BALFOUR ON THE ARMENIAN TROUBLE.

London, Nov. 19.—Mr. Arthur Balfour, Government leader in the House of Commons, speaking at Rochdale, dwelt upon the difficulty of effecting a concert of the powers over Armenia. England, he said, had no ulterior object or desire for aggrandizement, and it was a misfortune for the whole world that she had been erroneously credited abroad with ambitious aims. It was impossible that England should undertake, in opposition to the wish of Europe, a crusade which, while it would not benefit the Armenians, would perhaps impose upon England overwhelming responsibilities.

Grounded During a Fog.

Details of the Disaster to the Steamer Memphis.

How It Happened—Terrible Experience of the Survivors.

London, Nov. 19.—It is now stated that ten lives were lost by the wreck of the British steamer Memphis (announced in yesterday's dispatches), which went ashore in Dunlough Bay, near Mizenhead, on the south coast of Ireland, Tuesday night. The Memphis struck at 10 o'clock at night, during a dense fog. At the time of the accident the steamer was proceeding cautiously, blowing her whistles continuously, and keeping a sharp lookout for the Mizenhead and Brow Head lights, which the thickness of the weather prevented her from making out. As soon as she struck the rocks the vessel began to fill, and rockets were immediately fired for the purpose of summoning assistance from the shore. Three of the ship's boats were at once lowered, but one of them was shattered by being dashed against the side of the steamer, and two of its occupants were drowned. The others succeeded in reaching the rocks along the shore, but five of them were washed away and drowned, their companions being unable to render them the slightest assistance.

Those of the crew who had taken to the rigging soon after the steamer struck experienced an awful night. They were constantly drenched by the heavy seas which passed over them, and some of them, after a hard fight for their lives, becoming weakened, dropped from their places and were carried away.

The rockets sent up by the steamer's crew were seen by the coast guard, but the latter were unable to communicate with the shipwrecked men until after daylight, when all who remained in the rigging were taken off by the rocket apparatus of the life-savers. The rescued persons were immediately taken to the various farmhouses, where they were kindly cared for by the inmates. Many of them were almost naked, but were supplied with sufficient clothing to enable them to proceed to Crook Haven, at which place most of them are now. The steamer is a total wreck, and much of her cargo is coming ashore. The coast guards are engaged in the work of salvage. All of the survivors pay a high tribute to Capt. Williams for his efforts to secure the safety of those on board the vessel.

The Memphis carried a crew of 30 men. She was built of steel, and schooner rigged.

THE EASTERN TROUBLE.

Important Instructions to Sir Philip Currie.

London, Nov. 19.—The Daily News says that Sir Philip W. Currie, British ambassador to Turkey, has been instructed in regard to the request of the Porte that negotiations for commercial treaties be pushed, to take no action in the matter until the more important demands made by the British Government have been met. This course, the dispatch adds, is typical of the general attitude of the foreign powers towards the Turkish Government.

The foreign ambassadors have accomplished the suppression of the special tribunal, which had been trying the Armenians and Mussulmans arrested for participating in the late riots in Constantinople. All of the judgments and sentences which have already been pronounced by the tribunal are subject to appeal. This is the tribunal that sentenced the Armenian bishop at Hassaken to death, because during the late riots in Constantinople a loaded revolver was found in his house.

The Sultan having sanctioned the lay religious councils elected by the Armenian assembly, those councils met, and nominated five candidates, of whom one will be chosen for the position of patriarch.

Advices received in Constantinople from all parts of Asia Minor say that business everywhere is stagnant, and that great distress prevails. Nobody in Constantinople, according to advices, is aware that the reforms demanded by the powers and agreed to by the Turkish authorities have been hurried into execution.

London, Nov. 19.—The Queen has telegraphed to the Canadian High Commissioner, Sir Donald Smith, saying that she will be most pleased to accept the offering of fruit sent to her from Hamilton, Ont., and which arrived at the offices of the Canadian Commissioner yesterday. ALMOST A CRISIS.

The French Government Have a Hair-breadth Escape From Defeat.

London, Nov. 19.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon publishes a dispatch from Paris, which says that the Meline Ministry had another hair-breadth escape in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, adding: "At one moment its best friends abandoned all hope, and nothing but the patriotism animating a number of deputies, independently of party politics, saved it from downfall."

The domineering tone of Gen. Billot, the Minister of War, roused the hostility of the chamber, and M. Meline at first declined to supplement Billot's statement, until he noticed that his own followers were deserting him. Finally, he accepted a compromise, in the form of a modification of M. Castelane's motion calling upon the Government to take action in the case and expressing the hope that the Government would seek to punish the intriguers.

There was an animated discussion afterwards in the lobbies. It was the general impression that the Government would be forced to order a new prosecution in connection with the Dreyfus case, that it was preposterous for the country to pay £2,500 yearly for the prisoner's keep, and that it would have been better to have shot him.

Mine Horror.

Disastrous Explosion in a Westphalia Colliery.

Twenty-Five Bodies Recovered and 40 or 50 Men Entombed.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—A fire-damp explosion has occurred in a colliery at Recklinghausen, Westphalia. Four bodies had been recovered up to noon.

Later advices show that it was much more disastrous than at first supposed. Twenty-five bodies have been recovered, and 40 or 50 men are known to be still entombed.

PROBABLY THIRTY KILLED.

Berlin, Nov. 19.—All but five of the entombed men were rescued. The total number of persons killed does not exceed 30.

PRACTICAL SYMPATHY

London, Nov. 19.—The Metropolitan, of Moscow, and all the leading newspapers there have opened subscription lists for the relief of the famine sufferers in India, reminding the public of the sympathy shown by the peoples of Great Britain and the United States with the sufferers in Russia at the time of the famine in that country in 1891-92. All of the leading newspapers in St. Petersburg have opened subscription lists for the relief of the sufferers by the famine in India. The price of wheat in all the grain markets of South Russia and the rates for the transportation of freight have advanced materially in consequence of the foreign demand for grain.

The St. Petersburg Viedomesti prints an article upon the effects of the famine in India upon the grain trade, in which it urges the Government to take advantage of the famine to dispose of Russia's surplus stock of grain and to enter into negotiations with Great Britain regarding the price to be paid and the quantity to be delivered, after which large stocks could be bought and transported to Black Sea ports, whence it could be conveyed to India in British vessels at a low rate of freight. The writer claims that there is now a rare chance to combine charity with the promotion of the country's own interests.

Returns received by the Russian Government show that the yield of the principal cereals in 50 governments of Russia is 16,500,000 quarters below the average yield during the last thirteen years.

Murder in New York.

Who Took His Good Watch and a Big Wad of Bills?

New York, Nov. 19.—A man was found unconscious at 2:45 o'clock this morning lying on the sidewalk at Fifty-second street and Eighth avenue. On the way to the west One hundred and Fifty-second street station he died. Earlier in the evening the man had been seen at the Atlanta Casino with money and a gold watch and chain. When found on the street watch and money were gone. From papers found in his possession he was identified as Frank P. Arbuckle, principal of the Cripple Creek and Central Consolidated Mining Company, of Denver, Col. The police have no doubt that he was drugged, robbed and murdered by thugs.

From a bartender of the Atlanta Casino the police learned that about an hour before Arbuckle was picked up he had entered the place and called for a drink. He seemed then partly intoxicated. He displayed a large roll of bills and a heavy gold watch when paying for his drink. It is supposed that when he went out some one must have followed him. He was probably sandbagged.

Denver, Col., Nov. 19.—Hon. Frank P. Arbuckle was chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Colorado and receiver in the Land Office. He was at the head of several mining and irrigation enterprises. He went east after election to close up a mining deal. He leaves a widow and two sons.

Some 8,000 water services have been cut off in Montreal for non-payment, and the Board of Health fears an epidemic in consequence.

THE KENNEL.

INTERNATIONAL FIELD TRIALS.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 19.—The international field trials are being held in the neighborhood of Mitchell Bay, fifteen miles from the city, and which has neither telegraph nor telephone connection with the town. The first event on the programme, the Derby, was run off under favorable conditions of ground and weather. The pair put down on the start were Heatherbloom (Graydon, London), and Spotted Star (Holmes, Chatham). Neither dog did creditable work, the former being wild and foolish, and the latter ill and soon worked out.

Brighton Joe and Millbrook followed, each doing fair work, with plenty of game.

Heatherbloom and Millbrook next tried conclusions, the latter doing exceptionally good ranging and taking several pretty points.

Brighton Joe and Heatherbloom ran off the final, the former making four capital stands to feather.

Millbrook in a single, showed scent, but did not prove steady to point.

The places were given: 1, Brighton Joe; 2, Millbrook; 3, Heatherbloom; 4, Spotted Star.

BASEBALL.

THE CANADIAN LEAGUE.

Before signing any players for next season, President Stroud, of the Hamiltons, wants something definite decided on as to the composition of the Canadian league. Guelph and London are the only cities that can be counted on, but it is likely St. Thomas could be induced to join the league. There is considerable uncertainty as to Toronto. It is certain that Hamilton will have a strong team. Among the old players likely to be signed are Jimmy Dean, Catcher Baker, McDonald and possibly Malott. There is talk of securing Pitcher McGinnis. While McGinnis can pitch good ball when he is in the mood, he is not a desirable man to have on the team on account of his unsteady habits. Catcher Roberts, who was with Guelph last season, is trying to induce some of the Canadian League players to play in the Southern League. Until the Canadian League is reorganized, and becomes a members of the National agreement, it would be useless to sign players, because they could, if they secured a better offer, jump their contracts.—Hamilton Spectator.

FLYS.

Rochester has made an offer of $8,000 for Pitcher Rusie.

It is reported that W. H. Watkins, of the Indianapolis club, has signed to manage the Philadelphias.

The promoters of the St. Thomas baseball club are meeting with liberal success. Already $300 worth of stock has been subscribed—$200 on the M. C. R., and $100 in the city.

Deacon Ellis has sold the Grand Rapids Baseball Club franchise in the Western League to Robert Leadley and Robert J. Glenalvin, of Detroit. A fancy price was paid, but the terms are not made public.

Chicago is now busy over indoor baseball.

The New Yorks will go south in the spring.

Manager Finn, of Newport, is laying wires for a strong team in that city.

New York has an infield of captains. All have captained teams, and with considerable success.

Manager Hanlon admits that he is willing to sell the Baltimores as a whole, but wants a good price. If the pennant-winning team should be sold, which is hardly probable, as the owners want too much money for it, Hanlon and Von der Horrst will either sell the Baltimore franchise or build up a new team out of the material recently acquired.

A special dispatch from Pittsburg, Pa., last night said: It is reported here tonight that Lyons, Bierbaur and Goar have been exchanged for McCreery, of the Louisvilles. Donovan is not in the city, and is believed to be in Louisville at present. Kerr was asked about the deal, but refused to deny or affirm the report, stating he had not heard that the deal had been consummated yet.

CRICKET.

CLEVER CANADIANS.

The sporting paper "Cricket" says: "This year Canada has beaten the United States at cricket, golf, and in yacht race. One of the best bats in the Canada team, W. H. Cooper, has scored over 1,000 runs this season, and G. S. Lyons, who with Cooper made the most runs for his side against the United States, scored 132 against Laing's bowling not long before the great match. The Canadian eleven as originally chosen was much stronger than that which actually represented Canada. Of the first five men who were picked—Rev. W. F. Terry, D. W. Saunders, A. Gillespie, Martin and Wadsworth—not one was able to play. The American team, being on its own ground, was naturally almost at its full strength. The president of the Toronto Cricket Club, which beat Chicago at Toronto a few weeks ago, is Mr. Lyndhurst F. Ogden, a well-known name to cricketers. He still plays once a year in the veterans' match. In 1895 he scored 55 and this year 55 not out, so that he shows no signs of failing off."

ATHLETICS.

THE CORBETT-FITZ MATCH.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19.—The offer of $25,000 by President Genslinger of the Bohemian Athletic Club, for a twenty-round boxing match between Corbett and Fitzsimmons was topped last night by "Jimmy" Colville, a well-known sporting man, of this city, who offered Corbett $26,000 on behalf of a New York club, whose name he would not disclose.

Do You Use Them?

Mr. H. B. Fould, who is the proprietor of "Campbell's Arsenic Wafers" and "Fould's Arsenic Soap," and whose main place of business is on Sixth avenue, New York, with a Toronto branch at 144 Yonge street, was in London yesterday. The fame of "Campbell's Arsenic Wafers" and "Fould's Arsenic Soap" is well known all over the United States, and in introducing them into Canada Mr. Fould is certain to meet with the approval of those ladies and gentlemen who desire to benefit from the results to be obtained by the use of either article. Both preparations have an exceedingly large sale on the other side of the line, and are a thoroughly genuine article. There is no fraud about them. They accomplish exactly what is stated, nothing more and nothing less, and are largely patronized by the very best people in the United States. Mr. Fould is a typical New Yorker, a thorough business man with exceedingly pleasant address. He is just one of those people whom it is a pleasure to meet. All druggists keep both articles in stock. b

Assault in Strathroy.

Mr. R. Blackwell the Subject of a Brutal Attack.

His Assailants Remanded for Examination—Run for the Firemen.

Strathroy, Nov. 18.—One of the most brutal affairs that have ever shocked the good people of Strathroy occurred here on Tuesday night, the victim being R. Blackwell, a well known railroad man.

R. Graham, grain buyer, a man of very powerful build, and J. James, better known as "Porky," are the ones charged with the assault.

Mr. Blackwell states that on his way home from a hard day's work he was waited for by James and Graham near the new furniture factory, and that on his approach James jumped from ambush, grabbed Blackwell by the throat, and threw him down. As James, unaided, was getting the worst of the scuffle, it is alleged that Graham lent a hand, and Blackwell was kicked unmercifully while helpless upon the ground. Only partially conscious, Blackwell managed in some way to regain his feet, and ran a short distance, attracting the attention of people returning from work, who lent the unfortunate man their assistance. The assailants then got away, but were arrested shortly after.

There are various stories regarding the cause of the trouble. Among others it is alleged that last Wednesday night J. James, sen., was noticed around Blackwell's house, trying to hear what was being said by the family, who were at supper. Mr. Blackwell saw James through the window, and went out and soundly thrashed him. James' son, it is alleged, made the quarrel his, and determined to revenge the assault upon his father, enlisting the aid of Graham, with whom he is connected by marriage.

James, sen., formerly boarded with Blackwell, and while there is said to have caused some trouble in the family.

Graham and James claim that Blackwell robbed Mr. James, sen., of $62, after knocking him down, Wednesday night last, and it is charged that on his refusing to disgorge Tuesday evening, they took the law in their own hands.

The case comes up again tomorrow. Mr. Blackwell is progressing very nicely, but will be laid up for several weeks. He is a member of the C. O. F.

Strathroy, Nov. 19.—Mr. J. T. Buttery has purchased the livery business of Mr. J. Barnes, Caradoc street.

The House of Refuge committee, consisting of Messrs. Gillies (chairman), Gilmour, C. C. Hodgins, McDougall, and Piper, together with Inspector McGugan and Engineer Talbot, met at the house Tuesday and opened tenders for supplies for the ensuing year. The successful parties were: James Cox, meat; James Noble & Sons, groceries; R. C. Wilhelm, bread; W. J. Dyas & Co., drugs; 100 cords of wood, Mr. Inch; 50 cords, J. Brady. Accounts amounting to $1,338 39 were ordered paid.

Bothwell's Boom.

The Oil Territory Increasing Every Day.

No "Dry Holes" Found — All the Wells Good Paying Ones.

Bothwell, Nov. 19.—The boom in the Bothwell oil fields increases every day, and capitalists from all parts of America are pouring in. In fact, the resources of the town are at the present time taxed to the very limit. Nearly every foot of available land in and around the town is taken up for oil purposes, and there is keen competition among the operators for drilling rigs. There are some 35 drilling rigs in the field now, and they are kept running day and night. Within the next 30 days the Bothwell oil fields will be pretty well defined. Thus far there have been some 40 tests made, and every test has proved successful. Not one dry hole has been found in the Bothwell field, and all the wells are good paying ones, ranging from five to one hundred barrels per day. The only dry hole known of is the one put down by Mr. Duggan for a New York company, and that one was five miles west of Bothwell, or two and a half miles west of what we have always claimed to be the terminus of the Bothwell oil fields, and such testing is what the practical and experienced oil men call "wild-cating," and should have no bearing on the Bothwell oil fields.

We don't claim our field to extend over the whole county of Kent, and if people are not content to remain within the radius of what has always been known as the proper locality, then they expect to take big chances. The field should not be condemned on that account. At the present time there are some of the best known oil producers in America in the field, and when such men as these—men of life-long experience, and undoubted ability in the oil business—show their confidence in the field as they are doing by the large sums of money they are investing here, it ought to satisfy the whole county that there is no indecision or uncertainty about the future of Bothwell.

Here are the names of a few of the gentlemen who are here doing business—men whose names are known as oil men throughout the whole world: F. H. Carman, Washington, D. C.; C. Sheridan, Olean, N. Y.; Judge Durfee, Olean, N. Y.; H. Willard, Olean, N. Y.; O. Gibson, Olean, N. Y.; J. Corrsam, Olean, N. Y.; H. Ramsey, Olean, N. Y., representing a company of American capitalists; Dillon & Wilson, Grand Rapids, Mich; Hoskins & Co., Jackson, Mich.; H. Crawford, Columbus, Ohio; the American Oil Company; J. K. Davis, Olean, N. Y.; A. Tait; Black Bros, Ohio; Emmerson & Co., Chatham; Hiram Walker, distiller, Walkerville, who has produced over 5,000 barrels; A. Elliott & Bros., Bothwell and Kingston; Frank Wright, Ohio; J. Davis, Ohio; J. Puddicombe, jun., Bothwell; Minhinnick & Co., London; Dr. C. Fairbank, Petrolea; C. Lefebre, Bothwell; Smith & Co., Merlin; Funk & Trott, Bothwell; Clarke, Swalwell & Morley, Bothwell and London; A. Marcus & Co., Chatham, John Coast & Sons, Olean, N.Y.

This is only a few of the many moneyed men who are operating here at the present time, and an examination of this list will show that Bothwell is not being stirred up by the noise of a few unexperienced and excited speculators. A visit to the Bothwell oil field and an examination of the same will also prove that there is something more than mere boom going on here.

Any reader of The London Advertiser wishing information regarding the field can obtain it by calling on The Advertiser for the correspondent's address, who will be pleased to give all the reliable information at his disposal.

The London Gold Mining & Development Co., Ltd.

NON-PERSONAL LIABILITY.

Capital Stock = = = $500,000.

500,000 SHARES OF $1 EACH, NON-ASSESSABLE.

This company is incorporated under "The Ontario Joint Stock Companies' Letters Patent Act," and an "Act Relating to Mines and Mining Lands."

The mining company laws of Ontario are the most favorable for shareholders known and provide absolute exemption from liability for anything but the amount actually paid. No double shuffles, shifts, tricks or evasions are necessary to attain this end as under the laws of British Columbia and the State of Washington; the Ontario law goes directly to the point. The very much greater cost of incorporation in Ontario deters many companies from incorporating here, but we have thought best to incur the additional expense and provide absolute security for purchasers of stock in our company.

METHODS.

Our methods have everything to commend them to the careful investor. We send to the mining locality our own engineer and manager, Mr. Joseph Powell. He is an Ontario man himself, of skill and wide experience, and we have reason to believe of great shrewdness and judgment and unimpeached trustworthiness, well-known throughout this Province. He is now at Rossland, B.C., the present center of mining enterprise.

His course is to purchase an interest, where possible a controlling interest, in a large number of mining claims, first carefully examining them to ascertain the prospects of a rich find, putting the purchase money, not into the seller's pocket, but into development work on the claim. If the mine proves worthless we lose our investment, which will be small in each individual case, and the seller, who has retained an interest and continued his labor, loses his labor.

When, however, we succeed in proving the existence of rich ore in paying quantities we sell out to one of the many foreign syndicates or investors, who are always on the look-out for anything proving to be good, and declare a dividend. Buying as we shall with great care, we have every confidence that a large proportion of our ventures will prove rich. Yet such is our method that if one in ten of these skillfully bought mines prove valuable we shall be able to pay enormous dividends.

ADVANTAGES.

The advantages to investors of this plan over that of the companies which own a single mine or two are immediately apparent. Those can pay no dividends till they begin to ship ore, if they ever shall; ours can pay a dividend after the first sale. The single mine may pay for awhile, then pinch out or get flooded by a water vein; our ventures are spread over numerous claims, with a corresponding diminution in the possibility of general ill-fortune. Then the work of our company is in its nature perpetual, going on from one claim to another, one locality to another, or even one country to another, as long as there are "more worlds to conquer." Thus an investment in our stock should prove not merely a temporary speculation, but a permanent investment of the highest paying quality.

We have already purchased in the Rossland District seven mining properties of very excellent promise, in pursuance of our system; they are the Ella S., White Fawn, Rossland Belle, Landers, Daisy, Elk No. 2, and Seal; work is proceeding on them, and we hope to be able to declare a dividend out of the profits of sales in a short time.

RISE IN PRICE.

The price of our stock is, we believe, certain to advance rapidly.

A single sale at a profit of $5,000 will enable us to declare a dividend of 1 cent per share, besides leaving a large sum in our treasury wherewith to continue development work without selling more stock. At the same time we have every expectation that sales at a profit of $10,000, $20,000 or $50,000 will be much more frequent.

With frequent sales, as we hope to make, and corresponding dividends, we see no reason why our stock should not go to 100, or par value, within a year.

SMALL CAPITALIZATION.

If our stock were $1,000,000, a $5,000 profit would only give a dividend of 1-2 cent per share; in a $2,000,000 stock, 1-4 cent per share, and so on, so that 25 cents per share for our stock, other things being equal, is the same price in effect as 12 1-2 or 6 1-4 in such other cases; 10 cents per share in a company stocked at $3,500,000 is like 70 cents for ours. As the dividend-paying power of the stock, coupled with its prospect of permanency, fixes its desirability and its price, it would seem that both to the speculator and to the cautious investor our stock should be acceptable.

RELIABILITY OF THE COMPANY.

We have taken care that our directorate shall consist of well-known men of the highest reputation for uprightness and business sagacity, so that the purchaser of stock may feel assured that his money invested will go honestly into the development work of the company, to earn him dividends, or to try to do so.

50,000 SHARES

are now offered to the public until further notice at 25 CENTS PER SHARE, the proceeds to be used in development work on the company's properties to fit them for sale and to acquire other properties from time to time

The special committee of Chatham Council have presented a report on the proposal to sink a civic test well for gas, $2,000 to be expended, of which one-half would be provided by the city. Mr. J. J. Mackenzie, provincial analyst, brings a startling story regarding the outbreak of diphtheria at Wiarton. There have been as many as 22 cases and 4 deaths within the past fortnight alone. Needed Tax Changes.

Further Anomalies in the Dominion Tariff Proved.

Raw Material in Many Cases a Burden.

Significant Evidences by a Carriage Maker — Watches, Jewelry, Soap, Pianos, Pork-Packing in Evidence.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Dominion Tariff Commission had a busy day yesterday. Those who received delegations were Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson.

FANCY CASES.

The first applicants were Hemming Bros., manufacturers of fancy cases, etc. They would have the duty on the finished product remain as at present, but urged that such goods as they imported for raw material not being manufactured in Canada be placed on the free list. These goods are silk, satin, plush and velvet.

THE JEWELERS.

The largest and most influential deputation so far consisted of representatives of the jewelers' and silversmiths' section of the Board of Trade, and a number of leading retailers.

Mr. M. C. Ellis presented the report. Starting with clocks, the report referred to the fact that tower clocks were the only ones made in Canada. All other clocks were imported, and the section recommended that the present duty of 25 per cent ad valorem be maintained. The present duty on watch cases was 35 per cent. on watch movements 10 per cent, and on watches complete 25 per cent. The section recommended that no change be made in the duty on these articles. Watch movements were not made in this country, and probably could not be for some time. There were three watch case manufacturers in Canada, and the competition was keen. The section also recommended that watch and clock materials, etc., be placed at a uniform rate of 10 per cent ad valorem. Some interesting facts regarding diamonds were disclosed. Unset diamonds are on the free list, but there are other precious stones upon which there is a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem. The section was unanimously of opinion that all the articles should be admitted free. The goods were so small in bulk that smuggling was easy and so valuable that the incentive to break the law was doubly great.

The section recommended that the present duty of 30 per cent ad valorem be maintained on sterling silver, flat and hollow ware. With respect to a number of miscellaneous articles known as "sterling silver mounted novelties," upon which the duty ranged from 20 to 35 per cent, but with regard to which great appraising difficulties had arisen, the section asked that a single comprehensive duty of 25 per cent be imposed. Mr. Morphy wanted the discounts given by American to Canadian jewelers recognized by the customs.

MORE ANOMALIES.

J. S. Russell, of Bay street, importer of spar goods, curling stones, etc., stated that his trade in spar goods had been handicapped in competing with the Americans, owing to the excessive Canadian duty of 35 per cent, the American duty being only 25 per cent. It was only by a subterfuge and entering some of his wares as jewelry that a lower rate had been taken advantage of. Mr. Russell also spoke of gold and silver lace used for regalia and church vestments. The duty on the finished product was 20 per cent, that on the raw material 30 per cent, which rendered competition impossible. A similar grievance existed with regard to walking sticks. Mr. Russell also asked the commission not to place any duty on curling stones, as they were only produced in one part of the world, at Ailsa Craig, Scotland.

A SOAP DEALER.

Mr. Emil Poliwka asked that Sapolio Soap, which is now classed as a high-class toilet soap, and taxed 35 per cent, be placed in the common soap class at 20 per cent.

CARRIAGES.

Mr. R. McLaughlin, Oshawa, said that the carriage industry in Canada was handicapped by the fact that there is a heavy tax on raw materials. Machinery facilities had caused prices of carriages to be reduced 50 per cent in the last fifteen years. Mr. McLaughlin said that the great difficulty here was the small market, and that there were not so many carriages sent to Australia now as formerly. Mr. McLaughlin wants the duty reduced on raw material and left steady on the complete article.

PIANOS.

A. A. Barthelmes appeared as a representative of the piano action manufacturers. He asked for a reduction on the duty on the hardware used in his business, and also on the felt used. There were about 5,000 pianos made yearly in Canada, and his company made actions for 2,000 of them. The present duty on the hardware used in this business was 52 per cent. It was too high, and a reduction would help manufacturers to compete with any foreign makers.

PORK PACKING.

A deputation of pork packers appeared, and Mr. Andrew Park read a statement, which asserted that the business had increased 50 per cent in the last 15 years. The higher tariff was alleged to be the reason for the development. The raising of hogs was regarded as a necessity to the profitable carrying on of the cheese and butter factories, while a large quantity of coarse grain is also used by the hogs. The trade, it was contended, gives employment to a large number of men in an immense variety of ways. The pork packers have a specific "protection," which amounts to 66 per cent, and they ask that it be not reduced.

WANT TAX TAKEN OFF.

D. McIntosh & Sons asked that gray granite for purposes of manufacture be relieved of the present 20 per cent. The firm buy in Vermont and Massachusetts, as the Canadian granites contain flaws.

A SETTLED POLICY NEEDED.

Mr. MacDonell, of the Sunnyside Wrought Iron Works, asked that the duty be taken off raw iron, but would like the duty on the finished product continued. The iron now sells for $26 a ton, which is cheaper than ever in Canada. In the United States it sells for $21, and he has known it to be sold for $10. Mr. MacDonell further said that if a settled policy, whether free trade or protection, were established, an immense iron industry could be built up.

OTHER CHANGES ASKED FOR.

Mr. March, managing director, and Mr. S. T. Mills, general manager of the Toronto Junction Iron Works, asked that the duty on charcoal iron be removed, as the Canadian product is of no use to them. The duty on the finished product should remain.

A deputation of soap manufacturers asked that either the old duty of 1 1-2 cents a pound should be imposed, or that the tax on raw materials be abolished or reduced.

Mr. John Taylor advocated a specific duty of 5 cents and an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent on toilet soaps.

Mr. C. H. Howard asked that the duty on gold leaf used for frame gildings and sign writings be increased from 25 to 30 per cent.

Mr. John F. Ellis suggested that no change be made in the duties on paper and envelopes, but that if any change were made, the present margin of 10 per cent between the raw materials and the finished product be maintained.

CASE CLOSED.

Evidence in the Sternaman Extradition Proceedings All In.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Nothing of importance was brought out by either side yesterday in the case of Mrs. Sternaman.

Benjamin J. Morningstar, agent in this city for the Chautauqua Loan Association, of Jamestown, N. Y., testified that he had a conversation with Sternaman in May last in regard to buying some stock in the Chautauqua Association. He said that Sternaman declined, saying that he could not afford it, as he was paying considerable money out for his own life insurance.

Chas. R. Roberts, special agent of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, of New York, was called. A close examination by Mr. Thayer brought out the fact that Roberts had been sent by the insurance company to Cayuga, Ont., to ascertain the cause of Sternaman's death. Roberts said he was present at the inquest held at Cayuga, but was not responsible in any way for the arrest of Mrs. Sternaman.

This practically ended the case so far as evidence was concerned. Next Tuesday was the day set for the lawyers to sum up.

To speculate in its original sense was to look out of the window.

Word has been received at Goderich from Rossland, B. C., of the sudden death of Albert Tilt, son of Thos. Tilt, proprietor of the British Exchange Hotel. The young man left a few weeks ago to seek his fortunes at the mines. This is the second son Mr. Tilt has lost within a year.

At the Kent Assize Court Tuesday afternoon at Chatham, the charge against Albert Cottingham, accused of liberating an Indian from Bothwell jail was heard, and the jury was out only ten minutes when they returned with a verdict of not guilty. Wm. Walker was acquitted of a charge of rape. Edson Carr, charged with an unnatural crime, was also acquitted.

Mr. Joseph Abell, one of the best known and esteemed farmers of East Zorra, died on Saturday morning, in his 59th year. Deceased leaves a widow and six children. The sons are H. N. Abell, the well-known apple buyer, at present in England; Wm. T., of Omaha, Neb.; and Bert and Charles at home. The girls are Miss Rose Abell, at home, and Mrs. R. A. Webber, of East Zorra.

On Monday the operation was performed, but her condition was already so weakened she could not recover, and passed away as stated.

The special committee of Chatham Council have presented a report on the proposal to sink a civic test well for gas, $2,000 to be expended, of which one-half would be provided by the city. The report was favorably received by the council, but action deferred, pending discussion by the Board of Trade. The citizens are very anxious that the project be at once taken up and pushed to completion.

Mr. J. J. Mackenzie, provincial analyst, brings a startling story regarding the outbreak of diphtheria at Wiarton. There have been as many as 22 cases and 4 deaths within the past fortnight alone. The disease obtained headway through the attendance at school of children belonging to afflicted families, and rapidly went through three of the school rooms. The investigation reveals deplorable ignorance or laxity on the part of the local board of health.

A sad case came under the notice of the Woodstock police on Tuesday. A few days ago a woman named Mrs. Hutchison, who lives in Lindsay, came to visit friends near Bright. She had been suffering from ill-health for some months past. Shortly after her arrival at her friends', she began to show evidences of an unbalanced mind. She subsequently became violent, and was taken to Woodstock jail, where she is now awaiting removal to an asylum.

By the recent decisions of A. H. Clarke, local master at Windsor in the cases of Curry vs. Curry, Miss Cora Curry is entitled to one-third of the estate of Mrs. Emma Glen Curry, valued at about $60,040, and she and her mother to three-quarters of the estate of James R. Curry, her father, valued by the master at between $50,000 and $60,000. Their claim to a three-quarters interest in the Essex County Bank was rejected, and they will appeal from the master's finding in this particular. They expect that if they win they will be benefited to the extent of almost $100,000 more.

Needed Tax Changes.

Further Anomalies in the Dominion Tariff Proved.

Raw Material in Many Cases a Burden.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Dominion Tariff Commission had a busy day yesterday. Those who received delegations were Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson.

FANCY CASES.

The first applicants were Hemming Bros., manufacturers of fancy cases, etc. They would have the duty on the finished product remain as at present, but urged that such goods as they imported for raw material not being manufactured in Canada be placed on the free list. These goods are silk, satin, plush and velvet.

THE JEWELERS.

The largest and most influential deputation so far consisted of representatives of the jewelers' and silversmiths' section of the Board of Trade, and a number of leading retailers.

Mr. M. C. Ellis presented the report. Starting with clocks, the report referred to the fact that tower clocks were the only ones made in Canada. All other clocks were imported, and the section recommended that the present duty of 25 per cent ad valorem be maintained. The present duty on watch cases was 35 per cent, on watch movements 10 per cent, and on watches complete 25 per cent. The section recommended that no change be made in the duty on these articles. Watch movements were not made in this country, and probably could not be for some time. There were three watch case manufacturers in Canada, and the competition was keen. The section also recommended that watch and clock materials, etc., be placed at a uniform rate of 10 per cent ad valorem. Some interesting facts regarding diamonds were disclosed. Unset diamonds are on the free list, but there are other precious stones upon which there is a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem. The section was unanimously of opinion that all the articles should be admitted free. The goods were so small in bulk that smuggling was easy and so valuable that the incentive to break the law was doubly great.

The section recommended that the present duty of 20 per cent ad valorem be maintained on sterling silver, flat and hollow ware. With respect to a number of miscellaneous articles known as "sterling silver mounted novelties," upon which the duty ranged from 20 to 35 per cent, but with regard to which great appraising difficulties had arisen, the section asked that a single comprehensive duty of 25 per cent be imposed. Mr. Morphy wanted the discounts given by American to Canadian jewelers recognised by the customs.

MORE ANOMALIES.

J. S. Russell, of Bay street, importer of spar goods, curling stones, etc., stated that his trade in spar goods had been handicapped in competing with the Americans, owing to the excessive Canadian duty of 35 per cent, the American duty being only 25 per cent. It was only by a subterfuge and entering some of his wares as jewelry that a lower rate had been taken advantage of. Mr. Russell also spoke of gold and silver lace used for regalia and church vestments. The duty on the finished product was 20 per cent, that on the raw material 30 per cent, which rendered competition impossible. A similar grievance existed with regard to walking sticks. Mr. Russell also asked the commission not to place any duty on curling stones, as they were only produced in one part of the world, at Ailsa Craig, Scotland.

A SOAP DEALER.

Mr. Emil Poliwka asked that Sapolio Soap, which is now classed as a high-class toilet soap, and taxed 35 per cent, be placed in the common soap class at 20 per cent.

CARRIAGES.

Mr. R. McLaughlin, Oshawa, said that the carriage industry in Canada was handicapped by the fact that there is a heavy tax on raw materials. Machinery facilities had caused prices of carriages to be reduced 50 per cent in the last fifteen years. Mr. McLaughlin said that the great difficulty here was the small market, and that there were not so many carriages sent to Australia now as formerly. Mr. McLaughlin wants the duty reduced on raw material and left steady on the complete article.

PIANOS.

A. A. Barthelmes appeared as a representative of the piano action manufacturers. He asked for a reduction on the duty on the hardware used in his business, and also on the felt used. There were about 5,000 pianos made yearly in Canada, and his company made actions for 2,000 of them. The present duty on the hardware used in this business was 52 per cent. It was too high, and a reduction would help manufacturers to compete with any foreign makers.

PORK PACKING.

A deputation of pork packers appeared, and Mr. Andrew Park read a statement, which asserted that the business had increased 50 per cent in the last 15 years. The higher tariff was alleged to be the reason for the development. The raising of hogs was regarded as a necessity to the profitable carrying on of the cheese and butter factories, while a large quantity of coarse grain is also used by the hogs. The trade, it was contended, gives employment to a large number of men in an immense variety of ways. The pork packers have a specific "protection," which amounts to 66 per cent, and they ask that it be not reduced.

WANT TAX TAKEN OFF.

D. McIntosh & Sons asked that gray granite for purposes of manufacture be relieved of the present 20 per cent. The firm buy in Vermont and Massachusetts, as the Canadian granites contain flaws.

A SETTLED POLICY NEEDED.

Mr. MacDonell, of the Sunnyside Wrought Iron Works, asked that the duty be taken off raw iron, but would like the duty on the finished product continued. The iron now sells for $26 a ton, which is cheaper than ever in Canada. In the United States it sells for $21, and he has known it to be sold for $10. Mr. MacDonell further said that if a settled policy, whether free trade or protection, were established, an immense iron industry could be built up.

OTHER CHANGES ASKED FOR.

Mr. March, managing director, and Mr. S. T. Mills, general manager of the Toronto Junction Iron Works, asked that the duty on charcoal iron be removed, as the Canadian product is of no use to them. The duty on the finished product should remain.

A deputation of soap manufacturers asked that either the old duty of 1 1-2 cents a pound should be imposed, or that the tax on raw materials be abolished or reduced.

Mr. John Taylor advocated a specific duty of 5 cents and an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent on toilet soaps.

Mr. C. H. Howard asked that the duty on gold leaf used for frame gildings and sign writings be increased from 25 to 30 per cent.

Mr. John F. Ellis suggested that no change be made in the duties on paper and envelopes, but that if any change were made, the present margin of 10 per cent between the raw materials and the finished product be maintained.

CASE CLOSED.

Evidence in the Sternaman Extradition Proceedings All In.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Nothing of importance was brought out by either side yesterday in the case of Mrs. Sternaman.

Benjamin J. Morningstar, agent in this city for the Chautauqua Loan Association, of Jamestown, N. Y., testified that he had a conversation with Sternaman in May last in regard to buying some stock in the Chautauqua Association. He said that Sternaman declined, saying that he could not afford it, as he was paying considerable money out for his own life insurance.

Chas. R. Roberts, special agent of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, of New York, was called. A close examination by Mr. Thayer brought out the fact that Roberts had been sent by the insurance company to Cayuga, Ont., to ascertain the cause of Sternaman's death. Roberts said he was present at the inquest held at Cayuga, but was not responsible in any way for the arrest of Mrs. Sternaman.

This practically ended the case so far as evidence was concerned. Next Tuesday was the day set for the lawyers to sum up.

To speculate in its original sense was to look out of the window.

Money in Business.

Twenty-five years ago, John Wannamaker opened a store in Philadelphia, and made a feature of extensively advertising his wares in attractive newspaper form, frequently changing the announcements, giving prices, and especially interesting women buyers in what he had to sell. For a quarter of a century Mr. Wannamaker has kept this up. Today, he is a millionaire. He sells many millions of dollars worth of goods in his store, and he employs nearly 2,000 hands. Mr. Wannamaker recently believed he could make an opening for himself in New York city. He bought the old A. T. Stewart store, and duplicated his Philadelphia business. Of course he advertised, and the upshot was that on the opening day this week the crowd of buyers was so great that officers had to disperse them, and the doors of the vast building had to be closed. In his New York store, Mr. Wannamaker already employs 1,700 persons. His success he credits largely to the judicious use of printer's ink, supplemented by careful buying and study to humor the public taste. Again and again, Mr. Wannamaker has said that but for the aid of the family newspaper—the old established chronicler of public events—he never could have succeeded in building up his colossal business. He maintains that a man might just as reasonably hope to fly to the moon by the agency of Keeley's motor as hope to make money in modern storekeeping without persistent advertising. This view holds good of latter-day business everywhere, and explains the success of departmental stores which have been persistently advertised while scantily-advertised rivals have gone to the wall.

Not a great many women are likely to become lawyers, but if any woman has ambitions in that direction they can now be gratified. Clara Brett-Martin, who had the qualifications, has agitated the Law Society of Ontario until they have passed rules whereby she can practice as a barrister. The rules state that women may enter the society and be admitted to the bar upon the same conditions and upon passing the same examinations and attending the same lectures as men. There is, however, one important exception to this rule. It is in the all-important matter of dress. The rule says that when a woman appears in court she must appear "in a black gown, worn over a black dress and white necktie, with head uncovered." The question is, What woman will want to be a lawyer if she is to have the fashions ruthlessly set aside, and the dress she must wear prescribed by Men?

Our Minerals and Fish.

The judgments in the Supreme Court of Canada in the fisheries case, pronounced recently, have just been printed in pamphlet form for the Ontario Government. The several justices of the court differed from each other more or less upon a number of points, but the general result is an agreement that the right of jurisdiction over all waters of rivers and lakes is in the provinces, and not in the Dominion.

In the case, as referred to the court by the Dominion Government in February, 1894, a series of 17 questions was framed, of which the essential one is the first, and is in substance, as follows:

Did the beds of all lakes, rivers, public harbors, and other waters situate within the territorial limits of the several provinces, and not granted before Confederation, become, under the B. N. A. Act, the property of the Dominion, or of the province in which they are situate? and is there any distinction between the various classes of waters, salt or fresh, navigable or non-navigable, or between the great lakes and other lakes, or between the great rivers and other rivers, or between waters directly connected with the sea coast and other waters, or between waters separating two or more provinces of the Dominion from one another and other waters, or between waters separating the Dominion from the territory of a foreign nation and other waters?

These questions were argued on the 9th and 10th of October, 1895, and a full year elapsed before the judgments were delivered.

Chief Justice Strong stated in his judgment that as at the time of Confederation the beds of all lakes, rivers, public harbors and other waters within the territorial limits of the several provinces, which had not been granted by the crown, were vested in the crown as representing the provinces respectively, and as there was no distinction in this respect between any of the waters specifically mentioned in the question, all ungranted beds of such waters are lands belonging to the several provinces in which they are situated; saving as to public harbors, where the beds are vested in the crown, in the right of the Dominion. "The Dominion Parliament," he says, in answer to another question, "has no jurisdiction to enact laws conferring on the lessees or licensees of the Dominion a right of fishing in any waters, whether navigable or non-navigable, the beds and banks of which are assigned to the provinces respectively, under the British North America Act." The crown in right of the provinces can grant the beds of all waters and streams, and unless the right of fishing is expressly reserved, the exclusive right of fishing passes to the grantee as an incident of ownership; but "neither the provinces nor the Dominion can grant exclusive rights of fishing in tidal waters, such grants being restrained by Magna Charta."

Justice Taschereau was bound by the decision in Holman vs. Queen to say that as regards public harbors the beds belong to the Dominion; but if the question had not been concluded by that case, he would say that the beds of public harbors belong to the provinces. As to all other waters, without distinction, he held that the beds belong to the provinces wherein they lie.

Justice Girouard, who delivered a very elaborate judgment, full of references to English and French cases and discussions of English and French law, answered the first question by stating that the beds of the waters referred to in it did not become the property of the Dominion, but subject to any trusts in respect to it and to regulations of Parliament respecting the sea coast and inland fisheries, trade and commerce, and shipping and navigation, remain the property of the province in which they are, without any distinction between the various classes of waters.

Justice Gwynne held that not only the soil and beds of all public harbors, but also the beds of all the great lakes and of the river through which runs the boundary line between two or more provinces or between Canada and the United States, as well as the beds of all sea coasts of the Dominion, and of all rivers to the extent to which tide waters reach, are vested in the crown, subject to the jurisdiction and control of the Dominion Parliament, in respect of all public works placed under the jurisdiction of that body, and also specially as regards the administration of the fisheries.

Justice Gwynne, however, stood alone in these opinions, and Justice King concurred in the opinion of the Chief Justice. Unless, therefore, the matter is appealed to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, the supremacy of the provinces over the fisheries of all lakes and rivers must be considered as established, and with that supremacy must come new responsibilities which the several local governments must take up and prepare for.

Another question, however, is likely to arise out of the judgment, and that is as to the rights in minerals upon lands which have been set apart as Indian reserves, and which are administered by the Dominion Government. It seems to be almost as good as settled that the minerals in those lands did not pass with the concession of the lands to the Indians, but remain the property of the crown in the right of the provinces.

The North Perth protest seems to have been a "saw-off." It was dismissed, by arrangement between parties, without costs.

Heat, but Ventilate

Winter approaches, and everywhere men and women are tightening up windows, closing every crevice, or putting on a second window to keep out every breath of fresh air that may penetrate the living and sleeping chambers. On this continent many people overdo the banishing of fresh air from the places in which they live. They have tickling in their throats, causing coughing, or suffer from catarrh, and they believe that these afflictions are caused by draughts of fresh air entering the places where they dwell, whereas it has been conclusively proved that much of the throat tickling and the catarrhal affections are really caused by the breathing of foul air. A medical man, therefore, gives the following timely advice:

"Let the Amelikites worship the Goddess of Health on mountain tops and save expenses and your life together by establishing a home-made refrigeration camp. Cover your catarrh patients as warm as they like—six quilts if three are not enough—but turn their faces to the open window, and rely upon it that they can breathe air of any temperature on the mild side of zero not only with absolute impunity but with beneficial results unattainable by drug methods.

From sunset to 6 a.m. also ventilate your parlors and dining rooms; at dawn close the windows, stir the fires till the thermometer in the center of the room has risen to 70 degrees; then sprinkle a hot shovel with a pinch of incense or fumigating powder (another inexpensive lung balm) and ring the breakfast bell.

"Your neighbors may stare, or try to stare, at your proceedings, but while their eyes are almost blind with catarrh your family will enjoy the light of a sanitary Goshen, and recover completely about a week before the end of the surounding lung epidemic."

The saving of coal, resulting from shutting off ventilation is no saving at all if ill-health results. Foul air is more to be feared than the keen air of a frosty night.

SETTLED LAST APRIL.

Toronto Telegram.

Now that the whole subject is settled, as far as Canada is concerned, the politicians may get to work along the old lines. The school question has not troubled the country since April last. When the old Parliament died it was certain that coercion could never be put through the Canadian House of Commons. That was all that the country wanted to know.

London Election Bills.

Why They Have Not Yet Been Paid by the Authorities.

The Returning Officer Failed to Send Them to Ottawa.

An Ottawa dispatch says: "The Secretary of State was astonished to learn that Mr. Franklin Wright, who was returning officer in the last Dominion election in this city, had not made to the department the usual detailed report of expenses incurred. All the other returning officers in the neighborhood of London reported months ago, and the deputy returning officers, poll clerks, constables, owners of booths, etc., were paid. But in London, through the failure to send the accounts to the Government at Ottawa, no payments have been made. On receiving this information, Hon. Mr. Scott at once notified Mr. Wright that he must at once send the accounts to Ottawa, in order that they may be audited, and the money paid that is due. Mr. Wright was given until Saturday next to send the accounts, and I learn that if the bills are not here by that time a Government officer will be sent to London to collect them. It is an unusual thing for a returning officer to delay sending in the accounts, and I have heard some speculation here as to the irregularity in this instance. More may be heard about the matter."

30,000 LEPERS.

The People of Panama Want Them Kept Away.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 19.—A dispatch from Panama is to the effect that on Sunday a mass meeting was held there to protest against a project now before the Congress, in Bogota, to make the Island of Coiba, near Panama, an asylum for all the lepers in Colombia. There are about 30,000 of them, chiefly living in the interior of the republic. Several speakers addressed. Order prevailed throughout the meeting.

BABY'S FATE.

Burned to Death in Her Little High Chair.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 19.—The 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Horr was burned to death Tuesday evening, in a most peculiar and tragic manner.

Mrs. Horr placed the baby in a chair by the window, while she went outdoors to do some chores. Soon she saw a bright light and rushed in, to find the whole room in flames. The baby could not be seen, and Mrs. Horr ran out, thinking it had been carried away.

Further search revealed the little one crouched under the chair, the cane seat having been burned away and let it down. The fire was quenched, but the little one was so badly burned that it lived only an hour. The mother was also badly burned.

It seems that the baby had seized a tablecloth and pulled the lamp into her chair.

TO BE LASHED.

Berlin, Ont., Nov. 19.—In the case of Hillburn vs. Carter—Indecent assault—the prisoner, Carter, accused of assaulting Lydia Hillburn, a girl 11 years of age, was found guilty and sentenced to two years in the Central Prison, with 40 lashes. The parties live in Galt.

TOO MUCH FUN.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 19.—Over-excitment caused the death of Mr. W. P. Lindsay yesterday. Tuesday night he took part in a rollicking serenade of a half-dozen married couples, who had recently been united. When Mr. Lindsay returned to his boarding house, he retired. Yesterday morning he was heard moaning, but no notice was then taken. Later he was found dead. Heart disease was the cause. He was a carpenter, aged 43 years.

SEAGRAM HORSES AT AUCTION.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—An important sale of thoroughbred horses commenced here yesterday. The largest contributor to the catalogue was Mr. J. E. Seagram, M.P., the Waterloo turfman. All the horses catalogued were put up and sold with the exception of Economy, who had been injured, and Springal, Rossmar and Eppleworth, who did not arrive from Nashville. Another contributor to the sale was Mr. Haines, of Owen Sound, whose importations, which included Morpheus, Halfling, Farthing, and the dam of "Deacon" Duggan's colt Foam, have been winners on the turf. Thirty-eight horses were sold at prices ranging from $15 to $210, Vicar of Wakefield and Lady May bringing the latter figure. Roddy Pringle bought the first-named and A. E. Gates the latter.

RADWAY'S REMEDIES

THE WONDERS OF MODERN CHEMISTRY

SARSAPARILLIAN AND ITS ASSOCIATES.

DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT cures with astonishing rapidity diseases hitherto considered incurable, and invests those marked with the seal of death with new life, vigorous health and strength, with the purest and richest blood that ever flowed through the veins of man, woman or child.

For years Dr. Radway has been laboring in the vineyard of medical science in improving the process of obtaining the active properties from medicinal substances without heat. This great desideratum he has successfully accomplished, so that every ingredient used in Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent and the Ready Relief and Radway's Pills are the pure, unadulterated, active properties. In Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent one teaspoonful contains more of the pure curative principle of Sarsaparilla than will be found in a quart bottle of the weak decoctions of the advertised Sarsaparillas.

SEND FOR OUR LEAFLET (FREE). "RADWAY ON OVARIAN TUMORS"

In Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps and Syphiloid Ulcers; in Dropsy, in Venereal Sore Throat, Ulcers, and in Tubercles of the Lungs; in Gout, Rheumatism, Rickets; in Mercurial Deposits—it is in these terrible forms of disease, where the human body has become a complete wreck, and where every hour of existence is a torture, wherein this great remedy challenges the astonishment and admiration of the sick. It is in such cases, where all the pleasures of existence appear cut off from the unfortunate, and by its wonderful, almost supernatural agency it restores the hopeless to new life and new existence, where this great remedy stands alone in its might and power.

In the ordinary skin diseases that every one is more or less troubled with, a few doses will, in most cases, and a few bottles in the more aggravated forms, work a permanent cure.

TUMOR CURED.

Dr. Radway, New York—Dear Sir: For the encouragement of others in similar circumstances to what I have been, I think it right for me to return my heartfelt thanks to you for the benefit I have received from the use of the Radway medicines. I had been afflicted over six years with tumor in the abdomen. Had been to six of the best doctors I could hear of in Iowa. They all told me the same story, that my trouble was out of the reach of medicine, and that it would in time kill me. I happened to see in your Almanac about tumors being cured. I immediately, as a last resort, resolved to try your treatment. To my great surprise I soon experienced good effects, and with only using three bottles of the Resolvent, one of the Ready Relief, and by continuing on with the Pills longer, I was completely cured. I was so enlarged that I was 4 feet 2 inches around, while now I measure 2½ feet around. Before using your medicine I had not laid down in six months. Now, if this sketch will be of any benefit to suffering humanity, I am willing to have it published. Yours with respects,

M. HOCKETT,
Motor, Rooks County, Kansas.

P. S.—When Afflicted I lived at Salem, Iowa.

American Produce Markets.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The market for wheat acted very strong today. Ever since Friday last the direction has been downward, and at the opening the lowest price of the decline was recorded. Liverpool opening cables were 1½d lower, that being the argument for the weakness noted at the start. The demand for wheat became greater as the session progressed, and at the close the best figures were attained. New York reported sales at that place for shipment to Australia, and the demand in this market was very good. These were bull props, and on them an advance of 2½c for the inside took place. Later Liverpool advices gave a portion of the early loss regained, material all coming from the fact. Reports from Argentine were more favorable to the crop in that country. Closing prices from Paris were higher. Antwerp was unchanged, and Berlin had a holiday. December wheat opened from 76c to 76¼c; advanced to 78¼c to 78⅝c, closing at 78¼c—1½c to 1⅝c higher than yesterday. Cash wheat was strong, and 1½c to 1⅝c higher. Corn declined 1c for May and ½c for cash. May oats were ½c to ¾c lower, and cash ½c to ¾c. Provisions were easy.

The leading futures closed as follows:

Wheat—No. 2 Nov., 78¼c; Dec., 78¼c; May, 82¼c to 82½c.

Corn—No. 2 Nov., 23½c; Dec., 24c; May, 27½c.

Oats—No. 2 Nov., 18½c; Dec., 18¾c; May, 22c.

Mess pork—Dec., $6 42½; Jan., $7 52½; May, $7 90.

Lard—Dec., $3 67½; Jan., $3 90; May, $4 10.

Short ribs—Dec., $3 67½; Jan., $3 75; May, $3 95.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour steady; No. 2 spring wheat, 75½c to 79c; No. 3 spring wheat, 75½c to 78c; No. 2 red, 83c to 86½c; No. 2 corn, 23½c to 24¾c; No. 2 oats, 18½c; No. 2 rye, 37c to 37½c; No. 2 barley, 37c; No. 1 flaxseed, 75c to 77c; prime timothy seed, $2 55; mess pork, $6 50 to $6 60; lard, $3 75 to $3 85; short rib sides, $3 55 to $3 85; dry salted shoulders, $4 25 to $4 50; short clear sides, $3 57½ to $4.

Receipts—

Flour	12,000	Wheat	56,000
Corn	238,000	Oats	467,000

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, Nov. 18.—The market for Canadian cattle and ranchers is weak, and prices declined 1-2c to 1c per lb, as compared with last week. The demand was slow, at 11c for choice States, 9c for Canadians, and 8c for ranchers. Market for sheep steady, and prices unchanged, at 10c.

A private cable from Liverpool reported trade very much worse, and middling cattle unquotable. Choice Canadian steers sold at 9c; sheep unchanged, at 10c.

Messrs. John Olde & Sons, London, Eng., live stock salesmen, write Wm. Cunningham, live stock agent: Prices without material alteration from Thursday last; receipts 1,552 today, of which 575 came from Canada and 977 from South America; the former realized 5d, the latter 5 1-4d to 5 1-2d.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—A feature of the local market today was the advance in the price of lambs of fully 1-4c per lb, sales being made as high as 4c per lb. Another shipment of 1,000 head of Canadian sheep went forward today to Boston for export. The exports last week from this port show a decrease of 76 head of cattle, and an increase of 2,292 sheep, as compared with the previous week. In regard to ocean freights, all the space has been engaged for the balance of the season at the advance in rates noted last week.

NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 18.—Beeves—Receipts, 1,232 head; slow and 10c to 15c lower on steers; others about steady; common to prime native steers, $3 70 to $4 80; oxen and stags, $2 25 to $4 15; bulls, $2 20 to $3; fat bulls, $3 25 to $3 40; cows, $1 10 to $3 15.

Calves—Receipts, 1,222 head; trade slow and generally easier for veals. Poor to prime veals, $4 to $6 75; choice veals, $7; grassers, $2 50 to $3 75; culls, $2 25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 6,376 head; trade slow at a decline of 15c to 25c on sheep; lambs steady. Poor to prime sheep, $2 to $3 25; choice and export sheep, $3 37½ to $3 62½; lambs, $3 50 to $4 80; Canada lambs, $4 60 to $4 80.

Hogs—Receipts, 9,382 head; slow, but steady, at $3 60 to $3 85; choice light hogs, $4; fancy pigs, $4 15 to $4 25.

Liverpool and London markets unchanged for American cattle and sheep. Exports steady today—125 cattle, 4,000 quarters of beef.

EAST BUFFALO.

East Buffalo, Nov. 18.—Cattle closed weak; a few common cattle unsold.

Hogs closed weak; bulk of late sales of Yorkers at $3 45 to $3 47½; 10 to 15 decks of heavy and mediums not sold.

Sheep and lambs—Total offerings, 38 cars. The continued warm weather and low prices of poultry, game, etc., had a very depressing effect on the trade, and the outside order and York buyers all held off, and up to a late hour but a comparative few of the offerings had been sold. A few good and choice lambs were taken by feeders at $4 30 to $4 35, and a few of the toppy kind brought $4 40 to $4 50, with fair to good lots at $4 to $4 25; culls and common, $3 25 to $3 90.

Sheep were scarce, and sold at a shade easier than former prices, with good to choice lots quotable at $3 25 to $3 50; culls to fairly good lots, $1 75 to $3. There was no export demand at all, and the supply of all kinds exceeded the demand, a number again holding over. The market closed very dull and weak, with the outlook unfavorable and several loads going over unsold. Canada lambs, good to prime ewes and wethers, $4 to $4 15; Canada lambs, fair to good, partly bucky, $3 75 to $4; Canada lambs, culls, $3 50 to $3 75; Canada sheep, $3 25 to $3 35.

Ne'er-Do-Well Son

With a Kind and Big-Hearted Father and Mother.

Sentence Suspended on Joseph Durkin Who Assaulted His Father—Young Hart Remanded.

Joseph Durkin, a young widower, with four children, was charged a week ago by his father, Martin Durkin, with assault and disorderly conduct. The magistrate remanded him until today. When his name was called this morning at the Police Court, he continued the same tearful and pitiful pleading that characterized his case a week ago. As his father entered the court Joseph implored the old gentleman to intercede for him, but instead of this his father promised to say nothing against him.

Durkin—Oh, Mr. Parke, if you let me go just this once, I'll take the pledge, a thing I never did before. You can do anything you like with me if I ever come before you again. Really and truly, if you let me go this time I'll be good.

The Magistrate—Your father is very much afraid of you.

Durkin—I never hurt my father or mother in my life. Won't you let me go? It's the first time I ever asked you for a favor.

The Magistrate—A man with your children has no right to ask favors of me. Were you ever arrested before?

Durkin—Last June for being drunk, but I'll never do it again. Please let me go?

The magistrate then admonished him, and said that the complaint had been made against him by two old people, and that they must be protected.

Durkin wanted to be bound over to keep the peace towards his father and relatives, and said: "If you won't do that, Mr. Parke, I'll get out of town if you let me go. I don't want to go back to jail; it's killing me. I haven't eaten a bit of that porridge since I have been down there."

The P. M.—Why don't you go to Detroit for work?

Durkin—I don't want to leave the children.

The magistrate told Durkin that if he had been a worthy father he would not have been there. It was better for him to leave the children with the old people. They had a good home and would be properly cared for.

Durkin pleaded so hard that the magistrate suspended sentence on the charge of assaulting his father, and allowed him to go, provided he left town today. This Durkin promised, and then the kind old father took off his overcoat and gave it to the son. After young Durkin had been taken downstairs, the old gentleman handed Sergt. Crawford $5, instructing him to buy Joseph a ticket for Detroit and then give the son the change. The father went away in the cold without his overcoat, apparently well satisfied.

Young Fred Hart was arrested yesterday for contempt of court. A couple months ago he procured a rig from a livery and never paid for it. A summons was issued and he disregarded it. He was afterwards given a term for being with the tramp party—Maggie Carey, Mrs. Shea, Lewis Whitehead and Frank Snyder—and has just finished his time. He was remanded until Monday.

A SHORT MOVE.

Messrs. T. A. Rowat & Co. Move Three Doors East, to 234 Dundas Street.

Messrs. T. A. Rowat & Co., grocers, who have been doing business at 228 Dundas street for several years, have moved to 234 Dundas street, just three doors east of their old premises. The new place has been furnished in an up-to-date manner, and will present a handsome appearance when everything in stock has its regular location.

Messrs. Rowat & Co. have always carried as fine a stock of groceries, teas, etc., as can be found in any store in Western Ontario, and have the credit of keeping nothing but what is of the most reliable character and quality. The move is not an unwise one, as the distance is very short from the old store.

He Is Well-Known in London.

Mr. James F. Gleason is one of London's most popular citizens. His place of business is located on the Market Square. He has for a number of years been engaged in pool and billiard rooms. Unfortunately, Mr. Gleason has suffered intense agony from rheumatism; his joints had become stiff, and occasioned him much annoyance and inconvenience. A friend of his recommended him to try Ko-Da, Mexican Blood Tonic and King of Pain. The result is Mr. Gleason today feels like a new man, and cheerfully recommends the Mexican Remedies to his many friends. Ko-Da, large $1 bottle for 25c; King of Pain, 25c. St. Louis' Slums

Christian Women Paid Them a Visit Tuesday Night.

Tolstoi and Family Become Total Abstainers.

Last Day of the National W. C. T. U. Convention.

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—The last day's session of the W. C. T. U. national convention opened with the usual prayer-meeting in Schuyler Memorial House. The report of the executive committee was read and approved without division. The names of the appointees, in addition to those already published, are:

Evangelists, Mrs. J. K. Barney, Mrs. S. M. I. Henry, Miss Anna M. Palmer, Mrs. Mary Sparkes Wheeler, Mrs. R. J. Trego, Mrs. Mary J. Weaver, Mrs. E. M. Houghton, Mrs. Jennie F. Willing, Miss Cassie Smith, Rev. Francis E. Townsley and Mrs. Mary C. Woody.

Editors of the Union Signal, Mrs. Susanna M. D. Fray, Miss Clara C. Chapin and Mrs. Ada M. Melville. Business manager, Mrs. C. F. Graw.

Tuesday night several members of the W. C. T. U. made a slumming tour, singing and praying with habitues of dives in the Tenderloin district.

Mrs. Matilda B. Carse, president of the Women's Temperance Publishing Association, reported that, despite the financial depression, the association had weathered the storm, and the treasury showed a net gain, for the year, of $516. The cash receipts for that time were $125,337, and expenditures $125,151.

Miss Willard read a letter from Titian Tolstoi, daughter of the Russian count by that name, in which she said: "Your nephew said that you and Lady Somerset were perhaps coming to Russia. My father and I were very pleased to hear that news, and we hope that you will then pay us a visit, if your voyage will take place."

In connection with this, Miss Willard spoke of another letter she had received from the same source, in which the writer said that she and her father were interested heart and soul in the work of the W. C. T. U. After the receipt of some W. C. T. U. documents by the count he and his whole family became total abstainers, Miss Willard reported.

The international convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Toronto next year, and it is the desire of Miss Willard and other members to hold the national convention previous to that, in some place near the Canadian city so that delegates can go from one to the other.

TURNED THE TABLES.

A New Entertainment Provided by a Pastor and His Wife.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Rev. Louis H. Jordan and Mrs. Jordan gave a charming "At Home" the other evening to the members of the congregation in the pretty lecture hall of St. James' Square Church. Decorators had quite transformed the appearance of the audience room—flags, Chinese and Japanese lanterns, eastern rugs and draperies, banks of foliage plants, etc., lending an altogether gala look to everything. An orchestra, stationed in one of the little galleries, furnished abundance of music, and the Harry Webb Company acted as caterers. The hosts of the evening began to receive their guests at 8 o'clock, and thereafter for about two hours they were continually surrounded by changing groups of friends, all of whom seemed to be thoroughly enjoying themselves. Nearly all the pastors of the city Presbyterian churches were seen among those present.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., etc.

"Did it hurt you when you fell off your bicycle, dear?" "Oh, no! You see I became unconscious at once!"

People with hair that is continually falling out, or those that are bald, can stop the falling, and get a good growth of hair by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

She—The road is very steep. Can't I get a donkey to help me up? He—Lean on me, darling.

Fever and Ague and Bilious Derangements are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

A MAGISTERIAL MIX.

Did Lambeth Squires Ignore the Crown Attorney's Authority?—An Inquiry Likely.

A peculiar case came before Squires Keyser and Little at Lambeth yesterday. It appeared that Wm. Adams, the defendant in the case, had set a trap for quail or pigeons, and Edward Thomas, coming across the trap, broke it. When Adams found this out, he, in company with Alex. Jackson, drove to Thomas' place, on Saturday last, where an altercation ensued. Thomas ordered Adams off his premises, whereupon Adams drew a club from his rig, and hit Thomas over the head. Dr. Routledge dressed the man's head, after which a warrant was issued for Adams' arrest.

Constable Ward was dispatched to Lambeth yesterday by Assistant Crown Attorney McKillop, who had received a complaint regarding the matter, but when he arrived there he found that the case was about to be tried before the two magistrates.

Magistrate Keyser advised a settlement between Adams and Thomas, Thomas agreed to settle the case by Adams paying him $25. The offer was accepted. The magistrates, after the settlemenet, fined Adams $15 for assault, and $7 costs, $3 54 of which goes to the constables, and the balance, $3 46, to the magistrates.

Constable Ward says he told Squire Keyser that he had been sent by the crown to arrest Adams, when the magistrate is said to have remarked that he cared little for the crown prosecutor, and that they could proceed with a crown case when they got through.

County Crown Attorney Magee has written for all the papers in the case, and an investigation will likely be made.

In Britain the cost of living has been reduced very greatly of late years.

IMPORTANT TOLL-ROAD CASE.

In Payne vs. Campbell, judgment was given by a divisional court at Osgoode Hall in favor of plaintiff. The plaintiff, on behalf of himself and all other law-abiding subjects, objected to the defendants exacting tolls on the London and Port Stanley road. The corporation of Elgin county leased the road to one Hepburn for 199 years, who assigned to defendants. The plaintiff contended that the collection of tolls was illegal under 9 Vic., chap. 37, and was excessive, and that corporation could not lease to an individual, but if such power did exist it must be exercised by byalw. The plaintiff obtains the declaration and injunction he desired. The trial judge refused to proceed with the trial unless the corporation were made parties, and by consent the divisional court heard the case, with the above result.

More Mutilation of Books at the Free Library.

Reward for the Culprit's Conviction—Supplies for 1897—Care Against the Spread of Infectious Diseases.

The Public Library Board met last night and accepted the following tenders, which were the lowest, for supplies for the coming year: Binding, Reid Bros. & Co.; printing, Catholic Record; periodicals, John Mills.

It was resolved to offer a reward of $5 for the conviction of the person who cut the picture of Cleopatra from a fine steel engraving in a large and valuable copy of Shakespeare's works, and that $5 be a standing reward in case of further mutilations to books and papers.

Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, chairman of the Board of Health, brought up the question as to what care was taken in reference to books used in houses where there were infectious diseases.

The librarian said that in the one case reported the book had been burned. In future when the health officer goes to placard a house where there is an infectious disease, he will inquire if there are any books from the Public Library in the house, and if so, burn them, and report the same to the librarian, thus relieving the borrower from liability and guaranteeing safety to the public. This is following the example of Toronto and Hamilton. In Toronto last year 84 books were destroyed.

A list of periodicals for the coming year was adopted, and the cost will be about $400. The following magazines were dropped from the present list, as there had been no call for them: Argosy (English), Atlantic Monthly, Cornhill Magazine, Gentleman's Magazine, Longman's, McMillan's, the Phonographic World, Chautauquan, Monthly Illustrated. Judge and Puck were not considered sufficiently elevating, and will be discontinued. A number of new periodicals were decided upon, and included: The Scottish Quarterly Review, Phonetic Journal, Education (Boston), Ueber Land und Meer, Canada Farmers' Sun, Westminster, Massey's Magazine.

There were present Messrs. Talbot Macbeth, James Egan, Robert Reid, and Librarian Blackwell.

A Very Large Departmental Store to Be Established.

The Advertiser is informed, on good authority, that a very large departmental store will be established in London at an early date, by outside capitalists. They have taken the four new stores recently erected on the north side of Dundas street by Mr. Benj. Higgins. It is intended, besides connecting the stores, to make a main entrance and to extend the buildings in depth. It is intended to make these stores a retail emporium for Western Ontario, and to conduct the business after the manner of Wannamaker, of Philadelphia and New York, the most successful retailer and shrewdest advertiser in the United States.

The necessary alterations in the buildings will be begun next week.

WHO'S WATSON?

The Police Arrest a Stranger at the Salvation Army Hotel—His Room Searched With Results.

Detectives Nickle and Rider this afternoon arrested a man at the Salvation Army Hotel, named William James Watson, who is about 40 years old. He has a sandy mustache, is rather stoutly built, and is 5 feet 4 or 5 inches in height. Watson claims to have come from Woodstock two or three days ago, where he was for a time employed as bartender by Mr. Horsman, of the Caistor House. Watson also claims to have kept a hotel some years ago at the corner of Parliament and Germain street, Toronto.

He had in his possession an oxide silver handle, fine silk umbrella, and this he gave to a friend tramp to sell for him, and his friend disposed of it for 25 cents. It is worth about $5, and over the handle is an imitation vine in silver.

Watson when arrested had on a light fawn fall overcoat. His room at the Salvation Army Hotel was searched, and there the detectives found a light brown ulster, much too small for Watson, with a checked lining. The strap at the collar had been torn off. Watson also had a pair of patent leather shoes, with brown fine calf uppers, with white hooks, about No. 7 or 8. These were too small for Watson's own feet.

The police think him to be an inveterate thief, and that the articles found on him and in his room were stolen. They are awaiting owners of the articles, and have sent out letters asking for information regarding the man.

AN ALLEGED FIREBUG.

Sent for Trial—Is He Insane?—The Evidence.

Daniel Ross, the man who was arrested at West Oxford by Chief Skirving, of Ingersoll, on Saturday, for the alleged burning of the house of Chas. Small, in North Dorchester, appeared before Squire J. B. Smyth this morning, and was committed for trial.

Mr. Small said the prisoner had worked for him for sixteen years, and left him four or five years ago. He had threatened to burn down his (Small's) place, also to shoot him. He considered Ross to be of a weak mind.

John Adams, of West Oxford, said Ross had been at his place last Sunday, and had said he was going to William Glendellen's. Ross had said that if he had known that Small had gone through his pockets he would have made it warm for Mrs. Small.

William Glendellen said that Ross had been at his place on Sunday evening, and had threatened to shoot Mr. Small. He thought Ross often suffered from temporary insanity.

Chas. Willis swore that Ross had said that Small owed him $100, and if he did not give it to him he (Ross) would shoot him (Small).

Chief Skirving, of Ingersoll, swore that the prisoner had admitted burning the house, and had said that the devil had ordered him to do so. He had no doubt about the insanity of Ross.

Mr. Edmund Meredith appeared for Ross.

The Tenders for the Sewerage Work Must Be In

For Section "C"—The Organized Charities' Society—City Hall Notes.

The specifications for the sewerage work in section C will come from the printer today. Tenders will be called for at once, and must be in the city engineer's hands by Thursday, Dec. 3. The Board of Works will open them that night, and the question will come before the City Council at its regular meeting the following Monday. Then a discussion may ensue as to whether any of the tenders shall be accepted, or whether the work shall be done by day labor. If a decision is arrived at that night, it is probable that the first spade will be turned before Christmas.

CITY HALL NOTES.

People are recognizing the Organized Charities' Society as a most useful agency. Inspector Sanders has received quite a number of applicants for work—not charity—the majority being women, and has been able to meet many requests. The demand for absolute charity is not large, showing the absence of genuine poverty in the city. All cases reported to the inspector will be investigated, so that no impostors can receive aid, as they often do when "pity gives e'er charity begins."

The block pavements are receiving a sweeping today—probably the last time this year.

Inspector Lutnam secured 14 samples of milk from different wagons this morning. The majority of the carts have been tapped.

Mrs. Casey took out a permit today to erect a $250 addition to the building, corner St. James and Maitland streets.

Plenty of Snow.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 19.—Although there is nothing but mud and slush here, Ishpeming a few miles away, is enjoying good sleighing. In the lumber woods around Yellow Dog River the snow is said to be three feet deep on the level. In traveling 15 miles, one has to change from a wagon to a sleigh.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19. — Residents of Seattle and vicinity, who, by reason of the floods and snow, have been virtually prisoners in the fastnesses of the Cascade Mountains since Friday last, are coming in—some on gravel trains, some on foot, and others by boat. They tell harrowing tales of suffering, devastation and destruction. The situation as described in the dispatches from day to day has not been exaggerated in the least, if indeed the fury and fierceness of the storm have been fully portrayed. There has been much suffering, and no doubt many miners and prospectors in the Cascades have been either drowned or have met death from snow slides.

License Law Changes.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—A large deputation, including representatives of all the temperance organizations, young people's societies and evangelical churches, called by the Dominion Alliance, yesterday afternoon waited upon Hon. A. S. Hardy, Premier, and the other members of the Ontario Government. The following is a summary of the amendments petitioned for:

That all revenue from licenses belongs exclusively to the Provincial Government.

That not more than two tavern licenses be granted to the first thousand of the population of any incorporated village, town or city, and not more than one tavern license for each additional 1,500 of the population.

That on Saturdays all bar-rooms be closed at 4 p.m., standard time, and that no bar shall open on any day before 7 a.m., nor remain open later than 7 p.m., standard time.

That a petition from two-thirds of the electors residing in a polling division be necessary to secure the transfer of a license.

That a majority petition prevent the relicensing of a tavern.

That the present provisions for allowing the existence of saloons in towns and cities be abolished.

That no liquor shop or tavern in towns and cities shall be located within 300 yards of a church or public school.

No license for public parks or racecourses.

That proceedings may be taken against either a license-holder or his bondsmen.

That each conviction be registered on the face of the license-holder's certificate, and that the third conviction shall cancel the license.

That the county judge shall have power to cancel a license wrongfully granted.

That all clubs be brought under the restrictions of the License Act.

The Premier promised due consideration to the representations made.

A Lover's Triumph.

"But I wish you to consider the matter in all its bearings," the young man responded, very seriously. "You must not forget that you are utterly ignorant of my parentage. I may even be the child of some unfortunate woman, that was cast adrift."

"Geoffrey," August Huntress responded, in just as serious a tone, "I confess that such a discovery would pain me exceedingly, but more on your account than my own. The name that I have given you will be sufficient to aid you to an honorable position in the world; it is your character, what you are yourself, that is chiefly to be considered, and I could give you Gladys—providing she was willing to give herself to you—without a demur. Heaven bless you, Geoff. Go, and win your bride, if you can."

He held out his hand as he concluded, and Geoffrey seized it in a transport of joy.

"Uncle August, you are a royal gentleman," he cried earnestly, "and now you have crowned all your past goodness to me with this great, this priceless gift, I am the happiest fellow in Christendom."

"Well, then, don't come to me with any more confessions," returned his companion, jocosely, though there were tears in his eyes. "I declare, my blood actually ran cold when I looked into your solemn face and thought, perhaps, you had been sent home from college in disgrace for some unheard of misdemeanor. Still," he added, more seriously, "I might have known better, for you have been studying too hard to have much time for mischief."

"Indeed, I have; and, Uncle August, I am going to gain my year without any difficulty," the young man said, with shining eyes.

"Well, I like to have you smart, only don't work so hard that you will break down; I'd much prefer to have it take you a year longer to get through than to have you injure your health."

"I shall not; I am as strong as a giant, and now, with this new hope to brighten my life, I believe, I could accomplish almost anything. I want to get through with my course in the next two years, and then I must turn my mind to business, for I have my fortune yet to make, you know."

"Yes, I should advise you to choose something to do when you get through college; it is better for every man to have some business or profession, no matter how much money he may have. I may as well tell you, Geoff, and I do not believe it will do you any harm to know it, that I have made a handsome provision for you, and if you desire to get into something promising by and bye, I shall be glad to anticipate my will and help you do it. I have plenty, my boy," he continued confidentially, "and if it were not for this habit of business that is on me, like a second nature, I might retire and take my ease for the remainder of my life."

"I think you deserve to take your ease," Geoffrey replied; "you at least might have a few years of travel and sight-seeing."

"I should enjoy that if I could do all my traveling by land. I don't take to the water very well, and, perhaps, by the time you and Gladys are through college, we will all like to run about a little. But," he added, looking at his watch, "if you're going on that 9 o'clock train, you will have to be off, and," with a sly smile, "since you are absolved from your sins, you can go with a light heart and an easy conscience."

Geoffrey smiled and flushed.

"I think," Uncle August, I can manage to spare another day," he said, "and if you do not object, I believe I will run over to New York again, and escort Gladys home. She said something about returning today."

August Huntress laughed aloud at this change in the young man's plans.

"You do not intend to lose any time in your wooing, I perceive," he said, then added, more thoughtfully: "As a rule, I should say it was better not to mix love with Latin, Greek, and the sciences; but you and Gladys are so set upon your studies, I imagine it won't hurt you to season them with a little sentiment. Go along, you rogue, and good luck go with you. However, I imagine you need not tremble very much for your fate."

"Do you think that Gladys cares for me?" Geoffrey asked, eagerly.

"Go and find out for yourself. I'm not going to betray any of Gladys' secrets," Mr. Huntress retorted, with an assumption of loyalty, but with such a mischievous gleam in his eyes, that Geoffrey set off for New York with a strangely light heart.

CHAPTER XV.

Arriving at Mr. Loring's, Geoffrey sent his name up to the young ladies, and a few minutes later Gladys came down alone.

How his heart bounded as she came tripping into the room, looking as fresh and lovely as the morning itself.

She was dressed in a morning robe of white flannel, relieved by quilted facings of pale blue silk, and fastened at the waist with a cascade of ribbons of the same hue.

Her hair was carelessly knotted at the back of her head, where it was pinned with a small shepherd's crook of silver, while a few light rings clustered lovingly about her forehead.

In spite of the dissipation of the previous evening, her eyes were bright as stars, her cheeks flushed, and her manner animated.

"Dear old Geoff," she cried, springing forward with a glad smile to meet him, "I imagined you were on your way back to New Haven, to bury yourself in Greek verbs and Latin nouns. What good fairy has sent you here instead?"

"Love!" was on Geoffrey's lips as he gathered both her hands in his, but he restrained the word, and replied:

"Oh, I wanted to have a little talk with Uncle August, and so concluded to remain over another day. I have come to act as your escort home."

"How good of you! I was dreading to go alone."

"How is your friend this morning?"

"Addie? Poor child! she is laid up with a wretched headache; the dancing and excitement were too much for her. Mrs. Loring was obliged to go out early to her dressmaker, and as Addie is compelled to keep very quiet in a darkened room, I was having quite a solitary time of it when you were announced," Gladys explained.

Geoffrey was secretly delighted at this, although very sorry for Miss Loring's indisposition.

The coast was clear, so to speak, for him, and yet, now that everything seemed so propitious for his suit, he almost feared to put his fate to the test.

"I regret your friend's illness," he said, "but you are as bright and fresh as if you had not lost an hour of sleep."

"Yes, I do not feel in the least wearied," Gladys returned, "and I had a most delightful time. But the best of all was to have you there, Geoff. I began to fear my evening was to be spoiled, you were so late."

"Was my presence so necessary to your enjoyment?" the young man earnestly questioned, a quick flush rising to his brow as he searched her lovely face.

"Indeed it was; I had set my heart upon having you here—it was almost my first appearance in society, you know. How did I behave, Geoffrey?—like a novice?" Gladys asked archly.

"No, indeed; you were quite the woman of the world, and entertained your admirers as composedly as if you had been accustomed to such homage for many a season. Do you imagine that you would enjoy a fashionable career?"

"I think I would enjoy social life, to a certain extent, but I would not care to devote all my time to keeping up style, or to live in a fashionable whirl continually," she replied.

"And yet you are eminently fitted for just that kind of a life," Geoffrey said, thinking how few there were who could compare with her.

"How so?" she asked, flushing, slightly.

"You are beautiful and graceful; you have winning manners and a cultivated mind; you would shine anywhere," he answered, an earnest thrill in his voice.

"Flatterer! not one of my 'admirers' last night paid me such a tribute as that," retorted the fair girl, with a merry laugh, "and it is quite unusual, I believe, for one's brother to be so complimentary."

"You forget, Gladys, that I am not your brother," Geoffrey returned, gravely, and wondering that she should have spoken thus, for she had very rarely assumed that there was any kindred tie between them.

She could not have told herself what made her use the word, and she remembered how she had repudiated Mr. Mapleson's assumption of such a relationship, but somehow, though her own heart thrilled to Geoffrey's assertion that he was not her brother, a sort of perverseness took possession of her, and she continued, in the same strain, with a half-injured air and a bewitching pout:

"One would think that you were rejoiced over the fact, to remind me of it in such a way."

"I am rejoiced over the fact."

"Why, Geoff! After all these years!" and Gladys looked up in genuine surprise, for the restraint that he had been imposing upon himself made his tone almost stern.

"Yes; after all these years; Gladys," he went on eagerly, feeling that the supreme moment of his life had come, "can you conceive of no reason why I should be glad? As a boy, before I realized what you would become in the future, I was proud and happy to be allowed the privilege of regarding you as my sister; but as a man I exult in the fact that no kindred ties bind us to each other, for in that case I should have no right to love you as I do, and my life would be bereft of its sweetest hopes."

Gladys darted one quick, searching glance into his face as he uttered these impassioned words; then a burning flush suffused her face, and her eyes drooped in confusion before the ardent light of his.

IN NOVA SCOTIA ANOTHER TRIUMPH

PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN

His Testimony Right to the Point — Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N. S., Nov. 19.—(Special).—No business man is better or more favorably known in this part of Nova Scotia than Mr. John S. Morgan, tinsmith of this town. For eighteen years he suffered from one stage to another in the progress of kidney disease, but without help until he got hold of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He tells the story in his own words, and says:

"It commenced with backache about eighteen years ago, with lameness and pain in my limbs.

"I was under the doctor's care several times, and took several remedies aside from doctor's medicine, but gradually came to be badly crippled up.

"In the autumn of '94 I began to run down in flesh and strength rapidly until I was about 40 pounds under my usual weight.

"I was then in constant misery from rheumatic pain and the dread of passing urine which was of a very dark color and caused me the most intense misery.

"I realized my danger, but, from something I read about Dodd's Kidney Pills I made up my mind to use them, and commenced at once.

"I have used 20 boxes, have regained my weight and I am now as strong and well as ever before in my life.

"When I commenced using Dodd's Kidney Pills I was entirely unfit for the duties or enjoyment of life, and they have saved and prolonged it. I trust my testimony may be the means of doing good to others."

The Crops.

Bulletin Issued by the Ontario Government.

An Enormous Yield of Apples Reported.

Use of Corn for Live Stock—The Wheat Crop—Conditions of Labor.

The Ontario Bureau of Industries has issued its 60th bulletin, containing the final estimate of the yield of crops for the year 1896. The yields are based on actual threshing returns reported to the Bureau of Industries by over 2,000 correspondents. The statistics given in the previous bulletin of Aug. 18, with the exception of those for hay, were estimated probable yields.

THE WEATHER.

In regard to precipitation, that to rainfall and snowfall combined, the six growing months, April to September, were a little over the average. September had a rainfall of 4.47 inches, whereas the average of that month for fourteen years was 2.67 inches. The total precipitation of the ten months, January to October, was 25.24 inches in 1896, 21.61 inches in 1895, and 26.19 inches for 1892-95. Late wheat and oats suffered somewhat from "catchy" weather, and in the county of Brant peas and oats were considerably injured by a hailstorm. Frost caught some clover-seed and late corn, but during the main portion of the harvest the weather was favorable to field work.

THE WHEAT YIELD.

Fall Wheat—There are conflicting reports regarding fall wheat, but the crop may be fairly described as of good quality, although in some localities it was injured while in stacks and in hauling. The yield per acre is light, being only 17.2 bushels. There has been considerable increase in the areas of fall wheat sown this year. While many correspondents speak of a good showing, some complain that there is hardly as much top as usual. A few complain of brown spots, in some instances ascribed to the Hessian fly and in others to lack of rain. Dawson's Golden Chaff, Red Clawson and Manchester appear to be the most popular varieties.

Correspondents have less than usual to say about spring wheat. While the yield is regarded as almost an average, the grain is hardly as plump as was looked for.

OTHER GAINS.

Barley—There was a good yield of barley, but frequent showers at harvest discolored much of the crop. In a few instances some of the grain sprouted. However, a good deal of excellent barley has been saved. In various portions of the Province oats suffered seriously from the attacks of the army worm. The rainy weather at cutting was also injurious to late-sown oats. Rust and smut were more prevalent than usual, and much of the grain has turned out light, although in some sections the crop may be termed first-class in every respect. There has been an average yield of rye, and the grain samples well, while the area has been increased.

PEAS AND CORN.

Peas barely fulfilled the expectations of August. In our present advices references to the "bug" are more frequent, and considerable mildew, which resulted in some of the pods not fully maturing, is also reported. Despite these drawbacks the crop is fully an average one. Reports regarding corn vary with local conditions. In different parts of the Province a portion of the crop was caught by frost, and consequently some of that grown for fodder will be injured. Frost did little damage to the ears, but in many instances these are hardly as plump or as fully matured as usual. The large acreage and the good yield, however, will insure an abundance of fodder, both as stover and silage. Rain at the time of planting hurt beans on low lands, and wet weather at harvesting also did injury. Some sections, however, report good yields, and the return per acre is about an average.

BUCKWHEAT.

What little was grown appears to have done fairly, except where the frost appeared while the grain was filling. A Glengarry correspondent reports that grasshoppers damaged the crop.

Good fields of clover for seed have been the exception. The poor catch of last year and the trying winter have combined to thin the stand, and while there has been a generous growth of stalk, owing to frequent rains since the first cutting, the heads as a rule did not fill out well. The midge has been active, especially in the western part of the Province. Alsike has done better than red clover.

THE ROOT CROP.

In many quarters the crop of potatoes was affected by drouth at the time of planting, but a large number of correspondents say that potatoes have yielded well and are of good quality. Rot was common on low-lying lands, more particularly in some of the Lake Erie counties. In the Georgian Bay group the potato crop is spoken of as an excellent one.

Dry weather at the time of sowing prevented much of the turnip seed from germinating, and the attacks of the grasshopper thinned the plants on many fields. While some correspondents speak of a good yield, the majority of the reports are not so favorable. Correspondents who grow mangels speak well of the crop, and none of the other field roots have done as well. Had they come up evenly the yield would have been an enormous one, but the drought in seeding told against a successful catch.

Carrot seed did not spring up fully on account of dry weather. Many correspondents speak of the crop as a good one, while others claim that it is poor. Like mangels, this crop has been almost free from insect pests.

FARM OPERATIONS.

In many sections fall plowing has been completed, but, taking the Province over, work in this respect is hardly as far advanced as at the same time in previous years. The immense apple crop and the larger area of corn have kept farmers busier than usual this fall, and in the Lake Erie counties especially a good deal of fall plowing had yet to be done as reports came in. With the prospects of open weather before them, correspondents were of opinion that more land than usual would be turned under this fall.

Threshing began earlier than usual this year, and at the time of reporting a very large amount of it appears to have been finished. Very little marketing of grain is reported. Farmers have a large quantity of coarse grains on hand with slight demand. There appears to be hesitation to sell at the prices offered at the beginning of November, but, as some say, something must go, as "the taxes have to be paid."

FARM IMPROVEMENTS.

Underdraining with tile is being carried on as extensively this fall as usual. In some townships a very large amount is being put in, Essex and Kent as usual taking the lead. There is no scarcity of tile. The work is done principally by the farmers themselves, with here and there the help of an "expert." Draining machines are not heard of. In the west the zigzag fence is still being replaced by various kinds of wire fence. Considering the many complaints of the state of affairs there appears to be more building going on than would be expected, but the most frequent remark is, "raising barns and putting stone foundations under the basement."

HELP AND WAGES.

There appears to have been plenty of male help, and the tendency of wages has been downward. The farmers have tried as far as possible to do their work within their own families. Increase of labor-saving machinery has helped them. The complaint as to scarcity of domestic help was quite common; those desirous of that class of work seeking the towns and cities. Wages for this class of work has been somewhat upward.

THE GREAT FRUIT CROP.

The remarks in the August bulletin regarding the great yields of apples are verified by the reports just received. The yield was enormous, the market is glutted, and in many counties, more especially in Western Ontario, thousands of barrels of good apples are going to waste. The average price per barrel paid farmers is from 40 to 60 cents; extra choice bring slightly higher figures, and poorer sorts go lower. For these prices the grower is usually expected to pick the fruit, board the packers, bring in the empty barrels, and carry the filled ones to the station. Some aver that it pays better to feed the fruit to live stock. The codling worm and the canker worm have been reported by a few correspondents, but the bulk of the statements regarding the quality of apples claim that the fruit is remarkably free from worms or other injury. Ice storms last winter and the heavy bearing of this season have caused a good many limbs to break, but fruit trees generally are in good condition. Grape vines made a vigorous growth, and the yield of fruit was abundant.

LIVE STOCK.

As the drought of last summer was very irregular in its distribution the reports as to pasture are varied. In a few townships of the west the grass was short even after the fall rains; in other townships, the reports are that fall pasture was never better. In the east it has been good to excellent. On the whole there has been plenty of good pasture. Stock are in good condition. There appears to be plenty of fodder for winter feeding, an improvement on a year ago. The reports indicate that market supplies will be fairly abundant, but the universal complaint of low prices is again met with here. The lowest record is 1 1-2 cents per pound for cattle, live weight (Renfrew county). Apples have been freely fed to stock, to hogs especially.

Millet and rape have turned out as well as supplementary crops, but mention is made principally of corn, as the most welcome addition to fodders. The effect of instruction is most apparent; farmers are growing their corn in drills in place of broadcast, and are growing the varieties recommended by the officers of the Ontario Experimental Farm and others, who are making special study of corn growing. The varieties are numerous: Mammoth Southern Sweet, Red Cob Ensilage, Compton's Early, Longfellow, etc., are frequently mentioned. Some stock it in the field for winter use; others dry and stand it on end in the barn, and many others store it in the silo. In some sections the silo is increasing in number, in others it is being discarded—opinions differ as to its being more profitable than dry curing. The acreage of corn is certainly increasing more rapidly than the construction of silos.

THE DAIRY.

Dairying began in the spring of the present year under rather depressing conditions; prices were low. In addition many western districts suffered from short pastures, and the low prices and reduced output of cheese factories, caused by a "blue ruin" feeling among many who had hitherto felt that dairying must always boom. Butter production suffered less than cheese. The eastern producers appear to have been, on the whole, more generally satisfied with results. However, dairy prices, especially in cheese, took an upward move in the fall, and the tone at time of reporting was much more confident. Owing to increased prices, over 10 cents a pound, many factories were kept open longer than usual. Reports as to the success of butter-making vary with different townships, much depending upon the local market. Some speak of better prices in 1896 than in 1895; others of lower. On the whole there appears to have been an improvement in the quality of butter. As usual, correspondents differ as to the best dairy cows. "The good old Canadian cow," Durham grades and Ayrshire grades, appear to be the favorites. Very many have strong recommendations for both Jerseys and Holsteins. As for fodder, one man sums it up by saying, "Corn is our mainstay; corn is all the go."

The reports as to bees and honey are on the whole encouraging.

RECALLS THE PAST.

Interesting Old Papers Found in St. Thomas — John Talbot's Exciting Career.

St. Thomas Times: Mrs. Smith, the well-known author, has been in the city for several days, looking up information for a book which she is engaged in writing on the rebellion of '37. In searching for information on this subject Judge Hughes discovered a copy of the file of the old St. Thomas Liberal, from September, 1832, to October of 1833. This was volume 1 of the paper, and the editor at that time was A. B. Lewis. The file is in the possession of W. R. Jackson, a grandson of the first editor of the paper. The possession of the paper was disposed of by Mr. Lewis, and at the time of the rebellion came into the hands of John Talbot, whose treasonable writings caused a warrant to be issued for his arrest, and he was compelled to leave the country. He left this place and reached the home of the late Hooper King, where he secured a horse and rode west till he reached Clear Creek. He left his horse there, and continued on his way westward, and finally, with the assistance of sympathetic farmers, he reached Malden, in Essex county, where he managed to cross the river to Detroit, and became an impoverished refugee. He succeeded in getting in the hands of a number of sympathizers, and remained in the States until the time of his death. Before he became editor of the Liberal, he was a school teacher in London, and was a son of Richard Talbot, an Irish gentleman, who had a large grant of land in the township of London, and settled several immigrants from Tipperary, Ireland. Their descendants are now some of the foremost farmers and residents of London and Biddulph townships, among them being the families of Hodgins, Hasketts, Shoebottoms, Gambles, Stanleys, Howards, O'Neils, Hughes and Smiths.

No matter to what stage the disease may have come, do not despair. The triumphs of Dodd's Kidney Pills have been won in exactly such fights for life.

People make mistakes, and jump to wrong conclusions; doctors themselves don't always know. It is much safer to take Dodd's Kidney Pills than to take chances. Of course these grave cases have simple beginnings, and that is the time that a single box prevents, which is better than curing.

Accidental Death.

Finding of the Jury at the Henry Boyce Inquest.

No One Saw Him Fall or Heard Him Cry.

Verdict Exonerating the Company and Recommending More Protection to Pedestrians.

The evidence taken last night at the inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the death of Henry Boyce, who was killed at the Clarence street crossing of the G. T. R., on Monday evening, threw little light upon the way in which the unfortunate man came to be struck by the engine of the Sarnia mixed. No one saw him fall, nor heard him cry. At the time he was being rolled to a horrible death pedestrians stood not more than 30 feet away, but no one saw him.

George Boyce, son of the deceased, was the first witness called. He said his father had not been at work that day. His father's eyesight was good, but his hearing at times was slightly defective, but not very much so. He had last seen his father alive on Sunday night. His father was a temperate man, of a cheerful disposition, and not at all likely to commit suicide. He was 68 years old.

George Talbot was coming up town on Clarence street at the time. He had helped to take the body to the baggage room, but had not seen the man previously.

George Hull, the night watchman, said he had gone to work at 5:55 that night. He had gone into the signal house to put his lunch away, and when he came out train No. 76 (Sarnia mixed) was coming in. Joseph Allen, his mate, was at the gates. He noticed the train, the trucks of which were just across the sidewalk on the east side of the street. He noticed the crowd that gathered, and, getting his lamp, went over and found the body beneath the train. There were blood marks for six or seven feet west of where the body was found. There were plenty of people passing and repassing at the time.

Joseph Allen, the watchman, had been on duty all day. At five minutes to 6 he had seen the train coming in. His notice was drawn to the train's approach by the ringing of the bell and the blowing of the whistle. He didn't know anything was the matter until his mate asked for the lamp. He was standing near the middle of the crossing. He described the position of the trains. The Stratford train was standing on the second track, clear of the sidewalk, and on the third track was the L. E. and D. R. R. train, headed west. People were passing, and as he lowered the gates he cried, as usual, "Look out, there!" but didn't notice anyone in particular.

Mr. Judd—Were there any signals beyond the ringing of the bell of the engine and whistle?

Mr. Allen—There are red lamps on each side of the gates; both were lighted, and the bell of the gates rang as I lowered them.

To Mr. Taylor he said the nearest electric light was half a block away, at the corner of Bathurst street.

David Burgess, fireman on the engine which struck Boyce, said they had twelve cars and one coach that night. The train was moving slowly at the time, and he was pulling the bell and watching for the signal from the conductor to stop. He didn't notice anything wrong. They were barely moving as they crossed Clarence street. He was watching from the north side of the engine, but did not notice anyone. His evidence regarding the position of the train was the same as the others. Mr. Burgess said blood had been found on the pilot and drive wheels. He accounted for the blood on the pilot by saying that the man had probably attempted to cross and was knocked against the end of the plank crossing, and, being rolled, was mangled to death, the blood spurting over the pilot.

Thomas Coote, the engineer, was looking ahead from the south side, but saw no one. He felt the engine surge while going over the crossing, as though passing over a low joint in the rails. He thought nothing of that, but while he was alighting from the cab a young man, who went away on the Stratford train, ran up and said: "You have run over a man." He had not heard the watchman call out, though the watchman might have done so without his hearing the cry. Mr. Coote's evidence as to the blood and finding of the body was substantially the same as that of the other witnesses.

Wm. Adams and Ray Stevens were called, but knew nothing of the affair. They were in the neighborhood, but had not seen the man fall.

William Jewett, conductor, was examined, but he had been at the end of the train, and had not heard of the accident until an hour afterwards.

Joseph Legg, the brakeman of the front end, was four cars away from the engine at the time, and heard nothing of the accident until a boy told him. The bell had been ringing all the way from the city limits.

Charles Halliday had met deceased early in the day and again at 4:45 in the afternoon at the corner of King and Clarence streets, where they had a conversation about the new car-shops. He had known deceased for 25 years, but did not know his hearing was defective.

George McCullough, a cigarmaker, heard the train come into the yard and waited. He was near the train, but saw no one.

Charles Walsh deposed that he was going south on the east sidewalk, and stood near the passing train. It was too dark to discern anyone. Mr. Boyce could have fallen without being seen by him. Several engine bells were ringing at the time.

The evidence having been all taken, Coroner Ferguson commented upon the lamentable fact that a human life had been lost in the midst of so many pedestrians, and that no one had seen him fall or heard him. It was, he said, for the jury to say how he met his death.

THE VERDICT.

The following verdict was returned after the jury had considered the evidence for about half an hour: "That the said Henry Boyce, on Nov. 16, came to his death accidentally at the Clarence street crossing of the G. T. R., in attempting to pass before a moving train, about 6 p.m., and as far as our information goes, we find no intimation of negligence on the part of the company.

"We are of opinion that Clarence street and other main crossings should have gates across the sidewalk as well as the roadway; and further, that the roadway should be planked from sidewalk to sidewalk.

"We also consider that the railway should provide better lighting for this and other important crossings, the only light at present serviceable being the electric light at the station platform."

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

The Seventh Fusiliers.

How the Battalion Has Been Handicapped.

It Should Be Reorganized and Placed on a Proper Footing.

The Canadian Military Gazette has the following in its latest issue:

The Seventh Battalion, of London, according to Lieut.-Col. Otter, the inspecting officer, will have to improve greatly before it can take its place alongside the other battalions in the country. The inspecting officer, in the course of his remarks at the close of the inspection, commented upon the weak state of the battalion and the lack of military enthusiasm shown by the fact that there was only one officer per company and the battalion reduced to one-third. No doubt, there is a great lack of enthusiasm on the part of the men, and many improvements could be made in the battalion, but when it is known how little encouragement is given, the cause of this want of enthusiasm may be accounted for in no small degree. At all the chief centers the troops have comfortable quarters, easy of access and with every modern convenience for the comfort of the men and for the promotion of efficiency. In London this is not so. The drill shed is not centrally located, and is not a convenient place to get at. It was erected when London was half the size it is now, and is not by any means fitted as a modern armory should be. The late Government spent money on property which should have been spent for the good of the active militia in the city, and for five years spent money in repairing an old building which was supposed to have been used for a military store. Thus money was spent needlessly, and the corps today have to pay the penalty of the Government's policy in directing militia affairs. There is no reason why a battalion like the Seventh should not be able to hold its own with any other battalion, but certainly until the Government take steps to treat them properly, this cannot be accomplished. The regiment requires new life and vigor to bring it up to anything, like what it should be. It should be reorganized and placed on a proper footing. London should have a crack corps, for the material is there for one.
