has been covered by a single day.

Cost of Locomotive Whistle.

It is estimated that every time an ordinary locomotive whistle is blown it uses the steam produced by two pounds of coal.

Thus the ordinary locomotive wastes 36 pounds of coal and 140 pounds of water an hour in whistling.

Britain's Unfinished Buildings.

Building public structures in Great Britain is a matter not to be conducted hurriedly or carelessly. For instance, it was recently announced that the County Hall, Westminster, will not be fully completed for another half a century.

This is not the only example of a famous building being unfinished after many years' labor. When the present Home Office was built fifty years ago it was intended to embellish it with four towers. These have never been erected, although provision was made for them by the architect.

St. Paul's Cathedral has never been finished according to the plans of Sir Christopher Wren, while the Law Courts have many niches that have never been filled, as well as numerous blank shields on which heraldic devices were to have been carved. Again, on the Thames Embankment there are several pedestals awaiting monuments or statuary, while Somerset House has various omissions in the form of unfilled niches and other decorative details. The Houses of Parliament, too, have never been completed in strict conformity with the architect's designs.

The Seven Wise Men.

The Seven Sages of Wise Men of Greece and the motto of each, were: Solon of Athens, "Know Thyself"; Chilo of Sparta, "Consider the end"; Thales of Miletos, "Who hateth suretyship is sure"; Bias of Priene, "Most men are bad"; Cleobolus of Lindos, "The golden mean," or "Avoid extremes"; Pittagoras of Mitylene, "Seize Time by the Forelock"; Perlander of Corinth, "Nothing is impossible to industry."

Town Children More Fit.

Children attending country schools are not now so fit as the town pupils, according to the annual report of the British Board of Education. Migration of the most fit people to towns and bad housing are two of the suggested causes of the decline in rural physique.

All Male Calves Do Not Make Good Bulls.

No breeder should expect every calf dropped to develop into an animal suitable for the breeding herd, but too many insist on selling every male calf for a bull. The breeder who will ultimately produce the best cattle, command the highest prices, and satisfy customers will keep only the best bulls.

Cheapest of all Oils.—Considering the qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it. a14-m

Canada's Wool, Woollen and Knit Goods Industry at the C. N. E.

1. Mrs. Cockshutt, wife of the Lt.-Gov. of Ontario, looking exceedingly smart in an "all-Canadian" costume, in which she attended the opening of the Canadian Woollen Goods exhibit at the C. N. E. The two-piece sports costume is of pearly purple tulle, lined with grey at the collar, cuffs and pockets, the wool being grey, spun, dyed and knitted in Canada. The ensemble coat is of grey marvella, a magnificent specimen of pile cloth with a silken finish from a Canadian loom. The coat has a straight back with kodet front, with a shawl collar and cuffs of grey Canadian baby lamb, lined with grey flat crepe silk produced by the silk industry of Canada. Grey shoes and stockings, and a purple cloche hat, completed the "all-Canadian" costume.

2. Exhibit of Canadian Woollen Knit Goods machinery at the C.N.E.

3. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario opening the exhibit of Canada's Wool, Woollen and Knit Goods Industry at the C. N. E. He is seen wearing a suit of milled worsted made from wool grown on the Alberta ranch of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. Mrs. Cockshutt is looking at the prize bred Canadian lamb presented to her by the officers of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association.

Tens of thousands of people obtained an entirely new idea of the wool growing and wool manufacturing possibilities in Canada at the exhibit of the Wool, Woollen and Knit Goods Industry at the Canadian National Exhibition. The pillars of wool from the nine provinces of Canada supplied by the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers Association excited considerable comment, and emphasized the fact that although we maintain only 2,500,000 sheep and lambs in Canada, the size, feed conditions and climate would permit the keeping of 25,000,000, and that sheep keeping is the most profitable branch of agriculture. Also that of the 70,000,000 lbs. of wool used annually to clothe the population of our country, some 50,000,000 could be grown here instead of only 15,000,000 lbs. as at present. The small factory installed with twenty operatives showed the actual manufacture in Canada of fine
