FIFTEEN THOUSAND PEOPLE AT ANNUAL LENNOX PICNIC

Biggest Open Air Gathering in the Country Attended by Visitors From All Parts of Ontario—Speeches Delivered by Cabinet Ministers and Members.

(By a Staff Reporter.) JACKSON'S POINT, July 16.—There is always a large crowd at North York's Conservative rally, the T. H. Lennox picnic, but the Queen's weather yesterday and the recent victory in North Grey both assisted in establishing a record. As near as could be roughly estimated, there must have been 15,000 people on the grounds. Not just residents in the district either, but people from York, Simcoe and Peel Counties.

Part of the Crowd at the Lennox Picnic

Fifteen thousand people were at Jackson's Point yesterday at T. H. Lennox's annual outing. The World staff photographer also was there, and took this photograph of a small section of the crowd.

Fugality of Richmond Hill, and others. Some Fine Speeches. Alex McCowan said a few words of congratulation and expressed his pleasure at being present. Dr. William Smith, who followed, said that he too was glad to be in North York, if only for the purpose of congratulating the people of the riding on the able representatives they had in parliament in Jack Armstrong, M.P., and T. H. Lennox, M.L.A. Referring to Dominion affairs, he said that since the election of the Borden Government, the opposition, by means of the senate, had prevented many good bills from becoming law, particularly the naval bill, but he was quite confident that a day was close at hand when the senate would cease to be a bar to progress and the carrying out of the people's will. Jack Armstrong, M.P. for the riding, availed himself of the opportunity to express his renewed appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by his constituents. Talking of the work of the past session at Ottawa, and the long fight over the naval bill, he said the gag had not been applied nearly as soon as it should have been. Laurier's dealings with the senate reminded him of a cowboy in a western town shooting at the feet of a new arrival and saying: "Dance, you devils, dance." That was practically what Laurier had said to the senate. There was one man on the Liberal side in the senate to whom he wished to pay a tribute; the late Senator Ellis, who after a life of 60 or 70 years, was still big enough and broad enough to realize that his country was more to him than his party. "The Liberals," continued Mr. Armstrong, "said, 'We have killed you, but I want to say to you that it's a very life corpse, and the time is not far distant when the people of Canada will be able to lift up their heads and look their fathers in the face in the other colonies of the empire, in the face.' No Place for Politics. "This is not a place to talk politics," said the Hon. James S. Duff, "and some of us have had a surfeit of politics during the past few days in North Grey." (Cheers) "The recent election in that riding goes to show that the people of Ontario will not fail to support a good honest government. After such a surfeit of politics, it seems unnecessary to refer to the charges which were made an issue in that election. Nobody really believed them and the confidence of the people of Ontario in Premier Whitney and Mr. Hanna was still unshaken." A Great Welcome. Everybody cheered when the chair-

TO TAKE MOVIES AT SEA'S BOTTOM

J. E. Williamson Already Has Taken Snapshots Under Ocean.

TURN CAMERA ON FISH

Will Go to Bermuda to Get Some Good Show Material.

NEW YORK, July 16.—J. Ernest Williamson, who has been taking pictures under the sea at Hampton Roads, came to New York yesterday from Norfolk, Va. He is here to conduct an exhibit at the Grand Central Palace this week at the first international exposition of the moving picture art, and he will show photographs of the wonderful things he has seen with his camera down under the water.

Williamson has taken only snapshots as well as have taken pictures of the fishes that passed before his lens, except that he couldn't get a moving picture camera at Norfolk. However, he will take motion pictures on the trip to the tropics which he will undertake within six months. This will be the nearest achievement in the picture art.

Williamson is a man of slight, fair-haired man of 34 years, although he looks considerably younger. He is the son of Capt. J. H. Williamson, who invented the flexible submarine tube from which the photographs under the water have been taken. Three years ago he was a photographer for The Virginia Pilot at Norfolk. A year ago he was drawing cartoons for The Philadelphia Record. He has also been a mechanical draughtsman.

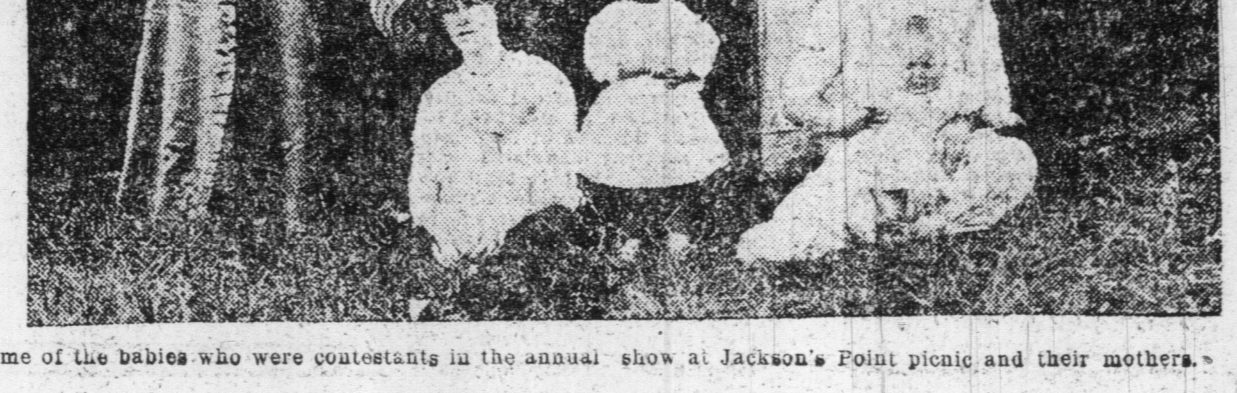

About two months ago Williamson was looking at some moving pictures one night at home in Norfolk when he saw huge shows on the screen taken with the aid of a microscope. That started him thinking. Then he started to work on his idea of submarine photography. The only other man in the world who has done anything along this line, William said yesterday, is Dr. Francis Ward of England, who has only taken pictures of fish in a pond in his own yard.

Used Submarine Tube. So Williamson worked feverishly at his idea. His father's submarine tube was fixed into a well at the bottom of a barge 30 feet long. The well was six feet square. The tube, made of iron sections with a waterproof covering of rubber and canvas, could be lowered any depth, as much as 50 feet if necessary. At the bottom of the tube was the work chamber, as Williamson calls it, which may be of any size. In this Williamson sat with an ordinary camera and looked out thru a funnel extension six feet long with a glass cover. This funnel extension gave an air space between the lens of the camera and the area of the focus. Air was pumped into the funnel from the chamber to equalize the pressure with that from the outside to take the strain off the glass. Electric lights, tungsten making 1000 candle power, with reflectors, were lowered from the outside to flash light thru the water and enable Williamson to snap photos of the fish as they swam past. From a launch with a motor a wire conducted the power to the barge.

"Thirty-five feet was the lowest Williamson went down in the tube and 30 feet was the lowest depth at which he took any pictures. He stayed down as long as an hour at a time. He doesn't remember how long for it was as cozy down there, he said, as in one's study at home.

"Going down the tube into the chamber is like climbing down a ladder, for I got in a hurry to snap pictures of the fish. It's like taking pictures of a crowd, you know. You see more persons than you find on your photographs when printed. It was fascinating. "I don't remember how long I remained below at the various times for it's so comfortable there that I can snore or eat or do anything. I took pictures of fish and of magazines lowered in front of the funnel, and also one of my brother George diving past the lens. I saw a tadpole go by the glass and a crab with a hunk of meat. The colors were wonderful. The croakers that swam by were beautifully silver. At first the fish would swim by quickly and then return to get better acquainted. By tapping lightly with a hammer on the metal plate wall of the chamber I found the fish were attracted better than by hanging bait down in front of the lens. "Our experiments were to satisfy ourselves. We were so delighted with the results that we are going to the tropics and what we did at Hampton Roads will be nothing compared to what we expect to do around Bermuda and the West Indian bay with a moving picture camera. We have a submarine gold mine in this, and you don't have to dig for it. Just turn the handle of the moving picture machine.

SPORTS AND GAMES GALORE AND EVERYBODY WAS HAPPY

Baseball, Lacrosse, a Baby Show, Running and Swimming Races, Dancing, and Twelve Bands Provided Amusement at the Lennox Picnic.

(By a Staff Reporter.) JACKSON'S POINT, July 16.—Between 13,000 and 16,000 persons, on an estimate, attended the Lennox picnic of the North York Conservative Association here today. The crowd was enormous, altho scattered over the large area of the park, and long before noon every inch of shaded grass was occupied.

For hours this morning every road leading to the Point was occupied by a procession of motors, farm vehicles, and pedestrians. Accommodation for all the rigs could not be found in the park and hundreds were left for the night in neighboring farm yards. Assembled in one place, five-acre fields would not have contained them closely packed.

The south train brought in eleven or twelve hundred of which eight hundred were from Toronto, and the rest picked up at stations along the way. The Islay, from Barrie, and the Ontario, from Owen Sound, and the holiday crowd when the motor and each Metropolitan car bore more than its full complement of passengers to the Point.

In addition to the crowds from the north and south, all the cottagers at the Point were in evidence. Their summer costumes stood out in bold contrast to the "city" attire, and serge dresses worn by most of the visitors.

Heat Was Intense. The heat was intense even in the thickest shade, and this fact rendered less acute in many cases the food question. Every place where a meal could be obtained was crowded, and they were not a few who despaired of getting anything and decided to go dinnerless. An hour later they did not regret it, for the sun's rays beat down so fiercely that the very thought of food became repulsive.

In the meantime, the afternoon's entertainment was getting under way. A baseball game between the Aurora and Newmarket proved almost as great an attraction as the speakers. Indeed, the Guelph Canadian Czeagus Club would not be so anxious to withdraw if they could get half as large an attendance every day. The Conservative fans crowded to within six feet of the catcher, swarmed down on the base lines, and were on the point of removing the umpire forcibly when he decided that the best thing to do was to resign. Uxbridge won out by a score of 17 to 9.

The steambark wharf was all afternoon a scene of turmoil. Two of the bands which had marched with the procession from Sutton in the morning, were stationed on board the excursion boats, and these latter were making ready for the school excursion to the head. The prospect of music, scenery and breeze was too appealing to be withstood, and thousands took advantage of the opportunity of leaving behind for a while the dust and discord of the crowded picnic.

The hottest and seemingly most uncomfortable corner of the park was the dance hall, where sets of lacrosse, polkas and other country dances were engaged in all day. A supper-time street car in Toronto could seem as empty as the Sahara desert after an hour in that place.

All Wore Badges. But all of the 15,000 enjoyed themselves. They wore "old stuff" in the quart, and bought razors and handkerchiefs and all sorts of other things they didn't want. They were conspicuous in the bright badges labeled "Our Herb," and "Borden stands for a United Empire." And when a fight started on the lacrosse field, the injury of them, or at any rate, four or five thousand, gathered around to see it. A team from Aurora were playing against the Mallards of Toronto, and the lacrosse section of the party proved to be no so harmonious as the administrative departments. As it turned out, however, Aurora boys were no masters for their Toronto opponents, either at playing or fighting, and Mallards won by the score of 12 to 0.

A soccer series was decided during the afternoon between teams from Island River, Conservative and the party proved to be no so harmonious as the administrative departments. As it turned out, however, Aurora boys were no masters for their Toronto opponents, either at playing or fighting, and Mallards won by the score of 12 to 0.

Twenty-two racing events were contested during the afternoon, open to citizens of North York and the rest of the county from Toronto. The winners were as follows: Under 14-1. Little; 2. Montcrieff; 3. Cooper. Under 16-1. Prue; 2. Montcrieff; 3. Cooper.

An usual, the married women's race proved most interesting of the events. A one-mile race for farmers in York and the surrounding counties was scheduled to come off, but had not been decided when the picnic was over. The winner was to have been decided with a plow.

Col. the Honorable Sam Hughes was advertised to judge the baby show, along with Hon. Frank Cochrane and George Goderich, M.L.A., but none of these gentlemen were present at the judging. The heat was intense even in the thickest shade, and this fact rendered less acute in many cases the food question.

It was late before the aquatic sports were got under way, but once started proved a most interesting feature of the day. Especially noteworthy was a pole, which had been well coated with grease. One after another the boys ventured along it, only to slip and fall a few feet had been successfully manoeuvred.

The results of the water sports were as follows: Swimming under water (open) — 1. Macdonald; 2. Marshall; 3. Day. Swimming, boys under 12 years — 1. Howitt; 2. Marshall; 3. Preston. Walking grassy pole, boys under 17 — 1. Pollock; 2. Taylor; 3. Thayer. Walking grassy pole, boys under 14 — 1. Thayer; 2. Murphy; 3. Thayer. Swimming, 40 yards (open) — 1. Reade; 2. Hancock; 3. Macdonald. Twelve Bands.

Band music was much to the fore during the day, twelve bands arriving in the morning with the big parade from Sutton. Among them was the Rama Indian Band, a number of whom were on hand to welcome them as the procession filed into Jackson's Point. A squadron of public schoolmen accompanied the excursion from Toronto and greeted the trip with bugle calls. Eighteen boys from the Y. M. C. A. camp at Couchiching, who happened to be near at hand in the course of a week's sailing trip, also came to the picnic and watched the fun.

Many Old-Timers. While the young people engaged in sports or wandered about under the trees, the conservative veterans gathered in knots and rehearsed the recent fight in North Grey. There was no lack of data, for many of the men who took an active part in Conservative organizing were present at the Lennox outing. Among them was W. E. Allen, who was working in helping win the election stands in the first rank.

In the cool evening, after every half-chicken had been eaten and the last olive was gone from the bottle, a dance was held. The boys from the Y. M. C. A. camp and two-step, without frills. But the cottagers were almost alone in their enjoyment of it, for the dance was a motor, motor, and bugle, the 15,000 picnickers had gone home.

SWASTIKA, July 12.—(Special.)—The situation here is much the same as it was in Cobalt in the early days. Great crowds are at the station on the arrival of the train, their faces filled with expectancy, and all exceedingly optimistic. "Well they may be, as good finds are being made every day," says a present in the township west of Teck to the eastern boundary of McVittie Township, 15 miles to the east.

TRAIN COVERED BY RISING WATER

Eighty Passengers Had Narrow Escapes When Rescued in Boats. MARIETTA, Ohio, July 15.—To be rescued from their train in a boat and then stand on a hill nearby and watch the water of an overflowing creek rise until it had entirely covered the coaches, was the experience of 80 passengers on a Pennsylvania train which left Marietta today. Most of them made their way back to this city this evening, many walking the seven miles from Stanleville, where the accident occurred. The crew attempted to run the train thru the shallow water that had covered the track near Duck Creek, but the water was rising five feet an hour, and before the train reached higher ground, the water had reached the fire box of the locomotive, and the train stalled. As the water began coming thru the floors of the coaches the trainmen found one small row boat, and began taking the passengers out as rapidly as possible. Women and children were rescued first. By this time, the men were forced to the car seats, and climbed thru the windows to the tops of the cars, from which they were taken into the boat in turn. Conductor William Sweeney, of a freight train, which was stalled nearby, was the hero of the rescue party, saving the life of Conductor James Davis, when the boat overturned. Two big life tenders, named Rauff and Raschen were caught in the current and their boat went over the dam. Rauff was taken from the river unconscious, but Raschen's body never came to the surface.

New Way to Banish All Hair Growths

(Modes of Today.) Many people will be interested in the new and simple treatment by which hair or fuzz can be permanently removed from the face, neck or arms. This consists in making a paste with plain powdered deodorant and water and applying to hairy surface. After two or three minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every trace of hair has vanished. This is a painless, harmless method and seldom requires the second application to remove even a stubborn growth, and it is so simple to use that failure cannot result. Straggy eyebrows can be made to grow thick and beautifully lustrous by rubbing pyroxin on frequently, and to make short, straight eyelashes come in long and silky, apply pyroxin to lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Use care and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

MERELY HIT HIM WITH TYPEWRITER

Manager's Wife Nagged So There Wasn't Much Fun in Office.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Woman is hourly broadening and making her influence felt in the business world. Her influence has changed the complexion of whole business establishments; it has also changed the complexion of H. Adams Tillman, office manager for a large factory in the West Side Court. When he appeared in the office Monday he usually carried a smile which was caught up at one end and bore the imprint of a typewriter (made) in the waste area, to the southward of his right temple.

H. Adams Tillman ran true to form on hereditary traits; he made it clear just which ancestor he got his milder name from by blaming the whole trouble on woman. He sneered at Henry Emburg, the complainant, as an office manager, expected to sneer at a mere bookkeeper, and addressed his remarks to the magistrate in a voice surcharged with suppressed-aria he told the old tale of the man who married the telephone girl, and aroused the enmity of the office force.

Back in the lower slurrin period H. Adams Tillman was a happy man. He had one of these high desks in the office, and flanked by good and true friends on either side he would keep books from 9 until 5. Moreover, H. Adams Tillman was unmarried, and in that he stood alone in the office force. Corresponding to the eight other employees were eight typewriters to call up on the telephone at sundry times and wonder why and where. Especially was the wife of Henry Emburg, a devoted to the telephone habit, and she rarely failed to impress upon Agnes, the queen of the switchboard, a woman who was merely an employee, and subordinate to Mrs. Emburg's husband. Comparing the social status of the two was like comparing the Woolworth building with the soundings of Governor's Island.

"Everything was all right until I married Agnes," wheezed H. Adams Tillman. "If there had been telephone girls in Adam's time he would have married one too—inherited his genius for getting into trouble. Soon after we were married my ability was recognized and I was made office manager. Then Agnes got in her best work."

"She realized that she was a wife herself," I suppose?" suggested the magistrate.

"Oh, she was a wife, all right. She tried to make me promise every morning before I left for the office that I'd do something during the day to humiliate Emburg. Not only that, but she would call me up two or three times to see if I'd done it. Once I made Emburg act as a sort of flunky for half a day and Agnes didn't let Mrs. Emburg forget it for half a month."

"She came down to the office, too, and tried to order me around," broke in Emburg, "and then telephoned to my wife that she had heard my work was getting unsatisfactory."

"That doesn't explain the decorated countenance," said the magistrate. "Or, that," said Emburg. "Yes, Saturday afternoon Tillman told me I'd have to stay in the office and clean up things before I left. Me a bookkeeper, too, you understand, and Saturday afternoon, when I'm supposed to be off."

"And is that why you hit him with the typewriter?" asked the magistrate.

"I hit him with the typewriter," said Emburg, "because the letter press went wild. One thing led to another, and I called a policeman. That's why we're here."

The case was dismissed.

FEAR THOUGHTS

In view of the wonderful imitative nature of the child, we are able to make of him just what we will. That does not necessarily mean that a child properly trained will become a martyr of goodness, but simply a child who knows his place and who possesses the power of self-control.

A child's imagination is most vivid between the ages of two and six years. At this time also the imitative instinct is strongest. Surely then this is the best time to inculcate good habits and lay the foundation for the future character.

Of course, as we have said at least six times in as many months, a baby's education begins with his life. But when he is old enough to observe and imitate is the time when his strongest educational forces are at work.

It is unfortunate that at this very time some parents fill the child's mind with the most unwholesome fear-thoughts. "The policeman will come for you if you don't mind." "The big black man will get you if you are naughty."

These are familiar threats and nothing could be more shameful. Such efforts made to terrorize a child into obedience distort the mind, destroy affection and disorder the nervous system. Physiology and psychology will prove that the effects of such a nervous shock may not be wiped out in a lifetime.

Some parents extend these threats to include the Deity and warn the children that "God will punish naughty boys." This creates an entirely false impression of the Supreme Being and may shape the religious beliefs that will come with adult life.

How can you convey to a child who dreads His Creator the beautiful teaching of His fatherhood and the consequent brotherhood of man?

A threat may do what you want it to do for the moment, but it will not increase your self-respect, and it will hurt your child.

ST. PETER'S SCHOOL CARRIES OFF PALM

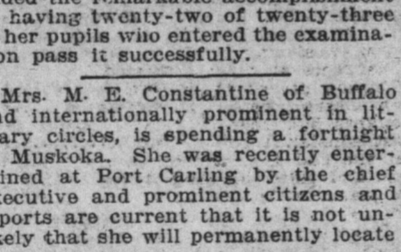

Twenty-two of Twenty-Three of Sister Isadora's Pupils Pass Entrance Exam.

The honor of having the highest percentage of pupils of any school in the city who were successful in passing the high school entrance examinations goes to St. Peter's Separate School, Bathurst street. And the credit for this goes to Sister Isadora, the principal of the school, one of the best known and most popular teachers on the staff of the Separate School Board. To her already high reputation she has now added the remarkable accomplishment of having twenty-two of twenty-three of her pupils who entered the examination pass it successfully.

Mrs. M. E. Constantine of Buffalo and internationally prominent in literary circles, is spending a fortnight at Muskoka. She was recently entertained at Port Carling by the chief executive and prominent citizens and reports are current that it is not unlikely that she will permanently locate there.

ENGLISH DRAMAS LACK THE "PUNCH"

American Producer Says Public Is Tiring of Teacup Comedy.

THAT YANKEE ACCENT

Prejudice in London Against American Actors, According to Wm. Brady.

Special Correspondence. LONDON, July 16.—William A. Brady, a New York theatrical producer now on his way home on the Mauretania, told The World correspondent before he sailed that he had secured three plays, one by a well known author, and two by unknown dramatists. He was unwilling to disclose any name.

"English unknown dramatists," he told The World correspondent, "are writing better plays than ours but their plays lack the 'punch' which our more often have. Every one is tired of teacup comedy. At present there is really nothing for the American manager to see in London. The successful plays are either revivals of old plays or new American pieces."

"I think I was the first to foretell this Americanization of the London stage. I predicted it four years ago, but it is difficult even now to get an English manager to consider American successes, as they are mostly actors themselves and base their judgment on whether the leading part suits them."

Frohman First. Frohman began the great American invasion of London, but I think he would have done better if he had not started producing English dramas in London. Directly he did, a sort of conspiracy or silent war was begun against him by the leading London managers. And I know who is responsible, but I am not going to mention any name. Anyway, gradually they work him down until now he has very little in London, although he still holds a strong position in America.

"A certain prejudice still remains in London against American actors, too. I don't know whether their accent offends, but there is a type of elderly person who will stand fifteen or twenty minutes of an American performer in vaudeville who won't listen to an American accent throughout a whole evening. It is this sort of person disappeared because the constant interchange between the stages of both countries is growing until the trip to London becomes no more than a trip to San Francisco.

Want the Dollars. "It is time, too, that English actors got rid of their curious idea about American salaries. For instance, in engaging actors in England I find they often ask me to give them $100 a week, but they are in the habit of getting but $30 in their own country, explaining a reason for this demand: "Oh, the cost of living in America is so extraordinary high."

"London and New York taste is growing very similar. For instance, Russian opera takes on here and then we immediately have a boom in America. Recently we had a boom in rag time music and tango dances. You followed suit in London. We have lately had a run of crime plays, and now I find four running in London, and I think it quite likely you will have more presently. This similarity in taste is to our mutual advantage."

"I am speaking with twenty-five years' knowledge of stage conditions, for each year I have made a visit to London."

STOLE FROM EMPLOYER.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., July 16.—(Special.)—A boy from the Stratford Home who has been working in the country near here was charged before the police magistrate this morning with petty thieving from his employer. He is a young Englishman and has been in this country about 12 years, during which time he has got himself into the police court on various occasions for stealing. He will likely be sent back to the home.

Royal Garment's Employees Held Successful Picnic at Olcott Beach.

The annual picnic of the McElroy Manufacturing Co., Limited (Royal Garments), was held yesterday at Olcott Beach, N.Y., when some 250 employees and friends enjoyed a most delightful outing. At noon a full course dinner was served at the Olcott Beach Hotel, and in the evening supper was served on the steamer Cleopatra. A splendid program of sports was run off and a most interesting and enthusiastic baseball game helped to make the day's proceedings strenuous, but withal enjoyable. The married men, after a keenly contested game, were defeated, owing, they claim, to the regrettable absence of "Bill Blake," the team's baseball expert.

It is earnestly hoped, however, that Bill will be on hand next year when the married men hope to win the game without much difficulty. The president, Mr. Stapels, presented the prizes to the successful contestants on the return journey. The committee in charge, Messrs. Shropshire, Benson, Muft and Godwin, and Messrs. Raycraft, Frost and Summers, assisted by the members of the firm, were indelicate in their efforts to make the day a memorable one.

Mrs. Clifford B. Harmon, daughter of E. C. Benedict, has broken ground for what is to be the most elaborate home for cats in this country. Mrs. Harmon, who is a noted cat fancier, has among her 28 cats and 24 kittens many prize winners of American shows. The new cat home will cost $15,000, and will cover more than two acres of ground on her father's property at Indian Harbor. There are to be 8 rooms, with 19 cat runs, hot and cold water, electric lights, gas for cooking, 2 baths, a kittens' nursery, steam heat and other improvements.

MOTOR ACCIDENT NOT A FATAL ONE

William South and Wife Recovering — Horse Was Frightened by Auto.

KINGSTON, July 16.—(Special.)—William South of Croydon received serious injuries and his wife minor injuries when their horse took fright at an automobile and bolted, dumping them both out on the road. A despatch sent out from Napawan Tuesday night to Toronto stated that both had been killed by a reckless driver of automobile, but over the long distance phone today Dr. Burroughs stated that this was not the case. Both patients will recover.

The motor car is owned by Curtis Perring of Tunworth. The driver, the Luigi Luzzatti, of the Hamilton and Perth roads, was driving with them and was thrown out, but escaped injury.

WHEN you pack up for your summer vacation or week-end outing, don't forget your traveling iron. It will help wonderfully at your journey's end in freshening up that travel-crumpled skirt or trunk-creased blouse.

It uses very little current, is simple to operate, and just as efficient as the larger irons. Invert it on the little gunmetal stand, and it is a very efficient stove. The dish which goes with it holds three cups of water, which can be brought to a boil in about ten minutes. The curling tong heater is, of course, entirely free from soot.

The traveling iron comes complete, with eight feet of flexible cord and an attachment plug, packed in a fine oozle leather handbag. It is very serviceable and compact, and takes up no more room in suit case or grip than a decent box of chocolates—and in the long run it is a greater source of satisfaction and enjoyment.

Priced at $5.50. Come in and see it demonstrated. It will add pleasure to your trip, and keep your starched things always looking fresh and crisp.

THE GARDEN SERIAL STORY

"45 MINUTES FROM BROADWAY" WILL BE REPEATED NEXT WEEK

Miss Haswell and Her Company Have Met With Such Success, and so Many People Have Been Turned Away, That Comedy Will Be Continued.

Those who were curious and wondered how Miss Haswell's Company would handle the musical comedy, "45 Minutes From Broadway," are now well satisfied that this popular star knew what she was capable of doing when she decided to present George Cohan's greatest success to her patrons, in the reception that has been given Miss Haswell and her company in this piece is the best guarantee that anything that is done by them is well worth seeing and worthy of consideration by theatre-goers.

Verdict of the Toronto public that Miss Haswell's production of this musical comedy was equal to that given by Mr. Cohan and his company of Broadway favorites. On account of the hundreds that have been turned away from the Alexandra Theatre this week, Miss Haswell has decided to present this musical comedy again next week. In addition to those popular songs, "So Long, Mary," and "Mary is a Grand Old Name" and "Just Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," a number of new musical selections and dances will be introduced so that those who see the comedy again will be pleased with the new features introduced.

UNIVERSAL CREED IS IT POSSIBLE?

Vital Question to Be Discussed at Congress in Paris.

PARIS, July 16.—(Can. Press).—One of the principal features of the sixth international congress of religious progress, which opened here tonight, will be a debate on the subject: "Is a Universal Religion Possible or Desirable? If so, How Can it be Attained?" Etienne Emile Boutroux, professor of philosophy at the University of Paris, and member of the Academy, presided. The first congress was initiated by the American Unitarian body in 1890, and the number and eminence of the delegates at this year's meeting is attracting much attention in the religious and scientific world.

THE GARDE CONDUCTED BY RACHEL R. TODD, M.D. PAUL NEYRON

We do not intend to go into ecstasies just now on the rose question. It has always been our opinion that Canada is the land of the rose. But, as yet, rose culture here is in its infancy. Very much so, indeed. But we are growing. Just think of the wonderful, wonderful exhibition at the rose show the other day. No one could possibly do justice to any description of the delightful sights one might see there. But, then, there is a "Next Year."

They started up the stream, she on one side and he on the other. They worked silently and slowly, as becomes good fishermen. The lad had told her that fish would not bite if there were any strange noises and she held him strictly to the letter of his instruction.

There is considerable hard work attached to fishing up a stream. What is underbrush and such a crawling light to it was out of the angles. Mildred found herself quite tired after they had been at it three hours. In that time they had covered nearly three miles of water and their creels showed good evidences of their skill.

"All right," said Elmer, who could never get enough of fishing, "you fish right up on to 'em, and I'll be with you in a minute. I want to try a spot back here about a hundred feet that I didn't half get to."

A Surprise. The lad went back and Mildred kept on. She reached the bridge, her face rosy from exertion, her lips parted and a few loose wisps of her hair playing in the gentle breeze.

Mildred stood under the bridge, wondering if she was making her footing in the dark shadows of the structure. She considered it would be better to climb over the side of it. As she stood on the edge, she saw a fly on the end of a silken line drop quietly on the surface of the water on the other side of the bridge.

Not twenty feet away. Instantly a large fish rose and took the lure. The line tightened and she heard the muffled winding of a reel. Then she saw the tip of a light rod and then a landing net and the hand that held it.

Then the figure of a young man leaped from behind the edge of the bridge masonry and landed lightly on a rock close to the water's edge.

Mildred screamed and her eyes rolled from her head and clattered on the stones at her feet. The young man glanced through the opening under the bridge. The rod and the landing net fell from his hand, too. In six jumps he was on the bank and stood by the girl's side. Mildred's eyes rolled into steady blue-gray eyes for a moment, then they closed slightly and fell into the outstretched arms of Gordon Kelly.

CHAPTER XXIV. Gordon Kelly held Mildred Deery in his embrace a full minute. Her head rested on his breast and she felt his heart beating like a tripping drum. At last she signed herself up and raised her head, she smiled faintly in his serious face.

"Gordon," she murmured, "won't you say something?"

Gordon gulped once or twice convulsively. He tried to talk, but his voice choked on the first syllable. He tried again.

"Mildred, dear," he said, hoarsely, "can it be you? I can't believe it. I have been thinking of you every day, for six long weeks. I tried to find you, you know, but I couldn't."

"How hard did you try?" Mildred interrupted. She raised her head from his arms. She was beginning to recover herself.

"Why, Mildred, I called up your house just as soon as they would let me. I called up every day for more than a week, and then every other day, and then every three or four days, and I always received the same answer—you had gone away, and they didn't know where you were or when you would return. I did all I could. I couldn't move for some time, and I—"

"And you finally stopped calling up altogether. Well, I don't think you made much of an effort. Didn't it ever occur to you to call my father or my mother, if you were so much interested?"

"Oh, the perversion of women, if Mildred Deery were to confess it, her thoughts had been on Gordon Kelly almost constantly for the six weeks since that she had seen him. Here he was in flesh and blood, standing before her, and she was now apparently trying to fret him."

"I don't know much about these things," he stammered. "What have I done, Mildred? I only—"

"I got him, Mildred! I got him!" yelled the voice of Elmer Shepherd in the distance. "I knew there was a big fellow in there. Where are you, Mildred?"

"Then Mildred moved a few paces away from Gordon. Presently Elmer stepped out from the side of the brook. He stood short at seeing the stranger.

"Right on, Elmer, and we will meet you in the road, and then we will go to the oaks and have luncheon," said the girl. She had forgotten all about the lad, but now, miraculously enough, she welcomed his presence. Gordon, too, felt his tension relax. The lad, coming on the scene, would give him a breathing spell and allow him time to collect his wits, that Mildred had so ruthlessly scattered.

Picking up her fishing tackle, Gordon added a hundred up the embankment that bordered the brook. Elmer was there before them. He had a large fish by the gills on one finger, and proudly displayed it.

"Elmer," said Mildred, "this is my friend, Mr. Kelly. We met in the most—"

"Gordon Kelly," said Elmer, "is a very nice fellow. He was a little fellow for his size, whole-souled and outspoken. Mildred laughed, and so did Gordon.

"Aren't you going to shake hands with Mr. Kelly?" asked Mildred of Elmer. In the sensations of the moment, had not seen Gordon's outstretched hand. The lad dropped the fish he held and put his small hand in that of the tall young man. There was only five years' difference in the ages of the two. Yet one was a little boy and the other a full-grown man.

"If my girl to meet you," said Gordon, pleasantly. "But how did you know my first name?"

"The Cat Out of the Bag. Oh, I read all about you in the papers, and I have seen your picture dozens of times. Besides, Mildred and I have talked about you."

"Elmer," exclaimed Mildred, blushing furiously. "We did, too, just as we were starting out this morning. You know we did."

"You did the talking about Mr. Kelly, if I'm not mistaken," returned Mildred. "However, I guess there was no harm done, and, as I'm getting hungry, I suggest we change the subject and have something to eat. Won't you join us, Mr. Kelly?"

"Thank you, but I'm afraid I have fallen into the ball players' habit of two meals a day—a late breakfast and a hearty dinner tonight."

"We will allow you to sit with us and watch us eat, then," said Mildred. "Or would you prefer to resume your fishing?"

"I guess not," laughed Gordon. He knew he would have to begin all over again with Mildred, but he felt sure of himself now. "I'll just gather up my rod and net, however," he added. "I had a fish nearly landed when I saw you, but I forgot all about him."

Choosing a Gas Range. THERE is nothing in the way of kitchen equipment which will add to enjoyment and lessen labor like a good gas range; it eliminates nine-tenths of the drudgery of housework.

There is always a burner ready for instant service and the heat may be quick and hot, or slow and simmering. Gas is economical at any price if you know how to use it properly. Turn it off as soon as thru cooking and keep it turned only as high as necessary when using it.

There are many excellent ranges on the market, and all have their good points, among the best features being the high oven. Many an unskilled nerve and aching back may be laid to stooping down to see how the baking is progressing.

Another feature of the new ranges is the mica door which enables one to see the baking all the time; this is a comfort and saves gas. You do not open the door from the time the food is put in the oven until it is ready to come out and the chance of jarring the delicate baking by opening the door is avoided. By all means choose a range with a high oven and a mica door.

Some ranges are lined with white enamel inside the ovens. They look beautifully white and clean in the store, but after the first month's use they are anything but attractive. Insist upon a black sheet iron lining. Aluminum is somewhat better than enamel, but it is difficult to polish in the oven lining. Some of the broilers are directly under the baking oven; other ranges have a vertical broiler at one side of the range with the burners so arranged that both sides of a steak or chop cook at the same time. This is ideal but uncommon.

The best new ranges now have an interlining of asbestos that diffuses the heat evenly and retains it while baking; this is a good thing to ask the salesman about.

Within the largest burner there is generally a "simmerer." It has a separate valve and may be used to keep stews, and those foods that require long slow cooking at a low temperature, simmering. Notice the color of the gas flame; it should be blue, not red or yellow. If there is a whistling sound and a yellow flame you have too much air in the pipes and the burner must be readjusted. Between the oven burners there is a tiny pipe like a big match; this is called the "pilot burner." It serves to light the oven and should be turned out at once. Always open all the oven doors before lighting the oven burners; many accidents might be avoided by this simple caution for gas often accumulates in the oven and when the flame is introduced an explosion follows. The Lawrence baffle plate is the clever contrivance of a woman interested in bringing down the gas bill. The appliance is placed under the flame in the lower oven so that the broiling even may be used for cooking foods while the bake oven proper is used for roasting and so on. It doubles the usefulness of any oven and is merely a sheet of heavy Russian iron cut to slide beneath the burners.

When this baffle plate is used the gas may be lowered as the heat is thrown upward and intensified in the upper oven.

HOW TO CHOOSE YOUR WORK

Duties, Chances and Salaries in Various Occupations. BY CELIA K. HUSK. Every girl ever thinking of taking up stenography as a profession must first carefully consider and study her own habits at home and find out some things about herself and her own personality which will prove of value in leading her to take up or reject stenography as a vocation. If she is careful and painstaking, neat, fairly quick and wide awake even on the safe road.

If, for example, she is in the habit of keeping her bureau drawers at home neatly and carefully arranged, her clothes brushed and hung up in her closet, it will show that she has the required neatness that makes for success in this line of work.

Of course, a knowledge of good English and correct spelling are essential, and no girl should dream of taking up stenography without these two at her command. Rapidly in taking dictation or in typewriting is desirable; but careful, neat work should never be sacrificed for speed.

A reliable way to study stenography is to take a six months' course in a reputable business college together with a systematic training in English and spelling.

Later it is often of great value to take up the study of French, German or Spanish at one of the evening high schools with a view to increasing one's efficiency and make one's self more valuable to the employer.

As compensation, the beginner generally starts at $6 or $8 per week. And with time, as she becomes more efficient, her pay is increased to $10, $12 and even $15 per week. There are competent stenographers in Chicago who earn as high as $35 weekly.

Also efficiency in stenography, combined with quick, intelligent handling of correspondence and a great interest in one's work, may lead to the position of private secretary.

In setting out to look for a position as stenographer a girl should carefully bear in mind these points necessary for success:

Neatness in personal appearance as well as in work; accuracy, good English and correct spelling. All these, combined with native common sense and a willingness to work, will be sure to lead her step by step to higher and more responsible work and ultimately to success in her chosen profession.

The physician was giving good advice to the layman. "Don't let the little things pass unnoticed," said the doctor. "It's these little things that often turn out to be serious, if allowed to run on without attention. Even if you have a simple ailment keep your eye on it."

"But how can I, doctor?" cried the patient. "I have a boil on the back of my neck."

LADY CLARK IS CALLED BY DEATH

Wife of Former Lieutenant-Governor Passed Away Yesterday.

After an illness of only a few days, Lady Mortimer Clark, wife of Sir William Mortimer Clark, formerly Lieutenant-governor of Ontario, from 1903 to 1908, died at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the family residence, 28 Avenue road. Owing to her advanced age of 75 years, doctors held out little hope for her from the beginning of the illness on Saturday last.

Lady Clark occupied a very prominent position in local society. She became the wife of Sir Mortimer in 1866, and was formerly a Miss Helen Gordon, daughter of Gilbert Gordon, of Calthness, Scotland. Her brother, the late John Gordon, was president of the old Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway.

VERY FINE CROP OF RASPBERRIES

Sold From Fourteen to Sixteen Cents on Local Fruit Market.

"It is hard to say," said McWilliams & Everist, fruit dealers, yesterday, in reply to The World's enquiry as to when prices would make it best for housekeepers to put down their berries. "It's hard to say, but probably at the end of this week."

The raspberries are full, fine-looking fruit, and it is the opinion of the H. Peters Co. that they are a good crop in view of that of last year.

There is no addition to the half basket of Canadian peaches which arrived from St. Catharines Monday. Beautiful, clean American fruit is shown, large and well colored.

Canadian apples are small, green and by no means inviting either in appearance or as an appetizer.

Cherries are among the fine things in the market. Large, luscious and dark or red and glistening—they are all of the best.

Currents are plentiful and up to the normal at this date.

Quotations in fruit and vegetables yesterday were as follows: Black currants, $1.75 to $2 per basket; currants, white or red, $50 to 75c; peaches, American, $4 to $4.80 a crate; cantaloupes, $1.75 per basket; cherries, 80c to 90c; raspberries, 14c to 16c a box; gooseberries, 75c to 85c a basket; watermelons, 55c to 65c each; tomatoes, $1.50 per basket; asparagus, $1.50; beans, 60c to 85c; peas, 80c to 85c; potatoes, $2.50 per barrel; potatoes, Canadian, 30c to 40c per basket.

Because he had been a naughty little boy, very naughty little boy, was sent to bed without any pudding. But in the evening, when his brothers and sisters were all fast asleep, he crept down stairs, a tearful little white-robed figure, and, going into the library, said to himself:

"Mummy, you told me never to go to sleep till I'd made peace with my enemies, so I've come down to forgive you and daddy for being so rude to me at dinner tonight."

ALL OR NOTHING.

We feel inspired as we read the eloquent words of The Telegram on the proposed purchase of the street railway. The Telegram goes beyond what we would have dared, but such courageous avowals stimulate us.

Every horsepower of electricity, every foot of transmission line, every wheel in the power plant at Niagara Falls—all these should be included in the transaction, or there should be no transaction.

This is indeed noble daring, and we fear it may appeal Controller Foster when it reaches him.

But, as we have remarked, it inspires us and stimulates us to still greater aims. Why should we stop at the last foot of the transmission line or the last horsepower in the Mackenzie turbines? Why can we not buy out the other companies? And why stop even there? Is anything too good for Toronto? Controller Church should at once apply for expropriation of Niagara Falls, and negotiations can be opened up with New York State and the federal government at Washington to secure the total water flow of the great lakes. There is nothing like making a complete job when one is about it, and the gratitude of the community should be conveyed, and we hereby heartily express it to The Telegram for its brilliant suggestion.

We fear Mayor Hocken may not look with the same enthusiasm on these proposals as may be expected from Controller Foster and Controller Church. But The Telegram has now started something, given birth, one might say, to a great idea, and the two controllers will not withhold their skilled assistance.

If the project is carefully nursed and Niagara Falls is acquired by the city council the water might be piped all the way to the island and save the cost of chlorination. Contact with a fertile mind like The Telegram's opens a vista in the future. Let us have all or nothing.

NOW, ROLLY, GET BUSY.

Why does not the board of control or Commissioner Harris start to operate forthwith a mile or more of the new Danforth avenue municipal car line? The exhibition will be here in a few days. The tracks have been down for a year, and there is no reason why the trolley wires should not have been up months ago, and at least two cars put in service; at two-cent fares this road would pay from the start. If not electric cars at once, then put a couple of horse cars, or, better still, a motor bus. Why should not the city own a motor bus on street car wheels, that could be run anywhere on municipal tracks in emergency? If Mr. Harris wants a feather for his cap, let him put a gasoline motor bus on Danforth avenue within the next two or three days. This is what we would call doing things. If not, try a horse car.

And couldn't the same thing be done on the St. Clair avenue line? Some body wants to be wakened up. One horse is better than no horse. Run a bit of each line right away.

BLESSINGS COME IN DUE COURSE

The ratpayers of Moore Park are "resoluting" that while they came into the city at the first of the year and are now paying city taxes, they are not getting any improvements. This is more or less true in every annexation that has taken place in as far as the first year is concerned; but there is no doubt that annexation does bring its benefits in the second year and after. East Toronto, West Toronto, Deer Park, The Midway, North Rosedale, Davenport Hill, are all now in much better condition than when they were in the township, and not one of them would withdraw from the city if they had the chance. Even Earls-court and Weywood will soon be enjoying the benefits of annexation, and the first great improvement will be the St. Clair avenue municipal street car line.

MR. BRYAN AND HIS CRITICS

There is an organized effort to stampede the United States into invading Mexico? We are told that Great Britain, France and Germany may combine and present an ultimatum to the United States. This new triple alliance, we are gravely told by correspondents, will intervene in Mexico, unless the United States recognizes the faction now in control, as the government of Mexico. The stumbling block in the way of those who will light the fires of war on this continent, is Hon. William J. Bryan; hence Mr. Bryan is now the object of attack in many quarters, to the great glee of the big trusts, their henchmen and allies, who would like to see him destroyed.

The London Standard sneers at Mr. Bryan, because he drinks lemonade, and remarks that $12,000 a year is pretty good pay for a man who a few years ago was "a reporter on a provincial newspaper." As a matter of fact, when he had scarcely turned thirty, Mr. Bryan was a lawyer in active practice, a member of congress and one of the coming men of the country. His reportorial experience consisted of covering the Republican National Convention in 1896, for a syndicate of western papers; a few weeks later he was nominated for the presidency; since then he has been a commanding figure in American politics.

After his defeat for president in 1896, Mr. Bryan was offered a salary of $50,000 a year by a department store in New York City. He felt, however, that the offer was not a bona fide estimate of his value to the firm as a counsel, but was in the nature of an advertising stunt. He therefore declined, and founded his weekly newspaper, "The Commoner." Later on he entered the lecture field. During the last 18 years, he has made and saved some money, but he has also devoted a considerable portion of his time to the service of the public. He enlisted as a private in the Spanish-American war, and was afterwards made colonel of his regiment. He must have expended a great deal of money and time in stumping the country for the Democratic party, and assisting with his counsel the leaders of that party when congress was in session. From 1896 to 1913 he received no reward for his public services.

By common consent Mr. Bryan was entitled to any office in the gift of the Wilson administration, and he chose the portfolio of foreign affairs. His elevation to this office, and the triumph of his ideas as represented by the exposure of the lobby and the introduction of bills to correct the abuses in the tariff and currency laws of the country, exasperated the privileged classes everywhere. The effort now is to pull him down.

For a long time no more serious charge could be brought against Mr. Bryan than his predilection for soft drinks; now he has furnished a missile to his opponents by announcing that he will devote part of his time to delivering lectures for pay on the Chautauqua circuit. His plea that his salary as secretary of state is insufficient for him to live on, will not command serious consideration. He accepted the portfolio knowing what the salary was, and he should either devote himself exclusively to the duties of his office or resign. His friends will hope that Mr. Bryan will take the sensible course of cutting out the lectures. Public service means personal sacrifice. Mr. Bryan is progressive, a foe to crooked wealth and crooked dealing, and he is needed at Washington by his chief and his party, and especially by his country at this time.

Let Mr. Bryan attend to the duties of his high office, assist the president in dealing with the great problems before the country, sacrifice some income and some comfort, and stay on the job. The people will be behind him and he will retain their confidence, no matter how much lemonade he drinks, and in spite of his having once been a "reporter on a provincial newspaper."

GOVERNOR FOSS' STATEMENT.

Governor Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts has made an interesting statement to the press respecting the establishment of a branch factory at Galt, in this province, by his firm, the B. F. Sturtevant Company of Hyde Park, Mass., manufacturers of mechanical draft fans, blowers, engines, heating and ventilating apparatus. The firm is not coming to Canada because the United States tariff is being lowered, but because the Canadian tariff is being maintained. Larger markets are needed and they can only be found in Canada by manufacturing in this country.

Mr. Foss declares that both parties in the United States are wrong on the tariff question. The Republicans favor a rigid wall which will keep out foreign goods but at the same time prevent the United States finding a market in foreign countries. The Democrats, on the other hand, would lower the wall or knock it down or admit competition from all the world. The governor believes that the true doctrine is reciprocity, concession for concession; he sees no point in admitting Canadian food products free of duty unless in return therefor the United States manufacturer gets some advantage in the Canadian market.

Reciprocity, we fear, is easier to preach than it is to put into practice. On this side of the line we are only too pleased to welcome our neighbors coming here to locate, and we are glad to believe that the $500,000,000 invested by American manufacturers in Canada is yielding a good return while affording employment to Canadian labor. We would be sorry to see these industries begin to move southward, and would therefore scrutinize pretty carefully any proposed reciprocal trade agreement.

The World welcomes the arrival of this big manufacturing enterprise. We would be glad if Governor Foss could come along and become one of us. He has many admirers in Canada who recognize in him a clean, progressive, broad-minded man of affairs, who has brought distinction to one of the most distinguished positions in the United States.

C. N. R. DOES NOT WANT VIADUCT

Seeks Subway For Proposed Route From Dovercourt Road.

BOARD DEFERS ACTION

Railway Commission Allows C. P. R. to Add Third Track to Main Line.

Strong opposition both on the part of the city and the Township of York developed at the sitting of the Dominion Railway Board yesterday when the Canadian Northern Railway presented an alteration of the proposed route of that railway across the north-west part of the city, and out past Dundas street, Lambton. Instead of a viaduct, as originally planned, the C. N. R. would take the trains underground from Dovercourt road and under the Royce property and yards of the Grand Trunk to Davenport rd., claiming that a better grade would be obtained in this way.

R. Home Smith pointed out that the deviation from the original plan would interfere with his Humber boulevard scheme and produced a plan showing how the grade separation at Dundas street, Weston, could be abolished. The plans show that Dundas and Church streets, that nearly come together at this point, merged into one subway.

"That level crossing is not dangerous," said F. H. Philpen, K.C., general counsel for the Canadian Northern.

"People have a clear view there."

There is just as much need for a grade separation there now as at Sunnyside," replied Mr. Smith. "Two fatal accidents have occurred there."

Stands Till Next Session.

The Grand Trunk Railway made application for the right to construct seven new tracks across the foot of Spadina avenue, to give access to the round-house, but owing to the bearing of the proposed line in the matter, it was left over until the next sitting.

At the request of the railways the application of the City of Toronto for approval of plans showing reconstruction of the bridge across the C. P. R. and G. T. R. tracks at Strachan avenue, was allowed to stand.

"We are afraid of the bridge and all we agree to the request of the railways that the case be allowed to stand over, we wish the matter disposed of speedily," said Corporation Counsel.

Third Track for C.P.R.

Permission was granted the C.P.R. to construct a third track on their line crossing Bloor street, Lansdowne avenue and Brock avenues, provided that they pay for the work, and if the present bridge needs strengthening it is to be done at the company's expense.

The G. T. R. will be allowed to construct an additional track across the subway at Weston, and to build a small spur line to the west.

The board will next sit at North Bay, Ont., when the C.N.R. entrance to that town will be discussed.

IRON CAGE FOR PORTER CHARLTON

Italian Authorities Taking No Chances With Alleged Wife Slayer.

GUARDED BY BAYONETS

Incarceration in Lunatic Asylum May Be Result of Trial.

Special Correspondence.

MILAN, Italy, July 17.—No further arrangements for the trial of Porter Charlton for the murder of his wife, Mary Scott Castle Charlton, at Lake Como, in June, 1910, will be made until he arrives in Italy. It is not likely that the trial will come on before next year.

The procedure will be in accordance with the new Italian penal code, under which the prisoner will have sundry advantages hitherto granted only in Anglo-Saxon and Teutonic countries.

The United States government will not be represented formally, but if it is wished can send witnesses to testify as to the prisoner's alleged insanity, his behavior since returning to America and while under detention there.

The Italian court probably will order an independent investigation into his mental condition, but whether his insanity is real or feigned, he will be put in an iron cage in court while on trial but will not be manacled unless he displays violence.

He will be surrounded by carabinieri armed with bayoneted rifles and revolvers.

If Charlton is wholly ignorant of Italian or insufficiently versed in the language to make himself intelligible to an interpreter agreeable to both prosecution and defence will be appointed by the presiding judge. Or the case may be even postponed, as was that of Countess Tarnowska at Venice, where all four prisoners, being Russians, were given an extra period of twelve months to learn the Italian language, in which each made his own defence to marked advantage, the interpreters being summoned only for elucidation of controverted words and phrases.

Will Delay Action.

Unless Charlton's lawyers are confident of his acquittal or of a light sentence, they probably will resort to dilatory action of one kind or another, for which Italian jurisprudence offers multitudinous opportunities.

The prevailing opinion is that Charlton will be confined in a criminal lunatic asylum, as the evidence is expected to show that he and his wife were degenerates of the worst order.

The United States government can instruct its consul in Milan to watch the case, but his presence in court will be informal.

The Russian friend, Ispatoff, who frequented the Charlton villa at Lake Como, was fully acquitted of blame at the Como magistrato trial, but he will be summoned as a witness. But as he has left the country he is under no obligation to appear.

HILTZ MAY RUN FOR BOARD OF CONTROL

Board of Education Chairman a Likely Candidate at Next Elections.

Chairman Hiltz of the board of education is likely to be a figure in the scramble for seats on the 1914 board of control. Some of his fellow trustees twit him with even having an eye on the mayoralty. The latter he dismisses as a pipe dream.

His easy wins with big majorities, for the board of education have evinced his strength in Ward 3. His unanimous election as chairman of the board of education, after being chairman of the management committee, are among his successes as a school trustee. Having graduated in an extensive real estate owner and builder from the school of teaching which his friends expect that he will be a live factor at the January municipal elections.

ST. CATHARINES, July 16.—(Special.)—The feat of saving a 10-year-old boy, wearing a plunger jacket, from drowning in Lake Chap-leau, was accomplished by Miss Mayme Taylor, formerly of this city, but now a nurse for the St. James Street Methodist Church, Montreal. Miss Taylor jumped into the water when she saw the little fellow fall in. A Royal Humane Society medal will be applied for by her friends, who wish she were obliged to remain in bed for some time after her experience.

Gullivert had the wires in his store arranged in such a way that the electric current he was using for the lighting of his premises was not passing thru the meter.

Before Britton, J. Rainy River Navigation Co. v. Ontario and Minnesota Power Co.—I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., and A. R. Bartlett (Windsor) for plaintiff. G. Osler for defendants. Action claiming $50,000 damages for obstruction of flow of water, alleged to be caused by dam of defendant company across Rainy River above the falls. Judgment: With some hesitation I have come to the conclusion that the defendants did so interfere with the natural flow of the water from above International Falls into Rainy River as to cause damage to the plaintiff, by preventing the running of the Agwidge during part of the season of 1911. Some of the damages claimed by plaintiff has not been proved and are too remote. Let judgment be entered for plaintiffs for $500 with costs. Thirty days' stay.

Need Not Resign Officers' Reply

Hon. Sam Hughes Unable to Force Them to Do So.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 16.—(Can. Press.)—That Col. Hughes, minister of militia, is not going to let the behavior of certain officers at a banquet he gave to Sir Ian Hamilton here last Friday night, go with a simple warning to the military to avoid "idleness, profligacy and social activity," is indicated by the following announcement contained in this morning's Herald.

"Col. Rutherford, the officer commanding the sixth division at Halifax, has been called upon for an explanation of the tendency of some of the officers of the division, both of the permanent force and the active militia, to indulge too freely in the use of liquor."

Much amusement has been caused among military men here by Colonel Hughes' declaration that he proposes to dismiss a number of officers for resigning instead of their being court-martialed on Friday night, for it is contended by officers that the minister of militia does not possess the power to arbitrarily remove an officer. All commissions, they point out, issue from the King, and the utmost that the minister can do is to request an officer's resignation. If the officer declines to resign, he must be court-martialed before anything can be done to his commission, and he can only be dismissed if a court-martial finds he has committed an offence of sufficient magnitude to warrant that step. It is thought here that drinking wine at a dinner would be considered sufficient excuse for a man.

An investigation is under way to ascertain the names of the officers who imbibed too freely, and it is expected they will offer an apology to the minister, after which the incident will be dropped. The dinner was held at a public hotel, where it is the usual custom at public dinners to order additional wines, and the officers who did so on Friday night forgot that on this occasion they were not at a public dinner, but were the private guests of the minister.

VARIATIONS IN COW'S MILK TEST

Single Sample Fails to Give Indication of Fat Percentage.

ANNUAL PRODUCTION

Only Way of Computing the Earning Capacity of Each Animal.

Recent experiments have shown that one single test of a cow's milk is not reliable as an indication of what percentage of fat her milk normally contains. A well-known fact is that causes affect the test, also some causes that are unknown at present even by the closest students. This variation in the test is one of the puzzles of the cow's individuality, and because of these puzzling variations it is advisable to take composite samples at intervals so as to ascertain the average test.

and treated as were lepers in the old days. The general belief that consumption is hereditary is declared to be erroneous by Dr. Calmette, director of the Lille Pasteur Institute.

Of all the children less than one year of age whom Dr. Chalmette examined, 22 per cent. were found to be contaminated with tuberculosis.

After that age the percentage increased rapidly. Between one and two years of age 22 per cent. of the subjects proved contaminated; between two and five, 53 per cent.; between five and fifteen, 90 per cent., and 91 per cent. to 97 per cent. over fifteen years of age.

The reason tuberculosis is more prevalent in cities, says Dr. Calmette, is because the danger of repeated reinfection is greater. He estimates that 91 per cent. of the inhabitants of Paris carry tuberculosis bacilli in their blood, and also they cannot really be called as capable of spreading infection.

Outlook in Western Provinces Appears to Be Especially Promising.

OTTAWA, July 16.—(Special).—Reports received from correspondents at the end of June enable the census and statistics office to issue finally revised estimates of the acreage sown to spring crops this year, and also estimates of the area devoted to the later sown cereals and food crops.

Under wheat in Canada is therefore annually placed at 8,816,300 acres, or 57,000 acres more than in 1912. The area in spring wheat is 8,989,000 acres, or 13,100 acres more than in 1912, and the area to be harvested of fall wheat remains at 825,800 acres. Oats are estimated to occupy 8,446,400 acres, an increase of 429,800 acres; barley, 1,430,300 acres, an increase of 15,600 acres; rye, 127,200 acres, a decrease of 8910 acres, and hay and clover 7,921,600 acres, a decrease of 12,900 acres.

The acreages under the later sown cereals and food crops are estimated to be as follows: Buckwheat, 363,800; flax seed, 1,258,800; corn for husking, 299,800; beans, 68,800; potatoes, 497,000; turnips, etc., 215,900; sugar beets, 19,250; and corn for fodder, 277,290. There are increases in the case of potatoes, turnips, etc., sugar beets and corn for fodder, but decreases in the case of the other crops.

For the three northwest provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta the total wheat area is finally estimated at 3,013,800 acres, as compared with 3,516,500 acres last year; that of oats at 3,506,900 acres, compared with 4,013,900 acres, and that of barley at 857,700 acres, compared with 809,900 acres—these differences representing increases of 52,000 acres for wheat, 391,000 acres for oats and 47,800 acres for barley, or 491,700 acres for the three crops.

Up to average. During June the crops throughout Canada maintained generally the favorable average of a month or two ago. On June 30 the condition, expressed in percentage of the usual standard of 100, taken as representing the promise of a full crop, was as follows: Fall wheat, 81.46; spring wheat, 87.80; oats, 87.71; barley, 88.39; rye, 85.05; peas, 87.43; mixed, 87.13; hay, clover, 71.52; alfalfa, 71.23; and pasture, 82.31. By provinces the condition is better than 80 and 90 for the maritime provinces, Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba.

In Saskatchewan and Alberta the outlook at the end of June appeared to be especially promising, as the condition was above 90 in all cases, excepting fall wheat, the condition of which in Alberta was 76.27.

Estimates of the numbers of farm live stock in Canada at June 30 are given as follows: Horses, 2,535,000; milch cows, 3,064,900; other cattle, 3,380,400; sheep, 2,418,400; swine, 3,254,400. These represent increases over the estimates last year for all descriptions, except "other cattle." The estimates are based upon the final figures of the census of 1911 for all the provinces except Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, so that the figures are still subject to final revision upon completion of the census results. The condition of all classes of live stock was reported as especially favorable on June 30, being 100 or above for horses, milch cows, sheep and swine, and 97 for cattle other than milch cows.

A QUESTION OF WAGES

Board of Education May Pay Higher Rate if Investigations Warrant It.

Hot shot was fired at the builders exchange by a delegation from the organized carpenters at the board of education meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Donovan said he wished to know why the board of education was only paying 42 cents an hour when the Ontario Government and the departments of the city council were paying 45 cents.

Superintendent Bishop said that he had been circulating a list of names supplied by the builders' exchange and by the organizations represented by Messrs. Donovan and Doggett.

CITY PAVING PLANT MUST BE ENLARGED

Otherwise Department May Be Swamped by Number of Contracts.

Big Sum For College Controllers Won't Buy Upper Canada Grounds at Million and a Quarter.

Paving contractors appealed to the board of control yesterday to reduce the amount of money held back as a guarantee that repairs would be made under the rich contract guarantee.

The present situation is that the city bids for paving under the ten-year guarantee are lower than those by contractors. It is suspected that the contractors want to prevent the ten-year guarantee policy being maintained, and to that end are loading up the rich contract guarantee.

Large Dealings in Brazilian at an Advance of About Two Points.

BROKERS ARE ACTIVE

Conservative Operators Think Speculative Life Has Been Hammered Out of Market.

A two-point advance in C.P.R. in the London market yesterday was responsible for firmer prices here for Brazilians and other of the more active shares.

Optimistic Talk on Conditions From a Very Unexpected Quarter.

Stock market followers will be interested to learn that many of the most authoritative writers on financial conditions in Wall street have taken the optimistic side during the last week or so.

Mr. Holt is convinced that the time is propitious for investment. He advises persons with money to invest, to start a small part, from one-fifth to one-third of it, into good securities.
