SOUTH SHORE SERVICE.
(Coast Guard.)

The South Shore boat, whether put on by the Thomsons or the Halifax Company, must take in the trade of Cape Island. There are about 3,000 people here who buy and sell as largely as any other place on the route. If outlitters had an eye to their own interests, they would not leave this important field of enterprise out of their calculations.

THE COAL TRADE.

The North Sydney Herald says:—The Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. are experimenting with coal cutting machines in No. 2 colliery at Sydney Mines, and expect at least next season to double their coal shipments. It is reported that the Dominion Coal Company will open the Victoria Mines and that South Bar will again be the shipping place.

RAILWAY COLLISION.

Two Big Four Passenger Trains
Crash Into Each Other.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 10.—Two Big Four passenger trains collided last night while rounding a curve between Moro and Bithalto, Ill., and so far as known this morning one fireman was killed and three persons were seriously injured. Information is very meagre, owing to the isolation of the scene of the wreck. Some reports say that many passengers were hurt, but a message to the Associated Press by long distance telephone from a witness, is to the effect that all the passengers have escaped with minor injuries. Passengers in the day coaches were hurled from their seats and many were painfully bruised. Only the sleeping cars were left on the track. Both engines are lying on their sides. The southbound train, known as the Boston express, was running rapidly around a curve when the northbound train, the N. Y. express, dashed into view, and the next moment a terrific collision strewn the track with debris. The impact overturned the stoves in the day coaches and the debris took fire. Fortunately the coaches were not well filled, and the passengers succeeded in escaping from the flames. Until the wreckage shall be cleared away it will probably not be known whether anyone else but the firemen is killed. It is officially stated that a mistake in orders caused the disaster.

ONE IN CANADA.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Jan. 10.—Two freight trains, a double headed Grand Trunk and a Wabash, collided south of Fort Johnson station, close to Chippewa River, this morning. Fireman Robert McHarg, of Port Erie, was instantly killed. Both G. T. R. engines were slightly injured. Several cars of both lines went over an embankment.

CHINESE TREASURE.

Gen. Chaffee Could Have Seized $80,000,000 Worth.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—If President McKinley had not forbidden it, General Adna Chaffee admitted, in an address at the Hamilton Club in Brooklyn, where he was the guest of honor at a dinner in commemoration of the birthday of Alexander U. Hamilton, he would have seized a treasure worth $80,000,000 when he was in command of the American troops in China. He knew exactly the location of this treasure in the forbidden city, and had planned to take possession of it, he said, when the president vetoed the proposition. It was his intention to turn the remainder to the Chinese government.

"We and the Japanese had the honor of guarding the gate to the forbidden city," said General Chaffee, "and our duty was to guard the gate. The city was a great amount of looting, but it is a fact that the forbidden city was not looted to the amount of $500. Within the walls, however, was the greatest treasure in the Chinese empire, including the jewels of the empress dowager. So great was its value that it took a hundred Chinese soldiers, twenty days to transport it from the winter palace to the house where it was secreted. This was done by night. The soldiers taking round about the little used streets to reach their destination, and it had not been for the enterprise of an American soldier, I will not name, and for the courage and greed of the Chinese soldier, command of the proceeding the secret might never have become known. "As it was I was fully informed to all the particulars. I even had a map of the forbidden city with the location of the house where the treasure was concealed plainly marked on it, and at a moment's notice I could have seized the entire amount, had not hands been tied."

AMERICAN SLAVERY

That is Too Much Even for Russian Endurance.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Ten ragged and half starved, have arrived here from Tom's Creek, Va., where they went six weeks ago with two others on the promise of $2.50 per work in a coal mine at $2.50 per day. They tell a story of oppression, has caused the Russian ambassador at Washington, Baron Hengeman to start an investigation, with the sect of freeing the men still at mine and of obtaining redress for wrongs. After being hired the were taken to the little town of George, on the R. and O. R. R., where they drove 80 miles across country. The next morning each man received several sticks of dynamite and petroleum. "These are your tools," they were told. "They will cost $40, and we will take it in installments of your pay. The men were eleven hours the first day. At they had fifty cents each, instead of $2.50, and they protested. But were told to be careful of their tools, they would be expected to part of the cost of their material of it at the end of the week. condition affairs continued for weeks. Then the forty-two men, but all but ten were freed and taken back to the mine.

ON THE FERRY.

All Sots and Conditions of Men and Women.

What to be Seen and Heard There in Course of an Average Day.

Alights and conditions of men are to be seen almost every day on that democratic of St. John institutions the ferry boat. On certain of the morning trips the boat is crowded with those coming over to the city to work, while there is one trip which is known as the High School trip, the ferry is taken possession of by those who make their way to that large brick building on Union street, over which hangs an asphere of erudition almost tantamount to a cloud. On the morning of the school trip, so called, the majority of the students are to be seen gazing over their work and to be heard reviewing one another in the various lessons for the day, but on the return in the afternoon no such sight is displayed, and the sound of oars and the bits of school news are discussed are often sufficient to make the other passengers smile sympathetically.

It was when the ferry waiting was the scene of many a pleasant meeting, and often various scraps of information might be heard by anyone who was at all disposed to listen. But that happy hour has long since gone by, and those who now desire to get bits of gossip the ferry must go outside, on the various house steps, and at various points of vantage up and down the river in stormy weather as well as in calm. This is not because it is so particularly delightful to stand for many minutes out of doors in a heavy rain or a pouring rain, or on a freezing day in a bitter north wind, because it is several degrees more pleasant there than in the waiting room.

Crossing to Carleton on almost any of the afternoon trips, one sometimes finds a curious sight. The foreigners, being to our shores, when they cross the ferry are gazed at with a mighty stare, for the St. John people, those to whom the ferry is a matter of course, in a manner born, lift up their eyes to one accord in a united stare, and without a word, and sometimes with a reason. The European fashions, shown on these living models, are ludicrous in the extreme, and even the St. John has, in a measure, been accustomed to seeing strange costumes on her streets, she still looks upon as a proper indignity and with all her eyes, when occasion offers, turn the remainder to the Chinese government.

"We and the Japanese had the honor of guarding the gate to the forbidden city," said General Chaffee, "and our duty was to guard the gate. The city was a great amount of looting, but it is a fact that the forbidden city was not looted to the amount of $500. Within the walls, however, was the greatest treasure in the Chinese empire, including the jewels of the empress dowager. So great was its value that it took a hundred Chinese soldiers, twenty days to transport it from the winter palace to the house where it was secreted. This was done by night. The soldiers taking round about the little used streets to reach their destination, and it had not been for the enterprise of an American soldier, I will not name, and for the courage and greed of the Chinese soldier, command of the proceeding the secret might never have become known. "As it was I was fully informed to all the particulars. I even had a map of the forbidden city with the location of the house where the treasure was concealed plainly marked on it, and at a moment's notice I could have seized the entire amount, had not hands been tied."

Sometimes an express wagon, filled with immigrants of all ages, sizes and nationalities, packed tightly together, in the ferry boat reminds one just a little of the buckboard parties we used to see when the tourist folk were here. With due apologies to the tourists, the style of the conveyance is what is meant.

Then the evening trips again—the boat filled with the workers returning home and the cabins resounding with the hum of voices as tongues are let loose as a sort of mental relaxation after the hours spent in shop and office, and all affairs under the sun are discussed, jokes passed around and friendly conversation exchanged, while through it all runs the note of laughter, that medicine for a tired brain. In the evenings the rush is not so great, but many a night the boat has a load of pleasure seekers on board, bound to some entertainment in the city, and a few hours later returning, finally leaving the ferry to rest and to be used for the next day. Oh, if the old boat could but speak, what a story it might tell of its various experiences in the time since it first began its service! How many a romance, perhaps, hidden away in its dumb old heart, how many a secret committed to its care! And safely, too, for though the boat hears and sees so much, it will never tell.

ST. MARY'S BOYS' BRIGADE.

The boys of St. Mary's brigade are being provided with neat and attractive uniforms. They will give an entertainment shortly, consisting of gymnastic exercises, drill and a literary and musical programme provided by their friends. St. Mary's school house has been greatly improved of late, and now affords ample accommodation for all the societies and church organizations which are in a flourishing condition. The new system of heating the church works admirably and the building is comfortable even in the coldest mornings.

DEADLY DYNAMITE.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 10.—One man was killed, half a dozen were injured and the woman's wing of the House of Correction was partially wrecked by the explosion of several sticks of dynamite used in part of the situation plant at Holmesburg, a suburb today. The head man, a laborer, was blown to pieces.

PLAGUE IN MEXICO.

Reports Said to Have Been Greatly Exaggerated.

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 10.—A meeting of the town councils of Nogales, Arizona, and Nogales, Mex., has been held to protest against reports sent out about the plague in neighboring towns. Advice from Guaymas say that the business of the place has been seriously damaged by the false reports. No one is allowed to enter Guaymas without being quarantined for fourteen days outside of the city. A party of high officials is now in quarantine at the island. At Nogales the custom officials have a thorough system of fumigation of the goods coming through from Mexico. Governor Isabel states that he is in daily communication with the governor of Sinaloa regarding the plague situation, and that the reports have been greatly exaggerated. On Thursday there were 25 cases in Mazatlan, of which 15 were convalescent and fourteen entirely out of danger.

THE COAL COMBINE.

Still Advancing Prices—Now $10.50
at Tidewater.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The combination of independent operators who have now control of the anthracite market in New York have advanced the tide-water price of anthracite to $10.50 a ton. This virtually means the minimum price, as the tide-water price will advance with increasing cold weather to any figure any independent operator can command for the coal. The quantity of coal controlled by the coal carrying companies, which is now coming to tide-water here at the rate of $5 a ton is so small that it has little effect on prices.

Mayor Low says he has already done everything in his power, personally and officially, to obtain a larger supply for the city, but expresses the hope that the resolution of the board of estimates and apportionment, instructing him to ask from the coal companies an additional supply of coal for the city, would add weight to his representations.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 10.—One of the large pockets of the Eastern Coal company, on the water front here, in which was stored nearly three thousand tons of soft coal, took fire today. The structure was completely gutted. Estimated loss is $75,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—The non-union men having closed their case, the coal companies opened today before the Anthracite coal strike commission.

MORE QUEER PEOPLE.

Another Eccentric Religious Sect to Settle in Canada.

(Halifax Daily Echo, Jan. 9.)

The passengers of the steamer Assyria were all landed at Lawlor's Island two or three days before Christmas owing to the case of small pox on board the steamer, and have remained there ever since. At six o'clock tomorrow morning all of them showing no signs of disease will be brought up to the deep water terminus and forwarded to their destinations.

The Assyria's passengers include a party whose belief is somewhat new to Canada, and they are bound for the Northwest, where they are being sent by philanthropic people. Since being on the island there has been but little communication between the immigrants and the outside world, except by wire or through the immigration steamer Argus, and little is known in the city of their plans.

The party consists of what are known as Nestorians and they are being sent to Canada by an association in England, which numbers among its members some very prominent London people, including a member of the well-known banking firm of Barclay. This association intends depositing a sum of money with the Dominion government for the benefit of the Nestorians should it be needed to prevent them becoming a charge on the country. This association also furnished the funds for the passage of the party to Canada and it is expected that if they like the country and are satisfied with the prospects, numbers of their people will follow.

The Nestorians are adherents of Nestorius, a patriarch of Constantinople in the fifth century, who was condemned as a heretic. The remnant of the sect exists in Persia and Turkey and Nestorianism is the theological system, especially the doctrine that Christ had two distinct natures, the divine and the human, the latter being subject only to human conditions such as birth and suffering, so that the term "theotokos" (mother of God) could not be applied to Mary but that she was the mother of human nature only. The Nestorians hold it was for maintaining the belief that the divine and human natures were not merged that Nestorius was condemned as a heretic.

The party expect they will be met by a gentleman from the Upper Provinces, with whom their English benefactors are in correspondence and that he will conduct them to the scene of their new home.

SHE WARMED HER FEET.

Rather an amusing little incident occurred on the ferry boat yesterday afternoon, when a party of immigrants, including two or three bright faced little girls, crossed to Carleton. The day was cold, and so were the feet of one of the girls, a child of perhaps ten or eleven. So she proceeded to warm them, taking off a pair of little top boots, and putting her feet, encased in little white socks, on the pipes of the steam radiator. Her feet well warmed, she put on her boots again, a look of innocent satisfaction on her face, while a smile of amusement went the rounds of the cabin.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 10, 1903.

COME ALONG, EVERYBODY.

The Globe says:—
Liberals will be interested in the announcement again in the Chatham Advance that "the matter of recognizing federal party lines by the provincial government party cannot be decided save by the latter." The provincial government party has made no such decision yet.

This is "cold crack" for the Telegraph. It is also an invitation for Mr. Tweedle to come out of the woods. But why doesn't the Globe come out? It must have made up its mind by this time whether the government should be endorsed or defeated. This is a good time for every man who believes in good government to stand up and be counted. The Tweedle-Pugsley combination is a good government or it is not. Its record is spread out for the study of all men, editors included.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING.

In considering what medium he shall use in advertising, the wide-awake merchant is not carried away by boastful statements about the circulation of a newspaper. Being an intelligent man he can easily discover whether a paper is of the kind to be carefully read by the people with whom he seeks to do business.

If it is, and if his advertisement is well displayed, next to reading matter that is of real interest, he knows—if he takes care to make interesting advertisements—that he will get value for the money he spends. It is the carelessly written or neglected advertisement, published in a paper that few people take the trouble to read, or that is stowed away among other advertisements which completely overshadow it, that fails to give good results.

The people read the Star. The advertisements are all clearly displayed next to interesting news. Therefore Star ads. pay.

NO "PULL" RECOGNIZED.

In view of the recent discussion of police matters, the following paragraph from the speech of Gov. Odell of New York is commended to the consideration of the city council of St. John:—

When the police commissioner has decided that a man is utterly incompetent, his decision should not be overturned by the courts, who view his conduct of the trial from a legal standpoint only. Such dual authority is sure to lead to an undisciplined force, and the knowledge that through a court decision or by political favor he may be permitted to avoid such punishment as should be administered, leads the officer to look with contempt upon the man whose tenure of office is at best for a short period. In the opinion of Gov. Odell, the chief of the police department should not be subjected to political or other influences, but his word should be final, so long as he remains in office. That's good doctrine.

Certain labor unions having refused membership to men who are members of the national guard, Gov. Odell of New York calls upon the legislature to take action in the matter. He denounces the action of the unions and says:—"I believe whatever tends to lessen the patriotism of our people is out of harmony with republican government, and I commend this subject to your consideration, with the recommendation that such offenses be made misdemeanors, and that adequate punishment be provided therefor."

The Rotheryans forgers experienced a spasm of terror when they read Thursday evening's Gazette. It said: "The attorney general has shown that he has no sympathy with offenders against the law."

The people of St. John are more fortunate in regard to fuel supply than most American cities. Even hard coal is cheaper here than in many American centres. Competition has its merits at a time like the present.

This is the last day of another week, and we are another week nearer the date of the provincial elections. Wonder what the forgers of the Rothery lists are doing? They are still at large.

The Moncton Transcript is still out after the scalp of coalition. It wants a straight liberal ticket in Westmoreland, and will support no other. Mr. Tweedle is still silent.

At the present rate of progress outside capitalists will soon have control of all the lumber properties in Newfoundland.

His Honor Judge Forbes appears to be a terror to the evil-doer.

FREDERICTON, Jan. 9.—The annual meeting of the Alex. Gibson Railway and Manufacturing Co. will be held at Marysville tomorrow. D. MacLaren is here tonight and H. H. McLean, J. F. Stairs and others are expected.

SATURDAY SERMONS.

"Every day is a fresh beginning. Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain; And spite of old sorrow, and sinning, And perils forecasted, and pain, Take heart with the day and begin again."

Out of failure comes the seed of discouragement, and the longing for a chance to try again and to do better. A futile wish to have the past back and thereby remedy the wrongs and avoid the mistakes. Everyone has the feeling at times that he or she did give all that they possessed to the world to live their lives over again, and to live them in a different and much better manner. But though time ally past can never be recalled, there is encouragement in the thought that the future, with all its vast possibilities for good, lies before us, and that every day presents to us a white page, and unsullied, upon which to re-anew our experiences, and our growth, mentally or morally. It may be at the end of the day we see faintly written all over the page, but we also see the day's work spell success. Let us see to it that counting up at evening we shall say that the time has been put to profit use.

It is often urged that the future is unknown—that the present alone ours to use as we will. But the future is rapidly becoming the present, as the present is swiftly slipping into the past. So that if we are to make a future better than the days that have been, the only way is to begin with the present.

We may have made grievous error at one time or another, but that is no reason why we should continue to be so. Instead, why not make today better, happier and richer than yesterday, and tomorrow than today. True, yesterday's possibilities are not again, but today brings opportunity of which we did not dream twenty-four hours ago.

"I am what I am," said a great actor. "What I have been is past," and forgetting the mistakes he has already made, why not may we instead of yielding to discouragement, rather set our face toward the good things of the future, glad of the fact that every new day brings a fresh beginning, and try to redeem the past by a better present.

WINTER PORT TRADE.

J. N. Sutherland, general freight agent of the C. P. R., has prepared for presentation at the meeting of general freight agents to be held in Montreal on Wednesday next, a statement of St. John's winter port trade during November and December, 1902. The statement from which the extracts here given are taken shows an enormous increase in the business as compared with last year, and that the C. P. R. are quite justified in believing that the present season's business will be the greatest in the history of the port.

In several cases, such as grain and imports, the increase during the first two months of the present season is shown to be alone greater than the whole business done in the corresponding two months of last year.

Mr. Sutherland's statement contains the following:

	1901	1902
Grain, bushels,	285,604	700,257
Imports, 1902, 414,653 tons.
Imports, tons,	4,907	16,400
Exports, 1902, 5,728 tons.
Exports, tons,	26,837	36,400
Imports, 1902, 10,084 tons.
Imports, tons,	14	18
Exports, 1902, 4.

It will be seen from the above that the export of grain during 1902 was almost 250 per cent of what it was last year, that the imports were 1,000 tons more than twice the quantity received last year, and that the exports show the enormous increase of over 10,000 tons.

The additional steamer sailings were one by the Elder-Dempster regular boats and one on the Bristol service, one by the Furness line, one to South Africa and one by the Head line. The Donaldson line had one less than in November and December of last year. Cattle for export are estimated at an average weight of ten tons per car.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Dr. L. F. Flick, president of the free hospital for poor consumptives here, tonight announced that Henry Phipps of New York, formerly a partner of Andrew Carnegie, has contributed $300,000 for the establishment of an institution in this city for the treatment and study of consumption. It will be so endowed as to derive an income of $30,000 to $40,000 annually. Dr. Flick will be director-general of the institution.

The Japan shop in the works of the McClary Manufacturing Co., London, Ont., was gutted by fire last evening. The three upper floors of the press shop were damaged, and the lower floor, containing heavy machinery, also sustained some damage. The foundry and offices and enamel shops are intact. The fire will not materially interfere with the output, and the damaged building will be immediately made good. The fire is said to have been caused by the careless throwing of a burning match into a can of benzene, which exploded.

FED 1,000 PEOPLE.

Noble Work of King's Daughters' Guild During Christmas Season.

Few people in St. John have sufficient knowledge of the King's Daughters to appreciate the vast amount of good work done by that organization. The report presented by their capable general secretary, Miss Hanson, at the regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, throws a light on some of it.

According to that report, the King's Daughters during the past month have ministered to the Christmas comfort of nearly 1,000 people in St. John, whose Christmas would otherwise have been very cheerless.

These are some of the things they did:— They sent 672 bags of good things to the quarantined immigrants on the Island; they gave a Christmas treat to 50 girls of the Merry Makers Circle; under the auspices of the Boys' Own Circle a dinner was given to 80 poor boys and girls; an entertainment, with refreshments, was given to 35 girls of the various classes of the guild; a woman and treat was given to 30 poor women who go to the mothers' meeting, and 50 baskets of provisions were distributed to needy families.

The night school for women and girls, conducted at the guild rooms, have re-opened after two weeks' holiday, and the society is desirous that any wishing to join should register as soon as possible.

GENERAL NOTES.

Maine shipyards turned out in the year 1902 merchant vessels aggregating 37,201 tons, net register, compared 47,145 tons in 1901—a decrease of 9,944 tons. Of the total, Machias contributed 315 and the Passamaquoddy district only 58 tons.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANY
Will Erect New Building on Corner of Dock and Union.

The southwest corner of Union and Dock street will not long present the forlorn aspect it has worn since the closing down of the Colwell candy factory. The St. John Railway Company have purchased the building and the small vacant lot next to it on the corner of Dock street. They have also secured a lot in rear of the factory, on Nelson street. Their power house extends from Smythe street up to the Colwell factory, so that they now own the whole front of that side of Union street from Dock down to Smythe.
It is understood to be the intention of the company early in the spring to entirely remodel or remove the Colwell building and extend the new structure right up to the corner of Dock street. On this corner they will have their offices, and next to them will be show rooms for gas stoves, as well as general store rooms.

The new building will be a handsome one, and it is understood that the offices will be elegantly fitted up, in-keeping with the extent and importance of the business of the company.
The changes involved will greatly improve the appearance of the corner, where the vacant lot has long been an eyesore.

A NARROW ESCAPE.
The Dangers of Coasting on Some of the City Hills.

A young boy who lives on Summer street had a narrow escape from death by an electric car while coasting yesterday afternoon. He was coming down Summer street lying flat on his mid when a street car came along from Winter street. Neither the motorman nor the boy could have prevented a serious accident were it not that the car was just about to stop for a passenger. As it slowed down the sled, cutting sharply across Winter street ran right under the fender of the car, and the two stopped together. This is a dangerous street for coasting, and a boy was killed in the same place about three years ago.

Street car men say that the junction of Middle and Brussels streets is the worst place in the city for coasting, as the sleds shoot down the steep hill in Middle street and across the car tracks on Brussels before the drivers of the cars could have time to see them coming.

POLICE COURT.

drinking yesterday afternoon for the benefit of his throat, and his spirits rose to his head instead of following the mercury to zero. Finn carried a flask of liquor in his pocket in addition to the cargo inside, and was arrested on Prince William street. He was fined four dollars.

Felix O'Neill, for being drunk and acting indecently on Chapel street, was given two months in jail.

CROWN'S CASE.

Prosecution's Evidence all Received in Goodspeed Case.

Important Testimony From Police
Officials—Case Postponed Till Monday Morning.

The crown called ten witnesses against Goodspeed during yesterday afternoon's session of the trial. All of them had previously given evidence in the Higgins trial, and their testimony though directed mostly towards Goodspeed's connection with Higgins after the murder, brought out little that has not been made public before.

Dr. Macaulay gave evidence as to regarding the post mortem examination. Dr. Berryman told of the false statements made by Goodspeed to him before the inquest. U. S. Immigration Agent Robinson related the facts of the arrest of the escaping boys at Vancouver. When told they were to be taken back to St. John, Higgins, he said, was very nervous, but Goodspeed was as cool as could be. Clifford King, Henry Kelly, Frank Kelly, Harry Alexander, Harry McNeil, Geo. Gamble and Lewis Sharkey, who had all given evidence before, told of the actions of Higgins and Goodspeed before and after the murder. The facts were brought out that the boys generally were afraid of Higgins, and that many of them, while suspecting Higgins of the murder even before his arrest, were of the opinion that Goodspeed was not connected with the crime.

The first witness put on this morning was Detective Patrick Killen, who told of the identification of the body as it lay in the dead house. At that time Fred Goodspeed only went a little way into the place, and with an exclamation of fear turned and went out. Talking to Goodspeed and Higgins afterward they both told him that they had last seen Doherty in the graveyard Friday at eleven a. m. Witness related the events of the days preceding the arrest and described the arrest made by him at McAdam. He told of the finding of the revolver.

Cross-examined by Mr. Morrill, the detective said that Goodspeed as well as Higgins had made the statement about seeing Doherty for the last time eleven a. m. Friday.

Deputy Chief F. W. Jenkins's evidence had to do with the finding of the body, its identification and his subsequent conversations with Higgins and Goodspeed. The night the body was found both declared they had last seen him at 11 a. m. Friday. After the body was identified he questioned Goodspeed alone, when he made the same statement, adding that he and Higgins had stayed in the graveyard till five o'clock, when he went home to his tea. At other times, including Wednesday evening, in Corner Berryman's office, he made similar statements. Thursday in the coroner's office he changed his story, saying that it was about one o'clock instead of eleven o'clock when they saw Doherty in the graveyard. That night the deputy asked Goodspeed when he had last been in the park. He denied having been there that summer, but later admitted having been there three weeks ago.

"Then," said the witness, "I said to him, 'what would you say if I were to produce a witness who saw you with Doherty in the park Friday?'"

"He said: 'I would say he was mistaken.'"

"I saw Goodspeed again Friday and asked him if there was anything new.
He said: 'Then I asked him his candid opinion about the murder.'"

"He said: 'Well I don't know. It's very strange. The fact that there were berries in Doherty's stomach would show he hadn't been dead very long.'"

"The next I saw him was after his arrest on Saturday a. m. 8. I was afternoon he was brought to the office of the chief of police. Before Goodspeed said anything the chief said:
'Now you say you want to make any statement. You're only a boy and I advise you strongly not to make any statement. If you do it will be written down and used in evidence against you.'"

"Goodspeed said he understood, and went ahead and made his statement, which I took down in writing."

The deposition thus made was produced and identified. Before it was read, Mr. Morrill insisted that the crown must also show that no inducement had been held out to Goodspeed before he came upstairs.

The judge agreed to this, and the chief of police, called and questioned, said:

"Sergeant Baxter met me in the guard room at about 10 o'clock, and asked me to see me. I went down stairs and spoke to him. He was sobbing and I said, 'you'd better not talk much. You're a small boy and I warn you everything you say will be used against you. He said, 'I want to tell you. I want to go to the office and tell you.' He seemed afraid of somebody hearing him, came away and left him. Later I went down and told him he could come up.
He did so, and made his statement in my office. I warned him there again.'"

Cross-examined by Mr. Morrill, the chief insisted that nothing had been said to Goodspeed in the way of an inducement of a promise that what he said would not be used against him.
He could not say what went on downstairs between the prisoner and Sergeant Baxter, who was the first to speak to him.

Mr. Morrill asked that Baxter be called, and the court agreeing, he was sent for.
In the interim Deputy Jenkins was recalled and told Goodspeed's part in the finding of the revolver.

Higgins, Harry McNeil and other boys the night the body was found. Examined closer by Mr. Morrill, the deputy admitted he was mistaken on this point and that it was Tuesday that he met the boys on Brussels street. He persisted, however, in the statement that he had examined Fred Goodspeed in his office that night.

In answer to further questions from Mr. Morrill, the deputy chief said that he had strong suspicions of both Higgins and Goodspeed as early as the Thursday after the body was found. It was not his fault that they were not arrested then. Higgins was present on three out of the four occasions on which witness was talking to Goodspeed after the body was found.

Sergeant Baxter arrived at this time and being sworn said that he went down to the cells where Goodspeed was the day he was arrested. He looked in the cell and asked the boy there if he was Goodspeed.

"He said yes," said the witness,
"and asked me if I was the chief of police. I told him I wasn't, and he said he wanted to see the chief, and tell him all about it. I asked him if he had seen anything shooting done, and he nodded his head. I asked him if he did it, and he shook his head and cried.
Then he asked me, 'Is Higgins there?' and I asked him if Higgins had done it. He hesitated and I told him to nod if he was afraid to speak, and he nodded. There was no other word said of any kind. I was not acting under instructions when I went down, but did so simply to see the boys."

After Sergeant Baxter's evidence had explained all the preliminaries to Goodspeed's confession, Deputy Jenkins was recalled and read the confession as he had taken it down. It was identical with his story of the murder as told at the inquest, the preliminary examination and the Higgins trial.

Re-examined by Mr. McKeown, the deputy admitted that it was owing to the intervention of the chief, backed by Mr. McKeown, that he had been deterred from making the arrest when he wished.

quite an agreeable change from the reached zero. The probabilities say continued cold.
