Russian Petroleum Companies to Compete With Standard Oil Co.

Odessa. Dec. 31.-A newspaper states that a powerful combination of Baku petroleum concerns, under the leadership and in the name of the Gukassoff firm, is about to establish repositories in a number of British centers for the purpose of competing with the Standard Oil Company. It is similar to an enterprise that was recently projected, but which did not materialize owing to lack of Government sanction. A eature of the new scheme is that it will open the campaign by sacrificing prices in Western Europe and maintaining high prices at home, as is done in the Russian sugar export trade.

PROGRAMME FOR CEREMONIES

Will Take Place in a Huge Amphitheater-Forty Thousand Troops To Be in Line.

Delhi, India, Dec. 31.-In commentain classes of military offenders and 16,188 prisoners who are in civil jails. Among the durbar horors Lady Curzon of Kedleston gets the Kaiser-I-Hind (Emperor of India) gold medal for public services in India. Lord Curzon of Kedleston, the viceroy, is not included in the durbar honor list, which is very lengthy and of little interest outside Anglo-Indian circles. Decorations and orders are lavished on the Indian princes, members of the governmental departments and naval and military officers. Lord George Hamilton, the Indian secretary, is made a Knight Grand Commander of the Star of India. A QUIET DAY. Yesterday was a comparatively quiet day at Delhi after the brilliant scenes of Monday, but at the opening of the arts exhibition, which had been gathered together there by great efforts, the viceroy made a clever and entertaining speech on art, deploring the tendency of the present day towards the cheap, tawdry and comfortable. Delhi now resembles London in the height of the season more than an ancient Indian city. There are no very special ceremonies today, but all will be prepared for the great durbar proper tomorrow.

THE PROGRAMME. The programme for the remainder of the durbar ceremonies is as follows: Tomorrow coronation durbar at noon | seen in modern times.

DIVORCED FOR DESERTION

Interesting Proceedings Taken at Ottawa.

According to the Customs and Laws of Hebrew Religion.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 31.-According to the rites and laws of the Hebrew religion, Louis Gross, who has been in the county jail for the past week, is no longer the husband of the daughter of Max Siegel, of Baltimore, Md. Gross was arrested, charged with stealing $300 from his father-in-law, Max Siegel, of Baltimore, but was released tonight, proceedings being dropped as a result of the divorce. There being no rabbi of great enough authority in the synagogues of Ottawa to grant the divorce, Chief Rabbi Sprince, of Montreal, assisted by Rabbi M. B. Latterman, of the same place, officiated at the proceedings which took place at the residence of Mr. Samuel Lonemsky at 11 o'clock this morning. Gross had been called in the police court and his case remanded until Friday. Immediately after court he entered a cab with his counsel, Mr. Ed Mahon, and a policeman, to see fair play. They drove to the Rideau street house, and there Gross was questioned for a time in Hebrew by Rabbi Sprince. At the conclusion of the examination, in which Gross admitted the desertion of his wife, the divorce was granted, the decree being written in ancient Hebrew with a quill pen. The reason the father-in-law is so anxious for the divorce granted today, which would, of course, be valuless in any civil court either in Canada or the States, is that a civil divorce is not recognized by the Hebrew religion without preliminary religious ceremony. Once having the rabbi's decree, Mrs. Louis Gross will find it an easy matter to secure a civil divorce on the grounds of desertion.

THE NOTEWORTHY SPEECH OF CURZON

Decadence of Indian Native Arts Deplored-Lack of Home Support.

Delhi, Dec. 31.-Lord Curzon made a noteworthy speech on the decadence of Indian native arts. He deplored that native taste was declining, and that many modern models were debased. It was in the hope of arresting the progress of decay that the ex-hiption had been organized. He appealed to native artists and their pa trons to study and imitate the beautiful specimens of the past collected at exhibition. They were witnessing in India one aspect of a pro-cess that was going on throughthe world, which long ago extinguished the manual industries of Great Britain, and was rapidly extinguishing those of China and Japan. Nothing could stop it, because it was inevitable in an age which wanted things cheap, and did not mind their being ug.y; which cared much for comfort and little for beauty, which, ever asserting its own models, was seeking something new or

It was certain that if many old Indian arts and handicrafts were to be revived and placed in a flourishing condition it could only be done by the patronage of the Indian chiefs, aristocracy and cultured persons. But so long as these preferred to fill their places with flaming Brussels carpet, cheap British furniture, Italian Mosaics. French oleographs, Austrian lusters, and German brocades, there was not much hope. Lord Curzon said that he did not mean to specially resuit of foreign gauds. Matters were wished to impress upon his hearers that support of native art must come rom India. Outside patronage alone not support it. He was conas not dead. She could still imagine

The congregation has been Sauvey, John Soroule A. W. Parks, B. approved by Harry Stough and three A. Evoy and William Galloway, councilannoyed by Harry Stough and three other boys named King, Royer and Palmer, and the minister has appealed to them to behave themselves properly. They had been dragging their feet over the floor and laugning out loud. Sunday night the disturbance began again and Mr. Ogden went to where the boys were sitting and asked them to take seats further up in the church. Two of them complied, one left the church, Stough became defiant. Mr. Ogden took him by the collar and the boy fought back, striking viciously at the minister. The latter dragged the boy in spite of his blows and struggles there the fight became fiercer.

Grand Trunk Exhibition in Japan. The Grand Trunk Railway System, through the exhibition commissioners of Canada at Ottawa, have just ship-ped a very fine and complete collection of their well-known scenic views, depicting scenes along their line, to the land of the chrysanthemum, for display at the Fifth National Exhibition of Ja-pan, which will open in the City of Osaka, March 1, 1903. The collection includes some of the best pictures of the districts in the "Highlands of Ontario" and other summer resorts located on the Grand Trunk, as well as reproductions of several of the engineering feats on the line, such as the St. Clair tunnel, the double-track, single-arch steel bridge across the Niagara Gorge, and the more recent Victoria Jubilee bridge across the St. Lawrence River at Montreal. This series of pictures will make a very comprehensive dis-play, and will be the means of bringing before the people of the Orient some of the charms of Canada which have hitherto been unknown.

President MacKenzie Outlines the Company's Plans-Other Railway Matters.

New York, Dec. 31 .- The directors of the Delaware and Hudson Company met today and fixed the dividend for the coming year at 7 per cent. This is the regular rate. The declaration is made about a month earlier than usual. J. P. Morgan denies that it is intended to consolidate the Erie, Lehigh Valley and Reading Railroads. Mr. Morgan said: "There is not the slightest reason for such a story." It is altogether without foundation."

C. P. R. CHANGES. Winnipeg, Dec. 31.-It is stated that Supt. Arundel, of the Canadian Northern, is returning to his old position on the C. P. R., and that he will be succeeded by W. R. Brown, at present superintendent on the C. P. R. at Montreal, Dec. 31.-Mr. D. McNichol, second vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific, has left on a western tour of inspection. He will go as far as Winnipeg, and arrange for the important improvements to the line which are contemplated, and will be begun so soon as the weather permits.

ADVANCING FREIGHT RATES. Toronto, Dec. 31.-The recent meetings of the freight agents of Canadian railroads to revise the different tariffs appears to be bearing fruit. One advance in rates recently made was on flour for export. Then changes were made in the classifications on iron and iron goods which were equivalent to an advance, and now a marked advance is announced by the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways on grain between these points, but this reduction is withdrawn, and the old tariff put into effect again. The advance is a very substantial one, and feit by grain shippers, ranging from 1 cent to 9 cents per 100 pounds. The differences which now have to be paid per 100 pounds is as follows, in carload and less than carload lots respectively: Up to 10 miles, 1 cent; 20 miles, 2 and $2\frac{1}{2}$ cents; 50 miles, 3 cents; 100 miles, 3½ cents; 200 miles, 4 and 6 cents; 300 miles, 6½ and 7 cents; 400 miles, 7 and 8 cents, and 500 miles

THE PERE MARQUETTE Boston, Mass., Dec. 31.-Some radi-Boston, Mass., Dec. 31.—Some radical and sweeping changes in the personnel of the board of directors and in the management of the Pere Marquette were effected at a meeting of the directors held Monday. Frederick H. Prince was elected president of the road, succeeding Cherles M. Heald, resigned, and Myron J. Carpenier, formerly president of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. was elected vice-Illinois, was elected vice president and general manager. Chas. Merriam remains as treasurer.

The following changes were effected in the board of directors: W. W. Crapo, Charles M. Heald, John H. Graham, Oliver W. Mink and S. T. Crapo resigned, and the following were elected in their places: Thomas H. West and W. K. Bixby. of St. Louis; Samuel R. Snerly, of Philadelphia; Norman Erb, of New York, and M. J. Carpenter, of Chicago.

The office of chairman of the board will remain vacant for the present. The change results from the recent purchase of a controlling interest the company by a syndicate. Detroit, Mich., Dec. 30.—F. H. Prince, of Boston, the newly-elected president of the Pere Marquette Railway: M. J. Carpenter, who has been made viceresident and general manager, and Newman Erb, a member of the executive committee of the board of directors, arrived in the city today and spent the afternoon at the company's office here, discussing business incident to the road's change in management.

Mr. Prince announced tonight that S. T. Crapo, who has been general manager of the road under President C. M. Heald, has been appoint d general superintendent under General Manager Carpenter. The only other staff changes announced by Mr. Prince was in the title of A. Patriche, whose position will be that of general freight and traffic manager, as heretofore, Mr. Prince gave out a brief statement in which he said that it was the intention to increase the mileage of the road in Michigan and to assist in the industrial development of the state by general improvements and extensions. Also that the road will be developed and made a trunk line, affording to the territory served by it a direct outlet both to Chicago and the seaboard. Mr. Prince and Mr. Erb were emphatic in their statements that no other railway company is interested in the Pere Marquette.

THE CRISIS IN MOROCCO

Several British Warships Sent to the Coast.

Position of the Other Powers Defined -- Anxiety Felt for Missionaries.

London, Dec. 31. - The necessity for sending several British ships to the coast of Morocco is recognized as a consequence of having a fleet in the Mediterranean, but every journal which discusses the situation protests against the premature intervention of the European powers. Cooke Separation Suit.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.-Judge Rochon in Hull gave judgment in favor of Mrs. Cooke, Buckingham, in the case against her husband for separation. Cooke, who was at one time a Catholic priest, pleaded that his vows made a marriage null. The judge held, however, that he should have come to the courts long ago and had his marriage declared null. Besides securing separation, Mrs. Cooke will receive her share of the property. Cooke, in pleading that his vows prevented legal marriage, tried to evade the division of his property.

WIRELESS CABLES ONE CENT A WORD

Is What Marconi Predicts for the Near Future.

THE INVENTOR AT CAPE BRETON

Gives a Brief Survey of the Milestones of Wireless Telegraphy From Its Inception.

Breton gave a brilliant banquet Monday night at Sydney to Marconi, the sage of wireless telegraphy. Eighty guests surrounded the tables. Mayor Crowe, Sydney, presided. Mr. Marconi gave a brief survey of the milestones of wireless telegraphy. He said that about two years ago he thought that using greater power than he had formerly used messages could be sent to greater distances, and he advised the company to establish a station for that purpose at Cornwall and ascertain whether it was or was not possible to communicate across the Atlantic. The company did erect such a station at a cost of one hundred thousand dollars.

"The test made at Signal Hill last year assured me," said Marconi, "that trans-Atlantic wireless telegraphy was possible. My reason for going to St. Johns was that it was the nearest point to Europe, but unfortunately a cable company that appeared to have a monopoly on every mode of communication except by speech, intervened, and we had to forego further work While in Newfoundland I received gen-erous invitations from the Canadian Government to come to Cape Breton. I came, and met with most enthusiastic reception. I would be doing the Italian Government an injustice did I not express to it my gratitude for its moral and material assistance of my schemes from the very outset."

A CENT A WORD. Mr. Marconi then referred to the uses to which wireless telegraphy is at present applied, and said that when the system was further developed it would make it possible for a ship in distress to signal to a passing ship, as had already been done in the English

"Wireless telegraphy," he said, "would, by being a cheaper method of communication become a potent agency in cementing the ties that bind England to her colonies. The cables are efficient and good, but the cost prohibits their use to the public at large. I have a contract with the Dominion Government to send commercial messages at a rate of ten cents a word, and Government business at five cents a word, and don't you think this very cheap in comparison with the rate of twenty-five cents a word charged by the cable companies? And don't you also think that this reduction will do a great deal toward a better understanding and better relations between the two countries? The cable started sending messages at the rate of £1 a word, but have come down to twenty-five cents. In the case of wireless telegraphy, is it not promising that k may come down to one cent a

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Suggested as a Solution of Metropolitan Transportation Problem in N.Y.

London, Thursday, Jan. 1.

Wr. George M. Reid for Hospital Trustee.

The public is to be congratulated on the candidature of Mr. George M Reid for the hospital trust.

He is just the man for the position. He has no axe to grind, no fad to exploit, no favorites to advance, no greedy ambition or vanity to feed. A solid and substantial business man, he will try to have the hospital run on business principles, and restrain the present reckless financial management.

Brimfull of energy and enthusiastic In everything he undertakes, he will throw himself into the duties of the office with characteristic zeal.

The bearer of an honored name, and a life-long resident of London, his fellow-citizens know him for a genial, whole-souled man, fearless, aggressive, straight-spoken. He has a mind and will of his own, and is no puppet or stool-pigeon. He is not a self-seeker; It will require some sacrifice on his part, in view of his large private in erests, to turn aside to serve the

Mr. Reid has the cordial support of the medical profession of London, excepting the small clique now in control of the city hospital. He is a friend of the Medical School, and will work to remove the disabilities under which that promising institution, which means so much to the educational future and prestige of London, now labors. He assents to the petition signed by 54 of the medical practitioners of London, urging that the rights of the medical department of the Western University be respected. The false cry has been raised that the Medical School is seeking to run the hospital. As a matter of fact, of the 54 medical men who signed the petition referred to, 36 have no connection with the Medical School, but they have a praiseworthy desire to see it prosper and to see harmonious relations reestablished with the city Lospital without which both institutions must be crippled.

The New Year.

Merrymaking is the keynote of Christmas; the spirit of New Year's is more subdued and meditative. We is a tendency to moralize on the brevity of life and the frailty of human nature. Casting back across the year, failures and humiliations loom depressingly large. The chilling hand of sorrow has gripped many of us, sickness others, ambition and high hope have failed of fruition. There are few of us that have not met with some of the harsher experiences of life. The lessons to be drawn are too obvious to be mentioned. On the other hand, however roughly fate may have handled our affairs, that has indeed been an unfortunate experience that cannot recall some incident or circumstance from which has been derived pleasure, hope and stimulation to fresh effort. Whatever may have been the individual experience, as Canadians and world citizens, 1902 has given us much to be thankful for. Commercial prosperity has been pronounced throughout the Dominion. Manitoba and the Northwest, the young giants of the commonwealth, furnished the greatest wheat crop in the history of the country. The closing weeks of the old year saw the launching of the Grand Trunk's transcontinental line, an incident fraught with great import, as well as the completion of the Pacific cable, which may be called a Canadian project. From the empire point of view, there have been many and significant happenings, chief of which was the successful issue of the South African struggle. The serious illness of the King, his subsequent happy recovery and coronation served to display afresh the love and loyalty of all portions of the empire.

In the realm of science there have been some notable achievements, chief of which in point of both the spectacu- the Nova Scotia mind is rather more lar and the useful, is wireless tele- than ordinarily acute. graphy. Marconi has spanned the Atlantic, and the end is not at. The problem of aerial navigation, athough still experimental, has made great strides.

During the year a large number of celebrated persons have passed away, prominent figures in statesmanship, of the hostess." literature and art, Cecil Rhodes, the Colossus and empire builder; Thomas B. Reed, ex-speaker of Congress, and Jean de B.och, the Russian statesman, are the chief figures in the world of politics to disappear. The Canadian Apple.

[Toronto Star.] The orange, the banana, the grape, the fig, are nice for a change, but the good old apple is as welcome as our daily bread. By the process of grafting we can produce apples of almost any flavor-either mellow and quick ripening for the fall, or hard and hardy to last throughout the winter. They can be produced in many varieties and flavors, and can be baked whole, made into pies, puddings, apple dumplings, turned into applesauce, converted into apple-butter, apple-jack, cider, or eaten raw. The apple is the most adaptable fruit in the world, and those only tire of it who do not know the various ways in which it can be served as a food

The maple tree is getting all the glory, but it is the apple tree that this country ought to be proud of, and we hope some patriot will write a song to it.

CASTRO'S ANSWER TO THE POWERS

llas Reached the Authorities at Washington-Maracaibo Threatened.

Washington, Dec. 31.-The answer of President Castro to the proposals of the allies to submit to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal the Venezuelan difficulties has reached Washington through Minister Bowen. It amounts to a general acceptance of the principles of the proposition, President Castro being willing to submit his case to the arbitration of fair and impartial authorities. The details of the answer will not be published here in advance of its receipt by the European allied powers. In fact it may be withheld entirely from publication on the ground that it belongs to those powers. Today, the answer is being prepared at the state department for transmission to Europe. As it is quite long and undoubtedly will require careful consideration by the foreign offices at London, Berlin and Rome, it is not expected any further steps towards a final settlement can be taken for a or two. However, the feeling here is that Castro's answer practical. ly clears the way for the submission of the case to arbitration.

MARACAIBO THREATENED. London, Dec. 31.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Willemstad, Curacao, dated yesterday, says:

New Liberal Morning Paper.

Ottawa, Dec. 31. - Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, arrived here yesterday. Mr. Prefontaine reiterated the statement that the Prime Minister now looks better than at any previous time during the past two years. The minister says that at a caucus of the Liberal mem-bers of the Montreal district it was decided to establish a French Liberal morning paper in Montreal.

Dora Meek Dying.

Chicago, Dec. 31. — Dora Meek, who went into a trancelike sleep on Sept. 28, as the result of a lovers' quarrel, and has never since awakened, is believed to be dying, says a special to the Chronicle from Centralia, Ill. Since Sunday she has shown an abnormally high pulse, which the doctors believe is due to exhaustion. There is very little fever and respiration is normal.

Quarantined His Farm.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 31.—George W. Brown, a farmer, of Pittstown, Hoosac Falls, whose cattle are suspected of tuberculesis, refuses to permit the officers of the State Agricultural Department to make the tuberculin test upon them, and the department has quarantined his farm. Neither cattle nor products will be permitted to leave the premises.

Canadian Traffic at Soo.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.-The total freight carried by the two Soo canals for the season of 1902 was 35,961,146 tons, an increase of 7,558,081 tons, compared with 1901 and of 10,318,073 tons compared with 1900. Of the total carried by the two canals, the Canadian carried 4,728,351 tons, which exceeds the quantity carried in 1901 by 1,907,324 tons and that carried in 1900 by 2,692,-632 tons. The total eastbound freight carried by both canals in 1902 was 30,tons over 1901.

The season has been a remarkably good one for both canals. The grain, including wheat, amounted to 104,457,-007 bushels, and of this 33,971,396 bushcalled downstairs in the hotel to see a e.s. or 32.52 per cent., passed through

More Cottons From Britain. Ottawa, Dec. 31.-A report by Felix S. Johnson, commercial agent for the United States at Stanbridge, Que. deals with Canadian commerce in 1902 with respect to cotton and its manufactures. The report says: "The value of the imports has steadily increased for many years, and the increase is maintained in 1902, being $1,474,041, and the total amounting to $13,775,940. Of this last amount Great Britain supplied $5,378,300 and the United States $7,-653,179. Looking back over five years. it appears that importations from Great Britain are gradually approaching in value those from the united States, apparently on account of the preferential tariff."

Rev. John R. K. Sellers, a Methodist minister of Guysboro, N. S., was accidentally asphyxiated at Philadelphia.

STRENGTH

Is an attribute of manhood universally desired. Few people understand that the only source of physical strength is food, and that every one who has sufficient nourishing food should be strong. But there are thousands of puny people who have plenty of good food. How is that explained? The explanation is simple. Food does not nourish the body unless digested and assimilated. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion hinder the proper digestion and assimilation of the nutrition contained in the foodeaten. Thus the strength of food is lost, wasted.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and its allied organs. It causes the perfect digestion and assimilation of food and thus it makes men and women strong.

makes men and women strong.

"I had been suffering from indigestion so badly that I could not work more than half the time, but now can work every day and eat anything I want," writes Mr. Victor L. Hayden, of Blackstone, Nottoway Co., Va. "Why? Because I took Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It has put new life and energy in me, restored my health and made a man of me once more. I used to weigh 170 but had gotten down to 144, now am back to 160 and will soon be back at my old weight if nothing happens. Your medicine has done it all."

ROYAL SCANDAL TO BE PUBLISHED Halifax College Complies With

Divorce Proceedings To Be Taken by Crown Prince.

KING RLAMES ALL ON LOUISE

Declares iler Stories of Cruel Treatment Are False-What the Princess Has to Say.

Berlin, Dec. 31 .- King George of Saxony has ordered the preparation of a full, official account of the elopement of the Crown Princess Louise, and the circumstances leading up to it, for the Saxon people, among whom the most fantastic stories are in circulation, to the detriment of the royal house, especially with reference to the future King.

The scandal is undermining, according to some opinions, the people's loyalty and respect for the throne. The dynasty being Catholic and the people Protestant, the affair is being utilized for sectarian

The King's statements, doubtless, will follow the line indicated in the intima-tions supplied to the newspapers having court leanings, published today, affirm-ing that the Crown Princess' sole reason for eloping was her criminal relations with Professor Giron, and that documentary proofs have been found showing that the elopement had long been in prepara-tion. The stories of ill-treatment on the part of her husband, of oppressive court ceremonial, and of her fettered existence, are classed as inventions.

King George has appointed the special court of seven judges to try the suit for divorce which the Crown Prince has decided to institute.

THE PRINCESS' STORY. The Crown Princess' own account of the immediate cause of her flight from Salzburg, written to an intimate friend, presumably Princess Therese of Bavaria, was telegraphed from Munich this morn-ing. It says her father, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, intended to imprison in daughter either in a lunatic asylum or intended to imprison his an Italian convent. He had already consulted the court physician and several medical authorities in Vienna, with the object of obtaining certificates warrant-under guard to Dresden, to apologize to the Crown Prince, and that she then choose between confinement in a convent a madhouse. The Crown Princess asks the Bavarian court to use its in-fluence with the court at Dresden to per-mit her children to choose their vocation

LEMON JUICE AND TYPHOID

Nothing New in the Alleged Discovery -Orange Juice Is Good, Too.

New York, Dec. 31. - Dr. Ernest G. Lederle, president of the health department, referring to the discovery to have been made in England, that lemon juice would kill typhoid germs in water, and to have been proved by experiments in Chicago, says he knows these experiments have been tried often before and that many physicians treat their typhoid patients with lemon

Dr. W. H. Billings, a bacteriologist of the department, said: "I have not made any experiments myself, but I am sure that lemon juice in water will kill germs if enough is used. Orange ce will do the same thing, and, in fact, we have been feeding patients that right along. There is nothing new in this discovery of lemon juice. It takes more orange juice than lemon because the former has not so much citric acid in it, and yet it is a powerful neutralizer. There is no doubt that acid will kill typhoid

The announcement was received with great satisfaction by the university authorities, who had decided that in order to secure Dr. Gordon sooner than March, they would transfer Rev. Prof. McComb to Halifax for the balance of the session. However, it is thought that this latter offer could hardly have reached Halifax, as it was decided upon only a few days ago. Queen's trustees' adjourned meetng is to be held on Monday next, and a further meeting on Jan. 15. It is likely that on the latter day Dr. Gordon will be formally installed as principal.

TO KEEP UP COAL PRICES

Chicago Dealers Have Plenty of Fuel on Hand.

Plan to Have Cars Reconsigned-Prosecutions Probable.

Chicago, Dec. 21.-Two investigations into the cause of the scarcity and high price of coal in Chicago were begun yesterday. At the Palmer House Attorney-General Hamlin held a conference behind closed doors with representatives of the coal-hauling railroads and of the coal trade; at the city hall the council committee on railing him in shutting her up.
Her father, the Crown Princess adds, was giving her no time for deliberation.
He demanded, first, that she be taken movement of coal on the railroads entering the city. Neither inquiry resulted in action by the public officials, and both will be continued tomorrow. Attorney-General Hamlin's investigation, which may continue until Sat-urday, is aimed at discovering whether there is or has been any unlawful conspiracy to restrain trade in coal or to lorce up prices.

Mr. Ham.in announced that he had made rap.d progress and intimated that the greater part of the blame rests with the dealers and not the

"If I find proof," he said, "that the thousands upon thousands of tons of coal which the dealers have in the yaids, snow covered and untouched, are not actually under contract, but held for the purpose of increasing the price, these dealers will be prosecuted and compelled to relieve the suffering occasioned by the scarcity of coal.' Before the railroad committee of the city council the fact was brought out that local dealers are holding vast quantities of coal merely to keep up the price. Their plan is to have loaded cars recognized. Trainmaster J. W. Coneys, of the Pennsylvania road, testified that during the past few days one car has been reconsigned seven Other railroad officials said their rules did not allow cars to be reconsigned more than once of twice at the east side. Mr. Coneys promised to do everything in his power to prevent the continuation of this practice in the Pennsylvania yards.

Literary Notes.

Country Life in America.

One doesn't mind paying something for beauty, and Country Life in America is certainly a most beautiful publication. This magazine, already an assured success in its second year, is the ideal exponent of outdoor life, and to the nature lover is a monthly visitor bringing supreme delight. Its many magnificent illustrations cover every branch of outdoor sport, home-building, garden and lawn making, the care of animals, nature study and norticulture-in fact every sort of work and pleasure under the open sky. The issue for March will be a double number devoted to flower, fruit and vegetable growing in the home garden, and will ontain many valuable papers on the iteresting subject of what to grow and how to grow it for the best results and most pleasing appearance. Prof. L. H. Bailey is the editor and Doubleday. Page & Co., New York, are the publishers.

REV. DR. GORDON RELEASED DOCTOR LORENZ VISITS MR. GOULD

Operates in Vain on a Crippled Carriage Wheel.

HE CAN'T MEND BROKEN SPOKES

Injury Not Being Congenital, He Was Unable to Reduce It-Has Automobile Adventure.

Lakewood, N. J., Dec. 29 .- Dr. Lorenz, who came here yesterday to visit George J. Gould at his beautiful country place, Georgian Court, tried his hand at patching up the broken spokes of a runabout, which was wrecked in a collision on the Lake drive this afternoon. He found the job much more difficult than mending bones, and finally gave it up.

Mr. Gould took Dr. Lorenz, Dr. Mueller, his assistant; Dr. Virgil Gibney and Dr. W. G. Townsend out for an automobile ride after luncheon. As they were crossing the bridge which spans the inlet leading to the sunken gardens on Mr. Gould's estate, a team attached to a surrey which was approaching from the opposite direction, took fright at the automobile, and started to run away.

They collided with a runabout in which were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bye of this village, and the runabout overturned. Mr. and Mrs. Bye were thrown out, but escaped injuries Mr. Gould stopped the automobile and Dr. Lorenz and the other physicians hurried to the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Bye. When it was learned that neither were in need of medical aid. Dr. Lorenz turned his attention to the runabout. The spokes of two wheels were badly twisted, and several were broken.

"Perhaps we can fix these up so that you can proceed," said Dr. Lorenz to Mr. Bye. "Let us try." The famous bone specialist straightened out several of the twisted spokes and tried to patch up the others, but after working on the job for about five minutes he gave it up. "I can mend broken bones, but broken spokes-no," he smilingly told Mr. Gould and the other physicians. A party of society people gave Dr. Lorenz a cordial greeting when he arrived this morning. As he stepped from the train there was applause and cheering. He removed his hat and bowed his thanks for the kindly reception. Mr. and Mrs. Gould and their daughter Majorie, Dr. Mueller, Dr. Townsend, who is Mr. Gould's physician, and Dr. Virgil Gibney, of New York, were in the party which accompanied Dr. Lorenz here from New York. They were driven in coaches to Georgian Court. The time before luncheon was spent n looking over Mr. Gould's estate. Dr. Lorenz was shown through the casino with its immense tanbark arena for exercising horses, through the pretty theater and finally through the art gallery. Luncheon was served soon after 1 o'clock. Besides the persons already named, the party included: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lloyd Herbert, Mrs. William A. Hamilton, Miss Greta Pomeroy and P. A. Clark. During the luncheon the Lakewood Hotel's Austrian orchest a played Austrian mazurkas, waltzes and songs.

When they played "Hoch Hapsburg," a popular Austrian melody, Dr. Lorenz swayed in his chair and tapped the floor with his feet, keeping time to the music. He enjoyed it very much. Dr. Lorenz and the members of his party returned to New York in the evening.
Dr. Lorenz and Dr. Mueller got back to the Murray Hill Hotel at 11 o'clock at night. Dr. Lorenz said he was very "We had a very enjoyable trip," he said, "Mr. Gould's grounds are beautiful, his lake is beautiful and the company was very pleasant." Besides visiting Mr. Gould. Dr.

•////////// NEW YEAR'S IN RUSSIA NEW YEAR'S IN RUSSIA

In the smaller cities of Russia New Year's day is in the Twelve Days' festival. The Russians in many parts have held to the old ways from time immemorial. The preparations for the season begin early in November. The host of some great house begins to lay in stores of salted beef and sausages. liqueurs, etc. The hostess calls on all her friends and invites young and old. Next day she is succeeded by the nurse, who makes the same rounds of visits. Her duty is to invite especially the young ladies. She is hailed with joy, and the lady of the house hastens to mix for her the cup of wine. She delivers her errand and is plied with questions as to the invited and rejected. But the most important question is, "Who are the elected?" These are the young men invited by the hostess for the girls, or "fair maidens," as they are called. The duty of the young man thus designated is to look after the amusement and pleasure of his "fair maiden" during the "twelve days." The responsibility of the choice lying with the hostess, she has to be careful in her selection.

But the invitation has again to be repeated, this time by the master of the house in the person of his servant, or "swat," who, with mace in hand, performs his mission. On entering each house he offers a prayer before the shrine of the saint to which it is dedieated. He then delivers the invitation in the name of his master and mistress. At first, according to etiquette, the invitation is refused, but after much pressing it is finally accepted. When the day arrives, the young ladies who are the heroines of the season appear in a sledge accompanied by their mother and favorite companion, generally a girl of inferior rank, who sits at their feet. This sledge is followed by another containing tirewomen charged with caskets and dressing boxes. Other sledges follow-the longer the procession the greater honor to the house visited. On the arrival the host and hostess meet the guests at the gate, bow without speaking and conduct them into the house .- New York World.

GLADSTONE'S GREATNESS

By LORD ROSEBERY.

The London, England, Daily Chron- | and energy to work. No doubt his icle gives the following report of a speech delivered by Lord Rosebery, upon the occasion of the unveiling of the Gladstone monument erected at Glasgow:

The lord provost opened the proceedings by calling upon Lord Rosebery to address the assemblage. Lord Rosebery, who was received with enthusiastic cheers, said: Ladies and gentlemen, I am here today to unveil the image of one of the great figures of our country, of one who illustrated three generations. It is right and fitting that it should stand here. statue of Mr. Gladstone is congenial n any part of Scotland-(hear, hear)but in this Scottish city, teeming with university, a center of industry eager workers, endowed with a great commerce and thought, a statue of Ewart Gladstone is at home. (Cheers.) But you in Glasgow have more personal claims to a share in the inheritance of Mr. Gladstone's fame. I, at any rate, can recall one memory-the record of that marvelous day in December, 1879, near 23 years ago, when the indomitable old man delivered his rectorial address to the students at noon. long political speech in St. Andrew's Hall in the evening, and a substantial discourse on receiving an address from the corporation at 10 o'clock at night. (Laughter and cheers.) Some of you may have been present at all these gatherings, some only at the political meeting. If you were you may remember the little incidents of the meeting -the glasses which were hopelessly lost, and then, of course, found on the orator's person; the desperate candle brought in stuck in a water bettle to attempt sufficient light to read an extract. And what a meeting it wasteeming, delirious, absorbed! Do you have such meetings now? (Cries of No.") They seem to be pretty good but the meetings of that time stand out before all others in my mind. This statue is erected not out of the national subscription, but by contributions from men of all creeds in Glasgow and in the west. I must, then, in what I have to say, leave out altogether the political aspect of Mr. Gladstone. In some cases such a rule would omit all that was interesting in There are characters from a man. if you subtracted politics, there nothing left. It was not so with Mr. Gladstone. (Hear, hear.) To the great mass of his fellow-countrymen he was, of course, a statesman, wildly worshiped by some, wildly detested by others; but to those who were privileged to know him his pollties seemed but the least part of him. The predominant part to which all else vas subordinated was his religion.

(Hear, hear.) The life which seemed to attract him most was the life of the library; the subject which engrossed him most was the subject of the moment, whatever it might be, and that when he was out of office was very politics. Indeed, I sometimes whether his natural bent was rarely politics. towards politics at all. Had his course taken him that way, as it very nearly did, he would have been a great Churchman, greater, possibly, than any this island has known. He would have been a great professor, if you could have found a university enough to hold him. (Laughter.) would have been a great historian, a He had, too, notoriously political courgreat bookman; he would have grap-pled with whole libraries, and wresthe fates led with academies, had placed him in a cloister. Indeed, it is difficult to conceive the career, except perhaps the military, in which his energy and intellect and application would not have placed him on a summit. Politics, however, took him and claimed his life service, but, jealous mistress as she is, could never thoroughly absorb him. Such powers as I have indicated seem to belong to a giant, and a prodigy, and I can understand many turning away from the contemplation of such a character feelng that it is too far removed from them to interest them, that it is too unapproachable to help them, that it is ike reading of Hercules or Hector, the actual living mortal cannot hope to rival. HIS COURAGE, INDUSTRY AND

FAITH. Well, that is true enough. We have not received intellectual faculties equal Gladstones, and we cannot hope to tie with him in their exercise. But apart from them his great force was character, and amid the vast mul-titude that I am addressing there is none who may not be helped by him. (Hear, hear.) The three signal qualities which made him what he was were courage, industry, a faith which was a part of his fiber. These were the levers with which he moved the world. I do not speak of his religious that demands a worthier speaker and another occasion; but no one who knew Mr. Gladstone could fail to see that it was the essence, the sayour, the motive power if his life. Strange as it may seem, I cannot doubt that while this attracted many to him, it alienated others, others not themselves irreligious, but who suspected the sincerity of so manifest a devotion, and who, reared in the moderate atmosphere of the time, disliked the intrusion of religious considerations into politics. These, however, though numerous enough, were the exception, and it cannot I think be questioned that Mr. Gladstone not merely raised the tone of public discussion, but quickened and renewed the religious feeling of the society which he moved. But that is not the faith of which I am thinking today. What is present to me is the faith with which he espoused and pursued great causes. There also he had faith sufficient to move mountains. (Hear, hear.) He did not lightly resolve: he came to no hasty conclusion; but when he had convinced himself that a cause was right it engrossed him, it inspired him with a certainty as deep-seated and as imperious as ever moved mortal man. To him, then, obstacles, objections, counsels of doubters and critics were as nought. He pressed on with the passion of a whirlwind, but also with the steady persistence of some puissant machine. He had, of course, like every statesman, often to traffic with expediency; he had always, I suppose, to accept something less than his ideal; but his unquenchable faith not in himself-though that with experience must have waxed strongnot in himself, but in his cause, sustained him among the necessary shifts and transactions of the moment, and kent his head high in the heavens. (Hear, hear.) Such faith, such moral conviction, is not given to all men, for all the treasures of his nature were in ingots and not in dust. But there is perhaps no man without some faith in some cause or some person. If so, let him take heart, in however small a minority he may be, by remembering how mighty a strength was Mr. Gladstone's power of faith. His next great force lay in his industry. I do not know if the aspersions of "ca' canny" be well founded, but at any rate there was no "ca' canny" about him. (Laughter.) From his earliest school days, if tradition be true, to the bed of death he gave his full time

Moreover his industry was prodigious in result, for he was an extraordinarily rapid worker. Dumont says of Mirabeau that till he met that extraordinary man he had no idea of how much could be compressed into a day. "Had I not lived with him," he says, should not know what can be accomplished in a day-all that can be compressed into an interval of twelve

The only difficulty was that there was no time for sittings-(laughter)-so the sculptor with his clay model was placed opposite Mr. Gladstone as he worked, and they spent the mornings together-Mr. Gladstone writing away, and the clay figure of himself less than a yard off gradually assuming shape and form. Anything more distracting I cannot conceive, but it had no effect on the busy patient. HIS OLD WORLD COURTESY.

"CASTE" BALE TODAY.

George H. Brennan, who has long entertained the idea that "Caste" was due for another revival in this country, will present this famous comedy at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening. The most recent revival of "Caste" was given several years ago by the English actor, John Hare, in New York City, which proved to be a pronounced success. Mr. Brennan, while in Europe last summer saw comedy, which convinced him that the time was ripe for the exploitation of his scheme. Upon his return to America he at once began the selection of a suitable cast. He has succeeded in gathering together a company of artists that exceeds his fondest ambitions. It includes Robert V. Ferguson, who is credited with being the best Eccles the stage has ever seen; Mary Scott, the beautiful Californian actress, who has starred in several Frohman productions; the Countess de Castel-vecchio, formerly a member of Sir Henry Irving's company; William Hazeltine, a member of the late Augustine Daly's forces: Lawrence Griffith, William A. Evans and Miss Sadie Handy. The sale of seats begins this morning.

"SWEET CLOVER" COMING. The attraction at the Grand next Monday will be the four-act comedy drama, "Sweet Clover." It will be remembered that the play was presented here last season and was pleasantly received. The same players who made such personal successes in their various character, will again be seen. Otis B. Thayer, whose impersonation of the lovable New England farmer, gave such pleasure, is this season being featured in the role of Jerome Holcombe. while Miss Blanche Hall, a dainty, winsome little woman, who has made a pronounced personal hit as Lois, will be seen in the emotional character.

At the time of the issue of the twelvepence stamp the postage to England was 1 shilling (25 cents) sterling, the Canadian currency being at a discount. The postage to the West Indies was twelvepence and to the United States sixpence. Therefore, about all of the stamps went either to the West Indies or came to this country, few, if any, going outside of the two countries and Canada, those going to the United States carrying, of course, a double weight letter. there were few, if any collectors, in the West Indies, the stamps sent to that country were about all destroyed. CHAPTER XXXV.

Kenneth was on his way, one evening, from his office to his boarding place, when he became conscious of some con-fusion behind him. Then he heard the sound of a fire-gong, and looking back saw a hose-wagon coming rapidly down the stret, and preceding an engine. It was almost upon him as he turned, and at that instant a shrill scream rent air, and he saw a woman thrown to the ground. She had been in the act of crossing the street, and, not being quite quick she had been knocked down by ne of the horses. Kenneth, ever on the alert to help anyone in trouble, sprang forward with the ficetness of a deer, grasped the unfor-tunate woman by her clothing, and drag-ged her out of the way of the rapidly advancing fire-engine, which would have crushed her instantly to death beneath its penderous wheels. The woman was a erson belonging to the poorer class, and sixty years of age. eth was convinced that she was badly ijured, in spite of his timely help, for he could not support herself, and moan-ed constantly, as if in great pain. He questioned the suffering woman, who nanaged to gasp out her address. Quick-ly summoning a hack, he gently placed her inside and took a seat beside her. In the course of twenty minutes the vehicle arrived at the designated house, an hum-ble tenement in the middle of a block. A woman of about forty answered the ring

"Mother! mother!" she gasped, with white lips, as she caught sight of the ctill figure in he carriage. "What his happened to her?" Kenneth gave a brief account of the sceldent, and hen he and the hackman

An hour later Dr. Wentworth arrived, his name having been suggested by the daughter, who knew him to be a skillful physician, and he had responded as soon as possible to the call.

After a careful examination the doctor announced his verdict: "Her back is broken, and I can do noth-"Her back is broken, and I can do nothing for her, except, perhaps to mitigate her pain. She may live two weeks, and yet she is liable to die at any moment." The unfortunate woman insisted upon having the doctor's opinion, and when it was repeated to her, although she was very calm, a look of terror leaped into her eyes, piainly betraying that death was full of terrors for her.

The look in the woman's eyes, when

The look in the woman's eyes, when apprised of her doom, haunted Kenneth continually, for it told him that she was not prepared for the solemn change awaitnot prepared for the solemn change awaring her, and he felt a strange yearning to direct her mind into a more peaceful channel. He learned that her name was Morris. She was a widow, and lived with her maiden daughter, whom she called "Marthy," while they supported themselves by doing fine washing and ironof course she does; one could see that ing, though it was whispered among those who knew them best that the elder woman had a comfortable income from the money which she had saved during her prosperous days, when she had acted as a profesional nurse, and which had been very wisely invested. Kenneth was deeply interested in the poor creature whom he had saved from instant death only to die lingeringly, and he went every day to the humble home of the unfortunate woman, to inquire if he could be of service in any way, and to leave some little luxury for the invalid. Thus Martha Morris came to look for him with eager interest, and to depend upon his words of comfort and cheer in her great comfort and cheer in her great of the time."

"Oh, no," Kenneth answered, cheerfully; "I will gladly go in if she wishes it," and following the spinster, he soon found himself beside the spotless bed upon which lay the dying woman.
"Mother, here's the young gentleman, Mr. Keith, come to see you," Miss Martha said, bending over the drowsing inwalld to arouse her.

The woman opened her eyes and looked at Kenneth for a moment, then feebly put out her hand toward him. Kenneth took it respectfully, and sat down in the chair which her despetter placed for him. chair which her daughter placed for him. "I wanted to see you once more." said: "your face looked so good and kind that night when you risked your life to In wanted to thank you for m being killed outright, besave mine saving 7 cause it even me a—little more time with Marun, and—and it so creadful to die." she concluded, with an appealing look, as if she felt that he could give her some word of comfort.

Kenneth pressed the hand which clung to him, and made some kind and sympa-thizing remark, which quieted her for the time. Just as he arose to go she burst forth plaintively:

"Mr. Keith, do you believe there is a hereafter? Is there really a God, and a -judgment, as some people say, or do we just die, and is that the end of us?"

Poor Kenneth! He had never sat by the bedside of the dying before, and these seemed very hard questions to him.

"Yes, Mrs. Morris," he said, in kindly tones. "I do believe in a hereafter, in a 'Golden City' with 'walls of jasper and gates of pearl, where there will be no more pain or sorrow and where the more pain or sorrow, and where 'the weary will be at rest.' I believe in God as the great Father, who loves the chilas the great Father, who loves the children whom he has created, who would not see one of them perish, and who invites all to come to him through his on."

"But the judgment! the judgment!" she ried with a shiver. "Oh, Mr. Keith!

cried, with a shiver. "Oh, Mr. Keith! that is what I am arraid of in the hereafter, if there is one. "We are judged already," Kenneth replied, with sweet solemnity. "Whoever ceives the gift of eternal life through Christ is saved; whoever rejects it is condemned already, even while he lives." "Suppose," she said, "a person had wronged others years and years ago-so long ago that it had grown to seem more like a dream than a reality—would that wrong have to be set right before the gift you speak of could be received and the terror of death pass away?" "Certainly, dear Mrs. Morris; does not felt that I was as good as the majority of people. I know that I am kind-heart-ed. I have often sacrificed my own comfort to do others a kindness; I have been good to the poor, and nessed the sick with all the faithfulness of which I was capable. But once I did a great wrong, though I was tempted to it by another. It has been heavy on my conscience for many years, and now that I know that I am going to die, it is always in my mind; sleeping or waking, it is ever present with me. Must I confess it Mr. Keith, even though I know that I can never repair the wrong?"

Then, without waiting for him to reply, she continued, wildly:

As it was, he put it all over me in the last three And just remember that Sharkey was practically a novice in those days.'

Interest in horse dentistry is awakened through the placing of Moth Miler, a former speedway champion, in museum in Boston. Moth Miller's claim to museum distinction is the possession of a number of gold teeth, which are exhibited to the curiosity seekers. It is said that a horse in the stable of W. C. Whitney was the first in the world to have a tooth filled. That was years ago, writes a New York critic

Yet dentistry was not generally applied to horses until two years ago. Then a Philadelphia man took it up and his success soon demonstrated to veterinary surgeons of the country that something new nad been added to their profession.

Last month a bay trotting mare worth $3,000 was sent from New York to Philadelphia to have a front tooth filled. She had broken the tooth off against her manger. The jagged edge cut her mouth and she could not eat because of pain. The filling, without any suffering on her part, was acomplished in less than an hour, and in the afternoon the little mare, with the tooth restored, boarded her private box car for home. This filling and crowning of the teeth of horses is done with aluminum and amalgam, as well as with gold. The operation varies in cost from $5 up to hundreds. The back molars require much gold, being an inch broad and three inches long.

Kansas City, while having some very cold weather, is, on the whole, a desirable place for winter training of horses, as there are comparatively few days throughout the bleaker months when a jog on the track is out of the question. Dan Patch, with the other horses, has been given work almost constantly since his effort to lower the world's record for a half mile at Kansas City.

The work consists entirely of jogging but it serves the purpose of keeping him in condition. The work and diet have evidently agreed with the cyclone pacer, for it is said he has g.own much heavier and his coat shows the best of attention and condition.

FOOTBALL.

CANADIANS IN ENGLAND. London, Dec. 31. - The visit of the Canadian football team is creating no stir whatever in football circles here, and the criticisms of the London newspapers are mainly from reports of journals, published at places where games have been played. The Canadians have yet to meet the most formidable teams of England and Wales | July 18. and are unlikely to prove superior to

The Daily Mail says: "There is a chance that the team will have an op portunity of displaying their skill in another kind of sport. It has been proposed that they give an exhibition of Canadian hockey on one of the rinks of London. If the proposal can be carried out the Canadians themselves will be quite ready."

THE RING.

TO BE FOUGHT IN WINDSOR? With the Governor of Michigan arrayed against him and the sheriff of the in which Detroit is situated, ready to arrest all hands, Manager Considine's whole idea now is to hold the Young Corbett-McGovern battle in Windsor, Ont., just across the river from Detroit. When this chance has been eliminated the only thing for the management of the Metropolitan A. C. to do is to call the affair off. And this Manager Considine says will be done. Windsor presents many advantages for an affair of this kind, and heretofore boxing contests have not been disturbed. But the prominence of the principals in the long-deferred featherweight battle may be objectionable to the Canadian authorities, although fighting is tolerated at Fort Erie, Manager Considine at present banking a great deal on the Windsor project, and he believes that assurances will be received in a short time that will warrant him in announcing the transfer of the match to Canadian soil. So far as Louisville is concerned, the Southern A. C. of that city cannot handle the bout if it gets it, for some time. The legal proceedings in Kentucky are not yet concluded, and will not be for several weeks. This gives the Detroit club an advantage on time, and it believes that the boxers will consent to meet under its management if the Windsor project can be made to look good inside of a few days.

'As to McGovern, I can beat him to a certainty. I boxed with him once as

The first bomb has been thrown by Acting Governor Northcott, who has notified the sheriff of Cook County that the six-round bout tween Kid Carter and George Gardner scheduled for the Lyceum Club Monday night must be stopped.

The first sign of trouble came when sheriff received a letter from Springfield warning him that he must not permit violations of the law. Sheriff Barrett immediately wired the acting governor that he would see that the law would not be violated. He a'so told the governor that the Lyceum Club was a chartered organization, and had a permit to hold boxing contests. BASEBALL.

A NEW SCHEME.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 30. - From a reliable source it was learned today that the American League at last week's meeting in Chicago decided definitely upon a line of action for next season, regardless of what the result may be of the meeting of the peace commissioners representing the major organizations at Cincinnati Jan. 5. The plan as outlined is to invade New York and Pittsburg and drop Baltimore and Washington from the American circuit. The junior organization will thus parallel the National League inside of the latter's eight cities. order to give the plan agreed upon at Chicago an opportunity to work itself out, it was decided to call a "special" meeting," thus deferring the "regular" or annual meeting until the next gathering of the Johnsonites. The Baltimore franchise will go to

New York and Washington will be transferred to Pittsburg. Mr. Postal, it is claimed, having agreed to the proposition after hearing that President Johnson had definitely slated Tom Loftus for the presidency of the New York club. Mr. Pedder and his Pittsburg colleagues, being unable to secure the Detroit club at a fair figure, had almost abandoned all hope of securing American League franchise, when it is declared Mr. Postal came to their rescue by announcing that if Manager Logius did not remain with him, he would sell his Washington club and quit baseball.

This announcement gave Messrs. Pedder, Kerr & Co. the cue, and they at once opened negotiations with Mr. Postal for the Washington franchise, representing it to the latter that Man-York. Mr. Postal lost no time in making a demand on President Johnson to know positively whether Manager been selected to head the New York club, to which he received a reply that the owners of the New York franchise would like to have Mr. Loftus and it was for the latter to decide whether or not he would remain in Washington. This reply was not satisfactory to Mr. Postal, but practically nvinced him that it meant negotiations were on between Messrs. fowle and Somers with Mr. Loftus, which would ultimately result in the latter going to New York, and he is reported to have determined to carry out his threat, and forthwith offered to sell his Washington franchise to the Pittsburgers.

It is understood that the conditions imposed by Mr. Postal were that, if Messrs. Pedder, Kerr & Co. reimbursed him for his financial outlay in Washington, they could have the franchise Postal rather surprised the Pittsburgers by acknowledging that the Wash ington club had lost money the past two seasons. The Pittsburgers agreed to the terms. In order to make a win-ning fight against the National League for the baseball prestige in Pittsburg, Messrs. Pedder, Kerr & Co. are said to have promised a first-class team, with as many Pittsburg favorites on it as possible.

ATHLETICS. THE GYMNASIUM TEAM LAST NIGHT.

The University of Toronto gymnasium team, who are on their western tour, presented an assault-at-arms and gymnastic exhibition at the Auditorium last evening under the auspices of the Seventh Regiment Fusiliers Athletic Association. It is a pity that the audience was so slight, for, in its way, the team is as good, or perhaps even better, than any that has ever visited London. Taken all in all, the team put up an excellent exhibition, and in all their work, on the vaultinghorse, on the mat, on the parallel bars were good in everything, and the excellence of their work, merely shows what may be accomplished by continued systematic training. Perhaps the feature of their work which deserves the highest praise was their vaulting-horse exercise. The skill they displayed and the number of different movements they showed proficiency in was little short of a velation to the uninitiated. Another feature of the programme which caught the house was the sword and bayonet exercise. Both Wood and Baldwin put up a good stiff tussle for the mast and at moments it almost looked as though the fight were in earnest. During the course of the evening selections were very acceptably rendered by the Kenwick Male Quarter, under Mr. W. S. Spence, and the Sev-Regiment Band, under Bandmaster Hiscott The programme was as follows:

Vaulting-horse, gymnasium class; sword vs. bayonet, Wood and Baldwin sparring, light-weight, Loudon and Reed; mat work, gymnasium class; fencing, Greig and Forbes; parallel bar, gymnasium class; saber vs. saber, Baldwin and Forbes; bayonet vs. bayonet, Biggs and Greig; horizontal har, gymnasium class; quarter-staff, Biggs and Baldwin; sparring, heavy-weight Scholes and Baldwin.

THEY MADE MONEY.

Chicago, Dec. 31. — For the first time in the history of the University of Chicago, the athletic finances of that institution are on a firm foundation. Manager Butterworth's yearly state-ment, just issued, shows that $48,000 has been realized from football games alone. Baseball and track athletics swell the amount by some few thousands more. The nearest the university ever came to this figure was in 1899, when $42,000 was the total receipts for the year of athletics.

HOCKEY.

THE GAME TONIGHT. The hockey game tonight be-ween the Seventh Regiment and tween Stratford O. H. A. teams will be the opening game, and promises to be a good one and show the full playing strength of the London team. Gauthier will be at cover-point and he is an acknowledged leader in this position among the best cover points in Canada. It was his (Gauthier's) magnificent playing last season that kept the Waterloo team from scoring a single goal in the last game, and Bert Glover will certainly play goal, so that with Leddy at point, the Seventh will have as strong a defense as ever went on the ice to represent the city; and then the forwards have had several good workouts since their defeat at Stratford on Monday night last. The team will make a determined effort to win their first game at home. The game will certainly be fast and very interesting to all who enjoy the excitement of hoc-

BELLEVILLE TOO GOOD FOR

QUEEN'S. Belleville, Dec. 31.-Belleville's intermediate hockey team played their first match of the season tonight, when they met the intercollege champions of last season, Queen's University seniors, in an exhibition game. The Belleville men proved all that was expected of them, winning a very fast game by goals to 4. In the first half Belleville scored after a minute's play, and tallied three more before time called. The visitors, although playing strongly, were unable to get the puck into Belleville's net. It was do or die with Queen's in the second half, and they worked desperately and succeeded in scoring four goals to Belleville's three. There was a large audience, and the decisions of the referee. although questioned in the first half by the Queen's team, gave general satisfaction. The teams were:

royer, McGuire; center, Burrows; right wing, Kennedy; left wing, Marks. Referee, E. Ford, Belleville; goal umprices, W. McGinnis, of Belleville, George Mackie, of Kingston; timers, G. Dulmage, of Belleville, and J. C. Carruthers, Kingston. ANOTHER LEAGUE-NEXT YEAR.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—There will be no change in the Montreal dates for the curling matches with the Scottish That was settled this morning, team. when Mr. Tyre received a telegram from Lieut.-Col. Stevenson, who is now in Halifax. There was some talk of changing the dates so as to give the visitors more time in Ontario, and that is one of the reasons that Col. Stevenson went to Halifax. It has been decided to adhere to the original programme. Col. Stevenson also said in his message that the visitors were good curlers and good fellows. The programme then is Jan. 7, Montreal Club; Jan. 8, Heather Club; Jan. 9, St. Lawrence Club; Jan. 10, Caledonia Club; Jan. 12, Thistle Club; Jan. 13, bonspiel.

All the club matches are with grante stones. The bonspiel is with irons, and will be Canada-born vs. shose born in the United Kingdom. The question of entertainment is left

D. W. BLACKWELL,

The voters of the city of London are to be congratulated upon having three such candidates as the above men in the field for the vacant chairs on the board of education. Here are these men for whom all public school supporters can cast their ballots on Monday in the full confidence that their interests will be safe in such hands. Mr. R. H. Cullis, the Wellington street grocer and liveryman, is one of the most respected and popular residents of ward 1, and is favorably known throughout the whole city. He is a man of progressive ideas, as is evidenced by the fact that he is a vigorous opponent of the course pursued during the year by Chairman Mc-Cormick, whose arbitrary and indefensible rulings prevented the girls of the public schools from obtaining the benefits of the domestic science course taught at the London Collegiate Institute. Mr. Cullis should sweep the first ward. He will stand up for the claim to a place on the board of edu-cation by his efficient service as a member of that body for a number of years, during one of which he was the presiding officer. He has made a strenuous fight this year against the old-fogey influences which have un-board. Mr. Blackwell is one of the best-known business men in London, and is a champion of the public schools, whose interests the majority of last year's board have tried to sacrifice. He should be sent back to re-accident I know nothing, save that we were running on orders. Because of the headlight of the freight until my engine was almost upon it. I had only time to grasp the lever which applies the air-brakes when the two locomo-

"When I reached home on Saturday morning, I found that my eyes were crossed, and they remain so. My arms were so helpless I could not raise them to my shoulders.'

CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL BOARD.

MR. COFFEY FOR SENATOR

Representative Journals Favor the London Man.

Words of Commendation From Eastern Canada.

[Montreal True Witness.] We observe, in connection with the vacancy caused in the senate by the death of a representative from the sister Province of Ontario, the late Senator O'Donohue, that the name of an esteemed Irish-Cathoic journalist, Mr. Thomas Coffey, of the Catholic Record, London, Ont., is prominently mentioned in the daily press. While we do not desire to interfere in matters which immediately concern our fellow-countrymen in another province, we may be pardoned for expressing the pleasure it gives us to notice the name of our co-worker in the cause of Catholic journalism spoken of in such deservedly flattering terms by the Protestant newspapers of the city wherein he resides.

[The Freeman, St. John, N. B.] We know that outsiders who interfere in the game are liable to be shot, but we cannot help saying that if the Government has any wish to please the Catholics of all Canada. s well as of Ontario, there is no more certain method of doing it than the appointment of Mr. Thomas Coffey, of London, Ont., to the senate vacancy, caused by the death of Senator O'Donohue; for the Catholic Record has made his name known and honored in every Catholic in the land.

[St. John, N. B., Globe.] The London Advertiser, one of the leading Liberal papers in Western Ontario, strongly advocates the appoint-ment of Mr. Thomas Coffey, of the Catholic Record, to the Senate of Canada, in the place of Mr. O'Donohue, of Toronto, who died last week. Mr. Coffey is described as "a broadminded man who has used his influence to promote armony and good feeling among all classes and has identified himself closely with the interests of the city," a man whose and useful career would be worthily crowned by such an honor, and his experience and strong ability would make him a valuable public servant."

give way.

He Came From We Don't Know place I was nearly knocked silly. The Where, and Told a Tale of His Day's Work.

The door of the editorial room of The Advertiser was swung widely open last night and a stranger walked in. Even the police court reporter did not know him. He was very tired looking, yet there was that in his eye which showed that he was not as forlorn as he looked. When he spoke everyone knew that he had been celebrating the exit of the old year and was feeling pretty good. "What do think I've been doing all day, fellows?" he asked. "Don't know? Well, I'll tell you." No one objected, so he went on. He said that he had heard a lot about the kindness and generosity of people at this time of the year and he had de-cided to find out what was in it. He knew that no one in town knew him, so he started out on a tour of the city, with a friend of his, another investigator, to find out what he could do in the way of getting supplies of food.

"Did I get it?" he said. "Just listen to me. I got enough stuff for several happy homes."

By this time the banquet reporter was aroused and told the seedy one to proceed, that his story interested He worked off a few statistics. He visited 27 houses in the city and asked for something to eat. In nine places he didn't get any. "I got everything from pork pies to angel cake," he said, "and my pal car-ried a basket along and put the stuff when I came out. I got 87 filled with ham, celery, eggs, raspberries, jam and I got a whole chicken, of cooked beef, a bunch nd three pairs of shoes. B asked something to eat and told me to take the shoes. In

One thing, he said, which impressed him was that most people are either careless or very trustful. The women were the careless ones. They would leave him alone with silver knives and forks, and one time he could have slipped out with a bunch of good silverware if he had wanted to. They weren't all so trustful, however. Once a young housewife embarrassed him, he said, by calling out to her servant, not to leave that trainp

To the Electors of the City of London: Ladies and Gentlemen,—I have not been waited upon by any influential deputation requesting me to become a candidate for a seat at the council board. While standing quite alone on a street corner I made up my mind to offer my services to my native city, believing that every citizen should do so at some time in some way. If elected as one of your aldermanic representatives, I will conscientiously en-deavor to carry out your wishes, which, I believe, are similar to my own —that of clean, capable and economic administration of public affairs. I take this means to solicit you hearty support and influence in the coming contest.
