SIR CHARLES TUPPER, M. P.

Cape Breton has done all that one constituency could do to make a statement for Montreal Centre and Jacques Garder the constituency has given Sir Charles Tupper the largest majority ever obtained by the liberal conservatives in a straight party fight in the county, increasing by a full hundred the majority given to the leader of the polls five years ago.

While the opposition leaders failed to accomplish the purpose for which they went into the county they deserve credit for the sturdy fight that they have made, although something might be said against their mode of warfare. The failure to prove that a revision of opinion has taken place in Nova Scotia since 1891, and the still more complete failure to prove that Sir Charles Tupper has outlived his power and skill as a campaigner and a politician are not to the discredit of the managers and orators. They did all that could be done, but they could not be expected to prove things that were not so.

ment which would deprive the manufacturers of tariff protection. He had affirmed that the factories must be protected by a substantial tariff. He would indeed increase the protection to some of them by retaining customs duties on the finished articles, and abolishing the tariff on such raw materials as coal and iron. A tariff on manufactured goods with free coal was "good enough" for Mr. Laurier in the county of Waterloo. If he had been in Cape Breton last week there is no doubt that he would have found "good enough" for me" the platform of a tariff on coal and no protection for manufacturers. Anything is good enough for Mr. Laurier and his party in a by-election, provided it suits the locality where the campaign is in progress.

Still it is not this way that great parties are built up and kept together. It is one thing to capture on occasion the vote of some parish or polling place, and another to establish a cause fit for an appeal to the whole country. Sir Charles Tupper spoke on this campaign in many polling places. Not one word of his speeches would have been unimpeachable for Montreal or Toronto, or in a mercantile or political congress in the headquarters of the empire. This is the difference between a statesman and a district politician.

This journal admitted yesterday that the defeat of Sir Charles would be a shock to the government. With equal frankness we welcome his return by a magnificent majority, as a splendid tribute to the standing of the government in Nova Scotia. Five years ago the government carried sixteen out of twenty-five seats in the province. It is reasonable to think that under the leadership of the victor in this contest the record of 1891 will be repeated.

Another victory. Thursday's election in Northumberland was an event of unusual interest because on this occasion issue between the two parties was fairly and squarely joined. Five years ago Mr. Mitchell maintained, or pretended to maintain his independence of the liberal or glib party. He then claimed to be a party by himself in opposition to the government. Thursday he went to the polls for the first time as the nominee of the party now led by Mr. Laurier. A convention accepted him, if it did not choose him, as the opposition candidate. Mr. Mitchell came forward as a supporter of the glib policy—whatever that may be. The aid of Mr. Ellis, Mr. McAlpine, Mr. Emerson and Mr. Hawke as campaign speakers was freely given in the party interest. From beginning to end, the contest was conducted on straight political lines. The support of Mr. Burdell and other liberals which was given to Mr. Adams when he ran against Mr. Mitchell five years ago, was withdrawn from Mr. Robinson and went to increase the strength of his opponent.

There was no reservation in Mr. Robinson's support of the policy of the government. He accepted the issue explicitly. While the election is a tribute to his personal popularity, it is not the less a token that Northumberland is now, and intends to remain, a liberal conservative constituency.

Mr. Mitchell's second failure to secure an election in Northumberland will perhaps discourage him from further campaigns. He has said many violent things in this struggle, and probably his disposition will not be improved by recent experiences. Nevertheless, we venture to think that there are no prominent members of his old party who have other than kindly feelings for "Sir Peter." They regret that he has not only abandoned the principles which he formerly advocated, but that he has assumed such a fierce and unrelenting hostility to his old comrades, including those who survive and the ones who have passed away. They are far from sharing Mr. Mitchell's opinion of himself, or of those who remember his former services. Yet they remember his former services to the country, think as well of him as he will allow, and do not find any satisfaction in his personal defeat.

From a political point of view the results of the two elections this week are most important. Cape Breton county is chiefly interested in mining. In Northumberland the great industries are farming and lumbering. The two constituencies have not the same local reasons for supporting the government and the national policy. But they have sufficient reasons and are found side by side, one returning to parliament the most eminent Canadian now in public life, the other sending to Ottawa a younger man with his career in federal politics all before him, but both supporting the able and patriotic ministry now carrying on the affairs of this country. Many years must pass, and many changes take place in the current of our political history before either Cape Breton or Northumberland reverses the verdict given last week.

If Father Time had wheels in his hand he would travel on a bicycle. Of the two evils we usually choose the more alluring one.

MR. PITTS.

The address of Mr. Pitts to the York county Orangemen deals with live questions and will be read with interest by many who do not agree with it. Mr. Pitts censures some unnamed person—presumably Evangelist. Rush—for extreme and uncharitable language. But Mr. Pitts would do well to think carefully over his own references to Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Even the political opponents of the premier are in the habit of admitting his integrity. Orangemen generally have spoken of him as one who, in prosperity and adversity, gave a devoted service to the order of which he was for many years the Canadian leader. While it does not follow that Mr. Pitts should accept the premier's view of the Manitoba question, Sir Mackenzie might not unreasonably expect the younger Orangeman to refrain from impeaching the honesty of his motives. A worse charge can hardly be made against the integrity of a public man than is conveyed in the statement that he repudiates his obligations in his desire to retain power at the expense of his honor.

MR. VINCE.

The Woodstock Despatch says that it is "at liberty to announce that Major Vince has definitely been appointed to the postmastership here vacated by the death of the late John C. Winslow," and adds that "the news will give the utmost satisfaction to both political parties."

The Religious Intelligencer, referring to the appointment says: "We wish Mr. Vince had received an appointment upon which we could heartily congratulate him. Without belittling the office, which, as most of us go, is well enough, we cannot but feel the position is not worthy the man receiving it, nor a fitting recognition of his services to the government making the appointment."

The position is, however, one which Mr. Vince can efficiently occupy without the strain on his strength that is demanded by the practice of his profession or by a political career. It is a matter of regret that Major Vince has felt obliged on account of the state of his health to withdraw from active political service. The liberal conservative party has not in its ranks a more high minded, conscientious and unselfish man, and there are few in the province who understand public questions as well as he. The position of postmaster of a large and growing town like Woodstock is an honorable one, and Mr. Vince follows an office which also had a high position at the bar before he accepted office.

A GOOD IDEA. The Carleton county municipal council might do a worse thing than send a delegate to England to look into the question of a farmers' market. No county in eastern Canada has better upland soil than Carleton. It is capable of growing almost any kind of crop suitable to the climate, but the enlightened farmers prefer to sell such produce as will make the best return to them and the land. The British market is known to be good for cheese. But in respect to butter, poultry, eggs and some other final products the market is uncertain and needs to be studied. The British consumer takes pork, beef and mutton in large quantities, but not always at large prices. A good many horses are shipped from Canada to England, but though Carleton county raises fine horses it has not yet done much in the way of shipping them across the water. The object of an explorer would be to see what products could be sold, and what methods should be employed to reach the best customers.

The references which Bishop Cameron is said to have made to certain "hell inspired hypocrites" is to say the least of it, rather infelicitous. Nevertheless, it seems unfair to say that the bishop applied the words to all Roman Catholics who oppose remedial legislation. The application of the language is not so clear as it might be, but the reference is apparently only to persons who openly profess friendship for a course which they secretly oppose.

The United States government is to be congratulated on the success of its four per cent. thirty year loan, nearly all of which has been taken at 111 per cent. or over. This is very near the latest quotations of Canadian consolidated three and half per cent, which on January 17 were selling in London at 111-1/2. It is not many years since Canada borrowed at four per cent. We remember the day of small things and do not despise our neighbors.

The Halifax refiners took their sugar out of bond before the budget speech and the story was at once started that they had a tip. The duty was not raised and so there was nothing more said about it. If it had been raised the slander would have been equally a slander, but it would have been harder to refute it.

Ex-Attorney Harrison has given formal notice that he is not a candidate for the presidency and that his name is not to go before the convention. This seems to leave the field between Mr. Reed of Maine and Mr. McKinley of Ohio, with a possibility of Mr. Morton of New York.

THE BEAR RIVER MURDER

Wheeler Interviewed by a Member of the Sun Staff.

Heads Latin as Well as English and Talks French Fluently.

Evidence given at the Preliminary Examination at Bear River Thursday.

(From a Member of the Sun Staff.)

Bear River, Feb. 12.—The preliminary examination of Peter Wheeler, which began this morning, will undoubtedly end in the prisoner being sent up for trial for the murder of Annie Kempton. Circumstantial evidence continues to pile up against the accused, and public feeling is even more severe on him now than at the outset.

Some features of the case that seem mysterious to people at a distance are as plain as a pikestaff to those who live on the spot. Under ordinary circumstances a girl of Annie Kempton's station in life, possessing a good opinion of her abilities and ambitions to rise in the world, would not associate with a wretch, a nobody—but with the murdered girl it was a matter of environment. She knew Wheeler, because she was compelled to know some of his companions, but she always kept him at a distance. She was a good girl in every sense of the word. Tilley Comeau, a widow, with whom the prisoner resided when on shore, was seen by the Sun man yesterday. She talked freely. Wheeler, she said, came to Bear River twelve years ago in October, in the ship Conrad, Capt. Brown, and went to a neighbor's to live. When that woman went away he came to her place. Since then he had made two trips in the Estella to the West Indies with Capt. Merritt of Moose River, then he went in the Colby, Capt. Spurr, next in the Estella, and a year ago this summer he went to the exhibition building, in which the examination is being held, to see his mother, also a coasting trip to Boston. A year ago this summer he went to the woods with Mr. Seagrave cutting cordwood.

This winter he was out some fifteen days with Stan Rice at Lake Jolly. In fact, said Mrs. Comeau, he worked whenever work was to be got. When he was not at work I made him out for wood and got burrying with us, as I would do my twenty-four hours. He never drank, caroused or kept bad company. He said, when he came to us that his father had been dead some twenty-four years. He was born in Adelaide, Australia, of English and French parents. I always acted towards him as if I had known him, and he acted towards me the same as I would my own children. If he is guilty of this terrible crime I hope he will be punished. I would not be my own brother if he were guilty.

Mrs. Comeau, who is a hard-working, industrious woman, spoke of the prisoner as a man who was closely questioned by the reporter admitted that she thought he was older than 25 years—the figure he claims to be. She said she had seen him when he was born in Adelaide, Australia, of English and French parents. I always acted towards him as if I had known him, and he acted towards me the same as I would my own children. If he is guilty of this terrible crime I hope he will be punished. I would not be my own brother if he were guilty.

Shortly after arriving at Digby yesterday, your correspondent, through the courtesy of Deputy Sheriff Alcorn, had an opportunity to interview with the prisoner, who occupies a cell in the basement of the county jail. It is not a desirable cell, so far as cells go. It is a room, well lighted and high standard, but the prisoner's cell is a small, dark, and ill-ventilated room. The prisoner's cell is a small, dark, and ill-ventilated room. The prisoner's cell is a small, dark, and ill-ventilated room.

Coroner Lovatt of Digby county was the first witness called. The only thing new in his testimony was his statement that in his judgment there was not blood enough on the tracks in the case to indicate that the murderer had been struck down by a blow on the head. In other words, that the cutting of her throat was done some time after death. He said he noticed a degree of heat in her body when he examined it on the morning of January 23rd, but he would not say how long she had been dead. It might have been 48, 24 or 12 hours, or less, as the body had been moved before his arrival, and the contents of the room disturbed. His testimony on these phases of the case was most particularly important. The balance of the day's evidence failed to bring any new facts to light. The prisoner, who sits by the side of his counsel, watches the proceedings intently, and occasionally in a whisper suggests question to Mr. Ruggles.

This afternoon, Omer Rice was the chief witness. He testified to trying Wheeler's baggage in the truck in the snow leading to the house where the murder was committed, and that they fitted accurately. He said there was a slight crust that had prevented the tracks drifting up. This was the most important bit of evidence elicited today.

Owing to the rapid progress made in the examination and the necessity of counsel preparing for tomorrow's programme, no night session was held. Mr. Ruggles assured the Sun correspondent this evening that while he would not unnecessarily protract the examination, he would fight the case inch by inch. He declined positively to hint what line the defence would take. His hardest task at present is to keep his client from talking. For Wheeler is a garrulous fellow, and likes to hear the sound of his own voice.

It is probable that the crown counsel will tomorrow afternoon move for the prisoner's commitment, which will be resisted by the defence. The magistrate will then have to take the grip and decide what he will do. Of course if Mr. Ruggles offers to put on witnesses for his side or the case, the magistrate cannot stop him, NOTES.

The residents of Bear River are raising a subscription to erect a monument over Annie Kempton's grave. Detective Power of Halifax escorted the prisoner from Digby jail to Bear River this morning.

What are you reading? was the scribbled first question. The Bible! It is my only comfort now. I always liked it, but I did not read it as much as I should. Everybody seems to have turned against me now. Add then Wheeler proceeded to tell of two attempts that had been made to drive him out of Bear River, in one of which he had been grievously assaulted. He was particularly outspoken with regard to the fact that blood spots had been found on his clothing, and that he had been severely injured. He was particularly outspoken with regard to the fact that blood spots had been found on his clothing, and that he had been severely injured.

The accused, all reports to the contrary, is not breaking down. He is keenly alive to his situation, and maintains a bold front and conducts himself in a manner to impress all visitors. Wheeler, it may be remarked, is not an ignorant fellow. He can read Latin as well as English, and talks French fluently. In conversation he uses good language—much better than the average villager, and some of his expressions indicate an acquaintance with books not read by the masses.

The exhibition building, in which the examination is being held, is a fine building, and the prisoner is represented by H. D. Ruggles of Mills & Ruggles, Annapolis. Copp told your correspondent that he expected to get in the afternoon, he wanted in two days. Three sessions will be held daily—morning, afternoon and night. Little new evidence is being brought out. The prisoner's testimony being a repetition of that given at the coroner's inquest. Mr. Ruggles made a strong fight to prevent the prisoner's testimony from being admitted; first on the ground that the enquiry was held in Annapolis, and second, that the evidence was not taken in the presence of the accused. The balance of the day's evidence failed to bring any new facts to light.

NEW BRUNSWICK ILLUSTRATED. E. L. Skilling's new book on St. John illustrated last year was so favorably received, has now in preparation a work entitled "New Brunswick Illustrated," which will be issued at an early date. It will contain views of many places of interest in the province, in the way of fishing and pleasure resorts, and indeed of the most beautiful scenery of all kinds. The views will be accompanied by full letter-press descriptions. The book will be finely got up, with extra paper and handsome embossed cover, and is expected to be a work of art worthy of the subjects to which it refers. The success of the book issued last year, it should be in great demand.

AN OLD ST. JOHN BOY. The last number of the Maine Central, the official organ of the Maine Central Railroad Company, contains a portrait of S. P. Sheridan, their southern travelling agent. He received a common school education, and an early age, removed to the United States, and began to learn the hotel business, to the study which he has devoted, practically his entire life. Mr. Sheridan has been connected with the famous Ponce de Leon and Royal Poinciana hotels of Florida, and since 1877 with those well known Florida resorts, the Crawford and Twin Mountain houses. Mr. Sheridan is now acting as southern travelling agent of the Maine Central Railroad and is travelling through the south the interests of that company, distributing literature, calendars and copies of the Maine Central, to the various hotels and resorts of the South. The department of the Maine Central expects its summer business to exceed that of any previous year—as a result of this personal solicitation of business.

The plaintiff's judgment was set aside and a non-suit entered. R. B. Bennett for defendant and J. De Viber Neales for plaintiff. R. B. Bennett applied for naturalization papers for F. O. The only real snow storm of the season since yesterday, when about fifteen inches fell. The month just closed was the most remarkable January the North Shore has seen for years. January is usually our coldest and most disagreeable month, but this year we only had about three cold days in it and no snow worth speaking about.

WESFORDHAM CO. Moncton, Feb. 4.—This town has another sensation. After the recent Scott act election the liquor party took steps to have a re-count of the ballots, and Judge Wells set down Friday, 7th, for the purpose, as the returning officer Chapman had the ballots stowed away in a box in his residence. Last night Mr. Chapman was out of town, and his wife spent the evening at a friend's, leaving the key to the box in the house. This afternoon a package of ballots was picked up on the street some distance from his residence. This led to an investigation, and it was found that the box containing the ballots had been tampered with and only thirteen of the fifty-two polls remained. All the ballots in the centre of the box had been taken out, but in a hurry, as the ballots that remain still leave about one hundred majority for the act. It is not known what effect the stealing of the ballots will have on the proposed re-count.

YORK CO. Fredericton, Feb. 4.—Rev. Wm. Tippett, assistant pastor of the Methodist church, leaves tomorrow morning for St. John, and will sail on the Lake Ontario for a trip to England. The court adjourned until Thursday, when Judge Barker will take up the hearing in the suit of Wiley v. Waite. Fredericton, Feb. 6.—The equity case brought by John M. Wiley v. Stephen P. Waite and wife of Andover was heard today before Judge Barker. The suit is brought to obtain a decree for the payment of plaintiff's judgment against Stephen Waite, the principal ground being that Waite insured his life in favor of his wife, and after his assignment realized on the policies and built a house upon his wife's property. After Waite had given his evidence a settlement was effected between the parties. It is understood that defendant agrees to pay the expense of the suit and part of the judgment debt. Attorney General Blair and George Wilson for plaintiff; Thos. Lawson for defendant, and J. T. Carter for Benjamin Kilburn, a mortgagee.

The following letter, which was received by the trustees of Victoria Hospital, this morning, explains itself: "With a desire to ensure, as far as possible, the continuance of my contribution of one hundred dollars yearly towards the maintenance of the hospital, I propose to donate a principal part of the same in the form of a trust for that purpose. I herewith offer for the acceptance of the trustees a mortgage security for one thousand dollars, bearing interest of six per cent per annum, payable half yearly, and the sum of seven hundred dollars in money, to be invested in like manner, as an opportunity may offer."

King Reginald Bartell, the great hypnotic mesmerist, is in trouble. He was arrested at an early hour this morning on a warrant charging him with being an accessory to the desecration of Harry Miles of the Infantry School. Miles, who has been ordered to the officers mess, got about 2200 yesterday and slipped out with the money. Bartell is said to have a hand in it, hence his arrest.

Calvin L. Goddard of Pennacoe died at his residence, the place that evening, after a lingering illness, at the advanced age of 81. Deceased was well known throughout York, and highly respected as one of the leading men of the county. Dr. Edwin Goodspeed and Councillor Luther Goodspeed are sons of deceased. The remains will be interred tomorrow.

Ernest Irvine, a colored ruder about 25 years of age, was charged with stealing goods from James B. Howie's clothing store in July, 1894. Lately he took to a Marysville tailor. One of the hands recognized the goods. Howie was notified, and Irvine is now in limbo.

CARLETON CO. Woodstock, Feb. 1.—These are stirring times between the Scott act authorities and the alleged liquor dealers. Early this morning Inspector Colpitts started on a campaign in the direction of the boundary line. He was accompanied by several assistants, as it was thought some resistance might be offered. The party honored with the early visit was Wm. Thibideau, who is comfortably situated on the boundary line severing her majesty's dominions from those over which President Cleveland and the Monroe doctrine hold sway. Mr. Thibideau was served with a warrant charging him with illegally selling liquor on a certain day, and there was a warrant for him on some other party charged with keeping liquor for sale. The result of the whole matter so far is that Thibideau stands convicted of four first offences for selling liquor, and the Scott act people are in possession of some $600 worth of liquor of one sort and another, upon which, as it stood in a shed in front of the police magistrate's office, envious eyes were cast by sundry parties with thirteenth thoughts. The informant against Thibideau was one Wm. Braden, who stated that on the 21st of last November he purchased a glass of brandy from the defendant, and that the glass of brandy had intoxicating qualities. Thibideau was examined by the defendant, Brandon said that he was here to do this business of informing and looking forward to some temporal reward. A conviction was made by the magistrate on this evidence, and three other convictions on testimony of about the same color. Elisha Thornton was also fined for a single offence, protesting against the manner in which he was convicted, and informing the court that he did not make a habit of dispensing the ardent. One witness who was subpoenaed said that the defendant gave him a drink on the morning and that in return he handed him a quarter saying: "You must not bear the whole expense of this." Later he returned the quarter. The counsel for the defence, however, elicited the fact that the quarter was returned after the information for the alleged offence was laid.

A man named Folson kept a store on the boundary line at Woodstock. Inspector Colpitts and three or four constables paid a visit to him on Friday afternoon. They entered the store on the American side of the line, which leads into a smaller store in the Roman Catholic territory, which is on the New Brunswick side. On the American side they met a man and asked him if they were Folson. He said he was not and then proceeded into the inner shop and pocketed a portion of some liquor valued at about $40. A clerk who was present managed to evade them and escape, and they found that Folson was really the man whom they had accused. He made away and they are now in possession of some liquor, but have not the parties to accuse of having it for sale. Rev. J. B. Morgan, the young Baptist minister of Jacksonville, now said to have a clue to the murdered of Solomon Dingle, is well known here. He only recently entered the Baptist ministry, and was before that an active and efficient agent of the Great West Life Insurance Co. Naturally his course is being watched with special interest where he is so well known.

H. B. Smith, who has been by readers in this parish for the past year under Archdeacon Neales, leaves in a short time for Colorado, where he will continue his studies for the ministry and also continue his work as a lay reader. Mr. Smith has carried himself well here in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, winning friends not only among those of his own denomination but among the citizens generally. His approaching departure is most sincerely regretted.

Centerville, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Charles Ritchie, nee Eliza Holmes, departed this life on the 28th inst. at her husband's residence, Greenfield, Carleton Co., after a long and serious illness, painful at times, which she bore patiently and with Christian fortitude. She will be greatly missed from the home circle, for she was a good mother and a loving wife, and her husband mourns the departure of his best earthly friend. Most of her children had preceded her to the spirit land. Three survive her: Charles, Lizzie and Samuel, all of whom are married and have good homes of their own, Samuel being on the homestead. She was a faithful member of the Church of England, and a devout Christian. Her end was peace. She will be laid to rest tomorrow by her rector, Rev. J. E. Flewelling, in the Church of England burying ground at Greenfield. She was about 77 years old.

Benton, Feb. 1.—The sad news has been received by James McKinney, of the sudden death of his daughter, Mrs. James Kelly, which occurred at her home in Chelsea, Mass., on Thursday. THE ORANGEMEN

Annual Meeting of York County Lodge Held at Fredericton on Tuesday.

Report of County Master Pitts—Clarke Wallace's Course—Manitoba School Question.

The annual session of York County Lodge, No. 1, met in the Orange hall, Fredericton, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, 4th inst. The chair was occupied by County Master H. H. Pitts, M.P.P., and the officers of the county were in their seats. The credentials committee and finance committee were appointed to examine the credentials and audit the books, after which County Master Pitts presented his report.

REPORT OF THE COUNTY MASTER. Fredericton, Feb. 4th, 1896. To the Officers and Members of York County Lodge:

Dear Brothers—On presenting to the county lodge my formal annual report, I have to again compliment the county lodge, and the order generally in this county at the very satisfactory showing they are able to make this year. Before the next quarterly session I have visited and held meetings with nearly every lodge in the jurisdiction, and in many of these visits was accompanied by our much respected brethren, R. C. M. Anderson. The public meetings at Magundy, Maple Ridge, Central Edmundville, Bel River, North Lake and the Mouth of the Tay were all large, and the brethren showed their appreciation of the visits in many ways.

We had hoped to organize one or two new lodges during the year, but the field in this county is pretty well occupied. Before the next quarterly meeting there should be a lodge at Nashwaakias, as arrangements are being made for securing a warrant, and a dormant lodge at Kingsclear may be re-constituted.

Although at the time of writing all the returns have not been sent in, I am assured that all lodges reporting last year will report this year, and all in a better condition than ever before. While there has been a large amount of correspondence, as usual, there have been no questions that have disturbed the harmony existing between the county masters and the county lodges.

THE FIELD. I feel that you would not consider this report complete were I not to refer to some of those public questions that are so deeply interesting to the members of this association as a whole. During the year a general local election has been held, and so far as this county was concerned the ticket endorsed by the Orange association was returned by an overwhelming majority. I believe that the primary cause for the overthrow of Mr. Blair in this constituency and the complete demoralizing of the remainder of the party here, that once led, was the knowledge that the quarter was returned after the information for the alleged offence was laid.

A man named Folson kept a store on the boundary line at Woodstock. Inspector Colpitts and three or four constables paid a visit to him on Friday afternoon. They entered the store on the American side of the line, which leads into a smaller store in the Roman Catholic territory, which is on the New Brunswick side. On the American side they met a man and asked him if they were Folson. He said he was not and then proceeded into the inner shop and pocketed a portion of some liquor valued at about $40. A clerk who was present managed to evade them and escape, and they found that Folson was really the man whom they had accused. He made away and they are now in possession of some liquor, but have not the parties to accuse of having it for sale.

H. B. Smith, who has been by readers in this parish for the past year under Archdeacon Neales, leaves in a short time for Colorado, where he will continue his studies for the ministry and also continue his work as a lay reader. Mr. Smith has carried himself well here in a thoroughly satisfactory manner, winning friends not only among those of his own denomination but among the citizens generally. His approaching departure is most sincerely regretted.

Centerville, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Charles Ritchie, nee Eliza Holmes, departed this life on the 28th inst. at her husband's residence, Greenfield, Carleton Co., after a long and serious illness, painful at times, which she bore patiently and with Christian fortitude. She will be greatly missed from the home circle, for she was a good mother and a loving wife, and her husband mourns the departure of his best earthly friend. Most of her children had preceded her to the spirit land. Three survive her: Charles, Lizzie and Samuel, all of whom are married and have good homes of their own, Samuel being on the homestead. She was a faithful member of the Church of England, and a devout Christian. Her end was peace. She will be laid to rest tomorrow by her rector, Rev. J. E. Flewelling, in the Church of England burying ground at Greenfield. She was about 77 years old.

Benton, Feb. 1.—The sad news has been received by James McKinney, of the sudden death of his daughter, Mrs. James Kelly, which occurred at her home in Chelsea, Mass., on Thursday. The remains arrived here by train today. Interment will take place in the Benton cemetery tomorrow. Deceased was a native of this place, and her friends have the sympathy of the community.

government virtually flattened out, and the people of Manitoba emphatically declared against interference with provincial rights, and the election, for political purposes, of a province in its school legislation. Elections have also been held in Ontario Protestant constituencies, and Quebec Roman Catholic constituencies, resulting in all cases in the defeat of the government candidates. What was poor-hood, as being a trivial question not likely to materially affect the elections is certainly assuming large proportions, the longer the agitation for separate schools is kept up by the Roman Catholics. While it was not publicly announced as such, it is very generally believed that the recent grave crisis in the cabinet was caused by this question of remedial legislation and the position Sir Mackenzie Bowell has assumed upon it. The position the government has taken, or allowed itself to drift into, cannot be defended. The evidence of the past months leads us to infer that the primary object was probably pressed to that course by the position taken by the Roman Catholic party, and the French Canadian members of parliament in the cabinet. It was circulated that the Protestant electors would hold to party lines rather than divide on a religious question. This is an occasion to emphasize warnings in the presentments of church conventions, assemblies, patriotic societies, and such like, and lastly by the electors at the polls, where Protestant Ontario voted out the government candidates, while Roman Catholic Quebec has more confidence in Laurier and his pro-secution of the issue.

AGAINST FEDERAL INTERFERENCES WITH PROVINCIAL RIGHTS.

York County lodge was among the first to take a stand upon this matter and to pledge opposition to any candidate in favor of remedial legislation, and of course, since then, by many other counties and primary lodges, while the Provincial Grand Lodge and Most Worthy Grand Lodge have penalized their demoralization on the part of those who have not resolved to you, re-affirming and emphasizing our position upon this question. Every true Orangeman must deplore the policy pursued upon this question by Sir Mackenzie Bowell. Owing his whole political advancement and the high honors he has attained to the Protestant and Orange friends who believed in his worth as a champion for equal rights, and honest fair play, he will go down now to history as one who was prepared to repudiate all former positions in his desire to retain power, and make party capital at whatever sacrifice of honor. How great is the contrast between the position taken by him and that of our own lodge, which in my opinion should be repudiated by this institution.

Before closing my last report to you, and my official position in connection with the county lodge, there are one or two questions connected with the order I would like to dwell a little more particularly upon.

THE L. O. BENEFIT FUND. Every member should have a certificate in this institution, whether married or otherwise, for the benefit of those who are dependent upon him after he passes away from this life. A small sum expended now, a sum that would not be felt by any, will prove a matter of relief and national satisfaction both in sickness and health, to those who so avail themselves of the opportunity. Probably hundreds in our order think of putting on a small amount of insurance upon their lives, but neglect it until too late. At the solicitation of the Grand Secretary, I have agreed to look after the interests of the Benefit Fund in this locality.

GRAND LODGE SESSION. I wish to call your attention to the arrangements that have been made for the York County representatives to attend the Grand Lodge session to be held at Newcastle this year, on the 18th of this month. We have arranged with the Canada Eastern for a special rate from Fredericton to Newcastle and return for $2.50, on either of the trains of the 18th. The morning train leaving the Canada Eastern station at 6:50 standard will be converted into an express. Arrangement for board from $1 to $1.50 per day has been made with the hotels in Newcastle. The excursion ticket will be to Nelson opposite Newcastle, and teams will convey those brethren across the river who prefer to drive. We are looking for a large delegation from this county.

ORANGE SENTINEL. Many already take it, but it could well be in every Protestant family in this community. Bro. Rourke of Marsville, looks after the subscription here, also of the Orange Truth, published in our own province. The brethren need not fear to invest a little money in these patriotic papers. They will find them good investments. My brethren, it is not necessary for me to express to you the pleasure I have had in occupying the chair for the last four years. In that time many changes have taken place in the personnel of our county lodge, faces that were familiar at our annual meetings have gone to the great beyond, and others have stepped in to carry on the work they have left behind. Thus it is shown to us that we never larry or stand still, but it is for us to do our duty faithfully as the days pass by. I thank you most sincerely for your past confidence. I will not be a candidate for your suffrages this year. No official position of this kind should be held at all, while others who are equally worthy are debarrated from participating in the honor. I express the hope that the brother who is elevated to this chair will be far more zealous, and better able to carry on the work than I have been, and I can assure that my most hearty support and co-operation.

Very sincerely and fraternally yours, HERMAN H. PITTS, County Master, York County Lodge, No. 1.

On motion the report of the county master was adopted by unanimous vote of the lodge.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

SUGGESTIONS OF THE LONDON ROAD IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

1. Never allow a horse to pull a stone over the whole width of the road... 2. Never put fresh stones on the road by cross-picking and a thorough use of the rake.

3. Always use chips for patching and for all repairs during the summer season... 4. Never put fresh stones on the road by cross-picking and a thorough use of the rake.

5. Do not spread large patches of stone over the whole width of the road... 6. In moderately dry weather and on hard roads always pick up the old surface into ridges six inches apart.

7. Never spread stones more than one inch deep, but add a second layer when the first has worn in, if one coat be not enough... 8. Never shoot stones on the road and crack them where they lie.

9. Never put a stone upon the road for repairing purposes that will not freely pass in every direction... 10. Recollect that hard stones should be broken to finer gauge than soft.

11. Never be without your ring gauge... 12. Remember that water-worn or rounded stones should never be used upon steep gradients.

13. Recollect that dust becomes mud at the first shower... 14. Never allow dust or mud to lie on the surface of the roads.

15. Recollect that the middle of the road should always be a little higher than the sides... 16. Remember that the gutters and ditches to clear up, but keep them clear the whole year through.

17. Every roadmaster and supervisor should cut these rules out and paste them in his everyday hat... 18. The fine roads in Europe are the result of a splendid repair system.

19. We have often been asked our opinion about the keeping of fowls in large numbers... 20. The number of poultry that can profitably be kept by one person depends upon the accommodation available for the purpose.

21. Also there is the opportunity to sell the eggs and surplus stock at a fair price to be considered... 22. Does not seem to wear a veil in a high wind.

23. Does not economize on the manure's services... 24. Does not neglect the day of small windings.

25. Does not regard the pin as a substitute for the needle... 26. Does not wear shoes unblackened or run down at the heel.

27. Does not allow her skirts to become frayed or her elbows worn... 28. "So he didn't get a job?" said the bass drummer to the first violinist.

Beaver Line Boats May Make Extra Trips to Clear up Freight.

An Allan Line Representative in the City—American Cattle for Glasgow. (From The Daily Sun of the 6th inst.)

Winter port matters are booming. American cattle are coming here for export, and it is not unlikely that the Beaver Line will make extra trips.

So objectionable and repugnant to me was the act of eating that for days I did not touch a morsel of solid food, subsisting entirely on milk and soda water.

St. Stephen, Feb. 5.—The St. Croix river is frozen over down as far as the lower steamboat wharf. It is stated that there is soon to be a change in the management of the water works, Superintendent Gibson being removed to another plant owned by the same company and John Ray, mayor of Milltown, becoming superintendent of this plant. The company could not obtain a more popular or competent official.

Edgar M. Robinson, head of the boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. in the maritime provinces, is visiting the different branches in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. He intended to leave St. Stephen by Monday morning train, but missed it and had to drive to Fredericton, where he arrived at eight o'clock in the evening.

Twenty persons were baptised in the Baptist church on Sunday evening, as a result of the recent meetings of Evangelist Gale. Others are to follow, and the Methodist and Presbyterian churches are preparing to receive new members. Special meetings will be held in the evening, and large crowds. The account which the Sun copied from the Bangor News recently of the drowning of Mrs. Martha McLean of this town was far more vivid than accounts. The body of the poor woman lay on the river on an ice cake and the people were therefore not subjected to any "horrifying spectacle." Diligent search revealed the body under the wharf, over which the unfortunate lady had fallen to meet her death from drowning.

John Farthing's house on the Crocker hill road, near town, was destroyed by fire late on Friday afternoon. The barn was saved by tearing down a connecting shed. The matter was referred to the poor committee to investigate and report to council. The councillors signed a petition to

It is now close to the middle of February and the condition of affairs has certainly never existed before. The worst of it is that the weather is now as mild as a day in April, and every indication points to rain. This was found dead in his room in the morning. It is supposed that heat disease took him off.

An old resident of Upper Woodstock has passed away in the person of Miss Sawyer, sister of Eli Sawyer, and sister-in-law of Samuel Watts of the Sentinel.

Rev. W. B. Hinson, after an absence of two and a half years in Montreal, is again stationed in Moncton over the First Baptist congregation, preaching his first sermons today. Mr. Hinson was delayed a week in Montreal owing to the illness of one of his children, reached Moncton on Friday evening, and was tendered a public reception in the church, at which an address was read warmly welcoming him to the city.

After a week's absence, Mr. Hinson, on behalf of the Baptist denomination of the province, Mr. Hinson in his reply said he felt more at home in Moncton than anywhere else. His former pastorate of seven years in Moncton was the most successful in the history of the church, and he has a host of friends here outside his own congregation.

There is little change to note. Turkeys were scarce last week and the price advanced. Fresh eggs are still in demand at 15c per doz. The supply of beef is still heavy. The price of flour is still steady, but the arrival of supplies from Victoria county, landed here at 60c per bush. In other lines the market is steady at former quotations.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—This afternoon Sir C. H. Tupper introduced a bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. He said at the first election of the imperial parliament a bill was introduced making it a corrupt act for any one to publish false statements, reflecting on the personal character of any candi-

Dr. Landerkin stated that in the Montreal Star last night there was a paragraph stating that the governor general had left Montreal by special train on account of another ministerial crisis in Ottawa. The papers stated there was a disagreement between Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Mackenzie Bowell. He would ask the government to inform the country what there was in the story so that public anxiety might be relieved.

Mr. Foster said he would refer Mr. Landerkin to the editor or reporter of the Star. He would be able to give him all information. (Laughter.) Sir Richard Cartwright said he did say: "Give us good Sir Charles." Proceeding, he called attention to the fact that with a deficit to meet the

A Great Mass Meeting in Sir Charles' Honor Saturday Night.

Montreal, Feb. 8.—Sir Charles Tupper addressed a great mass meeting here last evening in the Windsor hall, presided over by Hon. Senator Drummond. The hall was packed and two hundred merchant princes and professional men occupied seats on the platform. Hon. Dr. Drummond outlined the career of Sir Charles Tupper, before conferring to Sir Charles Tupper, the junior conservative, the Sir John Macdonald, the conservative and Cartier clubs presented a joint address to Sir Charles, who was a little hoarse in beginning, but altogether made an admirable speech.

After referring to the formation of confederally, Sir Charles Tupper proceeded to discuss the Manitoba school question. From the first year that he entered public life he said he had taken his stand on the principle of equal justice to all, without respect to race or creed. (Great applause.) He had stated his views freely in the recent contest, and from the beginning to the end he had approached neither priest nor politician, and had not been direct or indirect, with his friend, Bishop Cameron. (Applause.) The clergy of all denominations has had found united in favor of having justice done to the minority.

What do you think about your old friend, "Sir Peter"? He could not expect anything else than defeat, said Sir Charles. I am, of course, not sorry for the result, but I regret that Mr. Mitchell put himself in his present position. I told him when he got the honor of being the head of a third party that there was no room for one in this country, however it might be in England. Mr. Mitchell was a very able man and down to earth, but he was not a leader. He was a local supporter of Sir John Macdonald. He got the notion that Sir John could never be premier again, and the leader at one time thought so himself.

What about the general election? Do you go back to Cape Breton? Sir Charles said he remarked that this matter could be dealt with when the time came. If his friends in Cape Breton wanted him for their representative, nothing would please him more than to go back to Cape Breton where he has been tendered a public reception.

SIR CHARLES BANQUETTED.

The Dining Room Beautifully Decorated and Appropriately Motives on all Sides.

The Most Extensive Affairs of the Kind Ever Held in Halifax—Sir Charles' Speech.

Halifax, Feb. 6.—The banquet given by the liberal conservatives of Halifax to Sir Charles Tupper, baronet, tonight was the grandest and most successful affair of the kind that ever took place in this city, and is a fitting compliment to the magnificent victory scored in Cape Breton. Never before was the spacious dining hall of the Halifax hotel so crowded, and scores were unable to obtain seats. The room was generally decorated, and there were two striking illuminations of Sir Charles Tupper and Joseph Howe, Nova Scotia's most famous sons. Among the mottoes were these: "Cape Breton struck the blow for the 18th"; "Cape Breton's choice, majority 820"; "Nova Scotia's honored statesman"; "Not looking to Washington"; "Welcome to our guest"; "Employment to the people"; "Protection to the farmer, fisherman, trader, miner and manufacturer"; "Maintenance of the rights of minorities"; "Great Britain and Canada are one people"; "A united empire, sans color, race or creed"; "Canada for the Canadians"; "This Canada of Ours, the fairest spot on earth."

The tables were crowded with representative Nova Scotians from all parts of the province. J. F. Stairs, M. P., presided, assisted by ex-Mayor O'Mullin, John Pugh, ex-M. P., and W. Black, M. P. John F. Stairs made a good speech, introducing Sir Charles, paying a tribute to his grand work in the past and referring to the bright hopes for him in the future.

When Sir Charles rose he was greeted by prolonged cheers. The company sang For He's a Jolly Good Fellow, and renewed the cheering again and again. Sir Charles spoke for two hours and he held the closest attention in his younger days. He gave an interesting sketch of the political history of Nova Scotia since his entry into public life in 1855, and of the growth of the liberal conservative party. The story of the negotiations which led to the entry into Sir John Macdonald's cabinet of Hon. Joseph Howe, who, he said, was actuated by the loftiest patriotic motives, was dwelt upon at length. The grand achievements of this country under the national policy was dwelt upon.

Speaking of Premier Bowell, Sir Charles, amid cheers, stated that no man had a higher opinion of the premier's honest integrity than he had; that no man could do more for the best interests of Canada than Sir Mackenzie Bowell had; and that when he left Ottawa, any differences that existed in the cabinet had been fully healed and that all were cordially united under his leadership.

Referring to the motto on the wall: "Not looking to Washington," Sir Charles expressed the opinion that the men of all political parties, and of all public men, irrespective of politics, were loyal to the heart's core. Sir Charles touched upon the great victory in Cape Breton which had been won with a majority of 820, and the face of the most gigantic frauds perpetrated in the preparation of the lists the country had ever seen, and in the fact of the expenditure of $25,000 in bribes.

AT PETITCODIAC.

Petitcodiac, Feb. 7.—On the arrival of the fast train from Halifax containing Sir Charles Tupper and his friends at the depot here this afternoon, Sir Charles was given a great ovation. Almost all our citizens, men, women and children, nearly a thousand thronged to get a look at Canada's greatest statesman. Many had driven from Havelock and Elgin to see him.

AT SUSSEX.

Sussex, Feb. 7.—It having become known that Sir Charles Tupper, M. P., would pass through Sussex this afternoon, the I. C. R. platform was notwithstanding the very bad state of the weather, crowded to the utmost by leading farmers, business and professional men of this place, desirous of seeing Canada's greatest statesman. L. Allison of the law firm of White, Allison & King, president of the liberal conservative association, on behalf of the association congratulated Sir Charles on the splendid victory he had achieved in Cape Breton, and assured him of the pleasure left at his once more assuming an active share in the councils of the country, and expressed the confident hope that his triumphant return was but a forerunner of the government's success, not only in dealing with the questions now occupying public attention, but also of the appeal to the country, which must follow a dissolution of the present parliament.
