LONDON (Associated Press.—Engdanger of deterioration because of the lower price of vintages, according chants who propose an English "wine week" in emulation of the French custom. Wine, they declare, is no longer a luxury as the lower price has brought it within reach of all. The purposes of wine week, it is said, will be to educate the English taste for wines and also to instruct diners in the elementary rules and traditional usages of beverage selections. It is planned to gather a representative group of speakers and writers to sing the praises of wine, and to tell those who would learn how to drink it. The merchants expect substantial assistance from the governments of wine producing countries, such as Franc Italy, Spain and Australia.

One of the interesting facts to which I wish to draw particular notice, was

These old Jersey firms were trading with all the principal Mediterranean ports where we send our fish to-day, as by far the most suitable to supply their many customers in Brazil. It was this same Straits fish and simwas this same Straits fish and similar quality that was caught at St. Juliens, Quirpon, Flower's Cove, Griquet, Crouse and other ports on the French Shore that supplied the principal demand for Brazil fish in St. John's. In recent years our merchants have been encouraging the fishermen to put up this Straits fish "soft cure" to leave quantities. It looks to me in large quantities. It looks to me that some of our merchants are making a great mistake by curing this fish in this way, and are not showing the practical knowledge of their fore-BUT ONE MARKET FOR "SOFT CURE." the withdrawal of some of his troops treating self-seeking demagogues, with General Allenby, when made a peer in recognition of his achievement as Deliverer of the Holy Land, took the title of "Lord Allenby of Megiddo," or Armageddon. He may come into another distinction as liberator of Egypt. He was recently pictured by a Times artist as if pondering over the riddle of Egypt. He was recently pictured by a Times artist as if pondering over the riddle of Egypt, figured by the Sphinx in the background. It is characteristic of Allenby to take time to think his riddles through, and then to grecute his decisions swiftly. In Palestine his plans for advance in the spring of 1918 were suddenly interrupted by He has acted with such decision in Times after the western front. But he soon developed a new army with such thorough and strategy in meeting those who have the good of the Egyptian people really at heart, and with such straightforward-ness and honor in everything, that it seems probable he has either divined in the Milner report the happy answer both for Egypt and for England. It is devoutly to be hoped that General and Allenby to take time to think his riddles through, and then to grecute his plans for advance in the spring of 1918 were suddenly interrupted by He has acted with such decision in
