PIEKERT'S SYSTEM AND WE FELL DEAD OF ACCUSED STREET RAYMEN

For Four Months Five Expert Foreign Detectives Have Worked Here Inoc.

COMPANY'S SUSPICIONS AROUSED LAST JANUARY.

Two Come Up in Court To-Day—Trial By Jury in September.

There are a number of very singular features involved in the accusations against certain conductors of the Toronto Railway Company of robbing the boxes in which fares are deposited. Officials of the company insist that they possess a mass of evidence indicating very clearly the guilt of those already arrested and possibly involving others perhaps unknown at present to the company managers. Not less than fifty conductors are under suspicion.

From the manner in which agents of the company, supposed to be Pinkerton detectives, are securing information concerning the persons who have been purchasing tickets from conductors in an irregular manner, the impression prevails that some one familiar with all details of the situation is supplying the officers with evidence. In other words, everything points to the fact that some one of the accused persons hopes thus to avoid prosecution. This is the idea advanced by officials of the company. If the conspiracy to deprive the company of its revenue was actually in operation as claimed, the details will thus be made public when the trials occur.

What the Men Say. The other phase of the question is equally interesting. The accused men and their friends insist that the Pinkertons employed on the case are the leading spirits in the plans to rob boxes, and that the agents secured the "diggers" and distributed them among the men on whom they were found and in every way contributed to the thefts themselves, all in order to make a record as detectives and secure the money paid by the street car company for their services.

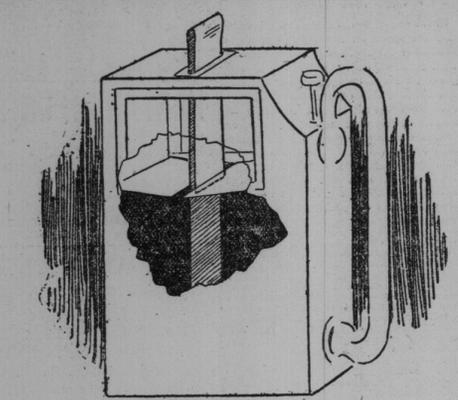

There is nothing new in the accusation that the Pinkerton detectives have acted the part of tempters in a criminal affair of this kind. Members of this detective association, as well as others, have been accused of this sort of thing in many parts of the States and elsewhere on previous occasions, and detectives have admitted on a witness stand in many a criminal trial that they had acted with the criminals during their raids in order to secure details later used to convict them. So general has this sort of thing become in the States that many a judge will not accept the testimony of professional detectives without strong corroboration. These phases of the case appear to be the necessary evils which are seldom detected.

First Intimation. It has been intimated in a peculiar manner. In January a clerk was handling a number of fare boxes which he had just received from the conductors, when one of the boxes toppled over and several coins fell out. The clerk's curiosity was aroused and he made a cursory examination of the mechanism. It was sufficient to disclose something very peculiar, and because the manufacturer guarantees them practically to be theft-tight, other boxes were shaken and out fell coins.

The next morning the affair was reported to Comptroller John Smith. Mr. Smith is an astute and far-seeing man. In fact, he has invented at least one box that is said to be a very practical device for the purpose of preventing such a thing from occurring. He found the steel plungers, which are supposed to engage each other from the inside and thus prevent fares being extracted, were worn and out in a most amazing manner. When conditions were such a puzzling condition on the interior of the box was a problem requiring careful investigation. It was finally decided that it was necessary to have objects being introduced between the teeth. There could be only one purpose for such a thing, and the impression was forced upon the company officials that some person or persons handling the boxes were extracting fares from them. They were decided to call in professional detectives to ascertain the authors of the crooked work. Recent arrest of conductors is the result.

All Boxes Tampered With. The Toronto Railway Company employs about 500 conductors. Each conductor uses the fare box in which to collect fares for the day. The boxes remain exclusively for the day in possession of the conductor, but the following morning he may or may not receive the same box. In this manner the different boxes are continuously in different hands. The fact that nearly all the boxes in use at present show more or less evidence of having been tampered with does not argue that the company is prepared to accuse every man handling them with crookedness. The officials disavow any such intention, they intimate that their arrests will be made. It is claimed that the Pinkerton charge of the case it is said the first move was to keep a close watch on boxes which had shown no marks of the diggers and carefully examine them after each trip. In this way the detectives are alleged to have got their first information on the boxes. The guilty parties possibly were that it did not fasten the crime on the conductor using the box, but on the conductor who had tampered with it. It is claimed that a very ingenious device had been devised, according to the view of the detectives, and for four months of the most expert men in the employ of the Pinkerton agency worked around Toronto, their identity being known only to the chief officials of the street car company.

Claims of Detectives. It is claimed that in addition to the evidence of guilt found on the men arrested in the form of "diggers" and detached tickets, the detectives are prepared to give testimony touching the actual manipulation of the boxes

BOERS DISPLAY GOOD SPIRIT

Kitchener Cables That Up to Saturday 4342 Rifles Had Been Surrendered.

MILNER RIDES OUT WITHOUT ESCORT

Thanksgiving Services Held in the Principal Towns of South Africa on Sunday.

London, June 8.—The War Office has received the following from Lord Kitchener, under to-day's date: "The disarmament of the Boers is proceeding satisfactorily, and good spirit is displayed everywhere. Yesterday 4342 rifles had been surrendered up to date."

Despatches received by the Associated Press from Pretoria confirm the statement made in Lord Kitchener's communication to the War Office, and say that the whole staff of the Transvaal government, with a bodyguard of 50 men, surrendered last Saturday.

Formalities of Surrender.

The formalities are observed when Gen. Botha, Gen. Dewet, or any of the Boer commanders accompany the British officers who have been detailed to receive surrenders. The Boer leaders go out to meet a commando, and returns at its head. The Boers who come in are generally dressed in dilapidated clothing, but have a smart and soldierly bearing. The Boers who are to surrender are assembled, and the Boer leader delivers an address to his men, urging them to listen to the British officer who has been detailed on this work. The British officer then makes a speech to the men of the commando, in which he informs them of the admiration of King Edward and the British nation for the gallant struggle and the bravery of their people, and promises that the British authorities will do their utmost to help them settle on their farms. A meal is then provided for the Boers, after which the formal surrenders occur. In many such instances, the Boers have cheered King Edward, and they have sometimes expressed surprise that no army of muskets and saddles, and the majority of them appear to be glad that the war is at an end, and that they will be enabled to join their families. Among the men who surrendered to the British authorities at Balmoral, Cape Colony, were four Americans, who will be granted free passage to Deisago Bay.

Striking Sign.

A striking sign of the altered conditions in South Africa is that Lord Milner, the British High Commissioner, rode from Pretoria to Johannesburg last Saturday, accompanied by only two staff officers.

KING AND QUEEN GIVE THANKS FOR THE BLESSING OF PEACE

Impressive Public Demonstration in St. Paul's, London—Royalty in a Quiet Parade Greeted With Enthusiastic Cheers—Lord Roberts Not Forgotten.

London, June 8.—The noisy jubilation with which London has rejoiced for the last week was succeeded today by more subdued, although not less impressive, public demonstration of thankfulness for the return of peace in South Africa. The thanksgiving services in London were typical of the thanksgiving day in the metropolis, but the presence of King Edward and other members of the royal family at the principal devotional services in London, and the passing of the royal personages to and from St. Paul's Cathedral, with thousands of British subjects and visitors to London, gave the day in the metropolis the added feature of a notable historic occasion.

Quiet Church Parade.

The program of this morning was not intended to be accompanied by the special guard of honor which King Edward and Queen Alexandra did not pass through the streets even in semi-stat, but role to St. Paul's in an ordinary landau drawn by four horses, accompanied by postillions and outriders. Only those members of the royal family who reside in Buckingham Palace accompanied their Majesties. The Prince and Princess of Wales and others proceeded to St. Paul's separately, but by the same route as did their Majesties. The King and Queen were joined at the Cathedral by the Prince and Princess of Wales and many other distinguished personages. King Edward, in the more uniform of a field marshal, was greeted with enthusiasm, and His Majesty, the Prince of Wales, the other princes, were busily engaged in acknowledging salutations from the crowd.

Lord Roberts One of the Most Conspicuously Greeted.

Lord Roberts, dressed in his military uniform, was one of the most conspicuously greeted with cheers at Temple Bar, King Edward and the City of London, for the first time since the Jubilee of the late Queen Victoria, awaited the Sovereign in state. The Lord Mayor of London, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, presented the sword carried under His Majesty and uttered a formal and loyal welcome. The King returned the sword, smiling, bowed, and simply remarked, "Thank you, very much."

Received by the Bishops.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra alighted at the west entrance of St. Paul's. Here they were received by the Bishops of Stepney and London and conducted by them to their seats, which were under the dome of the building and directly in front of the pulpit. The seats in the choir stalls were occupied by the members of the present cabinet and by members of the former cabinet. These gentlemen, in their black robes, formed a sombre group in the great gathering, in which the uniforms of officials, and members of the House of Commons were conspicuous features. Members of the House of Lords and members of the House of Commons were seated in opposite sides, under the dome.

Their Majesties entered the Cathedral to the accompaniment of the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The hymn was sung by the choir, and the throng of worshippers rose and cheered as they joined in the singing. The Cathedral organs, the morning's service was reinforced with brass instruments. A notable feature of the musical service was the recitation of a "Te Deum," composed by the late Sir Arthur Sullivan for a thanksgiving service.

The Blessings of Peace.

The sermon by the Bishop of Stepney, "The Blessings of Peace." The service was preached on the effective text, "The Blessings of Peace." The service was concluded with the singing of the "National Anthem."

The members of the royal family returned from the Cathedral to Buckingham Palace by way of the Victoria Embankment and King Edward and the other royal personages received ovations all along the route.

BOER PLOT DISCOVERED.

As a Result Sixty Arrests Made at Pretoria on May 18.

London, June 9.—In a letter from Pretoria dated May 18, the correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the previous Thursday 60 arrests were made as the result of the discovery of an extensive plot to blow up the government buildings and Lord Kitchener's residence, and to spike the guns of the British army. The plot was discovered in this plot, according to the correspondent, were lawyers, chemists, Boer and Dutch prisoners on parole.

AN ELOQUENT DOCUMENT.

Pretoria, June 8.—The letter from the burglar chiefs on peace, in which they begged the British to lay down their arms, is an eloquent and pathetic document. In it the leaders thank the burglar for their noble sacrifices, and express their sympathy for the bereaved. The letter concludes as follows: "Now that there is peace, and also that it is not possible to lay down our arms, we beg you to let us be left alone to live as we see fit. We can, with a clear conscience, declare that, for two and a half years, our people have carried the burden of a war which has done nothing to the spiritual and racial prosperity and welfare of our people."

ONE RULE FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

London, June 8.—The present aspect of the South African situation is giving rise to a feeling of uneasiness in Great Britain. It is fully recognized that the British authorities will retain complete discretion, and there is no specific demand which the Boers will be able to advance within any definite time.

A GRIEVOUS FIND.

London, June 8.—The body of a young woman, saved and chopped up into a dozen pieces, has been found in an alley in the Lambeth district. Her body had apparently been baked or boiled. The scalp has been torn off, and the hands, feet, and intestines were missing. It has been impossible to identify the remains as the woman's face was practically destroyed.

UTILIZE AIR WITHOUT CHEMICALS.

HOW TO SAVE BRITISH TRADE

Sir Robert Giffen Advocates Extraordinary Liberty at the Expense of the Taxpayer.

London, June 8.—It is not yet clear what action Great Britain will take to save the shipping trade. Sir Robert Giffen advocates extraordinary liberty at the expense of the taxpayer, who it was not country might tolerate, if it was not already overburdened with the war tax. He points out that the danger has not been created by the Morgan Combine, and shows that the increase in foreign shipping in British ports from 1890 to 1900 has been 100 per cent, while the increase in British shipping in the same period has only been 10 per cent.

THE COMBINE MOVES SLOWLY

The negotiations for the formation of a purely British shipping combination as an offset to the Morgan Combine are making little headway. No man of commanding character and ability has a hand in them, and the difficulties are increased by personal rivalries, jealousies and animosities.

How the Panama is Made.

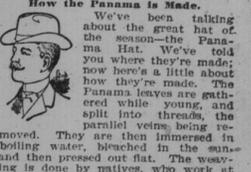

We've been talking about the great hat of the Panama. We've told you where they're made; now here's a little about how they're made. The Panamas have gathered while young, and split into threads, the parallel veins being removed, bleached in the sun and then pressed out flat. The wavy lines in the Panama are made by drawing down and duffing in darkened cellars, by candle light—the day air of the fabric being so dry as to make the fibres, if exposed, brittle. Even while working under these conditions, they dip the straw constantly into water to make it more pliable. Dineen has on sale some new Panamas, just arrived. Any price you want to pay, from $5 to $30; other straps, $2 to $5.

Methodist Ministers Discuss Its Abolition in Connection With Itinerant System. STRONG ARGUMENT AGAINST IDEA

Nine Young Men Ordained at Conference Services—Sermons Resume This Morning.

In the report of the Memorial Committee, presented at Saturday morning's session of the Methodist Conference by Rev. T. E. E. Shore, there was a suggestion, while retaining the itinerant system, the time limit in connection with the Methodist ministry be abolished and that the same be sent on to the General Conference "for favorable consideration." The recommendation was vigorously opposed by Rev. Dr. Dewart, Rev. Dr. Langford and others. Dr. Dewart held that the suggestion meant the practical abolition of the itinerant system while Dr. Langford wanted a delay in the matter until the success of the scheme, which has been inaugurated in the United States, has been assured.

Reporters Were Satisfactory. The report of the Board of Management of the Victoria Industrial School, held at the Victoria Industrial School, on Saturday afternoon, 7th, 1920, was read by the headmaster, Mr. J. H. Macdonald. The headmaster of the school met the visitors at the station and escorted them to the law, where several pleasing selections were rendered under the direction of E. Healey. The drill corps under command of Capt. Black, also gave a creditable exhibition of drill, after which the workshops and buildings were inspected.

On a Sunday Afternoon In the merry month of June. After all Toronto on Sunday afternoon takes no second place to any other city in America as regards stylishly dressed men and women.

Few places there are where men so almost entirely affect frock suits and silk hats. Few where such stylish hats are worn. We take credit for supplying fully one-third of all the silk hats worn in Toronto.

SILK HATS—$5.00 to $8.00 This is the great month for weddings. A silk is a necessity. Write us for catalogue.

STUDY HORSES FOR AFRICA

One Thousand Western Bronchos Being Cared for at the Exhibition Grounds.

THEY CAME FROM THE NORTHWEST Toronto to Become an Important Depot for Replenishing the Supply in the Field.

Toronto has recently assumed unusual importance as a horse market. The indications are that this locality will become a depot for the shipment of a large number of horses, mainly to South Africa.

Over 3000 horses have been received in Toronto during the past two weeks, consigned to army officers. These animals came from the Canadian Northwest and are being shipped to South Africa, via Montreal, as rapidly as transport facilities can be provided.

Five hundred head of horses have been received in Toronto during the past two weeks, consigned to army officers. These animals came from the Canadian Northwest and are being shipped to South Africa, via Montreal, as rapidly as transport facilities can be provided.

Canada's Headquarters. The army officials determined to make Canada headquarters for shipment of stock to South Africa.

Most of the American politicians over the question of international law involved in the purchase of army remounts in the Western States.

Most of the operations of army contractors who had established an enormous stock of horses, many of which were sold to British army officers, conditioned for the trip by rail and water, to South Africa.

Five to ten thousand head of horses are now in the yards around Lathrop, and the thirty horse traders had less than a week to get their stock ready for sale to the army officers.

Most of the horses were being paid out in that section of the west for American animals and produce.

The government is making an investigation of the horse market at Lathrop, and the shipping point on the coast.

The international law was being violated by the British. The government experts advised that the horses may be paid out in that section of the west for American animals and produce.

They're a Healthy Lot. Most of the stock at the Lathrop depot belonging to the government has been shipped to South Africa.

Some fear has been expressed that these horses may be infected by some infectious disease may be transmitted to the stock of the province.

Officers in charge assert that stock men may rest easy on this score. They say the shipments are being handled in a most careful manner.

They are of the opinion that absolutely precludes the possibility of anything of the kind. An efficient corps of veterinary surgeons are being sent to the depot to examine the animals from the time they pass into the hands of the army, and to inoculate and vaccinate to prevent the contagious diseases which are dangerous to their health.

Est Twelve Tons a Day. Capt. Gray is in charge of the Toronto horse depot, and his colonel is stationed at Montreal. A considerable number of horses and mules there that will be sent to Toronto as soon as quarters can be arranged.

Some fear has been expressed that these horses may be infected by some infectious disease may be transmitted to the stock of the province.

PROBABLE NEW PEERS.

London, June 7.—The following gentlemen, writes a parliamentary correspondent, may be included in His Majesty's new list of peers.

Sir William Harcourt, Sir Arthur Hayer, Sir Donald Currie, Mr. Clonno Bonnor, Mr. Milford.

A new knight may be found in the Mayor of Rochester.

Belated Hats at Belittled Prices. We continue to-day the special sale at a special price of what remains after Saturday's big selling of those three cases of stylish summer Felt hats which should have been here for some weeks, but which lost their way in transit—they're the lightest kind of soft felts and in the popular light shades—pearl—fawn and steel—made by one of the best fashions we import from—guaranteed good quality—hats that ought to be sold for 3.00—but we're clearing them at 2.50.

HOAX WAS FATAL. London, June 7.—Mrs. Isabella Cartwright, the wife of a Leeds coachman, received a telegram stating "Come at once: Richard dying." She hurried to the railway station, but found the telegram was a hoax of the most cruel description.

WESTON'S BREAD CHANGE OF ROUTES. It has been thought advisable to change the method of delivery on account of the large number of wagons employed and the thousands of calls that have to be made.

Instead of drivers going to different parts of the city each man has been allotted a specific territory and no other wagon will deliver bread there.

Customers will please note and assist new drivers as much as possible. If no driver should call before 6 p.m. Monday ring up the office or secure bread from nearest store. It will take two or three days to get all working smoothly, and we trust everyone will have patience if bread is not just on hand at the regular hour.

Weston's Home-Made Bread delivered early to all parts of the city. Regular Island deliveries. Also Long Branch, Mimico, Pt. Credit, Lorne Park, Oakville, Burlington, Grimsby Park and all leading summer resorts. Drop a card or phone 329.

Wink and Blink Will you wink and blink your life and nervous energy away rather than wear GLASSES? Will you force your eyes to overwork, neglect them when they cry for help, abuse them year after year until at middle life you are compelled to seek aid, perhaps to find your vision impaired, demand is satisfied? Even though the stock is purchased in the States, Toronto will become the halfway station for all shipments.

Not Yet Satisfied—Broken. The hardy little animals now at the government corral are used to cunning little more than a strong fence is required as quarters for them. Most of them are of the best, but there are a number of very pretty spotted animals in the bunch. They are a wild lot, and could not be ridden except by an expert horseman. They will be sold—broken after they reach their destination.

JOYOUS TIME IN OLD LONDON

Peace Announcement Develops Orgies Which Have No Precedent in England.

IT BRINGS DEPRESSION IN STOCKS And Public Entertainers Complain of Poor Business—Arrangements for Abbey Ceremony.

London, June 8.—The nation's new-found peace coming at a time when everybody was preparing to celebrate, with unalloyed joy, the crowning of their monarch gave cause for a week of most hilarious and unreserved self-indulgence. Indeed, London has seldom behaved so viciously as during the first few days of the week since the news of the cessation of hostilities has been announced. The peace celebration developed disgusting orgies, scores of men and women lying drunk on the pavements of fashionable thoroughfares. Even murder was committed through sheer passion for violence and, in the last few days, many outrages, committed in the name of peace, have come to light through the police force.

Everything is apparently done with the coronation festivities, and it is evident that there will be an exodus of those who dislike mobs. This remarkable season has some paradoxical features. Peace has brought a severe fall in the stock market. Also, theatre managers complain of severe depression, which in accounts for the fact that society, which has been unable to entertain for nearly two years, on account of the court mourning, is indulging in an unprecedented round of dinners, receptions and balls.

The Earl Marshal has issued the official order of the procession in Westminster Abbey itself, in which about 250 people will take part. First will follow the high household officials and the Archbishops of York and Canterbury. Next will come the bearers of the Queen's regalia, and then the Queen, followed by the ladies of the household. Next will come the bearers of the King's regalia and other high officials. The King will follow with a numerous train of nobles holding high office. The rear will be brought up by the Yeomen of the Guard.

The troops now at the front will be represented at the coronation by ten selected non-commissioned officers and by ten men from each army corps, of the colonial corps now serving in South Africa. They will amount to 400 or 500 men, who must have sailed yesterday or to-day, if they are to be here in time.

TEACHERS FOR BOERS. Sydney, June 7.—The Imperial government is inviting certificated women teachers from Australia to go to South Africa on a yearly agreement with a salary of £100. The inducement is regarded as inadequate, and the response is meagre.

It is pointed out that competent teachers would forfeit better positions and prospects in Australia, besides probably facing a rougher life and climatic risks.

Mild in Their Action—Parasitic Vegetable Pills are very mild in their action. They do not cause griping in the stomach or cause diarrhoea, as so many pills do. Therefore, the most delicate can take them without fear of unpleasant results. They can, too, be administered to children without imposing the penalties which follow the use of pills not so carefully prepared.
