Jeanne of the Marshes
---BY---
E. P. OPPENHEIM

The lawyer, who had been standing silent all this time, drew the Duke for a moment on one side.

"I should recommend, sir," he whispered, "that we went away. If they know anything they do not mean to tell it, and the less we let them know as to whether we are satisfied or not, the better."

The Duke nodded and turned once more to Cecil.

"I am forced to accept your word, Mr. De la Borne," he said, "and when my brother confirms your story I shall make a special visit here to tender you my apologies. Madam," he added, bowing to the Princess, "I regret to have disturbed your interesting occupation."

Forrest he completely ignored, turning his back upon him almost immediately. Cecil went out with them into the hall. In a moment the great front door was opened and closed. Cecil came back into the room, and the perspiration stood out in great beads upon his forehead. Now that the Duke had departed, something seemed to have fallen from their faces. They looked at one another as the ghosts of their real selves might have looked. Forrest stumbled toward the sideboard. Cecil was already there.

"The brandy," he muttered. "Quick!"

Bare-headed, Jeanne walked down the yellow sands close to the softly breaking waves. Inland stretched the marshes, with their patches of vivid green, their clouds of faintly blue wild lavender, their sinuous creeks stealing into the bosom of the land. She climbed on to a grassy knoll, warm with the sun's heat, and threw herself down upon the turf. She turned her back upon the Hall and looked steadily seawards across the waste of sands and pastureland to where the sky and sea met. Here at least was peace. She drew a long breath of relief, cast aside the book which she had never dreamed of reading, and lay full length on the grass, with her eyes upturned to where a lark was singing his way down from the blue sky.

Andrew came before long, speeding his way out of the village harbor in his little cat-boat. She watched him across the sandy bar of the inlet, and ran his boat presently on the beach below the dunes. Then she shook out her skirts and made room for him by her side.

"Really, Mr. Andrew," she said, resting her chin upon her hands, and looking up at him with her full, dark eyes, "you are becoming almost gallant. Until now, when I have been weary, and have wished to talk to you, I have had almost to come and fetch you. Today it is you who come to me. This is a good feeling, and I am glad to be true."

"It is true," he admitted. "I have kept my telescope fixed upon the sands here for more than an hour. I wanted to see you."

"You have something to tell me about last night?" she asked gravely.

"No," he answered. "I did not come here to talk about that."

"Did you know," she asked, who your lodger really was?"

"Yes," he said. "I guessed! I will be frank with you, Miss Jeanne, if you will allow me. I do not like your step-mother, and I do not like Major Forrest, but I think that the Duke is going almost too far when he suspects them of having anything to do with the disappearance of his brother."

"She drew a little sigh of relief.

"Oh! I am glad to hear you say that," she declared. "It is all so horrible. I could not sleep last night for thinking about it."

"Lord Ronald will probably turn up in a day or two," Andrew said gravely. "We will not talk any more about him."

"She settled herself a little more comfortably, and smoothed out her skirts. Then she looked up at him with faintly parted lips.

"What shall we talk about, Mr. Andrew?" she said softly.

"About ourselves," he answered, "or rather about you. It seems to me that we both stand a little outside the game of life, as your friends up there understand it."

He waved his large brown hand in the direction of the Hall.

"You are a child, fresh from boarding school, too young to understand, too young to know where to look for your friends, or discriminate against your enemies. I am a rough sort of fellow, also outside their lives, from necessity, from every reason which the brain of man could evolve. Sometimes we outsiders see more than it is intended. It is the Princess of Stram really your stepmother?"

"Of course she is," Jeanne answered. "She was married to my father, when I was quite a little girl, and she has visited me at the convent where I was at school, all my life, and when I left last year it

Fashion Hint for Times Readers

THE LITTLE GIRL'S NEW TOPCOAT.

Like her mamma this winter, the small girl will wear a graceful coat completely covering her frock, but rather dressy in character. Such coats are always useful for wear over light dancing school frocks, and to be very smart the coat will be considerably longer than the young girl's dress, falling well below the knee. This coat of navy blue serge is notably graceful, fitting easily yet smoothly at the shoulders and springing out smartly toward the bottom. Black satin revers and buttons and a touch of black braiding make the coat very dressy.

AN IRISH VIEW OF BRITISH POLITICAL SITUATION

Leaders Must Deal Boldly With the Irish Problem, They All Admit—Most Complex Situation in Modern English History Now Facing Country

Dublin, Oct. 4.—The question of the day is, how soon shall we have a general election?

The situation that now prevails is the most complex, as it is the most interesting in the modern history of England. Not since the days of Cromwell has the statement of England been confronted by a constitutional problem as that before them at the present moment.

Set on all sides by a crowd of issues, each of them vital to England's imperial destiny and each one of which must be boldly faced and dealt with if the British empire is to hold together, the men of affairs in Great Britain do not just now take their hours of slumber upon beds of roses.

From every corner of the globe that is covered by British "flag flying battle line" there comes to her home statement the rumblings of popular demand. Australia and South Africa are keeping the foremost heads of the men of the Carlton Club and the ministers in Downing street alike, deep lined with furrows. The days of ease for British statesmen are over. The Tory and the Liberal leaders are both keenly alive to the fact that a great change has come for England and that it had better be a quietly accepted, peaceful change, rather than invite the shock of social revolution.

This is why everybody is asking now, "When are we to have a general election?"

The fact is, the parliamentary machine at Westminster, as it rumbles and bumps along over the rough pavements of the rapid and radical legislation of the hour, is as much out of kilter with the times as the steapoch of our good granddaddy's days would be compared with the latest model of automobile.

Must Deal Boldly

Practical statesmen, who are honest with themselves and with the country, freely and openly acknowledge, both in parliament and on platforms throughout the country, that the Irish problem, once for all, boldly and completely, before the loged wheels of parliamentary reform for the empire, is the most difficult and most important of their allotted grooves.

The declarations on the Irish question of such men as Augustine Birrell, of Winchester, whose sweeping budget proposals have revived the sleeping powers of the landed dukes and earls, and his class, have prepared the voters of England, Scotland and Wales for acceptance of the fact that home rule for Ireland will be a great issue of the next general election.

Within the past week the British people have given some remarkable proofs of their keenly aroused interest in the Irish question. Crowded and enthusiastic Liberal meetings held in some of the larger cities of the north of England have given complete endorsement to the better the home rule declarations of the speakers.

But from an entirely opposite source of public opinion there have come some striking manifestations of public feeling.

They had their source in the series of resolutions which were tendered in England to Edward O'Meara, the former Fenian leader.

Not since the days of the historic Glasgow crusade against Disraeli, which culminated in the memorable Midlothian campaign of 1880, have such crowds of people turned out in the streets of Manchester and Liverpool as paraded those two great English cities to welcome the white-haired man, who, forty years ago, sat in his cell under the doom and sentence of the scaffold because he was a rebel against British rule in Ireland.

Help Ireland's Cause

Those English resolutions to Condon are most significant signs of the times. Twenty years ago Condon, so far from being greeted by cheering thousands as he is today in the streets of British cities, would have

$1 a Cake Could Buy No Better Soap

If you were to offer us $1 for a single cake of soap, we could make no better than our Infants' Delight.

For we have put our very best into this cake. We go to the gardens of France for pure vegetable soap. There we pay often double what we might pay. We bring coconuts oil more than 12,000 miles from the island of Ceylon. Then we mix these oils and boil them doubly long.

After this we send them through our own special milling process—one that we have perfected only in our 63 years of experience.

From here they fall like flakes of snow into huge bins and are then crushed under a weight of 30 tons to press out the moisture.

Then they pass through granite rollers and come out in miles of silky ribbons, after which they are dried eight days. The result is the most perfect and delightful soap that leaves the skin fair as an infant's. We call this soap Infants' Delight.

Order one cake today and see for yourself how different it is. Note the rich, creamy lather and see how it leaves the skin as soft as velvet and as smooth as silk.

Note the dainty perfume—it comes from Belgian and French flowers. But it requires 3,000 pounds of rose leaves to make a single ounce of this Otto of Rose. The fragrance is simply exquisite. Please try it and see.

EVANGELISM IS DISCUSSED AT SYNOD MEETING

The Presbyterian Synod held its first meeting in St. David's church lecture room last evening. The evening was taken up principally with the question of evangelism. Rev. Anderson Rodgers, of Amherst (N. S.), presided.

After the singing of a number of hymns and the reading of a passage from the Bible, Rev. A. M. Thompson, of Trinidad, delivered a short address. He spoke principally on the missionary work in Trinidad and gave many illustrations of the good work being done there. He dwelt very briefly on the subject of evangelism. The speaker said that the Bible was the principal instrument in procuring converts and that missionaries in heathen countries should do less preaching and try to get the natives to read the Bible.

Rev. Mr. McKinnon, B. D., principal of the Presbyterian College at Halifax, spoke of the value of evangelism. He was formerly convener of the committee on evangelism in the Presbyterian Synod of Manitoba and has recently accepted the position of principal of the college in Halifax, having been in the east only two weeks. He spoke of his great pleasure in coming back to the maritime synod and also spoke in high terms of the maritime provinces.

"Evangelism," he said, is a word that is perplexing at first. Evangelism is nothing else than evangelist truth made more direct and impressive in view of the service to Christ's ministers. Mr. McKinnon thought, when they understood how to do it, that the sermon for the people would be a lot of preaching done by clergymen who do not seem to have any end in view.

"Evangelism is nothing else but the using of business-like and common-sense methods. Why are we not allowed to use such methods in bringing sinners to Jesus? The speaker also gave an account of the work of the Minnesota evangelistic campaign in the province of Manitoba, and also dwelt upon the great work done by Ralph Connor in this campaign.

Dr. Shearer spoke of the methods of conducting a successful evangelistic campaign and showed the principal points to be observed when such a step is taken. He said the sermon for the people is much more hopeful and brighter now than ever before. He dwelt for some little time on the great work accomplished by the Kootenay campaign. Dr. Shearer spoke in a straightforward manner of the difficulties that would be encountered before such a campaign could be successfully accomplished and urged those present not to set too hastily but to take time in preparing for this great work.

Evangelism is established. Dr. Shearer only spoke for a short time, as the meeting had started late and the delegates present had not arrived, some of them coming long distances.

The different committees will meet tomorrow to prepare their reports, which will be read later in the week. Dr. Shearer will again address the synod some time Wednesday, no definite time having yet been arranged.

THE DEATH OF MR. DUFF MILLER

Montreal, Oct. 4.—(Special)—A special London cable says: The Anglo-Canadian community received a shock this morning in the news of the tragic death of C. A. Duff-Miller at Margate, where he had been staying for some weeks in charge of an attendant in consequence of an acute nervous breakdown. He apparently threw himself from the bedroom window.

Mr. Miller, who was aged 55, was the son of Mr. John Miller, of Montreal. He was educated in the Montreal High School, won a Fenian and medals, and had been agent general for New Brunswick for thirteen years. He was a popular member of the Canada Club. He spent several weeks in Canada this summer.

POULTRY SHOW IN FEBRUARY

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Poultry Association was held in Berryman's Hall last evening, and was largely attended. The association decided to hold their annual poultry show the first week in February. Committees were appointed to secure a suitable hall for the holding of the show. A committee was also appointed to make up the prize list.

The following is a list of the officers elected for the ensuing year: Hon. Pres. D. V. Landry, minister of agriculture; H. Lemon, President; W. Vincent, vice-president; D. Doyle, 2nd vice-president; J. P. Bain, secretary; A. Barry, treasurer. Trustees—J. W. Linney, W. Vincent, A. Burley, directors—John Vincent, and E. Warren, H. Meade, W. Kerbin and P. Killom.

A large number of applications for membership were received.

COOK ADHERES TO ORIGINAL PLAN

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 4.—Just before he left his hotel for the theatre where he delivered a lecture tonight, Dr. Cook was shown the Associated Press despatch from Copenhagen relative to his reported intention to request the university of that city to waive its claim to the first examination of his records. After reading the despatch carefully, he said:

"A wrong impression has been received in Denmark as to just what I said in Washington last night and this, too, seems not to have been perfectly understood in this country. In order that there may be no further misunderstanding, I shall be glad to have the Associated Press say as coming from me that I shall adhere to the original plan. Immediately after the result of such examination until the records shall have been examined simultaneously by all the geographical societies of the world. Immediately after they have been examined by the University of Copenhagen, duplicate copies of my records will be submitted to all the geographical societies of the world and to any other scientific bodies desiring them."

DR. PORTER'S LECTURE TONIGHT

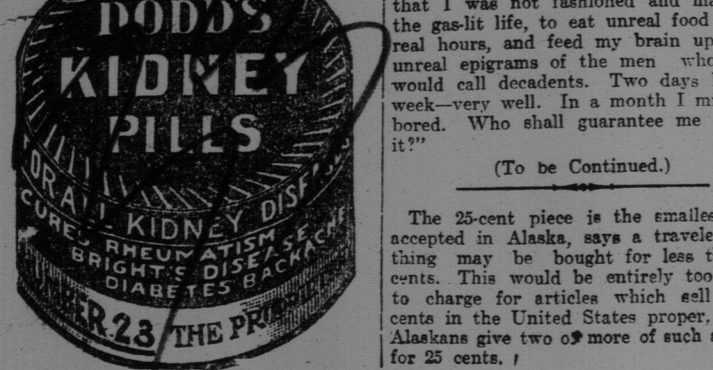

At a meeting of the executive committee of the St. John association for the prevention of tuberculosis, held in the board of health rooms yesterday afternoon, arrangements were completed for the public meeting to be held in Canterbury church this evening. The meeting will be addressed by Dr. Geo. D. Porter, lecturer and organizer for the Canadian Association for the prevention of tuberculosis, will take place in the Sunday school rooms of the church at 8 o'clock sharp. Premier Hazen, Dr. McInerney, M. P., and Rev. Dr. Flanders will also speak.

A musical programme has been arranged by the committee. Mrs. Dr. Curran will sing a solo, and a piano solo will be given by Miss Ella Smith.

A great deal of interest has been displayed in the fight against tuberculosis, and a large number of new members have been added to the list. There is now in the vicinity of 100 members of the St. John Association. The public are invited to attend tonight's meeting.

AMERICAN SHIPPING

The New York Journal of Commerce does not agree with President Taft's steamship subsidies are needed to build up an United States merchant marine.

Our New York contemporary refuses to believe that subsidies would solve the problem. We quote an interesting portion of its article: "But whoever may be held responsible for a state of things under which our transpacific commerce has been largely transferred to Canadian steamships, it is certainly absurd to speak as the president does of the inadequacy of the American shipping marine on the Pacific Coast."

There is surplus capital in this country seeking investment in ocean going tonnage, a very simple method of supplying it with an outlet is to permit the purchase of foreign built ships.

YACHT UPSETS IN BASIN OF MINAS; FIVE ARE DROWNED. Halifax, Oct. 4.—A terrible drowning accident occurred Sunday morning on the Basin of Minas, in which five members of a party of seven lost their lives. The vessel, a small motor launch, was capsized and the five occupants were drowned. The survivors were rescued in a bruised, battered and greatly exhausted condition after being tossed about on the turbulent waters of the Basin of Minas for hours. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, their two children, Hattie, aged sixteen, and Percy, aged fourteen; also, Mr. Stirling and their three-year-old daughter Gertrude. They started in a sail boat fitted up with an auxiliary motor, to spend a pleasant day's outing. Everything went along smoothly, and about 1 o'clock the boat was headed for home. Mr. Martin was holding the sail when a sudden squall struck the boat, causing her to upset, throwing the occupants into the water. Mr. and Mrs. Stirling managed to grasp the sides of the overturned boat, but the others were swept away. The accident occurred off Boot Island, but nearly four hours elapsed before the surviving members were seen and Lewis Duncanson, who resides on Boot Island, put out a boat and rescued them. They were given every possible attention, and later conveyed to the mainland. Although in the last stages of exhaustion, they by they will recover. Only one body has so far been recovered, but the hope is expressed that they will all be found.

TELEPHONE CONNECTIONS. To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—I read a lengthy article in the Times a short time ago on the uses and abuses of the telephone, which would lead me to believe that the central office was mainly to be used for business purposes and the public themselves were responsible for a faulty service. Now, I would like to draw attention to an incident that occurred about a week ago, which is a common occurrence with us all. I was desirous of learning when the American boat would arrive, so I went to my phone only to find that two Hebrew citizens were talking over my wire. I hung up the receiver up for about three minutes, then opened again. The Hebrews were still talking. I replaced the receiver again for about four minutes and tried again, and the same parties were still speaking. Patience had now ceased to be a virtue, so I "batted in" the "Who's that" from the door of the central office. "Who's that?" comes from one 'phone, and "Who's that?" from the other. My request was again politely spoken, when I received the curt reply, "We will do nothing of the kind; we are talking business." So I had to get my umbrella and go to the corner drug store in the rain, get my information and returned. Now, Mr. Editor, I don't wish to find fault, but here is one case which cannot be laid at the door of the am years. PHONE SUBSCRIBER. St. John, N. B., Oct. 3, 1909. VERY POLITE.

HOW THEY CURE CATARRH UP IN MICHIGAN. "Catarrh gave me untold misery for a long time. Nothing gave me relief. Hyomei soon cured me."—Peter Stack, Ypsilanti, Mich., Nov. 2, 1908. "I had a bad cough for over a year. No relief from three different doctors thought I was going to die. I used Hyomei and it gave me better relief. It saved my life."—Wilbur Raun, Hoit, P. O. Mich., Dec. 19, 1908. "I had catarrh for years in throat and bronchial tubes. I had smothering sensations and could hardly get my breath. Hyomei cured me, and I highly recommend it."—Frank Langford, Yale, Mich., Dec. 2, 1908. "For several years I suffered all the tortures from asthma that a person could live to tell the story. I doctored constantly, but with no benefit, till I tried Hyomei. It gave me remarkable relief, and there is nothing too strong for me to say in favor of Hyomei."—Mrs. E. J. Hennes, Flint, Mich., Dec. 5, 1908.

THE INGLENOOK PHILOSOPHER of Kennebecasis Bay. As I seated myself on the sunny side of the hedge yesterday, our trio of fir trees were gossiping of the birds that built their nests and reared their young among their branches, last summer, and wondering whether they had flown. After a while one of them struck a few notes on his harp and then the united singing among their branches, last summer, and wondering whether they had flown. After a while one of them struck a few notes on his harp and then the united singing among their branches, last summer, and wondering whether they had flown. After a while one of them struck a few notes on his harp and then the united singing among their branches, last summer, and wondering whether they had flown.

O flowers that bud, And birds that sing! How soon you fade, How soon you die! We shall go back, To mother dust, In a little while, As all things must! O leaves that fall, As falls the snow! The way ye go, We all must go. What matters this? Some golden hour We'll live again, In leaf and flower, Our children, then, That we deplore, Will be with us Forevermore. Forevermore, Whitehead, K. THE BURGOMASTER. Pixley and Luders' musical masterpiece, "The Burgomaster" in which Harry Hermsen will be seen in the part of Peter Stuyvesant, the jolly, one-legged governor of New Amsterdam, who is buried while trying to escape hostile Indians, and who is dug up 200 years later in the City Hall Square in New York, will be at the Opera House Wednesday.

"Doctored and remedies never helped my boy fever, until I used Hyomei. It gave me great relief and has my unqualified endorsement."—Louis A. Groves, Flint, Mich. Hyomei has given me more relief from terrible catarrh than all other remedies put together. Put me down as a staunch friend of Hyomei."—Mrs. Grace Stephenson, Bellevue, Mich., Oct. 13, '08. Hyomei (pronounced High-ome) is the only sensible remedy for catarrh and respiratory diseases, because it is the only remedy that reaches the inflamed membrane and soothes and heals the sore spots. No stomach dosing with Hyomei—just breathe it in, and its antiseptic properties promptly penetrate every nook and crevice, and kill all germs. And a complete Hyomei outfit, including a hard rubber pocket inhaler, only costs $1.00 and extra bottles of Hyomei if afterwards needed, are only 50 cents. Sold in St. John by Chas. R. WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF CANADA SHOULD RETALIATE

An American View of the Tariff Situation With Respect to Pulp and Paper—U. S. Exports to Value of $167,000,000 Affected

(Journal of Commerce.) John Norris, chairman of the committee on paper of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, issued a statement yesterday concerning a probable trade war with Canada. In it he points out that all who read for amusement or instruction must directly or indirectly pay a tax for the benefit of dewatered paper mills. "To protect a combination of worn-out paper mills, some of which have been abandoned for news print paper making purposes," says the statement, "the United States government has been forced into a tariff war with Canada, which promises to be far reaching in its scope. The Canadian authorities say they sell 50 million dollars to the United States and buy from it 100 millions. If it comes to a tariff war, they claim they have the whip hand, and while they regret the situation, they do not propose to be forced to terms. "The stages of the trade war thus far indicated are as follows: "First—A circular of the United States Treasury Department, dated August 26, 1909, imposing a retaliatory duty of 20 per cent on print paper and $1.61 per ton on mechanically ground wood, made from wood cut from Crown lands, in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario. This $2 per ton duty supplemented the duty of $3.78 per ton fixed by the Payne bill. "Second—The announcement of Premier Gouin, September 8, 1909, that the province of Quebec would join with the province of Ontario and prohibit the exportation of manufactured wood cut from Crown lands. "Third—Beginning March 31, 1910, the new law imposing 25 per cent ad valorem duty, or 10 1/2 million dollars additional duty on 42 million dollars' worth of imports to the United States from the leading provinces of Canada. "Fourth—Threat by Canada that if the maximum tariff of the Payne law is enforced Canada will retaliate by applying its article of 1903, adding one-third to duties on articles from any country which discriminates against Canada. This is equivalent to an addition of 7 1/2 million dollars' duty on articles sent from the United States to Canada. "Fifth—Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at Hamilton, Ontario, last week asked the Canadian government to stop the exportation not merely of wood cut from Crown lands, but of all unmanufactured wood, whether cut from Crown lands or private lands, in all of the nine provinces of the Dominion. "Sixth—Threat by Canada to stop importations from the United States to Canada, which amount to 167 million dollars per annum. "Altogether the threatened war menaces interchanges of the two countries amounting to 250 million dollars per annum, and this has been brought about to bolster a combination of paper mills. "Directly or indirectly, all the masses who read for amusement or instruction must pay a tax upon knowledge for the benefit of dewatered paper mills and trade between the two countries is to be paralyzed."

ROSEBURY SILENT

London, Oct. 4.—Lord Rosebery in a letter declining to address further meetings on the budget, says: "To make any further speeches of amplification and reply would simply involve my return to political controversy from which I have long withdrawn, and to which I hope never to return."

NO WORD OF REV. MR. WARMAN YET

Woodstock, Oct. 4.—Nothing has been heard of Rev. R. Gordon Warman, who mysteriously disappeared a month ago. Chesley Stevens was the last to see him at the Woodstock railway station. He wore glasses, had on a black hard hat and carried a light grey raincoat over his arm. He was clean shaven. The missing clergyman was quite a good athlete, and played base ball in the first team of both Moncton and Glouce Bay. A wire from his father to Councillor Stevens, of Woodstock, today, says that no information has been received by his father in Moncton. An order has been given for out of the missing man for the newspapers. One rumor is that he got off the train at Debec and went to Houlton, thence to Bangor, but nothing definite is known.

TORONTO BROKERAGE FIRM SUSPENDS

Toronto, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Today saw the suspension of the stock brokerage firm of Wyatt & Co., a failure which means a loss to customers, loan companies, etc., of from $100,000 to $200,000, and which involves the accounts of seventy-five or eighty customers. The cause of the failure, it was learned on the best of authority, is the fact that the firm was from 2,000 to 4,000 shares of stock short, mostly in New York securities. While a proportion of these would represent accounts of customers that followed the lead of the late Harry Wyatt in "bearing" the market, a great percentage consisted in short holdings by the late member of the firm of Wyatt & Co. who, it was stated this morning, had gone in for private speculation heavily on the "bear" side of the market. The suspension of the firm of Wyatt & Co. was announced on the stock exchange this morning. The news did not cause the flurry among brokers that might have been expected. Those who held accounts for the firm began at once after the announcement to close them out under the rule. Each broker differed at the market price, and whatever difference there is between the buying and selling price will be charged by the broker against the Wyatt account. These brokerage accounts will be a first charge against the seat held by the late Harry Wyatt. The seat is worth $20,000 and it is said this will more than cover the amounts due to brokers. Harry Wyatt, head of the firm, died suddenly last Thursday. The Lord Mayor of London will open a fund to assist Capt. Scott to undertake his South Pole expedition.

THERE WILL BE NO INVESTIGATION INTO FIRE DEPARTMENT

Safety Board Also Does Away With Recent Ferry Change—Bonds for Catch Basins

The time of the common council was largely occupied yesterday in discussing the proposed investigation into the affairs of the fire department and the recommendation to hold an inquiry was thrown out. A long debate also occurred over the recent changes in the ferry service inaugurated by Ald. Potts, who took the ground that he was simply bringing into force provisions of the by-law which had been neglected. Ald. Baxter, however, took the ground that a change had been made by the board, he contended, had a right to make a change without the approval of the council, and he moved that the taking of tolls from teams be conducted under the provisions of the by-law in future. This was carried by the mayor's casting vote. The recommendation of the treasury board to grant $500 to the Free Kindergarten was laid over till the January meeting. The board gave notice of motion that $2,000 in debentures be issued to run for a term of forty years for the construction of new catch basins. The proposition of the Craig company for the rental of property at Greenhead for a cement industry was referred to a committee with power to act. David Craig, head of the company was heard. It was proposed, he said, to put up a cement plant to cost $15,000. The cost of the company would be willing to pay $1,000 rental. In the safety board's report the tender of A. E. Hamilton for the erection of a new engine house at the corner of Queen and Ludlow street, west side, was accepted. In speaking of section 6, which dealt with the proposed investigation under oath into the affairs of the fire department, Ald. Vanwart said he was not in favor of it, and would not move its adoption. There was no specific charge made. The fire department, he thought, was as good for the city as any in Canada or the United States. The first object of the investigation was the chief, but it had broadened out to take in the whole department. If the council decided to have the investigation, Ald. Vanwart said, he would resign the chairmanship of the board. He sign the chairmanship of the board. He sign the chairmanship of the board. He sign the chairmanship of the board.

Do You Need Shaking?

Like a Stove Choked With Ashes. You have probably noticed how much more briskly the fire burns when freshly built or shaken. You doubtless remember, too, how much more briskly you used to get around when you were in your 'teens or twenties. The cases are parallel. You are like the fire that is choked with ashes. The cells which compose the body are constantly dying and being renewed. Then there is the indigestible part of the food to be removed. This cleansing of the body is the duty of the bowels, kidneys and skin. When any of these organs fail to do their work properly, the system becomes clogged and the fire of life burns low. There is an increasing tendency towards constipation, indigestion and nervousness, the need of less of these organs, these vital organs. "Fruit-a-lives" the famous fruit medicine does this for you. It acts directly on the liver, increasing the flow of bile and causes the bowels to move regularly and naturally. "Fruit-a-lives" is the greatest of kidney regulators, overcoming the tendency to congestion of the kidneys and strengthening these organs. "Fruit-a-lives" also stimulates the skin to renewed action. By their combined action on bowels, kidneys and skin, "Fruit-a-lives" keeps the system free of all poisons and renews the vigor of youth. "Fruit-a-lives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c—or may be obtained from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

TWO MILLION LOSS IN ALBERTA FIRE

One Life Lost—Plucky Swedish Girl a Hero of the Prairie

Calgary, Oct. 4.—One life is lost and other is seriously endangered and there is a report that $2,000,000 worth of property was destroyed by a fire which started northeast of Hutton (Alta.), and that has been raging since Saturday week. The flames were checked at Hutton without any loss to the town, but not without hard fighting. Mr. Yagerson, a Swede, was plowing his fireward when the first signs of the fire became apparent. Leaving his niece, Mary Segelstad, to check the flames by containing the plowing of the fireward, Yagerson went off to assist assembled homesteaders in fighting the flames for the possession of their homes. The smoke was so suffocating by the time he reached the scene that he fell senseless before the rapidly advancing flames had reached him. Sergeant Fischer and Constable Bruce of the R. N. W. M. P., who were among the most energetic of the fire-fighters, took charge of the unfortunate Swedish rancher. His niece, who is at present in the Columbia Hospital suffering from very serious burns and who was left to plow the fireward, is a victim of strong devotion to duty. It was but at the last moment when she left the team to take the one remaining chance of escape. She was easily caught by the flames and is now lying in a precarious condition in the Columbia Hospital. The heroic but unfortunate young woman was brought into Passano by Charles Parks, a rancher in the devastated district, and from there placed in a train for Calgary. The fire is still raging ferociously, and the people of the entire district are engaged fighting the flames, but official notice of the disaster will not be known for a few days.

WILBUR WRIGHT FLIES UP AND DOWN THE HUDSON

New York, Oct. 4.—An aeroplane flashed past the white dome of Grant's Tomb today, then, turning gracefully in mid-air over the Hudson, shot like a falcon back to Governor's Island, ten miles away. Wilbur Wright, of Dayton, Ohio, placed his name in the rank of Hudson and Fulton in one of the most spectacular feats in the history of aeronautics. Over the masts of warships, from whose decks the hoarse cheers of the sailors were borne up to him in his elevated seat, he flew for twenty miles, ten miles up and ten miles back, remaining in the air for thirty-three minutes and thirty-three seconds, and alighting at the aerodrome without mishap. During the flight business was practical at a standstill in all that part of Manhattan from which a view of his remarkable performance was available. Harbor craft shrieked their applause; cheer after cheer swept up from the banks of the Hudson and the lower bay, for the Dayton aviator had made good, covering the aviation programme of the Hudson-Fulton celebration with a record. Wright started on his flight up the Hudson at 2:26 a. m. and finished exactly at 10:29:33. He had intended to improve upon his achievement of the morning by making a longer and more hazardous flight at sunset, but the crippling of his motor just as he was about to start on the evening attempt dashed his hopes as well as those of the thousands who had assembled on Governor's Island and along the water front to cheer him on. Frederickton News: Frederickton, N. B., Oct. 4.—(Special)—A party of sportsmen composed of Senator Cochrane, J. W. Cochrane, Charles Cochrane, William Durrick and E. B. Campbell, of Williamsport (Pa.), and Robert Cook, of Philadelphia, passed through the city today en route to Doaktown, where they will hunt moose and caribou. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moses started today for the headwaters of the Little Southwest Miramichi where they will remain for a month. The city council, which was in committee this evening, but no business of importance was taken up. Frederickton people who attended the Halifax exhibition say that the total attendance barely exceeded that at the recent exhibition in this city. Charles R. Burton dug from his garden a potato that weighs more than three pounds. The potato is more than a foot long.

NEWS OF REXTON

Rexton, N. B., Oct. 4.—Miss Mary Caruthers, formerly of Rexton's Mill, Kent Co., but who has been engaged in the teaching profession in the west for the past few years, was married in Carleton Place, Ontario, September 15, to William Frederick Heal, of Moose Jaw. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jarrott, in the presence of a number of friends, by Rev. J. Wilson, Methodist minister.

The bride was prettily dressed in a gown of silk net-veer tulle, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bride's traveling dress was of navy blue broadcloth with hat to match. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Heal took the train for Moose Jaw, where they will reside in the groom's new residence.

Mrs. Cynthia Carter, of Kouchibouguac, was married in Richibucto on Sept. 23, to Hugh A. McDonald, of Greenville, Me., by Rev. J. B. Young, assisted by Rev. W. J. Wilson.

Thomas Fountain, of Kouchibouguac, was married in Portland, Me., on Sept. 7, to Miss Annie O'Keefe, of Portland. They will reside in Portland. The ceremony was performed in the Sacred Heart church by Father O'Dowd. Joseph Fournier, brother, was best man, and the bride attended by Miss Amelia Curran.

John Samuel McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McKee, of McKee's Mills, was married in Moncton on Wednesday night of last week, to Miss Sadie Rexton, daughter of James Rexton. After their bridal tour to Montreal and Niagara Falls they will reside in Moncton.

The death of Mrs. Eliza Cochrane, widow of William Cochrane, at the advanced age of 96 years, occurred at South Branch on Wednesday morning. She was a native of Scotland and is survived by a daughter and four sons. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon; interment at South Branch.

S. E. Young, who has sold their large saw mill and lumber property, comprising ninety-three square miles in Kent county, to a Swedish-Canadian lumber company of which Mr. Nordin, of Rose Bank, Northumberland county is manager. The price paid was $80,000. The mills include what was known as McLeod's mill and the mill at Kent Junction. The timber lands are important ones and news of the transfer will be interesting to all lumbermen throughout the province.

SONG QUEEN
DELIGHTS GREAT AUDIENCE

Mme. Schumann-Heink, in Opera House, Thrills All—An Ovation for the Wonderful Contralto

Mme. Schumann-Heink has added to her conquests the music loving people of St. John. Under the charm of her great rich contralto voice, with the wealth of feeling and expressiveness which lends soul to her song, the great diva held her audience in the Opera House last evening captive from her first appearance until, all too reluctantly they saw the curtain descend and knew they could hear no more.

Apart from her singing, Mme. Schumann-Heink won all by her captivating, gracious manner. She seemed as delighted in her singing as her auditors certainly were as listeners and the tumult of applause which greeted her double pleasure for the audience here, in this evening, enjoying the bright, pleasing way in which she acceded to the demands upon her voice and her art.

A more fashionable audience has seldom filled the Opera House. His Honor Lieut. Gov. Tweedie, Mr. Tweedie and party, Mayor and Mrs. Bullock and party, Premier Hazen's party occupied the boxes. There was a wealth of bright, attractive costumes all over the house and the room orchestra seats to gallery, the chairs were practically all occupied, it made a pretty picture.

Mme. Schumann-Heink sang fifteen programme numbers and three encores, and all the results given could have been responded to, the singer would have all most doubled her programme. The greater number of her selections were in foreign tongue and, to the many, therefore, something of their appeal. In great measure, however, this was met by the English translation being printed in the programme.

"The recitative and aria Vitellia, from the opera Aulus was the opening number, sung in Italian. It displayed wonderfully well and also showed her hearers the artist, for the demands of the score were many upon her powers of her appeal. In great measure, however, this was met by the English translation being printed in the programme.

The beautiful air, "But the Lord is Mindful, from Mendelssohn's St. Pauli was given with great fervor. It was sung in English and the faith and hope in it were brought out grandly by Mme. Schumann-Heink.

Great in Jehovah, by Frank Schubert was the next number. The name tells the character of it and the singer, as in all her previous selections, again won thousands of applause. A dainty song by Schumann, "A Spring Song," gave opportunity for light and shade and the prayer of the heart was sung with great depth of religious feeling.

"Love is Forever, by Brahms; Allerseelen, by Strauss; and Liebeslieder, by Weinartner, were followed by a cradle song which was one of the choicest numbers on the excellent programme.

Her songs in English made up the last part of the evening. The first, "Nevin's The Rosary," was grandly rendered. Oh, let Night Speak, the first of the series, was sung with such pathos, that Mme. Schumann-Heink led to repeat it. The singer, as the song, in this selection especially, captivated the audience completely. A lullaby, sung with deep feeling, followed and Love in a Cottage brought the programme to a close.

For encore numbers during the evening Mme. Schumann-Heink sang Mavourneen and the Brindisi or as a popular favorite of years ago, "Is Better to Laugh than Be Sighing." Both were delightful variations of the programme and won every listener. As to the singer's voice, the selections brought it out in all its beauty, its great compass and richness, while the grand art of the singer was ever borne in upon her auditors in the expressiveness of her singing and in the apparent simplicity of what was really most difficult. Mme. Schumann-Heink needed not to come to St. John to seek a triumph. The musical world has bowed to her and acknowledged her high position among the queens of song but she did triumph here and all who were in the Opera House last night will carry pleasant memories of the evening.

But one shared the honors of the evening. Mrs. Katherine Hoffman, the accompanist. On every hand were heard praises of her artistic work at the piano. Music lovers of St. John have to thank Mr. Spencer for another evening of rare pleasure in listening to the best there is in music, interpreted by those most capable of doing so.

Rev. Dr. John Gardner Murray, of Baltimore, has been consecrated Protestant Coadjutor Bishop of Maryland.

Three Magnificent Picture Features—Film Lecture and Dainty Singer

The Nickel struck the popular fancy again yesterday, particularly at night, in offering a great list of the best pictures money could procure, a dainty singing act by Pauline Barry, and Miss Grace Renard's dramatic talks upon film subjects. Miss Barry received a flattering reception upon her return engagement and her songs "I'll Be Your Lemon Cooon," and "Whirling Over the Ballroom Floor," were roundly enjoyed. This little Miss was tastefully dressed and her winsome manner made her all the more acceptable to the big crowds.

The Nickel's orchestra with its kindly concert in the evening enhanced the pleasure of the bill many fold. The experienced and entertaining orchestra, and the variety has been proved the most acceptable business is the result. Matinee particularly are more than bumper.

CANADIAN NEWS NOTES

Lindsay, Ont., Oct. 4.—(Special)—Mrs. John McQuinn, wife of a farmer living near Salsburg, Carleton township, was attacked in her home by a tramp on Saturday and brutally beaten. Her husband was in the fields at work and did not hear her screams. The tramp came to the door and asked for bread. He was allowed into the house and, seeing that the woman was alone, demanded money, and attacked the woman when none was forthcoming. The barking of a dog scared him.

Woodstock, Oct. 4.—(Special)—The next session of the Carleton Circuit Court at which Sandy Moncell will be tried for the murder of Nick Lagania will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 19th.

There were only three nominations handed into Secretary-Treasurer Hartley Brown, consequently Councilors Stevens, Brown and Balmain are re-elected county councillors as representatives of this town for the next two years.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 4.—(Special)—It is expected that at the coming session of parliament a considerable appropriation will be asked by the department of railways for the investigation of harbors on Hudson Bay, the object being to propose a suitable terminus for the proposed Hudson Bay Railway.

Preliminary investigations of engineers indicate that Nelson offers better facilities than Churchill, being farther south, open for a longer period each year, and easier of access by land.

A well known railroad man has submitted figures showing that with the Hudson Bay road in operation it would be quite possible to deliver Nova Scotia coal at Saskatoon at a cost of $6.50 per ton. Such prices would put the maritime provinces in a position to control a considerable area of the coal market of that district and the same might be said of cement, structural steel and similar heavy freights.

Guelph, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Before Judge Chedoke at the Wellington County Court, William Hendrick, of Detroit, this morning appeared on three charges, two of burglary and one of carrying burglary tools. He pleaded guilty to a charge of robbing the residence of J. W. Lyon last Thursday night, but to the charge of carrying burglary tools and stealing four rings and a sum of money from Mrs. Sutherland, of Norwich (Ont.), a week ago last Sunday night, he pleaded not guilty. He was convicted on all three charges, however, and remanded for sentence. Hendrick had a knife and showed fight when arrested.

The signs of love show up as plainly as the symptoms of measles.

SUPERIOR PAINLESS DENTISTRY!

"There is a world wide cry against the dentists that they torture their patients. Those of strong physique submit and endure the agony. With a second class this is simply impossible, and thousands of teeth are neglected and lost even though the patients may be able to pay for our most skillful services. Then there is a third class who, after months of mental torture in anticipation, finally come into our hands, and, with nerves strung to a hurtful point, pass through the ordeal, but at what a cost! We do not sufficiently consider the consequences of shock in the dental chair, yet undoubtedly many suffer for months and even years from injuries to the nervous system received whilst in our hands.

The greatest duty of our profession today is to discover and adopt a mode of painlessly performing our operations."

NOTE—The above is an abstract from a paper read by an eminent dentist of New York City before a society of dentists in Philadelphia. The famous Hale Method of painless dentistry, for which we are sole agents for Canada is the best Method on earth.

There will be a football practice this evening on the E. D. C. grounds for the candidates for the Y. M. C. A. intermediate team. The formation of a league is in progress, so a full attendance is requested. As play is impossible after 6.30, those who can should be on the grounds by 5.15. The teams to contest the league will most likely be from High School, Rothesay and Y. M. C. A.

Norwegian steamship Karen, Captain Pedersen, of the new Cuba line, is scheduled to sail this afternoon direct to Havana. She will take from this port more than 2,000 barrels of potatoes and other freight. The steamer also has on board a large Boston freight for Cuba. The agent, F. E. Williams, expects to handle a large outward freight on her next trip from St. John.

CLOSE CALL FOR LIFE IN THE HARBOR

Wm. Crosby Falls From Wharf Ladder in Darkness, and Has Vigorous Fight in the Water

A popular young man of north end, William Crosby, had a very exciting experience last night, and narrowly escaped with his life. Only his perseverance and pluck saved him from a watery grave.

The accident happened about 9 o'clock. With Captain Breen, of the schooner Lizzie H. Patrick, Mr. Crosby had been enjoying a pleasant ride about town in a steamer car early in the evening, and between 8 and 9 o'clock they returned to the vessel, which was moored at Pender's wharf.

They remained some time on board, chatting with some companions, but an engagement required their presence on shore a little after nine, so they accordingly bade their friends good night. Mr. Crosby was the first to mount the ladder leading from the ship to the wharf, a climb of about twenty feet, but when he was about half way to the top he missed his footing on a slippery rung, and tumbled into the dark waters between the vessel and the pier. As he fell, he struck the back of his head on an iron pin, and was almost rendered unconscious.

Soon all was confusion on deck, and the alarm "man overboard" drew numbers of people to the spot, all ready to offer assistance. Meanwhile Mr. Crosby was having the battle of his life, struggling with all his might against a powerful current. The efforts of his friends to save him seemed fruitless, and they soon thought that the sea had claimed another life, when he was seen clambering up the ladder, having won his strenuous fight against the waters.

His head pained him considerably, but other than this he was not the worse for his adventure, and with a change of clothing, he was rolled to his home in the automobile and once in bed soon forgot his thrilling experience in slumber.

Men's Fine Fall Suits, an Unusually Rich Variety.

Yesterday we sat and watched, while one after another of the new suits for men was brought out and tried on.

Our conclusion, not only that this present collection is away ahead of anything we have ever done before, but that he must be a very difficult man to please who cannot find here, today, the very suit above all others that he will want to own this winter.

As to cut, the business man can choose from half a dozen different conservative, good styles—the young man from as many more that have some of the effervescence of youth, all are as correct as they are new—and the tailoring is wonderfully good, and it is the best clothing a man can find, ready to wear.

Clothing That Dresses Your Boy Up to a Standard and Not Down to a Price

The first thing to consider in clothing your boy is suitability—that is consonant with his environment. No boy wants to be an oddity. Then the clothes and the boy should fit each other. In other words, let expert advice help your selection. The price should be the last consideration, for with a safe store, it need not worry you.

The Oak Hall standard—Reliable fabrics and best tailoring—obtains no matter what the price. The various prices mean different grades of materials and finish, and always the best workmanship.

Double Breasted Bloomer Suits, 8 to 16 years, $3.00 to $10.
Three-Piece Suits, 11 to 17 years, $3.50 to $12.

The Extreme of Fine Fabrics and Soft Finish—Perfection in the Knitting, Fashioning and Trimming

The refined taste requires the extreme of fine fabrics and soft finish in undergarments—just any kind won't do. There is something about the underwear we sell which gets close to the hearts of woman kind—better fittings and more finely made and finished—the results of special care in knitting, dyeing, fashioning and trimming.

The cost is no more than for common kinds.
