A very successful surprise party took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spence, Main street, on Monday evening last, March 7th, when their children and grand children to the number of 27 assembled to do honor to, and congratulate their father and grandfather, on the occasion of his seventy-ninth birthday. Although taken completely by surprise Mr. and Mrs. Spence joined heartily in the merriment of the young people. After refreshments were served, music (not the least of which was Mr. Spence's singing of "When you and I was young Maggie") and games brought a very enjoyable evening to a close, all hoping for many such occasions.

Interpreting Omens

To the Editor,—

In the folds of last week's Review I discovered a live spider. Would you please let me know if that is a sign of good or bad luck?

A Millgrove Subscriber.

The appearance of a spider in a copy of last week's paper was a sign of neither good nor bad luck; that intelligent little insect was merely studying our columns in order to ascertain whether any store in this neighborhood had failed to advertise in our paper, in order that he might make for that establishment and there weave a web across the doorway, where he might dwell in an undisturbed peace.—Editor.

W. A. A. Items

A local match of interest will be played Saturday evening when the Up-town base-ball and basket ball team will endeavor to defeat their brethren of the south. Admission 15c. Members free by showing membership cards.

The St. Patrick's Social on Thursday evening is becoming very interesting, and the W. A. A. has reason to believe the people of Waterdown will assist with lunch boxes.

The floor of the Rink has been kept in good shape this week, there being very little dust as all members are good enough to use running shoes.

The association would like ladies to come out on Wednesday evening when they have the rink to themselves for basket ball and tennis.

The small boys class from 4 to 5.30 are having a good time. The club want them all to come.

Physical exercises will be held next week from 8 to 8.20 p. m. for Senior members.

Mountsburg

Mr. Dennis Hunter has bought the Morden property at Freulton and intends moving there in the near future.

Mr. J. Nichol of Freulton is moving on the farm vacated by Mr. Hunter.

This would be a fine place for a Theatre as Mountsburg can boast of a "Movie Star" now.

Mr. Will McGuire is moving to the farm known as the "Old Buckley Farm."

Mr. Elliot of Morriston has bought the farm recently occupied by the McGuire Bros., and is busy moving.

Wedding bells will soon be ringing in our town.

Mr. Thomas Nicholson has rented his farm to Mr. Joseph Smith of Westover and intends holding an Auction sale in the near future.

Miss Winnie Mitchell spent the week end with her cousin, Mrs. Wm. Watson of Campbellville.

The funeral of Mr. Thos. McKenna took place from his late residence on Saturday morning to Freulton R. C. cemetery for interment.

A large number from here attended Linn Bros. Auction sale on Monday.

Come On! Come On!

I am going to trade at Dale's Store after this because I can always rely on getting the best both in Groceries and Meats, and I find the price is just as low at Dale's Store as anywhere in Hamilton and I have always got 16 oz. to the pound. I can buy 2 boxes of Corn Flakes for 25c. Cream of Barley for 30c a package, Bee Hive Syrup in 5 lb. pails for 55c. I got Pride of the Valley Flour there yesterday for $1.35 a sack and Thistledown Flour at $1.40 a 24 lb. sack. Also I would not think of going anywhere else for my meats when I can buy meat as good as I get at Dale's, it is always clean and kept right and you can depend on the Quality. You can not beat the Bread that Dale sells, it is kept under the most sanitary conditions.

You can not go wrong in dealing at Dale's

The Sunday School Lesson

Lesson XI. March 13.
THE LORD'S SUPPER

Lesson—Matt. 26: 14-30. Printed Text
Matt. 26: 20-30.

Golden Text.—"As often as ye eat this bread, and drink the cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till he come" (1 Cor. 11: 26).

Historical Setting.
Time.—Commonly reckoned, Apr. 6, A. D. 30. Place.—Jerusalem.

The Lesson Text.

20 Now when even was come he was sitting at meat with the twelve disciples:

21 and as they were eating, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began to say unto him every one, Is it I, Lord?

23 And he answered and said, He that dipped his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me.

24 The Son of man goeth, even as it is written of him: but woe unto that man through whom the Son of man is betrayed: good were it for that man if he had not been born.

25 And Judas, who betrayed him, answered and said, Is it I, I, Rabbi? He saith unto him, Thou hast said.

26 And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it; and he gave to the disciples, and said, Take, eat: this is my body.

27 And he took a cup, and gave thanks, and gave to them, saying, Drink ye all of it:

28 for this is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many unto remission of sins.

29 But I say unto you, I shall not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.

30 And when they had sung a hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives.

Comments.

Verse 20. Jesus started from Bethany, Broadus thinks, late in the afternoon, and reached the upper room about sunset, which would be at that season a little after six o'clock.

Verse 21. The paschal supper regularly consisted of the lamb, which represented the offering whose blood sprinkled upon the doorpost had saved Israel in Egypt. With it were eaten bitter herbs, representing the bitter bondage in Egypt. At the point when the company ordinarily partook of the lamb, Jesus took bread and blessed it and gave to the disciples. Christ Himself was the paschal lamb. The unleavened bread symbolized the haste with which they parted.

Verse 22. To be warned of so heavy a crime as this was calculated to produce deep sorrow and consternation.

Verse 23. This saying of Jesus narrowed the circle in which the guilty was to be found and pointed out the extreme treachery of one so close to Him.

Verse 24. This statement indicates that the betrayal of Jesus, while a matter of prophecy, did not remove responsibility from the guilty.

Verse 25. The betrayal was predestined, but betrayal by Judas was not predestined. Judas was justly punished because he voluntarily took the evil business upon himself.

Verse 26. The meal had been interrupted by the announcement of treason. Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper at the close of this paschal meal, and not as a part of it (Luke 22: 20; 1 Cor. 11: 25). Jesus probably designated bread, and not a lamb, to be used at the Lord's Supper because the types and shadows were to cease when the real sacrifice must come. The expression, "This is my body," must have been figurative because the living Christ was present.

Verse 27. Nowhere in the accounts of the Lord's Supper is the word "wine" used, but "cup." Paschal wine was mixed with water.

Verse 28. Christ's blood sealed the new covenant between God and all mankind.

Verse 29. Reference is here made to the spiritual feast in the glorified and higher existence (Luke 22: 30). There may also be a comparison between the Christian dispensation and the Jewish, for in the former Christ is spiritually present with all His sincere followers as they gather about His table on the first day of the week. The words must have made a solemn impression upon His disciples, and should impress us in the same manner.

Verse 30. In the shadow of the cross the Man of sorrow lifted His voice in praise.

Illustrated Truth.

We need to be reminded of the sacrifice of Christ for us (Golden Text).

Illustration.—During the World War a lady often visited in a home from which the young husband and father had gone into service. She noticed that the latter's chair was always placed at the table, and that the children took turns in putting it in place. "This is Ned's day for placing father's chair," the mother would say. When she was asked why this was done she said: "My husband knew that I did not need to be reminded of him, but the children are so young that he was afraid they might forget, so he asked that we do this of which you speak."

Topics for Research and Discussion.

I. The Betrayal—Predicted (vs. 20-22). 1. Where and when did Jesus meet His disciples as described in this lesson? 2. What did the articles of food symbolize in this paschal supper? 3. Describe the effect that must have been produced, by Jesus' words in verse 21. 4. In whose heart was consternation most acute?

II. The Betrayer Pointed Out (vs. 23-25). 5. Do you suppose that the other disciples knew who could be guilty of such a crime? 6. How do you reconcile things here: was Judas responsible or not? 7. Why was Judas' punishment just?

III. The Supper Instituted (vs. 26-30). 8. Was the Lord's Supper the same as this paschal meal? 9. What fact proves the expression, "This is my body," to be figurative? 10. What "day" is referred to in verse 29? 11. Why did Jesus designate bread to be used at His supper instead of a lamb?

IMPORTANT POINTS IN HATCHING CHICKS.

During the hatching season the poultry house, and particularly the nest, should be kept clean. Clean water and a supply of whole grain should be provided also. If more than one hatch is being taken off, clean out and disinfect the nest after each hatch and put in new soil and fresh litter. Dust the hen with insect powder before putting her in the nest, and again a day or two before leaving the nest with the chickens. It is a good plan to put into the dust bath a little dry sulphur or ground tobacco.

Be sure also that the house is free from mites. These little pests get into the cracks and corners of the building, and at night, as the hens are roosting, they come out of their hiding place, get on the hen's body, and it does not take very many of them to make a hen so uneasy that she cannot sit. In some cases the mites become so troublesome that they actually worry the hens to death.

How to Get Rid of Mites.

Clean out the house and thoroughly sweep, not forgetting the windows, walls and ceiling. When this is all swept out clean, use a garden hose or a stiff brush and hot water. See that everything in the cracks and crevices is washed out. After this is done allow the house to dry for a while and if everything then appears to be clean, use a good disinfectant, and be sure that the solution is forced by the spray or brush right into the cracks and crevices. If the mites are bad, use boiling water, followed by coal oil and a liquid lice killer or lice plant. Be sure that this goes into the cracks and crevices, and when you have gone over your house thoroughly according to the above treatment, in all probability the mites will be exterminated, but it is advisable in the course of three or four days again to inspect for the mites and perhaps to repeat the dose once more.

HICCUP EPIDEMIC PREVALENT.

Don't get the habit of hiccups—stop the slightest attack at the beginning. Nothing brings such magical relief as slowly sipping a few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water. For stomach pains, bloating, cramps, diarrhoea, nothing will prove more useful in every home than a 35-cent bottle of good old Nerviline.

The net value of the gold, together with 220 ounces of silver recovered, was $4,099,596.

PREFERENCE GIVEN TO THE NEWSPAPERS

RETAIL CLOTHIERS EMPHASIZE EFFECTIVENESS OF ADVERTISING.

Delegates to the convention of the Ontario Retail Clothiers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada at Toronto were treated to a number of instructive talks on practical methods of advertising and the results obtained when properly placed. Of the many methods suggested the general consensus of opinion was that newspaper advertising was productive of the most effective results. It was pointed out by several speakers that the action of many of the leading journals of Canada in eliminating from their pages, advertising material of a questionable character had been the means of inducing many prospective advertisers to consider more seriously than ever before the real and practical value of newspaper advertising.

CANNOT BECOME CENSUS OFFICIALS

ENUMERATORS BARRED WHO ARE CONNECTED WITH MUNICIPAL COUNCILS.

The Department of Statistics at Ottawa will notify the assessment commissioners in each riding that it will not be permitted to make any appointments of any officials connected with Municipal Councils to the position of enumerator or any other position in connection with the taking of the census. The reason for this is that there is a lot of information which the Government will require to be taken and which will be of a confidential nature. The Government desires to make it impossible for this information to be used for taxation purposes either for Municipal, Provincial or Dominion legislatures.

This prohibition will extend to Reeves, rural councilors, town clerks, assessors, collectors, road masters, etc., or any person connected in any way with Provincial or Municipal offices.

AMALGAMATE DEPARTMENTS

All Branches Looking After Returned Men to Come Under D. S. C. R.

Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, the pensions and insurance branches and other branches dealing with returned soldiers' problems are likely, it is rumored, to be amalgamated into one department, to be known as the Department of Returned Soldiers' Affairs.

The creation of such a department receives considerable support on the ground that it would expedite the handling of returned soldier problems. If created, it would probably be handled by a deputy minister working under the general supervision of one of the existing ministers.

Fought With Moose.

George Hinton, of Doaktown, N.B., broke two of his ribs on the last day of the moose-hunting season, when he was hurled from the antlers of a gigantic old bull, crashing his way through the thick woods near Fredericton. Hinton had wounded the moose, and was turning his attention to a band of six others in the vicinity, when the noise of his "kill" staggering to his feet, made him turn around. The huge bulk of the infuriated bull was almost atop of him. Grasping the massive antlers with both hands Hinton was swung clear of the trip-hammer hoofs, and carried off at a great pace into the woods, clinging to the head of the injured moose. After a ride of some distance Hinton was thrown from his exalted position, his steed continuing his wild career. Hinton is one of the best known moose-hunting guides on the Mirimachi.

Grass By the Yard.

Many people, suburban dwellers and others, have trouble in growing satisfactory grass. There is a new way to do it.
Sow grass seed thickly on canvas, with enough loam for it to sprout in. If properly watered, the canvas will soon be covered with a fine crop of grass.
It is then ready for the lawn. The soil of the latter having been duly prepared and made smooth, cover it with the canvas grassmats, keeping them closely together. The roots of the grass plants will quickly push through the interstices of the canvas.
By this means a lawn can be made in a few hours.

Won Inside Out.

Hey, there!" yelled the slap-stick comedian. "Your shoes are inside out." His running mate halted. "Whatta ya mean?" he asked scornfully. "How can my shoes be inside out?" "Didn't you wear 'em inside?" "Yuh." "An' didn't yuh wear 'em from inside out here?" "Sure." "Then why shouldn't they be inside out?" And then the fun started.

Our First Postal Route.

The first postal route in Canada was established in 1721, between Montreal and Quebec. A mail route between Quebec and Halifax followed in 1784, under Governor Haldimand. The first mail service to Upper Canada (Ontario) began in 1789, when post offices were established at Kingston, Niagara and Detroit.

OUR BOYS' AND GIRLS' CORNER

DEDICATED TO EVERY BOY AND GIRL IN CANADA

My Dear Boys and Girls:

Did you ever have nightmare? I hope very much you are not acquainted with this unpleasant form of dreamland adventure. Years ago when I was a little girl I can remember having what I was told afterwards was nightmare, that is a very bad dream. Sometimes the dream took the form of tumbling over, or being chased by some big animal. I expect the reason for it was that I had been eating too many pies, perhaps, the night before. Well now I am grown up I cannot truthfully say that I suffer from nightmare, but I have just been thinking that if I did I would probably dream that all the letter boxes in the world were running after me and then I became buried under a perfect avalanche of letters, letters, letters. However, here I am, very wide awake indeed and far from having nightmare about it. I am really perfectly delighted to see so many letters come tumbling out of my box from boys and girls in all parts of Canada. There is only one thing about them, I do not like, and that is I cannot answer every letter immediately for this is what I would like to do so that no one should have to wait to see his or her letter in print. If I attempted to do this, however, our small box would fill more than two sheets of the paper so that we shall have to be patient and wait until each takes their turn, so I am going to ask you all to remember this when looking for your particular letter. I love to get your letters and would like to write to each one of you separately but that is not always possible.

Who is the Helper in Tansley, Ontario Who Forgot to Sign the Letter?
If this boy or girl will write again Aunt June will print the letter and send a badge.

Dear Aunt June:—I am eleven year old. I go to school every day. I am in the third class. I help mother to do quite a few things such as set the table, wash and dry the dishes, I help scrub on Saturdays. I help wash. I can embroider. I have four brothers and no sisters. I have a pet cat. I call her Topsy. I help feed the sheep, cows and calves. We have to feed about forty head of sheep, two cows and two calves. I will close, hoping this will find you well. Will your please send me a badge.

Yours sincerely,
MERYL LIVINGSTONE.

Dear Meryl:—You have a nice big farm. I am glad you are so useful. Mother must be very glad to have one little daughter to help her. How nice to think that you can do embroidery work! That is interesting. I hope you will like and wear the badge.

Dear Aunt June:— I have been reading your page for a long time and enjoy it very much. I would like to join your club. I go for the milk and go little errands up town. I go to school every day. I have been sick this week and have not been to school.

With kindest regards to all, I will close. Love to all,
MICKY PICKFORD.
P. S.—You said you did not mind if we used pen names. I have.
Dear Micky:—Thank you very much for your good wishes which I pass on herewith to everyone. I am sorry you could not find the little pledge. Some weeks it is squeezed off the page on account of the number of letters, but we must see if it cannot be fitted in all the time. I think you are a very clever, useful girl judging by all the good things you can make and do. If you were born in England, you have something to share with me, as this aunt was born in England about me, you see. I should like very much to see the jolly garden you speak of. You seem to enjoy life very much and when you become a helper you pass some of that happiness on to others.

Two Little American Cousins Write Interesting Letters.

Missoula, Montana, U.S.A.
Dear Aunt June:—You told me to write and tell you what work I do, so I am doing so now. I go to school every day and I also take music lessons. I do the dishes and scrub the floor for grandma. On Saturdays I dust and clean with the electric sweeper. I have a little canary bird that I take care of. I clean his cage and give him a clean paper, some seeds, water and biscuit every morning. He is singing merrily all the time. He is a very nice singer.
Well I will close for now. I hope to get my badge pretty soon. Your friend, MARJORIE FARRELL.

Dear Marjorie—I am just delighted to hear from you again, as I have been looking for your letter. You are really a true helper. I see by the list of deeds. I am so glad you have a pretty canary. These birds are great pets and get very fond of those who are kind to them. By this time I hope you will have your badge. Write again whenever you wish.

Langdon, North Dakota.
Dear Aunt June—I have been reading the Boys' and Girls' Corner for some time and thought I would like to join, if I may. I am thirteen years old and in my first year high school. Our school closes in May. I live in the country, but I stay in town in the winter to go to school. I room in town and I do my own work and get my own meals. I come home Friday nights and help mama to do the work on Saturday. I hope to be a teacher when I finish high school.

I will close now, hoping I will get a badge, even if I am a "Yankee." I will try to get other boys and girls to join this club.
Wishing your club every success.
Yours truly,
JEAN CUMMINGS.

Dear Jean—Pancy a girl of thirteen doing her own work and getting her own meals! That seems quite a clever thing to me to hear of your efficiency. When you are a teacher you will be able to give good advice to the girls in your class. I am sure, after your own experience.
You shall have a badge. Helping or rather "service" is not a thing peculiar to any one country, but should be universal. It does not matter what nationality you are! If you are trying to help to make the world happier and better for your presence, we want you to join our League. Indeed I would like the "Helpers' League" to spread and grow until boys and girls in all parts of the world form themselves into bands for public service, carrying out the idea in our little pledge. Please write again some day.

Rooseville, Sask.
My Dear Aunt June—Just a line or two to wish everybody a happy New Year. I read your corner in the paper with pleasure, and I notice some of your members are only little tots and are all eager to wear a badge. I can't find the little pledge in your corner that you told "Fudge" and "Bubbles" about. If I could I would sign it and become a member, but will look again next time the paper comes.

I can make bread, pies, cakes and cookies, and also make butter. Of course making butter is quite an easy job when there's lots of salt and fresh water.

I was born in England and came to Canada quite a while ago. I live on a farm and in the summer time I have a nice big garden, little chicks and calves and everything that farm people have. Spring time seems to bring everything that is nice, so does winter; it brings Christmas, New Year's, and 21st of January, so that's why I like winter too.

I went away to camp last year and had a dandy time. I will go again this year too, as I am a member of the C. G. P. S. I take music lessons and like them fine. I notice Alma Hagan told all about herself, so I'll do the same. I am sixteen years old, 4 ft. 3 in. tall, brown, curly hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. I just can't say for sure how much I weigh. How much do you weigh, Aunt June? I'd like to know if you are dark or fair, fat or thin. You never tell about yourself. Why don't you?

With kindest regards to all, I will close. Love to all,
MICKY PICKFORD.

Dear Micky:—You said you did not mind if we used pen names. I have.
Dear Micky:—Thank you very much for your good wishes which I pass on herewith to everyone. I am sorry you could not find the little pledge. Some weeks it is squeezed off the page on account of the number of letters, but we must see if it cannot be fitted in all the time. I think you are a very clever, useful girl judging by all the good things you can make and do. If you were born in England, you have something to share with me, as this aunt was born in England about me, you see. I should like very much to see the jolly garden you speak of. You seem to enjoy life very much and when you become a helper you pass some of that happiness on to others.

You wanted to know how much I weigh. When I visited England last summer I weighed 150 pounds—that is a great deal, isn't it? Then if I tell you my height, you will understand what a big aunt you have. I am 5 ft. 11 and a half inches, with brown hair, Micky, and most people call me fat; neither fat nor thin, but just a happy medium. Now then does this description suit you, or would you like to have some more?

Campbells Bay, Que.
Dear Aunt June—I saw in your corner a lot of letters from other boys and girls and how they help mother. I have no dear, kind mother to help because God called her home three years ago. I always think how happy other children ought to be to have a dear loving mother to help. I am living with another lady. I have no auntie to write to, so I think it is just lovely to write to you. You write such nice, kind letters to the other children. I help wash and scrub and wash dishes, sweep the floor, make the beds and feed the hens. I live in the village. I have brown eyes and hair. I go to school and am in grade four. I have a dear little spaniel dog; he is black. We call him Skye. I could tell you lots more but I don't want to take up too much room.
ELIZABETH SMITH.

Dear Elizabeth—I am so glad you wrote to me and to know that you have a happy home although your own dear mother has gone away from you. How nice for you to have a pet. I hope you will like and wear your Helpers' badge. You may be quite sure that Aunt June will always be very glad to hear from you, so you may count that you have a real

Auntie to come to by letter whenever you wish.

Bradford.

Dear Aunt June:—I have intended writing to your corner for a long time, but I am very busy, as I am going to try my entrance this year. I am thirteen years of age and have fair hair and grey eyes. I will tell you the work I do. I go to school every day, practise my music, wash the dishes, dust, and sweep and make bed. I would like very much to win the badge, and will enclose the stamp, but the pledge is not in this week, but I will see if I can get another and sign it.

FORGET-ME-NOT.

Dear Forget-Me-Not—What a pretty pen-name. It reminds me of the little blue-eyed flowers I used to pick on the banks of the River Thames. I wonder if you know where that is. First of all I must wish you all success with your entrance. You deserve it I think as you are doing your best to help others. I hope you will like and wear the badge.

Marmora.

Dear Aunt June:—I have been very much interested in reading your Boys' and Girls' corner for some time, and would like to become a member. I am a girl fourteen years old and am in the junior fourth book. I have one mile to walk to school. I take music lessons and can play very good. I like skating very much. I help my mother. I can wash dishes, sweep the floor, get in the wood and water and milk cows. For pets I have a cat named Tommy and a dog named Rover.

BLUE EYES.

Dear Blue Eyes—How much I would like to hear you play. I love to picture a little girl who is fond of skating, and music and loves her pets. Then with that one mile walk to school I have a very bonny picture indeed. I am glad you are a Helper.

Port Elgin.

Dear Aunt June—I would like to join your club. I am fourteen years old and have a brother sixteen years old. I am in the junior third class. Harold has a team of oxen; but he does not hitch them up very often. These are some of the things I help mother with—washing dishes, sweeping the floor, making the bed, carrying in the wood, peeling the potatoes, and some other things. I go to school every day I am able. I will send the three-cent stamp for a badge. I enjoy reading the boys' and girls' letters.

IVA SYNDER.

Dear Iva—I am very glad you enjoy following our corner I should to see your brother's team of oxen. I have only seen them in the distance at work. You will notice what a number of members we have of your own age, and if you will read the letter which follows this you will see that "Bud" of Hillsdale, would like to write to some other members. I will send you Bud's address if you would like to have it as I think you two might become good friends. I hope you will like your badge.

South River.

Dear Aunt June—I would like to join your League. I have signed the pledge, and am sending it to you. Please send me a badge. I am fourteen years old. I go to school every day, and when I come home at night I get the supper, wash the dishes, sweep the floor, and milk two cows. I have a pet sheep.

HAZEL RALSTON.

Dear Hazel—I hope you will tell me more about yourself. Do you go to school? I am glad to know you have a pet.

Hillsdale.

Dear Aunt June—I have been reading your Boys' and Girls' corner. I enjoy it very, very much. I am a girl of fourteen, and I certainly would like to become a member of your club, and receive the badge.

When my father is away I have to do the outside chores. I drive to the store and do the shopping for mother. I do hope to see my letter in the paper, and would like to correspond with boys or girls my own age. Wishing the club every success.

BUD.

Dear Bud—I think your idea of corresponding with some of the other members is a splendid one. If you will look over some of the other letters in our corner today I am sure you will find some to whom you would like to write. I am glad to welcome you as a true Helper and hope you will wear your badge.

Merlin.
Dear Aunt June—I have been reading in the paper about your badges. I thought I would write and ask you for one badge. I wash the dishes, sweep and dust the room, make the beds, clean the lamps. This is all.
DOROTHY KAY.

Dear Dorothy—I see that you are a true Helper, and I am sending you a badge. Thanks for your letter. Please send me more news of yourself next time you write.

Will all boys and girls please note if your letter is not in the paper this week. You are not forgotten. So many letters have come in that I am unable to answer them all in one week, so look again in Our Corner for your letters and the answers from Yours lovingly,

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are changeable—some bright, the next one cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much in consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STATUE OF EGYPTIAN KING.

An Egyptian statue of King Tout-Ankh-Amar has been acquired by the Museum of the Louvre for just over $45,000. The statue, which has been in a French Prince's possession since 1860, is said to be a great work of art. It was badly mutilated thousands of years before Christ by the King's subjects, wrathful over his misrule.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Minard's Liniment For Burns, Etc.

Under a military law, commanding officers in the French army have the right to perform marriage ceremonies.

It has Many Qualities—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself, and can be got for a quarter of a dollar.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia

It is planned by laying aside an average of $125,000,000 a year for a sinking fund, the war debt of Canada, $2,127,481,800, will be paid before December 1, 1927.

Tithe Giving

To the Members of Grace Church.

Dear Brethren:

Malachi, in the second last chapter of the Old Testament, says "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in my house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of Hosts, if I will not open the windows of heaven and pour you out such a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Many people read this and ignore it, many have never read these words and so many blessings have not been received. On the other hand thousands of trustful Christians have read and profited thereby. They have found the above text to have been proven true. Dollars and cents are only a small part of God's gifts. Health in body and soul, continual growth in the spirit of confidence in this life for oneself and for his dear ones, as well as an abounding hope for an eternal future and a sure trust in the protection of All powerful God are possessions above all other earthly values. At the same time they never fall back in their finances. They can safely count on making some financial progress each year. They prove the Scripture "I have never seen the righteous forsaken." The writer's own experience bids me advise all who are earning money, from the youngest to the oldest, to begin to tithe at once. Oftimes in some startling manner God will repay you. All we have and are, are derived from Almighty God. It behoves us to make continual and increasing deposits in the best paying BANK in the universe. The "windows of heaven" are never closed. Let anyone try it for a year. He will never go back to irregular giving. Let us make a few observations: Do not have exaggerated ideas as to the great amount you will be enabled to save because you give a tithe. Some begin and as soon as the Lord prospers them they fail to tithe the increasing revenue. The man who puts his hand to the plow and turns back can hardly hope to reap any harvest in the autumn. Further, do not imagine that because you tithe you can afford to relax your daily effort in business or economy, nor that if you cease to fulfil other religious duties that tithing alone will avail anything. Before all and above all perform this and every other religious duty in the fear of God and to His glory. One great danger even for true christians in making money arises from becoming idolaters even of a few gold dollars. They may worship their own little bank account, or having none, may be guilty of covetousness (which is idolatry) and so the heart becomes as hard as the gold they worship. By giving a tithe along with discharging other religious duties, the Lord is more and more recognized as the source of all things and the heart softens and glows with increasing love to the Sovereign Ruler of the Universe.

Yours faithfully,

H. J. Leake.

A Patriotic Indian.

Chief Joseph Davies of the Brunswick House Band of Ojibway Indians, and several of his tribe, who enlisted in 1916 with the 227th (Men of the North) Battalion, were among the returned soldiers who arrived home from France by the Olympic.

Chief Davies was granted by the military authorities the unique privilege of wearing upon his uniform throughout active service his official Indian chief's insignia.

On his arrival at Chapleau a welcome was extended by Indian Agent T. J. Godfrey and a large deputation of members of the tribe. A pathetic feature of the chief's homecoming is that two of his children have recently died of the "flu."

The chief's wife, traveling more than thirty miles by canoe, having to break the ice in many places to get through, bringing with her one dead child and one seriously ill with the epidemic, arrived in Chapleau too late to save the life of the second child, who died shortly after admission to the hospital.

The Law

as amended Nov. 10, 1919

THIS Referendum on April 18 is to ratify a new federal law, namely, the Canada Temperance Act, as recently amended by Dominion Parliament.

If a majority of the people of Ontario vote in favor of the Canada Temperance Act as amended, then, in the exact words of the law, it follows:

1. "No person shall import, send, take or transport into such province any intoxicating liquor.
2. "No person shall, either directly or indirectly, manufacture or sell, or contract or agree to manufacture or sell, any intoxicating liquor to be unlawfully imported, sent, taken or transported into such province.
3. "The carriage or importation of intoxicating liquor through such province shall only be by means of a common carrier by water or by railway and not otherwise, and during the time any intoxicating liquor is being so transported or carried no person shall open or break or allow to be opened or broken, any package or vessel containing such intoxicating liquor, or drink, or use or allow to be drunk or used any intoxicating liquor therefrom."

NOTE—This law does not prohibit importation of liquors to be used for sacramental, medicinal, manufacturing or commercial purposes, or the importation of such liquors as are permitted to be sold by the laws of the Province.

"Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?"

THE MAELSTROM

BY FRANK FROEST.

Late Superintendent of the Criminal Investigation Department of Scotland Yard.

The women—wives and daughters of police officials, for the most part—separated. Only the girl of the choice remained behind. As the room emptied she walked toward Menzies.

"That's over, Miss Greye-Stratton," he said cheerfully. "I am ever so much obliged to you. I want you to know Mr. Hallett, the gentleman who first called our attention to the death of your father."

Jimmie concealed the surprise that the name gave him. Although there was a certain touch of melancholy in the oval face, there was none of that grief which might have been expected in a girl who had suddenly learned of the murder of her father.

For a moment he was repelled. He murmured some conventional phrase of sympathy, but she swept it away as though aware that her manner needed explanation.

"Yes, this is very dreadful, Mr. Hallett, but not so dreadful to me as it might have been. You see, I scarcely know my father. We were almost complete strangers."

"Miss Greye-Stratton called on me at the yard as soon as she heard of the murder," interposed Menzies. "I thought it as well in the circumstances that there should be no ground for misunderstandings. You see, your story of the way the checks came into your possession is bound to make talk when you give evidence at the inquest. I wanted it to be definitely clear that Miss Greye-Stratton was not the lady and she was good enough to consent to this arrangement."

Hallett wondered how the diplomacy of the detective could have got the difficulty if the girl had refused. That she had consented showed nerve, for she had not known that he would not identify her. He was curious, too, as to what would have happened if he had picked her out. Would she have been arrested on suspicion?

"If it had been Miss Greye-Stratton she would hardly have sought you out," he remarked.

"No, no, of course not," said Menzies soothingly. "I thought for a moment that she was the woman. One likes to save anything in the nature of scandal though. I remember a case where two elderly ladies—sisters—living in a country house were attacked by some one with a hammer. One was found dead, the other unconscious—she remained unconscious for weeks. The hammer was found in an outhouse a hundred yards away. Now there was a considerable amount of gossip and the theory was firmly held by dozens of people that the living sister had attacked the dead one. They overlooked the fact that to have done so she must have walked to the place where the hammer was found after her own injuries had been inflicted. That's an example of what I mean."

The girl nodded. "I am quite sure you only meant to save me possible future unpleasantness. Is there anything else? You have my address."

"There is no other way at the moment in which you can help. As matters develop I may call on you. It has been very good of you."

She stretched out her slim gloved hand to Hallett. But he was not inclined to let her escape so easily. She owed him something, if only an explanation. "I am going your way," he said unblushingly. "Perhaps if you don't mind—"

"You are very kind, Mr. Hallett," she said formally.

Menzies stroked his mustache and his eyes roved sideways to his aide-de-camp, Royal, who after an absence of two or three minutes had not returned. Royal nodded almost imperceptibly, and the inspector said good-bye.

"By the way, you had better be at the police court at two, Mr. Hallett. We shall charge this man Smith to-day. I don't expect you'll be kept long. I will be purely formal. We shall apply for a remand."

Hallett and the girl went down the steps to the street. He was conscious that though she appeared to be gazing serenely in front of her that she occasionally scrutinized him with curious eyes.

Not till they were a hundred yards away from the police station did either of them speak again. Then Jimmie ventured on the ice.

"Perhaps now you will tell me what it's all about?"

"Oh!" she stopped and turned full on him with the wide open innocent blue eyes of a child. "So you knew all the time. I wasn't sure."

"Wasn't sure that I knew you as the girl in the fog?"

"Yes. Shall we walk on? We might attract attention standing here. Why did you do it? Why didn't you denounce me?"

Jimmie twiddled his walking stick. "Hanged if I know," he confessed. Her self-possession rather daunted him. "I thought—that is—if you wanted to you would have explained the incident yourself."

"That's no reason. You didn't know me. There was no earthly motive. All the same I am grateful to you, Mr. Hallett—most sincerely grateful." She sighed.

A porter with a parcel under his arm loitered three yards behind them. Ten yards behind him a youth scrupulously dressed and seemingly conscious of nothing but the beauty of his attire, swaggered aimlessly.

Menzies, as has been said, was not a man who took anything for granted. His arrangements for "covering" Peggy Greye-Stratton in the event of Hallett not recognizing her had been completed long before he had confronted them in the charge-room.

Hallett might have guessed—if he had thought about it at all. The girl certainly did not. Jimmie caught at her last words.

"You can prove that. Although we have only been formally introduced in the last five minutes, we are not exactly strangers. Come and lunch with me. Then we can talk. There are several things I want to know."

She assented, it seemed to him somewhat indifferently. He hailed a taxicab, and gave the name of a famous restaurant. As she sank back in the cushions it was as though a mask had dropped from her face. She gasped once or twice as if for breath.

Only for an instant had the mask dropped, but Hallett had seen and understood. The girl was strained to the breaking point, supporting her part only by strength of will.

What that part was, and why she was playing it, he was fixed in the resolution to learn. He spoke on indifferent subjects till lunch was over and coffee was brought. Then

If all the world was water
There'd not be any land—
I like to walk beside the sea,
With parasol in hand,
Or fill my little bucket to
The brim with yellow sand.
I guess it's best the world is made
Part water and part land.

Find two other persons on the beach. Right side down, on the sand, left side down, on the sand.

he leaned forward a little across the table.

"I shall be glad if I can be of any help to you, Miss Greye-Stratton," he said.

A smile palpably forced, appeared on the girl's face. She twisted a ring on her finger absently. "That is a polite way to bring me to the point, Mr. Hallett. You have a right to ask."

A sigh trembled on her lips, and her eyes became absent. The man said nothing, but waited. Very daintily and desirably did Peggy Greye-Stratton seem to him then. Yet he would not have been human if he had not had misgivings. His very reluctance to speak aroused a little spark of suspicion, which he deliberately trampled under foot. A beautiful face, a high intelligence, and courage—and all these he knew she possessed—were not necessarily guarantees against crime.

She appeared to come to a resolve. "I will tell you what I told Mr. Menzies," she said, looking up. "Knowing what you knew it will seem incomplete to you, but you—she looked him full in the face—"are a gentleman. I trust you not to question me too far. There are—other people."

CREELMAN GETS $12,500

Will Become General Manager of Ontario Fruit Growers' Ass'n.

Another good position is about to open up in Ontario Service for some returned soldier. It is understood that Prof. George Creelman, formerly of the Guelph Agricultural College, and later Agricultural Commissioner for Ontario, and at present Ontario's Agent-General in England, is to return to Ontario.

Statements in well-informed circles are to the effect that Prof. Creelman has been offered and has accepted a position with the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association as general manager at a salary of $12,500 a year.

This is considerably more than the London, Eng., position is worth. The change, it is rumored, is to be made almost immediately.

MISCONCEPTIONS

This is a spray the Bird clung to,
Making it blossom with pleasure,
Ere the high treetop she sprung to,
Fit for her nest and her treasure.
Oh, what a hope beyond measure
Was the poor spray's which the flying feet hung to—
So to be singled out, built in and sung to!

This is the heart the Queen leant on Thrilled in a minute erratic,
Ere the true blossom she bent on,
Meet for love's regal dalmatic.
Oh, what a fancy aesthetic
Was the poor heart's, ere the wanderer went on.
Love to be saved for it, proffered to,
spent on!

Minard's Liniment Co., Ltd.

Gentlemen—I have used Minard's Liniment and have found it a good remedy. After the explosion I was pretty well shaken up having quite a number of bruises and cuts, but thanks to Minard's Liniment I am my old self again. It healed the sores and bruises and gave me much relief. It is true to its name as the King of Pain, for it stopped the pain almost at once. I first noticed the ad in the Montreal Standard and decided to invest in a bottle, for which I am not sorry, but can say with truth that I am thankful for it having done all it claimed to do, and in my case much more, and a satisfied customer is the best ad one can possibly find. This is my view of it and I think you will agree with me too.

Yours very truly,

SUREST SIGNS OF BILIOUSNESS

Among the earliest symptoms are furred tongue and dull headache. Then come dizzy spells, bad taste, quick pulse, fever and cold sweats. Finally, sleeplessness and vomiting make the condition of the sufferer almost intolerable.

The root of biliousness is with the liver which is clogged and can't keep bile from getting into the blood. Nothing works with the certainty of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they act directly on the liver, restore the bile to its proper course and prevent it from contaminating the vital fluid.

Of course the bowels are ordered and relaxed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, the kidneys receive new tonic, the blood is renovated, and the result is a renewal of good health.

Stronger proof can't be had than the statement of Fenwick Luddington, of New Harbor, N. S., who says: "Three months ago I had no expectation of ever getting free from periodical bilious attacks. They were preceded by dizziness and dreadful headaches. If I stooped over my head would swim, and a nauseous feeling crept into my stomach. Dr. Hamilton's Pills fixed up my liver, drove all the bile out of my blood, and made me a well man in a few months. To-day I enjoy a good appetite, excellent digestion, and the best of health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

No need for delay, the sooner you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, the sooner you'll feel the brisk, keen satisfaction of a healthy, well-regulated system. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c each, or five for $1.00, at all dealers.

DOMINION WOOL MARKET REPORT.

There is little to report as to sales of Canadian wools. Graded lots are now practically cleaned up. There are still considerable stocks of wool held in dealers' hands but these have been bought for the most part at prices considerably above present levels and there is still a tendency to hold for slightly higher values. Medium and quarter-blood wools seem to be fairly well stabilized in price and are selling freely from 27c to 30c for medium and 25c to 27c for low mediums. Australian and New Zealand wools are moving steadily with the United States showing as heavy buyers. At the recent Liverpool sale 90 per cent. of the offerings were moved. America and France bought quite extensively.

THIS WOMAN'S RECOVERY

Shows Remarkable Restorative Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chesley, Ont.—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half way up the steps. I tried two doctors but they did me no good. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and thought I would give it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children, and do all my housework, milk eight cows, and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends who are in need of medicine, and you may print this letter if you wish."

FLAX-GROWING IN CANADA.

Industry Has Shown Signs of Reviving Since the War.

The carefully considered effort which is being made by the Provincial Government of Ontario to encourage the cultivation of flax in the northern part of the province is a welcome evidence of foresight. For there is a very considerable shortage of flax in the world's markets, and the old sources of supply are, for the time being, at any rate, seriously curtailed. Thus, in the days before the war, and for some time after its onset, great quantities of flax came from Russia, whilst Belgium and Holland also made considerable contributions. To-day, Russia is practically out of the market, and the supplies from Holland and Belgium are still limited. This condition has, of course, obtained for some time past, and, two or three years ago, when the demand for linen for airplane wings and other war purposes was making heavy calls on the linen production capabilities of the Allies, Canada applied herself seriously to the question of increasing the flax production of the country. To this end the Government promised a fixed price for the crop, and a bounty, running from two to nine cents a pound, to the spinner for the finished yarn. The authorities, moreover, suffered no delay in the matter. With characteristic energy they established a complete plant at Regina, Saskatchewan, for the extraction of the fibres from the flax, and arranged for the carrying out of a series of experiments in spinning, in Kitchener, Ont. The idea of the Canadian Government was, of course, not only to establish an industry which would help to meet the war needs of the Allies, but one which might be developed, after the war, to the increasing advantage of the Dominion as a whole.

Now flax is essentially the crop for the small holder. There is, it is true, really no limit to the scale upon which it can be grown, but the process of hand weeding, to which it so readily responds, makes flax a crop particularly adapted to the kind of labor generally available on a small holding. It is for this reason, no doubt, amongst others, that the Ontario Government has adopted the scheme, just referred to, of encouraging flax growing in the northern part of the province. Under this plan, various mills in older Ontario, will supply seed to be distributed among selected settlers in the north country, in quantities sufficient to plant two or more acres, whilst the settler when he has harvested his crop, to return to the mill an amount of seed equal to that which was sent to him. It is proposed then to compare the northern seed and fibre with the product grown from similar seed in the older districts, and if the results prove satisfactory, the Government is prepared to take still further steps to encourage cultivation.

Ultimately it is hoped to establish in Canada a complete linen trade, on a large scale, and not merely to cultivate flax for export. There is, however, to-day an immediate market for exported Canadian flax, not only for the sake of the linen which may be made from it, but for the sake of its many greatly needed by-products, such as linseed oil and cake.

A Beloved Princess.

Princess Patricia of Connaught will always hold a very warm place in the affections of Canadians. Her six years' residence here when she entered so heartily into Canadian life, would assure that. But more particularly is she linked with the Dominion, for all time, through the gallant "Princess Pats," the Canadian battalion named for her, which won such glory in France and Flanders. Her Royal Highness is indeed gazetted as honorary colonel-in-chief of this famous Canadian battalion. At the wedding of their honorary colonel twenty-four of the original "Pats" served as a guard of honor. Princess Patricia loved Canada. She loved the winter, with its sparkling snow, its skating, skiing and tobogganing at the capital, and the summer with its rivers and lakes and sweet-smelling forests. She loved the broad sweep of the prairies and the mighty mountains as she traveled to the coast—and more than all else, she seemed to love the people.

One recalls many times when the princess has been in the public eye, and each occasion but makes you more conscious of how beautiful she is. It might be at such functions as the Drawing-room of their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught in that regal Senate Chamber in Ottawa, of which nothing now remains but ashes. It might be in Government House when a state ball was in progress. Again, it might be in the midst of a lovely garden at a garden party given by their Royal Highnesses that one recalled her. It might be on such occasions, when she smiled on Girl Guides and won their hearts.

While here during the period of the war the princess was devoted to war work. Three times a week she was to be found working at the Red Cross rooms in Ottawa. She sewed and knitted continually, always for the men in khaki. She also kept the Princess Pats provided with comforts. And since her return to England has continually visited them in hospital.
