EVANTUREL RESIGNS HIS SEAT AND FAILED TO FACE HOUSE

—MR. HANNA'S SPIRITED REPLY

Prescott Member Passes From Legislature Without the Promised Fireworks—Provincial Secretary Never Connected With Standard Oil Co.—He Entirely Explodes the Charge.

TORONTO, March 11.—Gustave Evanturel had departed. Expecting shocking revelations that the Prescott member had promised to make in bidding adieu to the Legislature, hundreds of curious individuals crowded the galleries, but Monsieur Evanturel went quietly. He did not put in an appearance in the House and the announcement to the House by the Speaker that he had received the resignation of the member for Prescott was received in silence. The members treated the unsavory incident as closed.

It was some time before the galleries realized that there would be no fireworks. Not understanding procedure, they hung on expecting something to happen every minute, but when the Budget debate was resumed and the "singing round of speeches" under way the crowd began to disperse. At 6 o'clock only a fair number of half-interested spectators remained.

Before the House settled down to making progress upon the Budget debate, Hon. W. J. Hanna rose upon a question of privilege and gave its impetus to the resurrected allegation that he is under retainer from the Standard Oil Co. At his meeting in Prescott, Gustave Evanturel in declaring that he would show up some others in the Legislature who were in the pay of outside interests named Hon. W. J. Hanna as being under retainer from the Standard Oil Co. and yesterday the Toronto Globe repeated the untruth in an editorial.

In a frank statement to the House, the Provincial Secretary vigorously denied that he or his firm had ever received a dollar from the Standard Oil Company and proceeded to explain the exact nature of his legal connection with the Imperial Oil Co. of Sarnia.

Mr. Hanna's Statement.

"With the permission of the House, I wish as a matter of privilege to refer to something that has appeared in the press in the course of the last three or four days," said Mr. Hanna rising. "First it appeared in connection with a report of a meeting in the County of Prescott, and more recently I believe this morning, was repeated in the columns of a news paper that ought to have known better."

"I refer to the statement that I am under retainer from the Standard Oil Company. Ten years ago this month—if my memory serves me right—I made in this House a statement similar to the one that I to-day find it my duty to repeat, and that is this: That never at any time did I or my firm or anyone connected with me receive,

Campaign To Carry By-Law; Meetings Next Week

At a meeting of the railway committee of the City Council yesterday, presided over by Ald. Charlton, it was decided to hold public meetings in all the wards of the city for the discussion of the Street Railway by-law. The Mayor and aldermen and other speakers will explain the details of the by-law and the plans made for the taking over of the road. The widest publicity possible will be given the entire deal. The meetings, which will be held next week, are as follows: Monday night, Dufferin and Ryerson schools; Tuesday, Victoria school; Thursday, Alexandra and King Edward schools. The ratepayers are invited to all the meetings and to take part in the discussion.

MONTREAL GUINMEN SHOT TWO

Caught Robbing Butcher Shop, They Shoot Down Police Officers

Made Good Their Escape in Sleigh—Strong Posse in Pursuit

[By Special Wire to The Courier] MONTREAL, March 11.—The city and in the surrounding suburbs the police are to-day hunting for four burglars who early this morning shot and killed Constable Bourdon and fatally wounded Constable Guyon, who tried to stop them while they were escaping after robbing a butcher shop at St. Laurent. The robbers were a sleigh.

The first abductor was shot in the throat and abdomen and died shortly after his admission to the Royal Victoria Hospital. Constable Guyon, the other victim of the desperadoes' guns, was shot just above the heart, and no hope is held out for his recovery.

BRITAIN CLOSES UP ITS ART GALLERIES AFTER OUTRAGE

Strict Precautions Taken to Stop Further Militant Destructions.

Millions of Dollars Worth of Pictures Will be Closed In.

(Special to The Courier) LONDON, March 11.—The outrage committed by the militant suffragette May Richardson, on the famous Velasquez painting, known as the "Rokeby Venus," in the National Gallery, will bar tourists from seeing many of England's art treasures during the coming season.

The Lord chamberlain to-day announced that the state apartments in Windsor Castle would be closed "until further orders." A similar notice was issued by the trustees of the National Gallery and of the celebrated Wallace Art Collection, Kensington Palace and Hampton Court Palace, which are visited yearly by thousands of foreigners, also closed their doors to the great exhibit of Oriental porcelains, bronzes and miniatures, valued at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, bequeathed to South Kensington Museum in 1909, by the late George Salting, a Danish collector, has been locked up.

The custodians of all public art treasures were to-day in a state of panic, as heretofore every fresh suffragette demonstration has been followed by imitations, and there is apprehension that other women armed with hatchets may be abroad. Large forces of special guards have been placed on patrol duty in the British and South Kensington museums, where they kept close watch to-day.

One Hundred Rescuers Work On the Debris

[By Special Wire to The Courier] ST. LOUIS, March 11.—More than 100 men to-day began digging away the ruins of the Missouri Athletic Club, under which lie buried twenty to thirty live bodies of members who lost their lives in the fire which destroyed the seven story building Monday morning. The bodies were found yesterday and the day before.

At the same time investigations into the causes of the fire were opened by a coroner's jury and a joint committee from both branches of the Municipal Assembly.

Fire officials and the building commissioner declare they warned the club management that the building was a fire trap, but that suggested improvements were not made.

BRITISH OFFICERS KILLED BY FALL FROM A MACHINE

Hurled to the Plain From High Altitude When Aeroplane Suddenly Collapsed.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] SALISBURY, Eng., March 11.—Two more officers of the British army flying corps were killed here to-day, Captain C. R. W. Allen, of the Welsh Regiment and Lieut. J. F. G. Burroughs of the Wiltshire Regiment, while flying over the military aerodrome on Salisbury Plain, were hurled to the ground from a high altitude, owing to the collapse of their aeroplane.

The cause of the accident was the breaking of the rudder bar of a government built biplane, piloted by Captain Allen, who was carrying Lieut. Burroughs as a passenger.

Brigands Loose In Chinese City Secure Loot

[By Special Wire to The Courier] PEKING, China, March 11.—Brigands to-day sacked and burned the city of Lap Ho-Kow, killed Dr. T. Froyland, a Norwegian missionary, and wounded several others including Rev. O. M. Sama, another Norwegian.

A force of from 400 to 500 of the brigands obtained entrance to the city by means of treachery from within. The brigands then plied torch and sword all round. They burned down the Asiatic Petroleum and other buildings, and looted the British and American Tobacco Company's premises. Afterward they proceeded to the arsenal where they secured 700 rifles, several field guns and much ammunition.

Two thousand coolies were impressed by the brigands to carry off their loot.

POGGENBURG WINS.

NEW YORK, March 11.—J. F. Poggenburg of the Liederantz society of this city, holder of the amateur billiard championship title, won the second game of the international amateur 18.2 ball tournament here yesterday, his opponent being Eugene L. Mitburn, of Memphis, Tenn., who made his first appearance in the Class A ranks for national honors. Poggenburg's score was 400; Mitburn, 360.

Representatives of the iron industry asked Parliament, through Mr. J. J. Carrick, for aid by bounties. Hon. W. T. White, Finance Minister, promised further consideration.

House of Commons Discusses Action

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LONDON, March 11.—The closing of public art galleries on account of outrages by militant suffragettes was the subject of a question in the House of Commons to-day. Reginald McKenna, Home Secretary, in reply, promised to confer with the authorities in order to see whether it was not possible to arrange for efficient police protection so as to avoid the complete closure of public institutions. It was pointed out that in addition to the palaces of Windsor, Kensington, Hampton Court and Holyrood, the closure affects, besides the National Gallery, the Wallace Art Collection, the National Portrait Gallery, and others.

HOME RULE DEADLOCK LOOKS COMPLETE—GENERAL ELECTION MAY BE ONLY WAY OUT OF CRISIS

Premier Asquith and Ministers Hold Conference With Nationalists—Cable News From England Concerning the Home Rule Situation To-day is None Too Reassuring.

LONDON, March 11.—The offer of Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader to submit the government's proffered concessions in connection with Home Rule to an Ulster convention provided no limitation was placed on the period of exclusion of the Ulster counties was the subject of a length conference between cabinet ministers and Nationalist leaders to-day. The party gathered at the Premier's official residence in Downing street, comprised besides Premier Asquith, Augustine Birrell, secretary of state for Ireland, David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, John Dillon and other prominent Nationalist members.

The concessions offered to the Unionists by Premier Asquith on Monday comprised an offer that before the Home Rule bill for Ireland became operative, a poll should be taken of the nine counties of Ulster to decide whether there should be an exclusion of those counties from the provisions of the bill for a period of 6 years from first meeting of the new Irish parliament. If the majority of the voters was in favor of this scheme, the county would automatically be excluded for the prescribed period.

A Deadlock Ensues.

NEW YORK, March 11.—A cable to The Tribune from London says: It has been arranged that the second reading of the home rule bill shall be taken on March 30, and as an opposition amendment is certain to be moved, Premier Asquith, Mr. Bonar Law and Sir Edward Carson will be able to speak again on the subject of the government's change of plan.

The white paper promised by Premier Asquith was circulated yesterday, but it gives no details whatever, and, indeed, is less explicit than the Premier's speech of Monday. Though consols rallied sharply yesterday, the position is anything but reassuring, and a general election may yet be the outcome of the present deadlock.

There is a vague feeling in Liberal quarters, however, that a settlement may yet be reached. The supporters of Edward Carson's speech on Monday was distinctly conciliatory, but the Irish Unionists declare that those who take that view fail to realize the gravity of the position. It is beyond doubt that the opposition cannot accept Premier Asquith's offer and nothing heard in the lobby yesterday suggests that the government will make any further advance. Even if willing to abolish the time limit, the Nationalists would refuse their consent as any further concession would seriously weaken Mr. Redmond's position in Ireland.

Caught Robbing Butcher Shop, They Shoot Down Police Officers

Made Good Their Escape in Sleigh—Strong Posse in Pursuit

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LINDSAY, Ont., March 11.—John Madison, a local hack driver, with his baby daughter, Mary were fatally burned in their home on James Street last evening between 9 and 10 o'clock. Madison arrived home at 9 o'clock in a drunken condition, and in attempting to light his pipe, while lying on a pile of rags upstairs, the loose paper or drapery ignited. The fire spread rapidly, and although Mrs. Madison made every effort to subdue the flames, they completely enveloped her husband as well as the four children. She carried two of them downstairs while her daughter, Emma, rescued another. A neighbor found Madison in a stupor and carried him down stairs. He was terribly burned about the body and was taken to Ross Hospital, where he died at 4 o'clock this morning. Mary Madison, aged between 1 and 2 years, died of her injuries at 7:30 this morning at the hospital, and little Willie and Jack Madison were so badly burned that there is little hope for their recovery. The house sustained very little damage.

The funerals of Madison and his little daughter, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

DRUNKEN MAN AND DAUGHTER PERISH IN FIRE

Lindsay Has Sad Tragedy—Two Other Children Badly Burned

Steps To Present the Sale of Horse Meat in Canada

[By Special Wire to The Courier] OTTAWA, Ont., March 11.—Samples of sausages seized in Hanford and sent here last week for analysis by the inland revenue department, have been found to contain a preservative in the form of sodium sulphid. As there is a possibility of this proving injurious to health, steps will be taken to prevent its use. The department is also considering regulations to prevent the sale of horse meat in Canada in view of the establishment of such a business ostensibly for export purposes at Longueuil, Que.

GOVERNMENT TO PAY DEPOSITORS

Farmers Bank Investors Will Get a Dollar for Every Dollar Deposited

[By Special Wire to The Courier] TORONTO, March 11.—Depositors with the Farmers Bank will heat with joy the good news from Ottawa that there are assurances that they will get dollar for dollar from a sympathizing country. This was the news which reached here yesterday via W. C. Mickel, K. C., of Belleville, who has been laboring about the Parliament buildings at Ottawa on behalf of those who have suffered loss by reason of the collapse of the bank.

The news came as somewhat of a surprise to A. W. Laidlaw, who has been very active in the interests of depositors and shareholders.

"We did not expect that the matter would be touched till the budget speech" was off the mind of the minister," he remarked.

The total deposits with the Farmers Bank when it closed its doors amounted to $1,500,000. The capital stock of $970,000 was distributed among 803 shareholders, who have faced the prospect of not only losing their stock, but having to put up the double liability. The recouping of the depositors by the Dominion will mean that the shareholders will be relieved of a heavy load.

REFUSE TO CENSURE THE CHANCELLOR

British House Votes Down a Resolution Attacking Lloyd George.

LONDON, March 11.—The House of Commons last night by a vote of 304 to 240 refused to pass what virtually was a vote of censure on David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer. The resolution was proposed by Sir John S. Randles, Unionist member for Manchester, North-west, who moved that "the House contemplates with regret the repeated inaccuracy of the Chancellor of the Exchequer and his gross and unfounded attacks upon individuals."

As brought out in the debate the individuals chiefly concerned in the resolution are titled Conservative landowners with whom Mr. Lloyd George got into controversy in his land campaign speeches.

A Tragic Sequel To Congratulations

British Aviation is Still in a Very Dangerous Experimental Stage.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LONDON, March 11.—In recording the three fatalities to British army aviators within two days, the London newspapers say they make a tragic sequel to the congratulations expressed to the country last week by Col. Seeley, secretary for war, on the fact that no deaths of army aviators had occurred within a year. The secretary for war attributed this record to the superior safety of British aeroplanes, and declared that flying was now as safe, or safer than voyages in submarines.

The recent flying exploits of Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, are the subject of much criticism, on the ground that a cabinet minister has no right to go to Ottawa soon for the rest of his session.

Line Thro' City

Railway Committee at Ottawa Reports on C. N. R. Proposal for line in Brantford.

OTTAWA, March 11.—The railway committee of the commons yesterday morning first considered the bill to extend the time for the construction of the Toronto, Niagara and Western railway. The company, which first got its charter in 1913, proposes to build a line of railway from Toronto to Hamilton passing through the counties of York, Peel, Halton and Wentworth, thence to some point on the international boundary at or near Grand Island or the town of Niagara Falls. It is also proposed to build a line to St. Catharines, passing through Thorold to Port Colborne, and from a point near Hamilton through Brantford, Woodstock, London and Chatham to Windsor.

The bill was reported.

Renewed Policy.

The city has renewed the fire insurance policy on the ambulance for one year at a cost of $10.99.

Unemployed May Give Up Pilgrimage

[By Special Wire to The Courier] SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 11.—"General" Kelly's proposed march to Washington, D.C., with an "army" of unemployed men, may be abandoned according to reports to-day. Of the 17,000 men driven from this city across the Sacramento river into Volcano county by the authorities on Monday, 600 have deserted. With "General" Kelly, the leader and his lieutenants in jail charged with vagrancy laws the men are losing interest in the trip and there is now talk of abandoning it. The question of what action may be taken to get the men away from this part of the country has not yet been decided.

Sacramento continues under a semblance of martial law, the saloons having been closed again last night soon after dark.

ANOTHER ARSON SQUAD NOTTINGHAM, Eng., March 11.

A militant suffragette "arson squad" during the night set fire to and destroyed all the buildings belonging to the town corporation at Balcoote, six miles northeast of this city. The loss is estimated at many thousands of dollars. The usual suffragette literature was found strewn about the vicinity.

ST. KITTS MAN KILLED ST. CATHARINES, Ont., March 11.

John Belton, 51 years of age, a lifelong resident of St. Catharines, was instantly killed by the Grand Trunk flyer near 12 Mile Creek last night and his body was cut in two.

Felix Diaz At Capitol

He is Said to be Figuring on a Counter Revolution in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—General Felix Diaz, the man who helped Huerta overthrow and later fled from Mexico under protection of the United States, returned here to-day with a party of Mexicans and Americans interested in Mexico. They prepared to issue a statement later in the day of their purposes.

From what was told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last week by Pedro Del Vilar, who accompanied Diaz to-day, the purpose of the Diaz adherents is to restore peace in Mexico by a plan that would recognize neither Huerta or Carranza, or Villa. Senators said sanction had been asked for a counter revolutionary movement.

Members of the party to-day accompanying Diaz denied that they wished the help of the United States in an armed revolution. They said they did not know whether they would appear before the committee again or concentrate their efforts on getting a hearing at the state department. General Diaz, it was said, met with Senator Root last week in Washington and also Senator Faller, explaining his purposes to them. Senator Shively, acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, said to-day that while the Mexicans had given the committee some interesting information, no sanction or approval had been given to any revolutionary movement.

HON. PUGSLEY BETTER

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 11.—The Hon. William Pugsley arrived home to-day from Newgate. While not fully recovered Mr. Pugsley said he felt very much better and planned on going to Ottawa soon for the rest of his session.

SOME SHORT COATS HAVE A DASHING, MILITARY SUGGESTION

Over a trotteur frock of white tango crepe, this little jacket, in a vivid shade of red, is most effective. The coat has a soldierly suggestion with its trimming of white and red braid and the crossed belt with its oblique line from the side downward at back and front of the coat is most interesting. White silk embroidered gloves, a hat of red hemp with a pink feather, a parasol of post impressionist silk in red, black and dull green, and smart buttoned walking boots complete this Riviera costume.

Evening of Plays Proved a Fine Event at the Y.W.C.A. --Clever Talent on Stage

Three little playlets or sketches were the subjects dealt with by the operatic and dramatic talent of the Y. W. C. A. Literary club before a large and attentive audience at the Victoria Hall last night. The success of the evening was undoubted from the opening when the philosopher sat in the orchard with his open book, to the close when George Fielding and Clara Manners discover that they have been trying to deceive one another. It was a triumph for artists and directors. The opening playlet, "The Philosopher in the Apple Orchard," dealt with the dilemma of a girl who cannot decide a love problem. She is loved in one instance, but loves not, and in the one which concerns the philosopher, she loves but is not loved. She presents the problem to him for his solution, and after many incidents, the meaning of which an ordinary man would not have failed to construe, he unwittingly decides against himself, and she leaves to follow his advice whilst he soliloquizes and thinks he has given the correct answer. As the love-torn girl, Miss Evelyn Buck was excellent. Upon her actions, her gestures and looks rested the whole success of the piece and she did not fail. Mr. A. M. Dunstan made an admirable philosopher, who was so deeply interested in his researches that he had no thought of love, and, therefore, failed to interpret the unmistakable signs of the girl. A bouquet rewarded the efforts of Miss Buck.

An interesting social problem was dealt with in the second playlet, "A String of Pearls." Ethel Madison, an eldest daughter entertains modern ideas of receiving guests, especially one in particular, which are not shared by her old fashioned daddy. An admirer Mr. Anthony Waterbury (Mr. J. H. Teyers), is coming to visit Ethel (Miss Gretchen Dunstan), and with the aid of her sister Peggy (Miss Irene Todd), she plans to have a French maid to usher Anthony into the room in proper style. A string of pearls is the price of the masquerade, and as the pearls were not handed over, Peggy causes some trouble and eventually, Anthony is made aware of the facts. He smiles at the deception and declares that in future only one person will be good enough to open the door. She understands and assents. The difficult role of the discontented elder daughter could not have been placed in more capable hands than those of Miss Dunstan, whilst Miss Irene Todd has a distinctly pleasing stage presence and her double role made demands which she fulfilled to the letter. As the "irritable and perhaps rather hard father," Mr. A. M. Dunstan excelled even himself. Hannan, the old and trusted servant was given a faithful characteristic personification by Mrs. D. L. Wright. Her mannerisms were perfect. Mr. Anthony Waterbury, the esteemed admirer of Ethel, as rendered by Mr. J. H. Teyers, could not be improved upon, whilst Miss Leone Park made an ideal Aunt Phoebe. The entire sketch was perfectly acted throughout, and everybody upon the stage was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet. The final sketch concerns an amusing incident during the course of a dance given in a lunatic asylum. Two guests meeting each other in a secluded room each imagine that the other is an inmate of the institution and each endeavors to humor the other causing a most clever comedy, till at last the lady drops a card which leads to the identity of both being established to the other's satisfaction amidst much merriment.

A very stately minuet opens the scene and the guests who took part were Misses Buck, Watts, Wilkes and K. Buck, Messrs Dunstan, Dunmore, Cockshutt and Watson. The effect was very pretty and picturesque, and a tribute is due to the dancers for the graceful execution of the oldtime minuet. When they retire from the room George Fielding (Mr. A. J. Feldkamp), enters, shortly followed by Clara Manners (Mrs. George D. Watt), and the comedy commences. There was a great deal of scope for the ability of both participants and that scope had the effect of bringing to the fore the great versatility of both Mr Feldkamp and Mrs. Watts. The comedy was an unqualified success and brought to an end one of the most delightful and successful evenings promoted by the Literary club. Bouquets were handed up in profusion at the conclusion of the sketches and Miss Cora Gould, whose work as supervisor, helped in no small way the success of the effort, received a number in appreciation of her services.

Enjoyable Dance

Fun and merriment reigned supreme, as about twenty young people of Eagle Place wended their way to wards Newport, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler. As there was no sleighing the jolly crowd made the trip on wheels, which added to the merriment owing to the rough condition of the roads. Arriving at the home of Mr. Wheeler they were made as much at home as possible. The evening was spent in games and cards, while one room was reserved for those who delight to trip the light fantastic.

Lunch was served to the ravenous crowd of merry-makers, which was followed by another hour of pleasure. The jolly crowd returned to the city at a late hour, after voting the evening a very pleasant and delightful one.

House of Refuge

An Explanation re Books is Made To-day by the Chairman, Aid. Ward.

In regard to the House of Refuge books, and the reported muddle the same were in, Aid. Ward, chairman of the board, issued a further explanation in regard to the matter this morning. Said Aid. Ward: "As far as the finances are concerned, there hasn't even been a suggestion made that anything is amiss. It is simply a case of bookkeeping, the secretary having got behind owing to pressure of his own business, and to not having any assistance. The books are being put in shape for the auditors. Every member of the board is cognizant of the situation, and Mr. Houlding is not blamed in the slightest, as with his knowledge of county affairs, and being a practical man, he is regarded as most capable to fill the position."

Mr. Gustave Eventurel resigned his seat in the Legislature.

A KISSING RIOT THREATENS DELHI

Both Mayor Walker and His Rival, Hank Spellingman Are Suspended.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The Telegraph's despatch from Delhi, Texas, this week, is as follows: "The Women's Betterment league is indignant. The organization, which is composed of matrons and elderly maids, met at Beautiful Vine hall yesterday afternoon and formally protested to the city council against a scheme the musical company called 'The Cutie Chickies' is using to get advertisement for the show's appearance here next Thursday night. The management caused the following advertisement to be placed in the Bazaar last Friday: "Miss Raffles is coming to town to-morrow. Any man who recognizes her will be given two seats to the performance of 'The Cutie Chickies' if he kisses her and yells 'I've got you, Miss Raffles!' Don't forget the kiss—she won't care." A picture of the girl, partly masked with the advertisement. Saturday the depot was thronged with men in all walks of life. According to the league protest, many were staid fathers and husbands. They all said however, that they were there to meet business acquaintances. Last night an unusual number of men were noticed on the streets, and Constable Brown reported seeing several young women kissed. Mayor Walker patrolled the main thoroughfares giving as his reason that he wished to see that Delhi citizens did not overstep the bounds of propriety. Several Delhi girls, report being kissed. One, Miss Wizeezy Wilkins, says the man had whiskers much like the mayor's. The league fears a riot of osculation. They ask the council to order the "Raffles" scheme halted. Mayor Walker said to-day that he didn't see how the city officials could stop the scheme. "I do not think the members of the league are in any danger," he said. Mrs. Spellingman, president of the league, says the mayor is not fit to hold his position. However, Hank Spellingman, her husband, was seen on the street last night. The whole town is talking. There is much indignation. Inspected Headgates. Chief Engineer Mountain of the Board of Railway Commissioners, was in the city yesterday en route to Galt and in company with Mr. Kellett of the L. E. and N., and City Engineer T. Harry Jones, looked over the work of the L. E. and N. at the headgates.

Official Visit at Brant Lodge

D. D. G. M. Kilgour of Hamilton Was Here Last Night

Brant lodge, A.F. & A.M. had a most successful meeting last night, on the occasion of the official visit of Rt. W. Bro. Charles S. Kilgour, District Deputy Grand Master of the Hamilton district. He was accompanied by about fifty Hamilton brethren, including several distinguished members of Grand Lodge. The officers of Brant lodge exemplified the first degree in a creditable manner, and the report of the district secretary showed that the affairs of the lodge were managed in a very capable way. A pleasing feature of the evening was a presentation of a past master's jewel to W. Bro. G. H. Ryerson, the immediate past master of Brant lodge. The presentation was made by Rt. W. Bro. Kilgour on behalf of Brant lodge, in a very felicitous manner, and Bro. Ryerson replied in terms of keen appreciation. In the banquet hall a tasty supper was served, after which an excellent program of speech and song was provided. The chief speakers of the evening were Rt. W. Bros. Kilgour, Logan and Wardrup, and W. Bros. Perry and McClement of Hamilton, and W. Bros. Shepherd of Lynden, McGregor of Caledonia and McKenzie of Toronto. The musical numbers were well received and included a violin solo by Master E. Gamble, and vocal solos by Messrs E. Roberts, W. Burton, T. Southworth, Mr. J. R. Cornelius acted very efficiently as accompanist.

This Thursday and Friday will be meetings at Falkland Pererson School house to propose of organizing an egg. ORGANIZE FOR GENERAL GOOD

Live Merchants' Associations
Needed by Communities.

CO-OPERATION IS NECESSARY

How to Hold Local Patronage Despite the Aggressive Assaults of Mail Order Houses—"Special" Days a Splendid Scheme That is Productive of Excellent Results.

The community which does not organize for the general good of its citizens is in a precarious state, as organization accomplishes everything when it is perfect. It unites the community by one of the strongest of all ties—the desire of improving every citizen's condition.

Co-operation accomplishes everything when it is perfect. It satisfies desires, simplifies needs, furzees the wishes and becomes a constant source of benefit.

Men's hearts ought not to be set against one another, but set with one another and all against the community evil.

Unites by Strongest Tie. Co-operation tends to wear off those prejudices which maintain destruction and animosity between business interests.

It softens and polishes the manners of men. It disposes them to peace by establishing in their community an order of citizens bound by the ties of public welfare.

Live merchants' associations, live individual merchants with inventive minds, can do much toward regaining and holding the farmers' patronage now being sought and fought for by the aggressive mail order houses. All of the merchants of a town or county co-operating as members of the right kind of an association can accomplish much to the general benefit of all concerned in the solution of the retail mail order problem.

Must Conserve All Interests.

Too many combinations of merchants fail because too often they are gambling their loss sight of the law of mutual benefit and seek to advance the selfish interests of the merchants alone at the expense of their customers.

To be permanent and beneficial, it seems to me, a merchants' association should combine itself in devising ways in its own town. Efforts in that direction, of course, cannot be continually successful unless the interests of consumers are also conserved.

Law of Mutual Benefit.

But, starting with the fact that both farmer and townsman are interested in making the town and country mutual benefit, we have the law of association that would be powerful in convincing all the people of the section that "it pays to keep your money at home."

Getting farmers to town, it seems to me also, is the most important field of a merchants' association or "bargains" and having "specials" or "bargains" for getting them into the stores is the field of the merchant's individual efforts within which he should retain every bit of his liberty to act.

Many Merchants Offer Prizes.

In many parts of the country the merchants' associations have established what they call "carrot days," or "county court days," or "fair days," or "market days," and on these days each merchant advertises that he will give prizes for the largest number of eggs brought to his store, or for the best roll of butter, or for the best bushel of potatoes.

There are many other legitimate schemes which may be used to create interest and draw the people to his store.

Sometimes several merchants offer prizes of the same kind of produce, and this stimulates interest and results in sharper competition.

On these "special" days the merchants often arrange to have an expert auctioneer on hand to sell any kind of secondhand machinery or farm utensils, household goods, horses, cattle, etc., on a commission basis. If sales are made the auctioneer receives 5 per cent; if no sales are made there is no expense incurred.

Wonderfully Helpful.

Propositions of this character are wonderfully helpful in bringing people to town, and when they get to town it is a comparatively easy matter to interest them in something they need.

These "special" days, however, must be arranged to correspond with the periods of farm work.

For instance, it would be useless to arrange such days when the farmer is in the midst of planting or harvesting.

Durham County Temperance Alliance decided to enter on a campaign for the Canada temperance act of the temperance workers of Northumberland county will join in the campaign.

NOTICE!

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a proposed By-law to provide for the purchase by the Corporation of the City of Brantford of the undertaking, franchises, property, rights, privileges and assets of the Grand Valley Railway Company within the limits of the City of Brantford and the Counties of Brant and Waterloo upon the terms of a contract to be entered into for a contract in accordance with the provisions of the offer of purchase made by the Municipal Council thereof to the Receiver and Bondholders of the Grand Valley Railway Company, will be submitted for approval to the electors of the City of Brantford, qualified to vote on By-laws for the purpose of creating debts.

The amount of the debt intended to be created by said By-law is $270,000 to provide the purchase money for said railway and to provide monies for the purchase of new equipment and for the reconstruction and extension of parts of said system. The said railway system will be purchased subject to a charge or mortgage of $125,000, being the amount of the first mortgage bonds now outstanding thereon.

The debt to be created by the By-law shall be repayable in thirty years and the debentures to be issued thereunder shall be issued for said period and the sum of $4,814 shall be raised annually for the payment of the debt and the sum of $12,150 for the payment of interest, making in all the sum of $16,940 to be raised annually on all the rateable property in the said City of Brantford by special rate.

TAKE NOTICE that the above is a synopsis of the proposed By-law and that if the assent of the electors is obtained to it, it will be taken into consideration by the Council of the City of Brantford after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication thereof, which date is the 25th day of February, 1914.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that any tenant that desires to vote must deliver to the Clerk not later than the seventh day before the day appointed for taking the vote on the said By-law, a declaration provided for by sub-section 2 of section 265 of the Municipal Act, 1913.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the votes of the electors qualified to vote on By-laws for creating debts will be taken on the said By-law on Monday the 23rd of March, 1914, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the following polling places, and by the following deputy returning officers, namely:—

PARIS, March 11.—The "Social Survey" of Paris will take place on Saturday afternoon of this week. The canvassers will meet in the Baptist church on Thursday evening and receive full instructions from Mr. A. W. Forgie of Toronto. As the work is in the best interests of the town it is hoped that every family will cooperate by giving all the desired information.

This Thursday and Friday there will be meetings at Falkland and McPerson School house for the purpose of organizing an egg circle. Mr. Schuyler, District Representative, and Mr. Stewart of the Live Stock branch Ottawa, will address the meetings.

The Streets and Sidewalks inspector, with a gang of men are busy thawing out all drains and culverts in anticipation of the spring break-up. Broomball is the popular sport here just now. On Monday night the married men and bachelors played a tie game, three all. The game affords more amusement to the spectators than anything yet devised.

The L. E. and N. Railway is bringing the steel down to the end of their track to build the bridge over the Brantford road.

Mr. Laskey is again able to take charge of his business after an illness of four months.

WHAT CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT.

The enthusiasm which has been recently manifested throughout this continent for the teaching of what is called sex-hygiene is sometimes more boisterous than intelligent. It is undoubtedly a fact that many parents neglect to teach their children some of the most necessary things for them to know during the critical period of adolescence.

WOULD HAVE NEW CITY HALL NEAR THE BELL MEMORIAL

Dunnington-Grubb Points Out Splendid Location for a City Hall—Many Important Features of Improvements Are Discussed.

The Civic Improvement Society last night held a very enthusiastic and largely attended meeting in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. Mr. Dunnington-Grubb, city improvement engineer, was the chief speaker of the evening, illustrating his talk on civic improvements with lantern slides of drawings made by himself and views collected from all over the world.

Mr. Grubb's talk last night was interesting in more ways than one. It showed the results of a long hard term of study and planning, and the speaker explained the various drawings which he has made, clearly demonstrating that he is a man who knows every inch of the territory and the work he is doing. Mr. Grubb's work is far from being complete. In fact he does not expect to have a full report to furnish the Parks Board until about April, when he will explain fully all his proposed improvements which will, if followed out, make the city of Brantford one of the most beautiful and up to date cities on the continent.

Mr. Grubb's work covers every department of civic improvement, from street planning to the housing question, which will ultimately bother the city fathers.

Those in attendance last night were greatly enthused over Mr. Grubb's talk, and everyone spoke highly of the great work he has accomplished. Mr. Grubb is not planning expensive or elaborate improvements to the city, but practical methods which will greatly facilitate every department of the city. He does not think that Brantford is a badly laid-out city, but in fact very good, the only criticism being in the width of the streets.

The Meeting.
Mayor J. H. Spence occupied the chair, and expressed his regret at the comparatively small attendance, but said he was sure those who were there would reap benefit from Mr. Dunnington-Grubb's remarks.

Mr. Dunnington-Grubb, the speaker of the evening, was then introduced. Mr. Grubb, in opening, said he would speak on three subjects, town planning, street planning and park planning. Brantford, which is a growing city and needs new traffic regulations. In his stay in this city, Mr. Grubb stated that he had made a special notice that new bridges will have to be built over the Grand river. We haven't much money to spend on these bridges and therefore we must well laid out, and the only criticism he could give it was the overabundance of shade trees. He said the trees which are there now will never be able to be developed, as they are too crowded. He suggested that the flower beds in Victoria park be filled up with flagstones and that the present walk be paved.

Alexandra Park as a suburban park, was not as ideal in its layout as Victoria Park. He suggested a fountain in the park and a more restful looking garden than we have now.

As a city park the speaker thought that Mohawk Park with a lot of improvements could be made an ideal city park.

He said he hoped that some day the city would become owners of that park so that it might be improved and made an ideal city park.

Public Buildings.
Mr. Grubb then took up the question of public buildings. The time is coming when the city will require more public buildings than the city hall and he thought that a site should be selected that will be central.

West Street is one of the city's main thoroughfares. The Grand Trunk station is well situated. He proposed new main street from the Grand Trunk station to West Brantford.

He suggested that the site of the new city hall be selected near the Bell memorial. He said the objection would be made that that site would be too far away from the central part of the city, but he said he did not think it was. Toronto City Hall is just as far from the centre of the city and he thought that the public buildings should be grouped around the Bell memorial as that will make an ideal central square.

In the development of West Street the speaker suggested a number of changes such as making a park at the Gore at West street with a subway under to connect the G. T. R. with the street.

He proposed that the city purchase the land surrounding the Bell Memorial and in so doing it would increase the value of the land surrounding.

Frank Cockshutt.
The meeting was thrown open for views of anyone in attendance and Mr. Frank Cockshutt spoke a few words which were in accordance with Mr. Grubb's plans. He was thoroughly in accordance with the proposed City Hall site on West street and the improving of the Bell Memorial.

"West street" said Mr. Cockshutt, "must be made wider because it is one of the greatest traffic streets in the city." In following Mr. Grubb's plans the city would make West Street one of the finest streets in this province. It is the duty of the people of Brantford to beautify this city to the best of their ability. He highly commended Mr. Grubb's plans and he thought that they should be given the best consideration by all the people and adopted where they see fit.

C. H. Waterous.
Mr. Waterous said he thought the citizens of Brantford owed Mr. Grubb and the Parks Board a hearty vote of thanks for the preparation of the plans. He thought that the work should be started in this generation so that the younger generation could carry on the work.

T. H. Preston.
Mr. Preston expressed himself as being heartily in accordance with the proposed plans and assured Mr. Frank Cockshutt that the citizens would stand behind him and the Parks board in the proposed plans for the ever troublesome question of the retaining of the market.

Mr. Joseph Ham.
Mr. Ham said he was in thorough accordance with the plan of the proposed city hall. He said that a number of citizens would have to take hold of the matter and look after it.

Mr. C. A. Waterous asked what other steps were proposed to follow these plans.

Mr. Grubb replied that he hoped to have a report made by the middle of May in which he would recommend various phases of improvement.

Ice Plant Knocked.
In last night's Courier the statement was made regarding the proposed erection of an ice plant on Oxford street dumping grounds and Mayor Spence in discussing the article said he could assure the people of Brantford that there will be no ice plant erected on that site.

Mayor Spence said that the only objection he could raise to Mr. Grubb's report was that the eastern part of the city was slighted a little and he thought that as the East Ward is a strong voting section that it should receive some consideration.

In closing the meeting Mr. Frank Cockshutt said that before Mr. Grubb's report was adopted expert opinion from outside cities should be received and then put before the people for their consideration and adoption.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE FASHION DISPLAY Won Words of Approval From All!

If the interest manifested in this opening display of the Spring styles is to be taken as an indication of business, we prophesy one of the most successful seasons we have ever experienced! For the past two days the store was thronged with enthusiastic women, and the expressions of delight that were overheard assured us of the entire success of this Formal Exhibition.

The new Spring styles are here in magnificent completeness from which nothing worth while has been omitted

- Tailored Suits—It's the return of the picturesque, the frivolous, yes, but the woman who likes something simple need not fear but that she can get it. Here to-day, for instance, are suits with least possible trimming and not extreme in cut, and yet with any amount of style.
- Novelty Suit, in navy blue wool crepe, tiered style of skirt, fancy draped sash of satin on coat, inlaid Roman stripe silk vest, and collar finished with touches of plaited chiffon. Special...$28.50
- A Charming Suit in the new mustard shade of silk and wool crepe, new peg-top style of skirt, coat new drop shoulder, short front with postilion back, fancy made ornaments, touches of hunter's green and lace. Special...$27.50
- Beautiful Model in Rose Bedford Suit, touches of black satin and fancy Roman silk collar. Special...$28.50
- New Combination Suit, Black Silk Moire Coat, with black and white waffle cloth skirt, in tiered style. Very exclusive...$27.50
- Fashionable Coats, taupe moire silk, drop shoulder, with new yoke effect, fancy silk ornaments of self. Price...$22.50
- American Novelty Coat, in tango shade of imported French cloth, Roman crushed collar, kimona sleeves. Price...$16.50
- The New Flare Coat, in bright flame shade, very latest novelty, Roman stripe collar. Special price...$18.50
- Ladies' Coats, in black and white checks, kimona or drop shoulder, trimmed with flame or copenhagen collars and pipings and buttons to match. Prices...$12, $15, $18
- An Attractive Novelty Dress of crinkled silk crepe, in midnight blue, made with double puff skirt, with beautiful sheer vest of white chiffon with black satin girdle. Very smart...$24
- A Charming Novelty Dress of taupe silk crepe-de-chene, made with double tier skirt, waist with large armhole trimmed velvet...$22.50
- Imported Gown of rose wool crepe, made tier front and peg back, collar and girdle of black and white striped velvet...$22.50
- A Copy of Paul Poiret's Latest Creation, navy crepe-de-chene, made with puff all around skirt, waist blouse effect, vest of shadow lace, finished with crushed girdle with one long tab and tassel...$25

Millinery Styles Are Extreme--and Beautiful

Pronounced novelty in shapes and trimming alike is a feature of the new Spring millinery. Of the immense variety of shapes presented, most are small, and many conform to the extreme high-sided idea. Some of the models are little more than skull-turbans, fitting snugly about the head. From present indications, the leadership of ribbon trimmings is assured, while small flowers will be more popular this season than they have been for many years. New effects in ostrich, especially the clipped pom-pom, are featured, while many jaunty quills are used to advantage.

The New Ribbons Are Charming!

- Ribbons are correct this season, and popular, too. They add that touch of distinction to a gown.
- Some of the most attractive weaves are listed here:
- Roman Stripe Ribbons, in corded silk, 2 1/2 inches to 6 inches wide, being used for all kinds of trimming, sashes, bows, girdles, scarfs, etc. All the new shades, including tango. Price a yard...40c to 90c
- Novelty Plaid Silk Ribbons, rich combination of coloring, shades you would never think of putting together, so arranged to be most pleasing to the eye, 7 1/2 inches wide. Price, a yard...$1.25
- Plain Bengaline Silk Ribbon, shades are tango, brown, copenhagen, King's, purple and black. Price, yard...49c
- Fancy Taffeta Silk Ribbons, plain centre, Dresden border one side, and Roman stripe the other, 7 inches wide. Price a yard...85c
- Butterfly and Floral Pattern Taffeta, silk ribbon, 8 1/2 inches wide, pink and blue combination, a very new pattern. Price, a yard...$1.25
- White Corded Silk Ribbon, with red, blue and green stripe at intervals, 5 inches wide. Price yard...75c

MOTOR CYCLIST KILLED A DOG

And He Paid $10 in Police Court For it This Morning—Other Court News.

Wilson Standon was riding a motor cycle along a sidewalk on West Mill street on Sunday morning when a collie dog belonging to J. H. Tyson, who resides on that street, ran out and was killed by the machine. Standon offered to settle up, but Tyson preferred to bring the case before the authorities.

Before Magistrate Livingston, Standon pleaded guilty to riding along the sidewalk, but claimed that the dog was a nuisance and should have been fastened up. He said he had just been down West Mill street to see a chum, and as the road was covered with lumps of ice he rode on the pathway. For this offence he was fined $5. Tyson claimed $25 as the value of the dog, which was a Scotch collie, but the Magistrate thought this was an exorbitant price, as defendant's wife only purchased the animal last September for $10. In order that the charge of killing the dog could be eliminated, the magistrate suggested that $10 would meet the case, and at this price the matter was agreeable to all parties. Tyson wanted some costs for losing a half day's work, but he was told he had been dealt with liberally. Standon signed a cheque for $17.85 and settled everything.

PREFERRED HIS SEAT TO $200 FORFEIT

Member for Montcalm Changed His Mind About Testing Constituency.

OTTAWA, March 11.—Albert Sevigny, of Dorchester, is reputed richer by two hundred perfectly good dollars, lately reposing to the credit of D. A. Lafortune of Montcalm. It will be recalled that during the Chateaugay campaign Lafortune offered to resign his seat and test public opinion. Sevigny took up the challenge, and a forfeit of $200 was posted with the Mayor of St. Antoine Abce. Mr. Lafortune has remained glued to his seat, and the two hundred is now said to have been paid over to the Dorchester member.

Mike O'Neil, the foreigner who assaulted his wife received five lashes at the courthouse this morning. The punishment was inflicted by a strong arm, and unlike the Indian who was recently punished, O'Neil gave vent to howls of pain. The stripes over him were taken to the cells.

Canadian League Meeting.
President T. J. Nelson and Roy Brown of the local ball club have gone to Toronto to-day to attend the schedule meeting of the Canadian League in the Prince George Hotel. Mr. Nelson stated that there would likely be "some fur flying" when the directors get together as there is a lot of dissatisfaction with the proposed schedule.

Rev. R. B. Cochrane, of Woodstock was appointed moderator pro tem.

Secrets of Beauty

Finger Tap Tattoo for Twin Chins

By Maggie Teyte

THE double chin presents a problem which every woman finds herself called upon to solve sometime during her life. It is a problem which must be solved, too, if the semblance of youth, or perhaps, to be more exact, the appearance of a generalness which is the modern demand, is to be met.

Nothing gives so sure a vintage mark to the face as the double chin. It is not obliterated by the most brilliant coloring nor the brightest eyes. It tells with hateful eloquence the story of sagging muscles, which do not come into view until a woman has passed the 30-year limit, the end of age discretion, by modern reckoning.

The beauty specialists offer choice of several modes of reducing this excess of chin, and throw in the comforting information that constant and watchful attention is the price of keeping the drooping fulness at bay.

I think there are comparatively few beauty parlors now where the old-fashioned massage is practiced. The tapping of the skin to restore circulation and exercise the muscles seems to have replaced it. In this way oils and creams and unguents are absorbed by the skin and starved tissues are fed.

How Chin Strap Works. A woman, who is famous in America, London and Paris for her methods, uses some wonderful oils, which are most penetrating, and advises the use of a chin strap, which is to be worn at night and every time you have the chance during the day. This is followed by the use of strapping lotions, which will encourage the flesh to shrink back to its former place and give strength to lax muscles.

There is another similar strap offered by another well known woman, which is made of medicated rubber, excellent both as a reducer and tightener of muscles. While this is being worn perspiration is induced, and the flesh departs quite magically. The removal of the excess flesh in this way is about getting rid of too much chin. If the work stops there the result will be anything but attractive. The remaining flesh must be made firm, and the evidence of the fat which once was there must be entirely obliterated.

The electric roller has been used with success for the work, and there is an apparatus on the market which works upon the roller principle, and is said to accomplish good results.

One of the best ways to avoid the double chin is to sleep with the mouth closed, for the tipped back head and the sagging muscles all night will have the disastrous effect of allowing to grow into a habit. The collarless gown has been the salvation of the neck and face in many cases, for the high collar made an extra chin even on young persons.

Some Easy Methods. For those of us who have neither the time nor money to spend with a professional there are many helpful exercises that will not only avail much in ridding of the chin which has already accumulated, but will drive away any latent tendency.

First stretch the chin forward as far as possible and then draw it back. They stretch it up as far as possible and lower it till it rests against the throat.

THE MODERN GULLIVER

By Michelson

YOU remember about Gulliver—how the Lilliputians got him and fastened him down tight with pegs and ropes until he couldn't move. Michelson has taken this Gulliver idea to show you the modern young man in captivity under the wiles and fascinations of the modern girl. No question that she HAS him. Like Gulliver, he has his moment of being startled. Then of being amused.

He studies the creatures who have caught him. O, there are so many kinds! Each with her own subtle way of fastening him down, and her own charming way of gloating afterward. Only one way for the captive to win out. Like Gulliver, he must first cajole, then use his strength to SERVE his captors. That's what he was born for. So long as he lets them strap him down he is useless. He must KEEP ON HIS FEET.

By gambling we lose both our time and treasure, two things most precious to the life of a man.—Lavater.

Fenelon did exemplify the mean he had always observed between profligacy and avarice, leaving neither debts nor money.—Ruskin.

Every blade of grass in the field is measured; the green cups and the colored crowns of every flower are curiously counted; the stars of the firmament wheel in calculated orbits; even the storms have their laws.—Blackie.

It is well for gamblers that they are so numerous as to make a society of themselves; for it would be a strange abuse of terms to rank those among society at large whose business it is to prey on all who compose it.—Cumberland.

We must distinguish between felicity and prosperity; for prosperity leads often to ambition, and ambition to envy; the course is then over, the wheel turns round but once; while the reaction of goodness and happiness is perpetuated.—Lauder.

The secret of success in society is a certain heartiness and sympathy. A man who is not happy in company, can not find any word in his memory that will fit the occasion; all his information is a sterile impertinent. A man who is happy there, finds in every turn of the conversation occasions for the introduction of what he has to say. The favorites of society are able men, and of more spirit than wit, who have no uncomfortable egotism, but who exactly fill the hour and company, contented and contenting.—Emerson.

Too Good for a Girl's Work

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

SAM COHEN ran away from home the other day, and went and slept in a cellar for a week. He was very hungry and rather shivery when the police found him and took him to the children's court to find out what was the matter with him.

It was very simple. "I ran away," said Sam Cohen, aged 12, "because my aunt made me wash dishes."

"Can't you wash dishes?" asked the justice. "Sure," said Sam, "but I'm a boy."

Whereupon the judge let Sam go and Sam's aunt pretended by indifference that she would never insult Sam's manhood again by asking him to wash a dish.

I wonder why. I haven't a doubt that Sam's sister split kindling and carried up coal whenever she had to, and never once thought of saying that it was a boy's work and that she didn't have to do it.

If I had a boy in my house, I wouldn't wash the dishes for me when he had nothing else to do and I needed those dishes washed, he wouldn't stay in my house very long.

I knew a boy once who kept his sisters and his mother on the jump from morning till night waiting on him. He threw his coat on the floor and his hat on the piano and his shoes on a chair. And if you had asked him to mend a hole in his own socks he would have dropped dead with heart failure.

I saw that boy the other day. He had just come from a long cruise in the navy, and you ought to see the way he can darn socks and sew on buttons and tidy up his room—now.

And he's a good deal more of a man in every way today than he was before he ran away from home to see the world and get away from apron strings.

Salads That Revive the Appetite

By M. Jean Richroch

Chef of the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York.

M. Jean Richroch

Very few Americans seem to understand the value of cabbage salad. When properly prepared, nothing is more delicious, more easily digested or more nutritious. First the cabbage, either white or red, should be shredded as fine as spool silk. After shredding, it should be put in a deep bowl, boiling hot water poured over it, then drained through a fine pore sieve, then plunged into ice water until quite crisp. A suggestion of onion shredded with the cabbage is a great improvement.

Cabbage salad may be served either with a French or a mayonnaise dressing or a mixture of both. Before dressing a cabbage salad season it with a generous amount of salt and a little sugar.

There are many more ways of preparing red cabbage as a salad or as a relish. The Hungarians excel most nations in preparing red cabbage.

and one part cream, with a few drops of mushroom catsup. For almost every salad there should be a different sort of dressing. Most persons seem to think there are but two dressings for salad—the mayonnaise and the so-called and much-abused French dressing. We serve 125 varieties of salads, and almost as many sorts of salad dressings.

The green salad is a delightful salad I learned to prepare in Algiers. It is made of sections of oranges, a julienne of celery, and dices sliced very thin, sprinkled over the surface and finished with a fringe of romain leaves dressed with a light mayonnaise.

A dainty salad is the Maba salad, made from hearts of lettuce stuffed with dices of pineapple, and dotted over the top with sliced strawberries, served with a light French dressing in which chopped fresh mushrooms are mixed.

Hints on Health

Face Spasms Become Habit if Neglected

By Dr. L. K. Hirschberg

A. B. M. A. M. D. (Johns Hopkins). Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirschberg.

DOES your eyelid ever twitch? Be-ware if it does. Never allow any twitches of the corners of your mouth, the muscles of your legs, or the edges of your lips more than once without looking to it.

Many of the causes of facial "spasms," lip twitches or other muscular twitches may never be found out.

If it is possible to discover the origin of a twitch, it must be removed at once. Otherwise the twitching will become permanent and cause you great distress. There is a very close and contemporary familiarity between the facial and other muscles and the brain habits of the one brings about a corresponding spasm in the other.

What seems a trivial twitch, unimportant or even amusing for a moment, becomes quickly established as a habit, beyond all volitional control.

Then the twitch or spasm settles down as a permanent and annoying specter against it, and they dub it with a new name. It is a "tic."

A tic is nothing more nor less than a neglected twitch which has resolved itself into a pernicious habit.

All habits are the result of loosening the strings of your knowledge of what is taking place. While a man learns a trade, he is conscious of each movement he makes. After he becomes expert, he is no longer aware of his ease and dexterity.

The doing away with "awareness" of what you are doing is a habit. After a baby has learned his steps, after you can play Beethoven's lively seventh symphony, after a tight-wire walker can zigzag his way as he glides upon his un-canny string in midair, all sense of behavior and activity has been detached from consciousness.

Tics and permanent habit spasms are the same way. Whatever began them has been cut off from them. The little multiple lightning keeps sparking spontaneously. The habit has been permanently formed.

Bad teeth, adenoids, enlarged tonsils, tumors, obstructions in the nose, enlarged glands in the neck, scars in the skin, occupations such as watch-making, monocle wearing and the like have all been noted as sources of tics, twitches and facial habit spasms.

Answers to Health Questions

W. W. P.—What shall I do for a ruptured vein spot on my lower lip?

The electric needle or an application of a stick of alum or some similar irritant caustic will soon remove this.

A. Q. M.—My digestion is perfect, yet I have an unpleasant redness of my nose.

If you bathe often, sleep eight hours soundly and eat simple victuals without sweets or too much seasoning, the redness will disappear.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

TEACHER!" "Yes, Willie Squirrel, what do you want?" said Miss Roberta Rabbit.

"Please move my seat from behind Billy Bunny. I can see through his ears, but it hurts my eyes."

School was going along nicely in Woodland, but Miss Rabbit had quite a time keeping the Squirrel boys and the Rabbit boys from upsetting things.

"What do you want me to do—take my ears off?" asked Billy Bunny. Every one laughed, while Miss Rabbit stamped her foot and pounded the table with a ruler.

"You may change seats with Billy Bunny, Willie. Billy can see over those tiny ears of yours."

"The boys had changed seats and all was quiet again when Miss Rabbit heard a noise in the back of the room.

"What is the matter there, Billy Bunny?" she asked.

"I can see through Willie Squirrel's tail, but it hurts my eyes," said Billy Bunny.

"You come right straight up here in the front seat, Billy Bunny, and you, Willie Squirrel, stay where you are."

"I can't help having big ears," whined Billy Bunny. "I was born that way."

"I can't help having a beautiful tail," said Willie Squirrel.

"You both must stay after school and we will settle this thing. Willie, you write an essay about Billy's ears and you, Billy, write an essay about Willie's tail."

"All right, teacher," they shouted, as both began to write.

SLOGAN FOR OLD HOME WEEK 'MADE IN BRANTFORD'

Secretary Blain Picks Up Suggestions—Abolish the Tickler.

Efforts Made to Prevent All Kinds of Unnecessary Rowdiness.

"Made in Brantford" is the latest suggestion for Old Home Week in this city.

Mr. F. S. Blain, general secretary of the celebration, was in Hamilton yesterday in conference with Mr. Chas. Murton regarding the methods used by the Centennial Committee in their celebration last year.

Mr. Blain a lot of useful hints on how to conduct the celebration, advising him on the best form of entertainments and also the things which would be best to eliminate.

Principal amongst the latter class was the sale of the tickler, which last year caused so many fights and was the chief cause of most of the rowdiness in Hamilton.

Mr. Murton strongly advised Mr. Blain to prohibit the sale of the tickler altogether.

Regarding the proposition of converting the Armouries into an exhibition hall for "Made in Brantford" products, Mr. Blain stated that it is one of the essentials of the Old Home Week. Brantford has many industries which are scarcely known to the majority of the citizens of this city regardless of the outside world, and by turning the Armouries into an exhibition hall, the Old Boys who will visit this city will go away greatly enlightened as to the vast number of industries which their old home has.

Brantford is a leading manufacturing city and Mr. Blain is of the opinion that no better way of advertising the city could be found than by his proposed scheme.

As to the cost, Mr. Blain said that that item would be comparatively small. In Hamilton, the committee turned both Armouries into an exhibition hall and erected booths to the manufacturers at the actual cost of their creation and in so doing they came out clear at the end of the week.

The Daughters of the Empire had a tea garden in one of the halls and after paying expenses for the week turned over to the committee over one thousand dollars. A charge of 10 cents was put on the doors which at the end of the week were some $4000 in pocket. The only difficulty arising in this city would be the size of the hall. However a tent could be erected outside which would overcome this difficulty.

Mr. Blain stated that he had no doubt but that the manufacturers would fall in line with his idea if it were properly put before them.

Ex-Ald. J. H. Minshall.

Ex-Ald. J. H. Minshall, when asked his opinion on the proposition, said: "It is one of the best propositions laid before the committee and would be one of the best features of the Old Home Week."

John B. Muir.

"One of the best features of the week and our company for one, will take a space if the proposition goes through."

Ald. Geo. A. Ward.

"In itself, the proposition would be one of the best advertisements to the city, but it is just a question as to the advisability of holding it in conjunction with the Bell Memorial next year."

Prosecutors Conclude Case

Jehn Love Elliott at Lewes England, Held on Very Serious Charge

[By Special Wire to The Courier] LEWES, England, March 11.—In the trial of John Love Elliott of New York at the assizes here on charges of flagrant breaches of the law, the case for the prosecution in regard to Florence Elliott, his younger daughter, concluded to-day.

Elliott was then examined by counsel, the questioning lasting an hour, after which the court adjourned. It is expected that his examination will occupy the whole of to-morrow's session.

The trial started on Monday, and is held behind closed doors. The charges against Elliott were brought by the public prosecutor on affidavits sworn to by Elliott's neighbors, who declared they were made on statements by the two daughters of the prisoner, with whom they resided at East Grinstead, Sussex.

To Go to Camp. It is rumored on the street today, although not officially confirmed, that the 25th Brant Dragoons will go to camp on June 1st to Niagara Falls with the 2nd Dragoons.

Gas Leaks. A gang of Gas Company employees worked for two or three days last week tearing up Nelson street, opposite Mr. E. L. Cockshutt's residence, in an effort to remedy gas leaks; but their work was apparently unavailing, as the odor of escaping gas at that spot is stronger than ever.

Police Commission. The annual meeting of the police commissioners will be held this week when the report of Chief Slemin will be submitted. It is understood the chief strongly recommends additional strength to the force, but that there is a question whether any new men will be put on or not.

Wants Brantford In. A centrally located institution for the care of the feeble minded is desired by the Hamilton city council, and the council last night decided to ask the counties of Lincoln, Welland, Halton, Haldimand and Wentworth, and the cities of Brantford, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls to join in petitioning the Legislature to establish such an institution.

Bowling Meeting. The Sydenham St. Lawn Bowling Club are going to get off to a good start this year. The officers have called a general meeting for next Tuesday night in Sydenham street church. They are looking for a big season of sport this year with improved conditions and past experience to help them out.

To Hold Dance. The Sons of England Football team last night held a meeting in Roberts and VanLand's store and it was decided to hold a dance in the Conservatory of Music on Thursday, March 26. Through the kindness of Messrs. Thomas and Andrews of the Conservatory the use of the floor has been granted the S.O.E. for that night. Six splendid prizes will be given for the best dancers.

Taken By Surprised. Mr. R. J. Eacrett, license inspector, was agreeably surprised yesterday, when he received a handsome gold locket with the three links of the Oddfellows engraved on it from Otter Lodge, No. 50, I.O.O.F., Thilsonburg. Mr. Eacrett did not receive any communication with the locket, but is of the opinion that the lodge is presenting them to its Past Grand Masters, of 25 years and over. Mr. Eacrett was Past Grand Master of that lodge in 1888.

Rev. T. E. Holling stays. At the Quarterly Official board meeting at Colborne St. Methodist church held last night, a unanimous invitation, moved by Mr. Fred Mann and seconded by Mr. C. F. Verity, was extended to Rev. T. E. Holling to continue his pastorate in Colborne street church for another year. Rev. Mr. Holling accepted the invitation and expressed his pleasure at being pastor of the church. The affairs of the church are in a flourishing condition and a splendid year is looked forward to.

Young Lady Hurt. Yesterday afternoon, Miss Pauline White, a domestic in the employ of Mr. P. A. Shultis, Henrietta Street, met with a bad accident, while getting off a street car on Palmerton avenue. Miss White in some way tripped and fell to the ground striking her head and rendering her unconscious. She was removed to Mr. Shultis' home where medical aid was called. The lady who is of a very nervous disposition, after coming to became hysterical and it was thought advisable to remove her to the hospital. Today she is resting quietly and it is thought that she will be able to leave the institution to-morrow. Luckily no bones were broken, and the young lady is suffering mostly from shock.

An Eclipse Tonight. Barring a cloudy sky to-night Brantford people will see a lunar eclipse. One is scheduled for that time and it will be visible from 3:30 to 10:15. It will be worth noting as it will be the only eclipse that will be seen this year, according to those who make a study of the heavens. There will be a short eclipse on September 4 early in the morning, but it will be visible only on the western coast of the continent. To-night's eclipse will not be complete. The surface of the moon will not be wholly in shadow, but about ten o'clock nine-tenths of the orb will be covered. It is not unlikely, of course,

FINDING A MAN TO MEET GOTCH

Zbyszko Beat Jenkins in Match at Madison Square Garden, New York, Last Night.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The second series of international wrestling bouts, select a challenger to meet Frank Gotch for the championship title was held at Madison Square Garden last night. The principal match was between Zbyszko, of Poland and Tom Jenkins of America, in a street of wrestling at the military academy at West Point. Zbyszko threw Jenkins with a back hammer lock and neck hold in 2 minutes and 32 seconds. Jenkins shoulder was wrenched by the hammer lock hold and a physician was called to attend him. Hjalma Unding of Sweden, threw Hans Liebler, of Germany, in 17 minutes 45 seconds with a leg hold and flying fall.

In a special match, two out of three falls, Alexander Aberg of Finland, threw Ivan Mamutof, of Russia, twice in succession, gaining the first fall with full Nelson in 19 minutes 32 seconds, and the second with three-quarter Nelson and arm hold in 19 minutes 21 seconds.

BRANTFORD WON AT STRATFORD BONSPIEL

Home Team Was Outcourted by Visitors From Telephone City.

STRATFORD, March 11.—Four rinks from Brantford invaded Stratford last evening and outcourted the local rinks by 14 shots up. With but one exception the games were keenly contested. Results: Stratford, Chwen, Bristow, Bigger, Kennedy, Neilson, skip 8; Stratford, Bloxham, Turnbull, Mitchell, H. Harris, Maynard, Adams, skip 13; Stratford, Cleator, Edwards, Pounder, Campbell, McLachan, Boddy, skip 20; Stratford, Newsome, Boles, Moore, Lalley, McHattie, Ogilvie, skip 16; Stratford, Totals 51; Stratford, 14 shots up.

Bradley to Manage Brooklyn NEW YORK, March 11.—Formal announcement of the appointment of William Bradley as manager of the Brooklyn Federal League club was made here yesterday afternoon by officials of the club. Bradley played third base for the Toronto club of the International League last season.

Accident at Brooklyn. NEW YORK, March 11.—Preliminary operations for the equipment of Brooklyn's Federal league baseball park were interrupted by disaster late yesterday, when a 50 foot wooden tower collapsed, killing one man and seriously injuring three others. The men were riggers working at the top of the tower which was intended to support a wire cable for the operation of an iron bucket containing concrete for the stands.

PERSEVERANCE

If a successful man boasts that he is self-made, do not believe him unless he shows that he is still at his task.

THE TIP THAT NEVER CAME. "Don't forget the waiter, sir." "I don't think I'm likely to be the worst that ever happened."

Sporting Comment

The Canadian League meets to-day in Toronto to discuss the proposed schedule which President Fitzgerald has sent to the various teams. It is quite likely that the sheet will be much mutilated when the directors get through with it.

To-night the local intermediate C. A. L. A. team will hold an organization meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Prospects for a first class team this year are splendid and the club officials are enthusiastic.

In view of the fact that the All Stars of the Softball League of 1913 are practically unknown to the members of the Duffs indoor team, it is hardly fair to ask the soldiers to go out on the floor with a team that might be composed of school boys. In this modern age a team can take any name at all and make a farce out of the game. All the teams the Duffs have played this year have been teams with reputations and have been drawing cards to the fans. It would be well to at least for the supposed Stars to get a few of the kinks out of their arms before the go against a team of the calibre of the Dufferin Rifles.

"Chubby" Coose evidently had a warm spot in his heart for the Brantford ball team. Since he was traded to London for Deneau, Coose has asked for a raise in salary. The St. Thomas Daily Times has the following article regarding Coose's request: "Chubby" Coose, former Red Sox player, who was traded to London a short time ago for Rube Deneau, has written the London management an interesting letter. He wants more money for playing for London than he would ask if he were playing for Brantford. In his letter to the London club he states that when he signed up with Tom Nelson's club early in the spring he did so at an "amateur's salary." He now wants a big league salary to play for London or he will not report.

President Tom Nelson is disgusted with the Canadian League schedule as drawn up. Mr. Nelson should not be discouraged. He is simply suffering the double penalty for having a tail-ender last year. Had Brantford been a winner in 1913 the schedule for the Red Sox would have been in closer to make money. Moreover, we believe it is a mistaken policy to grab off too many dates in Toronto. The Queen City is alright but it must be remembered that the Toronto fans have not as yet gone crazy over Class C ball, having had better for so long a time. While the population is there, there are numerous other attractions all the time. We predict that London and Ottawa and Erie (on Sundays) will be the breadwinners in the Canadian. And Hamilton, if they can get the bad taste out of their mouth down there will also draw this year. As far as Brantford is concerned, if we get what we desire here in players, this city will show remarkably in point of attendance. No matter how good a town is, you cannot educate them to a loser, and that is what has been tried for three years past. Home dates are important, because there is a fine revenue from the grandstand, even from the dilapidated old affair behind the dyke.

"Packy" McFarland is planning to take a trip around the world on a honeymoon, fighting as he goes along. Generally hostilities do not begin until the honeymoon has set.

The way the bids for the Chicago Club are pouring in on Mr. Tait leads to the suspicion that the club is not such a bad proposition after all. Perhaps Charlie Murphy did pull out with a million dollars, although at first we were disposed to discount the report at the usual Murphy rate.

According to the most reliable rumors, Connie Mack intends to stand pat on his infield for the next campaign. Having safely come through the annual retiring process, Eddie Plank is again reported back in the fold. We also note that Matty is due in Melin Springs on Saturday. Only a few more weeks remain to the youngsters and then the big boys will swing in to line with the usual result.

The crowd is still hissing Mike Gibbons, according to the returns from the latest bout. Some day the fans are going to get a big surprise and see Mike hammer to pieces some boxer who ought never to have been matched with the star.

Larry Waterbury is keeping his eye and arm in trim this winter by successfully defending his title at Lac-quetts. Considerable mallet swinging must be done at Meadow Brook this summer.

The globe-girdlers should use more discretion. They say that Monte Carlo is a joke. Do they realize that they are spoiling the game of some of our best novelists and story writers?

With Charlie Piez on the Giants and Cy Pieh on the Yankees, there's a chance for many a slip between the z and the h.

Connie Mack has come to the front with financial assistance for Rube Waddell, who is seriously ill with tuberculosis. Of course, sentiment in baseball doesn't amount to much. It only goes a long way toward winning the world's championship every year or so.

"Hub" Perdue is having his troubles this spring. Along with the uncertainty about which clubs he belongs to is the distressing fact that he is taking on weight faster than he can walk it off at the training camp.

DUFFERIN RIFLES BEAT LONDON BATTERY

Indoor Baseball Game at Armories Won by Brantford.

(London Advertiser)

An exciting game of indoor baseball with many feature fielding and batting stunts, was witnessed by a crowd of 200 fans in the Armories last evening. Brantford Dufferins and the local Battery team being the attraction. The visitors won by the score of 15 to 13, and it was one of the best games seen here for some time.

The Brantford team secured a big lead in the first two innings, and although the Battery came strong in the latter stages, it could not overcome the early lead. The visitors scored 9 runs in the second inning. Pitcher Harry Tozer was then replaced by Robbie Ray, and the latter's southpaw slants were a pretty hard proposition for the Telephone City aggregation to solve for the remainder of the pastime. Johnny Farquhar's honer with two on bases, and Ernie Dinsmore's triple with one on were features.

A Brantford official shared the umpiring duties with Jimmy Jeffries, of this city, and his knowledge of the fine points of the game was erudite that his decisions caused considerable kicking. He was decidedly partial to his own team. The teams were lined up as follows: Brantford—Marlatt, 2b; Calhoun, 1b; Sheppard, 1b; Hetherington, p; Klessey, 3b; Slattery, r.f.; Appell, r.f.; Stewart, c. Battery—Doherty, r.f.; Farquhar, 3b; Ball, 1b; Dinsmore, 1b; McLeod, 2b; Murray, r.f.; Perry, 1b; Dutton, c.; Tozer, p. and l.f.; Ray, p. Summary—Strike outs, by Tozer 3 in two innings; by Ray, 9 in 7 innings; by Hetherington, 12.

QUEEN IS ASKED TO DESIST VISITS TO THE PRISONS

Queen Mary's Interest in the Women in Prison in Britain, has given a Lot of Trouble.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)

NEW YORK, March 11.—A cable to the New York American from London says: Home Secretary McKenna has asked Queen Mary to restrain her philanthropic efforts in behalf of women prisoners. The Queen recently visited the female wing of Brixton Jail and became interested in a former lady's maid sentenced for two years for stealing jewelry. Owing to extenuating circumstances, the Queen obtained the girl's release and obtained for her a post in an industrial home. Since then the home office has been flooded with applications from relatives of female convicts for their release, and the Queen has been requested to desist from further visits to the prisons.

Feds Lose Sweeney. CHICAGO, March 11.—Catcher Ed. Sweeney, who has been negotiating with the Federals here, signed a new contract with the New York American league club yesterday at the office of Dan Johnson, president of the league. Johnson said Sweeney's contract called for the largest salary paid any catcher in organized baseball, but would not name the amount. Seven armed men from Washington territory robbed the Royal Bank at Abbottsford, B. C.

Bank Robbers Are Hedged In By Strong Posse

Royal Bank in British Columbia Mulcted of $2400 Yesterday.

(By Special Wire to The Courier)

BELLINGHAM, Wash., March 11.—Five bank robbers, who held up the cashier and assistant cashier of the branch bank of the Canadian Royal bank at Abbottsford, B. C., 24 miles north of here yesterday and took $2,400, are surrounded to-day in a heavy stand of timber trees three miles north of Abbottsford by a posse of Canadian officers. The men got $2,400. Their capture is expected in the next twelve hours as all avenues of escape are effectively cut off. Immigration officers are patrolling the line. One hundred and eighty dollars in one dollar Canadian bills was picked up on the trail by the posse and one of the bandits dropped his coat in which was found $120 of the stolen money.

KING GEORGE'S BALD SPOT IS EXPANDING

Overwork and Little Sleep Are Assigned As the Cause of His Hair Falling Out.

LONDON, March 11.—It is remarked since King George has been back in town how much older he is looking, though he certainly appears in the best of health. The thin patch on his head increases in size, but he is distinctly furrowed under the eyes. The truth is His Majesty overworks. His activity is enormous and he does not take sleep enough. Things which in previous reigns were relegated to the care of others, King George personally supervises.

His Majesty keeps cutting down expenses steadily, and the last time he was in Windsor he interviewed the heads of every department with the object of finding out the actual expenditure and the best means of reducing it.

Parent Goes to Outlaws. BALTIMORE, March 11.—Manager Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore International League club, admitted to-day that he had heard that Fred Parent, utility man of his club, had jumped to the Federal league. Dunn would not divulge the source of his information.

FEDERALS AFTER SIGNED PLAYERS

Will Not Respect Contracts of the American and National Baseball Leagues.

(CHICAGO, March 11.—The Federal League has already begun its campaign to get players under contract with the American and National leagues, according to to-day's special despatches from Southern training camps. Manager Geo. Stovall, of the Kansas City Federals, was reported at Tampa and St. Petersburg, the neighboring training camps of the Chicago Nationals and St. Louis Americans, and admitted that he was after players.

From the Chicago Federal's training ground at Shreveport, came word that four members of the Boston Americans—two pitchers and a third baseman and a shortstop—had sent a telegram to President Gilmore asking for terms. Another group from Shreveport said that Grover Alexander, pitcher for the Philadelphia Nationals, had applied for a place in the new league.

GRIGGS JOINS FEDS. TOPEKA, Kan., March 11.—Art Griggs, last year first baseman of the Montreal club in the International League last night announced he had signed with the Brooklyn Federal League team. Griggs formerly played with the St. Louis Americans, and has played in Toledo and Cleveland. His home is here.

Canada Invites Guests and Then Refuses Accommodation For Them When They Arrive

In the matter of immigration, we (in Canada) are in the position of a person who has invited guests and, when they arrive at her house, says to them: "I am very sorry, we have no room for you but if you will pitch a tent on the lawn until I prepare a guest room, I shall be delighted to have you." We are in the position of inviting people to come to Canada for whom there is no provision of homes.

The sting of this indictment lies in its truth, as demonstrated by the accompanying illustration and the facts cited below. It is futile to argue that these immigrants should look after themselves. We cannot expect them to lay sewers and plan streets, nor to refuse to live in unsanitary houses, when the only alternative is to do without shelter entirely.

Forethought by those responsible for the oversight of growing towns, is always needed; it is particularly needful in a country where communities are expanding from hamlet town, and from town to city within a decade. Our civic fathers, boards of trade, etc. do devote much forethought to the growth of our cities, but not often of the right kind. The rapidity of the expansion is the only thing considered. To induce industries to locate in their cities, they grant bonuses, tax exemptions, free land sites, and various other gifts and privileges to manufacturers, railroad companies and others, but give no attention to the poor workers who are to work in the factories and shops and who will become the future citizens. The accompanying data as to the congestion in the foreign quarters of some of our Canadian cities were collected by Mr. Bruce M. Stewart, M.A., under the auspices of the Canadian Presbyterian board of social and moral reform. The figures and diagrams speak for themselves, and need no comment.

Table with 2 columns: Category and Count. Categories include Families, Married men, Married women, Children, Widows, Single women, Single men, Boarders.

Total ... 257. Here wages are lower than in the west, and fewer immigrant families own their houses. In this block two-thirds of the families rented. In one of the blocks surveyed in Port William, Ont., two-thirds were owners. The average rent paid by the 15 families was $11.04 per month.

Table with 2 columns: Type of house and Count. Categories include Double houses, Five-family houses, Three-family houses, One-family houses (2 shafts), One-family houses with stores, Houses occupied, Houses vacant.

Total ... 22. There were 144 rooms and 11 inside toilets. Nearly all had water connection. The average number of persons per house was 13.5 and an average of 9 in each apartment.

Will Not Seize Britisher's Ranch

EL PASO, March 11—The order of confiscation against the ranch of General W. B. Snyman, a British subject of Chihuahua, was revoked yesterday by General Villa. The news was received in a telegram from Calvert G. Scobell, British vice-consul at Chihuahua, to a son of General Snyman in this city.

The commission appointed by General Carranza to investigate the killing of Wm. S. Benton is still in Juarez and has never been away. At Chihuahua and at the constitutionalist consulate here last Saturday it was stated that the commission had gone to Chihuahua, where Benton's body is said to be buried. When General Frauste, head of the commission, was asked yesterday if he could explain why the misleading information was given out, he responded: "Who knows?"

A VEGETABLE CONSTIPATION CURE.

Because they contain mercury and mineral salts, many pills are harsh. The easiest and safest laxative is Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. They clean the stomach, intestines and bowels—drive out waste matter, tone the kidneys and forever cure constipation. As a general tonic and system cleanser nothing is so mild and efficient as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Sold everywhere in 25-cent boxes.

DIES POOR WHILE FIGHT GOES ON

Clergyman's Patent Worth Millions, Yet He Realized Little.

NEW YORK, March 11.—A decision upholding the patent claims of the Rev. Hannibal B. Goodwin against the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, involving millions of dollars in royalties, was given by the Court of Appeals here to-day. Judge John R. Hazel giving the opinion. The decision says that the Rev. Hannibal B. Goodwin is undoubtedly the inventor and entitled to all the benefits of basic patent on photographic films. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. Goodwin died more than 13 years ago, a poor man.

For many years Mr. Goodwin was rector of the Episcopal House of Prayer, at Newark, N. J. He was fond of dabbling in photography and was an amateur chemist. In 1887 he discovered a process for making photographic films and applied for a patent. The Eastman Company contested his claims and it was not until 1898 that the patent was used. A suit against the Eastman Company was instituted in December, 1900. Mr. Goodwin died while his suit was still pending. The litigation was carried on by the heirs. The lower courts upheld his contentions and the company appealed.

CROWN MADE BARGAIN IN KRAFCHENKO CASE

A Promise of Immunity to John Buxton, Jun.

Arrangement Admitted—Some Startling Testimony Given in the Trial of Two Men Charged With Complicity in the Escape of a Murderer

WINNIPEG, March 11.—The trial of Percy E. Hazel and John Westlake for complicity in the escape of Krafchenko, charged with murder and who was afterwards recaptured, opened yesterday afternoon at the court house here before Mr. Justice Curran. Several new and important points were brought out in cross-examination during the afternoon, the principal one being the statement by Deputy Chief of Police Newton, under cross-examination of R. A. Borden, K.C., counsel for Hazel, that I. H. Buxton, jr. had been promised "consideration" if he would reveal the whereabouts of Krafchenko. Newton admitted further that Deputy Crown Attorney Allen and others were present when this immunity was promised, and that the Attorney General himself had been consulted. The admission of the deputy chief, Mr. Borden to remark, "And Manitoba has come down to this: that a man can buy his liberty."

Mr. Anderson, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, remarked frankly that the Crown had been given immunity, through stress of circumstances, in order to secure the apprehension of the man who was shortly to be tried at Morden for the murder of H. M. Arnold, a bank manager. Still another sensation was sprung during the cross-examination by Mr. Borden of Provincial Magistrate A. L. Bonnycastle. Mr. Borden sought to show that the commitment of Krafchenko, who escaped, was irregular, a number of technical points being raised, and that he was unlawfully confined he could not properly be termed a prisoner, therefore a charge of complicity in his escape could not be brought against Percy Hazel. Magistrate Bonnycastle proved himself to be a cautious witness, and steadfastly refused to give definite answers to Mr. Borden as to what he had done or had not done when he presided at the preliminary hearing of Krafchenko, but held out that his action would be shown in the official records. He promised that these would be produced, and the matter rests for the time at that.

Most everyone has got the craze to dance the tango these here days. But I don't care for it, said Bob just after rising from a flop.

LANGFORD

(From our own Correspondent)

Rev. Mr. Cook had charge of the services on Sunday morning, but there were not many out on account of so many having colds and whooping cough. All enjoyed the entertainment of Brant Church last Wednesday evening given by the Laurie Bro. of Hamilton. Miss Hyde returned to her home in the city after spending nearly two weeks the guest of Mrs. James W. Westbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Orville Flanders were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lampkin. Miss Gladys Mulligan entertained a lady friend on Sunday. Mrs. Roberts is somewhat improved after having had the grippe. Mr. and Mrs. C. Flanders spent one day last week with Mrs. M. E. Vanderlip. Mr. Haley has a bee drawing hay to the car on Wednesday. They had something over two hundred ton pressed. Several from around here attended the reception of Mr. and Mrs. Maddison Wilson last Friday evening.

Tragedy of Failing Eyesight

During an inquest at Stockport on Monday it was suggested by the coroner that Olive Williams, fifty-nine, a domestic servant, residing in Ernest Street, Cheadle, had taken salts of lemon because her eyesight was failing and she feared its effect upon her future. The jury returned a verdict of "Suicide whilst of unsound mind."

Drowned Debtor's Affairs

A meeting of the creditors of the late Samuel Hartley, who carried on business at Woolfshops, Halifax, as a staff merchant, under the style of John Hartley and Sons, was held at Halifax on Tuesday. Debtor was found drowned at Liscard on Jan. 31. The liabilities expected to rank for dividend were returned at £2,331 ss. 5d., against estimated assets £833. A trustee was appointed.

Colonel's Sad Death.

Colonel Albert Thornton Wodehouse was found dead at his residence in Wingfieldvillas, Devonport, on Monday, under tragic circumstances. For some years he had shown signs of extreme depression. Between nine and ten a.m., the report of firearms was heard and Colonel Wodehouse was found lying dead on the floor, with a bullet wound in the head. He retired from the Royal Artillery in 1884, with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

A Closed School.

Friktion has been caused between the Oldham Education Committee and the Rev. J. L. Harry, vicar of Coldhurst, because Mr. Harry closed the Coldhurst Church of England day school on the afternoon of his old folks tea party when not authorized by the education authority. In a letter on the subject the vicar wrote: "I cannot be interfered with in this way in my parochial arrangements, and this party must be held when convenient to us."

A Possible Penalty

Captain Chichester of the Highland Light Infantry, was summoned at Aldershot on Monday for driving a motor car at an excessive speed in Queen's avenue. It was stated that not only a fine might be imposed but also the motor car might be confiscated. The magistrates held that the military authorities had not sufficiently advertised the by-law in driving and dismissed the summons. Six other summonses were withdrawn.

Father Lost No Time.

A proud father at Moorhorpe, near Wakefield, called at 9.3 in the morning at the office of an insurance superintendent and made application for benefit in respect of a child, who, he said, was born at 9.10. He was requested to call again in half an hour, and did so, when the usual formalities were gone through, and the entire business transacted, the man arriving home with the 30s., at 10.10, just one hour after the arrival of the "little stranger."

NORTHFIELD CENTRE

The semi-annual tea which was held at Mrs. W. McCormack's last Thursday was well attended. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Smith met at their home last Wednesday night after spending the evening in music and games, presented them with a beautiful china casket. Mr. and Mrs. Tanger of Buffalo, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Armour. The Misses Pearl and Addie Bowman of Paris spent the week-end with their sister, Mrs. Sanford Clement. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Neil spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Mordue of Mount Pleasant. Mr. and Mrs. E. Swift, spent a few days of last week with friends in Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armour spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. G. Armour, who is under the doctor's care.

SCOTLAND

(From our own correspondent.)

We are very sorry to report the sudden death of one of our eldest residents in the person of Mrs. William Malcolm on Thursday night. The funeral took place on Sunday to the Scotland burying ground. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart are moving in to the village. Mrs. James Mitchiner is spending a few days' visiting friends at St. George. A number from here took in the concert held at the new school south of the village. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs who have been spending the winter visiting in Washington, D. C., have returned to the village. The young people are busy practicing for the entertainment on Wednesday night in aid of the Public Library. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kelly spent a few days with the latter's mother before moving to Hamilton.

KELVIN

(From our own correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. C. Munn, entertained some of their relatives on Sunday evening. Mr. Page also Mr. Cleaver of Mt. Vernon were in this place on business one day last week. Mrs. Joseph Colwell spent Thursday at Cedar Lawn. Miss Maggie Almas entertained some of her relatives on Friday last of Mr. and Mrs. George Crabb on Tuesday. The Ladies Aid propose holding a concert in the very near future. Mr. T. Colwell is very poorly indeed; we hope for his speedy recovery. A number of relatives and friends were entertained on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Wilcox. A number around here are making preparations for tapping their sugar maples. Mr. and Mrs. William Almas, are spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Hamilton, Grimsby, Beamsville and Silverdale Station. Mr. and Mrs. S. Miller were calling on some of their friends one day last week. When a married man keeps a lot of ready-made excuses on tap his marriage is something of a failure.

ENGLISH MARVEL AT BASEBALL HEROES

"What is Gettysburg, Compared to a Baseball Victory?" Asks the Standard.

LONDON, March 11.—If the Giants and the White Sox had all their salaries doubled, they could not have looked happier than they did yesterday as they loafed around the lobby and the lounge rooms of the Hotel Cecil talking over the game. "A fitting climax of the world tour which will make them sit up and take notice on the other side," was the way they sized it up.

The players read the columns printed about them in the London papers with immense relish, and were greatly amused at the pardonable mistakes of the English sporting writers, who saw the game through cricket eyes. They all thought that they had been very fairly treated by the press considering that the English naturally were not on to the fine points of the game. Mike Donlin came in for much good-natured "kidding" because he was featured in the cartoons as dining the tango at a tea dance in centre field. Umpire Klem also received much joking because the papers all played up his alleged heroism. The English never suspecting that his serge suit protector.

The Englishmen were even more mystified, impressed, and overwhelmed by the jargon which the excited fans liberally hurled at the players than by the game itself. One writer said: "I'm not going to another game till I have taken the Berlitz course in baseball language." This same writer was amazed at the total absence of chewing gum among the players, and said: "The players must have felt odd to play to the set jawed people, after being used to thousands chewing in unison with Chicago accent." The baseball uniforms also caused lots of comment. One writer said: "The Giants looked like the advertisements for some body's tires. If any one of these Nonconformist costumes best designed to keep human beings from admiring one another, these stuffed heroes should win every time." The pantomime feature which the English enjoyed with the keenest zest, was the shadow practice which the players indulged in before the game.

It took many of the spectators some time to realize that it was all make-believe. One amazed Englishman naively said to Jimmy Callahan, "My word, they play so fast you can't see the ball." But once the crowd caught on to the game the packed stands roared with laughter at the shadow play.

Manager Callahan also gave a rude shock to several loyal English workers when they went out to the Chelsea grounds in the morning to lay out the diamond. They were told that the diamond must be exactly in front of the King's royal box. Callahan confessed that he was an Irishman and an ardent home ruler. He said, jokingly: "Where's that guy going to sit. Maybe we can punch a few holes in the wire netting to let a few foul balls go through."

It is the general consensus of English newspaper opinion that baseball will never catch on in England. This idea is held to as strongly as the theory that baseball is but a development of rounders. The Standard in an article telling all about "baseball," says: "The leading payers are paid salaries equal to those of the American ambassadors, and they receive a great deal more consideration at the hands of the American public. There was a pensive look on Ambassador Page's face as he sat by the King's side on Thursday, and one would imagine that he was making a comparison between his own lot in life and that of the star performer on the Chicago team. The conclusions he came to and the philosophical spirit in which he accepted them may be left to the imagination, for what rewards can diplomacy show to victors of the prizes of baseball? A Taylor in the American service would be less of a national asset than the pitcher who could invent a new throw. What is Gettysburg today, compared with a baseball victory? What did Stonewall Jackson ever do to equal that hit of Daly's into the crowd, by which the White Sox put the "kibosh" on the New Yorkers. "Did Theodore Roosevelt ever get

RISE AND FALL OF C. W. MURPHY SPECTACULAR IN BASEBALL HISTORY

(Philadelphia Enquirer.) There is little doubt left that Charles Webb Murphy, who has recently been forced from the presidency of the Chicago National League Baseball Club, and the bone of contention between the two major leagues that has recently been threatening a three-cornered warfare and the disruption of the parent organization through the untimely Evers incident, holds all long-distance endurance records for a continuous occupancy of the spot-lighted area of the baseball stage. No man who has been on the cash register side of the baseball counter has taken a running jump and landed plump in the public eye with such marked frequency as has the chubby and pugnacious president of the Cubs, and certainly nobody gets a fuller measure of enjoyment from this publicity, whether it be in the nature of criticism or praise. Charles Murphy was the Ty Cobb of the magnates.

Murphy has been the storm centre of almost every periodical cyclone that has raged through the stormy National League belt during the past seven or eight years. He has been the vortex of every whirlpool that has humpled up the waters of the otherwise placid baseball pond since the American League truce, and all ready-made to order. Murphy always had his coat and turned out a little whirlpool of his own.

Murphy was in the advertising game before he ever tackled the great national frolic, and he knows the value of publicity, regardless of what the brand may be. What's more, if there happened to be any publicity hanging around baseball headquarters that wasn't working at the time, Murphy could always be depended upon to give it a job, and he didn't have the slightest hesitation about admitting it, either. His motto is to court criticism, for criticism means publicity. It has only been since the breaking of the disturbing Evers case that he made the proud boast that he has always filled his ball park with his own enemies, who in turn unwittingly filled the Murphy treasure chest with the merry mazzama.

While Charles Webb may sometimes overshoot the mark in this respect, a resume of the facts in his case would appear to bear him out, as no magnate connected with the game has had such a meteoric rise to financial success as Charles Webb Murphy. However, certain facts connected with the story of Murphy's success would appear to indicate that he has been equally as successful in making influential friends as he has in compelling a long list of "valuable critics" and these friends have likewise been a potent factor in the making of that success.

Charles Webb Murphy was born in Wilmington, Ohio, a little more than forty years ago, where he worked as a reporter on the local papers, eventually drifting to Cincinnati, where he grabbed himself off a job the prominent headlines of the baseballer. Although the genius of the New World raised the game of rounders to such giddy heights of fame, it is extraordinary how much remains of its original modest features. The fact struck everyone very forcibly last Thursday. The strike throwing his bat away as he started to run after making a hit, his attempts to steal second base, and the measures taken to frustrate them, it was all a glorified copy of what we used to do in our youth, and the two men of the batting side who came out on the field to coach the base runners and to rattle the pitcher and chaff the fieldsmen, were their counterparts of the meddlesome spectators we used to have, such as the fathers and the elder brothers and the candid friends of the pavers?"

writing sports for a Cincinnati daily. His parents both came to this country from Ireland, a fact which proves that the frequent report that he is a Jew and merely assumed the good old Irish name of Murphy is a base canard. In connection with his sport in writing in Cincinnati he engaged in the advertising game as a side issue, the publicity game is any criterion he must have batted around 450 at that side issue stuff.

The late John T. Brush was then president of the Cincinnati Baseball Club, and he and Murphy became fast friends, a fact which again refutes the charge that Murphy never made anything of a man he came in contact with but an enemy. The late Mr. Brush became so attached to Murphy that when he became the president of the New York Giants, in 1903 he took Murphy with him to New York and made him press agent of the Giants, where he again had a chance to exercise his talents as a publicity expert. It was while acting in this capacity that Murphy one day received an inside tip that John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker and owner of the Chicago National League ball club, had failed and that the baseball property was to be put on the market at a ridiculously low figure in order to raise money with which to tide the banker over his financial troubles.

Hurrying to Cincinnati Mr. Murphy hunted up Charles P. Tait and told him that he wanted to buy the Chicago club and needed $25,000 to swing the deal. This was in 1905, Mr. Tait advanced him practically all the money with which to buy the club, taking a lien against the baseball property for his security, which Murphy was to pay off out of profits which he had available at the time with which to pay off anything. Another refutation of the charge that Murphy never brought out anything in a fellow being but enmity, and likewise offered in rebuttal to Murphy's own testimony that his enemies have made his success.

Murphy paid but $105,000 for the Chicago Club. To-day, after cleaning up over a million dollars in profits for Murphy in eight years, the property is worth half a million. No baseball magnate has ever reaped such an instantaneous success starting from such a low level as has Murphy, who was fortunate in coming into possession of a ball club that was just on the eve of the greatest success in the history of the game up till that time and a club to which the late Frank Selee had brought a remarkable collection of individual talent which Frank Chance was just beginning to mould into one of the greatest baseball machines that the world has ever known—the Chance-Evers-Tinker-Mordecai Brown-Kling combination, the true worth of which the owners had not yet come to appreciate.

This was in 1905. The following year Murphy's first as a controlling power, the Cubs proceeded to get going and grabbed off the National League pennant and a great wad of world's series "dough," cleaned up $165,000 in profits in the campaign, and Murphy promptly returned the money he had borrowed from Mr. Tait and held unencumbered the most valuable baseball property in the country at that time and a nice juicy little bank account in just one year after he had been plugging along with his coat off as a low salaried publicity agent who had to use judgment in selecting his restaurants approaching pay day.

Following up that successful first season as a baseball magnate, Murphy's club proceeded to establish a record by winning the pennant and also the world's championship the two following years as well, during which they wrote themselves down in history as the greatest baseball machine the game had ever seen and the biggest money-making proposition on either circuit. The only absolutely correct and authentic financial statement obtainable in baseball business is the receipts of the world's series games given out by the National Commission, but it is stated on good authority that during the period from 1906 to 1912, the period in which the old Cub machine was at its height of glory, Charles Murphy cleaned up in profits from baseball an average of over $100,000 a season. What is absolutely authentic is his share of the world's series income which in 1906, his first year in control of the Cubs, when the Cubs lost the world's series to the White Sox was $62,493.30; in the world's series of 1907, when the Cubs defeated the Detroit team for the world's championship, the Chicago club owner's share of the melon was $36,622.26, while in 1908, when they duplicated their defeat of the Detroit Tiger in the world's series, Murphy pulled down $39,360.00, and in their last world's series, when they were defeated by the Athletics in 1910, the Chicago club owner's share of the receipts was $38,755.03. Thus in the eight years Murphy has owned the controlling interest in the Chicago team that team has participated in the world's series four times and cleaned up for its owners in these post-season games alone a total of $177,333.62, exclusive of the season's profits. In those seasons in which they haven't been a participant in the world's series they have played a city championship series with the White Sox, which, owing to the intense rivalry that obtains between the fans of the two leagues in Chicago, owing to the Murphy methods, has been almost as lucrative to the club owners as the world's series would have been. This Murphy's claim that he fills his ball park with his enemies, is in part substantiated.

Murphy's immense profits from baseball is attested by the fact that where nine years ago he had practically nothing beyond the friendship of Charles P. Tait and a bit of inside information, he is now a personal estate exceeds a million dollars, while on the basis of the figures at which Frank Chance disposed of his ten per cent interest in the club at the time he was let out as manager, $40,000, the 53 per cent interest in the club which Murphy still holds can be valued at over $200,000 additional. What'da ya mean "there's no money in baseball?"

Murphy owns a beautiful home in Edgewater, one of the executive residence districts of Chicago; a big touring car, and a million or two gaudy waistcoats that has Joseph's coat of seven colors chased clear under the table. He is a fancy dresser and lives in considerable style. Murphy made no claim beyond the fact that he was heart and soul for Charles Webb Murphy and the financial interests of the Chicago baseball club and the rest of the world, the National and American Leagues included, can go take a running jump at itself. For corroborative testimony to this claim he has but to point to the record of the aforesaid Charles Webb Murphy and the Chicago baseball club for whatever may be your personal opinion of the man and his platform of ideals, it cannot be denied that he has attained his ambitions.

And, after all, has Charles Webb Murphy been guilty of any more reprehensible actions than those that are considered the usual "good business methods" among successful men in other lines of business enterprises? or has he been merely unfortunate in being connected with a business in which the practice of such methods is given a more widespread publicity and more widely condemned than they are in the marts of trade and the industrial world? For he it is sport that this thing that we call sport is really a business to the man who has his money invested, and the actions on the part of a king of the industrial world that would be taken as the natural course of procedure and never be aired outside his own private place of business would cause the baseball business man to receive the condemnation of the entire country. The captain of industry can get down his employees under the iron heel of his authority and still be lauded with glad acclaim by the uncaring world at large, but what the baseball club owner is to his employees is to the entire universe. The doctor buries his mistakes, the lawyer shoves his in jail, but those committed by the baseball magnate are printed in scare head type in every sporting page in the land.

Creations Seen at Millinery Openings in Brantford Stores

AT J. M. YOUNG & CO.'S

You must be fair and under forty to wear the eccentricities in hats that are now being put on the millinery counters. The pictures shown are not caricatures, but actual hat fashions drawn from some of the head gear shown. The artist, however, has labeled them as they struck his masculine fancy. Which one, Mr. Man, would you like to see your wife wear?

AT E. B. CROMPTON & CO.'S

Some of us can remember seeing up in the attic a hat which grandmother fondly called a "Dolly Varden." This year the milliners are bringing out one with the lace frills and the pink ribbons and roses that closely resemble it. These hats are built up in the back and are almost flat on the top. They are made of tagal braid and are usually of delicate colors. The one shown is of pale blue tagal braid with white lace and pink and blue morning glories and blue ribbon. It would be beautiful with a white lingerie gown.

AT OGILVIE, LOCHEAD & CO.'S

Jet will usually be the choice of the woman who always wears the right thing for the first spring hat. But unless you can afford more than one hat a season do not buy one trimmed with jet, as these hats are to be the most popular of the spring "vintage" and they will become very common. The very charming one pictured has an upstanding brim of the tagal braid faced with gathered taffeta which is used as a background for the upstanding ruffle of embroidered net.

TARZAN OF THE APES

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company

Slowly and softly they began tapping upon the resounding surface of the drum as the first faint rays of the ascending moon silvered the treetops.

As the light increased the females augmented the frequency and force of their blows until presently a rhythmic din pervaded the jungle for miles in every direction.

As the din of the drum rose to almost deafening volume Kerchak sprang into the open space between the squatting males and the drummers.

Standing erect, he threw his head far back, and looking full into the eye of the rising moon, he beat upon his breast with his great hairy paws and emitted his fearful roaring shriek.

Once—twice—thrice that terrifying cry rang out across the teeming solitude of that unpeopled jungle, yet unthinkably dead, world.

Then, crouching, Kerchak slunk noiselessly around the open circle, veering far away from the dead body lying before the altar drum, but as he passed keeping his little, fierce, wicked red eyes upon the corpse.

Another male then sprang into the arena and, repeating the horrid cries of his king, followed stealthily in his wake.

In quick succession until the jungle resounded with the now almost ceaseless notes of their bloodthirsty screams.

It was the challenge and the hunt. When all the adult males had joined in the thin line of circling dancers the attack commenced.

Kerchak seized a huge club from the pile which lay at hand for the purpose, rushed furiously upon the dead ape, dealing the corpse a terrific blow, at the same time emitting the growls and snarls of combat.

The din of the drum was now increased, as well as the frequency of the blows, and the warriors, as each approached the victim of the hunt and delivered his bludgeon blow, joined in the mad whirl of the death dance.

Tarzan was one of the wild, leaping horde. His brown, sweat streaked, muscular body glistening in the moonlight, shone supple and graceful among the uncouth, awkward, hairy brutes about him.

For half an hour the weird dance went on, until, at a sign from Kerchak, the noise of the drums ceased, the female drummers scampering hurriedly through the line of dancers toward the outer rim of squatting spectators.

Then, as one man, the males rushed headlong upon the thing which their terrific blows had reduced to a mass of hairy pulp.

Fleets seldom came to their jaws in satisfying quantities, so a fit finale to their wild revel was a taste of fresh killed meat, and it was to the purpose of devouring their late enemy that they now turned their attention.

Tarzan more than the apes craved and needed flesh. Descended from a race of meat eaters, never in his life he had thought, had he once satisfied his appetite for animal food, and so now his agile little body wormed its way far into the mass of struggling apes in an endeavor to obtain a share which his strength would have been unequal to the task of winning for him.

At his side he felt the hunting knife of his unknown father in a sheath self-fashioned in copy of one he had seen among the pictures of his treasure books.

At last he reached the fast disappearing feast and with his sharp knife slashed off a more generous portion than he had hoped for.

Then he wriggled out from beneath the struggling mass, clutching his prize close.

Among those cowering futilely the outskirts of the banqueters was old Tublat. He had been among the first at the feast, but had retreated with a goodly share to eat in quiet and was now forcing his way back for more.

So it was that he spied Tarzan emerging from the clanking throng.

Tublat's bloodshot, pig eyes sent out wicked gleams of hate as they fell upon the object of his loathing. In them, too, was greed for the meat the boy carried.

But Tarzan saw his arch enemy as quickly and, divining what the beast would do, leaped nimbly away toward the women and children, hoping to hide himself among them.

Tublat, however, was close upon him, so that he had no opportunity to seek a place of concealment, but saw that he would be put to it to escape at all.

Swiftly he sped toward the trees and with a bound gained a lower limb with one hand, and then, transferring his burden to his teeth, he climbed rapidly upward, closely followed by Tublat.

Up, up he went to the waving pinnacle of a lofty monarch of the forest where his heavy pursuer dare not follow him. Perched there, he hurled taunts and insults at the raging beast fifty feet below him.

And then Tublat went mad. With horrifying screams and roars he rushed to the ground and among the females and young, sinking his

At his side he felt the hunting knife of his unknown father in a sheath self-fashioned in copy of one he had seen among the pictures of his treasure books.

At last he reached the fast disappearing feast and with his sharp knife slashed off a more generous portion than he had hoped for.

Then he wriggled out from beneath the struggling mass, clutching his prize close.

Among those cowering futilely the outskirts of the banqueters was old Tublat. He had been among the first at the feast, but had retreated with a goodly share to eat in quiet and was now forcing his way back for more.

So it was that he spied Tarzan emerging from the clanking throng.

Tublat's bloodshot, pig eyes sent out wicked gleams of hate as they fell upon the object of his loathing. In them, too, was greed for the meat the boy carried.

But Tarzan saw his arch enemy as quickly and, divining what the beast would do, leaped nimbly away toward the women and children, hoping to hide himself among them.

Tublat, however, was close upon him, so that he had no opportunity to seek a place of concealment, but saw that he would be put to it to escape at all.

Swiftly he sped toward the trees and with a bound gained a lower limb with one hand, and then, transferring his burden to his teeth, he climbed rapidly upward, closely followed by Tublat.

Up, up he went to the waving pinnacle of a lofty monarch of the forest where his heavy pursuer dare not follow him. Perched there, he hurled taunts and insults at the raging beast fifty feet below him.

And then Tublat went mad. With horrifying screams and roars he rushed to the ground and among the females and young, sinking his great fangs into them. But it was not until he attacked Kala that Tarzan dropped to offer battle to him.

The infuriated brute found himself facing the man-child who stood between him and Kala.

Nothing could have suited the fierce beast better, and with a roar of triumph he leaped upon the little Lord Greystoke. But his fangs never closed in that nut brown flesh.

His muscular hand shot out and grasped the hairy throat, and another plunged a keen hunting knife a dozen times into the broad breast. Like lightning the blows fell and only ceased when Tarzan felt the limp form crumple beneath him.

As the body rolled to the ground Tarzan of the apes placed his foot upon the neck of his lifelong enemy and, raising his eyes to the full moon, threw back his fierce young head and voiced the wild cry of his people.

One by one the tribe swung down from their arboreal retreats and formed a circle about Tarzan and his vanquished foe. When they had all come Tarzan turned toward them.

"I am Tarzan!" he cried. "I am a great killer! Let all respect Tarzan of the apes and Kala, his mother! There be none among you as mighty as Tarzan. Let his enemies beware!"

Looking full into the wicked red eyes of Kerchak, the young Lord Greystoke beat upon his mighty breast and screamed out once more his shrill cry of defiance.

Tarzan of the apes lived on in his wild, jungle existence with little change for several years, only that he grew stronger and wiser and learned from his books more and more of the strange worlds which lay somewhere outside his primeval forest.

Many days during these years he spent in the cabin of his father, where still lay untouched the bones of his parents and the little skeleton of Kala's baby. At eighteen he read fluently and understood nearly all he read.

Also could he write with printed letters rapidly and plainly, but script he had not mastered, for, though there were several copybooks among his treasures, there was so little written English in the cabin that he saw no use of bothering with this other form of writing, though he could read it laboriously.

Thus, at eighteen, we find him an English lordling who could speak no English, yet who could read and write his native language. Never had he seen a human being other than his tribe, for the little area traversed by his self, for the little area traversed by his tribe was watered by no great river to bring down the savage natives of the interior.

High hills shut it off on three sides, the ocean on the fourth. It was alive with lions and tigers and leopards and poisonous snakes. Its untouched mazes of matted jungle had as yet invited no hardy pioneer among the humans beyond its frontier.

But as Tarzan of the apes sat one day in the cabin of his father, delving into the mysteries of a new book, the ancient security of his jungle was broken forever.

At the far eastern confine a strange cavalcade strung in single file over the brow of a low mountain.

In advance were fifty black warriors armed with slender wooden spears, with ends hard baked over slow fires, and long bows and poisoned arrows. On their backs were oval shields, in their noses hung rings, while from the kinky wool of their heads protruded tufts of gray feathers.

Following them were several hundred women and children, the former bearing upon their heads great burdens of cooking pots, household utensils and ivory. In the rear were a hundred warriors, similar in all respects to the advance guard.

That they more greatly feared an attack from the rear than whatever unknown enemies might lurk ahead was evidenced by the formation of the column, and such was the fact, for they were fleeing from the white man's soldiers who had harassed them for rubber and ivory.

For three days the little cavalcade marched slowly through the heart of this unknown and untracked forest, until finally, early in the fourth day, they came upon a little spot near the banks of a small river which seemed less thickly overgrown than any ground they had encountered before.

Here they set to work to build a new village, and in a month a great clearing had been made, butts and palisades erected, plantations yams and maize planted, and they had taken up their old life in their new home. Here there were no white men, no soldiers nor any rubber or ivory to be gathered for thankless taskmasters.

Several moons passed ere the blacks ventured far into the territory surrounding their new village. Several had already fallen prey to old Sabor, the tiger, and because the jungle was so infested with these fierce and bloodthirsty cats and with lions and leopards the ebony warriors hesitated to trust themselves far from the safety of their palisades.

But one day Kulonga, a son of the old king Mbonga, wandered far into the dense mazes to the west. Warily he stepped, his slender lance ever ready, his long oval shield grasped in his left hand close to his body—in his back his bow, and in the quiver upon his shield many slim, straight arrows, well smeared with the thick, tarry substance that rendered deadly their keenest needle prick.

Night found Kulonga far from the palisades of his father's village, but still headed westward, and, climbing into the fork of a great tree, he fashioned a rude platform and curled himself for sleep.

(To be continued.)

Lord Emmett at a meeting in London said there was no general desire in the Dominion for closer organic union.

Evanturel Says There Will Be No Flourishes

TORONTO, March 10.—Mr. Evanturel, speaking to-day after his return from Prescott county, said:

"There will be no flourishes. My resignation will go to the Speaker in a letter like this: 'Dear Mr. Speaker, I hereby tender my resignation to the Legislature as the member for Prescott'."

"There will be no long speech, then."

"Not any at all. My resignation will go in, and that will be the end of it."

"Will you again be a candidate?"

"That has not yet been decided. I may, but I cannot say at this time."

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Grandma's Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens so Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly composed and used, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair.

Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this soot brush with it and draw this strand at a time; by morning the gray disappears, and after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

ONTARIO WILL OFFER A REWARD FOR RADIUM

$25,000 Will be Paid for the First Strike of Ore in Ontario—Government Reserves Right to Enter Lands.

TORONTO, March 11.—To discover whether Ontario possesses rich and valuable mineral, radium and to reserve to the government the right of its disposition, if located in any considerable quantity, the Minister of Lands, Forest and Mines laid a bill before the Legislature yesterday, providing a reward of $25,000 to the man who makes the first lucky strike. In case the materials are found in any remarkable quantity, the Government reserves the right to enter upon the lands, whether located, sold or in anywise held, and to work the deposit.

Holy Roller Fanatics Beat Persons Almost to Death To Stamp Out the Devils

Galesburg, Ill., March 11.—The beating almost to death of persons in this State by fanatics among the Holy Rollers, and other orgies enacted by members of that peculiar sect in other States, shows the remarkable spread of an alleged religion.

The jails of Union and Jasper counties are filled with preachers and elders of the Holy Roller sect, who rejoice in the inhuman beatings they administered to youths under the guise of casting out devils.

At Newton indignation caused an uprising and the church that housed the Holy Rollers was burned and the leaders placed in jail.

In the jail at Jonesboro, Holy Roller leaders are boasting of their accomplishments.

In each of these Illinois counties in the remote regions where the population is sparse and the police regulations vague, reigns of terror exist. Men and women have been threatened with death for failure to heed the frantic demands that they embrace the faith. Homes have been burned and valuable animals killed.

These acts are, the Holy Rollers claim, visitations of God on sinners.

Since the first appearance of the Holy Rollers, when they were organized in Canadagua, N.Y., in June, 1901, by N.L.A. Eastman, a Country school teacher, the cult has spread throughout the country.

The story by Walter Ellis now in jail at Jonesboro, is typical of Holy Rollerism.

"I had conducted a meeting at the home of James Baltzell," said Ellis. "It was a glorious meeting, and the spirit was showered upon us, and many saw the evil of their ways. It was after midnight when the meeting broke up, and I went to the home of Lindolph Hickman to pass the night. Hickman is of the faith and we prayed for his son Noah, that he might be led into the light.

Even while we were praying the manifestation began. I prayed in the unknown tongue, which came to me as a gift from God. While I was praying Noah Hickman fell to the floor and groveled as though in great pain.

I realized that our prayers were to be answered. It was plain that he was possessed of a devil. Then we agreed that in order to cast out the evil spirit we should all pray, and, in accord with the divine injunction, lay on hands.

We prayed without ceasing and we laid on hands until day broke. There was none but members of the Hickman family present. At 7 o'clock we conquered the devil. The devil, speaking through young Hickman, agreed to leave, but asked where he should go.

Go back to hell, where you belong, I replied to the evil spirit. Then the devil left Noah Hickman and entered me.

I realized this in an instant. I had terrible pains in my side and I cried out in agony. It was while I was powerless and while the devil had gained complete mastery over me that Hickman received his injuries.

While I was controlled by the devil I removed my shoes, and while Hickman's relatives held him on the floor so he was powerless I beat him in the face with the heels of my shoes. I jumped on his body and stamped him. But it was not I who wished this. It was the devil who commanded and I had been overcome for the time-being and could not resist.

Ellis made no effort to gain his freedom. He said that when the Lord wanted him to resume preaching the doors of the jail would swing open to him, "as they did to the apostles of old."

The beating of Cameron and Raymond Richardson, two boys living near Newton, Ill., was a part of the service at a Sunday morning session, at which "Rev." David Lyons presided.

It was decided that the boys were possessed of devils and the pastor and the members of the congregation equipped themselves with whips, threw the boys to the floor and proceeded to chastise them severely.

Zion Church Guild
The Young People's Guild of Zion Church held their usual weekly meeting Monday night. After the opening exercises Mr. B. A. Caspell, chairman of the Missionary Committee, took charge. The topic was "Greater or Northern Ontario" and Mr. Caspell first gave a paper dealing with the subject generally, after which interesting papers were given on the Field and its History. The people and their work, some of the problems and the Outlook by Messrs. McLaughlin, A. Baird, J. Moffat and C. Joyce. Mr. Woodside gave a talk after the papers had been read on the great work to be done and the need of missionaries to do it. During the evening Mr. G. Pickles rendered a solo very acceptably.

A militant entered the National Gallery in London and hacked the famous "Rokeby Venus" with a knife.

CANADIAN MINER MISSING IN MEX.

Mrs. F. T. Cromwell, of Vancouver, Asks That Search be Made for Her Husband.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 11.—F. T. Cromwell, a man mining from Vancouver, B.C., disappeared in Sonora, Mexico, last December, according to a letter received here yesterday from Mrs. Cromwell, who asks that search be made for her husband.

Cromwell was last seen in Tucson, on December 26. He wrote to his wife that he intended to go to Sonora and would return on January 1. She has not heard from him since.

United States officials are reported to have been working on the case for several weeks without success. Cromwell is said to be wealthy.

MUNICIPAL STORE OPENS IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 11.—"This is the first step toward municipal markets," said Dr. R. A. White, vice-chairman of the city commission on unemployment, as he walked into the first experimental municipal store here.

"Only those who are out of employment will be allowed to buy groceries here," explained Dr. White.

"What's the difference in price between this and any other store?" "Prices as compared with those ascertained in retail stores are:

	Regular Price.	City Price.
Soap, bar	$.05	$.03 1/2
Bacon, pound	.30	.17
Rice, pound	.06	.02 1/2
Canned Goods	.10	.06
Coffee, pound	.35	.19
Tea, pound	.60	.24
Lard, 3 lb. can	.50	.35
Flour, 25 lb. can	.65	.52

For the present the stock will consist of groceries and staple commodities, but later it is planned to add clothing, fuel and other necessities.

Shopped in the Bath.
At an inquest at Barton Union of fices, on an inmate named Mary Chapman, 77, it was stated that she slipped while in a bath and broke her thigh. The workhouse medical officer said the cause of death was chronic inflammation of the lungs, though the accident doubtless accelerated her end. The woman's bones were very brittle. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

FRENCH WOMEN FIGHT INDECENCY IN DRESS

Patriotic League Plans Vigorous Campaign—Nation's Name in Peril.

PARIS, March 10.—The Patriotic League of French Women has taken the initiative in a campaign against indecency in dress. A manifesto was issued to-day to society women, signed by Vicomtesse de Velard, Marquise de Montaigu, Marquise de Moustiers, Comtesse de Ville, and Duchesse de Maille, and is in response to injunctions recently read by some Bishops and Cardinal Amette on women to league together and abolish the use of garments which are contrary to decency. "We ask," says the manifesto, "all elegant and young women who set the tone in France not only not to yield to but combine courageously against the present tendency by precept and example. What they do other women of more modest condition who have their eyes fixed upon them will do in their turn. Let us also not forget that we must have a care for the reputation which France has hitherto borne for elegance and taste. All who desire to join the movement are requested to register their names at the offices of the league, with a view to bringing pressure to bear on the principal couturiers and big establishments.

The Secretary of the league, a good-looking woman in a black dress, with which not even the most rabid reformer could have found fault, explained the situation thus: "Fashion has gone beyond all bounds. We intend to react. The youngest and prettiest leaguers are to head the movement, and we shall force the chief fashion establishments to conform their ideas within more decent limits, so that a woman who desires to be modest need not find herself compelled to be indecent. Their dresses cannot be tolerated, especially in church. Why, a cure was obliged to refuse to give his blessings to a marriage because the bride's white dress was so flagrantly transparent. Let the women of the stage do anything they please, but as for us society women it is a different thing."

WELLAND, CANADA
(INCORPORATED UNDER THE ONTARIO COMPANIES ACT)

7%

CUMULATIVE PREFERENCE STOCK

Preferential as to Capital as well as Dividends

Par value of Shares, $100.00

Subject to redemption at any time after five years from the date of issue, upon three months' notice, and payment of accrued dividends, at $110.00 per share.

Price: Par, with a bonus of 50% Common Stock

Fractional shares of Common Stock will be dealt in at $50 per share

The Electric Steel and Metals Company, Limited, will manufacture the following articles:—Light-weight, high-grade steel castings; manganese and other alloy steel castings; bar steel suitable for rifles; bar steel for rock drills, boring machines, etc.; ingots for forging shops; ingots for tool-steel manufacturers.

After a careful study of the conditions existing in Canada for the last three years, and a report made by Mr. David Carnegie, Consulting Engineer, of London, England, based on a two-months' investigation in the United States and Canada in the early summer of 1913, the following conditions were found to exist:—

That light, high-grade steel castings, which are largely employed in Canada, in the manufacture of almost every class of machinery, were mostly imported from the United States.

That manganese and other alloy steel castings were, almost without exception, imported from the United States and Great Britain.

That bar steel suitable for rifles and for rock drills, boring machines, etc., is not made in Canada, and has to be imported.

That ingots for forgings are nearly all imported from the United States. That ingots for tool-steel manufacturers are not made in Canada, and there being no duty into the United States on such ingots, they can be exported into that country.

And that all steel castings are subject to a duty of 27 1/2% ad valorem.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE

Our plant in Welland will be ready for operation about May 1st, 1914, and will have a capacity of 4,000 tons of steel castings per annum. The total cost of this first plant, including organization, site, foundry equipment, electrical furnace, all buildings, labor and engineer's charges, will be under $130,000 by contracts already made by the company. Seventy thousand dollars will be reserved for working capital, making a total outlay of $200,000 for the production above mentioned.

ESTIMATED EARNINGS

Hydro-electric power is available at fourteen dollars per horsepower per annum, this price being subject to reduction as the load increases.

Next in importance to the small power cost comes the fact that the Heroult electric furnace can be operated entirely on scrap, and can produce therefrom the very finest quality of steel. We are, therefore, independent of the pig-iron market, which sometimes is overvalued.

The Company is also favored with a fixed assessment of $10,000 for a period of twenty years, the taxes on which will not exceed $500 per annum.

The five-ton electric furnace which we are installing will handle five heats per day, and on this basis the plant will produce 4,000 tons of finished castings per annum. In the following estimate of earnings we have based our calculations on a production of three-quarters this capacity, namely, 3,000 tons.

Our earnings are estimated as follows:—

3,000 tons steel castings, selling at $120.00 per ton	$360,000.00
Less cost of production, at $83.00 per ton	249,000.00
	$111,000.00
Less depreciation on plant and machinery	16,000.00
	$95,000.00
Less 7% dividend on $200,000 Preferred Stock	14,000.00
	$81,000.00

The above costs of production and basis of selling prices have all been carefully prepared under the advice of Mr. David Carnegie, and detailed statements may be inspected at the Company's office in Welland.

Liberal members with great earnest zeal in the interests of farmer, demanded that the Government remove the duties, the Laurier Government main on agricultural implements. The mand was made on the motion into Committee of Supply, a momentary time, since amending that motion are considered, if p as votes of want of confidence administration. Moreover pointed out by Hon. Arthur changes in the tariff are only in the budget of the Government operative. He further legislation. Therefore, a ment in advance of the budget might have unfortunate results point was dealt with by Hon. R. L. Borden in his reply to Mr. W. E. Knowlton. The Prime Minister said the government was considering duties on agricultural implements the tariff generally. He pointed out some points which would be considered in dealing with the on implements, namely that plow-making firms had been driven to the wall by a reduction of duty the past, and that the removal of the duties might open the Canadian market to the United States ment combine.

The argument of the Western crals who spoke of Mr. Gut South Wellington was that Canadian manufacturers of agricultural implements were able to compete in foreign markets, and should be a complete without tariff protection, when they obtained the material of iron, steel and practically free of duty.

Mr. Knowlton's amendment was ed down.
