A Flutter in Local Politics.

It is interesting to observe that when the daily newspapers set about the work of manufacturing a political crisis, they are sure to make a large number of people believe that the crisis is a fact...

There was music in the air Saturday afternoon and evening, especially around Chatham corner and Wilmot street. Men smiled broadly; others could not keep their chins off their chests...

Dr. Stockton, in his easy chair, in dressing gown and slippers, on his knees a ponderous volume and on his brow the sweat of a hot day...

Dr. Alward, who was seen later, was even more reticent. A late despatch to THE STAR says: "Hon. Mr. Ritchie will be sworn in as police magistrate on Saturday morning..."

Wilson, John McDonald, Chas. Gunn, T. Crimmon, R. Murray, J. R. Allen, W. Wyse, R. A. Lawlor, R. H. Anderson, T. Flanagan, W. C. Winslow.

CORRECT—The Moncton Transcript, very correctly, says—"When a newspaper finds its arguments are generally met by a contemporary with respect about the best thing to do is to treat the offender with silent contempt. Mad throwing may be cogent, but it will never pass for argument." The ADVANCE was not of the "contemporaries" in the mind of the Transcript's editor.

"Many Men, Many Minds, but one and all minds agree as to the merits of Burdock Pills, small and sugar-coated.

18th May.

The Herring Cove factory owned by W. S. Loggie Esq., is under way and business there is rushing. A great many improvements have been made and with Mr. Loggie's well known enterprise has made the Cove factory a striking place. He has Mr. Harrison Davidson in charge of the whole arrangement, both the canning and the outside part of the business. This factory has five boats engaged, and besides there are two more boats fishing. These two boats have their own lines, traps and all the rigging connected with the lobster business, and they land the lobsters at the Herring Cove factory for Mr. Loggie. There are fifteen girls and women employed and about ten men and boys, not including the boatmen.

All the factories are busy packing now, but lobsters are very scarce.

Saturday the 10th was a very rough day down here. A few boats came ashore and got badly broken, but not too badly to be mended. Maxim Martin, sr., got his head badly smashed while running the new boat "Anita," and probably to have the boat he had to cut away part of the running rigging, to enable him to save both himself and the boat, although he got his head badly bruised in his fight with the elements, and pointed the "Anita's" "White Wings," red.

The lobster traps were wrecked considerable in a few days, however, all the mischief caused by the waves in a frolic, will be repaired and things will be running along in the old way.

Bob Ben has received a great many congratulations to-day, on the occasion of an interesting event that took place in his family.

Mist on Earth.

As morning sun, with strong and vivid rays, drives from the earth the sultry mists, so to it, in strength and power, send both rust disease and stay disease's heavy hand.

"Miss Brown would be a charming girl," I heard a young man say to a friend. "If she had a good complexion, and those spots would go away."

But they never do completely. If Miss Brown would only take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which it would drive out all the humor from her blood and make it pure and clear. And the blemishes complained of disappear, be very sure.

This medicine is the great purifier of the blood, and discharging eruptions and blotches will soon vanish when it is used.

A Dramatic Treat.

Quite a treat in the dramatic line is in store for Chatham, on Tuesday evening next, when the famous English Stars, Gen. M. Wood and Miss Margaret St. John, with a full company in support, will step here on their way to Quebec and present the great comedy "The Private Secretary" at Masonic Hall. This company, as a rule, plays only in the large cities, and Chatham is the only place that will be favored by them between Halifax and Quebec, it being necessary to make a break in the long journey. The large number of seats already engaged indicate that they will have a good house.

The railway statistics of the Dominion up to June 30 last year have just been completed. The total miles of completed railway in the Dominion were 12,701. Capital paid $727,000,000; earnings, $42,129,129; working expenses, $30,552,942; net earnings, $11,576,187.

ESOLAND BEATS BOSTON.—Nature says, "The total energy of agitation in an isothermal adiabatic is half the potential energy lost in the contraction from a condition of infinite dispersion." It will be remembered that the Transcript has always insisted upon this fact, but it is especially gratifying to be endorsed by so distinguished an authority, as well as pleasing to find it couched in such graphic language.—Boston Transcript.

According to newspaper reports, the graves of nine-tenths of the great poets, orators, historians and authors of the past are neglected. The report thus shows for their memories will explain why so many young men of to-day are more anxious to become professional baseball players than to the great poets, historians or orators. The baseball player's grave is not neglected.—Worcester Herald.

There is a grim humor about some of Judge Lynch's executions. A bank president in south-west Texas made away with all the funds under his charge and then posted on the door of his institution, "Bank Suspended." That night he was interviewed by a number of depositors, who left him hanging to a tree with this notice pinned to his breast: "Bank President Suspended." Bank suspensions will not occur very frequently in that locality.

ROME, MAY 10.—Count Antepoli, the leader in the Italian mission to the King of Shoo, telegraphs that it is a fight between the Abyssinians and the dervishes, Rasalala escaped wounded.

Legendary stories concerning the battle are so full of absurdities that it is difficult to believe that the Abyssinians were victorious. The Negroes were wounded, and while suffering from fever he ordered 2000 dervishes to be beheaded in his presence. On the following day, after proclaiming himself the elect of God, he headed his army, and was again wounded in the neck. He fell, and the army fled, leaving 30,000 dead.

At Yako, Korea, on the 13th, 400 constables surrounded a house occupied by one Bok and dragged him out, beating him to death. The Korean government had imposed a tax on the townspeople whose property it was to be sold, and Bok paid the entire levy, selling some of his property to do so. This act of charity aroused the suspicion of the authorities, who thought Bok sought to make himself prominent in the district. They accordingly had him put to death in the manner described. The enraged townspeople on the massed and killed Bok and his family, killing many and wounding most of the survivors. The military quelled the riot.

Richmond, Va., May 11.—Mr. W. L. Royall, Counsel here for the assignees of Virginia bonds caused a dinner in political circles yesterday by boldly declaring in an interview that he favored the disfranchisement of negroes. Royall is a Democrat and an aspirant for political honors.

In his interview he said: "If the voters of this district should think me worthy of a seat in Congress, my aim will be to secure the disfranchisement of the negro. No white man in the South would, for a moment, entertain a proposition to re-entertain the negro, or to treat him unfairly in respect of his rights of person or property. I am not a Democrat, but I am a friend of a free and equal ballot in a free and equal ballot in his present half civilized state.

This is the time of year when the winter-wash question breaks loose and runs rampant in all directions. One says the windows should be up, and another says they should be down. One demands fresh air, and another clamors against the danger of chills. Every house at such times is divided against itself.

The reduction of the time between New York and San Francisco has just been completed. It is a notable event, and marks the rapid progress of steamship construction during the past few years. The City of Paris, in crossing the Atlantic on her last trip, steamed in 10 days and 12 hours, at the rate of 21 1/2 knots an hour, and she is expected to do still better than this.

Legendary stories concerning the battle are so full of absurdities that it is difficult to believe that the Abyssinians were victorious. The Negroes were wounded, and while suffering from fever he ordered 2000 dervishes to be beheaded in his presence. On the following day, after proclaiming himself the elect of God, he headed his army, and was again wounded in the neck. He fell, and the army fled, leaving 30,000 dead.

At Yako, Korea, on the 13th, 400 constables surrounded a house occupied by one Bok and dragged him out, beating him to death. The Korean government had imposed a tax on the townspeople whose property it was to be sold, and Bok paid the entire levy, selling some of his property to do so. This act of charity aroused the suspicion of the authorities, who thought Bok sought to make himself prominent in the district. They accordingly had him put to death in the manner described. The enraged townspeople on the massed and killed Bok and his family, killing many and wounding most of the survivors. The military quelled the riot.

Richmond, Va., May 11.—Mr. W. L. Royall, Counsel here for the assignees of Virginia bonds caused a dinner in political circles yesterday by boldly declaring in an interview that he favored the disfranchisement of negroes. Royall is a Democrat and an aspirant for political honors.

In his interview he said: "If the voters of this district should think me worthy of a seat in Congress, my aim will be to secure the disfranchisement of the negro. No white man in the South would, for a moment, entertain a proposition to re-entertain the negro, or to treat him unfairly in respect of his rights of person or property. I am not a Democrat, but I am a friend of a free and equal ballot in a free and equal ballot in his present half civilized state.

This is the time of year when the winter-wash question breaks loose and runs rampant in all directions. One says the windows should be up, and another says they should be down. One demands fresh air, and another clamors against the danger of chills. Every house at such times is divided against itself.

The reduction of the time between New York and San Francisco has just been completed. It is a notable event, and marks the rapid progress of steamship construction during the past few years. The City of Paris, in crossing the Atlantic on her last trip, steamed in 10 days and 12 hours, at the rate of 21 1/2 knots an hour, and she is expected to do still better than this.

ESOLAND BEATS BOSTON.—Nature says, "The total energy of agitation in an isothermal adiabatic is half the potential energy lost in the contraction from a condition of infinite dispersion." It will be remembered that the Transcript has always insisted upon this fact, but it is especially gratifying to be endorsed by so distinguished an authority, as well as pleasing to find it couched in such graphic language.—Boston Transcript.

According to newspaper reports, the graves of nine-tenths of the great poets, orators, historians and authors of the past are neglected. The report thus shows for their memories will explain why so many young men of to-day are more anxious to become professional baseball players than to the great poets, historians or orators. The baseball player's grave is not neglected.—Worcester Herald.

There is a grim humor about some of Judge Lynch's executions. A bank president in south-west Texas made away with all the funds under his charge and then posted on the door of his institution, "Bank Suspended." That night he was interviewed by a number of depositors, who left him hanging to a tree with this notice pinned to his breast: "Bank President Suspended." Bank suspensions will not occur very frequently in that locality.
