THE OPPOSITION LEADER.

Discusses the Government and the Manitoba School Question.

Deploring the Cr ed War aroused by Tory Dishonesty.

When the house was moved into afternoon of the 15th inst., Mr. Laurier began his speech by describing the Manitoba school question as a perplexing one. He did not believe that the ministerial crisis was over. The reason for the resignation of the Quebec ministers was not as Mr. Foster had described it...

looked as if they had seen considerable use, but he was quiet, when the stranger in the smoking car drew him into conversation.

"Yes, I've been pretty tough," he said. "I guess we all have out at Bloody Gulch, but we have got over it. Got religion, you know. A fellow comes through these last week with a gospel cart, and he got all the boys out and talked to 'em good and hard!"

"To be good?" asked the stranger. "That's it; that's the stuff exactly," said the man with the red revolver.

"We were going to be good and start a regular old reform wave shooting around the gulch. There's been a lot of lynching out there, you know, and so we took it in hand first; made up our minds that it had got to stop, and stop quick. The boys don't stand no foolin' when they get ready to move; something's got to happen. So when we heard about the eastern cities and their reform committees and their civic federations, and all that sort of stuff, we got together and organized a little committee of our own. It was a lot of no, I tell ye. All the boys belong to it, that are any good, and they swore they'd stop lynching inside of twenty-four hours, and they done it!"

"Organized an anti-lynching league, I take it," said the stranger. "That's what it was, and it was a hummer. We just waited our chance to keel some of the tough fellows that was taking the law into their own hands, and we got it. We heard of a lyncher that was coming out of the west, and we got a little committee of our own. Some of the fellows from the other end of the gulch had located a host thief, and they were going out to string him up. Well, stranger, a host thief is a pretty damned mean sort of a critter, and I ain't got much use for 'em myself, but religion is religion, and if a fellow's got it, I reckon he's got to stick to it. So we went out after the lads that was going to lynch the host thief, and we caught 'em about a mile up the gulch. We saved the host thief, stranger, and we lashed the lynchers good and hard—just like the gospel feller said we should."

"Were you successful?"

"You bet we was. They ain't been a lynchin' in the gulch since that night. When we want reform you bet we get it, and get it quick, and everybody knows that we mean business. There can't be no mistake about that."

"What did you do with the lynchers?"

"We lynched 'em."

MANITOBA ORANGEMEN

Pass Resolutions Condemning Members of the Government—Strong Feeling Over the Remedial Legislation.

Had Premier Boveill and his colleagues in the Federal Cabinet been in Winnipeg on the 12th, they would have been able to judge somewhat accurately the feelings of Manitobans regarding the Remedial Order, and the threat to give the same legislative effect. Fully 10,000 Orangemen in all different parts of the province, assembled there and took part in the greatest demonstration ever yet witnessed in the west. The procession was over two miles in length comprising about thirty bands of music, twice that number of banners and thousands of stalwart men in regular marching to patriotic airs. A monster mass meeting followed in Fort Garry Park, within a few yards of the spot where Thomas Scott was executed by order of Sir 25 years ago, and in full view of the Roman Catholic archiepiscopal residence. The orators of the occasion vied with each other in denunciation of the government for submission to the will of the Roman Catholic hierarchy. The speeches were all on the same lines, that is that Manitoba and the Northwest would resist by all constitutional and perhaps more vigorous means, any interference of the Federal authorities with the legislative rights of the province.

Resolutions were passed endorsing the views of the speakers, and calling upon Manitoba's representative in the cabinet to resign, and the members of the cabinet supporting the government to explain their neglect of the people's rights. "Whereas it is made apparent that during the last few days efforts are being made, if not already completed, by ex-Governor Macdonald in his capacity as a member of the cabinet to barter away the rights and liberties of the people of Manitoba at the dictation of the Roman hierarchy for the sake of political power, and whereas the government of the Dominion is now pledged to remedial legislation on the school question, which means the re-establishment of separate schools as they existed prior to 1870, and which act is proven by the decision of the Privy Council in 1893 to be unconstitutional, and is doubtless an unwarranted and tyrannical attempt of the Dominion to infringe upon the rights of this province, and in violation of the first principles of confederation; be it therefore resolved that the Orangemen and Protestants of Manitoba and the Northwest now assembled from almost every township in the province do most solemnly renew and protest against any interference with the rights and liberties of our legislature and people of this province in their right to establish a system of public schools and to withhold the public funds from the propagation of any state church, creed or dogma, and we consider this a fitting opportunity to thank the Premier of this province and his worthy colleagues for the noble and patriotic stand they have taken in resisting to the utmost of their power the threatened remedial legislation, and the invasion of our liberties as free people, and we hereby pledge ourselves in presence of this vast assemblage that we will, even to the sacrifice of our lives, defend our schools and the liberties of our children in this grand heritage which God has given us."

"Whereas it is now publicly announced by the leaders of the government of this Dominion that separate schools in this province will be restored at the next session of the House of Commons, against the almost unanimous protest of our legislature and people; and whereas this promise has been given without the least protest being made by our representative in the Dominion of the House of Commons; be it resolved, that our representative in the cabinet from this province, Hon. T. M. Dally, M. P. for Selkirk, be asked to place his resignation at an early day in the hands of His Excellency the Governor General, and that A. W. Ross, M. P. for Lisgar; N. Boyd, M. P. for Marquette, and Hon. T. M. Dally, M. P. for Selkirk, be asked to explain how far they can justify themselves in supporting a government which threatens our province with such dire calamity, and which no doubt if carried into effect will jeopardize Confederation."

THE POULTRYMAN'S WORST ENEMY.

As this is the season for these pests, and as more fowls die, either directly or indirectly, from the effects of lice, we feel it a necessity to urge all who keep poultry to keep them and their house free from the poultryman's worst enemy. The lice that swarm in countless numbers on the perches and woodwork of a neglected poultry house must be destroyed. Several methods have been recommended, one of which is to wet every part with water, by using a syringe, and then dash with dry wood ashes, relying on the potash to destroy the vermin. But this method is not perfect, for although the water may penetrate to every part of the interior of the building, there is a liability that the ashes may not, and then some small squads of lice would be left—enough for seed. It requires but few, especially in warm weather, to populate the building again. Another method is to use coal oil, putting in on with a brush, also, a weak solution of carbolic acid has the same effect, viz., killing the lice in contact with it. It will be obvious that every part of the woodwork that is infested must be touched. The cheapest, most effective, and the most pleasant remedy we have ever used is the long-tried one—whitewash. A thorough application kills every louse. But there must be no half-way work about it. The lime must be splashed into every crack and crevice. The material is so cheap that it can be used plentifully, and it does not need an artist to put it on, only a careful person, faithful in his work. After the work is done, there is a sweet and cleanliness about the place that seems worth all the trouble, leaving the killing of the vermin out of the question. There are, also, besides the poultry-house vermin, the larger parasites that infest the bodies of the fowls, sticking to them closer than a brother, and remaining on till death separates them. Nature provides ways and means to partly mitigate the evil, if fowls are not restrained. When the small vermin of the house becomes unbearable, the birds can move to other quarters, and evade their torment. The dust-bath furnishes the means of destroying the lice on the bodies of the fowls, which they are not backward in using. It is cruelly to shut fowls up in close quarters, and not provide them with a dust-bath. This seems to be the only natural method to which they resort to clear themselves. The fact is patent that the abundance of vermin is produced by the restraint which man imposes. If the fowls are confined in lim-

REVIVAL OF TRADE.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. This will be welcome news to the people of Canada, since our own trade interests will be stimulated and improved. In nothing has this improvement been shown in a more marked way than in the increased sales of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Times being dull everything not absolutely needed became a luxury, and its sale became stationary. Now it is different. Sales have increased vastly, doubtless as it has proven the only safe, sure, and painless remedy for corns, and wise people will use no other.

THE WORLD'S DEBT TO CONGREGATIONALISM.

This Church Gave to the World a Beecher—Hear Also What the Rev. S. Nicholls, a Prominent Minister, Has to Say on an Important Subject. Henry Ward Beecher believed man's religious faith was colored largely by the condition of his health. He had said from the pulpit that no man could hold right views on religion when his stomach was out of order. It is quite certain that no preacher can preach with effect if his head is stuffed up with cold, or if he is a sufferer from catarrh. It is not surprising, therefore, that we find the leading clergymen of Canada speaking so highly of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, for cold in the head or catarrh. They know the necessity better than anyone else of being relieved of this trouble. Rev. S. Nicholls of Oliver Congregational church, Toronto, is one who has used this medicine, and over his own signature has borne testimony to its beneficial character.

HEART DISEASE OF FIVE YEARS' STANDING Absolutely Cured by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart—The Great Life Saving Remedy Gives Relief in 30 Minutes.

Thomas Petry, Esq., Aylmer, Que. "I have been troubled for about five years with severe heart complaint. At times my pain was so severe that I was unable to attend to business. The slightest exertion proved very fatiguing and necessitated taking rest. I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and obtained immediate relief. I have now taken four bottles and an entirely free from every symptom of heart disease. I hope this statement may induce others troubled as I was to give this most valuable remedy a trial." FREDERICTON, JULY 24, 1886.

BETTER BE WARNED.

The general public put so little confidence in the utterances of the Ottawa ministers that doubt is expressed whether the promised session of parliament will be held before a general election.

It is with the administration simply a question of expediency, and the remedy is whichever course, a session or a dissolution, promises the best returns to the government's fortunes, will be promptly adopted.

In view of these facts, therefore, we urge the Liberals to perfect their organization for the polls, to get their candidates in the field and be prepared for the call of battle at any time.

The death of Dr. Atkinson's daughter at Bristol, Carleton county, Friday, gave rise to the report that the M.P. himself was dead, and the daily papers Saturday published lengthy sketches of his public career.

Mr. Martin, of Winnipeg, said no ground for the expectation of a settlement of the question in the direction indicated by the Dominion government existed.

Mr. Mills said Wallace was exactly in the same position as if a bill had been brought down because the policy of the government had been clearly announced.

Mr. McCarthy held that it was not in accordance with administrative unity that one section of the administration should be pressing one way and another pressing another way.

A SMALL PIECE OF BUSINESS.

The mean attempt of the Dominion government to freeze out a Quebec postmaster, who is a brother of Hon. Mr. Laurier, leader of the Opposition was exposed in parliament the other day.

St. Lin is a village in the county of L'Assomption, distinguished as having been the birthplace of the Liberal leader, whose brother is the postmaster, keeping the post office in store, which is situated in the centre of the place and readily accessible to everybody.

The government pays nothing for light or fuel, yet they have decided to take the post office away and place it in a building in a distant quarter of the community, for which they have agreed to pay a rental of $300 a year.

The building has never been rented for a larger sum than $60 a year, and is assessed for $1,000. In thriving villages in western Ontario, where the postal revenue is double what it is in St. Lin—$785—the rental paid for the building where the post office is placed varies from $40 to $60 per annum.

Not a shred of justification was offered by the government for the removal of the post office, and it is clear that the only object was to wound the feelings of the Liberal party by forcing his brother to resign the position of postmaster in his native shire.

That men in public life should stoop so low as to treat a distinguished political opponent with such vindictiveness, and engage in such a petty attempt to injure the family of an opponent, is the longest possible testimony, says the Toronto Globe, as to the calibre of the men now engaged administering the government of Canada.

As if it was not bad enough to squeeze Mr. Laurier's brother out of his office in which he has given every satisfaction, it has been done by the perpetration of a job. So defenceless did the government find themselves when threatened with a motion of censure that Mr. Foster asked the Opposition to withdraw the motion, but the Opposition very properly refused, and the motion was voted down.

The death of Dr. Atkinson's daughter at Bristol, Carleton county, Friday, gave rise to the report that the M.P. himself was dead, and the daily papers Saturday published lengthy sketches of his public career.

The Doctor, therefore, while still in the flesh, had the satisfaction of knowing what the public opinion of him was from various standpoints. Although alive, Dr. Atkinson is in a precarious condition and the news of his death any day would not be a surprise.

Mr. Martin, of Winnipeg, said no ground for the expectation of a settlement of the question in the direction indicated by the Dominion government existed.

Mr. Mills said Wallace was exactly in the same position as if a bill had been brought down because the policy of the government had been clearly announced.

PARLIAMENT CLOSES.

Conservative, moved the three months' hoist. Senator Scott said it was reported, but he would not believe truly, that the proposed loan of $2,500,000 was to have been shared by the government for election purposes.

Premier Bowell sprang up and indignantly repudiated any such boodling, and characterized Senator Scott strongly for daring to mention it.

At 5.30, the hour his excellency had set for proroguing parliament, the debate was still in progress, and ministers from the house of commons came over and a sort of cabinet council was held in the cloak room.

A message was sent to Rideau hall asking the Governor-General not to come up until 6 o'clock.

The military officers, aides, guard of honor, the general public, and all the accessories of prorogation were on hand at 6 o'clock, when Premier Bowell, who was very much put out, announced that the government had decided not to prorogue, and soldiers and citizens went away feeling that they had been fooled.

Never before has prorogation been defeated after it was once officially announced.

He was able, however, to pull himself clear of the train, and was thrown on the ground below with the train running nearly twenty miles an hour. It was a wonder he was not killed on the spot, but as it was he escaped with a badly cut face and twisted body. He came on with his train and is now nursing his wounds at his home at Marsville.

The Fredericton boys, however, played a great game at the ball in the evening, winning the match by 10 runs.

DR. HARRISON. How the Address to the High School Pupils of the University's President Affected One Listener.

[Com. to St. Stephen Courier.] St. Stephen has had the honor of a visit from the President of the University of New Brunswick, and we are glad to assure that there was not a reading or thinking citizen among us but made an attempt to have the opportunity of hearing his address to the graduating class of the St. Stephen high school. To a few words he summed up in a masterly way what he considered to be the proper attitude for a reasonable young person toward the life which he sets out to travel; and his words fell with more than ordinary welcome upon the ears of most of us, because the great and absorbing question to-day before the people of Canada is the relation of religion to the public schools, but after hearing Dr. Harrison our minds will be more easily put to rest for New Brunswick.

His example is a power which the lesser minds will surely do well to follow. He told us in a few sentences of the magnificent qualifications of the University which he had the honor to represent, which we were glad to hear repeated, believing as we do that it is second to none in this country, but it ought to have, perhaps, no more alluring attraction to the earnest student than that of having for its head a man like Dr. Harrison. What parent would not rather have his child under the influence of a man who is known to be true to God as well as to man, than under one who thinks he can save man by ignoring God? It delighted our hearts to hear of the high position and authority not afraid to declare in the face of this age of skepticism and peevishness about sacred things, his unwavering allegiance to the Christian faith, and to give us his advice, chosen from a long experience, that there can be no true success for the young man or woman setting out in life without incessant prayer for power from God. There can be no fear for Canada while such men are at the head of our educational institutions, and we are sure there are many.

FREDERICTON POETS.

Prof. Roberts and Bliss Carman are Recently Discussed by a Toronto Writer.

The war among the poets rages with unabated fury in the columns of the Toronto Globe. It appears that a few months ago an article appeared in the Toronto Globe, which dealt with Prof. Roberts and Bliss Carman, two Fredericton boys, to the skies as writers of poetry, and also paid some pretty compliments to Archibald Lampman, another Canadian woods of the muse. To this another poet, W. W. Campbell of Ottawa, formerly a St. Stephen clergyman, took offence because he was not included in the article, and he wrote a note to Mr. Campbell in which he bitterly complained of the treatment accorded him, and intimated that Roberts and Carman had something to do with the preparation of the magazine article puffing themselves.

This letter of Campbell's has drawn out several warm defenses of the Fredericton poets, and a note from Mr. Carman himself. A Windsor gentleman also defended Mr. Roberts in the Globe, and Frank Pollock, writing in the same journal, has this among other things to say of the dispute:

Mr. Pollock's View. It seems impossible for a certain class of critics to express an opinion on the merits or demerits of any author without destroying the value of the criticism by pushing it into the most ridiculous exaggeration.

When we read in an American magazine that Bliss Carman is a typical Canadian poet, possessing great metrical art, and at times even rising into the white light of true inspiration, we are pleased, and feel proud to call our expatriated singer a fellow-countryman. But this writer goes on to say, amid the laughter of the gods, that Carman possesses an art more than that of Tennyson; that Roberts should be placed above Arnold, and that these, with half a dozen others, should be unconsciously lumped together and bundled into the seventh heaven of literary immortality, one is apt to deliver the book to the extreme end of a room with a vigorous expression of disgust.

Personally, I have the warmest admiration for all three, finding peculiar merits in each, and likewise peculiar defects. Now, I do not think that it is too much to say that Mr. Campbell is the only living Canadian poet who shows the faintest glimmerings of dramatic art in his work. Carman comes nearest it in one or two poems, but from most of his work it is conspicuously absent. Roberts attempts it occasionally, but fails in producing more than a tableaux, as in "Action" and "In Alpha Bay" and "Destroyers" and "The Boatman" and "The Camp," on the contrary, excels in this, and is almost always dramatic when not melodramatic. Examples of this are to be found in his second volume, "The Dread Voyage." Here are — I say it unhesitatingly — the finest pieces of objective work done by any living Canadian writer.

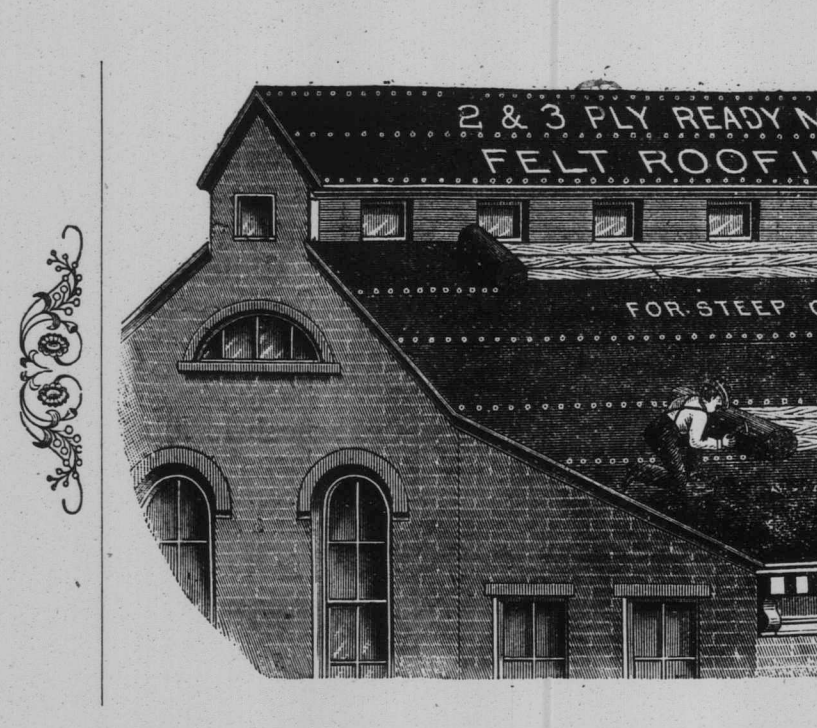

When, however, Campbell descends to lyrical poetry for the higher and harder field of the drama proper, as he has recently done, he scores an unmitigated failure. "Mordred" is truly a wretched affair, and "Hildebrand" is tolerable only as placed beside its companion.

Just as Campbell excels in the objective, so Roberts and Carman are pre-eminent on the subjective side. On the latter point, I certainly the more akin to Tennyson, "The Marvellous Work," "Consolation," "The Foot Path," have the true Tennysonian flavor, with all the word implies. In fact the poems "Grey Rocks and Greys Sea" bears so close a resemblance to "Break, Break, Break, that we can only suppose it to have been an intentional imitation. His poems which we may designate "cosmic" can scarcely be surpassed in impressiveness and depth of thought, as for example, "In the Wide World," "The Night," "The Dawn," "The Sunset," "The Sunrise," "The Moon," "The Stars," "The Sun," "The Earth," "The Sky," "The Ocean," "The Mountains," "The Forests," "The Fields," "The Towns," "The Villages," "The Hamlets," "The Cottages," "The Huts," "The Shacks," "The Cabins," "The Holes," "The Dens," "The Caves," "The Grottoes," "The Tombs," "The Sepulchres," "The Crypts," "The Vaults," "The Cellars," "The Basements," "The Subterranean," "The Underworld," "The Netherworld," "The Hellworld," "The Infernworld," "The Abyssworld," "The Chaosworld," "The Voidworld," "The Nothingworld," "The Somethingsworld," "The Everythingsworld," "The Allthingsworld," "The Universeworld," "The Omnisworld," "The Omniscientworld," "The Omnipotentworld," "The Omnibenevolentworld," "The Omniscientworld," "The Omnipotentworld," "The Omnibenevolentworld."

Coming the Only Show of Heroic Size and Fame. Sells Brothers' Enormous United Show is not only the biggest, brightest, cleanest and best exhibition on the terrestrial globe, but is more liberally managed than any circus now travelling.

It is not a vulgar, but a noble opportunity of witnessing so surprisingly great and superlatively attractive an aggregation such as Sells Brothers' present in all its positively unvaried and undiminished splendour, with its fine and feature equipped, and no attraction subtracted, but on the contrary, vastly re-enforced by all that is superbly amusing and instructive. The glorious three ring circus presents every act and feature as advertised, embracing all of the celebrities of the arena world, three hundred starting acts in three separate rings and two elevated stages, fifty trained kangaroos, lordly lions, stately Indian tigers, and marvelously trained wild and domesticated animals.

Introducing in the gala hippodrome races realistic, imposing and stupendous, revived of ancient Rome, chariot races, hurdle races, flat races, tandem races, donkey races, pony races, camel races, elephant races and two elevated stages, fifty trained kangaroos, lordly lions, stately Indian tigers, and marvelously trained wild and domesticated animals.

"A very inapt illustration," retorted Delabole, "in the first place the ship is not sinking..."

"You are alluding to me?" asked Philip Vane, flushing with rage.

"I am alluding to you, my dear Philip," replied Delabole quietly...

"Yes, that is all," said Philip Vane with a sneer, "but it is easy?"

"Yes, that is not difficult, provided proper means are taken," said Mr. Delabole.

"I am greatly afraid, my dear Vane," said Mr. Delabole firmly...

"That's all," said Delabole, rising from his seat. "No one there," he continued...

"In this crisis," said Delabole, "Irving's co-operation would be invaluable to us."

"I did so, and from that hour to this I have never set eyes upon him."

"There are stranger things to come yet," Sir Geoffrey said, "George is ten years' soldier, in which he nearly moped himself to death..."

"What, the young lady whom I have heard Cleothere and the rector speak about, who lived for some time with you, and was so pretty and so clever?"

"I don't know that I am actually alluring her at the present moment," said the general, "but I have a sort of presentiment that I shall not live very long."

"Oh, the mere fact of death would not alarm me. One who for so many years has carried his life in his hand is accustomed to look with tolerable calmness on death's approach..."

"I remember it all, perfectly," said Madge, "but I do not speak of my behavior in that matter from first to last."

"I did not agree with it," said Madge, "if I am to speak frankly to you, I will say that your first decision, when it was a question of Mrs. Heriot's conduct..."

"I have thought so more than once within the past few days, Mrs. Pickering," said Sir Geoffrey quietly.

"I have a confession to make to you, and your pardon to ask, for a certain amount of deception practiced towards you."

"Nothing more nor less. Do you know what position I held in life before I came into your employ?"

"I have almost forgotten. In the telegraph office, were you not?"

MURDERED HER MOTHER.

Two London Boys Guilty of a Terrific Crime

A most horrible case of juvenile depravity and brutality has come to light in Finsbury, an eastern suburb of London.

The husband of the murdered woman and father of the boys is a ship purser, and is absent from home on a sea voyage.

The house is well furnished and possesses all the requirements of a comfortable home. After the boys committed their crime they pawned a number of valuables they had found in the house, and proceeded to enjoy themselves by taking trips to various places on the river, and in the interim visiting cricket grounds and indulging in other forms of amusement.

When they were arrested they were playing cards in the house containing the decomposed corpse of their mother, in company with a half-witted man, and apparently getting the highest degree of enjoyment from their pastime, despite the stench which pervaded the rooms.

The magistrate was astounded at the developments of the case and amazed at the cool demeanor of the boys. He declared that he could not believe the youngsters sane, and remanded them pending their mental examination.

The minds of the boys seem to have been upset by reading novels which made heroes of cut throats, etc. The crime has created a great sensation in London.

SURE DEATH TO GRASSHOPPERS.

Prof. Logger has in operation in the Red River Valley and in Chicago and Pine counties, four hundred "hopper-doers." The hopper doer is a machine about eight feet long and two feet wide.

It is made on the plan of a dust-pan, of tin, and sits on three runners, on which it is pulled over the stubble by a team of horses. At the rear of the pan there is a trough, the entire length of the machine, in which there is an inferior grade of coal oil, while at the back of the machine there is a sheet of canvas. The grasshoppers jump into the pan in trying to get out of the way. Those that fall into the oil and are immersed in the fluid, die at once, while those that are merely touched by the oil may live two or three minutes. Canvas at the back of the machine prevents the grasshoppers from jumping clear over it. They strike against the canvas and fall back into the oil. It costs the state $105 to make each of these machines. They can be made by any tinsmith, and are given to the farmers in hopper-infested communities, in order to encourage them in getting rid of the pest. Prof. Logger claims that with his four hundred machines he kills an average of 800 to 1200 bushels of grasshoppers every day.

MORE LIKE TRAGEDY THAN COMEDY.

Comedian Sully's Experience With a Lunatic.

Daniel Sully, the comedian, did a bit of acting the other morning that was nearer tragedy than comedy, and but for his presence of mind would have had a serious tussle with an escaped lunatic and perhaps he and his wife been killed.

Actor Sully and wife were on their way to New York from their Lake Hill farm, he driving his team of horses, with Mrs. Sully seated in the back part of the wagon. When between West Hurley and Stony Hollow, about five miles from the city, they noticed a man who was bareheaded and barefooted, walking in the middle of the road. As they approached the man he turned around and announced that he had a mission from God to perform, and caught hold of the rear of the wagon. Mr. Sully saw at once that the man was demented, and asked what mission he had to perform.

At this the man whipped out a big knife and said that it was to "kill you and the woman." Mrs. Sully became frightened, but did not lose her nerve, while Mr. Sully, remembering that he had heard that the best way to get along with lunatics was to humor them, said:

"The mission is a good one, my friend, but I think you had better kill Mr. Sully first."

The lunatic face brightened up at this, and then Mr. Sully added:

"Now, as she is quite a healthy and strong woman, and the job will be a tough one, suppose we go to a saloon down the road and get a glass of beer."

To this the lunatic assented, and with the knife in his hand he marched behind the wagon for a quarter of a mile, the actor and wife keeping an eye on him.

When they reached Stony Hollow some men took charge of the maniac, who had recently escaped from the Middletown lunatic asylum. He is a desperate fellow, and when first captured several years ago, to be taken to the asylum, fought several officers with an axe.

BIBLES FOR ALL THE WORLD.

The Work of the American Bible Society for the Past Year.

The seventy-ninth annual report of the American Bible Society, which covers the work of that organization in printing and circulating the Scriptures during the past year, has just been published.

The society has distributed more volumes in China during the year than in any preceding year since it began its operations there. In Japan, too, the Bible committee has been able to accomplish a great deal of work among the soldiers of the Japanese army. More than 1,500,000 Bibles, Testaments and integral portions of the Bible were printed by the society within the year, and over 1,000,000 of them were printed on the presses in the Bible House, and more than 500,000 were printed in foreign lands. Through purchase of additional volumes the total number printed and procured by the society amounted to 1,958,674 copies. Of these, 947,103 volumes were issued from the Bible House, and 634,025 in foreign lands.

Of the volumes issued from the Bible House 101,196 copies were sent to foreign lands, and are not counted among the issues in foreign countries.

Of the issues of 947,103 volumes from the Bible House, 845,907 have been for the home supply. On account of the falling off of the receipts, the society was compelled to restrict its colportage work to a considerable extent. Only twenty-seven colporters have been employed for the whole or a part of the year in twelve states and two territories. The colporters visited 71,073 families and found 12,734 without the scriptures. Destitute families were supplied to the number of 34,299, and individuals in addition to the number of 19,982.

FAILURE AND SUCCESS.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who, to gain an additional profit practise the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitute, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

THE DEFENCES OF CANADA.

An Army Officer Secretly Detailed to Study them.

A Washington dispatch says that the United States war department is about to make a third attempt to learn something of the topographical and geographical situation in Canada with a view of preparing to meet certain situations which may be presented should Great Britain attempt to invade the United States from the Canadian frontier.

If the two countries ever come to war Canada will be the most probable base of operations for the British troops, and it is proposed to gather data showing the exact strategic importance of certain points in the Dominion which would be selected by Great Britain as the bases of operations.

Three months ago the Secretary of War detailed an officer to go to Canada for this purpose, and he had just begun to gather valuable information when an old admiral in the navy, whose daughter he had married, gave away the fact that an officer was in Canada on a government mission, and the result was that the officer was recalled for fear of his identity being known to the Canadian officials.

Later a second detail was made, and this officer was promptly frustrated in his efforts through some friends, who mentioned the fact that he had been chosen to study the fortifications and military strength of Canada. The war department has now detailed a third officer, who will shortly be on his way to Canada, and it is believed that he will succeed in reaching there without the intent of his visit being known. This officer will travel incognito, and no one outside the war department officials will know the purpose of his visit. The result of his investigations will be reported to the department, and it is expected that full particulars will be received of the real military situation which would be presented on the northern frontier should the United States and Great Britain again come to blows.

LEATHER IS VERY SCARCÉ.

Some Curious Facts Disclosed by an Attempt to Supply the French Army With Shoes.

New York Herald.

Leather is so scanty and high of price just now in France, that the Minister of War is greatly perplexed over the question of how to secure the necessary footwear for the great number of men which that nation keeps continually in readiness for its defence. Not only this, but a sufficient supply of leather for the saddles, harness and other furnishings of the cavalry and artillery is lacking.

When the government invited bids recently for the equipment of the troops with shoes and horse furniture, the most contractors who dared make an offer demanded so high a figure that their propositions were rejected, and those who have yet contracts to fill for these articles are seeking every means possible to break them, fearing that ruin will be the result if they are compelled to carry out their agreements.

Hides have doubled in price since the beginning of the present year. This unusual state of affairs in the leather trade was thought at first to be the result of a corner in the market, but it has since become evident that the remarkable scarcity in that commodity is produced by a variety of simple and natural causes.

Three of the principal reasons for this dearth of leather are: The recent war between China and Japan; the many revolutions and bloody conflicts in the South American republics; and the scarcity of fodder and pasturage owing to the unfavorable weather of last year and the year before in the countries of the world from which the principal supplies of hides come.

As can readily be conceived, the poverty of pasturage is a potent factor in the decrease of the supply of cattle and of hides. The number of cattle this year which will furnish skins for the tanneries of the world has not reached anywhere near the number of former years. Though the grazing lands are recovering from the effects of the long and severe droughts, which, with the consequent fires, have killed much of the grass, it will be another twelve months, even under the most favorable conditions, before they can supply cattle in sufficient number to even partly meet the demand, and the supply is being felt not only in France, but also in every other manufacturing country which depends upon the prairies and pastures of the western hemisphere for the supply of leather.

In the countries of South America where the cattle run wild in great herds, the unfavorable climatic conditions have been less severe in their results, but nearly every one of these countries has been the theatre of a devastating civil war which has left the people little chance to think of anything else, and has left the scanty population still further reduced and crippled.

The catastrophes of the climate and of war in South America, although serious enough in themselves, would not alone have been sufficient to bring about the present state of affairs. It is the war between China and Japan which is more directly responsible for the dearth which now prevails. When war was declared, Japan placed large contracts in the United States for the equipment of its infantry and cavalry with footwear and other furnishings. To fill these contracts the contractors in this country bought up nearly all the visible supply of leather suitable for that purpose.

Since the war closed, Japan has sent new orders of equal importance to the merchants here for fresh supplies of shoes and military trappings, and the markets have been swept bare to fill them. The price of green hides has therefore risen so high that the tanners are buying as little as they can, and a large percentage of the tanneries throughout the world are closed.

In France especially, the wholesale manufacture of shoes is in a deplorable state. Generally the product of one season is made up to see the next, but owing to the high prices prevailing this year for the necessary raw material, a great number of the shoe factories are closed and throwing out of employment a large number of workmen.

An immediate and practical solution of the question seems difficult. The crisis has not yet been reached, and the ultimate outcome will be interesting to note.

MR. FOSTER TO RETIRE.

For some time past, there have been rumors to the effect that the Minister of Finance had about decided to abandon York county and seek some other safer constituency. These rumors, which seemed to be well founded, began to circulate soon after the minister's chilling reception in Fredericton, and were even doubtless due to Mr. Foster's reflections over his city hall reception, as well as over the discouraging reports which were made by those who were sent out through the country to look over and size up the prospects. It is a well known fact that Mr. Foster became aware, shortly after his nod and come nomination for York, that he could not reasonably hope to be elected. The sentiment of the county was plainly against the government, the map, and the arbitrary clique which brought him here, and intimated that the people of York would simply have to accept him as their representative. The revelation brought out in the committee of parliament, under oath, in regard to the Fredericton Railway Bridge, made the whole matter of his coming to York so transparent that it is doubtful if Mr. Foster could get a majority of the people's votes in any place in the county outside of Maryville.

This was the way the matter stood before the Manitoba school question came home to roost. The course pursued by Mr. Foster in this matter seems to have alienated the most fragrant of voters upon whom he depended for the nucleus of his support. As the result of his many mistakes he finds the whole county, to which he came asking for bread, ready to give him a stone. Throughout all its wide expanse he can see no ray of hope or comfort, while from every part of the county he hears the cry of the men of York, "depart, hence, etc." And now comes the report, which seems to be well authenticated, that the signs he has seen and the warnings he has heard, has scared him back to Kings; while he is on the run he hardly thinks he is heading towards Kings. The fording figure of the cavalry colonel would loom up and cause him to shy off in some other direction. Where he may eventually bring up will depend largely on how the Manitoba school question is disposed of. But while he may not be able to fall back on Kings, "if the worst comes to the worst," he can fall back on temperance lecturing. The pay may not be as good as it was in the old days, but the school houses are just as plenty, the field of operations is just as large, and the need of a David to fight the Giant of strong drink and to educate men up to vote right on the temperance question is just as great now as in the days, when, in a moment of weakness, Mr. Foster voted for prohibition. For has not Mr. Foster himself said that the country is not yet ripe for prohibition for fifty years!

While this is the real state of affairs in the Tory camp, their mouth organ is making itself ridiculous by publishing absurd reports to the effect that the Liberal candidate is going to retire. While every sane man knows that there is nothing in such yarns, and that about all the Liberal candidate has to do is quietly wait until the people have a chance to go to the polls to become the representative for York in parliament, it might be as well to say that no matter what the prospects are or may be, Mr. Allen will be in the field to the finish. He was nominated by the Liberals of this county to defeat any Tory candidate who may care to face him, and while the easy victory before him is not displeasing, he is ready, with the help of the independent voters of York to retire—not himself—but whoever his opponent may be.

DR. ATKINSON'S DEATH.

Dr. Atkinson, M. P. P., passed away at 2 o'clock Monday morning, at his home in Bristol. He did not long survive the premature announcement of his death in the papers of a week ago, and his end was not unexpected, as he was a victim of consumption. He twice sought the mild climate of California, and only returned a few weeks ago with no relief, to die in his native land.

Marcus Chappell Atkinson was born at Beate Verte, N. B., on the 7th January, 1854. His father's family came from Yorkshire and settled at Sackville towards the close of the eighteenth century. He received his early education in the Beate Verte common school; attended the provincial normal school in 1875, and obtained a first-class certificate. In May, 1882, he married Miss Mary J. Stewart, of Antigonish, N. S., who survives him. On June 17th, 1882, he settled in Bristol, Carleton Co., and there began the practice of medicine. On April 28th, 1885, he was elected one of the county's representatives in the house of assembly, and at the general elections of 1880, the people of Carleton sent him back to the legislature. He was again a candidate in the general elections of 1892, and on June 17, 1895 he was elected by acclamation. His funeral took place this morning at 10.30 o'clock.

It will be pleasing to Canadians, says an exchange, irrespective of party, who admire honor and ability as indicated by administrative capacity, to learn that Sir Oliver Mowat has been received in Calthness, Scotland, with a consideration of which he is fully deserving. It appears that the little Premier's father and mother were born in that shire, and on the occasion of the presentation of the freedom of the town of Wick to Sir Oliver recently flattering reference was made by the provost of that place to the honorable associations connected with the name of Mowat in that district. Sir Oliver is verbally clanish and their appreciation of the life work of one of Scotland's sons was never more worthily shown. While away Sir Oliver will take part in the argument of the Ontario Prohibition Legislation. The case will be heard before the Privy Council on Thursday. This case will settle the rights of the Provincial Legislatures to pass prohibitory measures or the reverse.

It is a well known fact that Mr. Foster became aware, shortly after his nod and come nomination for York, that he could not reasonably hope to be elected. The sentiment of the county was plainly against the government, the map, and the arbitrary clique which brought him here, and intimated that the people of York would simply have to accept him as their representative.

Messrs. Jas. S. Neill, Dr. Coulthard, Joseph Walker and Robert Davies returned Monday from a fortnight's fishing trip on the Dangarong. Though this has been an exceptionally poor season for fishing, they report themselves satisfied. They were successful in landing a good many fish and had a most pleasant trip.

Citizens of all classes will be glad to hear that G. T. Whelpley is now on the straight way to recovery. He has been gaining slowly all this week, and today is able to sit up. The Herald joins with the rest of his friends in hoping that he may speedily be able to resume his place of business as before.

Woodstock, as well as Fredericton, is moving in the matter of complete sewerage. In fact, Woodstock has got considerable of a lead on us in this work. Fredericton is still thinking of probable cost, a wise thing to do, while the Woodstock council has decided to ask for leave to issue $10,000 sewerage bonds. It is originally the intention of the council to ask for $25,000, and posters to that effect were all over the city before the council changed its mind.

The annual sale of unmarked lumber took place last Wednesday. One half million feet of spruce logs were sold to E. L. Jewett, of St. John, for $8.05 per thousand feet; thirty thousand feet of pine was bought by Hilzard Bros., St. John, for $8 per thousand; one thousand and sixty-five thousand feet of cedar was sold to T. E. Babbitt & Sons, of Gibson, and a quantity of hemlock was bid in by the Fredericton Boom Co. for $2.75 per thousand.

The Tartar base ball nine having returned from a successful encounter with the St. John team, will give the Marysville team another game this week. This time our boys will meet the cotton story club on its own ground, and as it is a hard ground to play on for a team unaccustomed to its hills and valleys, the Tartars will have to hustle to win. We venture the prophecy, however, that they will be equal to the occasion.

Monday afternoon, John Smith, a well known city truckman, was driving down street with his three-year-old son on the seat beside him. His attention was attracted for a moment and when he looked back to the place where the child had been sitting, the seat was vacant. Looking down he saw the wheel of the heavy truck wagon just passing over the head of his son. Everything was done that could be done, but the child is probably fatally injured. Morphine had to be used, so great was the agony of the little fellow.

Some little time ago, a specialist was in Fredericton repairing the Cathedral organ. One of the pipes in St. Dunstan's church needed some repairs at the same time, and the gentleman from New York was asked to do the work. His charge was $80, which was promptly paid, and he departed for New York, taking the organ pipe with him. He has not been heard from since, though he has been written to several times. Now a new organ allows the Chapel. It was imported by J. F. McMurray & Co., and is the handsomest ever organ ever seen here.

During the thunder storm Friday afternoon, lightning entered the front door of Estey's mill and traversed the whole length of the building, struck the gear chain, and was carried off into the river. One of the rough workers near the slip, was badly stunned, but otherwise unharmed. Messrs. Harry Mackey and Wm. Haining narrowly escaped. The mill was set on fire but was quickly extinguished. The soap factory at St. Mary's also suffered; the doors of the furnace were smashed to atoms and considerable damage done. No one was injured.

Jeremiah Tracey's store, a small wooden building at Francy Station, was entered by burglars Monday night, between ten p.m. and daylight Tuesday morning. The safe was blown open and three hundred dollars in cash stolen. The safe was completely shattered, one large piece penetrating the ceiling. The money was only placed in the safe Monday, being receipts of blueberry sales. There is no clue to the soundraze. Mr. Tracey thinks the parties knew the money was there, although it must have been the work of expert safe crackers.

Results of the Examinations.

The examiners appointed jointly by the Board of Education and the University Senate to conduct the Matriculation and Grammar school leaving examinations, were in session at the education offices on Monday and Tuesday, and report that 46 candidates presented themselves for the matriculation examinations, and 18 for the leaving examinations. Of the 46 candidates for matriculation 12 passed in the second division, 3 in the third division, and 22 others passed in the third division conditionally, that is to say, having the required average, but failing to reach the average in not more than two subjects. Supplementary examinations must be passed in these subjects before a matriculation certificate can be granted. The remaining 9 candidates failed to pass. Of the 18 candidates in the leaving examinations 10 passed in the second division. No third division is recognized in this examination. The examiners are Prof. W. F. Stockley, U. N. B. Prof. S. W. Hanford, Mt. Allison; John Brittain, Normal School, and Wm. Brodie, Charlotte County Grammar school. These prepared the examination papers and summed up the results. The following associate examiners assigned votes to the candidates answers:

W. M. McLean, M.A., St. John Grammar School, Latin and Greek; James M. Palmer, M.A., Sackville, Algebra and Geometry; P. G. McFarland, M.A., St. Stephen, High School, English Language; G. H. Hanson, M.A., Kings county, Grammar School, Chemistry and Arithmetic; E. W. Lewis, B.A., Restigouche county, Grammar School, History and Geography.

Results of the Normal School Entrance examinations, and of the Preliminary examinations of teachers for advance of class are not yet known.

K. of P. Excursion.

Fredericton Lodge No. 6, Knights of Pythias, and Fowler Division, No. 5, U. R., of the same order, have about completed arrangements for a monster excursion to St. Stephen and Calais August 20th. The Grand Lodge of New Brunswick began their annual labors in the former town on that day and the Uniform Rank of the order will have a grand field day and parade. Divisions from Portland, Me., Bangor, Lewiston, Auburn, Bath, Saco, Waterville, Eastport, Calais, Houlton, St. John, Woodstock, Moncton, etc., will be there, and it is expected that between 2000 and 3000 Sir Knights in their gorgeous uniforms will be in line, making undoubtedly the largest parade of the order ever held east of Boston. Calais and St. Stephen are also arranging a programme of water sports, and taken altogether, it will be the biggest day the hustling border towns ever had. The K. P.'s excursions, picnics, etc., of former years have always been carried out in a first-class manner, and they mean this excursion to be the "biggest of them all." The tickets are being placed at the unprecedented price of $1.25 for the round trip.

Some Good Shooting.

The weather on Saturday afternoon was not favorable for good shooting, yet some excellent scores were made. Charley Neill shot a quail, and a pair of quails, and secured. This score makes him the winner of the first class medal given for the best aggregate in the spoon competition. He also won the first class spoon in Saturday's competition. P. R. T. Mack, another excellent shot, won the second class spoon and P. R. Gardiner, the genial giant of the post office, carried off the gold in the third class. The following are the scores:

P. C. E. Neill	91
Capt. J. D. Perkins	88
Sgt. W. J. Duncan	88
Sgt. C. J. Wilson	87
P. R. T. Mack	84
Lt. J. H. Hawthorn	82
D. J. Babbitt	78
J. W. Campbell	74
J. W. Bridges	74
P. R. Gardiner	68
Dr. Seery	45

The Tartars in St. John.

The Tartar base ball nine left home on Wednesday last to play a series of games with the leading clubs of St. John, and Fredericton has reason to be proud of the showing made by the boys. The first game was played Wednesday afternoon with the Starlights, and resulted in a hard won victory for the St. John players by a score of 8 to 7. Our boys played in hard luck throughout, but St. John papers say that they put up on one of the best games ever seen there. On Friday morning they met the Roses and victoriously defeated the Starlights in a series of games. The celestial players did up this team to the tune of 19 to 12. The same afternoon the Gas House team were nearly shut out, the score standing, Tartars, 14; Gas House, 1. The boys came home Saturday morning and received a warm welcome. They were arranged to play the Franklins, of St. John, here at an early day. It might be added that they met four or five Franklin players as opponents in every game they played in St. John. Fredericton is proud of you, Tartars! Keep it up!

Still in the Ring.

Victoria county still leads as the county of gallantry and romance. An exchange remarks this interesting and touching instance, which shows that the old days are not yet numbered with the past. "The good people of Andover are interested in a little romance which occurred in that neighborhood within a few days. A resident of the parish, a man between 75 and 80 years of age, a widower, took a buxom widow for a drive on Tuesday last. While they were out driving, the house of the lady was burned, and the poor woman was much excited over the fact, that she should have no home to go to. Her companion very gallantly offered to share his home with her, and the offer was promptly accepted. The marriage took place immediately, and everything has been serene and happy since."

George Peter's Narrow Escape.

George Peters, the stalwart colored man from Morrison's mills, had a very narrow escape from death early Tuesday morning. He had been out during the night plying his vocation, and with a companion was returning in a truck wagon to his home. Peters having had to toil all night at the mill, was naturally very drowsy. In fact, so sleepy did he become that he failed to notice the fact that his head projected far out between the side of the truck and wheel. His companion, who was doing the driving, also failed to notice this fact. As a consequence, when he went to turn his horses, George's head got tangled up in the wheel, and the head-colored colored man owes his life more to the stability of his head piece than to the wit contained therein.

Child Run Over.

Seymour Chase, a five-year-old son of Edward Chase, was run over Monday morning and badly hurt. While playing near the side of his father's home on George street, a horse belonging to James Bishop, attached to a light wagon, and driven by two little boys, came along close to where he played. Both wheels passed over his left side, left arm, right cheek and the top of his head. The little boy was picked up in a bruised and bleeding condition and carried home. The injuries are very severe.

The boy's father is very ill with typhoid fever at Victoria Hospital, and his mother is lying in a precarious condition at her home on George street, suffering from the same disease.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met on Monday evening and resolved itself into a committee of the whole to consider the sewerage question. A. G. Beckwith's letter offering to make a survey and plan for $250 was read. The Mayor expressed the opinion that it would cost somewhere about $1000 to obtain data from which to figure the cost of a complete system of sewerage, but he said he was perfectly willing to assume the responsibility of this expenditure. Ald. Golding didn't see it that way. He said he had asked in the early part of the season for an extra assessment of $500 for public sewerage, but the council had not assented for this service one cent over that of last year. The council were desirous that there should be no over expenditure in any of the departments, yet here at one jump they were thinking of entailing an over expenditure of $1,000.

Ald. Babbitt thought it would be a good idea to have Mr. McInnes, assistant sewerage engineer of Boston, visit Fredericton and talk the matter over with the council. Ald. Everett thought Fredericton was not very badly in need of sewerage. The old sewers had been flushed and the corner wells cleaned out in accordance with the instructions of the board of health, so that now there was no bad odor from those wells.

After some talk the council, on motion, accepted Mr. Beckwith's offer, plans to be ready on or before September 15th. Near the last of the same month Fredericton electors will probably be given a chance to express an opinion on this subject at the ballot box.

In the event of the vote being favorable it is thought likely that the Board of Health will compel all property holders to have their premises connected with the sewers. It is now held by some that they should be compelled to put the water in all tenement houses, as the sickness now prevalent in the back part of town was caused by well water. Common property holders to put the water in all tenement houses, and let the question of payment be settled between them and the tenants, is the view held by some.

John Reid's claim came up this time for final adjudication. After a short discussion it was resolved that the committee to whom was referred Mr. Reid's petition, could not recommend to the council the payment of the claim made by that gentleman.

The Blueberry Business.

The St. John Telegraph of Tuesday says: Large shipments of blueberries are being made daily from Tracy station and Fredericton Junction to Boston. It is estimated that upwards of $300 is being paid out daily for berries at these two places alone. A strip of land back of Tracy, about 13 miles in length, was burned over several years ago and as a result of this, it is yielding an enormous crop of berries. Whole families are engaged in the enterprise, and are making big money at it. The berries are packed in quart boxes and placed in wooden crates, each holding 32 doz. boxes. Large quantities are sent to St. John, and forwarded to Boston from there by steamer, and the berries are sent forward by freight. The price paid the picker just as they come in a quart, and the price realized in Boston is from eight to ten cents. Some early shipments brought as high as fifteen cents. The business has been going on for several weeks and will probably continue a month yet. Besides the place mentioned, large shipments are also being made from Cork, Blisville, Welsford and Harvey, and it is believed that a total of $1,000,000 is being paid out for berries at these places.

The Road Machine's Good Work.

Having occasion to travel over a large part of the parish of Stanley about the time the government plough was working on the road, and hearing a great deal of adverse criticism in regard to its work, I thought I would take a walk and see the fact for myself. In order to do this, I took a section of road presided over by a new road surveyor, and as it is an old saying, and no doubt a true one, "a new broom sweeps clean," and in regard to the question being a practical road-maker, I thought the test would be a fair one.

Now, here is the result: I measured the road by paces, and there were eleven hundred and thirty paces done by the plough, whereas there were only two hundred and sixty-six paces done by hand-labor, and that, with some graveling which I judged would equal one hundred and thirty-four paces, made in all about two hundred and thirty-four paces. That was the relative positions in which the work was done in regard to quality.

Now, in regard to quality, the position of this road is the result of the plough, before I had seen the road, and upon the whole length of that made by the plough, there was not a wheelbarrow of mud, and I was somewhat astonished, but the reason was this: The road was pressed down by the weight of the plough, and the grading was so perfect, that it formed a complete water-shed; while that made by hand was covered with puddles of water, and there was water and mud sufficient to wash the cobwebs of prejudice from the minds of the good men who had a little of the minds of our local M. P.'s.

Now, in regard to the matter stood thus: There was one hundred and sixteen days of state labor in the district, amounting, according to the legal tax, to fifty-eight dollars; the cost of the plough, which worked one day and a half, was about twenty-five dollars, a difference which any of the gentlemen with whom I had the pleasure of talking, would think very great in connection with any bargain or trade they would make.

After travelling over other sections of road where the state labor would not compare so favorably with the work of the plough as in the one referred to, I came to the conclusion that if one-half of the road tax was paid in cash, and one-half of that expended on the plough in the hands of an efficient man, like the one who had charge of this road, we should be able to save our culverts and rocky places, then, in the space of ten years there would be no chance for fault-finding in regard to the condition of the roads in the parish of Stanley.

Trusting you will find space in your valuable paper to publish this.

I remain, Yours respectfully,
Francis GILSON.
Williamsburg, Stanley, July 20.

Biggest and Best Show on Earth.

Sells Brothers' Great Three Ring Circus and Mammoth Menagerie.

"The times change and we have changed with them," said the Roman philosopher. It may also be said that these changes are not always for the better, but often bring retrogression and decay; and this is particularly true of the circus today. In fact, since the great ring-master, Death, gave Adam Forepaugh and P. T. Barnum their final cue, it may be remarked that but one truly great and legitimate circus remains, that of Sells Brothers, which is to exhibit at Fredericton, Thursday, August 1st; the only big tented exhibition that will visit the city this season, introducing Grand Triple Ring Circus, Hippodrome Races, Mammoth Menagerie, two Elevated Theatre Stages, Australian Aviary, Arabian Caravan, Tropical Aquarium, Spectacular Fagans, Trans-Pacific Wild Beast Exhibit, and Grand Street Parade. Sells Brothers present a more than abundant feast of everything which appertains to the most popular entertainments. In exclusive features, such as their monster pair of Hippopotami, a whole flock of ostriches, trained seals and sea lions, and a host of rare curiosities too numerous to mention, completes a wonderful performance. The Sells Brothers' big enterprise has been under the same management for a longer period than any other in existence, being now in its twenty-fourth prosperous year. No person can afford to miss the big show of this season, Grand Street Parade at 10 a.m., on the day of the exhibition. Special excursion rates on all lines of travel.

Senator Burns' Will.

Senator Burns' will was admitted to probate the other day. P. J. Wilson, executor and Mrs. Maria McKenna, brother and sister of deceased, were appointed executor and executrix. The value of the property left by Senator Burns was $3,122, and is all told to four daughters. The Baltimore Courier says the trustees of the Campbell Enterprise says the trustees of the St. Lawrence Lumber company are running the mill night and day and expect to hit September, when the whole property will be sold.—Richibucto Review.

Sells Brothers' Circus will show in Suilly's grove to-morrow, and the St. John and the Scotia papers speak in the highest praise of the concern. The menagerie is the best that ever visited this province; the circus first-class in every particular. Our readers can therefore depend on seeing the best show that ever came to our city. The show employs over 100 performers, and the total help of the organization is more than 400 men. Some 27 years ago the Sells Brothers were street car drivers in Cleveland. The show has long been known in the west, but it is its first eastern trip.

The steam yacht Randolph's leak Sunday night, while anchored at one of the piers of the Fredericton bridge. Her bow was tied to the pier and an anchor held her stern in place. Monday morning the crew were surprised to find her lying at the bottom of the river in four or five feet of water. Nobody seemed aboard her at night, and it therefore unknown just how the accident happened. The tug Fancheon and a crew of twenty men were quickly on hand to raise her. She was quite easily brought to the surface and will be none the worse of her rest on the bottom.

Seldom does a year pass but what some good prophecies with great certainty end of the world there. The fact that these prophecies up to date invariably remained unfulfilled does not seem in the least to break the faith of the succeeding generations. Now it is Elder Hiram Munger, one of the leading Second Adventists, in a sermon at the camp grounds last Sunday, who announced as a settled fact the end of the world will come in 1877, according to scripture.

2 & 3 Ply Tarred Roofing.

It is adapted to buildings of every class, to all climates; it is not affected by gases, acids, steam or other vapors; it is also vermin-proof, and should, therefore, be used to cover and line Poultry Houses. It is equally adapted to Dwellings, Barns, Factories, Mills, Foundries, Sheds, Storehouses, Railroad Stations, Chemical Laboratories, Rolling Mills, etc. It can also be used to great advantage over old shingle, tin or iron roofs.

CHAPTER V.

MADGE'S CONFESSION.

"If he knew himself forgiven by you,
if he only knew you acknowledged that you had misconstrued his intention...

"What I wish," said the general, in a low voice, "is too see him once again before I die."

"You must not speak in that manner, Sir Geoffrey," said Madge, rising in her seat and bending over his chair.

"I can't minister to a mind diseased," said Madge, "I can't minister to a mind diseased, nor should I presume to suggest to you where you would most probably receive the necessary consolation."

"Thanks, doctor, for your reticence," said Madge, with a faint smile.

I know you are one by your look, your earnestness, your very manner of moving about. As such, you are entitled to regard me, while the fribbles and dolls of so-

"I speak to you the literal, undisguised truth. I could wrap it up in any form of conversational sweetmeat that might please you. I should do so, if I were ad-

"Doctor, in the course of your career, you must have been the recipient of many confidences as strange and stranger than that which I am about to make. Sir Geor-

"Under present circumstances, with the greatest danger! I would not answer for his life if he were called upon to undergo so great an excitement."

"Thank you, doctor," said Madge, after a moment's pause. "It is important that your advice should be asked. You may be certain that it shall be acted on."

"So," she said to herself, twenty minutes after, when the doctor's swift roars and hoarse him into Springdale, and he was whispering the lightest of nothings

"Your guinea, my dear Mrs. En-twistle," said the great physician, blandly,
"are as good to me as any one else's, and if I thought I earned them honestly, I should not have the slightest scruple in taking them. Further, I am bound to say that were I, as I was some years ago,

"In declaring that the trouble which preyed upon her mind was of no great moment, Mrs. Entwistle scarcely spoke the truth. Ever since she had revealed to Gerald the history of her early days,

"From that day she dated the decay of her felicity; from the time when she finished speaking, to the present moment, when she lay gazing into the hollow caverns formed out of the glowing embers, marked hesitation before the utterance of the Christian name.

It is I, Mrs. Entwistle. I feared to disturb you, as I thought you were asleep."

"I am forbidden to state the means by which I am in hopes of winning Sir George to my side, and, as you are aware, Mrs.
Entwistle, Gerald, who is equally ignorant as everybody else, absolves me from tell-

"I am aware of that, Rose," said the invalid, with hesitation, "and I am sure
I do not desire to press you on the subject.
It will be sufficient for us to know the name of the person who will do it well,

"Brother, do you feel sure of your ground now? I asked the evangelist of the new conversion. No, I can't say that I do, replied the honest young farmer. They're a morgie on it for purty high all 'is' worth."

"How to Cure All Skin Diseases."
Simply apply "Swayne's Ointment."
No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, &c., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy.

"The Toronto school board had another lively day in discussing Mr. Bell's motion, that the inspector give in the names of all teachers wearing bloomers. Introducing his motion, trustee Bell said he was fight-

"While, on the other hand, should the attempt at reconciliation prove a failure, there was the chance that Gerald, in his fury, would instantly ally Rose's fate with his own, and forgetful of the promise which he had made to remain with his ant and being, he had proposed, and with his wife to seek their fortune in a new land."

"And although her fears had not been verified, Mrs. Entwistle was still not without alarm. She had seen how much Gerald had taken to heart the rebuff and the insult he had received. He had noticed, and could not but grieve over the change in his appearance and manner, the loss of the energy which formerly characterized his every thought and movement, the dull, moody, brooding state into which he had fallen, and from which even Rose's bright, sunny companionship failed to rouse him. He had told her—for in all his communications with her Gerald had been consistently frank—that his one great aim in life was to be reconciled to his father, that he held Rose as much and that she had given him fresh hope. It appeared that Rose—how, or through whom she would not say—had the means of bringing certain influence to bear upon Sir Geoffrey Heriot, and this influence was to be strongly exercised in Gerald's favor."

"See her now, stretched out on the sofa, her head thrown back, her thin hand still clapping the light fire-screen, fallen passively by her side. Dr. Asprey may be right; that dull, death-white complexion, those hollow cheeks, those puckered lips, may belong to what has become her normal state, but it is a gruesome aspect nevertheless, and one suggestive of dire illness,
if not of immediately impending disolu-
