REMOVE EXEMPTIONS.

Now that the political atmosphere has become calmed by the re-appointment of Mr. Mowat, with a fair working majority, we hope to see the government display some energy in the way of introducing reforms. The first question to which they should devote themselves is undoubtedly the question of exemptions. The abolition of exempted property is undoubtedly bound to come, and so no remote date. Equally in hearing the public tax is but a matter of justice. Exemption is a privilege which causes dissatisfaction among those whom it affects adversely; and those on the other hand who are benefited by the privilege ought not, dare not, raise a howl, because they are at length placed in the same category as the public at large. The feeling on this question is stronger than the premier's anxiety, and if he does not see fit to take it in hand, perhaps the leader of the opposition may find in it a means of turning the party scales, the lighter balance of which does not mean an over-heavy weight to make it the heavier.

WOMEN NOT ADMITTED.

While the admission of women to privileges heretofore enjoyed by men only is becoming a question of the day in Toronto, a New York college has just decided that female students cannot be admitted to its studies. It appears that the trustees of Columbia college at their meeting in February, and the association for promoting the higher education of women in New York a petition which stated that the present state of public opinion, both here and abroad, favored admitting women to the same educational advantages as men, cited the recent action of the universities of Cambridge and London, and requested the trustees to extend to properly qualified women the advantages of Columbia college by admitting them to lectures and examinations. The petition was signed by about 1400 persons, including President Arthur, General Grant, Peter Cooper, Cyrus W. Field, Edmund C. Stedman, John Jay, George William Curtis, many principals and teachers in schools for young ladies, and many prominent ladies and gentlemen of New York and Brooklyn. Hamilton Fish, the president of the board of trustees, appointed a special committee, to which the report was referred. The committee submitted a report stating that it was inexpedient to admit women into the regular classes with young men; it declared that the council was not in a financial condition to warrant it in expending sufficient money to found a school where they might be taught by the college faculty. But it was suggested that a course of study should be planned which women might pursue outside of the college. On this course they might be examined by the college faculty, and they would receive a testimonial or diploma from the college if they passed satisfactory examinations. The disclosure made by this report of the condition of the college finances will certainly surprise the community at large. It has been a matter of common belief that the resources of the institution were amply sufficient for its needs. But now Columbia appears as burdened with an enormous debt, instead of enormous wealth, and as finding her endowment insufficient for the progress which she desires to make. She has no money, it seems, with which to provide for the instruction of women. Plans are in hand, it is stated, to extend the work of the college, and the wealthy and intelligent citizens of New York are to be appealed to for aid in making it all that those who govern desire it to be. But these plans do not include any provision for giving women an equal share in its privileges. The signers of the petition are told that if they desire to found a school for the education of women as a part of the university, but "entirely detached from its existing departments," the trustees will "carefully consider how best to develop the growth of an interesting foundation." No one will accuse the board of excessive rashness in that connection. Let us see then just what Columbia is willing to do for women. The report adopted outlines a plan of which these are the chief features: (1) The public announcement of a course of study to extend over at least three years. (2) Examinations and reviews to be held by the faculty for young women who have pursued this course. (3) Awarding a diploma of testimonial to those who are successful in these examinations. The course of study is to be pursued outside the college. This is expressly provided. It is suggested that it may be pursued "under the observation of its authorities." Just how such a measure could be carried out, and how the scheme is very far from affording young women that equal share in the privileges of the institution which the petition sought. The memorial of the friends of the admission of women to the college features and examinations, and is not merely to announce a course of study to be pursued outside. Mr. Hamilton Fish, formerly President Lincoln's secretary of state, told a reporter that the committee's suggestion was not co-education by any means. They certainly would not admit women to the classes. The petition coming from so many influential and respectable people, had received their respectful consideration, but nothing had been promised which had not been in the minds of the trustees for a long time; and their present action was not to be regarded as a wedge for the introduction of co-education by-and-by. This decision in New York, and the result of the recent struggle in Queen's college, Kingston, will not give much encouragement to the cause of co-education.

THE DANGERS OF PRIVATE BANKING.

Not a bit too soon has the government decided that this very session certain whole-some restrictions must and shall be put upon the business called "private banking." Just at the nick of time to tell, both with the house and with the public, comes the Mahon failure in London; and already it appears that the denunciation of private bankers who went to Ottawa to remonstrate with the finance minister found the logic of events too strong for them. They asked that the new restrictions should not take effect until the first of January next; it is now settled that they will get until the first of October, but no longer, to set their houses in order, and appear on certain stationery, of which they used to have provided an unaccountably large supply. After that date the imposing designations of "bank," "banker," and "banking company" will not be as common as they are now in Canada.

Between the failure of a merchant or manufacturer on one hand, and that of a concern calling itself a "bank," on the other, there is an important difference. Suppose a failure were to occur in the dry goods trade, for instance, both debtors and creditors of the suspended firm might suffer; but there would be no general, but effect, unless the failure were an unusually large and important one. Far different is it, however, when it is a bank or a "banking firm" that collapses. In the latter case distress spreads throughout a wide circle of connections, and the mischief done reaches far and lasts long. Take as a case in point the failure of the Mahon private banking concern, the extended results of which are but beginning to appear. In consequence of that failure, so it is justly assumed, Messrs. Jackson & Co., and the Globe Lightning-rod company have both to call their creditors together. We see at a glance that the effects of such a failure are far more extensive and more aggravated than those of one to the same amount in ordinary business. One is a financial failure, the other is a financial failure; and the mischief done by the latter is far greater than the mischief done by the former, for the same amount of aggregate loss. It is, therefore, a good thing for the country that we have a finance minister who recognizes all this and is not afraid to interfere in the public interest. In his efforts to stamp out a great and growing evil he should have the cordial support of men of both parties; and this it is to be hoped he will receive. A new party spirit stand aside, and let our representatives vote altogether for the good of the country.

The Toronto Mail seized with avidity upon the remarks made by the Buffalo Telegraph on an article that appeared in the Globe, but as yet it has failed to let the public know what the same paper says of itself. This is what the Telegraph rises to remark: "If the Toronto Mail cannot find arguments for the exercise of the veto power in Canada without misrepresenting popular opinion in the United States, it might as well cease battling for the constitution at once." What does the Tory organ think now of the liberal and impartial outsider whose praise it so enthusiastically sounded the other day?

And now they want to claim our own Wiggins. We have not the slightest objection to our great neighbors taking his weather, but we really cannot spare the prophet himself. A New Jersey paper says: "Wiggins, the weather prophet of Canada, is no less a man than Benjamin N. Wiggins, a grocer, who a few years ago carried on business at the present location of the postoffice in East Orange, N. J. His store narrowly escaped destruction by fire on two occasions. His business was not successful. He was then looked upon as an amateur weather prophet, and his forecasts generally were about as successful as the average ones. A citizen of East Orange recently called upon Wiggins in Canada and recognized him. His contemporary has been badly struck. We doubt the learned doctor has ever been in East Orange, but certainly was never born there, and will doubtless think it another of the good things the papers have been saying when he claims that he is an unsuccessful grocer. For the benefit of our American friends generally, we beg to state that the prophet is not Benjamin N., but E. Stone Wiggins, Esq., LL. D., formerly principal of the Blind institute at Stratford, Ont., subsequently a resident of New Brunswick, and at present a member of the financial department of the civil service at Ottawa."

One of the English electric light inventors cannot be able in slaughtering animals for food, where blood-letting is necessary, but it is to be employed as a painless method of putting out of the way worn-out horses, mules and pet domestic animals. By the use of a condenser from an ordinary one of supply is collected an electric current of sufficient force to kill instantly by a stroke of lightning. The animal is placed on one electrode, the other is applied to his head, and in a few minutes he is annihilated. It is considered a simple method of executing criminals could be applied with greater certainty than hanging, free from the brutality of beheading, and with a mystery about it that would impress an appearance and a dignity on the execution.

It has been hinted that Wiggins' idea in prophesying a tremendous tempest for the 9th to the 11th March was to seek the sale of his almanac, but our United States' contemporaries, more keen sighted than ourselves, have discovered that the professor's real desire was to create a demand for Canadian fish. "Whatever his object—whether fish, almanac, patriotism or philanthropy—we must congratulate the prophet on his success."

The first number of the Regina, N.W.T., Leader came out yesterday. It is published by the Prairie Printing and Publishing company, who are to be congratulated upon securing a gentleman of such literary excellence and eminence as Mr. Nicholas Flood Davis for their editor and manager. The paper is not only well printed and its contents nicely arranged, but, as might be expected, its reading matter has a tone, style, and touch about it not to be found in the majority of other and far more ephemeral journals. With a general leaning to conservatism, it shows a tendency to independence that is alike healthy and becoming to a youthful community such as that for which the Leader will cater. We wish the paper and its talented editor every possible measure of success.

Says the Buffalo Telegraph: "Slavery is not yet extinct, it seems. Mr. Beatty has introduced a bill in the parliament of Canada providing that insolvents may obtain a discharge of their indebtedness by the insolvency of the holder of the same for an order of the court after the expiration of a certain time. Mr. Mitchell speaking in favor of the bill said it was designed to remove the shackles from unfortunate men doomed to lifelong slavery because their persecuting, tyrannical and oppressive creditors would not agree to their relief. Strange to say the parliament did not seem to have any regard for the freedom of these unfortunate men. Members representing both parties severely criticized the bill, and Sir John Macdonald, who has often been charged with a desire to trench upon provincial rights, said he feared the dominion parliament had no right to pass such a law, as it might conflict with civil rights reserved to the provincial assemblies had jurisdiction."

Coming from a staunch conservative like Mr. Nicholas Flood Davis, the following remarks, taken from the Leader, appear to us, while being very near the truth, to be rather hard: "The thing is over now; but the very fact of desiring Sir John Macdonald's aid proved that he was not a man of high character, is no leader of men, and the cumulative fact that Sir John Macdonald, with his reputation for high character, and his name, could not carry Mr. Meredith, through aided by Abraham Lincoln, makes the incompetence of the local opposition still more glaring. One might think of the shame of displaying his incompetence would cause even a leader to retire; or suppose Mr. Meredith were to go next expedition, and say to him: 'Now, Leader, we have been playing the political game together, let us play at Jonah and you'll be Jonah.'"

An erroneous impression has got abroad that E. Stone Wiggins, L. L. D., the weather prophet, is a graduate of Toronto university. No doubt the university would be very pleased to have some kind of claim on the learned doctor, but he happens to be a New Brunswicker, and finds himself filling a post in the finance department through the influence of Sir Leonard Tilley. It is evident that the seer has been con-founded with Mr. Stephen Wiggins, who matriculated at Toronto about 1868 and who was the first holder of the Gilchrist scholarship.

THE PRINCESS LOUISE.

An Alleged Plot to Assassinate Her Royal Highness. HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 2.—A week ago two men were arrested here on suspicion of having conspired with New York with the express intention of shooting at, and presumably hitting, the princess. The whole matter of the arrest was very quietly managed. The men could give no account of themselves. Though they were at arm's length with revolvers, they had no objection about them in the shape of incidental conversation, however, or even nervous prostration, to establish a fair claim to a fight to stay in Bermuda. Moreover, the New York police had sent out to the island, and it was impossible to learn by the authorities here to a determination to look the men up till the princess shall have gone.

The Liberator's Colony.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Letters announce the arrival at Liberia of the Bark Maroon with emigrants from the United States. A prominent citizen writes: "This company of immigrants are the right kind. They have had lands surveyed and have cheerfully gone to work at cultivation. The letters also state President Gardner has resigned owing to ill health. Vice-President Knell was sworn in as president. Entries continue to strengthen in the college at Monrovia and steps are being taken to remove its operations to the banks of the St. Paul river in the region."
