To the Ratepayers of St. John's.

At the request of a large number of my friends, both East and West, I have decided to place myself in Nomination at the forthcoming Municipal Election. Owing to the limited time between now and Polling Day, and the possibility of not being able to call on every elector personally, I would kindly ask them to accept this card as a personal canvass. I promise, if elected, to use all my energies to see that the civic taxes are spent judiciously.

Notice.

Complying with widely expressed public opinion as voiced by the Press and individual citizens, We, the undersigned members of the Municipal Board, deem it our duty to offer our services to the City for the next two years.
While making this announcement as a body, we wish it to be clearly understood that we are standing as individuals, and desire to express our readiness as individuals to work with any Mayor or with any other Councilors that the Citizens may see fit to elect.
In respect to the Charter which has been submitted to the Legislature, we beg to state that while firmly of opinion that its adoption will enable the City to be more effectively governed than at present, we have always recognized that some of its provisions are debatable. We have supposed that the Legislature and the Citizens would carefully consider such sections and would arrive at some decision in respect to them which would be generally satisfactory.
We can point with some satisfaction, if not with pride, to the improvements which have been made during our short term of office, and it is in the hope that we may be able to complete and perfect the work begun, and to institute further improvements, that we now signify our willingness to serve the City for another term of two years.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

"KYRA," OR, The Ward of the Earl of Vering.

CHAPTER XV.

Percy's power over her had grown greater each day of their companionship; to others she was simply a willful, disobedient, defiant, dare-devil. On the voyage home she had been the plague of every soul on board, from the captain to the cabin-boy, the plague and the pet.

During the voyage Percy had placed her under the care of a lady who was traveling Englandward, and with whom he had some slight acquaintance; he had intended leaving Kyra in her charge until he could find a home or school for her, while he hastened to Vering; but the child had endured such agony when he put the proposal to her that he could not find it in his heart to put her away from him, and so, wisely or unwisely, he had brought her to Vering. Rumor could find no handle for scandal; she was but a child; he called himself her guardian, and she stood to him as his ward. Within his heart of hearts, there nestled a tenderness for the half-savage girl, that perplexed and sometimes troubled him, but he often, as he looked at her fresh loveliness, asked himself what he should do with her.

And now she lay, with her head resting on the white pillow, wistful and anxious, listening for the sound of his footsteps alone.

At last she fell asleep; and then she dreamed. She dreamed that she had seen him riding away from her on the horse she knew so well—riding away from her forever. With a cry, she woke, and sprang, like a young leopard, out of bed.

Yes, it was true; her chief, her god had left her! What was she to do? She was an Indian, and the first and overmastering idea was naturally to follow him. Without the loss of an instant, she stole to one of the trunks, and turned its contents on the floor, until she came to the clothes, the tr-nic, the head-dress of feathers, the moccasins she had worn when he had found her.

With the rapidity and grace of her kind, she put them on, one after another, and then stood motionless and acute, listening. If a painter could have seen her then, in all her exquisite loveliness, he would have cried aloud for very joy, and for misery, for no pencil could have done her justice. She listened intently for just five minutes, then she opened the door, glided noiselessly down the stairs, and into the hall.

With quick fingers, she drew one great bolt that barred the door, then, opening it, passed out into the night. All was as silent as the grave. With a long breath of relief, she drew her cloak of beaver round her, and ran swiftly, like a fleet-footed deer across the snow, and her face was set toward Vering Wood.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Dying Atonement.

Meanwhile the post-horses had whirled Percy to the old lodge at the park gates, and had dropped him there; he would not drive up to the house because of the noise, and now he walked swiftly along the avenue of elms and knocked with his knuckles at the great door.

The porter was expecting him, and the door opened instantly.

"The earl—how is he now?" asked Percy, anxiously.

As the man was answering, the small, crooked figure of Stephen Gringe came limping down the staircase and across the hall.

"Master Percy, Master Percy!" cried the old man, clutching him by the arm and looking up at him with a face working with some terrible emotion. "Come at last! I knew it! I said all along that you'd come back, if it was from the uttermost ends of the earth, and that he'd wait for you."

Percy pressed his hand.

"The earl," he said, "is still—"

Stephen Gringe nodded.

"Yes, but sinking fast now, Mr. Percy; he has been dying slowly for years—flickering out like a candle, slowly but surely. He's a young man compared with me, Mr. Percy—a young man. The ways of Providence are strange," he added, almost spitefully.

"Can I see him?" said Percy; "will he need any preparation?"

Stephen Gringe shook his head.

"An earthquake wouldn't improve him now, Mr. Percy; besides, he expects you; he speaks of you continually; yes, he knows—"

Then he paused and waved the footman and the porter out of hearing. "He knows more of what is going on about him than one would think, but he talks strangely at times; you'll not pay any attention to that, Mr. Percy?"

It was a somewhat strange question, but Percy answered it in the negative, with a shake of the head, and Stephen Gringe led the way upstairs. The door of the earl's room was ajar, and the steward and the heir entered it noiselessly. Beside the bed stood a tall, thin gentleman—the most famous doctor of the day. As Percy drew near the bed, the doctor held out his hand, with a grave bow; he had known Percy from a boy.

Percy looked down upon the bed and started. The earl might have been dead already, so white was his face, so motionless and inert his whole figure; but suddenly the eyes opened, and the old smile that had gone far to make wild Lord Jack so irresistible and dangerous, shone in them.

The lips moved, and Percy bending over him, as he took the thin, white, cold hand, fancied that he heard his own name.

How to Save Your Eyes

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Eon-Oto tablets. Drop one tablet in 1/2 glass of water and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvellously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription. The Valmas Drug Co., of Toronto, will fill the above prescription by mail, if your druggist cannot.

A prominent City Physician to whom the above article was submitted, says: "Eon-Oto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations of real benefit to be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family."

tor held out his hand, with a grave bow; he had known Percy from a boy.

Percy looked down upon the bed and started. The earl might have been dead already, so white was his face, so motionless and inert his whole figure; but suddenly the eyes opened, and the old smile that had gone far to make wild Lord Jack so irresistible and dangerous, shone in them.

The lips moved, and Percy bending over him, as he took the thin, white, cold hand, fancied that he heard his own name.

"Yes, I am Percy, uncle," he said, addressing him with an affection that made the man wince.

"Uncle!" he echoed, faintly—"not much of that, boy. Are you home from school? Holidays—eh?"

Percy knelt beside the bed.

"I am just home from America—North America, uncle."

The reply seemed to scatter the mist that was fast closing round upon the earl in a marked and curious manner.

"North America?" he repeated, slowly, but with emphasis. "What did you do there? Did you see the? Did I send you? No, I don't recollect that."

Then his head failed him and his eyes closed.

"Do I distress him?" he asked turning to the doctor.

"Do you hear nothing?" murmured the dying earl.

"Nothing," answered Percy. "There is no sound, and the snow is deep on the ground, uncle."

"Take the horse out into the woods," whispered the earl, wandering; "she cannot live through this! The snow! The snow! The child will die!"

Then he paused and turned to Stephen, with a look of intense anxiety.

"Stephen! is it done? is it done? Answer me, is it done?"

Stephen Gringe dropped on his knees and sobbed.

"It is done, my lord! It is done—you know it!"

"Atonement—I have made it!" whispered the earl. "I can look back now! Ay, if she were here—"

Patriotic Bazaar.

An epoch of considerable importance in the annals of Long Pond, occurred on June 3rd. His Majesty's birthday, when the children of Long Pond School held a Patriotic Bazaar.

The event was unique, original, attractive and proved an undeniable success. Such an impression was produced that in deference to the wishes of its many patrons the bazaar was extended for another night.

The young ladies, who solely and so ably conducted the whole bazaar were dressed as Red Cross nurses, and very pretty they looked in their white suits with their Red Cross badges.

Now for a few details of the bazaar. The stall representing England and Japan was constructed in the form of a rectangle with an arch at one side. This was the tea room. At the end of this room and screened off from the tea room, was the kitchen, which as everybody knows is a necessary adjunct of the tea room.

After getting the inner man satisfied in England and Japan, a casual observer would note the former occupant of the tea table making his way over to France at which stall he would judiciously, study the workmanship of the aprons and other fancy work there exhibited to be sold, and finally, would buy one.

The casual observer would also note that as he proceeded westward he would be attracted by an aroma which is distinctly Italian. He would glance to his right and see that he was right opposite the archway that led to Italy, the flower stall.

Still continuing his stroll he would be attracted by the various advertisements and mottoes of Little Serbia, where he would become the purchaser of a delightful package of home-made candy. On retracing his steps he would in all probability be accosted by another little nurse representing Newfoundland, who would, ask him to guess just how many peas were in her bottle. On giving his guess and paying for it, the Red Cross worker would pencil his name if he were lucky enough to guess near the right number, and proceed to make somebody else a prisoner.

Next, peering through the trees he glances over the boundary line into Russia and there he sees a very dainty little nurse with cap, apron, badge and all, pouring syrup and handing cake as fast and sprightly as a nurse can be.

He is now feeling the need of some refreshments after making a tour of the various countries, and calling some friends "stands a glass all round."

An interesting feature of the bazaar was Private Jensen's lecture. We were all very much surprised but none the less glad, when we heard of his arrival. He came unexpectedly, but we were extremely overjoyed to have the pleasure of meeting and entertaining that illustrious soldier and gentleman.

After introducing him to the audience the chairman, Mr. R. Plouman, briefly spoke on the object of the bazaar and Private Jensen's connection with it. At the conclusion of his remarks he proposed a toast to the King which was ably responded to by Private Jensen. He emphasized the need of help for the Red Cross Fund, and need of more soldiers for the defence of the Empire. He paid a fitting tribute to the loyal efforts of the organizers of the bazaar, and expressed himself as being very much interested in the movement. At the conclusion of his interesting speech he very skillfully cut the King's birthday cake.

The grand total realized by the bazaar was $76.13. Deducting $17 for expenses incurred we place the amount to be devoted to the Red Cross Fund at $58. The success of the bazaar is the product of liberal patronage, organization, efficiency and hard work.

We sincerely thank those who help us by donations of cakes, etc., and we also wish to thank Messrs. William Saunders, Walter Greenstade, George Greenstade and Wm. Stanley for the very efficient help given us.

Long Pond is determined to do its part. It has tried to raise money by an unusual method. Its method has been a splendid success. Long Pond has led. Who is going to follow?

"Do you hear nothing?" murmured the dying earl.

"Nothing," answered Percy. "There is no sound, and the snow is deep on the ground, uncle."

"Take the horse out into the woods," whispered the earl, wandering; "she cannot live through this! The snow! The snow! The child will die!"

Then he paused and turned to Stephen, with a look of intense anxiety.

"Stephen! is it done? is it done? Answer me, is it done?"

Stephen Gringe dropped on his knees and sobbed.

"It is done, my lord! It is done—you know it!"

"Atonement—I have made it!" whispered the earl. "I can look back now! Ay, if she were here—"

A squad of volunteers were at the South Side range yesterday afternoon making preparations for the installing of the new target system similar to that which is used in England. The Blair prizes will more than likely be competed for to-morrow under the new rules. Capt. Back From the West.

SUCCESSFUL FISHERY—M A N X FOREST FIRES.
The S. S. Portia, Capt. J. Kean, arrived back from the Westward this morning, after a quick trip. On her return from Bonne Bay the ship went to North Sydney for bunker coal. She brought a large freight and the following passengers in saloon:—
Messrs. B. Wounded, E. V. Hall, J. Norman, E. J. Doran, G. H. Dickinson; Mrs. P. Laing, Mrs. H. King and two children; Misses H. Bailey, G. Jones, M. King and three in steerage.
We learn that practically all the S. W. Coast bankers are back from the Grand Banks with their first summer's catch. All were well fished. A good many vessels have rebalbed and sailed again. A fortunate circumstance is that caplin bait is easily obtainable, almost every harbor swarming with these useful fishes. All things considered, the present outlook is that the banking voyage for 1916 will be one of the best on record. The shore fishery along the S. W. Coast is also very promising, and a successful voyage is being looked forward to.
From passengers who came on the Portia we are informed that the South West Coast is not exempt from the forest fires, especially in Fortune Bay where they are raging with greater violence than anywhere else on that section of the coast. When the Portia was passing that way the interior around Garnish was in a mass of flames.

The schr. Gordon W. was towed from Brigus to this port on Monday, and is now on dock being repaired.
Mr. and Mrs. Amos Martin, of Sydney, arrived last week on a visit. They are leaving by this evening's train for home having spent very pleasantly their few days here.
Mr. A. A. Parsons and his daughter, Miss Gertrude Parsons, are spending a few days in town.
Constable M. Grouchy and family left by this morning's train for Holyrood, where Constable Grouchy is to be stationed. An efficient, obliging officer, he has made many friends since coming here, and the best wishes of our citizens for himself and family will go with them to their new home.
A very large number of passengers left by the s.s. Sagona yesterday for Labrador.
Caplin struck in the coves about here this morning, and fairly good catches of fish are being secured with this bait.
The schr. Studland, Jas. Wells, Master, leaves in a few days for Labrador taking freighters for Camp Island and Seal Islands.
Work on the roads is progressing favorably and when completed our streets will be greatly improved, and our town much the better for the clean up to drains, etc., thanks to the new Road Board.
It is said that Capt. Thomas Dunn, of Riverhead, has lately purchased that desirable house and land on Le-Marchant Street, owned by Mr. John Davis.

WONDERFUL FILM AT THE NICKEL.
The greatest picture shown at the Nickel for many months was "The Wrath of Haddon Towers" last night. The subject was seen by hundreds of patrons young and old and all were of the opinion that it was the finest picture ever presented in St. John's. The other subjects were fine and Bert Stanley made a tremendous hit in the singing of his song. The programme will be repeated this evening and we strongly advise all who were unable to be present yesterday to go and see "The Wrath of Haddon Towers" for themselves.

The Siege of Paris.

(London Correspondent of New York "Sun.")
The Germans have striven to prove that the British blockade of Germany contravenes the laws of civilization, inasmuch as it may bring death by starvation to innocent women and children. There are two sides to the picture, and the "Times" gives the other in a brief record of the siege of Paris in 1870-71, when the Germans slowly starved a civilian population of more than 2,000,000 into surrender.
"They arrived before Paris in the middle of September," says the "Times." "By October 8 our columns report that the daily consumption of horseflesh within the city had risen enormously. By November 20 no more beef or mutton was to be had. On December 6 our correspondent stated that 'rat hunting is now vigorously carried out to meet the demands of the restaurants.' When the frequenters of the restaurants were eating rats the diet of other classes must have been terrible. On December 15 the population were put on a ration of horseflesh. The allowance was 20 grammes, or about an ounce.
"On January 15 the bread ration was reduced from 500 to 300 grammes, less than 10 ounces for adults, and a half that amount for children. The bread was a black and indigestible compound of rice, barley, buckwheat, oats and even hay. Long files of women and children gathered before dawn at the bakers' shops in the rain the cold and the snow of a winter in which the temperature sank to 21 degrees of frost.

"The animals in the Jardin des Plantes were eaten. Elephants sold at from 10 francs to 45 francs a pound, and even 'cotelettes de tigre' are mentioned. There were markets for dog-flesh and catflesh and an English writer partook of a feast at which the 'sole dish was a cat with mice 'round it.' There was no fuel and no light. The people starved from cold as well as from hunger.
"On February 14 one of the English party who brought food to Paris after the armistice, told the Mansion House Relief Committee what he had seen. Some of the persons assisted were 'barely able,' he said, 'to walk to the place' of distribution, and when the provisions were handed them they were unable to carry them home.' That is how the nation that reproaches the 'brutality' of our blockade remorselessly exercised its strict right of siege.
"But perhaps the French children did not suffer? Perhaps the besieged babies had plenty of milk? Let us see what was their fate during the German investment. The French did their best for them. To the very end 3,500 cows were reserved to supply milk for the sick and new born infants, but the supply was altogether insufficient. Milk began to run short so early as September 22nd and a month later the scarcity was affecting children. By the second week in January an English correspondent says they were 'dying off like rotten sheep.'

"What were the feelings of the humane Germans toward this vast population of non-combatants, the innocent victims of their military operations? Did they regret the sufferings they caused? Was their pity suppressed only at the stern voice of duty? Let their idolized statesmen speak for them. When Jules Favre came to Bismarck to arrange for the armistice, the Prussian statesman observed that within a few weeks the French representative had grown much grayer; 'also stouter, probably on horse-flesh,' while the Count's gentlemanly staff selected 'high class restaurants in Paris' as a suitable subject for conversation with the Frenchman's famished secretary.
"Favre told Bismarck that pretty children were still to be seen in the streets. 'I am surprised at that,' the great champion of Prussian kultur replied; 'I wonder you have not yet eaten them.' And the Germans knew very well that the siege had cost hundreds of children their lives. 'They have been on very short commons in Paris for some time past,' Bismarck's tony and Boswell records on January 29, 'and the death rate last week amounted to about 5,000.' For the last week of December it had been 3,280 and for the week before 2,728.
"The mortality, our humane German goes on, 'was especially heavy among children up to 2 years of age.' Has he any touch of pity? 'Coffins of these tiny French citizens,' he adds, 'were to be seen in all directions. Herod might have jested so.'

Thinner or Fatter?

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Oh, dear," sighed I, "do not let that acquaintance with the cheerful warning. 'What have you been doing? You look all tired out.' Perhaps the errand and a ten minutes' walk produced the change. And then again, perhaps it didn't." While most people make any comment that pops into their heads, regardless of how it may affect you, others are more kindly but no more trustworthy. For instance, one woman frankly confessed to me that she tells everyone she meets how well they look. "You might as well," she said, "it makes them happier and it doesn't cost anything."

Those Dangerous Good Intentions.

A very well meant philosophy and yet—well, the other day I met a girl who is prone to overwork. She had been staying late at the office. "Why will you do it?" I asked.

"I need the extra money, and it doesn't hurt me."

"Doesn't hurt you?" Why, you look like a ghost!

"You are an old croaker," said she. "I met Mrs. R.— (the woman who thinks it is kind to tell people how well they look) and she said I was looking fine."

So it goes.

While I would not for the world discourage the kind-hearted person who goes about scattering words of encouragement, I would suggest that we all be a little more careful and a little less mechanical and wholesale in our comments on personal appearance, and that those who receive such comments do not put too much faith in them.

"We wanted to draft the Irishmen who were in English and Scotch battalions into ours, so we should have all the Irish at the front under one command," said the general, "but we could not make the arrangement. The other commanders would not part with their Irishmen. British battalions like to have a sprinkling of Irish among their numbers. My men have had every test of trench fighting, gas and shells and sniping—and they've disproved any idea that the Irish were not as good at sticking as in a charge. They're stuck like veterans. Native Irish good humor relieves the grim monotony of the trenches."

"As for discipline—there's the record of court-martial"—the general indicated some blank spaces opposite the names of battalions on the wall—"everybody prophesied that we should have heavy drinking on St. Patrick's Day, because a lot of people have the idea that the Irish have a weakness for drink. I appealed to the men to be on their good behaviour with the result that we did not have a single case of intoxication."

Up in the trenches held by the Irish, stories abound. When a big high explosive German shell tore a hole in the parapet, a soldier who was set to shovelling away the earth that had filled the trench, had only fairly got started when another shell struck just behind him, tearing another section of the trench and half burying him. Having crawled out and looked around he saluted his captain and said:

"Sir, I have to report that at the present rate I can't finish this job without help. They're gaining on me."

The Irish at the Front

Have Had Every Test of Trench Fighting, Gas and Shells and Sniping and They Have Stuck Like Veterans—Native Irish Grim Humor Relieves the Monotony of the Trench.

British Headquarters, France, June 11.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—There is a town at the British front which is the centre of an Irish world. It is the headquarters town of the 16th or Irish division. Irish voices are heard from the doorways of the houses. Flower pots of shamrock are on the mess tables of officers who gather for their meals in the modest sitting room of the local grocer or butcher where they are "billeted."

In his office a general who is Irish to the finger tips, talks about his troops who were fighting hard against the Germans during the Dublin riots. If he is asked if there are any Sinn Feiners among them, he will refer the inquirer to the men themselves. They enlisted in the Irish new army battalions in face of the influence which produced Sinn Feinism. This gave them a distinction of character to start with their officers say.

Sturdy middle-aged men with stripes of color won in campaigns in India and South Africa while serving with regular Irish regiments, some still sergeants, some promoted to commissions, have been the drill masters of vigorous youth from Mayo or Kerry or Clare or Cork. But most of the officers in common with most of the men had never been in uniform when the war began.

A major, who is over six feet, and broad in proportion, standing still as a ramrod in salute, who looks as if he had been soldiering all his life, was a farmer in Watford. I can't describe a fourth or three of the blameworthy you ever heard of—a Dante it demands—when I of snores would have a number, a little sleep, a little slumber, some folding of the hands, I rise, all sore and kateen-katening, denouncing all the frantic snoring, the rumpus and the rush; and now that noise would be no matter, there is an end to fuss and clatter, there come a solemn hush.

HISTORIAN OF THE WAR

LONDON, To-day. The Hon. John William Fortescue, the Librarian of Windsor Castle, has been appointed by the Government to write an official history of the war.

ADOPT WILSON'S PLATFORM

ST. LOUIS, To-day. The Democratic National Convention Association finished work today by adopting the party platform, which was actually approved by President Wilson, including the plank on Americanism and that favoring Women's suffrage.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

LONDON, To-day. An official statement of the campaign in Belgium and France was issued by the War Office to-night. It follows: Last night we succeeded in exploding mines in the neighborhood of Souchez quarries and Cuijnchy; no damage. To-day hostile artillery was unusually active immediately north of La Basse Canal and the Loos Salient. Our trenches at Zillebeke were shelled heavily for a short period this afternoon. The remainder of the front was quiet.

ALLIED PROGRESS.

LONDON, To-day. The forward drive of the Russian armies in Volhynia, Galicia and Bukovina has continued with apparently undiminished success. From the Carpathian pet marshes southward to Czernowitza the forces of General Brunnhoff, according to reports from Petrograd, are throwing back counter attacks and advancing steadily against the Austrian armies. In thirteen days the Russians have made almost 100,000 prisoners and captured immense stores of war booty, say the Russian War Office. Battles south-east of Lutsk between Kozin and Tarnovka and north of Busko further successes to the Russian army. In an action on the Plutchevka River south of Lutsk, more than 5,000 Germans were captured after the attacking Russians had forded the river. Fighting continues northwest of Busko where the Germans are co-operating with the Austro-Hungarians, but the Russians report the capture here of far of six thousand men from the Austro-Hungarian Allies. Attempts by the Austrians and Germans to take the offensive on many sectors of the long front were repulsed, according to Petrograd. The Russian War Office chronicles the repulse of attacks in the region of Sokul, southeast of Rovell, on the objectives of the present Russian drive. Berlin reports the capture of 400 Russians during an attack on German position north of Pzreworsk. Around Verdun the French and German armies were inactive during the day, there having been only intense test artillery bombardments. The British says a keen and confirmed Franco-British attack on Thursday on the slope of Le Mort Homme resulted in the capture of German trenches along front of two-thirds of a mile, says London claims further advance of British forces in Mesopotamia in the region of Kut-el-Amara. Constantinople asserts the British have repulsed from within range of the Tigris the Occupation of Imam Mansur on the south bank of the Tigris River, the pushing forward of the British trenches to within two hundred yards of the Turks at Sannay on the north bank of the Tigris, claimed by London. On the other hand the Turks say the British were removed from Felahie on the Tigris to below Kut-el-Amara, owing to the activity of the Turkish army against it.

STERNER MEASURES WITH GREECE.

ATHENS, To-day. The demands of the Entente Allied nations on Greece, it was learned here to-day, are being considerably lengthened and extended as a result of the anti-Entente demonstrations which broke out in Athens last Monday. The demands were ready for presentation to the Greek Government when the disorders occurred, but the note probably will not be delivered until next week. Meanwhile the Entente blockade against Greek ports is continuing in full swing.

AUSTRIAN PESSIMISM.

LONDON, To-day. Swiss, Italian and Roumanian reports dwell upon the great effect of the Russian offensive on public opinion in Austria-Hungary, where general pessimism prevails. The principal newspapers of Vienna make no comment upon the situation.

GERMAN GUN-RUNNERS CAPTURED.

DUBLIN, To-day. The prosecutor in court martial trials in Dublin yesterday revealed that three German officers and twenty blue jackets were captured at Cork when they tried to land from a German gun-runner which accompanied a submarine on which they came to Ireland. The men, the prosecutor said, had been interned.

PORTUGUESE REPULSE GERMAN.

LOURENÇO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, To-day. An official statement on the fighting in Northern Portuguese East Africa says the Germans on Tuesday made a surprise attack against the Portuguese post of Namake. The fighting lasted an hour, the Germans using explosive bullets. The Germans crossed the River Rovuma, in dugouts, but were forced to retire into the dusk on the left bank. The Portuguese troops lost five killed and two wounded. The German losses are unknown.

LYOYD GEORGE IT IS.

LONDON, To-day. According to political writers in the morning papers the appointment of Lloyd George to succeed Kitchener has now been definitely decided upon. The Morning Post's political correspondent says: It has been decided that Lloyd George is to succeed Kitchener as Secretary of State for War. There remains to be settled the relations of the new Minister to the Munitions Department. It is probable that the two offices will not be combined, in which case it will be necessary to appoint another Minister of Munitions.

BRITISH DESTROYER SUNK.

LONDON, To-day. A British destroyer has been sunk. Thirty-one members of the crew were saved, three officers are missing.

ON THE WEST FRONT.

PARIS, To-day. In the course of last night German troops attacked the French positions at Avocourt with grenades, says an official statement. In the region of Le Mort Homme there was intense bombardment. In the Vosges, after violent bombardment of Hill No. 425 to the east of Thann the French infantry, the statement adds, penetrated the first and second German lines and brought back a number of German prisoners.

Grain Steamer to be Discharged.

FOUR DOLLARS A DAY FOR WORKMEN.

The Norwegian grain-laden steamer Lyngfjord, which went ashore in St. Mary's Bay a fortnight ago and was refloated and towed here for repairs, will discharge all her cargo before being dry docked for repairs. The workmen engaged at the handling of the grain will be paid at an increased rate, that decision having been reached last night. Yesterday the ship was put into dry dock with the cargo in her. A survey showed that the ship's damages were more serious than at first thought and it was necessary to have the cargo discharged before repairs could be made. This morning the ship undocked and began unloading at Prowse's Southside premises. The trouble about wages between longshoremen and those representing the underwriters here has been settled, the latter agreeing to pay $4 per day, or at the rate of 40 cents an hour, but no night work. These terms were considered satisfactory by the workmen and they resumed work unloading the ship this morning.

Canadian Gallantry.

Of the fierce fighting that has been raging for weeks past on the British front the Canadians seem to be bearing the brunt. The following extract from the Times correspondent, H. H. Robinson, speaks for itself:—

In the earlier fighting at Hooge the troops engaged included units of the Princess Patricia's light infantry, Canadian Mounted Rifles, the Royal Canadian regiment and Canadian infantry. The northern end of the line was attacked and it was held by the Princess Patricia's. Here and in the Sanctuary Wood was the scene of fighting of the most desperate kind. Occupying the middle of the ground covered by the enemy's concentrated fire were battalions of the Canadian Mounted Rifles.

It was terrible fighting over the whole line. Terrible, hour after hour, and not only over the front line itself, but in the region behind, where lay the places known as Maple Copse, Observatory Ridge and Armagh Wood. Each of these names will be written large in history. Other battalions came up through the Barrage later to assist the Mounted Rifles, and few things finer, it is said, were ever seen in war than the way they came up.

To the dazed and broken remnants of the men in our trenches the enemy was not visible until close at hand. Of one battalion, few of the men who remained had any rifles left fit for use, even if the men had been fit to use them. But when they saw the enemy coming toward the trenches to meet them, they charged magnificently, but pitifully, to their deaths, some blind and deaf and staggering, with no weapons but broken rifle butts, bits of entrenching tools and in some cases only their fists.

The battle for this debated ground began on June 2nd when the Germans followed a bombardment of terrific power by the usual infantry attacks, capturing the positions named above. The casualty lists that have since issued show the serious extent of the Canadian losses.

Now there is a sequel to the story. The message of June 15th tells us that by an unexpectedly sudden counter-attack these very positions were recaptured in brilliant fashion. The British line is reformed. Thus the Canadians have retrieved their fortunes; their reputation needed no retreating. With so many Newfoundlanders among the Dominion forces, and our own boys' holding for the present a quiet part of the line, we find the greatest immediate interest in the doings of the Canadians. Apart from their fine contribution numerically to the cause, they seem so far always to have faced greater odds.

Killed in Action.

St. Lawrence mourns the loss of another of her heroic boys who have given their lives for King and Country. Only a few days ago we had away Private Max Reeves who had died at St. John's and was brought home for interment, and now intelligence comes from Ottawa saying Pte. Alonzo Slaney was killed in action in France, June 8. Only a few days ago Mr. Farrell received a message from Ottawa saying his son, Augustus, was wounded in France. Out of forty of St. Lawrence's boys who are serving in H. M. Forces, two have been killed in action, two have died and two more are wounded.—Com.

St. Lawrence, June 14th, 1916.

Caught in Elevator.

At noon to-day, little Jimmie Holloway, the seven-year-old son of Mr. Edward Holloway, janitor of the Board of Trade building, had a narrow escape from death, when his right foot got caught between the big passenger elevator and the main floor of the building. It appears the little chap jumped on board the elevator as it was going up and standing near the door got his foot caught in the manner described. The little chap kept cool, and bore up bravely while he was being released from such a nasty position. On examination it was found that the child's foot was badly bruised, but as far as was known no bones were broken, which appears nothing short of a miracle.

Opening of the Sailors & Soldiers Club

We have received from the Secretary-Treasurer of the Ladies' Committee an invitation to be present at the opening of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Club on Monday afternoon next, the 19th inst. Following is the order of proceedings:
Sir William Horwood, Chief Justice of Newfoundland, will preside and state the purpose of the Club, and describe what has been done and the facilities provided.
Hon. R. Watson, Chairman of the Institute Committee, will mention the pleasure the Committee and Dr. Grenfell have had in setting apart the accommodation as per memorandum of the arrangements for the use of the Club. To recommend as necessary that a provisional committee of three men each from the Royal Naval Reserve and Newfoundland Regiment be nominated by Captain MacDermott of H.M.S. Briton and Major Montgomerie, Adjutant of the Newfoundland Regiment, to take charge of the rooms until the Club is organized.
The Representative of the Ladies' Committee to present to the Club all the furnishings and equipment.
Captain MacDermott, H.M.S. Briton, and Major Montgomerie, Adjutant Newfoundland Regiment, to receive the Club on behalf of the Provisional Committee to be formed.
A vote of thanks to the Ladies' Committee for their successful endeavors will be proposed and accorded.
Thus will be inaugurated another form of the splendid services our ladies have rendered to the cause. That the new Club will prove a boon to the Volunteers goes without saying. We congratulate all associated with the institution, and in particular the young ladies with whom the idea originated.

What the Municipal Commission Has Accomplished.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—The Citizens' Committee of 1914 was informed by Mr. Ryan, the City Engineer, that while the City was amply supplied with water for household purposes, it was not fully protected against the danger of a conflagration.

Acting on this hint, the Municipal Board decided to get a report on the City Water Supply from the eminent firm of Engineers—Messrs. Hazen, Whipple & Fuller, of New York.

The report of Mr. Longley has been widely circulated. It confirmed the opinion expressed by Mr. Ryan, and recommended extensive additions, which the Board decided to undertake, and which are now nearing completion.

The danger-points for the City were (1) that the 6 inch main on Water Street could not possibly supply sufficient water to cope with a big fire; (2) that a full supply could not be obtained in any locality without leaving other parts of the City entirely unprotected.

Granted conditions similar to 1892, when the town seemed to catch fire in several places at once, it must again be destroyed, as there would be only water enough for one locality.

The remedy recommended by Mr. Longley was, first, a 20 inch main on Duckworth Street with 8 inch connections to Water Street. The 16 inch mains coming into the city were not sufficient to supply this big 20 inch main and it therefore had to be extended up King's Road via Rennie's Mill Road and about one and a half miles on the Cove Road.

But even this was not sufficient. Judging from the experience of other places, and the quantity of water used when fighting a conflagration, Mr. Longley considered a large reserve supply near at hand was necessary, and upon examination found that George's Pond was exactly suitable for the purpose. George's Pond will be kept full by pressure from Windsor Lake and will not be used until the draught of water for fire fighting reduces the pressure, when it will immediately flow down and supplement the supply coming from Windsor Lake, by the main.

George's Pond will be like the cistern in a house. It will remain full until it is wanted, when by metaphorically pulling a string, it will rush down where it is most required.

This means a protection from fire never before enjoyed by the city. About $225,000 is annually paid by Fire Insurance Premiums, and the Board is confident that a reduction of 25 p.c. should be made in the rates on account of the greatly lessened risk.

A writer in the press, wanted to know how the people who do not insure will be benefited. They will enjoy with others the benefits of increased security, equal in value to the saving of $55,000 per annum made by those who contract with Insurance Companies to compensate them in case of loss.

In addition to the protection from fire thus secured, the Board has laid over 11,000 feet of 6 inch pipe, replacing the old encrusted 4 inch, and supplying water to numbers of people who had been without it.

In short, the Board found the City insufficiently provided with water and has now arranged for a supply adequate for all requirements.

Yours truly,
W. G. GOSLING.

P.S.—I see friend 'Yorkie,' who ever he may be, in the Daily News, says that people are being told that Meters are to be placed in private houses to measure the water used—I should hardly suppose the opponents of the Board could tell such a foolish lie. It almost seems unnecessary to say that nothing of the sort was ever contemplated.

Scarcity of Salt in the Straits.

FOREST FIRE CAUSING DESTRUCTION.

Notwithstanding the enormous shipments of salt which arrived here this spring there is a scarcity of that commodity in the Straits and in fact a famine at Port aux Choix. Such a state of affairs is a material drawback, especially as fish are reported plentiful in that territory. Last evening the Minister of Marine and Fisheries received the appended message from Mr. Geo. H. Badcock, Supervisor of lobster fishery operations at Port aux Choix:

There is a good sign of codfish all along the coast (from Bonne Bay north), but no salt. The lobsters are eating off owing to the easterly winds. There has been a forest fire at St. John's Island all the week and it has been almost entirely swept with a quantity of lobster gear destroyed but no houses. The traps this morning here averaged 7 qtis.

CURE FOR THE SUMMER FRECKLE.

If you are a blonde you are apt to freckle this summer, instead of burning, and I know just how much of a rage these same freckles can kindle in the feminine heart. Yet I know a girl whose freckles give her a quaint tomboyish charm that is irresistible. However, the charm of freckles is rare and seldom found, and most of us wish to eradicate them. I know of no better cream for the purpose than the one I give you here: Perolin, one ounce; lanolin, one ounce; hygienic, one fluid ounce; acetic acid one fluid dram.

When the face is given to becoming excessively oily in hot weather an application of toilet cologne after each washing will prove a great preventative of this unpleasantness. For excessive perspiration there is a pleasant toilet powder that can be used on any part of the body. It is especially good for perspiring hands before donning gloves, and for the arm pits. It is made by combining three fluid drams of phenic acid; five and a half fluid drams of alcohol; six and a quarter ounces of starch and a little essence of violet. Dissolve the acid in the alcohol and the violet essence then the starch and orris root.

I have in mind an excellent cream which is used principally for sunburn and which may be applied before going into the sun or even after the face has become burned. White petrolin two and a half ounces; paraffin wax one-quarter ounce; lanolin one ounce; water one and a half ounces; oil of rose three drops; alcohol one-half dram.

NO SLACKENING OF BLOCKADE.

LONDON, June 16.—As the result of the discussion of the blockade at the recent Allied conference in Paris, conclusions were reached which will remove many conceptions at present existing and neutral, according to Lord Cecil, Minister of War Trade, who presided at the conference. What these conclusions were Lord Robert would not say, but he asserted that the blockade would work better as the result of the conference. Asked if it would be a tightening of the blockade, Lord Robert paused, and then replied with a laugh, "there will be no change." Further than that he did not commit himself. He said the main object of his going to Paris was to make sure that the Allies agreed absolutely on policy. It was a little to be done to achieve what he declared, and both Germany and British and French, were congratulated as to what should be done. The conclusions reached, he said, would not cause any change of policy in the blockade, but would stand the stand of the Allies a stronger through the removal of "misconceptions." Lord Robert reiterated that the Allies did not wish to interfere with neutral trade except such as was for the benefit of hostile countries.

The purpose of the secret session was for the discussion of interpellations concerning the conduct of the war, particularly of the defensive.

made further advances, occupying the village of Killinmanjaro and another village nearby. A large German force is confronting the British in this sector. Further south, near the coast, the British have occupied the important post of Karogow, and in the northwest have seized positions in the Victoria Nyanza sector. These announcements are made in an official statement issued to-night as follows: Kwedizwa, six miles north of Handeni has been occupied, also the village of Killinmanjaro, close to Handeni. A large German force is entrenched near the Handeni water supply. The important station of Karogow and a wagon bridge over the Bangani River have been secured by the British. LONDON, June 16. The Official Press Bureau to-day gave out a statement dealing with operations in Mesopotamia, as follows: On the north bank of the Tigris, east of Kut-el-Amara, our trenches have been pushed within 200 yards of the Turks at Sannayat. On the south bank, Manaura has been occupied. This place is three miles south of Mayasid. A successful punitive expedition has been made against the Arabs who persistently cut the telegraphs north of Hamar Lake. Two hundred cart loads of grain and some sheep were taken from the raids on hostile Arab tribes. Three of our Tigris barges were sunk by Turkish artillery on June 10. The imaginative Turkish communique of Thursday was founded on the above.

Mitchell Won the Cross.

All hearts in Terra Nova who love her sea-girt Isle, When Donnelly won distinction her sons on him did smile. But now our dear old island once more she does display Her sincere love for Mitchell for the welcome news to-day. Now for his skill and valour, this brave hero from our town, Has won the Cross which truly brings our country great renown.

In far away Gallipoli, near the blood-stained Dardanelles, "Our boys" they fought like Trojans amid the shot and shells, They lives they nobly yielded, it was there Fitzgerald died While attending to his duty at a fallen comrade's side. And that deed will live forever and war's pages 'twill emboss We've more glory to us given since Mitchell won the Cross.

There's Hynes and Greene and Jensen, and each bears an honored name. They are worthy sons of Newfoundland marked on the scroll of fame. Their deeds will be remembered until time will be no more, Along with many others from our own dear island shore; Wherever man has ventured, or wherever man has died, There a "boy" from Terra Nova was found fighting by his side.

So let us cheer John Mitchell, now come every class and creed, Praise him, he is our countryman who has done a noble deed; The father and the mother who have reared this gallant son, They're proud of him, and why not, for the valiant work he's done; Enshrined he'll be in all our hearts, fresh as the verdant moss Which grows in Terra Nova, since John Mitchell won the Cross. Memories of the Opening Game:— Go up and see a ball game, 'twill make you well and strong; go up and see a ball game but bring your furs along. Go up and see a ball game and watch them cuff the pill; go up and see a ball game, then pay the doctor's bill.

The Ladies' Committee serving refreshments displayed great courage in standing at their posts during the progress of Wednesday's game, but they displayed greater courage still in asking some poor half frozen fan to buy ice cream.

It was a fine game up to the eighth inning, when the Cubs' luck broke and the Irishmen just romped round the bases.

What puzzled the bleacherites is that when (h)ALL was lost, the Cubs tried to PEARCE their way through.

It is noticeable that the manager of the B.L.S. is still called "Muggsy" (after the famous manager of the N.Y. Giants), but never when Richard T. is within hearing distance.

It's easy enough to be pleasant when your team's in a winning streak, but the fan worth while—a freak so to speak—is the one who sticks to a losing team.

Both nines will need to do two things each before they can hope to get a first division place—the B.L.S. betting and base throwing, and the Cubs fielding and throwing.

The Official Scorer, Mr. P. E. Outerbridge, tells the following which he claims to have overheard near the players' benches on Wednesday afternoon; he will not state whether it was the Cubs' or Irish bench: Manager—What do you mean talking to the umpire like that? Are you manager here or am I? Player—I know I'm not manager. Manager—Very well, then, if you're not manager don't talk like an idiot.

Next Wednesday's game between last year's champions—the Wanderers—and the Red Lions, who finished second, will be exciting.

THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

THE LABRADOR.

The letters which have appeared, written to draw attention to the labours of religious institutions on Labrador, while being true records of incidents, great, yet not uncommon, in the lives of our clergymen, have come from the writers as the result of a misconception. Dr. Grenfell was misquoted by the Montreal papers, and as he has said that he was not referring to Labrador when speaking of certain conditions thirty years ago, it seems unnecessary, if not unkind, to continue a defence of a position that has not been assailed. There has been no attack on people or religious work on the Labrador. It seems to me that we are allowing a fancied slight to blind our eyes to the good that Dr. Grenfell has been able to do. To read of all the hospital work that we owe to his efforts, we can forgive much that in his enthusiastic endeavours to raise moneys for his work, he may say about bleak Labrador. And perhaps truth is so strange sometimes that it seems exaggerated. Dr. Grenfell wants money for his work and his words may be strong and straight to drag the money from the rich. We don't like our ills exposed, but are we, on the other hand, prepared to find a cure for them ourselves? Would we have had all these free hospitals and doctors on the Labrador if Dr. Grenfell did not come? Would we? We can criticize Dr. Grenfell as we like, but to my mind we cannot cover up the great work that he has done, and is doing. The more unselfishly a man proposes to act, the more will we scrutinize and criticize his smallest action. So then, let us rejoice that the Labrador has such institutions as Dr. Grenfell has raised there, and is being cared for better than ever. Let not any feeling lead us to hinder even one sick man from obtaining the comfort of medical treatment. There may be, probably are, faults in the administration of the Grenfell institutions, and in what institutions we do not find them? I do not know Dr. Grenfell to speak to, and I write this simply as an outsider, who judges his work not from the standpoint of his relations with religious denominations, or other business interests on the Labrador, but from the view of all the misery and suffering that he must assuredly have lessened, and all the lives that must have been saved by the medical aid of himself and his assistants.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

At the present writing the only contest will be for the position of Mayor. The only Councillors offering are the Commissioners. The latter will do well to emphasize that they come as individuals, not as a body, and I should prefer that each of them should come with a separate manifesto. The Charter, as they state, contains many sections that are debatable. Then it is surely due to the public that each Commissioner should state his sincere opinion on these sections, so that public opinion may have an opportunity of expressing itself concerning these sections. It is not because I consider a man to be a good fellow that I should vote for him. I want his ideas to be good. For the Commissioners to come as a body with the Charter as their platform does not appeal to the community. A plebiscite on the Charter would be a vastly different matter. But when there are errors to correct, when some changes must be made in the Charter, charges which the Commission evidently anticipated, but did not make themselves, then I submit that the Commissioners are not quite honest with the electorate in coming for election without taking it into their confidence and individually reporting to the public what changes they themselves would like to see made in the Charter. I have heard of more than one minority report and this is certainly the time for such reports to be publicly given. As it appears now, the man who is most popular and widely known will get the most votes, no matter what his views are. Frankly I should prefer a few new Councillors sandwiched in for these two years, so that the necessary changes in the Charter may be accentuated by their election and thus, we may be reasonably sure, such changes will be considered.

VERY CURIOUS.

I was shown documentary evidence the other day which revealed a very curious matter in connection with the petitions which were signed and which asked for the appointment of the Civic Commission. One petition set forth that such Commission should make a report that should be submitted to the people by means of a plebiscite. The other form of petition set forth that such report should be made to the Legislature. Both petitions were alike as to type, printing, etc., and both had been in circulation. I cannot tell if there were any more petitions circulated which were worded as the first I have mentioned, but this fact reveals, I should say, the first intention, which was to submit the Charter to a plebiscite. The withdrawal of this petition, for I presume it was withdrawn, was doubtless made because the report would more easily be put into shape by the Legislature. To some extent I agree with this if the plebiscite meant the absolute adoption or rejection of the New Charter. We need a New Charter, there is no doubt of that, but it is futile to imagine that we can get a perfect document from twelve men even if they have spent ten years at it. And that is why I have advocated publicity in the matter, and why the Citizens' Committee and the Unions which are discussing the Charter, are really the safeguards of the community, even if minor matters only are suggested by them. It is the lack of publicity that has bred distrust of the New Charter. Let us, keep it but let us make sure that necessary changes are made in it. What are they?

SOME CHANGES.

First, the housing problem is not by any means brought to a solution in the Charter. We have to consider first the class of houses which we now wish to replace by better, also the financial position of the men who occupy these dwellings. We find that these men are not able to save the two or three hundred dollars that they require before they can be helped by the scheme in the New Charter. These men must be helped in a very real sense. They must have decent houses, and all that can be expected from them is a reasonable sum each year which they will pay till the houses are fully paid for and they become the owners. The Charter provides for the Council to build all houses, but there are many handy men who can do quite a lot of work on their houses and save the cost of such labour. The root of the housing problem is approached by the abolition of shacks and houses uninhabitable first. Get the occupiers of these in decent houses, and a solution can be found. It is no solution to provide bonuses for those who can put up houses—they will put them up, bonus or no bonus. And the Council has no right to subsidize Building Societies. If there is $25,000.00 to spend, as the New Charter provides, for rewards for building, let it be spent in putting up houses, or used to pay interest on a borrowed sum to put up so many houses each year. There is no necessity to make this problem an opportunity for money-making for building societies.

DUST, SAND AND SALT.

Our streets are plagued by three evils. Dust, Sand and Salt. There is apparently no overtime spent in trying to "lay" the dust. There are streets which do not see the watering-car for weeks. A motor truck could cover the city many times a day, or if the Council's horses are busy, why not contract with some man to supply horses when needed?

The Salt and Sand plague Water St. in the winter months, and I am surprised that the teamsters and cabmen, whom it directly affects, do not press the matter to a settlement. The Salt and Sand placed on the tracks to keep them clear are scattered all over the street by the sweeper-car. They prevent the snow from caking together and while the horses are up to their knees in the mixture, the slides are often scraping along the granite. What hard hauling this makes it is easy to imagine. The truckmen and the cabmen certainly cannot pursue their occupations in the free enjoy-

Nervous and Almost 'Crazy' With Pains in the Head

Clergyman Certifies to This Cure of Nervous Prostration by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

No ailment is more discouraging than Nervous Prostration. You may feel better for a day or two, only to find the next day that you have lost ground and are worse than ever. The headaches are worse, languid feelings are terribly depressing. As you lose strength you lose hope and courage and look to the future with fear and trembling.

"A friend handed me Dr. Chase's Almanac, so that I might read about the Nerve Food. A single box of this treatment convinced me of its value, for I was better. I cannot tell how many boxes I used, but the results were so highly satisfactory that I cannot praise it too much. My health and strength have been restored so that I can do all my own work, and I recommend the Nerve Food to all who suffer from nervous prostration."

"This is to certify that I am acquainted with Mrs. A. B. Eisner and believe her statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to be true and correct." Rev. Arthur A. Whitman.

Some patience is required in the treatment of nervous prostration, but you will not be using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food long before you begin to find your strength and good cheer returning. You will then be encouraged to continue the use of the food cure until cured. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmansons, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

HEAD WAITER: Yes, sir, we are a bit old fashioned, as you say—but we find people like it so long as we make them comfortable. I haven't heard no complaints on that score.

GUEST: Good beds and good food, eh?
HEAD WAITER: Excellent beds and good wholesome food—comfortable Gas Fires and 'ot water in every room in the house.

GUEST:—Gas Fires, eh? That doesn't sound old fashioned.
HEAD WAITER: No, sir, it don't. But we 'ad to move with the times, sir, and it's our business to give people what they want. If you'll excuse me, sir, that 'ave been 'ere all my life, I find that our people mostly want 'ot baths, 'ot water, well cooked food, good fires, good beds and no fussing. We couldn't do that with coal—not satisfactory as I may say. So we puts in gas—everywhere. We cooks by gas, we lights by gas, we 'eats the water by gas and we 'as Gas Fires. So you can 'ave a 'ot bath in ten minutes if you want it, sir, a fire in your bedroom and whatever you like to order for dinner, sir, punctual to the minute.

GUEST: That sounds top-hole—but where's the old-fashioned part come in?
HEAD WAITER: It don't come in, sir, so far as that's concerned. But there's the 'ouse, the furniture, the pictures and—if I may say so—the 'omeliness of the place.

GUEST: (a trifle bored) Well, well I'll have that hot bath right away—if you'll get the bathroom ready.
HEAD WAITER: The bathroom is ready, sir, always. There's plenty of 'ot water, you'll find clean 'ot towels in the 'ot cupboard in the bathroom and the Gas Fire lighted in your room.

GUEST: Right 'O—and dinner at 8 sharp, please!
HEAD WAITER:—What'll you 'ave, sir—a nice sole, leg of mutton and sweets?
GUEST: Well, if that isn't troubling the cook too much—I'm rather late, I'm afraid.

HEAD WAITER: No trouble at all, sir. You see, sir, our kind of comfort means comfort for us as well as our people. We don't 'ave no coals to carry, no fires to make up, no bathrooms to attend to—This 'ere gas, if I may say so, saves money and time, and—

GUEST: You may say so at dinner time, please, I'm off to have that bath . . . (ascends stairs slowly) . . . Decent old boy, though he does talk a lot; and a real nice place. Thank heaven, I've struck a decent billet at last! (The bathroom door bangs sharply.)
