TO BUY OFF BRIGANDS From Near-by Places

SCOTTSVILLE.

Scottsville, Oct. 7.-We are sorry to report that Mr. Samuel Hunt and Mr. Anson Hunt and wife purpose moving to South London tomorrow. Seldom does the removal of a family take place qualities, their moral and spiritual worth, made them general favorites. By their genial countenances, affable dispositions and readiness to join heart and hand in every good word and work they have gained a deep place in the affections of the people. All three have occupied important and responsible po-sitions in the North Street Methodist Church, and the removal leaves vac-ancies that cannot easily be filled. But our loss is London's gain. They carry with them the high esteem and best wishes, not only of the members of the North Street congregation, with whom they have been more intimately connected, but of all who had the pleasure of their acquaintance. A few weeks ago the congregation presented Mr. and Mrs. Anson Hunt with a beautiful and costly silver service and tray as a token of their appreciation of their valuable and efficient services in connection with the choir. On Friday evening 100 persons unceremoniously took possession of Mr. Hunt's house and presented Mr. Samuel Hunt with a gold-headed cane and a hymn-book. Mr. James E. Orr read the following address:

To Mr. Samuel Hunt, Scottsviller "Dear Friend and Brother.-We, your most intimate friends and neighbors and members of the North Street Methodist Church have been given to understand that you are about to sever your connection with us. Therefore, we have assembled tonight to say 'good-bye' to you, and also to present you with the cane and hymn-book, not for their intrinsic value, but as a small expression of our esteem for you. When we think of the interest you have manifested in our welfare, we cannot you go away, without some little token of remembrance. "Nearly all of us who are here to-night, have looked to you from our earliest childhood for sympathy direction in fighting the battles of life. and we have never been disappointed For more than threescore years and ten you have lived in this neighborhood and have seen many changes in the different homes, but a kind Previdence has been good to you, and we know that in all the years, as they have come and gone, in every good movement for the advancement of church, or the uplifting of humanity your shoulder has ever been to the wheel. You have ever stood for the right, with all the moral strength you possessed, and your time and money have been freely spent for every good cause. You have, Bro. Hunt. filled nearly all the offices of the church to a layman is eligible. You were recording steward of the Westminster circuit for more than twenty years. You have been staward at North Street longer than any other person. For many years you acceptably led the service of song and praise. Year after the Sabbath school, explaining the Scriptures to the young people to their profit. You were casting your bread upon the waters and it has berne fruit. You have held the office of trustee for more than 48 years, and for nearly half that time you were secretary and treasurer of the board. For years vou were delegate from Westminster circuit to the district meeting, and from the distinct meeting you were continually sent.

to the annual conference, and from conference you have at different times been sent to the highest rung of the adder, the general conference. "But why enumerate; in all these offices you have been loyal to our beloved church, you have filled each one satisfactorily to the church and people and with dignity to yourself. You have always stood out with advanced ideas for the young people of the church, and we are here tonight to honor you in a slight manner for what you have done for us. Now Brother Hunt, it is our urgent request that you give this cane an airing every day. While some people are having pleasure trips after horses, some after steam, some after electricity, some with bicycles, some with automobiles, and perhaps some with flying machines, please do not forget in your faunts to take this cane with you, and as you roam around the streets of the city, let your thoughts occasionally wander back to your friends at North street. The hymn book use as you engage in songs of praise in God's house here below preparatory to singing the new song in that beautiful Zion above, where we hope to meet you and all the dear friends of North Street, many of whom in their journey "homeward bound" have crossed the river ere this. "Yes, their pilgrimage was shorter, And their triumph sooner won.

Oh, how lovingly they'll greet us
When the toils of life are done."

Signed on behalf of the congregation of North Street: James El. Orr. Charles Mill. Oct. 4, 1901.

The presentation was made by Mr. Charles Mill. Although completely taken by surprise, Mr. Hunt very appropriately and feelingly replied, thanking the many friends for their kindness. Rev. T. Wesley Cosens, superintendent of the circuit, then made a few complimentary remarks and referred to the loss the circuit is about to sustain in the removal of these consecrated faithful workers. After lunch had been served Mr. Cosens again took the chair and a good programme was rendered. Mr. Orr gave a written history of the Westminster circuit from the year 1806 down to the present, which was very interesting. The Invasion of Natal East and West--- Only a Small Commando in the Colony---The Attack on the 17th Lancers.

Dundee, Natal, to the Times, says that the Boer loss totalled over six hundred in the attacks on Forts Itala and Prospect. The Boers informed the prisoners that they expected to find the Fort Itala garrison only 100 strong. The burghers lost more men than in any previous action this year.

There seems no doubt, says the Times' correspondent, that the Boers intended a combined invasion of Natal East and West. It is stated that Gen. Dewet ordered the burghers in the northwestern part of Orange River Colony to concentrate at Talekop, but up to now the only result of the movement has been the isolated 'nvasion of Natal by a small commando, which can easily be driven back.

British officers who were recently prisoners say that Gen. Botha's men and horses are in good condition, but the men's clothing is in a poor state. The British prisoners have been de-prived of nearly everything they pos-

BOER COMMANDANT WOUNDED. Bloemfontein, Oct. 6.—News has been received that Commandant Geo. Brand, son of the late President Brand. I the Orange Free State, was severewounded in a recent engagement. Permission was accorded to his sisters to go out from Bloemfontein to attend to him, and cart horses were courteously placed at their disposal. Cape Colony early in the present year.) CAPE COLONY IN A BLAZE. London, Oct. 6.-The correspondent of the Express writes from Cape Town under date of Sept. 4: "If the censorship over press cables was drastic before last week, it is now simply prohibitive. During the past week things in this colony have gone from bad to worse. Lord Milner is now deciding whether or not martial law is to be proclaimed throughout the Cape Peninsula. The military authorities are almost demanding it, as the city teems with rebels and Boer sympathizers of all nationalities. The Colonial Government, however, refuses their sanction, and for the first time in 23 months the relations between the governor and the military on the one hand, and the Cape ministry on the other are strained and unsatisfac-

Gen. Smuts' commando, between 300 and 500 strong, passed through the Grahamstown district hotly pursued by a British column under Col. Crabbe and others. Gen. Smuts was engaged by an armored train near Sheldon. Offshoots from several commandos, supposed to be those of Kritzinger. Theron, and Louw, are hovering around the Ceres district. Pastoral Ceres now looks like a military camp, stern-looking redoubts, half-blocking the shady streets, and blockhouses guarding the passes and picturesque surroundings in the mountains. Mr. Theron, the father of the commandant of that name, lives in this district. Commandant Capper is also said to be operating in this neighborhood. The British military operations are extremely difficult in some places, owing to the mountainous character of the

USED THE BAYONET. Pretoria, Oct. 7 .- The fight at Magato Nek, where Kekewich was encamped, took place early in the morning. A patrol of Yeemanry who had proceeded beyond the pickets rode into Boer force and were driven back The Boers followed them, rushed the pickets, and gained a position commanding the British camp. It was necessary to drive them from this position at all costs, and this was done by the Derbyshire Regiment and the Scot-tish Horse. #### EDITOR'S HARD LUCK!

Pitiful Sequel to the Kidnapping of His Little Granddaughter.

Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 5.—James J. Mc-Nally, the octogenarian editor of the Goshen News, is, with perhaps one exception, the eldest editor in continuous service in this state, having been 56 years in the editorial harness. When, two years vice in this state, having been 56 years in the editorial harness. When, two years ago, his granddaughter, young Mrs. Barrowe, was arrested for the kidnapping of little Marion Clark, in New York, and the shocking revelations of her connection with that crime was made, resulting in her being sent to prison, the veteran editor was so affected by it all that his health broke down, and a few months ago he was forced to give up work. A month ago, his health not improving, and his newspaper business suffering from insufficient attention, he employed S. W. his newspaper business suffering from insufficient attention, he employed S. W. Stowell, of Burdette, N. J., to take charge of his newspaper as associate editor, with entire charge of the business. Stowell, with his wife, went away last week. They did not return. Investigation revealed the fact that Stowell had spent most of his time since he took charge of the News office in collecting money due it for printing, subscriptions and advertisements, amounting to a large sum, and had turned type, machinery and other appurtenances of the office into cash. All this he appropriated to his own use, together with Editor McNally's 1,000-mile ticket book on the Eric Railroad, and then decamped. No trace of him has as yet been found.

DEATH BY THE PISTOL!

An Illinois Man Shet by Minister.

A Chicago Suicide Had $15,000 Worth of Diamonds on His Person.

ASSASSINATED IN HIS HOME. Winfield, Kas., Oct. 7.-Detective Montgomery, of the Santa Fe Road, one of the oldest men in the secret service, was assassinated Saturday by an unknown man, who drove up to his house in a buggy and shot him as Montgomery sat in his parlor. The assassin escaped and left no clue.

SHOT BY MINISTER. Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 7 .- A tragedy was enacted here Saturday at a time when the streets were crowded with people. John C. Brown was shot by Rev. Joseph McCammish, dying forty minutes later. The two men had been bitter enemies for nearly a year, owing to Brown being jealous of the relations between his wife and the minis- branes. ter. During the early morning hours Brown told several citizens that he would kill McCammish before sundown. The word reached the man and he armed himself. McCammish had gone into a store to transact some business, and Brown, seeing the man, went to him with an open knife in his hand. He opened a quarrel and raised his hand to strike McCammish, when the latter drew his revolver and fired, the ball passing through Brown's lung. Brown leaves a widow and one child. McCammish is a minister of the the Seventh Day Adventist faith, and is a respected citizen. He has a wife and two children, and possesses considerable property.

SUICIDE OF A JEWELER. Chicago, Oct. 5 .- With $15,000 worth of diamonds in his possession, D. W. Dickie, a jeweler, who lived at the Kimball Hotel, committed suicide Saturday night, near the Grant monument in Lincoln Park. A park policeman heard a pistol shot in the direction of the monument, and after searching for twenty minutes in the darkness came upon the body of Dickie lying upon a bench just south of the statue. Dickie was about 55 years old. Little could be learned about him tonight. It is thought, however, that he had not been in Chicago a great while. The directory states only that he is a jeweler, but does not tell his place of business.

SHOT HIS WIFE. Detroit, Oct. 7 .- At 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon a distressing accident occurred at the family home of Louis C. Grandorff, 838 Chene street. While examining a revolver, which was thought to be unloaded, Mr. Grandorff touched the trigger, a loud report rang out, and Mrs. Grandorff fell to the floor, perhaps fatally shot. The husband was locked up at the Canfield avenue police station, pending an investigation. There in the cell, crying and praying, the old man was held from 5:15 o'clock until 8:55 o'clock in the evening. Then he was released, as the facts proved that he was not at fault. It was simply an awful accident. It appears that Frederick Grandorff, a son of the couple, left a revolver home. In the endeavor to put it out of the way, not knowing it was loaded, Mr. Grandorff accidentally touched the trigger and the weapon was discharged, the bullet entering Mrs. Grandorff's side, between the eighth and ninth ribs. At St. Mary's Hospital, where the patient was hurried, the course of the bullet could not be traced, but it is feared that it penetrated the lung. MURDER TRIAL FIXED. Washington, Oct. 7.-Mrs. Lola Ida Henry Bonine, indicted for killing James Seymour Ayres, the pension clerk, in the Hotel Kenmore here last May, will be called for trial about the middle of November. The prosecuting officers think it proper to give attention to a number of cases of miner importance that have been awaiting trial for a long time and will only consume few hours or a day, each, prior to beginning a hearing that is likely to be in progress for several weeks, and during such period tie up the other criminal business of the courts. It is not believed that the case will be tried until Assistant United States Attorney Taggart returns from his vacation Mrs. Bonine is apparently contented with jail life. She is well and spends her time reading and sewing.

The True Relief. Radway's Ready Relief

Per Internal and External Use, In using medicines to stop pain, we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice, it makes patient losing the power of feeding. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these dangerous and uncertain agents when a positive remedy like RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger in either infant or adult.

It instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays inflammation and cures congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels or other glands or mucous membranes.

Discussed by the Cable Correspondents---Early Notice of the Coronation of Edward VII.--- Apprehension Regarding His Majesty's Health---The Franco-Prussian Alliance.

Otherwise it does not indicate any in- advocated painstaking study of the tention of reducing the attendance of the titled class. The order has been issued a long time in advance of the ceremony, in order to facilitate the arrangements for providing seats in the abbey and apportioning the space required for the peers and peeresses. Court officials insist upon having an early reckoning of the number entitled to witness the coremony the shifted to witness the ceremony. The abbey authorities will have nothing to do with the seating arrangements, and even the ritual itself will be revised at court. Rumors that incense will be used and that various practices re-cently condemned by the archbishops will be introduced are premature. The influence of Queen Alexandra may be exerted in favor of some innovations, but probably the consecration service employed at the last ceremonies will be closely followed.

THE KING'S HEALTH. the King's heaith may not be groundless, but it is at least premature. He is in no immediate danger when a medical adviser has been summoned to treat him for lumbago or rheumatism. The court circular, when Queen Victoria was living, contained minute accounts of her daily drives and recreations, and her subjects could always judge for themselves whether she was well or sick. The King has quietly changed this practice without exciting much comment. The court circular is now a record of functions of state events, and visitors of exceptional importance, and it is published intermittingly, and contains little personal intelligence of the King's daily life. He has not considered it necessary to take his subjects into his confidence respecting the minor details of daily exercise and amusement. For this reason royalty is more closely screened from observation than it was during the Victorian reign, and rumor mongers have larger resources for creating alarm. The King is not believed to be seriously indisposed by those who have access to court or are in touch with diplomatic circles. At the same time it is probable that he has been nervous and apprehensive respecting his throat ailment, and that the physicians have found it difficult to re-

GUERILLAS. has brought the government under the fire of political guerillas. The min-isters are reproached for taking holidays, neglecting their work and accepting with credulous facility assurances from their civil and military advisers that everything is going well in South Africa. Mr. Brodrick has been constantly at the war office, and has a passion for work and red fault with him for taking too favorable a view of the progress of the war, nor is it reasonable for them to infer that the ministers, by holding weekly councils, could have forestalled Gen. Botha's raid in Zululand and Commandant Delarey's return to the

had been repeatedly cleared. DEWET AND DELAREY. The two Boer generals have conceald their purposes and made effective demonstrations a fortnight after the expiration of the time limit of Lord Kitchener's proclamation, and a similar raid by Gens. Dewet and Steyn may be expected daily as an ironical reminder that the war which the Aldershot tacticians imagined would be a holiday parade has entered upon its third year. Criticism of Lord Kitch-ener, Lord Milner and the ministers for lack of foresight in forecasting Boer activity is futile. The Boer remains at the end, as he was at the beginning of the war, a unique adversary with terrible persistence, who succeeds in reversing every tradition of military experience, and brings to naught every prediction and calcula-

CHANCE FOR THE LIBERALS. If the Liberals were united, and not demoralized, there would be destructive criticism in the place of guerilla attacks upon Lord Kitchener, Lord Milner, Mr. Brodrick and Mr. Cham-berlain. As it is, there is ineffective fault-finding by the press, and noth-ing is accomplished. The military staff is reproached for not following up the shattered columns of Botha and Delarey after his defeats, and is bluntly told that what it is doing is neither war nor business. There is a feeling or widespread dissatisfaction in regard to the conduct of the war. The Unionist press, while reflecting it, cannot perform the functions of a wellled opposition. Mr. Kipling is more effective when he condemns with fine irony the acceptance of imaginary corps and imaginary generals as a serious addition to the national defenses, and interprets the recent appointment of Sir Redvers Buller, Sir Evelyn Wood and the Duke of Connaught as evidence that the army machine has been hauled back into the old ruts of impotence, pretense and

There is a well-founded conviction that incompetent generals have been cess of British arms and penitence protected by social influence and the for national sins, has been reprotected by social influence and the for Aidershot gang. But neither the min-listry nor the war office is imperiled by he openly suggests therein imitation istry nor the war office is imperiled by the present conditions of criticism. Buller has been attacked with great vehemence, but has not even taken the trouble to conceal his con-tempt for the newspaper warriors. The inaptitude of the war office is matched by that of the critics themselves, and he genuine reformers in the army consider the outlook for a radical reorganization hopeless. Some of them assert that royalty alone can bring about a permanent reform, and are hoping for the Duke of Connaught as commander-in-chief.

The most unexpected incident was the attack upon Mr. Kipling by the Bishop of Calcutta for creating the erroneous impression of the conduct of Europeans in India. The Bishop of London sprang promptly to Mr. Kipling's defense, and thereby earned the gratitude of the literary society, with whom his predecessor was deservedly popular. Bishop Weldon was a good schoolmaster at Harrow, but could hardly have learned India by a hasty cramming process

THE RELIGIOUS EXODUS. A Paris correspondent says: "The exodus of the religious congregations that refuse to comply with the terms of the law of July 1, which came into application on Thursday, furnished in-teresting and pathetic spectacles at the railway stations, where groups of Carmelites, Assumptionists, Benedictines, Jesuits and White Fathers, in their picturesque mediaeval costumes The public apprehension respecting of white, black or brown, gather on the King's health may not be ground-Ninety per cent of the exiles have seected England as their refuge, and it s significant that these same recalcitrant congregations during the Dreyfus agitation nourished and fostered the most bitter outbreaks of hostile and offensive criticism of the English. They are now seeking and obtaining British hospitality.

EFFECT OF WALDECK-ROUSSEAU LAW.

There can be no doubt that, not-withstanding the strong hold that Catholicism still has in France, the overwhelming majority of the French people approve the Waldeck-Rousseau law regulating the religious associations. It appears that out of a total of 16,468 establishments, 5,141 have applied for authorization, while 11,327 have made no application—that is to say, approximately one-third of all the religious establishments in France have found it quite possible to carry on their pontifical secretary of state. Baschiwork under the changed conditions, while the other two-thirds persist in an attitude of uncompromising resistance. Among the applicants for authorization are 1,045 establishments of Sisters of St. Vincent De Paul and 1,-352 other female establishments. These sisters carry on works of pure humanity and beneficence, and the 5,141 establishments which accept the law conform to their type. The position There is much irresponsible talk of the majority of the recalcitrant 11.about the King's failing health, but it may be attributed mainly to the dedissolution for non-compliance, such as spondency and pessimism prevailing in the Jesuits, Passionists and Assump-England since the outbreak of the Boer | tionists, is at the opposite pole; they war. FRANCE AND RUSSIA. Regarding the financial situation in Russia and the Franco-Russian alliance the correspondent says: The collapse of Russian securities, failures of Russian commercial banks Western Transvaal after Magaliesburg and the industrial crisis now prevailing in Russia, which can no longer be concealed by the censorship, have had a marked effect in financial circles in Paris, where the feeling is setting in that, notwithstanding the strong sympathy with the Russian alliance a limit must soon be put on the amount of credit to be accorded even to a friendly and allied nation, and Count Tolstoi's drastic denunciation of the Franco-Russian alliance, published in the Revue Blanche, has undoubtedly made a profound impression in France, where for many years Tolstoi has been regarded as a literary idol, and his utterances have been accepted almost with the weight of law. As a straw shows the way the wind is setting, it is significant that songs ridiculing the Russian alliance are already being sung at Fursy's Boite, at Mont Martre, and its branch establishment, the Treteau de Tabarin.

THE ANARCHISTS

One of Them Threatened the Lives of the Pope and Cardinal Rampolla.

Rome, Oct. 7.-Glavinovitch, an anarchist, who recently arrived here from Dalmatia, has been arrested. He had been heard to threaten the lives of the pope and of Cardinal Rampolla, eri, another anarchist, has been arrested in Milan.

Washington, Oct. 7.-Representative W. B. Shattuc, of Ohio, chairman of the immigration committee of the house, saw the president Saturday in regard to a bill which he will introduce on the reassembling of Congress, having for its object the suppression of anarchistic literature and speeches in this country. Mr. Shattuc said that the proposed measure would be drastic as possible, and a strong effort would be made to cecure for it the support of all parties. London, Oct. 7 .- A fairly numerous meeting of anarchists was held yesterday in a hall in Tottenham Court road, London, to hear a lecture on the assassination of President McKinley by H. Kelly, of New York. The audience, largely composed of foreigners, applauded all reference to "saint' Czolgosz and his "meritorious" act. The speakers included Enrico Malatesta, the Italian anarchist, who described the assassination as "a deed of heroism." Kelly's lecture was a wild harangue in denunciation of Mr. McKinley's political career. He declared that they did not try to justify assassination, but rather to explain it as the outcome of "the oppression of workmen by capital." "If the killing of McKinley opens the eyes of the capitalists and induces them to treat the working people better," cried the agitator, "then great good will have been done."

THAT $25,900,000 LOAN. Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5. -- An effort was made here to obtain from Marquis

Ito a statement regarding the an-nouncement from London that Japan was about to procure a loan of 50,000,000 yen—equal to $25,000,000 in gold. Of this sum it was ascertained that 5,000,000 yen was to be expended in Formosa. Marquis Ito was asked point-blank whether or not his visit to the United States was in connection with the proposed loan. To this Secretary Trudzuki, speaking for Marsuis Ito, replied: "This is the first I have heard concerning the alleged desire of Japan to float a lean in the United States. I am hardly prepared to credit the authenticity of the rumor. Moreover, I can say with almost absolute assurance, that Marsuis Ito is here for no pur-pose of this kind. Japan's necessities are merely temporary, and no trouble will be encountered in securing the Adrian, Mich., Oct. 7 .- A terrible accident occurred at the west warehouse of the Page Fence works Saturday afternoon. A gang of men were employed piling coils of wire some three feet in diameter bound into a mass about the size of a stove-pipe, and weighing about 200 pounds each. The force were piling on to the second tier, standing on the first, and one was on a scaffold piling on the third tier.

FOUR TRAINMEN KILLED. Logansport, Ind., Oct. 6.-Four Pan-Handle Railway trainmen met deatl near Onward, fourteen miles southeast of here, this morning, in a rear-end collision of freight trains. The bodies of three of the dead were taken out, badly mutilated, but the fourth was almost entirely consumed by the flames, which broke out soon after he wreck, before the wrecking crev could subdue the fire permanently in that portion of the wreck where the bodies were located.

The dead are: R. Elbert Greely conductor; Thomas H. Brosius, flagman; S. A. Galbreath, brakeman; John Jutchinson, fireman. Injured: Frank Patterson, engineer.

During the night Conductor Weaver, in charge of a section of a train, consisting of an engine and two cabooses left Hartford for Logansport. In the rear cab were Galbreath, Brosius and Greely, who had been working on the gravel train at Hartford city, and who were en route to this city to spend Sunday with their families. Mrs. Seeley Makes an Ascension-Woman and Parachute Fell Into Illinois River.

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 7 .- Mrs. L. A. Seeey, an aeronaut known as Lillian Lewho has been one of the street fair attractions here, made a balloon ascension in this city about dusk, and up to a late hour no trace of her has When the ascent was made, L. A.

Seeley, husband of the aeronaut, followed the balloon in a wagon. He lowed the balloon in a wagon. He claims to have seen his wife make the parachute leap successfully at a point south of the Illinois River, near the Illinois Central bridge. The parachute and his wife, he said, descended slow-ly behind a grove of trees. This vicinity was thoroughly searched in vain.

Late in the afternoon the balloon was found in a pasture in Oglesby, one mile south of here. Mrs. Minnie Pierce, of Oglesby, who claims to have been an eye-witness to the descent, says the woman and the parachute landed in the river. The river was dragged a distance of several miles with no re-

BISHOP ATTACKS KIPLING. London, Oct. 6.-The church congress at Brighton has suffered from the preoccupation of the public with the yacht races and the battles with the Boers, but it has been a most interesting session. The factions have stood by their guns, but the warfare has been less fierce than usual. The Bishop of Chichester called for a truce when he drew the line between Christian unity and Christian uniformity, and advocated painstaking study of the real Roman controversy. The most unexpected incident was the attack upon Mr. Kipling by the Bishop of Calcutta for creating erroneous im pressions of the conduct of Europeans in India. The Bishop of London sprang promptly to Mr. Kipling's defense, and thereby earned the gratitude of the literary class here, with whom his predecessor was deservedly popular. THE SHOOTING PARTY. Poplar Point, Man., Oct. 6.-The royal train, conveying his royal highness the Duke of Cornwall and York and suite, arrived here about 11 o'clock this morning, and the party was received by Senator Kirchhoffer and Lord Minto, governor-general of Canada, who had arrived to meet the The distinguished guests are party. in excellent spirits, and look forward with great anticipation to enjoying the shooting at Lake Manitoba. The shooting party consists of his royal highness the duke, Prince Alexander of Teck, Lord Crichton, Commander Godfrey Faussett, Sir Charles Cust and Major Maude. After luncheon on the train, Senator Kirchhoffer and his guests drove out to the lake, a distance of about twelve miles. On arriving at the landing a fleet of canoes were ready to convey the guests to the shooting lodge, which is a fivemile paddle. The canoe conveying the Duke of York was guided by John Atkinsen, premier guide of Lake Manitoba shooting grounds, with Lord Minto in the bow, the other boats forming a flee of honor. The party reached the shooting lodge about o'clock.

A WILD SPOT. Elaborate preparations had been made for their entertainment there. The country is wild in the extreme, but the site selected for the shooting lodge is an ideal spot, and has the appearance of a shooting box. outbuildings and a group of tents made a very pretty picture. The weather is perfect, and as game, particularly the ducks, are plentiful, there are prospects of a splendid outing. All | London. the shooting will be done from canoes. and the sportsmen will be on hand in good time in the morning to catch the early flight of the birds. Among those assisting Senator Kirchhoffer in the entertainment of his guests are the well-known Winnipeggers, George J. Galt, Percy Galt and T. Halliwell, of Brandon, all of whom are expert duckhunters, and whose intimate knowledge of the country will be of great service to the party. Shortly after the arrival at the lodge dinner was served, and the remainder of the day was spent in a quiet inspection of the lodge and its surroundings. The party will remain at the shooting box until Tuesday, and will in that time have plenty of opportunity of securing a large bag of game. They will entertrain at Poplar Point at 3 o'clock on Tuesday, reaching Winnipeg about 4 ARRIVAL AT WINNIPEG. Winnipeg, Oct. 6.-Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Donald Mackenzie Wallace and Secretary Joseph Pope, who accompanied the royal train from the Pacific coast, reached here this afternoon, and remain in Winnipeg until Tuesday, when they again accompany the royal party to Ontario points. The premier, who has thoroughly enjoyed the trip west, is the guest of Lieut .-Gov. McMillan at Government House. Lord Minto, governor-general of Canada, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Arthur F. Sladen, and Captain Arthur Bell, A.D.C., arrived in the city yesterday to join the royal hunting party. Lord Minto, who arrived yesterday, at once proceeded to the shooting grounds and enjoyed a few hours' sport, securing quite a number of ducks. Capt. Bell, A. D. C. to the governor-general, and George Loames, of Winnipeg, who went on a hunting expedition at Rosser yesterday, secured 70 snipe and a number of geese in a couple of hours. Mrs. Kirchhoffer, who has been superintending arrangements at the lodge, left Brandon last night. During the interval that the train stopped here Sir Wilfrid Laurier greeted a number of his supporters. Senator Watson, of Portage la Prairie, met the premier here and proceeded with him to the city.

It nine hours, using a five-foot sickle is supposed to have lain there for about 24 hours. A deep gash was found in the back of the head. Dewer left Merritten Saturday morning to join friends at the Pan-American, but on their return they said they had not seen him there. No reason can be given for Dower's death. It is either a case of suicide or of foul play. The body fell some 80 feet clear. He was the only support of his aged mother, and also leaves a little daughter.

NOTICE FROM FRATERNITY.

Greek Letter Society Missive Found in Alan Gibbons' Room.

He Had Been Warned To Be at a Certain Street Corner on the Night of His Death.

A late account of the tragic death of Alan Gibbons at Toronto Saturday night, says:

Just before the dying lad was removed from the house, Allan Magee, of London, one of the young fellows who found deceased, noticed in crossing the room that on a small side table lay a letter torn into a number of pieces. These were handed over to the police to be put together, and when they did so, this is the way the letter read:

NEOPHYTE,-Be at the corner of St. George street and Dupont street on the evening of Saturday, October the 6th, at half-past seven o'clock, and there await a summons. Fail not in this, and mention not this notice.

The note was written on a double sheet of heavy vellum notepaper, with the Greek characters for Alpha, Delta, Phi," a Greek letter society formed of Toronto University students, at the top. It was neither dated nor signed, and was written in bright green ink. The envelope which contained the missive was also addressed in green ink to "A. Gibbons," but was not stamped, and must have been delivered instead of posted. Nobody at the Glass residence had seem the letter, and either Gibbons took it from the letter box himself, if it was delivered at the house, or it was given o him outside.

Whether the death of the young man was in any way connected with the torn-up letter is the question which is agitating university circles, and which some people think should be investigated by the coroner, not only in justice to the "Alpha, Delta, Phi" fraternity, but also in the interests of the public.

Deceased had applied for admission to the society, and his friend Magee was introducing him. He had called at the fraternity house, the headquarters of the society, on Friday evening

Could the fear of initiation into a secret society have so worked upon the mind of the 17-year-old lad as to have caused him, when he received a letter containing a veiled threat, to take his own life? According to the members of the fraternity, it could not. They all deny that there was any initiation or procedure whatever on Friday night, but say that Gibbons and Magee left the fraternity house at 45 Murray street together, and went to a reception given by the second-year men to the freshmen at the Students' Union. When the end had come, Coroner Powell states that he notified Crown Attorney Dewart of the affair, and asked his advice in regard to holding an inquest. Thinking that nothing could be gained by the inquiry, they agreed that it should not be held, so the body was taken back to London on the 7:40 a.m. train by the griefstricken father and Mr. Charles Hyman, who had accompanied him from

COOL SILOAM'S SHADY RILL RE-

For over ten years the Pool of Siloam has been only a name. Visitors to Palestine who have visited this famous spot of late years have found that its healing waters have vanished. This was a great blow to the inhabitants, but just recently the waters of Siloam have been made to flow once again, and there has been great rejoicing in the Holy Land. It appears that Jerusalem has been especially short water of late, and it occurred to some of the inhabitants of Siloam to try and find out whether the spring which used to supply the pool was really dry. Tons of accumulated rubbish cleared away, and after about month's work the spring was found, The excavators discovered behind some fallen rocks an old aqueduct running away into the valley of the Ked-ron, and into this aqueduct the beau-tiful, cool, clear water had run and been wasting for years. - Sunday Com-

THE GREATEST GUN THAT WAS EVER MADE!

Has Been Five Years in Building-Just Completed-Each Charge Costs $1,500.

[From the Washington Times.] The biggest gun in the world is now practically completed, and awaiting its carriage in the shops of the army gun factory at Watervliet, N. Y. It was planned ten years ago, and has been over five years in process of construction. It is the most powerful engine of destruction known. compared to it the largest gun built in civil war time looks like a toy cannon. This new weapon is known as a 16inch breech-loading rifle, and it is intended for harbor defense. Forty of these monsters were recommended by the Endicott board for the harbors of New York, Boston, San Francisco and Hampton Roads, New York was to have 18, Boston 8, San Francisco 10 and Hampton Roads 4. According to present intentions this number will be somewhat reduced. Some idea of the size and power of this gun may be had from the fact that it throws a projective weighing 2.370 pounds. It requires 1,176 pounds of ordinary powder to do this, or 576 pounds of the new smokeless powder. The cost of a single firing of the gun is over $1,500, of which the projectiles alone costs $1,000. The gun has a range of 21 miles. It has a pene-trating power that will, it is estimated, bore 42.3 inches into hardened steel. The missile which it hurls is nearly as long as a man, five feet and four inches. It will throw this projectile, If aimed at an angle of 45 degrees, to a height in the projectory of over five miles. If Mount Blanc were set on top of Pike's Peak, this gun would shoot over them, clearing the top, it is computed, by 590 feet. The time between the shell's leaving the gun and its striking earth will be a minute and a quarter.

The best performance of any gun up to this time is credited to a 9.45 caliber Krupp gun. In 1892 an exhibition was given before the German Emperor the Meppen range. The greatest beight reached by the Krupp shell in its flight was 21,456 feet, and the measured range was found to be 22,120

50 feet in length, 5 in diameter at the sive of carriage, 130 tons. It is interesting to compare these figures with the largest gun built in 1864, namely. the Rodman smooth-bore 20-inch. This where it was placed nearly 40 years ago. It was never in practical use, the largest gun seeing actual service in the war being a 10-inch Parrott. Several of these were used at the siege of Charleston, where they were known as "swamp ange's."

The "20-inch" Rodman gun is 20 cast at Pittsburg in 1864. During the war the 10-inch Parrott guns were re-garded as "monsters." They are small, even as compared with the Red Major Charles S. Smith, of the army bureau of ordnance, says the new gun will be ready for the official tests as soon as the carriage mounts are

WHERE THEY USE A SOBERING MACHINE

Pennsylvania Tewn Provides a Springless Cart for the Speedy Relief of Tipsy

[Philadelphia Ledger.] The "Tattler" recently met a quaint and amusing old gentleman who told of a curious institution for which wide use could be found. He said: "A portion of my life was spent in a sleepy Pennsylvania tewn which has grown little in the course of a half century, and still preserves many of the quaint customs of its earliest days. You will find in this idyllic retreat counterparts of all the celebrities who figure so delightfully in Miss Mitford's 'Our Village.' In my beyhood it had an institution which distinguished it from all sister villages, an institution quite unknown to modern communities. It was called the sobering machine. This consisted of a rude, springless, two-wheeled vehicle, with a board body, drawn by a motley assembly of bummers and roysterers, old and young, who can always be summoned in a country place on the slightest signal when anything exciting is in the wind. When one of the rather numerous town drunkards was discovered in a favorable position, the sobering ma-chine was slyly backed up to the curb, stigation of the coroner, and is held a prisoner at the central station pending an investigation into very serious the victim was quickly pushed into the cart, and then pulled through the streets, over every possible obstacle, streets, over every possible obstacle, by the jeering crowd that manned the The victim, it was assumed, ropes. was jolted, jerked and thumped into semi-sobriety by this rough riding. At any rate, few of the town loafers who had tested the tonic virtues of the sobering machine yearned for a second dose, Many of the noisy, ragged crowd who helped to drag the sobering machine over its devious route had themselves taken similar trips. The rude apparatus, I suspect, did more for the cause of temperance in its day than the more gentle and respectable methods of promoting the reform. The appliance was carefully housed, and all the bloods in town knew where it was to be found. Sometimes it figured in parades, and, when bedecked and bedizened with flowers, flags and ribbons, it attra ted almost

Very great progress has been made with the tunnel under the Simplon, which should be open for traffic in 1904. The total cost when both tunnels are completed will be about $300 a lineal yard of single-line tunnel. A correspondent of the London Times says that it will be 12½ miles long. The Mont Cenis tunnel has a length of nearly 8 miles, and all trains have to attain an altitude of 4,248 feet above the sea level. The Arlberg is 61-3 miles in length, with a height of 4,300 feet. The St. Gothard is 91-3 miles, with a maximum altitude of 3,788 feet. The Simplon will have the great advantage over the others that its traffic has not to be taken to a greater altitude than 3,314 feet above the sea level, or 1,474 feet less than in the case of the St. Gothard, so that no costly approaches nor helical should be open for traffic in 1904. The work will at first consist of one single line tunnel, lined with masonry throughout, and one parallel passage 10 feet wide by 8 feet high, preparatory to a second tunnel placed 56 feet apart, axis from axis. When the traffic necessitates a second tunnel it can be completed for about one-third of the cost of the first tunnel. The experience gained during the tunnel. CHAPTER XVIII.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Darkness fell before Elsie could see much of the country, and then she slept at intervals, awakening when the train shot into the light and bustle of the stations, and dozing again when it resumed its route through the darkness. At length loud noise and flashing gaslights, and the clamor of strange tongues and a strange language told her that she had arrived at the Chemin de Fer du Nord. There was a long and most tiresome delay with the luggage, while the poor

There was a long and most tiresome de-lay with the luggage, while the poor child stood bewildered and half fright-ened in the crowd.

How she envied those tall English girls with their mother! They told her that they were going on to spend the winter at Mentone, and Eisie had not told them that she had aunts at Cannes, two maiden ladies called Misses Com-melines.

'If they had heard that I was travel-"If they had heard that I was traveling alone to Paris what would they say?"
She almost laughed at the thought, cold and sad as she felt. At last her stock of French was in requisition.
She had to call a cab and arrange the terms, or rather accept the cocher's statement of them, and then she gave him her new address written on a card.

him her new address written on a card; "Numero 70 Rue Montmartre." She took her seat, and the fiacre rolled along. The streets were wider and grander than she had imagined. She looked out in wonder at the enormously tall houses. "So this is Paris! It is grand, but I wish my father would come back with wish my father would come back with me to England."

Somehow the long, dreary, cold journey had made her dreadfully homesick. She had always wished to see the world, but, she did not anticipate anything delightful in this brilliant Paris, which she reached in the middle of a cold winter night. She passed under the shadow of an old church, and then began the rolling of the church, and then began the rolling of the cab along the narrow interminable street of Montmatre.

Cependant, madame," he said, turning

"Cependant, madame," he said, turning to Madame Jotte. "cette demoiselle, est elle, donc, votre fille?—is this young lady then your daughter?"

"Mais non, monsieur," Madame Jotte replied; this is the daughter of the gentleman who has come from America, and who has such serious affairs on hand—the gentleman who has been ill, but is now well again—Monsieur Carew." Madame Jotte pronounced Elsie's name Car-reux.

house? Better Madame Jotte, and her terrible little kitchen for a sleeping chamber; she could at least lock the door, and bolt herself in. She bit her lips, and wondered what she should say.

Not the smallest doubt of the utter dishonesty of this strange, large, handsome man crossed her mind. She intuitively knew him to be Pauline Bracegirdle's father, and an accomplished scoundrel.

"Mademoiselle, you look pale and alarmed. You need not fear on the score of your good father—oh, not in the very least! He is well now, perfectly well! I believe it was to you that I sent off a telegram at his request—a telegram stating that he was dying? Well, he was at that time in this house, occupying the very room which I now occupy. He was much alarmed about his case; but I knew much alarmed about his case; but I knew much alarmed about his case; but I knew quite well that it would pass, and that a few days would see him restored to his usual health. He will not return to Paris for three weeks; and during that time you must address all your letters to him under cover to Monsieur Monceau, Hotel Violet, Fontainebleau

Elsie could hardly repress a smile at the barefaced hardlhood of these un-truths. She began to think this Captain Bracegirdle—she felt oulte sure that he was a captain—must think her an idiot was a captain—must think her an idiot to believe them. Something of incredulity the man did read on her face.

"You are surprised," he said, "that your father does not send for you at once? Well you see, mademoiselle, your brave father is a political extle, and he lives under a cloud, and indeed under a false name, as so many of us are here compeled to do. I have the hour to be a name, as so many of us are here compelled to do. I have the honor to be a fellow-countrymen—a compatriot of yours, mademoiselle."

Elsie bent her head. Her manner was cold—very cold and distrustful; she could not help it. She could not appear pleased with this man at whom her very heart quailed; but she tried to be civil. She wished to see how far he would go, and meanwhile she had money enough in her purse to pay for her return to England, and thither she must betake herselt without delay, for what could she do in his huge foreign city, friendless as she was now—penniless as she would soon become!

come!
"ah! she is a little idiot!" said the gentleman to himself. "Pretty, but a little idiot. Most English schoolgris would have been enchanted with me, just as much as are these French countesses who know the world. Women are weak," reflected the captain, continuing his mus-reflected the captain, continuing his musings. He began to hum, staring meanwhile rudely at Elsie, who flushed and trembled under his scrutiny.

"She is pretty—very pretty," was the num-total of his reflections; "pretty without an ounce of manners in her whole bearing. These English children are brought up so stiffly! But I can't understand her having turned the head of an English nobleman who knows the world, as most certainly our brave Arthur Hammond knows it. She is not a bit fascinating; she can't talk or even open her lips; but is pretty, as I said just now.

"You will come to my house will you lips: but is pretty, as I said just now.

"You will come to my house will you not, mademoiselle, and accept of such poor hospitality as I have it in my power to offer you? This was the wish of your good and brave father. You will come with me now at once?"

"It is impossible, monsieur." Elste spoke with the vehemence of absolute fear. She was imaginative enough to an-spoke with the vehemence of absolute fear. She was imaginative enough to anticipate a whole world of horrors if she put herself into this man's power. "It is," she repeated, "quite impossible that I can trust myself with a stranger whom I never heard of before, whose name I don't know."

Jog—joit—stop! The man got down. Elsie peered out. She saw a very tall house; the entrance appeared to be a sort of restaurant, but it was new closed. However, the cocher rang a bell; a porter with a shock head of hair, and a wild, cadaverous face, came out, and a colloquy with a shock head of hair, and a wild, cadaverous face, came out, and a colloquy ensued in rapid French, unintelligible to Elsie's English ears, well as she read and wrote the language. Then the cocher came to the window of the carriage.

"Montez, mademoiselle, au troisieme etage," he said.

She paid the man, and she comprehended that she was to mount to the third story. The porter went in front of her with her trunk.

It was a narrow, carpetless staircase, dingy in the wretched light of a single oil lamp which hung at an immense height above their heads. On the landing of the third floor was a door, half glass, with red curtains; there was a bell handle. Elsie saw the porter pull it.

Almost at once there was a tremendou

Almost at once there was a tremendous bustle and scramble inside; veices raised in some excitement; the shock-headed porter made a significant sign as he pointed to the box.

Elsie paid him, the door swung back, and a very funny-leoking little old woman appeared. She had scarcely any nose to speak of: a pair of spectacles; through which peered a pair of inquisitive little black eyes. She were a white calico cap with a great frill; her face was the color—so it seemed—of walnut shell. She was very short, and slight, and wiry, and her scanty petticoats were of no particular color.

"Hey, well," she said, in a broken patois of French and English, "is it, then, the demoiselle of England who is come to see her father—pere? Oul oui," nodding her little grotesque head and laughing. "I thought it was so. Entrez, then, mademoiselle; you are well expected. Yes, yes—oul oui—and the maille—the box—put it here in this corner; and terribet." yes—oui oui—and the maille—the box—put it here in this corner; and tonight, if mademoiselle will sleep on the couch in the cuisine—kitchen—yes, ha, ha! where it is warm, and we will serve her with dejeuner in the morning, and she will receive a letter from monsieur her father, who a not ill at all now." The old woman threw up both her hands. "Net ill, and is parti—gone—gone to Fontainbleau for deux—semaines—a fortnight—eui oui, and will then return, but he will write to mademoiselle."

Elsie stood bewildered before the old

Elsie stood bewildered before the old woman. The idea that a trap had been laid, and that she had fallen into it did not strike her for a long time afterward. She fancied that some political scheme was on foot, and that her father might have feigned illness in order to make her hurry to meet him.

"My father is not iil—has not been iil, then?" she asked of the little old Frenchwoman, who forthwith nodded her head about seven times in succession.

"Oui, out, oui" she said. Elsie thought she was like on ugly little jackdaw, nodding and moving her head from side to side. "Yes, oh, he has been iil; seen the doctor—spasms—oh, yes, of the heart—not thought to live, not," she shock her head very fast, "but well—well this morning and gone on to Fontainbleau."

"Then I can go to him in the morning?"

and gone on to Fontainbleau."

"Then I can go to him in the morning?"
The old creature screamed a dissent.

"Not—not for the world! He left word you are to stay in cless—scarcely to go out—only to walk in the Tulleries for an hour, when he will send a friend to meet you; but he will tell all. It is a plot—a scheme business. There will be a fortune for you, mademoiselle."

Here the old woman grinned. There was something quite sardonic in this grin.

"When did my father arrive from New York?" asked Elsie. York?" asked Elsie.

"From New York? Qui sait? A week—a month—I know not. He has not been here staying."

Still, no doubt of her father being actually in Paris entered poor Elsie's mind yet awhile most fortunately, for terror might have selved her had she understood the truth respecting her own pitlable and incongruous position. It was a relief to learn that her father was not ill, and yet she felt a little humiliated when she thought of the strong language of the telegram, "I am dying." And he was not very ill, even—he could not have been very ill to have gone off so soon to Fontainbleau.

FOOTBALL. London easily defeated Sarnia at Tecumseh Park on Saturday in the opening game of the Rugby Football League series, the score at the close being 25 to 0. Neither side played the game seriously. although Sarnia was clearly outclassed. The Tunnel Town players apparently did not know the rudiments of the game, and their ignorance was only matched by ame Jotte pronounced Elsie's name ar-reux.

"Ah ha! I know that gentleman," the framer said, turning towards Elsie, amiling so as to show brilliant white seth, and speaking English with an English accent." know your father quite intimately, molemoiselle; and it strikes me that I still have the honor of offering you an asylum in my house during the remainder of your stay in Paris. ARGONAUTS LOST Toronto, Oct. 7.—Argonauts II. and Young Torontos put up a great struggle in their first game in the intermediate series, O. R. F. U., Saturday afternoon. A heavy wind from the west aided the Argonauts in the first half, but owing to erratic team play up to half time the watermen only scored 4 points to Toronto's nil. On the whole season the National League played to 1,857,000 people, while the American drew about 1,658,000, which demonstrates that the two organizations are about on a par as regarding popularity. Taken all in all, and considering that there has been baseball war on, this has been a most prosperous season for the game. It goes to show that there is just as much money in it for the club owners with two big organizations as with one. Now let the war cease!

THE SHAMROCK

Sir Thomas Lipton's Boat Will Be Laid Up in New York This Winter.

New York, Oct. 7.-The Shamrock II. in tow of the tug James Lawrence, left her moorings in Sandy Hook Bay Saturday morning, bound for the Erie basin. The yachts mainsail was unbent, and she will probably be dismantled at once. After Sir Thomas Lipton, accompanied by Mr. Jameson and Mr. Watson, had paid a farewell visit to Col. Burbank and his family, at the military post on Sandy Hook, the Erin's anchor was hove up and that yacht steamer direct to New York. She was saiuted by all the outgoing steamships on her way up the harbor, and then anchored off the foot of West Thirty-fourth street at 3 p.m. When asked if it was true that he was willing to put the captain and crew of the Shamrock on board the Columbia and allow that yacht's crew to handle the Shamrock in a series of races, Sir Thomas said: "Yes, I would be willing to do it if it is in the interest of sport, and provided, of course, the other side is willing." just now, as both the yachts are being stripped and could not be put in trim again for weeks.

Secretary Oddie, of the New York Yacht Club, said that such a race might create bad feeling, especially if the Shamrock should win. Commodore Kane said the idea was preposterous. Columbia was taken to City Island. Her trip up the East River was a continuous ovation from the scores of vessels from the ocean liners down to the smallest tug, and the passengers on the ferry boats cheered her heartily as they went by. The demonstration was particularly marked as the Columbia passed the anchorage at the foot of East Twenty-third street, where thirty or more vessels belonging to members of the club were moored. At the New York Yacht Club Secretary Oddie said that all the business of the various committees had been completed, and there was no necessity for them to meet again. Beyond the reception to Sir Thomas Lipton at the yacht club on Tuesday, no arrangements for his entertainment has been made. Asked if there was any truth in the rumor that the beats' crews would be exchanged and a new series of races sailed under those conditions, Mr. Oddie said he did not know of any such arrangement and did not think

After completing his course in McCHI University and the Congregational College, he preached at Forest, his birthplace, taking charge of the Congregational Church at Point St. Charles in 1896. The anniversary tea meeting of the church will be held on Tuesday evening, when Mr. Hamilton will express his views on the relations of the pastor and his people.

HARVEST HOME FESTIVAL. The rector, Rev. C. C. Owen, preached appropriate and able sermons at the morning and evening services in Memorial Church yesterday, the special occasion being the harvest home festival. The congregation were much pleased to have their pastor with them, after his six weeks' trip to the British Isles. The church was very tastefully decorated, and the music by the choir, 45 voices, under the leadership of Mr. Vivian Reeve was appropriate and excellent. At the merning the Te Deum and Benedictus were by Woodward, and the anthem was "All Thy Works Praise Thee," by Pattison. In the evening Wood-ward's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, and the anthem, "All Thy Works Praise Thee," set to Sir Arthur Sulli-van's music, "The Lost Chord." The soloists were Miss Robinson, Miss Brock and Mrs. Lilley. Over 500 scholars, who brought with them a liberal supply of fruit and flowers, and many of the parents, were in at-tendance at the Sunday school rally in the afternoon.

Amusements.

"A LION'S HEART."

London theater-goers were on Saturday given their second opportunity within a year of witnessing one of the best melodramas which has visited this city in recent years. That Carl A. Haswin's "A Lion's Heart" pleased the public on its former presentation here was evident from the large audi-ences present at the Grand Opera House at both the matinee and night performances on Saturday. The action of the play, which describes the revenge of the lion-tamer on the villain who robs him of wife and child, is located variously in France, England entered the service of and the French penal settlement of Company at Montreal.

Rice, as the scoundrel partners, Gaspard Dobre and Col. De Villefort played the parts with the same realistic villainy as marked their work on their former appearance here. S. H. Verney did excellent character work in the roles of Daddy Meson, Chamboran, the ticket-of-leave man, and Jean horraine the landlord. Among the female members of the company Misses Grace Welby, Blanche Carlyle and Julia Morton deserve mention. The stame management, under the direction of Mrs. Francis R. Haswin, was excellent.

AT THE LONDON OPERA HOUSE. The Burrill Comedy Co. on Saturday night produced 'Kathleen Mayourneen," a sterling Irish comedy-drama, to a satisfied audience. The piece presents abundant opportunities for telling work on the part of the principles, and they were well taken advantage of. For this week some excellent bills are offered. Tonight an amusing melodrama, "Jerry, the Tramp," will be put on, and a good house should witness it. During the week "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Rip Van Winkle" and "Ten Nights in a Barroom" will be presented, and they should prove good drawing cards. The taking specialties will be given between each act, a new feature being moving pictures and illus-trated songs by Prof. Houry, who is said to be an expert in this line of business, and who will show the latest boat race pictures. On Friday night another amateur contest will be held, thus giving those whose names had to be struck off on account of the late hour another chance to compete for the $5 prize. SHEA'S SHOW TONIGHT. Tonight at the new Grand the second week's bill of Shea's refined vaudeville will be offered. The programme announced for tonight is by the Orpheum Show, which is acknowledged to be the best combination in the west. Mr. Shea last week amply made good his promises of a highclass bill, and he claims that this week's combination is even stronger. The hill, which comprises seven acts, has as head liners McIntyre and Heath, the greatest comedy team in America, supporting them are Elizabeth Murray, W. C. Fields, Sturgeon and Engleton, the Serenaders, the Aglos Trio and Joe Welch. The sale has been very large.

THE BEST YET.

Mr. F. C. Whitney, manager of the Lulu Glaser Opera Company, who passed through the city last week, says that in his long career as manager of comic opera organizations he never had one that would compare with "Dolly Varden," both in respect to the music and the book. He is posicomedy songs in "Dolly Varden" that are sure to tickle the public ear are "The Lay of the Jay," "Run About the Town a Bit," and "The Cannibal

PASSED AWAY SUNDAY NIGHT.

Lamented Death of Mr. Wm. Bell After a Month's Illness.

Had Been a Resident of London for 36 Years and Health Inspector for 20 Years.

Inspector William Bell, who for almost twenty years has faithfully and efficiently performed the duties of license and health inspector of the city of London, passed away last night, about 7:30 o'clock, at his residence, 480 Maitland street. His death will be sincerely regretted by all, for Mr. Bell was regarded not only as a most valued official, but as a worthy and estimable citizen.

About a month ago, Inspector Bell was compelled to absent himself from duty on account of the illness which has proved fatal. Several days ago he was so low that the absent members of his family were called home. He appeared to rally, however, and hopes were entertained for his recovery, but he again sank, and he regained consciousness for only a short period before his death, when he recognized his gathered family. The late Wm. Bell was Cumberland, England, on Dec. 1827. Coming to Canada in 1854, he entered the service of the G. T. R. Company at Montreal. In 1862 he went to Kingston, and later to Osforeman in the company's shops, at Carl Haswin, as Pierre, which time he was appointed health and license inspector of the city. Throughout his life, Inspector Bell took a practical and hearty interest in various departments of athletic sports and games. He was a wrestler of exceptional skill, and on one occasion wrestled in London with the famous Duncan C. Ross. Before he came to Canada he twice won the wrestling championship at Carlyle, Cumberland. At 55 years of age he won the wrestling honors at the Caledonian games in this city. He was the champion quoit pitcher of Lower Canada when in Montreal. As a sprinter, jumper and pole vaulter, he had few equals. He introduced pole vaulting at Montreal. Advancing years compelled him to abandon active participation in these sports, but to the last he maintained his interest in them. A widow and family of eight children survive, and to them will be extended the sincere sympathy of all. The sons are Geo. T., of Montreal; W. E., of Chicago; John E., at home; Wm. H., of St. Paul, and James, at Three daughters live at home. The late Mr. Bell was twice married. on the first occasion the wedding be ing performed by the village blacksmith at Gretna Green.

SAD BEATH OF

Revolver in His Hands Was Accidentally Discharged.

Builet Entered Right Side of the Head, Inflicting Wound That Caused His Death.

Mr. George C. Gibbons, K. C., received the sad intelligence Saturday evening that his younger son, Alan, had was served, but his absence caused no comment. Later in the evening a friend called to see him. To the visitor's hor-ror he found the young man lying across his bed with a bullet hole in the right side of his head. Beside him on the floor lay a 32-caliber self-acting revolver. From the nature of the wound, and the direction taken by the bullet, it is evident that he was examining the pistol, when, in some unac-countable way it was discharged. The slanting direction of the wound indi-cated that when the shot was fired the revolver was at arm's length.

The unfortunate youth was still alive when found by his friend, and was at once conveyed to the Emergency Hos pital, where he lingered in an unconscious condition until 5 o'clock Sun-day morning. The remains were at once brought to London, and the funeral will be held from the family residence tomorrow afternoon. The tragic death of Alan Gibbons is a heavy blow to the family, whose deep grief will be shared by the community at large. The victim of the accident was not only very popular with all who knew him, but was an unusually bright young man whose life seemed ful of promise. He had prepared himself for the university last year, but, owing to his youth, it was not deemed advisable for him to enter at that time. A few weeks ago he celebrated his 17th birthday, and last week he was admitted as a student to Toronto University. The sad happening is rendered still more sad by the absence of Mrs. Gibbons and Misses Lorna and Helen Gibbons, who sailed from Europe on Sat urday for home, and who cannot, of course, be made acquainted with the accident until their arrival at New

HIS BOY SHOT AWAY CIGAR ASHES!

And Simultaneously a Part of the Old Man's Lip Disappeared.

Baltimore, Oct. 7 .- Edward Thomas jun., the 12-year-old son of Edward Thomas, 414 Hughes avenue, until very recently enjoyed the reputation of be-Among his many admirers was his father, and so implicit was the faith of the indulgent parent that he even staked his life upon the infallibility of the juvenile Edward's aim. The boy's favorite arm is a cat-and-rat rifle. After slaying most of the stray cats and rats in the neighborhood of Hughes avenue, that sport became too tame. Shooting at a mark was worse but his father came to the rescue. H had read of the feat of William Tell and determined that his son should equal William's skill, though he might not become immortal. Apples wer placed on the fond parent's head and one by one they were picked off by the unerring aim of the boy. Then pins were held in the fingers of Edward sen., while the son shot them out. Cigar stumps were held in his mouth and the ashes flicked off by the bullets. This became a favorite pastime, as it saved trouble and afforded much amusemen for the young Nimrod.

All great marksmen sometimes miss however, as Mr. Thomas found out to his sorrow. Edward, jun., is the invincible no more, and Edward, sen., now speaks with difficulty of his son's past greatness, for a slice of his upper lip is missing. Friday night several people were gathered in Mr. Thomas' place of business. Among them were some persons who had not heard of the boy's gun-work, nor did they believe it when told. To settle all doubts Mr. Thomas shoved a cigar stump—a very short one—into the corner of his mouth and coolly told his son to perform the trick. As he shot Mr. Thomas gave a yell and clapped his hand to his mouth. Thinking it was a joke, the crowd began to laugh, for most of them had seen the feat performed too many times to think of an accident. As they looked, however, blood began to spurt through Mr. Thomas' fingers, and it was found that the bullet had passed completely through the upper lip. For many weeks Mr. Thomas will not be capable of holding the customary eigar, and young Edward is now ooking around for another daring soul to take his father's place as the "hu-man target." As yet he has been unsuccessful in his hunt.
