CHAS. DUCKETT,

MEDICAL OFFICER'S REPORT.

During the year 1864, two hundred and thirty-one persons were admitted into the House of Industry, the greatest number of whom were very old and infirm, with broken down constitutions, or labouring under some incurable chronic disease; many of them having been dismissed from the General Hospital as incurables, or sent in by the police in a sick or dying condition from drink and exposure.

Twenty-two have died during the year, and while this number may appear large, to persons unacquainted with the circumstances, yet, by those who have paid any attention to the class of persons and cases admitted, and the crowded state of the institution, it will be considered as low as could reasonably be expected.

The majority of those who have died during the year have been over fifty years of age; seven died of senile debility, or old age, without any special disease, while nineteen died from diseases, or conditions of system pronounced incurable before their admission, and on account of which they were received into the house.

2 died under one year of age.

3 died between 5 and 10 years of age.

2 " " 30 and 40 " "

1 " " 40 and 50 " "

1 " " 50 and 60 " "

7	died between 60 and 70 years of age.
4	“ “ 70 and 80 “ “
2	“ “ 80 and 90 “ “

The sum of their ages being 1100 years.

7	died of Senile Debility.

2	“ Consumption.
1	“ Chronic Pleurisy.
1	“ Typhoid Fever.

2	“ Tubercular Meningitis.
1	“ Disease of Hip Joint.

1	“ Infantile Debility.

Having vaccinated all the children on their admission, there has been no small pox in the House since 1863, but hooping cough attacked nearly all the children in the Institution, and I am happy to say they have all recovered from it, but one little boy, who died from tubercular meningitis, with which he had been ill for some time, and which was aggravated by the violence of the cough.

UZZIEL OGDEN,
Physician to the House of Industry,

REPORT.

The Trustees and Managers of the Toronto House of Industry beg to submit their Annual Report to the supporters of the charity and to the public generally, and, in doing so, they are thankful to record that the liberality and benevolence of the citizens of Toronto have enabled the house to afford, during the past year, a greater amount of relief to the poor of the city than has been given in any former year.

The accompanying Superintendent's Report shews that the unusually large number of 701 families (2,682 souls in all,) have been in receipt of out-door relief during the year, and as each case has been thoroughly investigated by the Ward Visitors before being placed upon the books, it is believed that none but the really deserving and necessitous have obtained substantial relief.

During the past year there have been received within the house 231 poor or infirm persons, of whom 101 still remain as inmates.

Until a separate establishment can be erected for "incurables," the principal burden of supporting the incurable sick and maimed must continue to be borne by this institution, and as the number of these within the city limits, and consequently within the house, is increasing yearly, it is submitted that, either efforts be made for the establishment of such an asylum at as early a date as possible, or that a separate grant of money be given by Parliament to this institution for this special object.

280 tons of coal have been distributed during the year, and 17,215 large loaves of bread; besides which, small rations of tea, sugar, barley, &c., have been bestowed in cases of sickness; strong men applying for relief are compelled to earn such relief by cutting and sawing wood for the house at reduced wages; and women, also, are now set to knitting stockings and woollens, which the house disposes of for their benefit. By these means, the Board is glad to state that it has materially lessened the number of applications for relief made by the lazy and drunken.

Your trustees beg to report that, during the past year, they have built, adjoining the house, a very substantial stone soup-kitchen, as the one hitherto in use was found to be altogether too small for the supply required during the winter months. No less than sixty gallons of excellent soup are being distributed each day. The casual poor are allowed to eat the soup within the house, in a room especially provided for that purpose; while the poor families, whose names are upon the books, are allowed to receive the soup at home in sufficient quantity for each member of the family. Even with regard to this minor branch of the house-charity, the usual care is taken that relief shall be given only to the deserving, and the public are requested to aid the house in this particular, so far as not to give too often tickets for soup to the same poor persons who call at their door, without first inquiring into their character for sobriety, or reporting their names to the Superintendent.

The managers of the house are still crippled in their resources by the reduction of the Government grant to this institution made two years ago by Parliament, and they would earnestly urge upon the charitable not to allow this excellent charity to languish for want of funds, but to increase their subscriptions and the number of subscribers, so that the disbursements made by the house may keep pace with the steady yearly increase in the number of poor requiring relief.

Every care is taken that there shall be no waste or want of economy in the management of the funds placed at their disposal, and they invite a comparison of the accompanying Treasurer's report with that of the Superintendent.

The nature of the relief given, and the amount of such relief, is clearly shown in the Superintendent's report, while the balance-sheet, duly audited, shews how economically the Trustees and Managers have administered the funds intrusted to them.

The Trustees and Managers cannot close this report without acknowledging the most valuable assistance rendered to the efficient working of the institution by the gentlemen of the board who act as ward visitors, and they desire to express their entire satisfaction with the assiduity and efficiency of the Superintendent and Matron of the establishment.

All which is respectfully submitted.

E. H. RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

G. T. CARRUTHERS,
Clerk, Secretary.
