Harcourt's Budget Secures a Second Reading.

In Spite of Parnellite and Other Defections.

A Lady Elected to the Wesleyan Conference in England.

Re-Appearance of Lily Langtry on the London Stage—Death of the Countess of Clarendon.

The Countess of Clarendon Dead. LONDON, May 10.—The Countess of Clarendon, wife of the fifth Earl of Clarendon, died last night. She was the oldest daughter of the Earl of Northampton.

The Queen's Drawing-Room. LONDON, May 10.—The Queen held a drawing-room at Buckingham Palace to-day. The weather was rainy and disagreeable, and the attendance was not large.

The Civil Marriage Bill Rejected. BRUSSELS, May 10.—The House of Magnates to-day rejected the Civil Marriage Bill by a majority of 21. This action has created great excitement. It is expected the Ministry will resign.

Miss Dawson Sent to Conference. LONDON, May 10.—Miss Dawson has been chosen to represent the Hastings district at the coming Wesleyan Conference. She is the first woman chosen to be a member of such a society, and it is doubtful that she will be admitted.

Re-elected, but Too Late to Vote. LONDON, May 10.—Robert T. Reid, who had to stand again after his elevation to the Solicitor-Generalship, was re-elected to-day without opposition to represent Dumfries, but he was unable to take his seat in time to vote on the budget.

Who Shall Have Samoa? LONDON, May 10.—The Colonial party of the House of Commons met to-day with Sir John Gorst in the chair to discuss the Samoan question. Sir George Gray, some time governor of New Zealand, argued that England should let New Zealand administer the affairs of the islands.

Released by Death. BARCELONA, May 10.—Martin Borass, the anarchist, who was soon to be tried for complicity in the attempt to kill Captain General Martinez de Campos, has been found dead in his prison cell. The body was badly bruised, and the medical examiner believes he died from violence.

Jabez on His Dignity. BUENOS AYRES, May 10.—Jabez Spencer Balfour, the abiding manager of the Liberator Building Association of London, who has been under arrest in Argentina pending extradition proceedings, has made a demand for his complete liberty, and will claim damages for illegal arrest.

A New Commission Business. DRESDEN, May 10.—Daniel Dorland, the American swindler arrested here, claims that he was relegated to secure titled husbands for the daughters of the American millionaires. He demanded a percentage on the supposed fortunes of the young women who, according to Dorland, were seeking titled husbands.

Girl Shot Dead by a Sentry. LONDON, May 10.—The Berlin correspondent of the Central News says that a young maid named Kaczmarek was stopped and roughly handled by a sentry in the city of Posen yesterday. The sentry tried to arrest her, but she ran away. He shouted to her three times to stop, but she continued running. He then shot her dead.

Good-Bye to Miss Willard. LONDON, May 10.—The annual council of the British Woman's Temperance Association said good-bye to-day to Miss Frances Willard, the American temperance reformer. Miss Willard said in her farewell speech that during her two years' visit in England she had observed nothing else so gratifying as the power of English women to combine for a great cause.

Boiled a Lunatic. PARIS, May 10.—A Swiss lunatic, of the name of Tabottier, was left for half an hour in a hot bath at the Bicetre Hospital and was boiled to death.

The Officials of the Hospital say that it was an accident. The man was subject to violent fits, and it had been the custom to fix him down in a warm bath in order to calm him. The hot water was turned on by mistake.

Emigrants Going Back. LONDON, May 10.—Mr. A. J. Mundella, president of the Board of Trade, said that officers of the Board of Trade had reported to him this morning that they had found an excessive number of steerage passengers on board the German steamship Havel on her arrival at Southampton from New York yesterday. The Board of Trade, he said, had asked the agents of the steamship company for an explanation.

The G. O. M. at a Wedding. LONDON, May 10.—On the occasion of the Asquith marriage this afternoon, the bride was attired in white duchess satin, with orange blossoms. Among those present were Mr. Gladstone, Lord Rosebery, Earl Spencer, Joseph Chamberlain and Arthur J. Balfour. The crowd outside the church cheered as Mr. Gladstone arrived, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Drew. Mr. Asquith and his bride started this afternoon for Melk Park, Frome, where they will spend the honeymoon.

Panic in the Augsburg Cathedral. MEXICO, May 10.—A panic occurred in the cathedral at Augsburg, Bavaria, last night, in which several persons were severely injured. A large congregation had assembled to take part in the May service, when a woman in the middle of the church fainted. This caused a commotion, which was misunderstood by persons in other parts of the edifice, and a rush was made for the doors. A number of worshippers, mostly women and children, were thrown down and trampled upon. Most of them were severely though not seriously injured, but it is thought one may die.

The "Lily" Blooms Anew. LONDON, May 10.—Mrs. Langtry re-appeared on the stage this evening in Buchanan & Murray's "A Society Butterfly" at the Opera Comique. She had the leading part and did satisfactory work, although the organized gallery clique treated her badly. She has aged rapidly since her last public appearance. She was fairly supported. The piece was well staged, and probably will be successful. This evening it was injured by a stupid intermezzo of living pictures. The authors were called before the curtain.

As a Yankee Captain Sees It. LONDON, May 10.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes an interview with Capt. Alfred T. Mahan, commander of the U. S. cruiser Chicago, now lying at Gravesend. Capt. Mahan declined to discuss the naval programme of Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, but expressed the opinion that the naval supremacy of Great Britain was more vital to her now than ever before in her history. Whenever naval powers threaten her, she must increase her navy, for as a military question security can only be had by force of superior numbers. Capt. Mahan expressed the belief that the future of naval warfare rests upon the battleship and not upon the smaller vessels, although the types of battleships would be varied from time to time.

The Panama Canal Frauds. PARIS, May 10.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, the question of delay in the extradition of Dr. Cornelius Herz, the Panama Canal lobbyist, was debated with great vigor. The Government gave assurances that Dr. Herz should be extradited with the least possible delay. The Chamber also passed a resolution that in the case of Dr. Herz, a strict and immediate enforcement of the law would be exacted. The tribunal has condemned M. Oberndorfer, the banker, to make restitution of 2,503,250 francs to the shareholders in the Panama Canal Company, with amount of interest accruing since the money came into his hands in 1888, and also to pay all costs.

The Instructions to Bering Sea Cruisers.

LONDON, May 10.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Geo. Baden Powell asked whether the instructions given to the warships of the United States and Great Britain in Bering Sea in regard to the warning and seizure of sealing vessels were identical, and also whether the commanders of such warships were empowered to exclude from Bering Sea, or only to prevent them from fishing for seals.

Sir Edward Gray, Parliamentary Secretary of Foreign Affairs, said the instructions issued by the two Governments to the commanders of warships were identical, though there was a certain difference between the terms of the acts of the two Legislatures. No powers were given to exclude vessels from the Bering Sea, but only to seize vessels actually engaged in sealing, or vessels bearing indications of having so violated the act, or of having entered the sea for that purpose.

Sir Edward Gray announced in the House of Commons that the agreement with Russia, which had been in force for a year in regard to the catching of seals in Russian waters, had been renewed for this year, and that no further negotiations were pending.

British Budget Debate. LONDON, May 10.—The debate on the Budget Bill in the Commons was resumed this evening before a well-filled House.

Arthur Balfour said whether good or bad, the budget was wholly inconsistent with the traditions of Liberal finance. It was not a national but a class budget. In it the Government assailed certain interests to propitiate others. They dealt unjustly with the brewers and publicans on the fallacious assumption that excessive profits justified excessive taxation. The graduated income tax might be good in principle, but the method of application proposed by the Government directly menaced trade and individual interests. The new estate duties mulcted iniquitously the large properties. Mr. Balfour said he was sure the public had not seen the absurdity of the scheme, the greatest blot on which was the absurd pretension of the author that he had done away with the existing anomalies of taxation.

Sir Wm. Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, defended his budget. The motion to reject the bill, he said, represented the hand and liquor interests. The Opposition contended that beer and spirituous liquors could not bear the additional taxation. Would they then favor taxing tea, sugar and grain, or only income?

Referring to Mr. Balfour's strictures on the new estate duties and the income tax, Sir William Harcourt quoted the recommendations of John Stuart Mill and Adam Smith in support of graduation in taxation. Common sense, he said, found in such graduation a just and expedient system. Therein lay the fundamental principle of Liberal finance as now submitted to the House. If the budget should be rejected the principle must survive, for it was the principle of justice. He challenged the vote of the House on this principle and he was prepared when the time should come to ask the country's verdict. (Loud cheering.)

When Sir William closed his speech the House was packed. The division was made slowly, as the members went into the lobbies with painful deliberation. The tellers announced that 308 members had voted for the second reading, and 294 against it—a majority of 14 for the Government.

When the Speaker read these figures to the House the supporters of the Government burst into roaring cheers. The Unionists replied with equal vigor. In the division all the Parnellites and Mr. Saunders (Radical) joined the Unionists. Mark Beaufoy, Sidney Everis and William McKewen (all Liberals) abstained from voting.

Ancient Ruins Uncarved. ATHENS, May 11.—Prof. Richardson, director of the American Society of Archaeology, now excavating in the ruins of the ancient city of Eretria, has discovered the foundations of a temple, near which are the ruins of a theater and other important buildings.

The Ontario Campaign.

How Birds of a Feather Flock Together.

Cardwell Conservatives Prefer the P. P. A. Candidate.

South Bruce Liberals Nominate Mr. Thomas Ingles—Political Notes.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER. BRETTON, May 10.—At the Cardwell Conservative convention held to-day Mr. Lytle, the P. P. A. candidate, received the nomination for the Local Legislature by 45 majority. Mr. Wolfe, of Tottenham, and Mr. Hammell, the present member, also ran, but their supporters were outvoted by the P. P. A. men. About 170 delegates were in attendance.

ONTARIO REFORM CLUB. TORONTO, May 10.—At the annual meeting of the Ontario Reform Club to-day, Sir Richard Cartwright was elected president, Jos. Tait, M.P.P., first vice-president, F. Frank Pedley, second-vice, Geo. Clay is secretary, and J. L. Nichols treasurer.

SOUTH BRUCE LIBERAL NOMINATION. WALKERTON, Ont., May 10.—At the adjourned convention of the South Bruce Liberal party held at Formosa to-day, Mr. Thos. Ingles, of Carrick, received the nomination for the Local House by a majority of six votes over Mr. Truax, ex-M.P. Mr. Ingles lives in Carrick, and is a prominent farmer. His opponent, Mr. Vallens, the Patron candidate, lives in the township of Kinloss. There is no Conservative candidate in the field so far.

EAST TORONTO—A LABOR CANDIDATE. TORONTO, May 10.—Mr. John Armstrong was to-night nominated as Labor candidate for East Toronto for the Ontario Legislature. He accepted on the understanding that he would retire if a Reform candidate is nominated. Dr. Ryerson (Con.) and E. A. MacDonald (Ind. Con.) have been already nominated for the constituency.

THE OTTAWA TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL voted not to bring out a workmen's candidate.

Sir Leonard Tilley, it is said, will be appointed to one of the vacant New Brunswick Senatorships.

East Kent Reformers meet in Ridgeway, Tuesday, May 22, to choose a candidate. Hon. A. Harcourt, Provincial Treasurer, and W. D. Balfour, M.P.P., will address the convention.

DESERTED BY HER HUSBAND

The Sad Story of Mrs. Jefferson on Slaght of St. Thomas. (Detroit News.)

Jefferson Slaght is a miserable whelp, according to the story told the News this morning by the wife he left behind at St. Thomas with three small children without any means of support.

They were married at that place six years ago and have three children, the oldest being a pretty little girl of 5 years and the other two boys aged 2½ and 1½ years. Slaght has never followed any regular occupation and has not lived in St. Thomas for three years. Being left penniless the young wife was forced to return to her parents, with whom she lived until a year ago, when she was compelled to take her children to a charity home, where they have since been.

The husband has occasionally visited them, but had not been there for a long time, and in March, 1893, he came to Detroit and found him working in a livery stable. He promised he would mend his ways, and after staying a few days, she returned to St. Thomas, he saying that money would soon be sent to enable them all to come and live in Detroit. A couple of letters came to them soon after, but no money.

On March 6, this year, she received a letter telling them to pack their effects and be ready to come on March 23, but the promised money or railroad fares never came.

Then Mrs. Slaght invoked the aid of the police here, and Detective Tuttle located Slaght at Keena's livery stable on Elizabeth street west. The wife arrived here yesterday accompanied by the children. Slaght asked forgiveness and made peace with her, and at noon the whole family went over to the Merchants' Hotel on Jefferson avenue, where they had dinner together. He left, saying he would return at 2 o'clock, but at that time a note was received which stated he was busy working and could not get up before the evening. He told them to stay until then, when he would rejoin the family. That was the last heard of him, and as the wife was without money she again called at police headquarters this morning.

A detective was sent up to the livery stable and found he had been there about 7 o'clock, but had not been seen since. Mrs. Slaght says she will swear out a warrant for non-support. According to the deserted wife, during the past three years, the total of all Slaght has contributed for the support of herself and children would not amount to $20. At present she is without friends or money.

No Fool Big Injun.

SARNIA, May 11.—At Court tonight on Thursday a sleight-of-hand fakir was amusing a knot of people, who gathered around him, by professing to take money from the pockets of the bystanders. Among the crowd was a big warlike Indian named Tom Nichols. Extending his hand towards Tom's pockets the fakir exhibited a half-dollar, which he claimed he had just taken from the brave's pocket. Accepting this as true, Tom made for the fakir, who took to his heels, but was eventually overtaken in a store. It was not until the fakir had given him a real half-dollar that Tom's anger subsided. The sleight-of-hand man has abandoned for all time the business of seeming to take money from men's pockets.

Lightning Strikes Twice in the Same Place.

BROWNVILLE, Ont., May 10.—While a heavy storm was passing over here this evening lightning struck and burned the entire farm buildings, covering 100 feet square, including several tens of hay and one steer, owned by Mr. E. B. Brown. During the afternoon he had turned the whole of his cattle, numbering 30 and several horses, out on pasture for the first time. This saved them. Loss over $2,000; insured for about $800.

Twenty-nine years ago this spring, his entire buildings covering exactly the same ground were burned the same way.

The Presbyterian Synod at Toronto Discuss Prohibition.

And Indorse the Resolutions of the Temperance Committee.

TORONTO, May 10.—Prohibition was the subject of discussion at the Presbyterian Synod meeting yesterday. That Presbyterians "look out for men who will put the question of prohibition before Parliament," was the recommendation of the committee on temperance.

This was strongly opposed by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, "Prohibition," he said, "cannot compare with such important questions as education and the tariff." The synod, he thought, was going beyond its province in committing itself thus to specific legislation.

Mr. Macdonnell, however, was alone when it came to a vote. A resolution calling on Presbyterians to use all legitimate means to secure the advance of the prohibition principle was carried, the vote being 80 to 1.

DECLINE TO SEND DELEGATES TO THE ALLIANCE.

At the Presbyterian Synod meeting this evening a request was received from the Dominion Alliance asking that delegates be sent to the annual meeting of the Alliance shortly in Montreal.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell objected on the ground that the church had no cause to have anything to do with the association, which was composed of erratic men.

Dr. Parsons said it was a political organization more than anything else. The clerk was directed to reply that it was not the system of the church to send delegates in regard to matters out of the jurisdiction of the church.

HIDING THE TRUTH.

More Attempts to Stifle Investigation at Ottawa.

$271,000 Unaccounted for—Mr. Lister's Serious Charge—The Wellington Bridge Affair.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

OTTAWA, May 11.—Daniel O'Connor, Q.C., was again examined before the public accounts committee this morning, and especially with reference to the hard pan cases under discussion in the House yesterday.

Mr. Lister started out to show that the Government established a special tribunal to try a dozen bogus claims arising out of the construction of the Oxford and New Glasgow Railway and the Cape Breton Railway. Judge Burbridge was appointed under a special commission to ascertain what amounts were due these contractors, and he gave them $250,000. When Mr. Lister asked witness if any such special commission had ever been issued Tupper objected to the question, and after Mr. Lister protested the questions were overruled. Other questions were objected to by Tupper, and Mr. Lister asked the Government of endeavoring to stifle investigation into the question if the Government had not set aside public rights as guarded by contracts and referred claims fraudulently to a special commissioner who was instructed to find certain sums as due. Mr. Tupper said they were here to see only whether O'Connor's accounts were correct or not and not as to whether the Government did wrong. Mr. Tupper insisted again and again that the conduct of the Government must not be called into question. Here is where Liberals declined to agree. They contended that as claims would not have been referable in an ordinary way an investigation was necessary because money was awarded not due under the contracts and not by a court of law, but by a special commissioner.

Mr. Haggart, who is a bosom friend of Mr. Lister, the chief contractor, made a warm speech in defense of the course of the Government. Mr. Lister declared that $271,000 were paid to persons who had no claim. The Auditor-General said so and the papers showed it.

The chairman ruled that Mr. Lister's question was quite a proper one and witness replied that he knew of no other similar commission ever issued to try contractors' claims. This ended a very stormy discussion in which Mr. Haggart charged that Mr. Lister knew all about these claims when Parliament was induced to vote money for them, and Mr. Lister retorted that Haggart's statement was a false one. Witness said the judge refused to hear the cases under the statute. Lister could, however, make little progress, owing to frivolous objections of the Government. Tupper objected even to the question of what were the names of the plaintiffs in these suits, and Mr. Hughes said they could put a question on the order paper in the House. The question was allowed, and Lister began to make some progress when the hour for adjournment arrived.

Investigation before the public accounts committee into the Wellington bridge scandal was postponed to-day until Tuesday at the request of Hon. L. H. Davies, who desired further time to make a thorough examination of the papers. Messrs. Schreiber, St. Louis and Parent, who were in attendance as witnesses, were told to be on hand on Tuesday, after which date the investigation will proceed from day to day.

He Doesn't Want to Die.

NEW YORK, May 11.—There was a big crowd at the menagerie in Central Park as early as 5 o'clock this morning, where the elephant Tip, who was sentenced to death, is confined. Snyder, the elephant's keeper, began operations by giving him a couple of non-poisoned carrots, which he ate. When Tip was given the carrots with poison the elephant spat them out. It is believed, however, that he swallowed some of the poison, and that he is now slowly dying. He was given a couple of apples with poison in them, and these he refused to eat. 9:30 a.m.—Tip is apparently as well as ever, and the general opinion at the menagerie is that the elephant poisoning was a failure.

It is announced that no further attempt would be made to poison the elephant or kill him in any other way until the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had been consulted.

May Report of the United States Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The May report of the statisticians of the Department of Agriculture, after consolidating the returns, places the condition of winter wheat at 81.4, as against 86.7 the previous month—a falling off of 5.3 per cent. In 1893 at the same date the condition was 75.3, a little over two points lower than the previous month.

Winter rye, like winter wheat, has suffered a decline since last month, the average for May 1 being 90.7, against 94.4 in April.

The average condition of barley is 82.3, against 86.6 last year. This low condition is the result of the drought in California, which is the largest producing State.

The condition of spring pasture is 92.7; of mowing lands, 91.7.

PRESBYTERIANS IN TORONTO.

A Strong Plea for Church Union by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Macdonnell.

TORONTO, May 10.—The Rev. Robert Forde, of Erin, has been elected moderator of the Presbyterian synod meeting here. The retiring moderator, the Rev. Dr. Houston, preached the annual sermon from Col. iv., 5. Two papers on missionary work at home and abroad were read during the afternoon and elicited a strong speech from the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, who resurrected the question of union between the evangelical branches of the church for the purpose of Christian work. He would be pleased to see a union between the Presbyterian, Anglican, Methodist and Congregational churches. He had no hopes of ever effecting a union with the Baptists. Their position he could not understand. They set themselves up as oracles, and when approached by other denominations with offers of co-operation, the answer, in substance, invariably was, "Ye must be born again." Others spoke strongly in favor of an evangelical union of the churches.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

That dainty little artist, Marie Tempest, a favorite on both continents, will be greeted by a tremendous audience to-night. The plan indicates that there will not be a vacant seat and that extra accommodation may have to be provided. It is without doubt the greatest comic opera event this year. Miss Tempest is assisted by most brilliant principals and a chorus of 50 voices. The scenery and costumes which give "The Fencing Master" the rich color and atmosphere of Venice are of unequalled scale of splendor. Miss Tempest this week has had a series of ovations in Detroit, where she has taken theater-goers by storm. She was last seen in London in "The Red Hussar" three years ago. The prima donna is of English birth, and won fame in the world's metropolis in the role of Dorothy. She was induced to come to America, and is now recognized as the head of her profession in comic opera.

The lively comedy, "Dr. Bill," was presented to two small audiences at the Grand yesterday. Sandwiched between "The Grand Duchess" and "The Fencing Master" it suffered accordingly. The play, which has been given here before, was well presented. Miss Celia Ellis was the star.

A SCRAP OF PAPER

Which Saved a Life.

An incident which has created much comment and of which the particulars but recently transpired was related to a reporter while on his daily hunt for newsworthy. The lady referred to is Miss Lotie Booth, McGill street, Toronto, and the facts are as follows:

A scrap of paper, describing the virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters, saved Miss Booth's life. To a little scrap of paper she owes the pleasure of many happy days. This is how it happened:

"Miss Booth formerly lived in the city of Winnipeg. She is well-known there, and people who live on Ross street will smile when they read this incident, because they know it's true. Eight months ago she was a bright and happy girl. She is now, but there was an interval between then and now, that Miss Booth never recalls without a shudder.

From health and happiness, Miss Booth fell into a languid, spiritless state. Rapidly her health declined, and friends saw with pained eyes that there was something radically wrong with her constitution. Day by day she faded away until no one would recognize her thin, sickly-looking self as the one time healthy, rosy girl. Doctors were consulted time and again. "It's your heart," they said, and wrote out prescriptions after prescriptions accordingly. For three long, weary, miserable months Miss Booth took their medicine, but the months were not longer than the medical bill that was presented and paid regularly every month.

Said Miss Booth: "My condition was a most deplorable one. I sharply thought my heart was affected, for it almost stopped beating at times, and I would have fainting spells that left me weak and helpless. Day by day I grew weaker. I could eat nothing with a relish. Food was really distasteful to me. Oh, how weary and tired of life I was. As night I might have slept had it not been for horrible dreams and visions that flitted through my brain. Often I would awake screaming and crying.

One day Miss Booth went to the drug store to have a prescription filled. The clerk wrapped the bottle up with a circular. When she undid the wrapper Miss Booth picked up the circular and read it. It opened her eyes. It told her that oftentimes heart troubles were caused by that dread disease dyspepsia. "I believed that circular," said Miss Booth, "and I stopped taking the doctor's medicine at once. The circular said take Burdock Blood Bitters for dyspepsia. I did so. One-half bottle was all I used before I began to get well. I took eleven bottles altogether. Now I am well and sound. The scrap of paper and Burdock Blood Bitters saved my life."

A Careful Youth.

There is a young man in Troy so careful that in calling on his girl he always knocks for fear if he came with a ring she might consider it a proposal.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., April 5, 1892.

I crushed the big toe of my left foot about three years ago. The nail did not come off, but it separated from the flesh from the end of the nail to down near the quick. I suffered great pain and had to get a special shoe made. I tried various remedies but they gave me no relief. About two months ago, having an attack of rheumatism in the right shoulder, I bought a bottle of Poud's Extract for it, and while rubbing it on at night, thought I would try some on the toe just as an experiment. Next morning it was so painful, this induced me to rub the Extract in thoroughly and to get it down between the nail and the flesh. I kept on using it for two weeks, and by that time all pain was gone and the toe was as sound as it was before I hurt it. I consider this a wonderful cure, and thought I would make it known. J. OLSON.

PROF. CAMPBELL'S CASE

Discussed by the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa.

CARLETON PLACE, Ont., May 10.—The Synod of Montreal and Ottawa met at 9:30 this morning. The Campbell case was first taken up.

Mr. McLean's motion, which was to send the case to the Montreal Presbytery to begin trial again, was seconded and reported by Rev. Mr. Calder, of Lancaster, who strongly objected to the hasty proceedings during the professor's absence; also to the few conferences held with the latter.

The motion was supported by Mr. McNish, of Cornwall, who referred particularly to the professor's loving disposition, scholarship and attainments. He also claimed everything should be done to save him to the church.

Rev. R. Campbell, the next speaker, defended the Presbytery's action, and explained that it was in Prof. Campbell's interest that procedure should be by libel. Mr. Myles Crombie objected strongly to some positions taken by the previous speaker, and thought the libel action very unfeeling. Principal McVicar dealt on the harmony and good feeling of twenty years duration. Dr. Campbell, of Renfrew, was in favor of more conferences being held.

Prof. Scrogger thought the Synod should do this rather than the Presbytery.

Dr. Moore, of Ottawa, moved the previous question, which was carried with a vote of 74 to 36.

A decision was made to meet next year at Sherbrooke, Que. The meeting to be held the second Tuesday in May in St. Andrew's Church.

MEYERS WEAKENING.

The Alleged Poisoner Offers to Plead Guilty to Manslaughter.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The prosecution in the trial of Dr. Henry C. F. Meyer for the alleged murder of Ludwig Brandt was surprised this afternoon on the reassembling of the court after recess, by an offer by the prisoner to plead guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

The offer was made to Assistant District Attorney McIntyre by Lewis S. Hays, Esq., Counsel for the defense. Mr. McIntyre emphatically refused.

Whaleback Beached.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., May 10.—While the steamer Gladstone was coming over the Lime Kiln Crossing at 11 o'clock last night with the whaleback, No. 109, wheat laden, in tow, the latter struck the rocks, then about one mile below here. The captain found she was leaking, and beached her on Elliott's point. Her water compartments prevent the water from reaching the grain.

Living Chess Contest in Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 10.—Lasker's indisposition, which led to the postponement of the chess match to-day, is not serious. Arrangements are now being made for a living chess contest in this city, to take place early in June. Both Steinitz and Lasker have promised their assistance. Handsome medieval costumes will be provided. The queen's pawns will be young girls, four dressed in white and four in black, while the king's pawns will be boys. The pieces will be represented by well-known society people. The event is exciting much interest, as it is the first time such a contest has taken place in Canada.

It is a Way of Men.

A man loved a woman, but she laughed at him. Then, through grief, he became ill, and was like to die, in very despair of his love. Having pity touched her heart, and she could do no more, she came to know that having now the love he had so yearned to possess, he rejoiced greatly and rose from his bed.

And straightway he began to love another woman.—(Bery Benson, in the May Century.)

Goldwin Smith on "Literature."

At a recent banquet in London, England, to the toast of "Literature," Prof. Goldwin Smith, in responding, said as a denizen of the new world he could stand comparatively unshaken before the lords of literature in this world, now that we had at last an international copyright. It was not all that they could do for commercial authors, and insisted that if they were to have copyright in the United States, they must print in the United States. Commercial monopoly taxed the spread of knowledge, and if she could she would tax the morning light. However, they had an international copyright to the immense benefit of America (laughter and cheers). Before we had this copyright American literature was under thralldom to the whole world, because American publishers found it better worth their while to pirate the authors of the rest of the world than to pay for native authors. Another bad effect of the old state of things was that it kept American authors into unfair competition with the English authors, stirred up bad feelings, and increased that ill-feeling between the two sections of the Anglo-Saxon race that it was the worthy object of that race to sink into oblivion. Now that the American author was free from that thralldom to which he had referred, he hoped to see American authors take a great step in advance, and that when they asked who were the best American authors they would not hear the same four names sent backwards and forwards as they used to be. Literature depended very greatly upon the moods of a nation, and though there was a lull now, when next the spirit of the nation was deeply stirred they would be another great literary outburst. They often heard it lamented that we had no great master of style, like Macaulay and Carlyle, and one whom they regretfully must almost number with the past—John Ruskin. He did not know that that was so deeply to be deplored, for, after all, not the worst style was that which was no style at all, which, like the classics, was mere simplicity and clearness. (Cheers.) It was in the power of every man to write a good style if he would say what he had to say plainly and have done with it. (Cheers.) He could not help protesting—very mildly protesting—against theological and political novels. It seemed to him that to introduce theology or politics into novels to eke out what would otherwise be a rapid story was a sin against art and against truth. (Cheers.) No doubt in these days science and questions connected with science occupied to a large extent the human mind to the exclusion of what was called literature. It might be that the final ray of science had come, that we had passed the youth of the world which delighted in poetry, the novel, the drama and the light essay, and were coming to an age when nothing but science would prevail. If it was so, he could only say he was glad that he was 70 years of age, and had seen the last of the world's youth. (Laughter and cheers.)

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular attitude to pain, throat and lung remedy and general expectorant, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, carache, bruise, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Fat Wives at a Premium in Kaisariéh.

The most striking feature of the missionary work at Kaisariéh in the education of the Armenian women, whose social position seems to be even more degraded than that of their Turkish sisters. With the native Armenians, as with the Turks, fineness adds much to the price of a wife. The wife of a missionary is to them an object both of a missionary and of contempt. As she walks along the street they will whisper to one another: "There goes a woman who knows all her husband's business; and who can manage just as well as herself." This will generally be followed in an undertone by the expression, "Madama satana," which means in common parlance a "female devil." At first it was a struggle to overcome this ignorant prejudice, and to get girls to come to the school free of charge; now it is hard to find room for them even when they are asked to pay for their tuition.

The costume of the Armenian women is generally of some bright-colored cloth, prettily trimmed. Her coiffure, always elaborate, sometimes includes a string of gold coins, encircling the head, or strung down the plait. A silver belt incloses the waist, and a necklace of coins calls attention to her pretty neck. When washing clothes by the stream, they frequently show a gold ring encircling an ankle.—[Across Asia on a Bicycle, in the May Century.]

London, Friday, May 11.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, with its morning
and evening editions, covers the ground.
With one exception, it is the ONLY EARLY MORNING DAILY IN ONTARIO, outside of Toronto.

—Only those communications to which the writers are willing to have their names appeared in print will be published in these columns. Neither the writing nor the publication of anonymous letters can be justified.

—G. G. S. Lindsey, the Liberal candidate for West Toronto, is a grandson of William Lyon Mackenzie. He is a Toron-tonian by birth, and an able man. Mr.
Lindsey should win if merit counts.

—So far the Montreal Gazette is the only Conservative newspaper that has fairly stated the view of the ADVERTISER with regard to the paid advocate of Toronto
seeking to represent London in the Legislature. Why misrepresent?

—The Dominion Auditor-General says that
for $13,000 charged as "personal expenses"
by the Ottawa Ministers, in connection with the Bering Sea arbitration trip,
there are no vouchers to be had. This is the usual way in which public money is
"saved" at Ottawa.

—The friends of temperance everywhere
will read with great interest that Miss Frances Willard's health has been very much improved by her two years' sojourn
in Great Britain, and that she will return immediately to this continent. Miss Willard is an honor to womanhood.

—Isaac Zangwill, the author and writer
for the Pall Mall Magazine, says that sewer gas is beneficial rather than poisonous, and
he predicts that we may yet live to see it manufactured artificially and conveyed to residences through pipes for the purpose of improving the health of the inmates. It will take a great stretch of credulity for
most people to place any faith in this prediction.

—A cablegram announces that a lady has been elected a delegate to the coming English Wesleyan Conference. There seems to be some doubt as to whether or not she should be admitted. If the reform
does not come to-day, it will be brought about very soon. Fancy a woman of the ability and usefulness of Lady Henry Somerset or Miss Frances Willard being debarred from sitting in any religious convention!

is at London, Eng., with the warship
Chicago, of which he is the commander.
The British people are affording indications,
by their numerous hospitalities and festivities, that blood is thicker than water.
What is wanted is an alliance, offensive
and defensive, between Great Britain,
the United States and Canada.

A COUNTY PRESIDENT'S EVI- DENCE.

One of the witnesses examined by the Ontario Fees Commission at Brantford was
Mr. Joseph Stratford, president of the Brant county Patrons and manager of the Patron binder twine factory. His evidence is thus given:

"In answer to the question relating to the appointment of officers he said that he was a Patron of Industry and was working along that line and in touch with their
plank relating to this matter, but has had an opportunity of judging for himself.
From being in close connection with so many people lately, he had come to the conclusion that the matter of official appointments stands safely in the hands of the Government and was safer there than in the hands of the people. In conversation with a number of persons from the United States he had found that they were thoroughly dissatisfied with their system there.
It would be better to leave the appointments
in the hands of the Government than to give it to county councils. It is practically under the control of the people, but while this is the case there are certain modifications or improvements which will be suggested.
With reference to the subject of compensation Mr. Stratford said that he was not fully posted, but he thought a fair remuneration should be retained from the fees
to compensate the officials."

Mr. Stratford is a shrewd business man, and his evidence is of much value. So far
the testimony has been varied, and has vicinated the course of the Government in making a full and free inquiry. Everyone interested should testify. What is wanted
is to get a consensus of opinion as to what is best. As the fees plank has been the only one on which the Liberals and Patrons
differ, there should be little difficulty in convincing Patrons that their duty is to support Sir Oliver.

YES, LET US HAVE THE WHOLE LOGIC, NOT SIDE ISSUES.

As a set-off to its attack on the ADVER-TISER and on the organized labor of London,
because they object to the foisting of a paid
advocate of the city of Toronto upon the electors of London, the Free Press points out that Mr. Gladstone represents a constituency in which he does not reside; that Sir Oliver Mowat lives in Toronto, though representing North Oxford; that Hon. Geo.
W. Ross, though a West Middlesex man, has to live in Toronto when attending to his duties as Minister of Education; and that Sir Richard Cartwright, the representative of South Oxford in the Commons, has his home in Kingston. It asks the ADVERTISER to give its opinion of these
"outrageous" proceedings.

With promptitude and pleasure.

1. Mr. Gladstone represents a country constituency. His would be a case in point
if he were the representative of Edinburgh
and the paid advocate of the city of London at one and the same time.

2. Sir Oliver Mowat is the representative of a country constituency. If Woodstock were a rival of Toronto, and Sir Oliver Mowat had publicly declared that in return
for $13,500 a year he would in future regard Toronto's interests as his first care,
Sir Oliver might be regarded as in the same category with W. R. Meredith, but not otherwise.

3. To Hon. Geo. W. Ross and Sir
Richard Cartwright the same remark applies. If Mr. Ross were to adopt Toronto as his client, and pledge himself to fight her battles against all comers, would anyone Liberal suggest that even Strat-hrook would look upon his candidature favorably,
much less, London, the trade and educational rival of the Provincial capital?

We have met our city contemporary's
attempted analogy, though to any one cognizant of the circumstances, it must have been self-answered. We have done
so without descending, as the Free Press
has done in dealing with this point, to un-
journalistic and irrelevant personal attacks.
Is it not fair to ask that the Free Press
shall meet the questions fairly and squarely put by the ADVERTISER? Three times we have laid them before the newspaper
pleader for the Toronto city solicitor. For as many times our city contemporary has ignored them. Will it now take the mark?

"1. Is there a city constituency in Canada
that sends to Parliament or to the Legislature the paid agent of another city?"

"2. Is it right that London should select
as its representative an officer of the city of Toronto?"

"3. Is Mr. Meredith, city solicitor of Toronto, having solemnly declared that in future the interests of that city would be his first consideration, in a position to be an independent representative of London?"

"4. Would Hamilton, Ottawa or Kingston go to Toronto for a representative in either the House of Commons or the Legislature?"

"5. Why should the progressive city of London alone advertise that it has no one
within its bounds fit to represent it in the Legislature, and has to accept the candidature of a paid officer of Toronto?"

Let us have no more beating about the bush, neighbor, but a square answer to each and every query.

This is the fourth time of asking.

THE INIQUITOUS COAL TAX.

In dealing with the coal duty yesterday,
a correspondent points out, we understated
the tax which the people of Ontario have to pay for this prime commodity. The duty paid by Ontario last fiscal year was $961,- 893, not $900,000, as stated.

Our city contemporary asserts that it is a falsehood to say that the tax on coal
costs the Grand Trunk $500,000 a year.
That is the sum stated by Sir Henry Tyler.
If the Free Press knows better than the president of the Grand Trunk it is at liberty to call him a fabricator. For ourselves, we prefer to believe the Grand Trunk
president in this matter instead of the apologist for the coal tax. The Free Press
pretends to believe that if coal was made
duty free and our manufacturers and railway men were relieved from payment of the impost, the Nova Scotia mines would be closed. No man of sense believes this.
The shrewd Americans who control the Nova Scotia coal mines laugh at the assumption. They know very well that unless the coal tax were made virtually prohibitive, Nova Scotia coal could not be forced into use in Ontario, which pays nearly the whole of the tax collected.

Our contemporary pretends to believe that it is British corporations and not the Canadian people who pay the coal tax.
It will next be arguing that the
merchant and manufacturer pay all taxes
and never add them to the price of their goods, or count them a charge, when deciding how their wages and other funds
shall be provided for. The fact that the United States railways which compete with the Canadian lines and the United States
manufacturers who compete with our manufacturers have their coal duty free, and
that our railways and manufacturers are handicapped by the tax, is ignored by our contemporary, which further suggests that if the coal tax is obnoxious to railway men
they can use cord wood. As well ask them to tear up their railway lines and go back to stage coaches. Coal is a prime necessity
to the railways and the manufacturers, and should not be taxed. When it is taxed, the tax has to be made up
jointly by the public and by the railway workmen. The public know this;
the railway workers know it. For every burden that is unnecessarily put upon the railways has to be shared by those who use the railways and by those who earn their daily bread in operating the railways.

Take off the coal tax. It is not needed for revenue. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are now collected as "revenue" that are worse than wasted, as the payment of $430,000 for the Curran bridge, when it should have cost but $175,000, demonstrates.

The ADVERTISER is glad to take issue
with the Free Press on this matter. Our contemporary upholds the monopoly coal
tax, which oppresses the railway men and handicaps them in competing with their neighbors who have no coal tax. We say that there is no more need for the coal tax
than for the Senate, the Dominion Franchise Act or the Curran bridge inquiry.

Reveries of a Radical.

I. The Attorney-General.

"Oliver Mowat succeeds Edward Blake."
This was the short message wired to me
nearly 22 years ago. It came from Archibald McKellar, himself one of Edward Blake's colleagues in the Government, and one of the best known of the Old Guard
Liberals of Ontario.

Oliver Mowat succeeds Edward Blake
yet. No other man has warmed his seat
as First Minister in all these years.

It is an unique record in British parliamentary history. Indeed I am not sure that it finds a parallel at all in history
unless it be in the Hebrew Joseph, who seems to have been First Minister of Egypt
for 80 years. But they did not have representative government in Egypt, and Joseph had only one man to please. Oliver Mowat
has had all the people for his master, and he has pleased them to this day. They may not keep him in office for eighty years, but
perhaps they might if they could keep him
in life.

One thing is sure: the people's faith in the Attorney-General has not wavered.
His following in the session of Parliament
just closed was as large and eager as in any
session of the past 21 years, and the majority of the popular vote won by his party
was never before so large and hearty as at
the elections of four years ago.

There is this to be said, too, that in the parliamentary annals of Canada Oliver
Mowat has had no equal as a political chief,
none so sagacious in counsel or so strong
and vigorous in action.

Sir John Macdonald was a great man and a skillful tactician, but he had failings
which men of all parties would be glad to forget.

Edward Blake was a very able man, and his politics were pure, but he had not the art of getting into close touch with the people.

Wilfrid Laurier is a graceful orator and
a man of bright promise, but he is young as a leader and his honors have yet to be won.

Oliver Mowat combines the wisdom of
the statesman with the skill and boldness
of the political general. In the 22 years of his leadership he has not made a mistake
that rivals or critics can magnify into a political issue. He is honored and revered not only by men of the Liberal party to which he belongs, but by many of the Conservative party to which he has opposed
long years of progressive Liberalism.

Sir John Macdonald in the heyday of his power tried many a fall with Mr. Mowat,
but the end was always the same—Sir
Oliver above and Sir John below.

Sir Oliver is as wary and alert now as he has been any time in the 37 years since his public life began.
He was an active figure in the old Parliament of Canada, and I can recall many an able speech he made in times when politics
ran high and parties were closely matched,
before the days of truce which ushered in Confederation. And speaking of Confederation, it was no secret in those days,
though the fact seems to have dropped out
of memory, that the man of the convention
who did most of the work of drafting the basis of the scheme was Oliver Mowat. He is before the country now with the advantage
which 30 years of reading and thinking,
observation and experience, bring to a man in the maturity of his intellect.

Sometimes I hear men say that Mr.
Meredith is the Radical and Mr. Mowat the Tory. There was never a greater mistake.
Mr. Meredith may seem to be a Radical to persons who do not understand politics
or statesmanship; but the fact is that he is too mercurial to have any fixity of purpose
or principle. In the desire to succeed as leader he will seize upon any measures and ally himself with any forces, without bestowing a thought upon the possible consequences. Between radicalism and socialism
there is a wide gulf fixed, and it is not hard to see on which side of it Mr. Meredith's friends are found.

I have taken an interest in every Parliamentary election in Canada during the last 40 years, and I have always been a Radical.
I have been, too, I flatter myself, a pretty
close observer of the career of legislators
and the work of Parliaments; and I do not hesitate to say that the man who has made his mark as the greatest Reformer of his generation in Canada is Sir Oliver Mowat.
He has been a leader and guide, not only in his own Province, but in all the Provinces of the Dominion;
and far beyond the bounds of the Dominion also, in other colonies of the British Empire, and in States of the American Union.

Sir Oliver Mowat is a safe and progressive legislator, and, being a student, he is always in advance of his time on subjects
that are ripe for legislation; but while expressing his own opinions and aiming to direct the course of public opinion, he has never been known to enact a law until the people were ready for it. This is the Radicalism of the statesman.

Intemperance Among Women.

There is much said about the growing habit of intemperance among women; perhaps more than the facts would warrant.
If this habit exists it is owing to the fact
that women are often forced to perform
domestic and social duties under great physical suffering, and by partaking of liquors for temporary relief or a little pro-
traction of strength, the habit becomes a necessity. If all ladies who suffer with the complaints peculiar to their sex, would take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription,
they would find nature's restorative, and
the evil results of pernicious drugs and liquors would be avoided. For all cases of nervous and general debility, sleeplessness,
spasms, periodical pains, suppressions and irregularities, it is the only medicine so certain in curative action that it can be guaranteed to benefit or cure or money returned.

Eyesight Saved

After Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia and other prostrating diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled to thoroughly purify the blood and give needed strength. Read this: "My boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, leaving him very weak and with blood-poisoned eyes. His eyes became inflamed, his sufferings were intense, and for 7 weeks he could not even open his eyes. I took him to the Eye and Ear Infirmary, but their remedies did him no good. I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla, which soon cured him. I know it saved his sight, if not his very life." ABIE F. BLACKMAN, 2885 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

FOOTBALL.

NEW RULES.
NEW YORK, May 8.—The rules committee appointed last November to make rules governing the playing of football, met last night in the University Athletic Club rooms and adopted a set that will hereafter govern the game. Among the changes proposed by the committee and adopted are the following:

In rule 1, section E, a punt is made a kick out with the drop kick and place kick; in rule 6 the words "without touching the dress or person or player after the kick" are omitted in regard to the obtaining of a goal.

Rule 8 makes the use of a signal necessary by the man intending to make a fair catch before that counts as such.

Rule 15 provides for the duties of the umpire, referee and line-man making the umpire's decision in foul and unfair tactics.

Rule 16 changes the playing time from 45 minutes to 55 minutes for each half.

Rule 18 provides for an actual kick where rules call for it.

Rule 25 is expanded to make the meaning more clear of the rule against obstructing players with the hands. The player of the side in possession of the ball can obstruct his opponent with the body only; the side which has not the ball can use the hands, as can also the player having the ball—that is, in breaking through the line.

Delays are limited to three minutes; penalties for fouls are increased from five to ten yards. The same rule defines fouls, which shall be granted for unnecessary delay of the game, of side player or holding an opponent unless he has the ball.

Rule 29 is altered to provide for the 15-yard penalty upon interference with a fair catch. Rule 30 provides against deliberately piling upon a man when he is down; a penalty of 15 yards being attached to this unless the distance carries the ball across the goal, when half the intervening distance shall be allowed. A number of provisions are made for the work of the snapper back.

Momentum mass plays are prohibited and an alteration is made limiting the possible plays from a fair to touching the ball in and kicking it or walking in with it for a down.

Rule 35 allows a man to kick a ball out only one chance instead of two, and provides for an exception designed to increase drop kicking, the last section of which reads: Whenever a side has tried a drop kick at the goal upon the first down inside the 25-yard line and the result has been a touch back, the line of kick out shall be the 10 yards instead of the 25-yard line, in determining the position of the opponents and the kicker's side must be behind the ball when it is kicked.

A CANADIAN HUSTLER.
NEW YORK, May 10.—George W. Orton, the Canadian runner who is now studying at the University of Pennsylvania, ran a mile at the college games yesterday afternoon in 4 minutes and 23.3 seconds. This time lowers the record of C. O. Wells, of Amherst, who covered the distance after a beautiful race in 4 minutes and 27.3 seconds. Orton, in his race today, cut down quite a large field and at the finish easily passed J. J. Overy, who had a handicap of 150 yards. Orton is a sure scorer for Pennsylvania in the intercollegiate championship.

THE COMMONWEALERS.

Sanders' Section Coming East on Stolen Cars.

A Buncombe Resolution in the U. S. Senate Dropped.

Coxey's Contingent at Washington Reduced to Half Its Original Number.

PUEBLO, Col., May 10.—The Sanders industrial army is proceeding eastward with the stolen switch engine and six coal cars. They have been informed that no further obstructions will occur.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—According to the order issued yesterday by the district commissioners Gen. Coxey would have to remove his company by Saturday morning, but this order was modified today. Coxey explained to the commissioners that it would be impossible for him to get his men out on so short a notice. He stated that if the commissioners made them get out of their present grounds they would be forced out on the streets and would become a public charge. He said he was trying his best to secure a place, but so far he had been unsuccessful. The commissioners told him to continue his search for a location, report to them, and they would then decide what should be done. The Coxey army proper has dwindled to about half its original number, and many members are growing restive and desire to get out of camp and look for work.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—In the Senate the leading event of the day's proceedings was the two hours' debate on the resolution for a special committee to investigate the arrest and imprisonment of Coxey, Jones and Browne. Senator Hoar made a strong speech against it. The Resolution went out without a sensation and will come up no more.

SCOTT CITY, Kan., May 10.—Gen. Sanders and his commonwealth army, after an exciting trip of 214 miles eastward from Pueblo on a stolen train, have surrendered to the United States authorities. The men stole a Denver and Rio Grande engine and six Missouri Pacific coal cars at Colorado City Tuesday night and after a run unprecedented in western railroad history, and skillfully avoiding the officers of the law, railroad officials and obstructions placed in their way, arrived at Scott City late this afternoon. Sanders asked for a conference, the result of which was that Sanders was given a half-hour to decide what course he would take. He decided to peacefully surrender. The entire delegation was taken east at midnight to answer the charge of obstructing the mails.

VANDALIA, Ill., May 10.—The St. Louis contingent of the commonwealth army deposited Morrison from the command last night because he became uproariously drunk after the men arrived. The Germans who compose half of the band, elected John Schart their commander, and separated from the rest, going east. The others with no leader went north.

TACOMA, Wash., May 10.—Sixty commonwealthers seized a train of coal cars at Clelum today, and started eastward on the Northern Pacific Railroad. Deputy Marshals Jolly and Chichester, who were shot while attempting to eject the crowd of commonwealthers from the stolen train last night at Yakima, are on the way back to Tacoma. Jolly will die. The marshals are now masters of the situation at the scene of the conflict.

Burking Inquiry.

Government Leaders Pursue Their Favorite Line of Policy.

Investigation of Railway Contractors' Claims Objected To—Various Tariffs Changes Dealt With.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

OTTAWA, May 10.—In the House this afternoon Mr. Davies again tried to get authority to investigate, before the public accounts committee, the "hard pan" claims of the contractors in the Cape Breton, Oxford and New Glasgow Railway contracts. These claims were allowed by the Exchequer Court judge, acting as a commissioner under order in council, and totalled a quarter of a million dollars. Sir John Thompson rather refused the other day to allow Mr. Davies to move that the Auditor-General's comments on these transactions be referred to the public accounts committee, so that the Auditor-General could be examined on them. Mr. Davies characterized as flimsy the Government's argument, that because these claims had been paid after June 30, 1893, the Auditor-General should not have furnished in his report the correspondence which grew up over the Auditor-General's refusal to pay the amounts, because he held that the Government had no right to waive the terms of the original contract. His decision was overruled by the treasury board and the claims paid. The Auditor-General, Mr. Davies said, had simply done his duty.

Sir John Thompson disagreed with this view. He objected to making the public accounts committee a tribunal to try disputes between the Auditor-General and the Government and have Ministers put on their defence before the committee.

Mr. Laurier pointed out that the audit account compelled the Auditor-General to report to Parliament all correspondence in cases where he was overruled by the treasury board, and that this was for the very purpose of allowing Parliament and its committee to judge between the Auditor-General and the Government.

Mr. Tupper argued that the Government was responsible to the House, but not to the committee.

The Opposition reminded the Government that they proceeded on a different principle in 1891 when the conduct of the Minister of Public Works was investigated by a committee.

After a short discussion Sir John Thompson thought it advisable to recede from his position, and said that if Mr. Davies would offer a resolution specifying all the documents required and the points upon which it was proposed to examine witnesses, such a resolution would be allowed to pass. The matter then dropped and the House went into committee of the whole on the tariff reduction.

The duty on cotton thread in hanks was reduced from 15 per cent to 12½ per cent, the old duty.

The fact was brought out that this enormous protection was to enable certain Toronto parties to import manufactured thread, and by rolling it on spools have a big thing in spool cotton trade. The item passed.

Cordage not elsewhere specified, which stood at a duty of 30 per cent, was reduced to 27½ per cent, after a vigorous protest from Mr. Bowers, of Digby, in the name of the fishermen.

The Opposition were not satisfied with this sprat, and demanded a further reduction. Mr. Edgar said the duty on old cordage should be reduced so as to relieve Canada of the rule of the huge combine on this article.

The Opposition continued their objections that even 27½ per cent was greater than the old tariff, which was 1½ cents a pound and 10 per cent. Finally the Government consented to put the item back under the old duty. In other words, after making it 30 per cent and then 27½ they made still another change back to the old rate.

On the items respecting dress goods, carpets, etc., Mr. MacLean, of East York, said he desired to move a restoration of the specific duties. The Opposition objected to allowing so many items to stand in the tariff as had been allowed, as it upset the balance of the country, but the Government consented and the item stood over.

On the fish schedule, barreled fish, dried or fresh, was made dutiable at 1 cent a pound.

On the free list, in reply to Mr. Casey, Mr. Foster said a duty on diamonds would be inoperative because they were so easily smuggled and a duty would induce dishonesty. The item passed on the free list.

When about half way through the free list the committee rose and the House adjourned.

NOTES.
Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and several members of the House attended a meeting of the Reform Club to-night. There was tremendous enthusiasm, and the crowd was so great that many were unable to get in. Mr. T. H. Purdon, barrister, London, made a good speech.

FOOD FOR FLAMES.
QUEBEC, May 10.—A fire occurred last night at Silery, a parish outside the city limits. The fire originated in the parish postoffice, which it burned down, along with two other houses. Losses about $4,000; covered by insurance.

SINCE, May 10.—The residence of Mr. John Crooks, of this town, valued at $800, was completely destroyed to-day.

LAMBERTON, Minn., May 10.—Two children of Herman Schmuck were burned to death during the absence of the parents last evening.

BEWARE OF FRAUDS.
The Unfailing Success of Dodd's Kidney Pills Induces Fraudulent Imitators to Attempt to Pass Worthless Remedies on the Public.

TORONTO, May 7.—This appears to be an age of fakes and frauds. It seems impossible for any new idea or valuable invention to be made known without a host of imitators trying to foist their worthless goods on an unsuspecting public in the hope of making an unmerited profit out of their worthless ideas. The unequalled success of Dodd's Kidney Pills in curing all forms of kidney disease, has led to the introduction of many cheap and base imitations that are worse than valueless. Dodd's was the first kidney remedy ever offered in pill form. For their own safety, purchasers should buy none but Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sold in large boxes; price 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. To be had of all dealers.

Knives and forks were not in general use until the seventeenth century.

ON SAND AND SLIPPERY CLAY.

The Uncertain Foundations of a Quebec Village.

Further Disaster Reported from St. Anne de la Perade, Que.—Geological Disadvantages of the Doomed Section.

MONTREAL, May 10.—A special dispatch from Quebec says: Great excitement reigned in town concerning the disaster at St. Anne de la Perade, the only well authenticated account learned was the falling into the river at St. Anne of two more houses. It is also reported that a house at St. Casimir had fallen or was about to fall into the water, and that several further landslides had occurred at St. Alban, without, however, any loss of life.

The eminent geologist, Mgr. Leflamme, attributes the accident solely to the wearing effects of the water on the soft sand and small gravel, of which the banks are formed, the recent floods only hastening a calamity which has for some time been overhanging the village.

The reverend gentleman says that the disturbed region is about 40 acres wide, and that it all rests upon a bed of sand varying from 10 to 100 feet. This again is underlain by a layer of very slippery blue clay which inclines toward the river, forming a huge slide.

The bank, which is being eaten into, is from 30 to 40 feet above the level of the water, and the river, which formerly ran from northeast to southwest at the place of the accident, now runs in a directly western direction.

The inhabitants of the place are said to be so rattled that they can hardly give a lucid and correct account of the affair themselves. Mr. Leflamme is to make a very complete and extensive report, based on his observations, and may in the near future deliver a lecture on the subject.

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 10.—A gentleman returned from St. Anne de la Perade this afternoon says the undermining is still going on, the river being high and the current strong. Eighteen houses are in peril. C. P. R. bridge is out of danger. With the men are protecting it by placing stones on the banks, which will prevent the undermining reaching the church and convent and the lower portion of the village.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Strike of Montreal Carpenters Still Unsettled.

Attempt to Cremate a Gang of Italian Laborers.

MONTREAL, Q., May 10.—The carpenters' and joiners' strike here is not yet over. According to various statements from 150 to 600 men are out at present. Employers are advertising for hands, and frequent inquiries are made for carpenters at the immigration offices in the city.

The contractors are advertising for non-union men. As a consequence of the strike work has been stopped on a number of new buildings owing to the want of men. This situation is not to stop their work as they are unable to proceed any farther until the carpentering is completed. Should non-union carpenters be employed, the other mechanics will cease work.

STRIKE OF DOCK-WHALLOPPERS.
HAMBURG, May 10.—Fifteen hundred dock laborers in this city have resolved to the Sloman line of steamships.

CRIMINAL ATTEMPT.
ELYRIA, O., May 10.—The bitter feeling against the cheap labor that has been imported into the stone quarries here, culminated last night in an attempt to cremate a gang of laborers. A house occupied by eight Italians was set on fire at the foot of the stairway, and the occupants barely escaped. The house was entirely consumed. Serious trouble is feared if the men do not leave.

"DOC" BREAKS DOWN.
The Evidence Finished and the Case Nearly Closed.

TORONTO, May 8.—The hearing of the Andrews murder case was resumed this morning and the evidence for the crown was finished. Counsel for defense argued that no case had been made out against the prisoners, but Judge Meredith held otherwise. The charge against Cassie Andrews, niece of the elder defendant and the wife of the younger, was not pressed by the prosecution and she was discharged. Andrews and his wife were then put in the box by the defense and endeavored to show that Lucy Denning had been tampered with before being taken to them. "Doc" Andrews broke down in the box and wept piteously.

The hearing of the Andrews case continued up to 7 o'clock, but no further evidence of importance was given for the defense. The judge will charge the jury early in the morning.

HEAD-END COLLISION.

Three Men Killed and Several Others Injured.

MILWAUKEE, May 10.—A special from Eau Claire, Wis., says: A head-end collision occurred between a passenger train from Menominee Junction. The trains were running slowly, approaching a bridge. Several people are reported injured, while the express messenger and mail clerk were killed outright. The fireman had both legs cut off and died soon after.

Fatal Fire in Cleveland.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 10.—Fire broke out shortly after midnight in the lumber yard of C. H. Baker & Co., on the bank of the Oswego Canal. The Gospel boat "Good News," of the Rescue Mission, was moored beside the burning lumber pile. Robert Wilson, its captain, his young wife and A. Delaney, a brother of Mrs. Wilson, jumped into the water in their night clothes. Wilson succeeded in swimming ashore, but his wife and brother-in-law were drowned. Money loss, $80,000.

The Enfant Terrible.
"Is auntie a delusion, mamma?" "Why, Bertie! What put such an outlandish question in your head?" "Well I heard papa say that Mr. Gofast was always hugging some delusion or other, and last evening—" "Bertie! he did not."

Beyond Recall.
Father (from the top of the stairs)—Ellen, isn't that young fellow gone?

Another Good Way.
A scientific journal tells how to prevent hiccoughs. Another good way is to refrain from going out between the acts.

Tibbie at the Waxworks.

Tibbie had never been in a place so full of wax figures as the grand old wax museum worked (ought to have been "exhibited") by machinery, it fairly put her off her metal.

"What a lot of well-dressed folk are here," she cried, as she adjusted her specs to have a better look about her.

"Wheest, woman! speak laigh," Tam whispered into her ear, for he jaloused she was taking the figures for visitors, and Tam wasna far wrang in his conjecture. However, to test if the deception was genuine, he seized her by the arm, and said in a voice of astonishment, "I declare there's auld Wullie Gladstone."

"What, the grand auld man! Whaur?" she cried.

Quickly Tam directed her gaze to a corner of the exhibition where the political veteran stood in the act of shakin' hauns wi' the immortal Disraeli, and she was braw his side afore he could guess what she was after, and, gruppin' him by the extended haun, began shakin' wi' a warmth that would have done credit to any Leeboreal legislator.

"I'm rale glad to see ye lookin' sae weel, Maister Gladstone," she began, while Tam stood spell-bound. "Rale glad to think ye hae leasure to honour sic a grand exhibition as this wi' your presence; but hoo's the mistress and the family, may I speer?" Nae signs of reply bein' forthcoming, Tibbie continued, "Atweel, I didna wonder at ye no condescendin' to speak to an auld haverin' fool like me, for ye hae enouch o' thae kind to deal wi' already, sae guid nicht, and God bless ye."

Awed mair she gruppit the outstretched haun o' the figure; but, loch preserve us! hoo Tam wished the floor had opened then and swallowed him, for Tibbie, wi' her enthusiastic shakin', drew Wullie's haun clean frae the coat sleeve, syne wi' the fright left oot an uncouthy screech that was heard, I believe, as far as the Tron Kirk, and fented in Tam's arms wi' the wax haun still in her grasp!

Every garment that leaves us will bear close and critical inspection as to goods, workmanship and style.

KNOWLEDGE
Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

'Turn to the Right.'

"Well, that is straightforward," he replied, clapping his hands. "In coming to Crillon you have come to the right man. Revolt," he continued, turning to the secretary, "this gentleman bears a message from M. de Rambouillet to the king. Take him the closest without delay, my friend, and announce him, I will be answerable for him."

But the secretary shrugged his shoulders up to his ears. "It is quite impossible," he said gravely. "Quite impossible at present."

"Impossible! Chut! I do not know the word," Crillon retorted rudely. "Come, take him at once, and blame me if I will come of it. Do you hear?"

"But his Majesty—"

"Well!"

"Is at his devotion," the secretary said stiffly.

"His Majesty's devotion be damned!" Crillon rejoined—so loudly that there was a general titter, and M. de Nevers laughed grimly. "Do you hear?" the Avonville continued, his face growing redder and his voice higher, "you must tell your ears, my friend. Take this gentleman to the closest, I say, and if his Majesty be angry, tell him it was by my order. I tell you he comes from Rambouillet."

I do not know whether it was the threat, or the mention of M. de Rambouillet's name, which convinced the secretary. But at any rate, after a moment's hesitation, he acquiesced.

He nodded sullenly to me to follow him, and led the way to a curtain which masked the door of the closet. I followed him across the chamber, after uttering a hasty word of acknowledgment to Crillon; and I had as nearly as possible reached the distance from the door of the closet, when the door opened and a man entered the chamber caught my eye. I had just time to turn and see that this was Bruhl, just time to intercept the dark look of chagrin and surprise which he fixed on me, and then Revolt, holding up the curtain, signed to me to enter.

I expected to pass at once into the presence of the king, and had my reverence ready. Instead, I found myself to my surprise in a small chamber, or rather passage, curtained at both ends, and occupied by a couple of guardsmen—members, doubtless, of the Band of the Forty-Five—who rose at my entrance and looked at me curiously.

Their guard-room, dimly illumined by a lamp of red glass, seemed to me, in spite of its curtains and velvet bench, and the thick tapestry which kept out every breath of wholesome air, the most sombre I could imagine. And the most horrible! But I had no time to make any long observation; for Revolt, passing me brusquely, raised the curtain at the other end, and, with his finger on his lip, bade me by signs to enter.

I did so as silently, the heavy scent of perfumes striking me in the face as I raised a second curtain, and stopped short a pace beyond it; partly in reverence—because kings love their subjects best at a distance—and partly in surprise. For the room, or rather that portion of it in which I stood, was in darkness; only the farther end being illumined by a cold pale flood of moonlight, which, passing through a high, straight window, lay in a silvery sheet on the floor. For an instant I thought I was alone; then I saw, resting against this window, with a hand on either mullion, a tall figure, having something strange about the head. This peculiarly presciently resolved itself into a turban in which I had once before seen his Majesty. The king—for he it was—was talking to himself. He had not heard me enter, and having his back to me remained unconscious of my presence.

I paused in doubt, afraid to advance, anxious to withdraw; yet uncertain whether I could move again unheard. At this moment while I stood hesitating, I raised his voice, and his words, reaching my ears, riveted my attention, so strange and eerie were both they and his tone. "They say there is still luck in thirteen," he muttered. "Thirteen Valois and last!" He paused to laugh a wicked, mirthless laugh. "Ay, Thirteenth! And it is thirteen years since I entered Paris a crowned king! There were Quelus and Maugrion and St. Mezzin and I—and he, I remember, Ah, those days, those nights! I could sell my soul to live them again; had I not sold it long ago in the living time once! We were young then, and rich, and I was king; and Quelus was an Apollo! He died calling on me to save him. And Maugrion died blaspheming God and the saints. And St. Mezzin, he had 31 wounds. And he—he is dead too, curse him! They are all dead, all dead, it is all over! My God! It is all over, it is all over!"

He repeated the last four words more than a dozen times, rocking himself to and fro by his hold on the mullions. I trembled as I listened, partly through fear on my own account should I be discovered, and partly by reason of the horror of despair and remorse—no, not remorse, regret—which spoke in his monotonous voice. I guessed that some impulse had led him to draw the curtain from the window and shade the lamp; as he looked down on the moonlit country, the contrast between it and the vicious, heated atmosphere, heavy with intrigue and worse, in which he had spent his strength, had forced itself upon his mind. For he presently went on:

"France! Ay, there it lies! And what will they do with it? Will they cut it up into pieces, as it was before old Louis XI? Will Marceur—curse him!—be the most Christian Duke of Brittany? And Mayenne, by the grace of God, Prince of Paris and the upper Seine? Or will the little Prince of Beaur be them, and he Henry VI, King of France and Navarre, Protector of the Churches? Curse him too! He is 36. He is my age. But he is young and strong, and has all before him. While I—I—oh, my God, have mercy on me! Have mercy on me, O God in Heaven! Have mercy on me, O God in Heaven!"

With the last word he fell on his knees on the step before the window, and burst into such an agony of unmanly tears and sobbing as I had never dreamed of or imagined, and least of all in the king of France. Hardly knowing whether to be ashamed or terrified, I turned at all risks, and stealthily lifting the curtain, crept out with infinite care; and happily with so much good fortune as to escape detection. There was space enough between the two curtains to admit my body and no more; and here I stood a short while to collect my thoughts. Then, striking my scabbard against the wall, as though by accident, and knocking loudly at the same moment, I switched the curtain aside with some violence and re-entered, thinking that by these means I had given him warning enough.

But I had not reckoned on the darkness in which the room lay, the excitable state in which I had left him. He heard me, indeed, but being able to see only a tall, indistinct figure approaching him, he took fright, and falling back against the moonlit window, as though he saw a ghost, thrust out his hand, gasping at the same time two words, which sounded to me like "Ha! Guise!"

The next instant, discerning that I fell on my knees where I stood, and came no nearer, he recovered himself. With an effort, which his breathing made very apparent, he asked in an unsteady voice who it was.

"One of your Majesty's most faithful servants," I answered, remaining on my knees, and affecting to see nothing.

Keeping his face towards me, he sidled to the lamp and strove to withdraw the shade. But his fingers trembled so violently that it was some time before he succeeded, and set free the cheerful beams, which, suddenly filling the room with radiance, disclosed to my wondering eyes, instead of darkness and the cold gleam of the moon, a profusion of richness, of red stuffs and gilded trappings and gilded arms crowded together in reckless disorder. A monkey chained in one corner began to gibber and howl at me. A cloak of strange cut, stretched on a wooden stand, deceived me for an instant into thinking that there was a third person present; while the table heaped with dolls and powder-puffs, dog-collars and sweet-meats, a mask, a woman's slipper, a pair of pistols, some potpourri, a scourge, and an immense quantity of like litter, had as melancholy an appearance in my eyes as the king himself, whose disorder the light disclosed without mercy. His turban was awry, and betrayed the premature baldness of his scalp. The paint on his cheeks was cracked and stained, and had soiled the gloves he wore. He looked 50 years old; and in his excitement he had thrust his sword to the front, whence it refused to be thrust back.

"Who sent you here?" he asked, when he had so far recovered his senses as to recognize me, which he did with great surprise. "An here, sire," I answered, hesitatingly, to place myself at your Majesty's service.

"Such loyalty is rare," he answered, with a bitter sneer. "But stand up, sir. I suppose I must be thankful for small mercies, and, losing a Mercœur, be glad to receive a new one."

"By your leave, sire," I rejoined hardily. "The exchange is not so adverse. Your Majesty may make another duke when you will. But honest men are not so easily come by."

"So! so!" he answered, looking at me with a fierce light in his eyes. "You remind me in season. I may still make a duke and make! I am still king of France? That is so, sirrah, is it not?"

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—A meeting of the London West Council will be held to-night. The books of the ex-treasurer are still in the hands of the sheriff.—Another petition is in the hands of the city clerk asking that the disputed territory on Bathurst street be watered. It is signed by owners of two-thirds of the frontage.—When the London West school was dismissed yesterday afternoon about a dozen of the pupils found that their hats
had been stolen or else hidden by some mischievous boys.—Auditor Duff's house in London West
was the scene of a meeting on Wednesday night. Revs. Macdonald, Councillors
Moore and Hammond, Clerk Bartram and Mr. E. R. Cameron were present but no business was transacted.—Rev. J. H. Hector lectured in the King Street Methodist Church last night on "A Bible Wife and How to Get Her." Mr.
Hector did not have as large an audience
as he has had, but he is as funny and practical as ever. Four choruses were rendered in an excellent manner by the children of the Sunday school under the leadership of Mr.
John Goodge. Miss Reason acted as accompanied, and Mr. Rigby, the pastor,
occupied the chair.—Bishop Baldwin paid a visit to Port Dover recently and confirmed eighteen
candidates there and thirteen at Victoria.
At the former place the following clergy
assisted: The Rev. Canon Young and Rev.
Rural Dean Hicks, both of Simcoe; the Rev. A. Gaden, of Nanticoke, Niagara;
and the Rev. J. B. Newell, incumbent of the parish. Capt. Thos. Bayley was to have been confirmed, but he died suddenly the same evening. The bishop made a touching allusion to the circumstance in the course of his address.—A tempest in a teapot" was the expression an alderman applied to the developments of last night's meeting of the
so-called investigation committee, appointed by the council to ascertain how
Mr. Scandrett's name happened to be added to a street watering petition for Bathurst street, after the said petition had been handled by No. 3 committee. The evidence went to show that the petition
had been secured at the city engineer's office
by Mr. S. H. Craig, for Mr. Scandrett's signature. Aid. Parrill, chairman of the committee, knew nothing about it, and the committee exonerated him from any connection with the matter, and passed a resolution condemning the practice of allowing
any document referred from the council or a committee to be thus altered. The committee was doubtful whether the Engineer had allowed Mr. Craig to take away the petition or not and declared it
null and void.

Public School Items.

No. 2 committee of the Board of Education met last night, with Messrs. D. W.
Blackwell (chairman), Stevenson, Anderson, Martin, Logan, Greenlees, Turner and Secretary McEllen present. D. Mc-Donald's offer to do all repairing as well
as taking care of the Princess avenue
school for $600 a year was referred to the board. Mr. J. C. C. Evans will build two cloak rooms at the Aberdeen school for $85.
The contract for sodding and grading Lowe
avenue school yard was awarded to W.
Legg at 84 cents a square yard. There was a lot of discussion on the janitors' salary question, and Mr. Logan moved that the basis of salary be placed at $45 a room for four rooms and over, and $50 a room for the smaller schools. Carried.

Lost and Found.

The missing old man David Chambers has been found. Aid. John Heaman and Mr.
John C. Orchard, of York street west, were among the searching party. The first trace they heard of Mr. Chambers was from Mr. Phillips, a grain buyer on the market, who had seen him going westerly
across the market about 12 o'clock
yesterday. They went to the Ridout street
crossing of the Grand Trunk, and learned from the watchman that Mr. Chambers had gone south on the Grand Trunk. Top upwards of three hours a diligent search was kept up in No. 6 ward, with the result that the missing man was found about 3:30 aimlessly
wandering along Ridout street near the limits. He was at a loss to account for his whereabouts.

Business Men, Think It Over.

When kitchen girls are plenty it is not difficult to pick one up almost anywhere.
It's when they are scarce and hard to get
that it pays us better to advertise for them
than to make a personal search. Now, isn't the same thing true of trade? When it is scarce and hard to get is when it pays
us better to advertise than to depend on personal efforts more than at any other time.Whenever you hear a man say that no
one ever reads advertisements, just run
over a list of prominent advertisers and
see how many of them he has ever heard
of. Then ask him where he heard of them.
Entering business without advertising is like printing without ink. The form may be gone through with, but the public will not be the wiser.If you wish to try the experiment of diminishing your advertising expenditure
for the sake of noting its effect on trade,
just double it instead and see if the effect
on trade will not be agreeably prominent.
Generally it costs more to cut down the advertising than to increase it.

No. 2 Committee.

At last evening's meeting of the Board of Works the following members were present: Chairman Thos. Jones, Secretary
Bell, Aids. Garratt, Shaw, Taylor, Dreaney, and Coe, and Mayor Essery. A quarter of petitioners appeared in favor
of opening up Dufferin avenue from Quebec
to Charlotte streets. On motion it was left in the hands of the engineer to report on.
The following communications were left in the hands of the engineer to report on atWe are quoting very low prices for Lily

307. EMPIRE OIL COMPANY.the next meeting: Mrs. Matthewson for permission to use Richmond street sewer.
M. J. Kent complained of the outlet of Wharfedale road sewer. Joseph Howlett, Delaware, claim of $2 for injury done to his wagon on York street. Engineer Graydon sent in a letter recommending that the iron gates at the west end of the arcade be given to the Western Fair Board for entrance gates. The communication was laid over to see whether the Fair Board wants them or not.
The cyclists sent in a petition for permission to ride on the sidewalks on one side of the road between the hours of 4:30 to 7:15
a.m., as long as they each carried a bell.
This petition was filed. The engineer
thought they were getting too many privileges as it was, and if they were not soon
compelled to use lamps some bad accidents
would happen. Chas. A. Winter, on behalf of the Provincial Choir Association, sent in a communication to the board stating that their third annual gathering would be held this year. Sarnia had offered them very acceptable terms and they wished to know
if they could secure the Western Fair buildings and grounds and if any special inducements could be given them to come to London. Mayor Essery's motion that the grounds and buildings be granted them,
allowing them to close the gates and charge
admission carried. The council's permission giving No. 2 committee power to portion the $500 for band concerts was referred to. The matter of granting $50 for dredging the river was referred back to the committee to learn if the part of the river to be deepened was in the city limits.
The committee stated that the portion of the river was outside the city limits, but recommended that the $50 be granted as a gift to the petitioners to help in clearing the river channel. Considerable discussion
was raised over the price paid for electric
lighting in the agricultural building, which is used for drill purposes. It was moved that the parties using the hall pay
the cost to the city. Tenders were received for the construction of the Waterloo street sewer. The tender of Moses Cox for $139, gully holes, $15 50, and man holes, $15 50, was accepted on condition that the tender is properly signed. A large number of accounts and the pay sheet, amounting
to $403 53, were passed.To-Morrow

THE OPEN FORUM.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:
A and B own adjoining lots. A does not occupy his, and is living three or four miles away. Can B compel A to keep up his half of the line fence, or can A take it away? B complains of the neighbors'
cattle getting into A's place, and then getting in his. Should he look for damages from A or the owners of the cattle?
I thought cattle were not allowed to run at large. An answer will greatly oblige.
London, May 8. JOHN SMITH.[NOTE.—As A does not occupy his land
he is not legally bound to keep up half the line fence, but he cannot legally remove it
without giving six months' notice to B.
Cattle running at large in the city is contrary to the by-laws, and therefore unlawful. The owners of the cattle are liable to B for damages.—EDITOR ADVERTISER.]A bottle of Angostura Bitters to flavor
your lemonade or any other cold drink will keep you free from Dyspepsia, Colic, Diarrhea, and all diseases originating from the digestive organs. Be sure to get the genuine Angostura, manufactured by Dr.
