Our $10 Suits have always equalled the $12 grade anywhere else. There's no more style in any garments than you'll find in these suits. The styles are new, the cut is right, but it's the value in them that makes these suits remarkable at the price. Other Suits from $5 up. Take a look.

FEAST OF ST. ANNE.

A Large Number of People Visit The Mission.

IDEAL WEATHER.

The Usual Religious Festivities Held on Sunday and Tuesday.

The usual festivities in connection with the feast of St. Anne were held on Sunday and Tuesday at St. Anne de Restigouche, the Micmac settlement opposite Campbellton. On Sunday quite a number of persons from town and the surrounding country participated in the ceremonies, while a special train brought a large crowd of excursionists from New Carlisle and intermediate points.

On Tuesday the crowd was even greater than on Sunday, despite the fact that it was the hottest day this season.

The ferry boat did a thriving business on both days. A regrettable feature of the occasion was the amount of drunkenness in evidence, particularly on Sunday. It is said that most of the liquor drunk on that day was procured in town and it so, there ought to be a few fines imposed.

NARROW ESCAPE

A Young Man of Dundee Thrown From Train

BADLY BRUISED

But Otherwise Miraculously Escaped Injury—Liquor the Cause

One young man belonging to Dundee will not soon forget his experience of Sunday last. He was a passenger on the excursion train returning from St. Anne de Restigouche and it is said had been imbibing freely during the day. When the train reached Esquimaux he got out on the steps of the second car and holding on to the hand rail with one hand he lowered himself down to terra firma with the evident purpose of trying a race with the locomotive. His first attempt only emboldened him to make the second and as he did he lost his grip and was violently thrown to the ground. Those who witnessed the performance say it was nothing short of a miracle that he was not thrown under the wheels of the car. He remained unconscious for several minutes while some of the residents were coming to his assistance with restoratives. On examination it was found that he had received quite a bad bruise on the back of the head and a cut over one eye. He was taken to a house nearby and his injuries were attended to as well as possible, when he fell into a sound sleep from which he awoke in the early morning and took his departure. It is to be hoped that his experience will be a lesson to him.

crete dam, the cost being in the vicinity of $14,000 and No. 2, a concrete core dam with earthen embankment at a cost of about $9000. The latter was recommended from a economical standpoint and would prove just as suitable as the former. The supply of water would be increased from half a million gallons to about ten millions.

After discussion it was moved by Coun McDonald and seconded by Coun Ferguson that the form of reservoir with concrete core known as design No 2 in F. W. Holt's plan and description of date July 21st 1904, be approved by this council as the most suitable for the conditions and requirements of the town and that Mr. Holt be requested to prepare detailed plans and specifications of same for use of Water Com. Carried.

The Finance Com was authorized and empowered to procure funds necessary for the construction of reservoir and extension of water system.

RAILWAY PURCHASE

The Carquet Railway Bought by Company

TO BE IMPROVED

The Gulf Shore Road Remains with Original Owners

Bathurst, N. B., July 22—All arrangements were completed today by which the Carquet and Gulf Shore Railways have passed under the management of J. Webster, of Toronto, who represents a number of Ontario capitalists, who have lately acquired the bonds of the Carquet Railway held in England and have an option on the purchase of the Gulf Shore Railway.

Your correspondent learns that pending outright purchase of the Gulf Shore the parties who now hold the Carquet bonds will manage the Gulf Shore line in conjunction with the Carquet.

It is the intention to make immediate repairs and equip both roads with all necessary rolling stock. Mr. Ryan, of Ontario, is the president of the new railway company.

The people of the county are rejoiced at the prospects of a better railway service. The whole deal, it is said, was carried through by P. J. Veniot; ex-M. P. P., who refuses at present to give any details of the transaction beyond admitting that the deal has gone through and that the new management intends putting the Carquet road in first-class condition.

The Carquet Railway runs from Bathurst to Carquet, forty-five miles, and the other gulf shore line is a continuation to Tracadie Mills, about fourteen miles.

Toronto July 22—Peter Ryan of the firm of Ryan & Coffey, who have acquired the Carquet N. B. Railway when seen today about the purchase said:

"The road has changed hands and the new owners intend to put it in good running condition so it will serve the people of the district better than heretofore. The road is now the property of Canadian business men who will try to improve it, I cannot say who are associated with me, but they are men experienced in railway management."

Mr. Ryan said the deal does not apply to the Gulf Shore Railway held by the original shareholders. Arrangements have been made, however, to bring the two parts under one management.

Hon. H. R. Emmerston, minister of Railways is determined to keep the I. C. R. up to date. The Ocean Limited, which has already proved exceedingly popular, is to be made more popular by the addition of an observation car these cars are very popular on the roads of America. The scenery along the line of the I. C. R. is unsurpassed and the observation car would give passengers a splendid opportunity of seeing the famed valleys of the Metapedia and the Wentworth to the best possible advantage. The observation part of the car is usually in the form of a cupola kind of glass and it is probable that kind will be placed on the Ocean Limited. —Advocate

Wedding Bells

A pretty home wedding took place at Broadlands on Monday evening, July 18th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Adams, when their daughter Isabel Margaret was united in marriage to Mr. Donald Sinclair, also a native of Broadlands, though in recent years a resident of Bridgetown, Barbados. The marriage ceremony was conducted on the lawn in front of the house, a situation of surpassing beauty overlooking the river, and at that hour guided by the slanting rays of the western sun. The officiating clergyman was Rev. E. H. Ramsay, B. D., of Flatlands, who was assisted by Mr. Fraser of Tide Head and Kempt Road.

After the large company of guests had partaken of refreshments the bride and groom were driven to the newly married couple boarded the Ocean Limited for Montreal, thence they will journey leisurely westward to their home at Salmon Arm, British Columbia, stopping over at Winnipeg and other points of interest along the route.

The bride will be much missed in the community of which she has been so active and useful a member. Her friends who are legion, follow her with their good wishes, and bespeak for her many happy years in her new sphere of life.

HILYARD-QUINTON—The marriage took place this morning at 6 o'clock at the residence of Mr. D. L. Hutchinson, brother-in-law of the bride, Miss Clara Devore Quinton, daughter of the late Mr. J. Boyd Quinton, and Mr. Herbert A. Hilyard, formerly of this city but now assistant manager of the Dalhousie Lumber Co. Dalhousie.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the relatives and a few friends of the contracting parties by Rev. R. P. McKim, rector of St. Luke's church. The bride was unattended. She was gowned in a travelling suit of navy blue, with a white toque. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hilyard left by the C. P. R. on a short trip to western cities.

At the conclusion of the trip they will make their residence in Dalhousie. Mrs. Hilyard received very many handsome and valuable gifts. —Globe 23rd

BUTTIMER-TURVEY

A quiet but very pretty home wedding took place at Jacques River on Wednesday evening last, when Elizabeth A. third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Turvey was united in marriage to Mr. Heber Buttimer of Janville, Gloucester Co. N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. McLeod, assisted by Rev. Thomas Nicholson.

The bride who was given away by her father amid the sweet strains of "The Voice that breathed o'er Eden" looked charming in white organdy with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas and maiden hair fern.

The bride's maid Lily Buttimer looked very pretty in pink organdy and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. The groom was supported by Mr. Alexander Turvey, brother of the bride.

The presents were numerous and costly which testified to the esteem in which the bride was held.

The happy pair left on the Maritime for a short trip to Halifax after which they will reside in Janville where Mr. Buttimer is in the employ of Glou Co. They bear with them best wishes from their many friends for a happy journey through life.

BALMORAL

The Bazar which took place here last week was a grand success considering the circumstances and the dull season. Eleven Hundred and Twenty five dollars being realized which was more than was anticipated when the affair was started. The Bazar was very generally patronized by the people of Charlottetown and Mountain View and especially those of Upper and Lower Charlottetown who spent their money very liberally and who helped in every way to make it a success. They gave very much goods to the persons who were soliciting for the Bazar for which the people of Balmoral are very thankful. Messrs. Fred Lagouffe, John Spilke and Alex. Levesque of Bal River Crossing, spent considerable money as well as Mr. Alex. LeBlanc and other friends from Dalhousie. Contributors were received from Hon. C. H. La Bille and Mr. William C. Arsenault of the Dalhousie Mercantile Co. which was appreciated very much.

Several parties from the Tobique attended the bazaar and spent their money very freely.

Rev. Fathers McLaughlin, Wallace and Boucher attended the bazaar.

NEW CARLISLE

The farmers here are busy haying and the rattle of the mowing machine is heard in the land.

The grass, being rather thin, it seems to make a louder rattle than usual.

After unusual large number of people in town during the weeks of court had departed the town seems quieter than ever.

Several of the residences here have been improved by repainting and now add greatly to the appearance of the town.

It has long been the dream of many of the people of New Carlisle that we might have here a Deep Water Terminal, and see trains unloading goods here for shipment to Europe by the short-sea ocean route and that New Carlisle and Paspébecq united as one port would take a proud place among the shipping ports of Canada.

This last in a way seems very nearly realized now as we can see people hauling freight to Paspébecq to ship by S. S. Admiral and people from Paspébecq hauling freight to New Carlisle to ship by railway.

If you ask why simply because the S. S. Admiral would call at New Carlisle and the A. & L. S. Ry is not built as far as Paspébecq.

We understood Mr. Marcell had promised to do something towards giving us better shipping facilities and if he will also help extend the Railway to Paspébecq he will confer a great benefit on the whole Co. of Bonaventure as well as New Carlisle and Paspébecq.

The Way of Whistler.

His manservant entered the studio. "Well?" said Whistler. "Lady Somebody said the servant (she was one of the great ladies of the British peerage). "Where is she?" "In her carriage at the door, sir." Whistler took no further notice of his servant; but resumed the reading of his proof sheets to me, and the puzzled footman, who was standing behind his master's back and facing me, shook his head slowly up and down and, like Longfellow's Arabs, "silently stole away."

The reading went on for quite ten minutes longer, and the reader's sole auditor nodded more and more till, realizing how deadly cold it was on that March day, I called out to him, "I beg your pardon, Mr. Whistler, but I think I overheard your servant telling you that a lady was waiting to see you."

"Oh," said he, "let her wait; let her wait! I'm mobbed with these people!" Then he went on reading for fully ten minutes more, and after that (his voice was getting tired, I dare say) he condescended to go downstairs and receive her shivering ladyship—F. Koppel in the Reader.

Swearing Spots Horses.

The horse does not like a nervous, edgy, fussy or irritable man. He is too nervous and irritable himself, says Country Life in America.

"Why is it?" one teamster was heard to ask another, "that Phil's horses are always gamt? Phil feeds well?" "Yes," was the reply, "but he's like a wisp around a horse."

A well known owner of race horses, not at all a sentimental person, recently made an order forbidding his employees to talk in loud tones or to swear in the stable. "I have never yet seen a good mannered horse," he says, "that was being sworn at all the time. It hurts the feelings of a sensitive horse, and I'll keep my word good to discharge any man in my employ if I catch him swearing within the hearing of any horse in this stable."

Brides Pleased.

To us it seems a curious whim on the part of our ancestors of the eighteenth century that in their marriage announcements they should so often choose and with such seeming complacency to enlighten the world with regard to the amount of fortune received with the brides. Here are two cases in point: "Mr. James Counts of Jeffery's St., merchant to Miss Margaret of Knightsbridge, £30,000." "W. Smith, gentleman, of the 2d Troop of Horse Guards, to Mrs. Ann Gardiner, a maid, lady, aged 24, hand, near 70, with a fortune of £20,000."

Webster's Tiresome Habit.

Senator Hoar in his "Reminiscences" says that Daniel Webster had a tiresome habit in his public speeches of grumbling after the most subtle manner after this fashion: "Why is it, Mr. Chairman, that there has gathered, congregated, this great number of inhabitants, dwellers, here; that these roads, avenues, routes of travel, highways, converge, meet, come together here?" When the speech was printed all the synonyms but the best one would be left out.

The Streets of Amsterdam.

Amsterdam, in Holland, a city of ten miles in circumference, is mostly built on piles driven into the sandy subsoil, but the flowing of the tide and the debris of the Almsel river have made slippy islands, and the city has more canals than streets. The watery ways are traversed by over 300 bridges, so that Amsterdam has earned the designation of the Venice of the North.

The Woman Must Speak.

Mr. Skrap—There's just this about it. It is impossible for us to live together and not quarrel.

Mrs. Skrap—There is no possibility of our quarrelling if neither of us speaks.

Mr. Skrap—Of course; but, as I say, it isn't possible for us to live together and not quarrel.—Philadelphia Press.

His Problematic Toss.

"Pardon me, sir, but isn't there another artist in this building?"

Patient—Look here, doctor, I'm not going to starve to death for the sake of living a little longer.

Moslem and Pagan.

A Moslem in the east will never pass a trample under foot a scrap of paper or a piece of wood, and he will not let it be written the name of Allah. He will pick it up and stuff it into the crevice of a wall or even bury it for days until he finds out from somebody who can read whether it contains the holy name.

The Cardist Giant.

The Cardiff giant, the famous stone man heart of years ago, was 10 feet 10 inches in length, had a nose 6 inches long, a mouth 4 inches wide and a foot 15½ inches from toe to heel.

Big Breakdown.

There are people in London who can give respectable living only by exercising dogs, and some of them who are very rich. In every suburb and in every London park these exercises of dogs may be seen each day, and one gentleman alone pays 15 shillings a week for his walking out of his valuable bulldog.

Marriage.

"Marriage is like a besieged city," "In what way?"

"So many of the people are trying to get in and so many to get out."

To be a consistent hypocrite is the craft of a very fine artist.—Schoolmaster.

HONEST LEGISLATION WANTED.

Dundonald continues to talk and petty political hacks continue to talk for and agin him. Meantime the wheat is ripening in the vast Canadian reaches—people are crowding the totals of business—prosperity is liv no mean on the wane and the country seems to be quite safe from an armed invasion, if we exclude that of the mosquito—Newcastle A to cate.

Quite right! In our humble opinion the great majority of the solid and sensible people of this country desire to cultivate the arts of peace. To the vast majority of them it is immaterial whether Dundonald was wrong or whether he was right. They are not ambitious for potency abroad, but they are anxious for peace and prosperity within their borders. They have what all truly virtuous people possess, modesty. A Governmental policy to please them must be sober, sedate and strong. And just here it might be observed, too, that they are immeasurably weary of the finger-in-the-pie policy which has for years distinguished their rulers. Their ideal of their Government is one of their own representatives free and untrammelled in legislative halls assembled. They hate dictators and will, sooner or later, demand that the dictators be decapitated and a revolution be effected which shall restore to the people their true powers. They feel that Canada is to a large extent, in the hands of parvenues and vulgar upstarts who misrepresent them. Canada, in their estimation, is no blatant Amazon seeking to bully mankind into an appreciation of her charms. They believe that, without exploitation, her value will be recognized. She need scatter no red coats along her vast borders. They have no sympathy with those who are leaguing with aristocracies and royalties abroad for the superintendence of the earth. They are tired of this ceaseless warfare over Dundonald, the Grand Trunk Pacific, etc. They want honest legislation, not for the sake of party triumph, but for the welfare of all the people. Now the question which confronts them is this: "Will the interests of the people and their wishes be best served by the Liberals or by the Conservatives? They will give serious consideration to the question and it is to be hoped will arrive at a conclusion which will give them the prosperity and happiness which they deserve.

We understand that an action is being entered against a writer in EVENTS' columns last week. The article is said to be wholly without foundation and unless the writer retracts his statements the matter will be thrashed out in the law courts. This is quite proper for we have no sympathy with the man who seeks to slander his neighbor in the columns of a newspaper. If we had known the circumstances the article in question would not have appeared.

A TRAVESTY OF JUSTICE.

Mrs. Florence Maybrick is free. She left here at 11.43 a. m. to-day on her way to France.

Such was the news sent abroad last week from Cornwall, England. About fifteen years ago Mrs. Maybrick was convicted of poisoning her husband with arsenic and sentenced to life imprisonment. It was proven at the trial, however, that her husband had been an inveterate user of arsenic. Since

Mrs. Maybrick's conviction repeated efforts have been made principally in the United States—to establish her innocence and also to obtain her liberty without proof of her innocence. Now comes word that she has at last been liberated. Is this not a travesty of justice? If Mrs. Maybrick was guilty of the awful crime of taking a human life she should receive the full punishment prescribed by law for such an offence. If she was innocent of the crime with which she was charged, a terrible injustice has been done her. It is too late now to make amends for a court error committed fifteen years ago and it is too soon to liberate a convicted murderer of fifteen years ago. Whichever way you look at it, it seems bad.

Conservative organs declare that Mr. Gagey of Ontario is a great favorite at church picnics. Gagey always was prone to get into a picnic.

CINDER WALKS

We notice that our sister town, Newcastle, has undertaken to establish permanent sidewalks. The shiretown of Northumberland has selected granolithic for this purpose. Newcastle's good sense commends itself to us. Our town fathers have undertaken to give us cinder paths on our principal streets. Their good sense also commends itself to us. There is no question about it, cinder walks if properly constructed are a vast improvement over plank walks and just one step from permanent walks, such as granolithic. If our exchequer is at a low ebb we should content ourselves with cinder walks in the hope and belief that when we are in better financial circumstances we will be able to boast of something better. At the present time let us shout "Amen" to the efforts of our town fathers. Their task is a thankless one at best and we should cultivate a spirit of tolerance.

THE CARAQUET RAILWAY.

After considerable negotiations, it appears the Caraque Railway has changed hands and a new company is about to assume control. Mr. Peter Ryan of the firm of Ryan and Coffee, Toronto, is the new manager or president and he is represented in Gloucester County by Mr. J. Webster. As is well known the eastern division of the road is owned and controlled by Mr. T. D. Adams of New York and it appears that he has given the new Company (that is the purchasers of the bonds which were outstanding against the old Caraque Railway Co.) an option on his road. The probabilities are therefore, that the whole road from Bathurst to Tracadie will in the course of time pass into new hands and it is to be hoped that the new company will give satisfaction to the business men of the County of Gloucester. We might write volumes on this subject but we merely ask the people of Gloucester County to remember that the old Caraque Railway Co. have had many difficulties to contend with and under the circumstances the management has always done its best.

Look out for an announcement of the date of the elections at the demonstration in Nova Scotia.

"THE HANGING FARCE."

The enterprise of reporters was not allowed to pander to morbid public curiosity, nor was an equally morbid sympathy for the criminal evoked, to the detriment of all real regard for justice. The experience of the previous week was a striking example, which ought to suggest a reform.

The Rev. J. de Soyres, a prominent St. John Rector, was forced to give expression to the above sentiments in his pulpit on Sunday last as a result of the circumstances which attended the execution of one Gee in the County of Carleton. We are happy to note that the St. John Telegraph, in the main agrees with the reverend gentleman. Much may be written on this subject but at present we will confine ourselves to a brief quotation from the Telegraph:—

Certain features of the recent execution, and of the treatment of it by the newspapers, were calculated to excite adverse, and deservedly adverse criticism. It would have been well had all the newspapers confined their reports to an unvarnished recital of happenings. Some of the reporters were permitted to become somewhat maudlin in print. The hangman is said to have exhibited the gallows to a morbid crowd of some hundreds who desired to see it, and to have been altogether too much in evidence.

It almost begins to look as though the war was over.

ONLY ONE PLUM.

The strike settlement was brought about through the good offices of W. L. MacKenzie King, deputy Minister of labor, to whom the union extended a formal vote of thanks this evening for his intervention.—Sydney Dispatch.

Well, Well! Those Sydney strikers must be a warm bunch. They thank a man for bringing about their own defeat. Seemingly the strikers get nothing except their old jobs. But it's an ill wind that blows nobody good! John Moffatt, leader of the strikers gets a labor nomination for the Commons. Perhaps that accounts in part for a "settlement."

Liberal gathering in Bonaventure next week. Ha, Ha!

The Kissing Bug seems to have died a natural death.

TOWN COUNCIL

(See First Page)

A bill of $20.00 of Engineer Holt was passed.

Board of Health accounts were passed.

McKenzie & Co., tailors were granted business license at $20.00

The salary of Policeman Chamberlain was on motion increased to $45.00 per month.

Coun. McDonald informed the Council that it was the intention of the Public Property and Street Com to continue those cinder sidewalks up Water St. as soon as possible. He claimed that in spite of criticism of Events and some of the citizens, they were the best sidewalks that could be put down under the circumstances. He had tried to get some firm to undertake the construction of a piece of permanent sidewalk, said firm to keep it in repair for a term of five years but so far had been unsuccessful. As for the criticisms he believed that when the matter came to be sifted down there were very few opposed to the cinder walks, and was of opinion that the ladies skirts carried more bacteria into their homes from the plank sidewalks than from the cinder walks and the council apparently agreed with him.

Meeting then adjourned.

Sovereign Lime Juice is one luxury that can be indulged in by rich and poor.

LIQUOR CASES IN COURT.

Two liquor cases occupied the attention of Police Magistrate Matheson on Tuesday. The first was a charge against Elizabeth Loubert of the Tobique road for selling without license laid by J. S. Bassett, Liquor License Inspector. Two witnesses were examined and the case adjourned till next Tuesday for further evidence on the part of he prosecution. Mr. H. F. McLatchy for the prosecution and J. C. Barberie for the defence.

The other case was a similar charge laid by the Inspector against John Demeau which was also adjourned for further hearing.

Tracadie-Chatham Telephone Line.

The new telephone line between Chatham and Tracadie was opened on Saturday, Mr. W. B. Snowball taking down and installing instruments for the purpose, which he used to communicate with his honor the Lt. Governor, the newspaper offices and other places of business. The line was constructed by the Miramichi Telephone Company under a subsidy of $2,000 from the Dominion Government and established telephonic communication along what is practically a coast line of over fifty miles, where there was not even a telegraph line before. Tracadie has heretofore had a telegraph office, but messages for Chatham had to be sent around by Bathurst, so that the newly established telephone line will not only afford direct and prompt communication between the terminal points but also save Church Point, Negus, Tabusintac and other intermediate places where a good deal of business is done. We are informed there will be ten instruments on the line as a start.—Advocate

Why not bank your money in the New York Life

Savings Bank. They give you much greater interest than any of the Banks and it is stronger than 123 banks including the bank of England. By putting your money in the New York Life, in case of death you leave to your family or estate $1,000 for every $20 you have with Company.

It used to be said strong as the bank of England.

The comparison should now be strong as the New York Life.

National Banks	Capital
Bank of England	$72,765,000
" of France	$6,500,000
" of Germany	$7,500,000
" of Russia	$5,000,000
National Banks of New York and Brooklyn, 47 Banks	$106,000,000
Chicago, 17 Banks	$5,900,000
Boston, 37 Banks	$4,800,000
Baltimore, 19 Banks	$2,403,000

Total aggregate capital of the 123 Banks above listed $350,850,000. The New York Life assets are over $32 million, which is more than $200,000,000 dollars greater than the combined capital stock of all the National Banks in the foregoing countries and cities. Could anyone want more convincing proof of the New York Life's wonderful and absolute impregnability.

The Department of Public Works Ottawa is calling for tenders for new post office. Tenders will be received up to August 15th. This looks as if a start were to be made at our long-talked of public building this fall. We hope to be able to give a description of the building in next issue.

A young lad by the name of Ross working at Shive's Athol mill went in bathing during the noon hour on Monday in company with some other boys and waded out to the deep water getting beyond his depth. He caught hold of another fellow standing near in an effort to save himself but the other fellow shook him off. Centley Johannessen another young lad, noticing the danger swam to where the boy went down and when he arose to the surface caught him around the waist and swam with him to a place of safety. Johannessen's presence of mind and coolness probably saved Ross's life, as he could not swim and the water was deep. His pluck and courage is certainly commendable.

Earl Mowat son of Mrs. B. A. Mowat met with a painful accident while enjoying a vacation at Escuminac last week. He was shooting with a .22 calibre revolver when a bullet entered his leg near the knee and lodged in the calf of the leg. He was brought to his home here for treatment but the bullet was so close to an artery that it was thought unwise to probe for it, and it will probably remain there. The young fellow is improving and it is hoped that no serious complications will ensue.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

In Nature's Kitchen.

A woman who teaches in a college for girls vouches for the truth of this story. She presides over one of the college dining tables at which sit a dozen students.

One day some curly lettuce was brought on. A freshman looked at it and exclaimed: "How clever of the cook to crimp it that way! How does she do it?"

Easily Settled.

Long Haired Visitor (entering timidly)—I have here a little poem written on snow and—

Editor (interrupting hastily)—Written on snow! We can't use anything that isn't written on paper. Sorry. Turn the knob to the right. That's it. Good morning.

A Sharp Dig.

Mrs. Buxom—That hateful Mrs. Knox made a very mean comment upon my age today.

Mr. Buxom—Did she say you were getting old?

Mrs. Buxom—No, indeed! She said I "still looked quite young."

Waspstaked.

"Hi Peck had ter git out o' bed 'n' mail a letter fer the sharp tongued wife o' his."

"Fore feller! Driv from pillar ter post!"

Up at Night.

Parke—Does your baby keep you up nights?

Lane—I should say so. Why, I haven't been home before midnight for a month.

Fitting.

"What's your idea in beginning with pie and eating your dinner backward?"

"My stomach's upset."

The case of Miss Frankie Orser, of Boston, Mass., is interesting to all women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered miserably for several years. My back ached and I had bearing-down pains, and frequent headaches. I would often wake from a restless sleep in such pain and misery that it would be hours before I could close my eyes again. I dreaded the long nights and weary days. I could do no work. I consulted different physicians hoping to get relief, but finding that their medicines did not cure me, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and as it was highly recommended to me, I am glad that I did so, for I soon found that it was the medicine for my case. Very soon I was rid of every ache and pain and restored to perfect health. I feel splendid, have a fine appetite, and have gained in weight a lot."

MISS FRANKIE ORSER, 16 Warren St., Boston, Mass.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, sick and discouraged, and exhausted with each day's work. Some derangement of the feminine organs is responsible for this exhaustion, following any kind of work or effort. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as it has thousands of other women.

The Windmill Point Fight.

B. Picton sends this very interesting sketch: From the obituary notice of the death of the veteran, J. C. Franklin, I see the same error occurs in the date upon which this fight took place that is in nearly all the late historical sketches of this fight or battle. Even Dr. Picton's story of it in Picturesque Canada falls into the same error. They give the date upon which it took place as in 1837, whereas it was in 1838. The first fight was on Tuesday, November 13, 1838, and the second on Friday, the 15th. I was then a boy of twelve years of age, living at Prescott at the time. I was an eyewitness to the fight on the 13th November. I also saw the first fired by the little steamer Experiment at the large passenger steamboat called the "Vittoria" which was the latter's return from landing sympathizers from Ogdensburg at Windmill Point. The Canadian force on Tuesday, the 15th November, 1838, consisted of one company of the 83rd regiment, regulars, under Lieutenant Johnson, who was killed; one company Royal Marines, under Lieutenant Harper, who was wounded in his left arm; the Prescott company of volunteers, under Capt. Dr. H. D. Jessup; a company of Glengarry volunteers, under Capt. George McDonald; and the yeoman militia from the neighboring counties, as well as those from Grenville County. Col. Fraser, who I believe, is command of the militia; Col. Plomer Young, regular army, was Commandant, stationed at Prescott at the time. The first attack was made in conjunction with the steamboats Cobourg, Traveller and Experiment, with a Durham boat as a gunboat. The attack failed to dislodge the rebels. A guard was kept up on the river, as well as on land, to prevent their escape. The reinforcements should arrive from Kingston, with heavier artillery. The whole of the 83rd regiment, under Col. Dundas, arrived on Friday, the 16th, when a second attack was made. All the surrounding buildings near the mill were fired, and the last refuge of the rebels, the windmill, was the object of attack, the result being the final surrender of Van-shaugh and his men.—Toronto Globe.

THE KING CURE

FOR HEADACHES is the Proper Time to use the KING CURE. It is a powerful remedy for all kinds of headaches, and is the only one that will cure them. It is the only one that will cure them. It is the only one that will cure them.

Irrecoverable Waste.

The utilization of what formerly were considered waste products and the re-creation of materials from a used state, to a new condition of service-ability have in recent times been developed to such a degree of completeness that we are scarcely prepared to admit that anything is ever irrecoverably lost. In this respect we believe in the conservation of material just as we have long been taught to believe in the law of conservation of energy. From a purely practical point of view, however, some things certainly may be so completely lost to further use that their loss may well be considered absolute, and one of these is the metal lost in the wear of railway rolling stock brasses. For the spectator in copper values, the promoter of a copper "corner" to use the broker's cant, the copper which has gone into railway brasses need have no terror. It is not likely ever to be available again in full measure. It is dissipated forever. It is, in part at least, that its practical recovery is not likely to receive much serious consideration. From the best available deductions on the subject it appears that 5 per cent of the annual copper production of the world disappears in this way every year.

Flat Wheels.

"Flat wheels," growled the old retired conductor as the trolley car in which he sat went thumping along at twelve miles an hour, shaking the passengers uncomfortably at every revolution of the wheels.

"What makes flat wheels?" asked the man sitting next to the conductor. "Flat wheels," said the conductor. "It's this way: If a man doesn't know how to stop his car he makes a flat wheel. On the steam road the conductors flatten a wheel every time they put on a brake. When the wheel suddenly stops revolving and the momentum of the train carries it along the wheel slides along the track, and a flat is started. Next stop makes it worse, and so it goes until the wheel is no good. If a brakeman knows his business he never makes a flat wheel unless he has to suddenly avoid an accident. If he keeps his wheels turning slowly they don't flatten. Now, these fellows on the trolleys take no care at all, and every other car in some places has a flat wheel."

The Khryeng's First Woman.

The Khryengs of Burma are probably the only race or tribe of people that have any tradition of the origin of the human race that do not have a man or a woman being in some way connected with that important event. The Khryeng genesis opens in this wise: "In the beginning of the world, after the sun, moon and stars had appeared, the earth by its own inherent power of ductiveness brought forth a female creature, which was called Hleuene. She laid 100 eggs and hatched them in succession. From each egg sprang a human being, the progenitors of the different races." The least that can be said of this curious belief is that it is a fine illustration of the multiple theory as applied to the origin of the human race.

Tools of the Ancients.

An investigator who lived during two years in a tomb at Gizeh collected evidence to prove that the tools used in working stone in the most ancient times were cutting edges like modern tools. He says that the builders of the pyramids used solid and tubular tools, straight and circular saws and many other tools supplied to the modern tools. Some specimens of granite a drill had sunk one-tenth of an inch at each revolution, indicating that the pressure was at least two tons. Nothing is known of the material of the tools. As the diamond was scarce then, it is probable that corundum was used.

Two Expensive Banquets.

The costliest meal ever served, according to history, was a supper given by Julius Verus, one of the most lavish of all the Romans of the latter days, to a dozen guests. The cost was $6,000,000, which would amount to $24,000,000. A celebrated feast given by Vitellius, a Roman emperor, cost $1,000,000. A Roman legend says that the banquet consisted of 2,000 different dishes of fish and 4,000 different meats and other courses.

Splitting Eyes.

No matter what color, or how deep the eyes that have no desire to look you full in the face. There is something wrong behind the splitting, watery gleam, and the owner of such eyes will prove to be unworthy of trust. Read well the signs, for if actions speak louder than words you speak even louder than actions, and to be forevermore it is to be despised.

Reverencing the Aged.

"I look old and thingy and old, and something more, but George will not let them," he sobbed miserably.

"All you need first make him love you. The way to a man's stomach is through his heart," they said, for they were worldly wise.

Getting Back at Him.

"I'm afraid," said the actor when a cabbage came within a inch of his nose, "that somebody in the audience has lost his head."

The selfish, loving only themselves, are loved by no one, so selfishness is moral suicide.—De Gaston.

ANGLING COSTLY

Fortunes Paid for the Mere Right to Fish

SALMON CLUBS

An Interesting Account of Many of our Angling Clubs

(Correspondence New York Sun).

Quebec, July 9.—Enormous sums of money are expended by the American salmon fishermen who are at present flocking into Eastern Canada, as usual, at this time of the year.

Apart from all other expenses the cost of the fishing rights is often great. The rate of increase in values is illustrated by the fact that the angling of the Restigouche and its tributaries was leased some years ago by fishermen who are still catching salmon in Canada for $150 a year, while thousands of dollars are now paid annually for the right to fish the waters of these rivers, controlled by the government, and $500,000 would not suffice to purchase the remaining riparian rights. Nearly $400,000 has actually been paid to riparian proprietors on the Restigouche by the present holders of fishing rights.

The largest owner of these rights at present is the Restigouche Salmon Club, one of the most notable concerns of the kind in the world. Its membership includes many multi-millionaires and numbers at present but thirty-two in all. Its shares are eagerly sought at $10,000 each.

The headquarters and main club house of the Restigouche are situated at Matapedia, at the junction of the Matapedia and Restigouche rivers. Here the members of the club have fished by day, wearing the usual attire of anglers in the woods, must observe the club rule of donning evening dress for dinner.

A New York chef supervises the preparation of the meals, and the dining room has been the scene of many a good fishing story from such pastmasters of the art as Harry Hollins, the late Dean Sage, the late Robert Goelet, the Rev. W. S. Rainsford, and the late Dean Hoffman. Among others who are now, or have been, members of this famous club, are William K. Vanderbilt, Cornelius Vanderbilt Henry W. DeForest, Philip Schuyler, Henry T. Sloane, Stanford White, Arthur D. Weeks, William, Dodge, Robert G. Dun, S. Wei Mitchell, John S. Kennedy, John S. Cadwalader and William L. Breeze.

It would require a pretty large chest to hold all the title deeds in virtue of which the Restigouche Salmon Club exercises its fishing rights. It is interesting to note that for the New Brunswick side of Tom's Brook and Indian House posts, the sum of $7,500 was paid in 1885, while the Quebec side of the Indian House property, all the way down to about one mile below Tom's Brook, cost $35,000.

in 1895. Yet in 1880 S. and J. Wilmot bought the same property for $1,500.

The increase in its value was thus 2,300 per cent in fifteen years. The Patapedia pools were acquired by the club in 1884 for $25,000, the sellers having paid $2,000 for them in 1882 to the resident proprietors.

High prices have also been paid for salmon fishing on the Restigouche by individual American sportsmen.

In 1890 the late Mr. Robert Goelet purchased the Moore property, about six miles from Matapedia on the Quebec side of the Restigouche, for $20,000. Yet he fished this water which is about three quarters of a mile in extent, only on two occasions, and then with poor success, as the owner of the opposite side of the river asserted that the boundary line between the two provinces was the middle of the stream, and all the best of the fishing was on the New Brunswick side of the river. This made Mr. Goelet's purchase of very small value so far as fishing was concerned.

In 1886 Mr. Goelet purchased the McAndrew property, seventeen miles from Matapedia, for $35,000. In 1883 it cost Mr. McAndrew about five thousand dollars.

The Sweeney and Dean Sage estate properties at the mouth of the Matapedia, seven miles from Matapedia, were originally purchased from resident proprietors between 1880 and 1885, for about five thousand dollars. The Sweeney lots are now held by Mr. Payne, of Cleveland, who paid $35,000 for them in 1885. The late Dean Sage sold part of his rights on the New Brunswick side to his friend, Mr. Clyde of New York, for $7,000. Harry Hollins became the proprietor some ten years ago of the Brandy Brook pool and neighboring waters, paying $15,000 for them.

For the Kedwig pools at the mouth of the river where it enters the Restigouche, and for some of the still lower pools, Archibald Rogers of New York, paid $7,000 a few years ago, and they could not now be bought for $70,000.

In addition to the main club houses of the Restigouche Salmon Club, its members have at their disposal a number of comfortable subsidiary camps in different parts of their territory. So far this season the sport has been far from good, though better sport is looked for later, the season being late and the fish scarce and small.

While Billy Florence almost always did his salmon fishing in the Restigouche, Jos Jefferson's favorite river was the Miramichi.

Scarcely second in importance to the Restigouche is the Cascadia. It is probable that the provincial government could easily obtain a quarter of a million dollars for its fishing rights in this famous stream. For a portion of them it receives $8,500 a year from the Cascadia Salmon Club.

No finer pools, no better fishing and no larger salmon are to be found in North America than those of the Cascadia. It has been fished by nearly all the recent Governors-Generals of Canada and the Marquis of Lorne, now Duke of Argyll, who frequently fished it with his wife, the Princess Louise, declared it to be the finest salmon river in the world. It contains no fewer than twenty-nine splendid salmon pools.

In one season Lord Lansdowne and his party killed in the river 320 salmon, weighing 7,277 lbs. and in the following year Lord Stanley, of Preston, now the Earl of Derby, and his party killed 300 fish, weighing 7,982 pounds. It was on this river that Mr. R. G. Dun entertained President Arthur, and the record of American fresh water, a salmon of fifty four pounds, is said to have been among one of Mr. Dun's catches upon the Cascadia.

Very valuable salmon rivers, including the Washashoo, portions of the Nepisiguit and the Moose, for lease of which thousands of dollars have been paid during a single year and owned outright by Mr. Ivers W. Adams of Boston. Mr. Adams is at present fishing the Moose himself, in company with Dr. Heber Bishop of Boston, Senator Aldrich and Mr. Henry R. Reed of Boston.

Enormous salmon are captured in the Moose, hundreds of them every year. The Washashoo is

How the Newspaper Paragrapher Jares With the Worlds Famous Men.

(No 3)

In the palmy days of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company—if one can reconcile oneself to the belief that this organization was ever in a flourishing condition—there were at least three officials on the plant who received salaries of over $10,000 to say nothing of substantial perquisites. I have in mind the general manager, Mr. A. J. Moxham whose stated salary was $25,000, the general superintendent, Mr. Charles McCreey, whose salary was $15,000 and the treasurer, Mr. H. M. Davies whose salary was slightly above $10,000. These gentlemen were of Sydney since departed from the scene of Syd ney's meteoric industrial preposition. McCreey was the first to go. He is now vice-president and general manager of the big Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. Moxham followed McCreey and is now conducting at Wilmington Del. one of the largest powder industries in the world. Davies is now somewhere up in New York State.

McCreey is a long, lanky Southerner, with deep set dark eyes and a tan colored skin. He used to be a good deal impressed with his own importance and his manner was generally brusque and supercilious. He was a typical Southerner in manner and appearance. McCreey would rarely give a statement to the press regarding the progress of the works under his supervision. It was only when some dire calamity happened that he would insist on having the mildest sort of story possible appear in print.

One incident in McCreey's Sydney career I shall probably never forget. It was a time when the Dominion Iron and Steel Company was being boomed for all it was worth. Moxham was away up in Montreal and Toronto making after dinner speeches in which he declared his company would turn out iron and steel at a less cost than any other plant in the world. And I think Davies was with him.

Well one day, a rather shrewd looking well groomed man registered at the Sydney Hotel as Thomas E. Ryan, New York. He soon made himself acquainted with the leading lights of the town by passing himself off as a member of the well known New York law firm of Ryan & Ryan.

He was put up at the clubs. He played poker and lost and had a good time generally in a wild braid way. Shortly after his arrival I asked him what his game was. He told me he would put me on in a week. The week came around. "Ryan" sent for me. In his room at the hotel he told me he was the personal representative of J. Pierpont Morgan and at 12 o'clock that day the United States Steel Corporation had absorbed the Dominion Iron and Steel Coy. He gave me all the details including the price paid.

The news read like wild fire and Sydney had another one of its spasms. Ryan declared he must leave for Halifax the following morning, and I made every effort by wire and other ways to have the news confirmed or denied before he left. I sized it up as a fake from the outset, but Ryan's motive in making such a stupendous announcement—ah, that was where the rub came in.

There wasn't a soul in Sydney who could speak authoritatively for the company. But McCreey expressed the opinion that Ryan was a liar. I asked McCreey in his rooms that evening if he would care to meet Ryan. He said he would so I went straight to the Sydney club and found the supposed Morganite in the centre of an admiring crowd.

In a few minutes he consented to accompany me back to the hotel.

BATHURST NEWS.

Rumor of Purchase of Flour Mill.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Other Items of Interest From The Gloucester Shire-town.

BATHURST, July 27.—Mr. George Chalmers, night operator at Bathurst, was married this afternoon to Miss Mary Branch, daughter of Mr. Robert Branch. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. H. P. Reid in the presence of immediate friends and the newly married couple left by the Ocean Limited to visit Quebec, Montreal and other points West.

We understand that Mr. John P. Legere proposes to establish a grist mill and carding mill in Bathurst Village, which will be run by motor power from the electric light plant. A report is current that Mr. Legere is negotiating for the purchase of the Madisco flour mills at Petit Rocher operated by S. Desbrisay, and that the machinery used in this plant is to be transferred to Bathurst Village.

The topic of conversation during the week has been the transferring of the Caraque Railway Co. to a Toronto Syndicate who now control the management of this road. About twenty-five or thirty persons are joining the excursion to St. Anne de Beaupre. The train passes here about eight o'clock Wednesday evening and will return on Saturday, July 30th.

Dr. R. G. Duncan, drove to Caraque on a sick call Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dumas of Grandanase were registered at the Robertson Hotel this week.

Mr. Dennis Landon of Bathurst Village died on Monday morning, July 25th, aged 29 years. His funeral was to the Holy Family Church cemetery Wednesday morning and was largely attended.

Mrs. Chas. Landry returned to her home in Bathurst Village last week after spending a month with her parents at Grand Anse.

Some of our farmers have commenced haying and we trust they will be favored with plenty of sunshine. A few mackerel are being taken at the points. Our fishermen entertain hopes that the catch will improve and be of some consequence this season.

Mr. Godfrey Ellis spent a few days in Sussex while relieved from duty as Assistant Station Agent at Bathurst last week.

Miss Aggie Melanson is visiting Drummondville, P. Q.

Messrs. John P. Legere and H. A. Melanson returned by the Ocean Limited Tuesday morning from Quebec where they sojourned over Sunday.

GASPE DESCRIBED.

Some Facts about Land's End-of Canada.

FISHING INDUSTRY.

The Symbol of Christian Faith Planted First in Gaspé

Canada has its Land's End as well as England. It must not be taken, however, that Gaspé is the extreme portion of Canada, for Cape Breton has that distinction; but the word "Gaspé" means Land's End, and the name first given has remained ever since. As it is Gaspé is the extreme point of Canadian territory between the St. Lawrence and the Bay of Chaleur, and the peninsula, occupying a somewhat unique position, with also a peculiar form, is one of the most interesting regions in Canada.

Gaspé to-day, says a writer in the Toronto Globe, is known for chiefly two things, the famous Perce rock and—fish. The whole Gaspé shore is fisherman's country, and the seat of the cod-fishing industry. From a scenic point of view however the great attraction is Perce Rock, that peculiar formation which juts out into the gulf in two pieces, and one of them strangely tunnelled. Around the corner from Perce, some 10 miles north, is Gaspé Bay, which extends for 26 miles further, till it ends in Gaspé Basin. This basin is one of the finest havens in America, and the surrounding scenery is very grand. It was here that the first symbol of the Christian faith in Canada was planted, by Jacques Cartier in 1534. At the head of the basin is the village of the same name, which is likely to become better known to the outside world, now that the long talked of extension of the railway is about to become a reality. It is a pretty little hamlet, with a population of several hundred, and a favourite summer resort.

Three well-known salmon rivers the St. John, York, and Dartmouth flow into the sea, and are annually visited by many American anglers. There is the finest sea-trout fishing in the immediate vicinity and the off-chance of a salmon or two in free water at the proper season. The basin, from which the village takes its name, is a land-locked sheet of salt water, deep enough for a man-of-war. Numerous oil wells have been bored in the country adjacent, and while none of them has produced oil in paying quantities, there is no doubt it will be a producing point sooner or later. The harbor is open well on into December, or even January.

Fishing is the great industry. In and around the Bay of Gaspé each season 1,000 men go out upon the waters and return day by day, until the results of their toil are seen in the millions of lbs. of cod, credited to this portion of the shores. The cod taken between Perce and Cape des Rosiers in an average year will make over 3,000,000 lbs. of dried fish, while the annual value of all the fisheries in that limit is over $200,000. In these may be included some 100,000 lbs. of fresh salmon in ice, and a like quantity of canned lobsters. These figures it must be remembered, apply only to the small stretch of shore around this part of the peninsula. They represent only about one-third of the results of the Gaspé fisheries in these particular lines, not including the returns of the outlying district of the Magdalen Islands, which belong to Gaspé County.

Great as is the fishing industry in the Gaspé waters, the resources of the rivers in the interior of the peninsula provide, from a sportsman's point of view, a still greater attraction. Of the rare pleasure of salmon fishing as it may be enjoyed in the streams of Gaspé, an Ontario sportsman writes as follows: "Just above tide water on the St. John (Gaspé) there is a pool much frequented by salmon—the Whirlpool—it is often fished, but seldom failing when cast over. One day we were going up the river after trout, a rickety reel, with only a few yards of line and a frayed fairy fly at the end of it. When we reached the Whirlpool the salmon were there as usual, and in such a position that we could put the fly right over them with every cast. They were evidently in a very finicky mood; for though we almost exhausted the fly book for them, they calmly ignored our best endeavour. The little fellow meanwhile was whipping the water a few feet from shore with his old fairy, when a salmon darted in, seized the fly made a quick rush away, and took all the line, leaving the youngster gaping with astonishment. That was the only salmon that rose that day for anybody. It is the dream of almost every fisherman to catch a salmon, but most of them are under the impression that it is a tremendously expensive operation. So it is under ordinary conditions, but it is possible to have good sport on water that is free or nearly so. All streams are free as far as the tide reaches, subject only to the permission of the owner of the adjoining lands, if one fishes from the shore. In most of the Canadian waters there is free or unleased water for some distance above the tide. This is the case on the Restigouche, in New Brunswick, one of the very best salmon rivers in the world.

Most of the Restigouche, with its tributaries, the Matapedia, Causapscal, Upsalquitch, and other smaller streams, are controlled by the Restigouche Salmon Club, an association composed of millionaires mostly, who come in palace cars, and live in luxury at the club house at Matapedia. Five dollars a pound would be a low average for the fish caught by these gentlemen. Much fun can be had for less money.

A Mcg McDonald will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

MANNERS IN BUSINESS.

Brains and Good Deportment a Winning Combination.

The value of brains in business can not be overestimated, of course; but neither can the value of manners. Don't make the error of supposing that brains are everything. You may have the best set of brains in the town, but if you haven't the manners of a gentleman nobody is going to appreciate you. Your manner is the outward indication of what you are within in the estimate of most people, and if the manner is disagreeable few will take the trouble to examine into you any further.

The consensus of general opinion is that the man who goes about with a pompous attitude as his manners haven't any brains worth boasting about. Did you never notice that the men who employ large forces of intelligent people look at an applicant closely, ask a few seemingly unimportant questions, and properly employ him? They don't mind his brain; they mind his manners. They don't mind his brain; they mind his manners. They don't mind his brain; they mind his manners. They don't mind his brain; they mind his manners.

The employer knows that if an applicant's manner strikes him favorably, he will also favorably strike people with whom he comes in contact in his work. And nobody knows better than a big business man that a favorable first impression means half the sale. People are apt to think that if there is any place where manners are of little consequence it is in business, where cold calculation so largely takes the place of feeling. But the truth is that nowhere else are manners of such importance as in everyday dealings. There is no capital and equipment any young man can have that will pay him better than good manners. There is no possible calling for which this does not better fit him. If he has brains the world owes him something, but unless he has good manners he will have a hard time collecting it.

A WHISTLER PICTURE.

The Dramatic Manner of His Finish and an Anticlimax.

Whistler was one day visited by a foreign artist, an old acquaintance, with whom Whistler had not as yet quarreled. He was received with genuine cordiality, and, artist-like, he ran round the studio looking at everything. One small picture seemed to charm him especially, and he said, "Now that is one of your good ones." "Don't look at it, dear boy," said Whistler airily, "it's not finished." "Finished?" said the visitor. "Why, it is the most carefully finished picture of yours that I have ever seen." "Don't look at it!" persisted Whistler. "You are doing injustice to yourself, you are doing injustice to my picture, and you are doing injustice to me!" The visitor looked bewildered, when Whistler, in a theatrical tone, cried out: "Stop! I'll finish it now!" Then he procured a few small camel's hair brush, fixed it on a long and slender handle, mixed a little speck of paint on his palette, dipped the tip of his brush into it, and then, standing off from his picture and with the action of a fencer with his rapier, he lunged forward and touched the picture in one spot with his pigment.

"Now it's finished," said he. "Now you may look at it." This was all highly dramatic, and indeed very well acted, but as in the case of some stage plays, the final act of Whistler's performance proved to be an anticlimax. The foreign artist took his leave, but, finding that he had left his umbrella behind him, called for it next day. The servant, recognising him, told him that Mr. Whistler had gone out for the day, but invited him to go to the studio and seek his umbrella. He went there and found it, but also took the opportunity of having one more look at the picture which had been "finished" for his special benefit the day before, and then he saw that the little dab of wet paint which Whistler had so dramatically put on he had afterward scrupulously wiped off again—Frederick Keppel in The Reader.

WITH THE SAGES.

I take him to be the only rich man that lives upon what he has, owes nothing, and is contented; for there is no determinate sum of money, nor quantity of estate, that can denote a man rich, since no man is truly rich that has not so much as perfectly satisfies his desire of having more; for the desire of more is want, and want is poverty.—Howe.

Repentance hath a purifying power, and every tear is of a cleansing virtue; but these penitential clouds must be still kept dropping; one shower will not suffice; for repentance is not one single action, but a course.—South.

People of gloomy, uncheerful imaginations, or of envious, malignant tempers, whatever kind of life they are engaged in, will discover their natural picture of mind in all their thoughts, words and actions.—Addison.

The grand and, indeed, the only character of truth, is its capability of enduring the test of universal experience, and coming unchanged out of every possible form of fair discussion.—Sir John Herschel.

New blessings light on him that first invented sleep; it covers a man all over, thoughts and all like a cloak; it is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, kins for the cold, cold for the hot.—Cervantes.

Sorrow is a kind of rust of the soul, which every new idea contributes in its passage to scour away. It is the putrefaction of stagnant life, and is remedied by exercise and motion.—Johnson.

Instability of temper ought to be checked when it disposes men to wander from one scheme to another; since such a fickleness cannot but be attended with fatal consequences.—Addison.

It is another's fault if he be ungrateful, but it is mine if I do not give. To find one thankful man I will oblige many that are not so.—Seneca.

Those who are surly and imperious to their inferiors, are generally humble, flattering, and cringing to their superiors.—Fuller.

When a man has not a good reason for doing a thing, he has one good reason for letting it alone—Sir Walter Scott.

Sorrow seems sent for our instruction, as we darken the cages of birds when we would teach them to sing.—Richter.

The most delicate, the most sensible of all pleasures, consists in promoting the pleasures of others.—La Bruyere.

Nothing is so hard for those who abound in riches, as to conceive how others can be in want.—Swift.
