COAST STEAMERS COLIDE IN FOG FRISCO BOAT SUNK BY LUMBERMAN MORE THAN 100 LIVES ARE LOST

Most of the Columbia's Passengers Asleep, Down in Their State- rooms—98 Reported Saved Out of 249 Souls on Board.

Eureka, Cal., July 22.—Of the 249 persons on the steamer Columbia which was run into and sunk early Sunday morning by the lumber laden schooner San Pedro, one hundred and forty-four were brought here to-day by the steamer Elder. Of these 107 were passengers and 37 members of the crew of the Columbia. Besides the four lifeboats are reported to have been picked up, one containing 13 people, another 18 and the third 15. The number in the fourth boat is not given.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—More than 100 lives were lost last Saturday night when the steamer Columbia, bound north from this port for Portland, collided with the lumber steamer San Pedro off Shelter Cove, Mendocino County.

Eighty other persons who were on the Columbia were rescued after being in the water several hours. There was a heavy fog at the time, and the San Pedro, heavily laden with lumber, struck the Columbia on the port bow with such terrific force that she was cut down to the water and sank in about five minutes.

Of the 180 passengers many succeeded in reaching the San Pedro, bound, which was evidently out of the remains of the Columbia. For many hours the steamer Roanoke came up to their rescue.

Captain F. A. Doran of the Columbia was entirely relieved when the San Pedro was picked up by the steamer George W. Elder, and is now being towed to Eureka.

All Were Asleep.
The collision occurred at midnight when all on board were asleep and officers on the bridge were asleep in their berths.

The Columbia was steaming north at an easy rate, having left here at noon Saturday.

Suddenly out of the fog loomed the dark hull of the San Pedro, south-bound, which was evident to the officers on the bridge.

Whistles were blown and frantic efforts made by the helmsman of each vessel to avert the collision, but they were of no avail.

The San Pedro struck the steamer in the port bow, tearing an immense hole in her side, thru which the water rushed in great volume.

Alarms were sounded throughout the passenger ship, and the terrified passengers scrambled for their state rooms in an effort to escape from the doomed vessel.

But the time was too short to aid the life savers. The vessel sank within five minutes of the time of the collision.

A life raft was launched with a number of passengers on board, but only a few of the entire number on board were saved.

250 on Board.
During the earthquake and fire the Columbia was lying in the drydock of the Columbia Iron Works, and the shock loosened some of her blocks, with the result that the vessel was capsized.

But she was entirely refloated, and was left here Saturday she carried a full list of passengers.

The assistant to President Frey of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Co. to-day gave out the following figures:

100 passengers upon the Columbia; 168; stowage passengers 21; total passengers 189; crew 60. This makes a total of 249 souls on board. 151 were reported saved, 98 unaccounted for.

The Saved.
According to the captain, a rescued passenger of the Columbia, every woman passenger on board was lost.

The steamer Roanoke picked up the steamer George W. Elder and the latter had on board eighty-eight passengers and crew from the Columbia.

The Columbia was owned by the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co., and built in Chester, Pa., in 1880.

The San Pedro hails from San Francisco, and is 189 feet long, registers 159 tons, and was built in Aberdeen, Washington.

The Passenger List.
The following passengers sailed from San Francisco on the steamer Columbia on July 20:

LAURER IS LOUD IN OTTAWA'S PRAISE

Wants No Higher Honor Than to End His Days as a Citizen of the Capital.

OTTAWA, July 22.—(Special.)—King's weather failed to-day to greet the uncrowned king of Canada, indeed, the rain commenced at noon in Montreal and followed the premier to Ottawa.

In spite of the rain, a good-sized crowd was on hand to greet him, but the Ottawa reception was tame and colorless compared to the great demonstrations at Montreal and Quebec.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier were met at the station by Hon. R. W. Scott, Hon. William Tempieman, Sir Fred Borden, His Worship Mayor D'Arcy Scott and many leading citizens.

Beyond a very fine rendition by a choir of 300 voices in waiting of the hymn, "O, Canada," there were no ceremonies at the station, and the distinguished party drove at once to the city hall to receive the civic address.

The premier's reply was principally significant by the absence of any reference to the "all-red line," and from his rather querulous insistence upon the fact that he was not desirous to be a peer.

Indeed, he said, he would prefer if he could not be prime minister of Canada to become a member of the Ottawa improvement commission.

A Citizen of No Mean City.
After expressing his pleasure at being in the city of the great people, he welcomed the citizens of Ottawa, Sir Wilfrid said he hoped to live and die a citizen of Ottawa.

He had no desire for a title or to become a peer, but he would accept no title. If his health or the needs of the people required he would accept no title.

THE ENDING OF A REMARKABLE CONTEST

Only those who have taken part in the struggle can at all appreciate the huge proportions of the The World's Battle of Ballots. The Trip to London aroused a provincial interest which has not been equaled since Premier Whitney was given his popular trip to the Queen's Park Heroes have come and gone; Hayhurst, Perry, Scholes, Longboat have elicited a sincere, but briefly exhibited, interest. But for three months the tide of battle has ebbed and flowed, sunk and swelled, in the countless interests of the friends of the ladies who desired to participate in the great opportunity afforded by The World's prize offer. Three months seemed like an age last May. Last night it seemed to have flashed past like the beam of a searchlight glancing over a vast plain. The time was gone. The battle was over. The result was still in darkness.

Perhaps it is too far in the region of mock-heros to compare the strife of these weeks with the rigors of real warfare, but fortunately, we Canadians are more familiar with the sham combats of Niagara and the Humber country than with the desolation of military ambition. In that spirit of earnest play, our good friends who read The World seem to have shouldered their arms and massed themselves under the banners of scores of fair ladies to march to a splendid triumph.

And nothing could be finer than the really admirable sporting spirit in which the struggle has been carried out. Never was war but some were defeated. Not always the bravest fighter gained the laurel crown. The race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong. Relying on The World's assurance of a fair field and no favor, the host of competitors entered the contest, knowing that success was only possible for the few, and the brave heart was the great and only prize for those who lost. The best of feeling has prevailed, and it is not the least point on which The World has to congratulate itself.

But what a conflict it has been! It was realized from the first by many that the opportunity was one of the greatest that might occur in a lifetime, and they seized it with all the characteristic energy of Canadian youth.

Organization of a military precision was adopted early in the campaign, and all the principles that the business colleges and the success method teachers inculcate, and the system that has built up great stores and factories, were laid under requisition. Follow-up plans were made the alphabetic stages. Circles of interest were widened and extended until scarcely a town or village in the province but furnished its quota of ballots, collected at first weekly, but latterly day by day.

During the past week bundles of ballots have come in by the dozen and twenty thousand. The campaign was drawing to a close. Skirmishing had been going on for weeks. The great battle had to be fought on the 22nd. Willy tacticians hoarded their ballots, massing their forces for the final struggle. Ambushes were laid by some, who, apparently, lagged far away from the field, behind distant hills. Column after column of reserves were masked in this way, and the cleverest intelligence department could make nothing of the rival positions.

Yesterday, however, the whole province began to move. The city presented a seething turmoil of sleuth-like ballot-seekers. All day long parcels and bundles of ballots were brought into the office, as to the staff headquarters. Details rushed about from one centre of strife to another, and collected the spoil. The Street Railway Company enlisted itself under a bright particular gage, and about 10 o'clock toted in 20,000 captives from the columns of Sunday and Monday alone. A wholesale surrender was accomplished by one skilful strategist, and 800,000 fell the prey to a brilliant stroke of generalship. Then the heavy battalions began to roll in. Men rushed upstairs with great loads of ballots. Others rushed in from the railway stations with grips, suit cases, packages of all kinds, stuffed with ballots. From the north country, where silver is dug like potatoes, bags of ballots were borne down by the hundred thousand.

Individuals did deeds of derring-do on the foughten field. One enthusiastic hero, with the faith that removes mountains and builds up great political reforms, put down $50 for ten years' subscription in advance to The World. He could bank on The World, and he might help someone to London to see the King.

Another indefatigable sharpshooter brought down 392,500 votes with his own little gun, and never turned a hair.

It was reported that a company of men in the city got up a ten-cent pool, and, raising $45, raffled the amount for subscriptions to The World and for votes for their favorite.

And such favorites! Ontario has the reputation of being the fairest province in the empire of King Edward. Her fair towns had selected their fairest, and it was small wonder that such enthusiasm should be elicited over the result of the great contest. Other girls in other lands may be sweet and fair, but nowhere can the charm of youth and beauty and grace, as The World has had the fortune to gather it together, be surpassed.

The scene in The World Office last night was such as only occurs on the nights of great political contests. Crowds of interested friends and relatives, and not a few of the fair competitors themselves, filled the editorial halls, waiting their turn to deposit their booty of ballots.

Long before the closing hour it was estimated that ten millions of ballots had been brought in. To count these is a herculean task, and it will be impossible to announce the final result until to-morrow morning. Another day of heart-throbbing suspense must unfortunately elapse before the joy and pain of the tale can be told.

The World wishes as heartily as any that all could make the journey to the imperial capital, but the conditions were fair. All concerned, The World included, took the risk of the project, and doubtless the sportsmanlike spirit that prompted all in their efforts to win will support the vanquished in failure, and lead to generous congratulations of those who will have succeeded. None, we feel, who have assisted in the contest by their subscriptions to The World, will regret as they read its columns from day to day, that they became interested in the Trip to London.

Two Victims of Island Waters Irene Levee; Russell Armstrong

Daughter of School Trustee Falls From Canoe Paddling Mother to Ferry—Boy Sinks Swimming Lagoon—Hero- ism Displayed in Efforts to Rescue Victims.

Rare heroism shown by children almost saved Russell Armstrong from drowning at the Island lake yesterday afternoon. But the heroism of the children was not enough to save them from the water.

Try to Revive Him.
In the meantime Mrs. Jones and Manning of the Lakeside Home for Little Children had been summoned, and as soon as the body had been recovered they set to work to try and resuscitate the boy.

The doctors worked for over an hour with the aid of nurses from the home, but a sign of life appeared.

Mr. Armstrong was on his way home from the ferry Luella when he was informed that a child had fallen from a canoe.

It is unlikely that an inquest will be held.

Despite the efforts of three doctors for hours Irene Levee, daughter of L. S. Levee, member of the board of education, who fell out of a canoe yesterday forenoon in Long Pond at Centre Island, could not be resuscitated.

Never were more efforts made to restore a life than in the case of Miss Levee. For hours the medical men, assisted by nurses and many cottagers, labored unavailingly, but not once was there a sign of life.

After reaching the solid ground again, both the premier and the minister of finance declared that they enjoyed the trip very much and made light of the accident. Commenting on the voyage, the premier said:

"I was impressed with the feeling of security and stability. It was like standing on the deck of a warship."

A MURDERER WHILE INSANE.
Verdict of Coroner's Jury in the Valentyn Tragedy.

SUNDERLAND, July 22.—The inquest in connection with the Valentyn tragedy was concluded this afternoon.

Several witnesses were examined, the chief one being the eldest daughter of the family, a girl of 16, who testified to hearing the report of a gun at daylight on Saturday, and on arising to investigate found her mother lying on the bed, dressed, with the baby in her arms and the top of her head blown off.

The father pretended not to know of the affair at all.

The jury brought in a verdict to the effect that deceased had been shot by her husband, he being insane at the time.

Lodwick appeared in court to-night and was committed to Whitchy jail for trial at the fall assizes.

PREMIER GOES UP IN BALLOON

Clemenceau of France and His Minister of War Have Exciting Time.

PARIS, July 22.—Premier Clemenceau and General Picquart, minister of war, made an ascension in the dirigible military balloon Patrie to-day.

The trip lasted two hours, and during part of it at least there was some excitement aboard the airship. While over the dome of the Invalides, after having encircled Eiffel Tower, a water-pipe burst and the premier was drenched with hot water, which, fortunately, however, was not hot enough to scald.

No one was hurt by the accident, but the two ministers were considerably disconcerted by the mishap. They were reassured eventually by the pilots of the airship, as well as by the steadiness of the dirigible.

The flight started at Meudon in the direction of Paris, and the return trip to Meudon was made by way of Issy and Les Moulinaux.

After reaching the solid ground again, both the premier and the minister of finance declared that they enjoyed the trip very much and made light of the accident. Commenting on the voyage, the premier said:

"I was impressed with the feeling of security and stability. It was like standing on the deck of a warship."

Lindsay Counterfeiters to be Sentenced Friday—Boyeau and Logie Confessions Told.

LINDSAY, July 22.—(Special.)—Chas. Burke, Robert Logie, Richard Wynn, Archie Boyeau and John Eveleigh appeared before Police Magistrates Moore and Jackson in the court house here this afternoon, confessed their counterfeiting campaign, pleaded guilty to the charge of having bogus notes in their possession, and were remanded until Friday for sentence.

Robert Miller and John Goslin, who, by the confessions of Burke and Logie, are implicated in the game, did not appear. They will be called to-morrow on the arrival of the Toronto train, and thru their counsel will plead not guilty.

The report that the story of the crime would prove sensational drew a large crowd, which completely filled the court room and corridors, and as Detective Rogers repeated to the witness box the statements given to him by Logie, Wynn and Boyeau, the interest was intense.

Burke's statement was not given out, nor will it be until the trial of Miller and Goslin. Counsel for Burke, the prisoner himself and the crowd, will be present when the magistrate will hear Burke's story.

The confession of Logie clearly shows that there was a master mind above the whole scheme. Orilla, Burke told Logie, was where the plates were manufactured; Toronto he told Wynn and Boyeau. The plates were placed in Logie's barn loft by Burke and printed the notes on a letter press by Burke, Eveleigh and Logie.

Ed. Bayly, solicitor to the attorney-general's department, conducted the cases, assisted by Crown Attorney Devlin.

Boyeau's Story.
"Archie" Boyeau and "Dick" Wynn were placed in the prisoner's box sharp at 2 o'clock. Wynn was very nervous and clutched at the railing. Boyeau looked eminently respectable and was cool.

The former was called first and after Magistrate Jackson had read the charge he elected to be tried summarily. A moment later, in a low voice, he pleaded "guilty."

The magistrate then asked for some evidence to guide him in passing sentence. In the meantime Boyeau was removed to jail until Friday morning at 10 o'clock, when he will appear for sentence.

Mr. Bayly called Inspector Joseph E. Rogers. After being sworn the officer gave Boyeau's confession to the court, the C. P. R. train between the Soo and Sudbury, when he was being brought back to Lindsay.

"After cautioning Boyeau and Wynn," said the detective, "that they were not obliged to say anything, but anything they might say would be used against them, Boyeau told me that his first connection with the matter was when Wynn and I crossed off. Charlie Burke wished to see him. Boyeau saw Burke, who told him that he had counterfeited money and wanted him to go with Wynn and pass it off. Burke wanted Boyeau to put up $100, but Boyeau could not do that. Boyeau told me that he had given me the exact date and time when Wynn and I crossed off. They redeemed the notes passed in Soo and in a valise which they jointly owned and which Wynn had left with his nephew, a saloonkeeper, 150 odd notes were found. They came across to Canadian side voluntarily. They had some genuine money, that they handed to the jailer."

"They wished me to find the notes in Sudbury and North Bay and pay their good money for them. They hadn't been in trouble of any kind before," said the detective. "They knew of no other person in connection with the matter other than Burke. From his persuasive ways they got in the game. They wished to come back and plead guilty. They were both present when the statements were given to the court."

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connor the detectives stated that the statement

THE WORLD'S HOME MAGAZINE FOR WOMEN

Edited by LAURA E. McCULLY, B.A.

On the Lagoon.

It was Saturday afternoon, and every body and his best girl were over at the island sporting themselves in a variety of ways.

In a half-hearted way some were playing ball; somehow the atmosphere was a bit heavy for ball. Along the water's edge some were waiting for a launch or other craft to take them away.

To the twilight skies rose the hum of the indefatigable mosquito as he prepared for dinner. To-night he would not feast merely on the brawny and leathery legs of some excited and out-of-control motorist.

Somehow a motor-boat always appears as a business man on parade. He is important and not to be ignored as he escorts his wife and family to some point of interest.

Gradually the crafts become fewer and fewer, the lights are bright and the power has built a bonfire on the water to keep the mosquitoes off.

The Trip to London.

The last night for the ballots to come in. And an air of suppressed excitement pervading the whole office—for, cynical as the newspaper man is supposed to be, he, too, has his sympathies.

Dear Editor: As you offer space in your paper to information of interest to women and their work, you will be interested to know of a meeting I attended some time since.

In Canada we naturalize and give full powers of citizenship to illiterate foreigners and degenerate and dissolute results; then why in the name of justice should we not give to women who are the companions and mothers of our children, the same rights and expect sane legislation?

Women are to-day, and have been, the greatest sufferers from poverty, and this country, where many are ignorant and becoming richer by the work of thousands who are restricted to narrow bounds of opportunity.

AT HANLAN'S. Yeddo Japanese Troupe Give an Amazing Performance.

For daring acrobatic feats requiring the utmost skill and accuracy in their performance none can excel the experts of the eastern world.

This was conclusively shown by the exhibition given yesterday at Hanlan's Point by the Yeddo Japanese troupe, who are the special favorites of the Mikado and the royal family of Japan.

They are from Tokio, the Japanese capital, and represent the acme of an art in which the Japanese people are expert and where only exceptional excellence can assure a popular reputation.

The verdict of the Yeddo troupe is the most original and daring that has ever appeared before a Toronto assembly, and should form a daily attraction during the present week.

This is also a week of bands. Concerts will be given on Tuesday and Thursday evenings by the 10th Highlanders' Band; Wednesday and Friday evenings the Queen's Own Rifles.

Saturday afternoon and on Sunday afternoon and evening sacred concerts by the Cadets. Additional attractions for Saturday afternoon and evening are the European's foremost comedy acrobats, and the Clair Bros. of the flying trapeze.

Both the latter acts were received with much enthusiasm by the large crowds yesterday afternoon and evening. The Ferry Co., with its fleet of eleven boats is now able to take care of the pleasure seeking public without any unnecessary crowding.

FATHER'S ECZEMA INFECTED CHILDREN

Family Cured by Zam-Buk—An Assistant Chief of the G.N.W. Tells of This Wonderful Healer.

Mr. Charles Noble of 375 Colonial-avenue, Montreal, assistant chief operator of the G. W. Telegraph Company, says: "I had eczema, which started on the back of my hands in the winter of 1906. It was very itchy and painful. I tried many remedies, but nothing seemed to do any good. I then tried Zam-Buk, and it continued to spread until Zam-Buk was recommended. A few applications, and to my surprise, the children caught it. They broke out in sores, which discharged freely and gave them great pain. All the remedies we had tried didn't seem to do any good. I then tried Zam-Buk, and it continued to spread until Zam-Buk was recommended. A few applications, and to my surprise, the children caught it. SPECIAL FARMING STOCK EDITION

THE GRAIN COMPETITIONS.

The fact that over 300 farmers of Ontario are growing a field of grain to compete in the special prizes given by the Ontario Department of Agriculture means much for the question of clean seeds. It will be remembered that the government limited their grants to the first ten fair associations sending in their applications. These soon accepted the conditions, so that we have over 10,000 acres of grain growing in Ontario for its cleanliness and good sample. Some places have chosen to grow oats, others peas, others good wheat, others Manchuria barley. Just how the oat crop will pan out will be interesting to hear.

The pea crop has had an exceptional year and no doubt some very favorable yields and samples will be seen at the local fairs and at the Canadian National and the Guelph Winter Fair. East York has chosen goose wheat and from its exceptional vigor. The land in that section was well suited to its growth and the results of the competition will be watched by the many farmers interested in it.

Because it puts a premium on clean fields, the move is a most commendable one. Weeds are becoming more troublesome in Ontario. Each year sees a harder fight being put up against them. The sow-thistle is a most persistent and deceiving weed. It spreads quickly, grows easily and chokes out all grain where found. Even the model farm has its hands full with the pest. Twitch grass, mustard, wild oats and rag weed are all too common. If the farmer of to-day has not the trouble and hardship of breaking the virgin ground, he has to earn his living by the sweat of his brow, in another but just as exacting a way. It is a fight with weeds and some of the enemies seem to have seven devils in them. Persistent are they in their growth. Vigilance and work will overcome them.

RECIPROCITY.

Many a city born has enjoyed a visit with the country cousin on the farm. Many more are going out now. It is a great chance to recuperate from the dust, grime and nerves of the city. In return ask these country people back for a two-days' sojourn at the time of the fair. Do not let every room to some paying stranger and crowd the country cousin onto the parlor floor, or chill him with a cool invitation. Save one room for him and make him come. There is a reciprocity in competition that pays. It makes the city and the country feel better and know each other better. The countryman is no longer a hayseed—he is rapidly putting the town man to shame, in vigor, polish, mentality and heartfulness. But a healthy person in each place is wanted. Comingle heartily.

FINANCE THE CO-OPERATION.

The movements of the various co-operative fruit-shipping societies over Ontario, in seeking to extend their usefulness, is a commendable one. Some people's enthusiasm is of the ephemeral type, which withers after a day or so. They are infatuated with an innovation and then cool off into vulgar neglect. Such persons are indeed of very little use to any community. Akin to him is the man who recognizes the possibilities of a co-operative movement, and with money lying in unproductive places is afraid to venture a hundred or so into the scheme. Co-operation is no new thing. Especially in fruit shipping has the business enterprise proven profitable. If the scheme is commendable for my apple shipping, what is the reason a further exploiting of the field would not pay? When an association becomes so strong that buyers seek the brand and the whole output, its returns on the capital will be large.

And the apple shipping business from Ontario is a fair looking proposition. Ontario can raise apples second to none. Her fruit will be sought for and her markets assured. Those associations which progress quickly and push their business with the instincts of private enterprise, will stand to gain the first returns, that will increase as times goes on. No man can lose investing in a co-operative concern in which he has confidence in the management. And the time is ripe for progress. The money is needed now and even if the extra returns of last year received over and above the average payments made for apples were applied to the stock, more business in cold storage, branding, pushing of sales, etc., could be made at once.

Tenders for Schools.

A special meeting of the property commission of the board of education is to be held on Wednesday at 1.30 to open the tenders for the enlargement of Grace-street, Pape-avenue and Perth-avenue schools. It is probable that the awards will be made at a special meeting on Friday.

Wanamaker's Loss.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 22.—The stores on John Wanamaker's estate, Lyndhurst, near Penikese, a suburban estate destroyed by fire at a loss of $100,000.

THE VALUE OF THOUSANDS FOR ONE DOLLAR ONLY.

This is what Mr. Munroe of Six Mile Brook, N. S., got when he discovered "Catarrozin" cured asthma. It gave him health, cured him perfectly and now he rejoices in the fact that others can be cured in the same way.

THE FARMSTEAD

Refreshing rains have fallen. The oat crop is short.

Peas are an exceptionally good looking crop. Did you ever see such cherry yields?

The Sunday World had a good photo of the women's institute. A fine lot of women.

William Oke of Whitby has about completed the erection of a new barn on the site of the one burned last summer. It has a round roof and is covered with steel.

Farm improvements are being made all over the country. New buildings, fences and better accommodations.

The Niagara fruit is at last coming to market. Fruit can now be shipped to the west and landed there in almost as good condition as at Toronto. It is much to be desired by way of stations and freight sheds.

Secretary J. W. Sangster of the Clydesdale Association has been in attendance at the Winnipeg exhibition.

The acreage planted to sugar beets east of Toronto this year is not nearly so large as last year. No less is the action of the companies about shipping time has had its effect. You can't fool farmers the second time.

It is said that the Annapolis valley apple crop this year will be a big one. Reports from there place the yield at record at several thousand barrels ahead of any previous year.

F. W. Hodson has sold his big farm at Columbus, Ont., to George Foster and Son, who have been tenants of the farm for some time. Lately the farm has been fitted up and made one of the most convenient places in the province for a large family.

J. Greenlaw of the lake front, Pickering, has just saved one of the neatest crops of hay we have seen for some time. It is the second crop on heavy land next the lake at the mouth of Duffin's creek. It was nearly pure timothy and would yield two to three tons to the acre.

Any general mechanic who would like to build up a good blacksmith and machine shop trade in the midst of a good farming section, would do well to correspond with the editor of the farming pages. A good cement shop, new, with a new house, is on the premises, which the owner must sell because of illness.

Any farmer who can secure a catch of seed would do well to take care of it, as the price of red clover this fall promises to be high. The clover seed was largely secured by late planting and although the crop may be a poor one, and the first crop blossomed well, the saving of the second crop will pay.

The Standard Flax Co. of Park Hill has commenced pulling and cutting this week. They have published a number of new mowers with which to experiment, in an endeavor to do away with the old method of pulling flax.

One of the meanest and most despicable outrages is reported as having been perpetrated in West Luthy, says The Clinton News. Mr. Thomas Coker, who is a half lot con, has discovered that some miscreant has been sowing wild mustard on his farm and on the land of some of his neighbors. The man who has done this took is clearly marked out by a strip of yellow as wide as a raccoon's tail. Such persons are indeed of very little use to any community. Akin to him is the man who recognizes the possibilities of a co-operative movement, and with money lying in unproductive places is afraid to venture a hundred or so into the scheme. Co-operation is no new thing. Especially in fruit shipping has the business enterprise proven profitable.

Notoriously the prudent mamma of the large family of daughters opened the parlor door and looked in. Softly she withdrew. The young man who can make two heads seem to grow together where only one grew before, she said to herself, is a benefactor to the human self, and deserves to be encouraged.—Chicago Tribune.

STRAWBERRY FERTILIZERS.

With favorable conditions strawberries grow fast, soon blossom, and rapidly develop their fruit, thus requiring a short time relatively large amounts of immediately available nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, and these elements must be in the soil in abundance to meet this demand if the best results are to be obtained, says the Canadian Farmer.

Well-rotted barnyard manure is the fertilizer most generally used and recommended by the experiment stations for strawberries. It should never be used fresh. If not well rotted, it is highly injurious to the plants. The diseases, and conduces to a rank growth of vine and fruit of poor quality. From 50 to 100 bushels per acre of unrotted manure are recommended.

In some localities the high cost of barnyard manure is an argument against its use, and where the soil can be supplied with humus from other sources, as by turning under green manure crops, like clover and cowpeas, commercial fertilizers are probably used to supplement the manure. The green crop manure costing $31 was tried in comparison with commercial fertilizers costing $7, with the advantage of green manure being used under to supplement the manure. The green crop should be plowed under in the fall, and the bone and ashes applied broadcast in the spring, and slightly harrowed in. This plan has given quite general satisfaction among strawberry growers.

Bad Man in Tolls. BELLEVILLE, July 22.—Two men wanted as members of the gang who committed burglaries and "shot up" Bancroft last spring, have been arrested at Depot Harbor.

WOMEN AS BARBERS.

Many Examples Are on Record of Successful Women Farmers—Here is an Old Country Success.

That agriculture affords scope and abundant opportunity for the fair sex has been demonstrated many times in America.

Many a girl, the way of markets, round our ankles, and no chance to run away or indulge in womanly shirks.

We make every effort to save money as well as make it. For instance, we find it pays us a great deal better to keep enquiring back at selling time to grind for the pigs than to buy it from the miller, and our cows and poultry we contrive to make meet our household expenses.

Short-horns and Jerseys. We are very proud of our herd of short-horn cows, with a couple of Jersey cows, and a few Jersey heifers.

I believe that a woman with a capital of £100 can take a 50-acre farm, and with care and a fair amount of hard work, make a very fair profit.

My five sisters and myself run a good-sized farm between us, and we have been most successful, not without hard work and severe losses at times. But in almost every money-making concern almost all our misfortunes have been discouraged us.

To be a successful farmer a woman must be prepared to do as much as well as the light work. When we began to real earnest to farm for ourselves we had to work hard for it.

Now and again at first we found ourselves tossed into the hedge by some new hand, but we were again thrown on our own resources.

But we knew well that if we intended being good, practical farmers, we must not be afraid to break colts in hand, farm implements became almost as easy to use as household utensils.

We had five large, strong horses and an unbroken colt. We felt we must get a man to help at some times, but by saving in something else we should not feel his expense.

The profits of the farm, after keeping seven of the potatoes mixed with a little more of the chickens and turkeys down on the cornfields, where they fatten entirely on their own.

I think we can safely say we manage our farm with good results, making enough one year to keep us through the next if we get a bad season.

Directly after harvest we take the chickens and turkeys down on the cornfields, where they fatten entirely on their own.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 89 sheep, composed of 204 cwt. 88 sheep and 8 cwt. 204 cwt. The quality of the cattle was not so good as those offered one week ago.

Considering the large run of cattle, trade was fair, the bulk having passed over the scale before noon.

Prices in all classes of cattle were 10c per cwt. lower than one week ago, and fully 21c per cwt. lower than three weeks ago to-day.

Prime picked lots of butchers sold at $4.25 to $4.75; medium, $4.20 to $4.75; common, $3.85 to $4.25; others, $3.25 to $4.25 per cwt.; canners, $2.25 to $4.25.

A few milkers and springers sold at $35 to $47 each.

H. P. Kennedy reports he sold 100 per cwt. lower than one week ago, and lights and fats at $5.50 per cwt.

HOW THE GOVERNMENT HAS HELPED

The Ontario Department of Agriculture Assisting Farmymen and Producers.

For years past, says a report from George A. Putnam, there has been a strong tendency on the part of the farmer to insist on the maker taking his milk when it was decidedly "off flavor" or contained a sufficiently large growth of bacteria to make it inferior.

The maker, feeling that competition was very keen, reluctantly took in the can, rather than lose his customer. One can of inferior milk affects the whole make. If every other farmer has taken every care possible as to cleanliness, the quality of the milk will so deteriorate that the quality of the entire make that it will not command the same price, and every producer has to suffer financially.

For several seasons past the department met this problem by offering instruction to all cheese factories applying for the same. The more ambitious and progressive ones availed themselves of this opportunity, and made the best of every suggested improvement they could put in practice, but this did not reach the men who did not desire better methods, and in many cases these were the men who were persistent in their efforts to meet this difficulty.

But the officers of the department were persistent in their efforts to meet this difficulty, and during the present season, 1907, instructors are being sent to every factory in Ontario.

The instructors visit the producers and the various methods of caring for milk in the particular conditions under which each man is producing. The farmer has it explained to him why the milk should be clean, why it should be kept away from any contaminating favor or odor, and the milk should be cooled at once to stop the growth of injurious bacteria.

The farmer is shown the practical reasons for all this care, and the result that more and more are beginning to study the problem. As no ready-made man in holding up and advancing the reputation of Ontario cheese. The instructors visit the producers and the various methods of caring for milk in the particular conditions under which each man is producing.

The milk producers, this year, are welcoming the instructors, and the majority of cases they manifest their desire to co-operate with the department by adopting every means of improving the condition surrounding milk production.

As many of the makers at the present time have attended to their schools and have become experts in their line, it rests all the more with the producer to see that his milk is of first class quality, and that an improvement in the quality of his milk is not allowed to be made up with that furnished by him and thus lessen the value of what he produces.

Notwithstanding the general appreciation of improved methods, and the wish to allow no selfish interest to interfere with the good of the industry, there are still many careless patrons and still many indifferent cheesemakers, and it is only by raising their standard that Ontario cheese can come up to its possibilities.

The work of the department is to improve the cheese factories were equal to the best and all the cheese made were produced under the most favorable conditions, and to accomplish this that the large staff of workers are applying their time and their energies. Judging from the success with which they are meeting, the welcome they are receiving from the producer, the maker and the proprietor, and the improvement in the manufactured product, the work of the department is being much appreciated and can be pronounced a decided step in advance.

The suggestions made by instructors as to desirable alterations and additions in order to place factories in a proper sanitary condition are being accepted in a very kindly manner by owners and managers of factories.

Many of these improvements have already been made, while in many other cases it is the intention of the responsible persons to install the desired improvements before another season. It is particularly significant that factories which had not heretofore taken advantage of instruction are this year endeavoring to raise the standard of Canadian cheese.

The rapid cooling is so easily understood that it is arousing many of the producers to the importance of the importance of furnishing high-class raw material, and in many of the best dairy sections, a large proportion of the producers are providing suitable milkhouses, containing cooling tanks, which will keep the milk away from bad odors and dust, and keep it from the sun, as well as keep it at a low temperature.

Again, producers are also making preparations for the storage of ice. The new "Lord's Day Act" will also have a beneficial effect upon the producer, which will result in the making of ice houses.

THE MORNING OF LIFE. Make youth happy by making it strong. Help it to pass on to middle life the vigor that demands success. Hard study at school and rapid growth weakens the system, and so it is necessary to develop a strong constitution early—one that prepares you to enter manhood and womanhood equipped for any work.
