SAYS CANADIANS ARE INSOLENT

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—(Special)—The Star's London correspondent writes: Even the warm tones today and an English-Canadian retaliates upon critics who accuse Englishmen of unadaptability and writing in the Pall Mall Gazette a correspondent signing himself 'The East' suggests that if Englishmen in Canada have too much manners Canadians have too little. He says: 'The need of haste is greater in the west than in the east, yet it is in the east where civilians have to step off into the road while a policeman lounges by on the sidewalk toying with his club ignoring the fact that by all the rules of the road he should have given place. Nor are minor offences treated as such. A man who is pointing out my baggage to a checker when my arm was struck down by a stout official who curtly commanded me to keep down that arm. He swaggered into an office feeling no doubt that he had taught one of his subjects the proper respect for his dignity. The truth is that while higher Canadian officials are worthy of all praise the smaller officials are often if not usually overbearing and insolent. In each Canada the picture of an overbearing New York policeman. There is yet time for Canada to correct this tendency before it becomes the characteristic that it seems to be in the States.'

GERMANY OBJECTS

Plan of International Commission on Bombardment of Casablanca Is Not in Favor. PARIS, Nov. 14.—The Matin this morning declares that the treaty of Germany to the Spanish Franco note proposing an international commission to examine into the claims for damages arising from the bombardment of Casablanca by French and Spanish warships similar to the Alexander commission of 1882, is most unfavorable. It presents obstacles to the speedy settlement of the question and demands in addition a separate German commission to settle the claims of German merchants.

EXPECTED THAT COLLINS WILL CONFESS BEFORE HE GOES TO SCAFFOLD

Condemned Man Spent Wakeful Night and is Evidently Much Troubled in His Mind—In Interview With Friend This Morning He Broke Down. HOPEWELL CAPE, Nov. 14.—(Special)—As the hour approaches when Thomas F. Collins must, with his life, pay the penalty for the murder of Mary Ann McAuley, the unfortunate man shows that he realizes fully his awful position. The light-heartedness and the perfect self control which marked his demeanor since his incarceration and up to a few days ago has gradually left him. As his hope for a commutation have faded to time fallen, Collins has become more serious. Of late sleep seems to have forsaken him. Today he broke down completely as he is hourly expected. He was visited this morning by Mrs. Leah Stoeves of Hillsdale, who has all along shown a keen interest in him and when she started to talk with him of the approaching end he broke down and sobbed bitterly.

Heart trouble is believed to be the cause of the illness. Sir Henry had planned to make several political speeches but he has given up all his engagements and has requested Chief Secretary for Ireland Balfour to take them up.

HE HANDED A LEMON TO USERS OF SLANG

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—(Special)—Justice Riddell is evidently determined to do what he can to have the English language respected in his court, both by bar and by laymen. Yesterday when Wm. Proudfoot, K. C. asked a witness if he meant by his action to "throw down" his firm, Justice Riddell said: "Throw down," what does that mean? Don't let us have any slang here please."

Finnie, chief clerk in the gold commissioner's office at Dawson, with respect to the registration of a certain document, in which it was alleged by Mr. Perron that Mr. Finnie had acted contrary to the regulations and to the injury of Mr. Perron. MILK DEALER SAYS THAT BOARD OF HEALTH IS LAX

Over Enforcement of Regulations for Cleansing Cans. Ernest A. Sinnott Writes of the Pacific Coast and South Sea Islands. Ernest A. Sinnott, formerly of Millstream, Kings county, N. B., has seen much of the world in recent years, and a letter written from Los Angeles, Cal., to a St. John friend is very interesting. The letter herewith quotes extracts from the letter: "I have been travelling over many countries and learned the fashions and habits of many people. There has been some years since I left the province of New Brunswick to try life abroad, and I have since travelled most of my time, and can truly say that I am almost a fountain filled with experience."

SMALLPOX IN LUMBER CAMP

B., Nov. 14.—(Special)—A report from Blackville that a case of smallpox has developed in one of Gibson's lumber camps on Bartholomew River, six miles from that place. MARATHONS AND ALGONQUINS

For Saturday—Game Arranged Between Rival St. John Teams That Promises Fastest of Season. Arrangements were completed this morning between the managers of the Marathons and Algonquins for a game of football Saturday on the Victoria grounds, and as a result of the game the Marathons will have the fastest game of the season. Both teams have shown against outside teams that they are capable of putting up a snappy football. The Marathons have an unbroken record this season and can be depended upon to take no chances with the team that gave them such a contest on Thanksgiving, and which they won only after a fast, close game. The Algonquins are putting forth every effort to lower the colors of the unbeaten Marathons, and to this end will strengthen their team immeasurably. In their game on Thanksgiving they played without their regular full-back, while on Saturday they will be back in his old position, which will be a point in its itself a tower of strength.

STOLE HIS COAT

As a result of having attended a dance in the Prontice Boys' hall, Carleton last night Mr. Robb is minus an overcoat, which, he says, was stolen from him, and the police are now at work on the case. Mr. Robb says that on entering the hall he went to the cloak room and left his coat and upon returning found, to his amazement that it had vanished. Careful inquiry and diligent search failed to reveal the whereabouts of the missing garment and he is at once informed Sergeant Ross, who is now on the look out for the offender, who, up to the present, has not been located.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

NOT QUITE ENOUGH YET. The Times new reporter is formed on the authority of Mr. Campbell. Following are the following telegrams exchanged yesterday between three distinguished politicians who are at present on the ground: "I have started a smelter in Gloucester, uncovered a great industrial awakening and found an Attorney-General. What are you fellows doing?" "Mr. Graham to Premier Robinson: 'I have promised prosperity to the Miramichi and car works to Moncton, and other things in proportion. I have made a great impression.'"

Dr. Bugley to Premier Robinson: "I have disposed of the Central Railway, promised a wharf to St. John, flabbed Mr. Rowden and started the immigrants this way. My airship is in constant service." Premier Robinson to Mr. Graham and Dr. Bugley:—

Sunset Ranch

The Northwestern accommodation from Omaha was three hours late, when the towering height of Devil's Peak loomed in sight. It was the first break in the unending waves of sunburnt yellow prairie since they had crossed the state line.

"Do you like it?" he asked, a trifle awkwardly. She raised her face and smiled, her dark eyes dreamy and wistful.

"Oh, Tom, it's so good—look over that side, dear, I think I dropped it there—will there be any one to meet us? Why, my goodness, it made me cry the minute I saw the old rock loom up out of the clouds. Look over under those magazines, Tom, maybe I left it there. I was just telling Lady Seardsdale about the time we ran away from the ranch, and hid up there on the side of the peak until dad—oh, did you find it, Tom?—thanks so much."

Tom handed her the bit of linen and lace he had found wedged down behind her chair, and turned to the occupant of the next chair.

Lady Seardsdale did not look up at him. She was bending forward, watching the sweep of country, as the train curved around the base of Devil's Peak. McGowan was silent also. Slowly, contentedly, his glance followed the slender lines of her figure in its close-fitting crepe silk gown of semi-mourning. Her face was turned from him, but the small, perfect head, was dangerously near. He moved his big, right hand away from the back of her chair quickly. It was almost impossible to resist the temptation to lay it on her head caressingly.

Daily Fashion Hint for Times Readers.

OPERA COSTUME FOR YOUNG MATRON. The real beauty of a certain society matron of the metropolis is to be seen on the opening night of Metropolitan Grand Opera. The long trailing skirt of the most delicate shade of gray laced down—almost white—clings about the lithe figure with the most fascinating grace. Around the bottom and up the left side where the skirt is fastened is a narrow trimming of gray chenille and inside of this hand embroidered in shades of mauve and violet, mixed with threads of silver—the work of a Japanese artist. The medallions of gray silk fillet net in the front and back skirt panels are repeated in the drapery of the bodice fashioned on the simplest lines. Jewels of great value add much to the beauty of this attire.

SLOWING DOWN

Despatches from industrial centres in the United States tell of a reduction in the working staff of various industries, and indicate a gradual slowing down.

As yet, however, the casual visitor to New England towns and cities sees no indication of hard times. Factories are busy, business is active in the shops, traffic on the streets is heavy, and there are the usual hurrying crowds lent upon business or pleasure.

The financial stricture has not yet got down to the wage-earner, but he has his troubles in the increased cost of living. Even the worker or student who gets his meals at a restaurant finds that it costs him considerably more today than it did a year ago.

POLITICAL NEWSPAPERS

The political history of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston affords a fine illustration of the manner in which a politician may use a newspaper, which he owns, as a means of revenue as well as an organ to boom his cause.

This newspaper does not need to have circulation if it has the right influence behind it. Canada is not without its illustrations of the politician's newspaper, the organ of the gratifier.

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 11.—Because scientists have reported that peanuts contained all the elements necessary to sustain life, Archie Veneto, a Fremont man, attempted to live by eating nothing but peanuts, with the result that he died of exhaustion today after a week's gober diet.

THE BEST SIDE.

There's a bright side to everything, you know. A story is told about two buckets of an old well-sweep. One complained because, no matter how it came up, it always went down empty.

HOME COMING

The time of day I love the best, 'Tis round about six o'clock, And I skirt through the old back gate, And half way down the block, To meet my dad, who's coming home— Coming home for tea, Mother and I just bug him tight— He's our 'big man' you see.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

THE HORSESHOE. (Kansas City Times). "Dad, I luck to you in de ol' horse-shoe. An' I luck dat kin nebber fail, If de shoe's been los'."

A SIMPLE EXPLANATION.

(London Opinion). Auntie—"I noticed your dolly doesn't cry 'Mamma' when she's squeezed now. She did when I bought her for you."

NEVER MIND!

(Atlanta Constitution). When the cold days come, An' there isn't fire to warm you, An' the roof leaks in the weather,

NO SUCH LUCK.

"And do you sell these beautiful thoughts of your soul for mere dollars?" she exclaimed. "Nope," said the poet, sorrowfully; "I seldom get more than fifty cents for 'em."

STOOD IT FOR YEARS.

(Chicago Record-Herald). "I can't understand," said the doctor, after the operation had been performed and the patient had been prepared for burial, "how your husband was able to live, with such an affliction as he had."

STANDING ON THEIR HEADS, THEY FIGHT

Dangling from Clotheslines, Officer and Prisoner Have Warm Contest.

PLYMOUTH, Nov. 13.—Did you ever see a fist fight between two men standing on their heads? The Mill Village section saw it on Sunday. One of the contestants was Officer Samuel Ferguson who, pursuing Arthur Paul on a charge of wile-beating, was caught by the heel and strung up on a clothes line in one of the back yards of the village.

Officer Ferguson, warrant in hand, got to Paul's home and arrested his man. Paul was docile. He volunteered to go to the lockup. There was no need for handcuffs, he assured the officer.

So they started for the station. But when they got near a yard filled with the family washing, Paul changed both his mind and his direction. He made a leap for the yard and got over the fence. So did the officer.

At the first leap the policeman lost his helmet to a clothes line. Half turned in his onward flight to recover his headpiece, one of Ferguson's legs became entangled in a slack rope, hanging him by the heels. Then Paul was struck across the forehead by a low taut line, while the coil threw him backward, half stunned as he fell, just within the reach of the policeman's powerful grasp, while one of his legs likewise was caught in a loose dangling rope.

Chief Goldhill came to one man's rescue and to the other's undoing. Both accompanied him to the station.

Paul was put on probation in court today. Policeman Ferguson still bears the marks of his fight.

FIRST TO WEAR OUT

Prescription Valued by Elderly People to Relieve Kidney Trouble; Is Said To Be Easily Mixed by Anyone.

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that torturous disease rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys which have become clogged and sluggish, falling in their duty of filtering and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

THAW MORE CONFIDENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Harry Thaw is even more confident of his ability to secure the acquittal of his wife than he was before the first trial. One of the reasons for his confidence is that he has just mailed his check covering his dues as a member of the Pittsburg Golf Club to the club, and he expects to be playing on the links of the club next spring.

HANDS TERRIBLY CRACKED

Over and over again the value of Zam-Buk for chapped and cracked places has been demonstrated. Yellen, of Portland, adds her testimony, and says: "My hands were so sore and cracked that I could not put them near water. When I tried Zam-Buk, the cracks healed and my hands were so soft and smooth that I was able to do my work as usual."

A NEW JEWISH SECT IN FRANCE

Simultaneously with the thunderbolt hurled from Rome against Roman Catholicism, Liberalism comes the announcement that a certain enlightened Jew is about to found an Israelitish Liberal sect in Paris. This is rather interesting, as showing that the Liberal tendencies of the age are not confined to any particular church, even in countries where they have even reached what has always been looked upon as the most rigid creed of all. This new association is the life work of Louis Levy, the young rabbi of Dijon, who is already well known as an advanced thinker and writer, who has founded the programme of the future association at the International Congress of Progressive Religion in Geneva. He follows this speech up with a pamphlet, and never rested until he had collected the nucleus for the fulfilment of his ideal, which is now realized in the shape of the new association, under the protection of Theodore Reinach and a few of his friends. The Liberal Jews, because the Saturday service will hold one on Sunday, because the day when many are free. The number of Hebrew prayers and psalms will be reduced, and a selection in French will be substituted. In the Temple heads will be bared, and there will be no separation of the sexes. Religious instruction will be given "according to the teachings of science." A legend will be called a legend, and miracles will be believed to see the attitude taken up toward the new sect, for it is in reality regarded as such by the orthodox Hebrews of Paris. It is tolerably safe to predict that the house in the Rue Coehorn, where it will have its temple, will soon become a very popular one, and the ground floor, which, when I passed yesterday, was in the hands of the builders, will have its perpetual candlesticks, with the light that never goes out shining over the Torah—which will still remain the book of the law.

J. B. Harris' reading of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" this evening, in St. David's lecture room, promises a great treat for all lovers of Dickens. Wherever Mr. Harris has given his readings they have been greeted with large and enthusiastic audiences. Mr. Harris being a great admirer of Dickens, as well as vice-president of the Dickens' Fellowship, Toronto, gives these readings solely from his admiration of the great author, and not for any pecuniary gain.

WEDDINGS

Summers-Parsons
A very pretty but quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon when William Summers was united in marriage to Miss Susan Parsons, daughter of William Parsons, of Porterville, Cumberland county. The ceremony took place in the parsonage of the Main street Baptist church, if Douglas avenue, and was performed by Rev. David Hutchinson, and witnessed by only a few friends of the contracting parties. William Howson and Mrs. A. E. Vredenburg were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Summers will reside in this city.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

The milk question formed the chief topic for discussion at the board of health meeting yesterday afternoon. It was decided to cancel the licenses of those dealers who drew their milk supply from ponds that have not been examined and passed by a veterinary surgeon, and a certificate filed with the board. The rule will be strictly enforced. The question of sewerage on Mill street was also discussed.
The water and sewerage board turned down the request for section of Bond street so called, as it was claimed the tide washed away from the houses twice a day. It was shown at the meeting, however, that the tide did not effectively take the place of a sewer, and the board ordered a communication sent to the council asking for a consideration of the matter.

THE MILK QUESTION

Editor Times:
Sir,—After reading the editorial in the Star of 13th inst. I cannot refrain from taking up the farmer's part not only because I believe he should be entitled to fair play but because I believe that a good prosperous farming community is one of the things most needed in the province of New Brunswick today. I think it would have been more wise for the writer of the article mentioned to have made himself a little more familiar with both sides of the question, for it is very evident he is not very familiar with the farmer's side of it.

Now I am not authorized to speak for the producers' Association and I wish it to be understood that any time I take I stand ready to father on my own responsibility, and that I claim to know something at least of both sides to the question. The article referred to first tries to impress on the producers that they are acting unreasonably by comparing to increase the price. Well, if the association goes behind the bars for banding themselves together they will have a great lot of company, for there are as many associations almost as there are lines of trade. There is even a press association, and no doubt they enter into many conspiracies also.

So far as the conspiracy is concerned in this case the producers stated their case to the dealers and they refused to pay them any more than they had to. They claimed they wanted to treat them fair. The producers then met again and decided they could not continue to ship at the price the dealers offered, but decided before taking any further stand in the matter to send their president to the dealers once more to inform them that they could not accept their offer and that if they did not wish to accept the proposition the producers would have to try to make arrangements at once, whereby they could sell their goods and keep the trade supplied. The dealers preferred not to recognize them, and they simply refused to ship to them, and I understand arrangements are already being made to show the plan the farmers had in view—not much of a conspiracy about this.

The Star says these farmers were acting in the desire for greater profits. The truth is they had a desire for a living profit; it would be time enough to talk about greater profit after they were able to see the smaller profit. It next says "The producer, in order to live, must receive a reasonable profit," and it is this that has caused the writer to write this article, because I challenge the writer of the article in the Star, or anyone else for that matter, to show a living profit to the majority of farmers in Kings county in making milk this season at 3.4c. per quart delivered to his nearest station.
It next says that there is no similar organized association in St. John. I cannot absolutely contradict that, but I have heard many times of the "Dealers' Association," and I have it on what I consider the best of authority that they have been loaning one another cans of milk and doing everything possible to keep the producers from getting that fair and reasonable profit that the Star claims and that the dealer says he should have.

Is the writer in the Star aware that the farmers in the vicinity of Montreal are getting 4c. per can, the farmers of Toronto 3c. 24c. a can, the milk is retailed in Toronto at 8c. for bottled milk, and that it is retailed in Quebec at 10c. If he thinks the Kings County farmer is getting too much at 3c. surely the western men must be extortionists, but no, they have the very keenest of competition but they are not to be outdone. They must get a living and have a right to make some money at it. Now that this matter has reached such a stage, the Star has made a mistake in one-sided attack on the farmer. I think it would be well for both the producer and the dealer to show up their figures and let the public judge. I feel sure the producer would be quite willing to show how much he can make out of the extortionate price he has been getting, and no doubt the dealer has not been making a reasonable profit as he is determined not to pay more.

This is a question which I believe is of considerable importance to many merchants in this city, as Kings County is a liberal contributor to the St. John trade and it is most essential that the farmers of Kings County not only make a living profit, but that they should make money. It is, in my claim, most necessary that the establishment of new industries, for what the farmer produces is "new wealth created."
We are told by all our leading speakers that St. John is a great market for the farmer and our merchants cannot understand why he, the farmer, does not produce. Well, I think if this agitation will only bring forth the figures for the cost of producing milk fit for the market and put that cost alongside of the selling price of 3.4c. a quart, the theorist and many others will be satisfied.
Personally I have taken little or no part in all this agitation, but as I have a considerable interest in Kings Co., I have found a good deal on both sides and from what I know of the business I feel sure the Star's article would convey a wrong impression and that you see fit to publish this it will give the public a better idea of the way the matter stands.
If the figures for the cost of production are shown up, many will understand better why the Kings county milk-producing farmer cannot afford to pay the boys that are growing up around us the wages that will satisfy them to stay at home and enjoy the privileges that they might, in place of spending the best days of their lives in working on the prairies.

Yours truly,
E. A. STANFIELD.

P. S.—As milk is coming in now from a great many sources and contrary to the Board of Health regulations, I think the public should be protected and that the mayor should appoint a commission to look into both sides.
