PEACE CONFERENCE DECISION REFUSED BY RUMANIA

RUMANIA REFUSES TO ACCEPT PEACE CONFERENCE'S DECISION ON DIVISION OF TERRITORY

Division of District of Temesvar and Banat Between Serbia and Rumania Is Cause of Dispute—Serbia Is Reported To Be Considering Mobilization of Her Armies.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The Rumanian Cabinet has refused to accept the decision of the peace conference relative to the division of Banat and Temesvar, between Rumania and Serbia, according to the Echo de Paris, which adds that Serbia is reported to be considering the general mobilization of her army.

RUMANIANS DISREGARD WARNING.

Paris, Aug. 25.—Rumanian forces are still requisitioning goods at Budapest on Saturday and paying no attention to the warning from the supreme council, according to advices reaching the council this morning.

ENUMERATORS QUIETLY IGNORE ALL RESIDENTS OF HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE TO NUMBER OF 150

At Least 60 of These Entitled To Vote, Probably More — Appeals Flooding City Clerk's Office From Other Parts of City.

The most flagrant omission of names from the voters' lists since the polls for Wards One and Two were completed, was revealed today when it was learned that all the inmates of the House of Providence on Richmond street, numbering between 150 and 160, had been totally ignored when the enumerators made their rounds. Appeals are being made to have the names entered, but had it not been for a careful scanning of the lists by those interested in seeing the election carried out in an honest manner, these persons would have been deprived of their votes when they went to the polls, not through any negligence on their part, but on the part of special officers appointed by the Government.

Some Doubt in Numbers.

There is some dispute as to the number of persons at the institution who are entitled to vote. The act says that the only persons debarred from voting are prisoners, inmates of asylums for the insane, and inmates of municipal houses of refuge. Whether or not the inmates of this institution are included in this last category is doubtful.

In any event there are some 60 persons in the institution who are self-supporting, and therefore, entitled to votes.

City Clerk S. Baker, who is clerk of the appeal court, is being deluged with applications from citizens in Wards One and Two, who have been omitted from the lists. He declares that these are no accurate indication of the number of persons who have been left off the list, as it is likely that many appeal forms have not been filled out, but will be returned before the end of the week.

Might Have Added Some.

A denial of a report that twenty-four names were left off in one subdivision, was issued by the chief enumerator, W. C. Fitzgerald, Saturday, who claimed that R. G. Fisher, who made the charge could not give the number of the subdivision in which this had occurred.

Present indications are that Mr. Fisher could safely have given the number of several subdivisions, as it is likely that the number of omissions will be much more than twenty-four in many cases.

One alderman reported today that he as well as a number of his relations had been left off the list.

Similar instances are being reported from all parts of the city, and are emphasizing the need of examining the lists. Appeals to be placed on the list of Wards One and Two must be made before August 29 to the clerk of the city, S. Baker, at the city hall.

The lists for Wards Three and Four will likely be issued this week.

FOUR VESSELS MEET WITH ACCIDENTS IN THE ST. LAWRENCE

Navigation Mishaps Have Been Frequent in Last Three Days.

Quebec, Aug. 25.—The Lower St. Lawrence, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the river itself have been the scenes of a series of navigation mishaps during the past three days.

Up to last night four ships met with accidents, one of them was sunk, one struck an iceberg, one is hard aground, and the other scraped her bottom on the rocks near the Quebec bridge.

The steam barge Captain Dan. E. Gamache, master, struck a wharf while entering Quebec harbor early Friday morning and sank before she could be beached. Mrs. Annie Taylor, a widow, of Montreal, who was the vessel's cook, was drowned, but the rest of the crew were rescued from a capsized rowboat.

The steamer Admiral Hastings, which left Montreal August 16, for England, with cargo, is hard aground on Baggot Bluff, south point of Anticosti Island.

The steamer Verdulia, which left Quebec at midnight on Wednesday for England with cargo, struck an iceberg off Belle Isle about noon Saturday. She immediately sounded her S.O.S., but later reported she was apparently slightly damaged, and could proceed on her voyage.

The Glen Allen of the Kirkwood Line of Montreal, touched bottom on the rocks outside the channel, a few miles east of the Quebec bridge Friday morning, and is undergoing an examination here.

Several restaurant owners granted the demand, it was stated, and were not affected by the strike.

LABOR PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

150 to 200 Delegates to Canadian Institute Convention.

MEETING IN OTTAWA

Gathering To Be Representative of All Classes in the Dominion.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—There will be from 150 to 200 delegates in the Canadian Institute conference, which opens at Ottawa on September 15, and the gathering will be as nearly representative as it is possible to make it. Tentative agenda has already been drawn up for consideration by the assemblage, and that agenda will include the industrial proposal of the peace treaty, which it is the duty of parliament to ratify during the coming session. Under present conditions, however, parliament has little power or jurisdiction in the matter of implementing the industrial provisions. The industrial conference will do its best to apply them to Canada conditions. The international industrial conference, which meets at Washington on October 29, will consider these things from the wider viewpoint. The Government has purposely refrained from issuing personal invitations, excepting a very few cases. Organizations of employers and employed and organizations intermediary to these are simply asked to send a certain number of representatives, and to these the Government then issues invitation. For instance, to Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of the Dominion, has been intrusted the task of selecting delegates of the union. Manufacturers' associations chooses its representatives, and so on.

Premier to Preside.

In the first place the Government here will be represented, and Sir Robert Borden will likely preside. The provincial governments, which after all have most jurisdiction in the matter of industrial conditions, will also be largely represented. Employers will have from 700 to 800 delegates and employees a like number. The Canadian Union of Municipalities has also been asked to send representatives, as well as certain other bodies, while Sir John Willison, head of the reconstruction committee, will be present. Col. Carnegie, formerly of the imperial munitions board, and latterly engaged in a study of industrial questions overseas, is coming to the conference from England. Col. Carnegie is a member of the labor sub-committee of the cabinet, though not a cabinet minister himself.

Between employers and employees as such words are popularly used, there comes a class of individuals whose activities play an important part in industrial life. Among these are the engineers. The mining Institute and the engineering institute will, therefore, be asked to send representatives to the conference. Altogether it is expected to be a highly representative gathering.

SIBERIANS PLANNING TO MAKE STAND ON THE ISHIM RIVER

Vladivostok, Wednesday, Aug. 14.—Siberian forces retreating on the east Russian front have planned to make a stand on the Ishim River, which crosses the Transiberian Railroad, about 175 miles west of Omsk. Reports hitherto have stated that the retreat would stop on the line of Tobolsk, about 90 miles further west.

FORMER MINISTERS TO HAVE PLACES IN HUNGARIAN CABINET

Formation of New Ministry Is Now Taking Place.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The resignation of the Hungarian Government of Archduke Joseph, previously reported in press advices, was announced in messages received by the supreme council today. The messages indicated that the resignation occurred at 8 o'clock Saturday night, and that the process of forming a new cabinet had been begun.

In the new cabinet, the dispatch states Paul Gamadi, minister of justice in the Peidll cabinet, would be minister of commerce, while Former Premier Jules Peidll would be minister of food. Karl Payer, minister of home affairs in the Peidll Government, is designated as minister of labor in the reconstructed ministry and M. Crany, as minister of foreign affairs.

The other places in the cabinet have not been filled.

COUNTY OFFICIALS PRODUCE PROOFS OF OWNERSHIP OF COUNTY BUILDINGS PROPERTY

Deny Statement of Former Controller That City Owns Land and Leaves It To Present Occupiers.

Despite the fact that on two different occasions local ratepayers voted in favor of the Federal Square for London, many citizens at present feel that joint civic and county municipal buildings should be erected on the courthouse grounds at Ridout and Dundas streets. A well-known Londoner who has held civic office for years recently informed The Advertiser that this property was actually owned by the city of London, and was in lease to the county of Middlesex. While not in favor of a city hall on this site, the former controller suggested that the corporation construct a new police station and courtroom on this site, which, he stated, was civic property.

Statement Denied.

However, the county authorities deny this statement, and claim that conditions are reversed. That is to say, the county of Middlesex owns the courthouse and grounds, for partial use of which the city pays an annual rental. As proof of this fact, the county clerk produced today from the archives of the county a deed dated at Toronto September 11, 1868, conveying to the county of Middlesex in trust forever for use as the site of a courthouse and jail, lots 21, 22, 23 and 24 on Dundas street, and lots 21, 22, 23 and 24 on King street, which include the present county building grounds here.

More Proof.

This deed, inscribed on parchment surmounted by the provincial seal, and under the name of Her Late Majesty Queen Victoria, is signed by A. Ansell, crown commissioner of lands at that time. Although this proof is indisputable as to the ownership of the grounds, a second document in possession of the county clerk clinches the case. This parchment is a form of agreement between the county of Middlesex and city of London, dated in 1856 whereby, for partial use of the county buildings on the present site, the second party agreed to pay the county 480 pounds with odd shillings and pence for the year 1854-55.

Squatter's Rights.

As this date is prior to that on the deed to the county, it is presumed that the county authorities over a half-century ago took possession of the present courthouse grounds by "squatter's rights," and later, in 1868, had the property legally transferred from the crown to the county for perpetual use as a location for municipal buildings.

The third fact overruling the statement of the former city official is a modern one. The county of Middlesex yearly pays the city of London $250 garbage tax for the county buildings here. There is practically no garbage collected by the city, as all refuse of this kind from the county jail is sold by tender. However, in explanation, the county officials state that the jail property is owned by the county and is in the city, hence is taxed on a frontage basis similar to other local assessments.

This practically clears up the question, "Who owns the courthouse property and buildings situated on these grounds?"

ESTABLISHMENT OF BOARD IS HAVING SALUTARY EFFECT

Senator Robertson Declares It Has Prevented Inflation of Prices.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—That the establishment of the board of commerce, with the powers of the railway commission, to investigate profiteering and enforce the remedy at once, was having a salutary effect long before it got to work, in preventing the further inflation of prices, was what Senator Robertson, minister of labor, told an audience composed of returned soldiers, belonging to the Canadian Federation of Soldiers and Sailors, Saturday night at the Edinburgh Cafe at a dinner tendered the federal minister, which Mr. Bernard Rose, toastmaster, termed "the greatest blow that Bolshevist propaganda had had in Canada to date."

It was a frank talk to the returned men in their capacities of workingmen and unionists. The minister urged that they spread unity among their fellow unionists, with the golden rule as the theme and co-operation as the watchword for all. He advised both capital and labor that it was only by using such ideas that Canada could be brought through the crisis it was now facing. To the labor men he said legal means had been found of settling their difficulties, the industrial investigation act, and that an illegal strike would never succeed. He said that out of 83 boards of arbitration appointed by the Federal Government under the act from January 1, 1918, to August 1, 1919, only three strikes resulted.

FRAUD IS ALLEGED IN TESTS MADE OF HOLSTEIN CATTLE

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A committee of the Holstein-Friesian Association met here today to take testimony in regard to alleged fraudulent tests of Holstein stock in this state, which may affect the record of herds worth millions of dollars.

The committee, with James A. Reynolds of Cleveland, chairman, has before it the confession of Charles Cole, former herdsman at Oliver Cabanas Fine Grove farm near here, in which he is alleged to have stated that he "helped" the record of Cabanas' cows by surreptitiously putting cream into the milk pails while the tests were on under state supervision.

Mr. Cabana appeared before the committee today in secret session. He had announced, through his lawyer, that he would defend Pine Grove records.

GALICIAN MURDERED ON WAY TO CHURCH; ROBBERY THE MOTIVE

Foreigner Found Dead On the C. P. R. Tracks Near Tunnel At Norman.

POLICE INVESTIGATING

Wasyl Podolisky Is Shot Through Heart by Unknown Person.

Kenora, Aug. 25.—Wasyl Podolisky, a Galician, was murdered yesterday morning about 8:45 o'clock on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks west of the tunnel at Norman by some party unknown. He was shot through the heart at close range and fell between the rails. His vest and shirt were torn open, and a belt, which his friends state contained about $800 in bills, was removed. His gold watch and $18 which he had in a purse in his pocket were not touched.

The body was found by a Canadian Pacific Railway trackman about 9 o'clock, and was quite warm, showing that the murder had taken place only a short time previous. The police are working on the case, but have few clues to go on. Podolisky had a Bible with him, and according to his friends was coming to attend the Ruthenian Church.

GERMANY IS FACING FINANCIAL DISASTER

Foreign Credits Alone Can Save Country From Complete Bankruptcy.

Berlin, Saturday, Aug. 25.—The financial writer of the Lokal Anzeiger takes a gloomy view of the financial situation and the decreasing value of the mark. He points out that Germany has only 1,500,000,000 marks in gold left in the Reichsbank and she cannot dispose of this while the paper money now totalled 40,000,000 marks, and more daily is being printed.

"Only foreign credits will save Germany from complete bankruptcy," says the writer. "If Finance Minister Erzberger is able to induce foreign credits to Germany, then disaster can be averted."

Financier's Threat.

The writer questions the ability of the finance minister to obtain the necessary credits, saying the accomplishment of this task is well nigh impossible. He cites an alleged threat of an American financier to remove the mark quotation from the stock exchanges of the world, declaring this would make the mark utterly worthless.

The dollar has been buying more marks recently than ever. The quotation rose from about 10 marks per dollar, the rate after the signing of the armistice, to 14 and 15 marks. Here it stood for a time, but recently it swung rapidly upward, and as high as 24 marks were offered in Berlin.

TO TRY EXPOSER OF EDITH CAVELL

Brand Whitlock To Testify Against Alleged Spy.

Paris, Aug. 24.—Georges Gaston Quien, charged with having intelligence with the enemy, and alleged informer against Edith Cavell, will appear before the sixth court-martial of Paris on Monday. The prosecution claims it will prove that after obtaining funds and help from the English nurse, Quien went to Holland and returned to Brussels as a German agent, and betrayed her to the German commandant.

Fifty-eight witnesses are listed by the prosecution, among them Brand Whitlock, the American minister to Belgium.

M. d'Armon, attorney for the defence, will ask for an indefinite postponement until such time "as the kaiser and other parties primarily responsible for the death of Miss Cavell are brought before an international tribunal."

EX-CROWN PRINCE LONGS TO GO HOME

Berlin, Aug. 24.—The Berlin papers publish a letter dated May 1, from the ex-crown prince to a Capt. Anker, who was his officer for information during the war. The ex-crown prince says:

"Personally I do not at all feel myself in a situation of the most profound despair or callous apathy. I desire in the entirely changed conditions to create for myself and my family a new life. Still more longingly, however, do I wait for the movement which will again open up for me in Germany a small place—be it ever so modest—in which with my whole strength I can co-operate in the building up again of our beloved fatherland."

BRITISH FIRMS ARE TAKING STEPS TO GET TRADE IN GERMANY

London, Aug. 25.—A Cologne dispatch states that in order to assist British firms to establish a footing in German markets, British liason officers have been appointed at Crefold, Coblenz, Mainz, Ludwigshafen and Aix la Chapelle to give information and assistance on trade questions to all British commercial representatives.

TORONTO WELCOMES PRINCE OF WALES, THOUSANDS CHEER HEIR TO BRITISH THRONE WHEN HE ARRIVES IN QUEEN CITY TODAY

Royal Salute Is Fired by Veteran Artillerymen of Sanctuary Wood, Vimy Ridge and Cambrai—Prince Opens Canadian National Exhibition After Receiving Addresses On Behalf of Province and City.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has become a soldier again. He reached this city today in the uniform of a captain of the Grenadier Guards. It was the first occasion since landing on this side of the Atlantic that the future king had appeared in the military uniform in which he was best known as a real defender of the Empire; it was the khaki garb in which he served side by side with the Canadians in the fields of Flanders. The people of this inland capital city of the great Province of Ontario accepted this change from the naval uniform, which the prince wore in the Eastern Canadian cities, as a graceful tribute to the services of Ontario in defending the Empire on land, and the reception accorded him was therefore all the more spontaneous and enthusiastic.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the guns of a battery manned by veterans of the great war boomed their welcome down the Don Valley. Within a minute or two after the royal train came to a standstill at the temporary station in Rosedale, near the Government House, the prince was on the platform, accepting introductions to the fifth set of lieutenant-governors, provincial premiers and staffs he has encountered since he arrived in the Dominion less than two weeks ago. The monotony of it might tell on some men, but his royal highness met them all with the same graciousness and smiling good-humor which has characterized him since his arrival on the shores of North America. After informal greetings from Sir John Hendrie, lieutenant-governor, Sir William Hearst, prime minister of Ontario, and Mr. Thomas Church, mayor of Toronto, and other authorities, his royal highness and party proceeded to Government House, where Lady Hendrie and Miss Enid Hendrie were presented.

Cheered Along Route.

The route of the prince's progress from Government House to the Parliament Buildings, where the addresses of welcome were presented by the province of Ontario and the city of Toronto, gave an opportunity for the indication of the real welcome by the people of the city and province, and also the route from the Parliament Buildings to the exhibition grounds, where he opened the Canadian National Exhibition. All buildings were flag-bedecked and festooned, of course, and the streets one great avenue of color, but the actual welcome, and the one that doubtless appealed most to the heart of the prince, was that continuous roar of loyal and hearty cheers that preceded and followed him from one end of the route to the other.

It was cheering right from the hearts of all classes of citizens of the Queen City to a royal prince, who has succeeded in captivating the hearts of all the King's subjects, wherever he has so far appeared.

Address by the Province.

The following address was read to His Royal Highness by Sir William Hearst, prime minister of Ontario:

"May It Please Your Royal Highness,

"In welcoming your royal highness to the capital of this province I desire to speak not only on behalf of my colleagues in the Government, but also for all the people of Ontario, to whom the occasion is one of profound interest and enthusiasm. Brief as is the history of the province, its people have had during several generations, the honor of visits from members of the royal family; and now for the third time it is their privilege to offer their respectful congratulations to the heir apparent to the throne. A province founded by those who sacrificed every material interest in order to preserve their rights as British subjects naturally views with peculiar satisfaction a fresh opportunity of expressing its attachment to the crown and its unwavering adherence to British institutions. The people of Ontario recognize in the presence of your royal highness among them at once the symbol and the seal of the unity and permanence of our great empire, which we believed is destined, by the Providence of God to preserve for future ages the blessings of liberty, of justice, of sane democracy, and of obedience to constituted authority.

"Your royal highness may rest assured that in the official greetings of

BRITISH PRINCE WILL GIVE 27TH MEDALS IN N. Y.

New York, Aug. 24.—Members of the 27th Division who won British medals for bravery in the war will receive their awards at the hand of the Prince of Wales when the royal visitor arrives in New York, it was learned here tonight. It was expected the British Government would arrange to confer these honors when the division paraded here last March, but a message from British officials of state received here at that time notified officers of the division that only the King or his special representative could make the awards.

QUEBEC REGRETS TO SEE THE PRINCE GO

Citizens Throng Streets and Cheer Him As He Leaves.

Quebec, Aug. 25.—It was with feelings of genuine regret that Quebec today witnessed the departure for Toronto of the Prince of Wales, who had signally honored this city by his presence since Thursday evening last.

The most pronounced characteristic of the prince is his genial personality which won him the enthusiastic admiration of the entire population, and his visit to the ancient city of Quebec will go down in history as one of the brilliant events in the many interesting traditions associated with this province.

As in all public functions, in which his royal highness participated while here, his departure yesterday was marked by throngs of citizens lining the route from the citadel, along Grande Allee, and St. Louis Boulevard, and as he motored his way to Three Rivers he was given a rousing send-off and was cheered to the echo as he passed.

GERMANY REFUSES TO ASK ALLIED TROOPS TO POLICE SILESIA

Silesian Situation Is Regarded As Very Satisfactory.

Paris, Aug. 25.—Germany has declined to invite allied troops to police Silesia before they have that right under the treaty, which stipulates that they are to safeguard the plebiscite there. The Silesian situation is unsatisfactory, and the Germans are reported to be bringing about a recrudescence of the recent reign of terror in that province.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE ACTS OF ENGLISH PROFITEERS

London, Aug. 25.—The board of trade, in explaining the profiteering law, indicates that there will be a central investigation by a central committee into the cost and profits of production and distribution of goods, also a local investigation by a committee, subject to appeal to a tribunal, into complaints of the general public concerning prices charged and profits made in the railway distribution of goods. Local authorities have the option of establishing a local committee. All committees and tribunals established under the act will advise not to take action which will hamper or restrict legitimate commercial enterprise.

MANY VETERANS AND FAMILIES RETURNING TO THE OLD COUNTRY

Do Not Like Canadian Government and Laws.

PRICE DOES NOT WORRY

Increase in Steamship Rates Has Not Prevented the Exodus.

Increased passenger rates, which became effective recently at all points on the North Atlantic between Canada, the United States, France and Great Britain, has not effected the booking of passages from London, which continues to increase steadily, according to F. B. Clarke, booking agent.

Most of the passages booked for ocean travel from this city are to points in the British Isles, and scores of persons, mostly returned soldiers and their wives and families, are booked to leave this city in the next month. Many of the ships from Canadian ports are booked to capacity, and there is a waiting list at the local office.

Increase All Round.

The increase in rates amounts to a flat rise on minimum rates for all classes, as follows:

First class, increase $15; second class, increase $10; third class, increase $5. From now on, all passenger rates on the North Atlantic between American and European ports, will be subjected to the advance in charges.

Steamship offices announce that the increase in rates are the result of a general arrangement owing to the increased cost of labor, crews and supplies.

Dissatisfaction with Canadian laws, and prevailing sentiment against the government, displayed by returned soldiers and their families, is given as the reason for the immense exodus from this country back to England. Two weeks ago more than 60 families booked passages from Canadian ports for England, after residence in this city.

Don't Like Government.

"I simply would not live in a country that is governed like Canada," an Englishwoman announced when she purchased a ticket back to England recently.

This week an interpreter is busy gathering together Russians in this city who desire to return to Poland and Galicia. They will be booked from this city to Paris, where they are re-ticketed to their native country, traveling overland. Many Poles and Galicians now living here have families and relatives whom they left in Russia in districts where the war raged. Few have heard from their relatives since shortly after the outbreak of the war, and there is a general desire on the part of these foreigners to visit their homes and ascertain the fate of their friends.

Lost Husband and Son, Now Exists On Pension of Just $22

Authorities Are Slow To Give Relief To London Resident.

Mrs. Alice Burchett, a twice-bereaved mother, of this city, is living on the munificent sum of $22 per month, a pension as supplied by the Government. On May 5, 1915, Pte. Leonard Burchett, her husband, died in Victoria Hospital while serving with the 7th Details. After his death she received pension checks for $22 per month. At that time she was receiving an allowance from her son who was serving with the Canadian forces in France. This allowance allowed her to live comfortably, but not extravagantly. On April 26, 1916, she received the heart-breaking official notice that her son had been killed in action. It was at this time that his allowance was stopped, and since then she has been living on her husband's pension. Application was made to the authorities for an increased allowance, but up to the present the authorities have bungled it, and she is still waiting for the badly-needed increase.

HABERDASHERS LIKELY TO JOIN EARLY CLOSERS

In an effort to fall in line with other local merchants, the haberdashers of this city are considering early closing on Saturday evenings. Since many local stores selling goods in the downtown districts have adopted the practice of early closing, a feeling of unrest has permeated the ranks of local haberdashers and their clerks, who feel out in the cold on Saturday night.

The result was that all haberdashers of this city were approached by a committee with a view to early closing, but at the present time two or three large stores are opposed to the change. However, it is hoped by the committee that these merchants will fall in line in the near future, and all local haberdashers will join the ranks of the "Shop Early" campaigners.

The names of the prize-winners are as follows:

Mosa—1 Earl Martin, Wardsville; 2 Vida Brammer, Newbury; Percy Duckworth, R. No. 3, Newbury; 3 Willie Reycraft, R. No. 2, Glencoe; (4) George Hewitt, Bothwell.

London Township—1 Howard Mathews, Denfield; 2, Harry Shipley, Denfield; 3 Keith Douglas, Ilderton; 4 Delbert Fowler, Hyde Park; 5 Allen C. Hedley, Denfield; Clark Hodgins, Ettrick.

Five contestants entered in Mosa Township and 15 in London Township. The "Home Garden Contest" is an extension of the rural school fair competitions, and is intended to stimulate interest in gardening and farm work among boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 15 who have left the public school and returned to the farm.

Many of these boys and girls have been engaged in school fair work for some time, and are now ready for growing crops on a larger scale. Early in the year, home garden contest bulletins were sent out by Mr. Finn to young people all through the county.

The second page showed a plan of the garden, regulations calling for a plot 20x20 feet. In this in patches of a stated size were to be planted tomatoes, corn, cabbages, peas, beans, onions, spinach, radish, lettuce, parsnips, beets carrots. Full directions were given for location of the plot, preparation of the soil, cultivation and watering and the care of the individual crops.

Keen interest was manifested by those who took it up. Mr. Finn reporting most creditable gardens.

BOOM-A-LACKAS, REAL SOLDIER COMPANY, WILL CONTINUE CONCERT WORK

The famous Boom-a-Lackas Concert Party, composed of former members of No. 16 (Western University) Stationary Hospital, which made a tremendous hit with the soldiers in France, is to retain its identity, and arrangements have been made to open a series of entertainments in Western Ontario in the near future. The company will stage its first performance in Canada at St. Thomas on Thursday, September 4.

The artists in this party are all talented musicians and performers, many of whom are Londoners, and there are some from the United States. The entire cast is composed of soldiers, several of whom take female parts in the production, a well-known Londoner being the "leading lady." From its inception in France to the time the hospital unit sailed for Canada, the Boom-a-Lackas gave 204 concerts, entertaining the sick and wounded from one end of the war-swept country to the other. It is likely that London will be included in the Western Ontario itinerary of this soldier company, and local friends of those taking part are looking forward to a real treat.

NURSING DIVISION GIVES 150 CHILDREN PICNIC AND TREAT AT THE PARK

Thanks to No. 4 Nursing Division, St. John Ambulance Association, and good friends who assisted with donations, 150 London children were given the time of their young lives at Springbank Park last week.

"Children's week" was inaugurated by the division with the idea of giving a picnic outing to numbers of little folks who would not otherwise be privileged to enjoy such a treat. Dr. H. A. Stevenson consented to act as treasurer of the Children's Week Fund, and with Mr. Lowry of the pavilion, placed his motor car at the service of the division.

Each day, beginning with Monday, Mrs. Dann, in the absence, owing to illness, of the superintendent, Mr. J. F. Thomson, took twenty or more children from town to the park, and after the day's sport, escorted them safely home again. She was assisted by Miss Mary Crosbie, Miss Clara McGregor and Mrs. Stinn and Mrs. Marshall. Mr. Lowry generously provided milk and Mr. Silverwood gave the ice cream.

The Local Council of Women donated $5 towards the defraying of expenses, which amounted to about $20, leaving a deficit still to be met by the Nursing Division.

WILHELM ACCEPTED THE OFFER CHRIST REFUSED

Rev. W. H. Cooper preached on the temptation of Christ in the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church Sunday evening, and referred to the devil offering Christ all the kingdoms of the world if he would worship him. Christ rejected the offer, and so set an example for all men. The same temptation came to the ex-kaiser. He accepted the other. The result is a warning to all men under similar temptation. But many in humbler positions have accepted the devil's offer and became profiteers, but at what a cost! "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul, or what will be given in exchange?" needs to be emphasized more than ever today.

MAN WHO ESCAPED FROM CITY IN AUTO WANTED ON MURDER CHARGE IN BUFFALO

Howard C. Patterson Is Much Sought After.

Is Alleged To Be Implicated in the Shooting of Policeman.

With the receipt in Buffalo recently of photographs sent by the local police department of Howard C. Patterson, who escaped from this city on August 9 in a stolen motor car owned by Harry C. Greenberg, which was abandoned by the thief at Niagara Falls, the police have received replies to the effect that Patterson is now sought as the slayer of Albert S. Kasbaum, motorcycle policeman, in Buffalo on August 18.

The Buffalo motorcycle policeman was shot dead by two automobile thieves, whom he had arrested and was taking to the North Tonawanda police station. One of the men, H. B. Judge of Niagara Falls, is under arrest. The other one, who is thought to be Patterson, escaped on the policeman's motorcycle. The man who escaped is said to be known as "Jack." He was riding in the motor car under the policeman's guidance, when he turned and fired four shots from a revolver, all of which hit the policeman.

Helen Murray, 14 Miles street, who was arrested on August 10 here, and who rode with Patterson as far as Niagara Falls the previous night in Greenberg's car, was released in $250 bail, furnished by her father, in police court today. She had been held in the county jail since her arrest without bail, in the expectation that Patterson would be apprehended and brought here on the motor car theft charge. She is bailed until call upon to appear in police court.

ALL SEIZED LIQUOR SENT TO TORONTO

New Orders Deprive Hospitals of Supply.

More than 300 bottles of whiskey, some of it good, but most of it the product of unscrupulous bootleggers, is lying in the police station vaults awaiting carriage to the office of the license inspector, who forwards it to the liquor license commission at Toronto.

What becomes of all the booze that is confiscated by police? the police inspector was asked. He explained that until a few months ago it was sent to the civilian and military hospitals, but this was discontinued when advice from the provincial license commission at Toronto ordered the return of all booze confiscated by police to the government.

License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside was unable to state what was done with the booze consignments after they left his hands, and police are not concerned, they say, about the route of the liquor after they get a receipt for its delivery to the license inspector.

Warns Against Allowing German Goods in Canada

Dr. Stevenson Points Out Danger in Exchange Rates.

"Unless German goods are kept out of this country, every Canadian manufacturer will be forced out of business," declares Dr. H. A. Stevenson. "At present the German mark is worth but five cents, while its full value before the war was 24 cents. Therefore, a person with $500 in Canadian money can go to Germany and purchase almost $2,500 worth of goods. This man could put at least four articles on the Canadian market for the same money as a Canadian could put one on sale. Thus he could sell at much cheaper prices and still make bigger profits than the producers at home."

"No merchant can compete against this. If it is allowed hundreds of people will sell these goods. Canada will be flooded with German merchandise, the Canadian-made products will have no sale, and thus the Canadian laborer will be out of a job."

INHARMONY CAUSES DIVORCE.

Sometimes women get more money out of a man after divorce than during marriage. This should not be. Safety first: buy your wedding ring from John A. Nash, My Jeweler. No music with his plain band rings, but years of harmony. His store is 206 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy." b

TEAMSTERS RETURN TO WORK, SO PAVING WORK CAN NOW BE CONTINUED

A sufficient number of the city teamsters have returned to work so that paving work can be continued, City Engineer Brazier said today. When the teamsters struck some weeks ago this branch of the city's work was immediately affected, the laborers having to be transferred to other construction work. In cases where the cement foundation had been laid it was possible to lay the asphalt with the aid of the tractors, which the city tried out for several days.

About seventeen teams are now back at work and tomorrow they will be used in grading work on Pall Mall street. The cement foundation will be laid in a few days and the pavement completed immediately after that.

The city engineer has made no official statement as to the advisability of purchasing tractors, but it is likely that he will recommend to No. 1 committee of the city council Tuesday that at least one be purchased.

DRAFT NEW AGREEMENT FOR CITY AND COUNTY ON PRISONERS' MAINTENACE

County Committee Members Are Meeting Today.

The jail and building committee of the county will meet this afternoon to draft a new agreement between the city of London and the county of Middlesex regarding maintenance of local prisoners in the county jail, the old agreement having expired. Owing to the fact that both civic and county authorities are out for blood, it is not thought that a satisfactory agreement can be drawn up without submitting it to arbitration. High cost of living and other modern inconveniences will be considered in striking a rate for the maintenance of civic prisoners in Castle Carter, and undoubtedly the county will raise the former rate per diem, while the civic officials no doubt will oppose the change.

In addition to drafting the agreement, the county officials will authorize any necessary changes in the county buildings, and will deal with other routine matters relative to the courthouse today.

G. W. V. A. REQUESTS EXCESS PROFITS BE SEIZED AND UTILIZED

Will Present Resolution to the Government Soon.

"That we the delegates of the Dominion convention met in Vancouver July 4, 1919, do hereby call upon the Dominion Government to pass an act empowering them to take away all excessive profits made since 1914, until peace is proclaimed, allowing the profiteers to retain only profits made on a basis of three years before the war, and that the government use all such moneys for the benefit of the widows and orphans, also the totally disabled soldier, and for the re-establishing of the returned soldier back into civil life."

Presentation of this resolution to the Dominion Government will be made in the near future by members of the Dominion executive of the Great War Veterans' Association. All over Canada great interest is being taken in this resolution by the returned soldiers and others, and at many of the general meetings, including the one of the local command, it will be a subject for discussion. Comrade Watson of Earlscourt, Toronto, proposed it, and Comrade C. W. Smith of Manitoba, seconded it.

Below is the full text of the resolution as passed at the Dominion convention at Vancouver, to which Secretary J. W. Cunliffe, of the local command of the G. W. V. A., was sent as a delegate:

That We, the Delegates of the Dominion convention, Met in Vancouver July 4, 1919,

Do hereby call upon the Dominion Government to pass an act empowering them to take away all excessive profits made since 1914, until peace is proclaimed, allowing them to retain only profits made on a basis of three years before the war, and that the Government place all such moneys for the benefit of the widows and orphans, also totally disabled, as we believe all such moneys have been forced from the fathers and mothers, also the wives and children of those who gave their services also their lives for their King and country. We cannot let the Government go clear in this as they had lots of time to put a stop to the high-handed way the profiteers were handling the necessaries of life and squeezing the last cent out of the dependents of those who were not only saving their country from the murderous Hun, but were protecting their lives and property, and the capital that they were taking to enter and hold up everything until they had bled everyone of the last cent. Of such are the men who have caused all the unrest in our fair Dominion, and such are the men who are still being allowed to carry on in the same way. Our Government has been asking for a way out of the chaos, and we are placing it right into their hands. It is no use trying to take it out of them in taxes, as they only double it upon the consumer, who has to pay all. If the Government wish to do what is right by the people then we would advise them to put this in force at once. You will find money enough in this way without borrowing or taxing the people for the soldiers' bonus. In acting thus you have the support of the civil population as well as the soldiers, and it will be the first means to settle the unrest in the country and quell Bolshevism for all time, and bring peace out of chaos in a way which all the hysterical eloquence of a Jarvis or a Turley will never do. We may state that neither the civilians nor the soldiers take any notice of their statements, as they are only playing to the gallery. Hoping that you may rise to the occasion and again place yourselves in the hearts of your unjustly oppressed people. We remain, yours for better and happier conditions,

"GREAT WAR VETERANS."

BARRIER CLOSED STREET, BUT WHERE WAS LAMP?

During the resurfacing of the Wellington street pavement between York and King by the public works department last week, King street from Waterloo to Wellington was closed. Last Friday night, a wide barrier was placed at King and Waterloo streets to prevent traffic on the former street and, through an oversight on the part of the city engineer's department, no red lamp was hung upon the barrier to warn motorists of the obstruction.

There were no accidents reported as a result of this, but several motorists driving westward on King street in the darkness narrowly missed striking the barrier, and complaints to the city engineer and staff as presented by the motorists were not couched in the mildest variety of language. The barrier was removed on Saturday.

SOLDIER SONS ARE BACK; ONE LOST ARM IN WAR

Braithwaite Family Holding Reunion in Honor of Veterans.

Lloyd Braithwaite, second son of Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, has arrived home from overseas, and is with his family at their summer home at Unionville.

His younger brother Scott, who served with the Western University Hospital Unit, came home a couple of weeks ago. In honor of the two returned soldier sons a family reunion is being held at the summer home.

AD GERMANS DECLARE

The question of sending Allied troops to Silesia came before the supreme council in Paris on Saturday, dispatches on the subject indicating that Germany was being sounded on her willingness to permit foreign troops to enter the district for police purposes before the peace treaty had been ratified.

Germany has ratified the peace treaty, but of the principal Allied powers only Great Britain so far has ratified the document, which provides that it shall become effective when three of the great powers have passed favorably upon it.

PRESBYTERY SUSTAINS VANNECK AND IVAN CALL TO REV. N. A. CAMPBELL

Inwood Pastor May Accept This New Charge.

Considering the holiday season, there was a good attendance at a special meeting of the London presbytery called on Friday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church for the purpose of dealing with a call which the joint charge of Vanneck and Ivan is extending to Rev. N. A. Campbell of Inwood.

The call was sustained, and Rev. W. M. Martin, clerk of the Presbytery, appointed to appear before the Sarnia Presbytery in which Mr. Campbell resides, to prosecute the call.

Mr. Martin is acting in the absence of Rev. J. A. Gale of Hyde Park, who has been interim moderator at Vanneck and Ivan.

It is not known if Mr. Campbell will accept the call, but favorable letters have been received from him giving the congregations ground for hope. Rev. D. L. McCrae presided at the meeting.

RELIEF FOR WORRIED MOTORISTS AT LAST

Cars must not be parked within five feet of fire hydrants. The worried motorists will no longer have to burden his brain by remembering this necessary injunction every time he stops his car, because from now on there will be a printed reminder on every hydrant.

Employees of the city engineer's department commenced today to affix the signs. They are a bright yellow in color, with the outstanding black legend, "No parking within five feet of hydrant."

"No Parking" signs will also be placed on stands near Dundas and Richmond streets to prevent congestion of traffic at this point.

COURT CASE FOLLOWS COLOR QUARREL IN COLCHESTER TOWNSHIP

HARROW, Aug. 24.—The color question has been revived in Colchester Township over a school quarrel, in which the parents intervened, as a result of which, Mrs. Talbot, a colored woman, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Herring. The case is under appeal and a meeting of the colored people was held in the A. M. E. Church, at which the congregation decided to support the appellants and see that their rights were enforced. The whole thing seem to be a misunderstanding and an exaggeration of trifles.

Nothing is more desired, the whites state, than that both races should live together on amicable terms with each enjoying equal rights.

This Is Great for Tired, Wilted, Wrinkled Faces

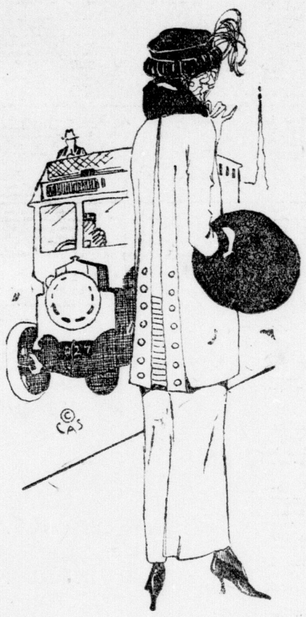

An effective warm weather treatment—heat tending to cause wrinkles and flabbiness—is a skin-tightener made by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in the solution and remarkable improvement will be observed immediately. The lines and sags disappear in a hurry. You feel and look much refreshed and the face has a more youthful appearance.

As there is a beneficial tonic action the results are more than temporary, this being noticed particularly in the effect upon the relaxed facial muscles. The saxolite and witch hazel, which can be purchased at any drug store, are quite harmless, of course.—Advt.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 24.—Frank Greenlaw, president of the St. Catharines District Trades and Labor Council, was chosen as provincial candidate for the riding of St. Catharines at a convention of the Independent Labor party held in Merritton Saturday. Mr. Greenlaw, who has been a member of the St. Catharines waterworks commission for nearly ten years, is a lifelong resident of this city.

H. St. Clair Fisher, director of the United Farmers of Ontario, was present and declared that the U. F. O. wished to co-operate with the Independent Labor party.

TOBACCO AND TOMATO CROPS GOOD AFTER RAINS AT ESSEX

ESSEX, Aug. 24.—Contrary to general expectations and official reports, the crops in the southern parts of the county bid fair to eclipse all crops during the past few years. In fact, taking the crops on the whole, they are as good as they have ever been around Essex. The curly or heavier grades of tobacco were helped greatly by the recent heavy rains, and stand a little higher than the plants of last year when a good yield was reported. The acreage far exceeds that of last year.

In the district where the Virginia or southern grade of tobacco is grown dozens of dry kilns are being built. The different companies at Leamington who are buying state that the prices will be just as good as last year. Even though the the crop will undoubtedlyexceed that of 1918, which broke all previous records, there is a great demand from all parts of the Dominion. Montreal buyers are scouring the country offering large prices. Without the recent rains, however, the farmers believe the tobacco crops would have been a failure.

The tomato yield in the section is good, and it is probable that picking will continue until the first frost sets in. The Essex Company factory began operations this week.

RAINS RAISE HOPES OF HARROW GROWERS

HARROW, Aug. 24.—Recent rains have raised the hopes of all. Already tomato and corn crops show the results. Charles Clark has already sold $1,200 worth of tomatoes from four-fifths of an acre, and $400 worth of potatoes from one acre. The Quality canners have been canning tomatoes for nearly a month and the Clark, Ltd., have shipped two carloads of concentrated tomato juice to Montreal. They are getting their tomatoes for 45 cents a bushel. This week canning corn has started. In some cases the corn is getting too ripe, and both canning factories had to start three weeks earlier than usual.

COUNSEL CAN SEE NO WAY TO AVOID THAT VEHICLE TAX

So Car Owners Must Pay, Looking Pleasant.

DEFENCE FALLS THROUGH

Inspector Now May Summon Heads of the City Departments.

Motor car owners and operators of other vehicles who have not paid their municipal license tax, numbering upwards of a thousand in this city, are dismal today over the decision of J. M. McEvoy, counsel retained by three vehicle owners, to make a test case in police court of the validity of the license bylaw.

Mr. McEvoy announced in court today that after careful examination of the law he did not feel justified in advising his clients to resist it.

"There is no answer to the bylaw, and I would suggest that my clients' taxes be accepted," he told the police magistrate, who ordered Charles Anderson, William Arthur and F. G. Mitchell, defendants in the test case, to pay their vehicle license taxes, along with 85 cents each, court dues.

Will Pay Now.

Civic officials believe that there will be no further resistance to the bylaw, in view of the decision made by the investigating lawyer. Ald. S. R. Manness, who came to police court as one of the vehicle owners, to learn just what would be done, left after the court, with the remark that he guessed he would pay his tax now.

License Inspector J. W. McCallum says he feels quite aggressive after this decision, and proposes to start in earnest to collect every license tax in the city.

Over One Thousand.

"It is difficult to state the exact number of vehicles which come under the vehicle license bylaw," he said, "but there are more than a thousand; they may number nearly two thousand."

The inspector then declared that he would summon the chief of police for failure to remit $2 for patrol and police department motors. The fire department and other civic departments which operate vehicles are also to be made the object of tax notice summonses.

Chief of Police W. T. T. Williams, when apprised of the decision of the license inspector, remarked that he could not be held responsible for the payment of police department licenses, and, anyway, he said, the police and fire departments were exempt from municipal tax under the bylaw governing motor vehicle operations.

Summon Mayor.

"The license inspector will have to summon the mayor of the city, because he is the head of the department. I have nothing to do with it, as far as the case is concerned," the chief announced calmly.

Further discussion of the license bylaw developed the fact that when it first became effective, the provision, calling for payment of $1 tax "on all wheeled vehicles," might be assumed to include wheelbarrows and baby carriages, and youngsters' go-carts.

"I called the attention of the police magistrate to this clause, and it was changed to read more definitely, as appertaining to road conveyances," the chief explained.

City Gets Nothing.

License Inspector McCallum believes that there should be a large proportion of the provincial tax appropriated to the municipality from which it is collected. He points out that of the thousands of dollars sent each year from this city to Toronto, London does not benefit to the extent of one cent, while London roads suffer. London police enforce the traffic and road laws, and London officials do all the work of administering the operation of vehicles within the city.

He declared also that the municipal tax, which he is calling upon Londoners to pay, and which amounts to "a measly dollar," is met with the most ardent objection, simply because it is so trivial an amount. "If the tax was $10 or so, I do not believe there would be half the trouble of collecting it," he said.

Owners of vehicles who have been standing pat on the license payment are not likely to make any further resistance to the bylaw, in the opinion of the inspector and the police officials.

Cleveland Showing Great Interest in C. of C. Visit

Gathering and Supplying—Lots of Useful Information.

The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce is evincing a most cordial interest in making the trip to Cleveland of the London Chamber of Commerce and St. Thomas Board of Trade a thoroughly enjoyable outing. Some days ago, the managing secretary of the Cleveland Chamber of Commmerce wrote inviting the London Chamber of Commerce to use its offices as headquarters during the stay in Cleveland. Lists of hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, amusement parks, etc., are being compiled and, with information regarding them, will be sent for distribution on the boat on the way over.

The big league ball game between Cleveland and Detroit takes place at the League Park, Cleveland, at 3 p.m. The game will be one of the big ones of the season, as Cleveland and Detroit are battling on this occasion for second place in the American League.

Reservations of seats on the grandstand can be obtained through the Chamber of Commerce, if this is necessary. The seating capacity of the grandstand is 16,000, and is seldom taxed during the week. Euclid Park and Luna Park are mentioned as points of special interest.

Arrangements are being made by the Cleveland taxi companies to supply automobiles at $3 an hour, 6 passengers besides the driver. The tariff to the League Park is $2. Cars, it is stated, may be booked through the Chamber of Commerce on the way over.

MERE $50,000 OF PERMITS NOTHING TO BUILDING INSPECTOR

Times Have Changed Here Since War.

With building booming as never before in the city's history, $5,000 looks like a nickel in the eyes of Building Inspector A. W. Piper these days.

A few short months ago, when the Allies and the Huns were still facing each other across No Man's Land, Mr. Piper used to be proud of the fact that he had issued a permit for the shingling of a summer kitchen. "Almost $3,000 worth of building was done last month," he used to tell the reporters proudly.

But now.

"Anything new today, Mr. Piper?"

"Oh, nothing much. There's a fifty-thousand-dollar job there in the book if you want to look at it, but things are pretty quiet this week."

Worth Looking Into.

Fifty thousand dollars still looks like several weeks' pay to the city hall reporter, so he opened the book and found that T. F. Kingsmill will build a $50,000 store adjoining the present building on Dundas street, and that C. S. Hyman & Co. will make a $5,100 addition to their plant on Richmond street north.

The Kingsmill store will be built on the property which was left vacant when fire destroyed J. H. Chapman's store there some years ago. The building will be a three-story one, 35½ feet in width and extending back 182 feet. It will be of a steel construction with 12-inch brick walls. The architect is W. G. Murray, and the builders, R. G. Wilson & Son.

One-Story Addition.

The addition to Hyman's tannery will be one story in height and will be a building 26 by 60 feet, extending to Ann street. James Moran & Sons are the builders.

This makes a total of 93 permits issued by the inspector this month for building, which it is estimated will cost in the aggregate $605,110. This is almost equal to the aggregate figures for previous seven months of 1919. Up to July 31, 724 permits had been issued for $719,230.

The figures in August, 1918, reached only $55,760.

GRAND ARMY WILL FIGHT PROHIBITION

Local Branch Pledges Opposition To O. T. A.

Officers of Victory Post No. 14 of the Grand Army of Canada—the local branch—declared that their organization has pledged itself to spare no effort to defeat the Ontario temperance act which was put into force in September, 1916, by the present Hearst Government.

Because of its constitution, the Great War Veterans' Association is not able to take a stand on the question, at least not as a whole. At a recent general meeting of the organization there was a notice of motion to the effect that it was opposed to the act. The men showed their feeling on the matter by cheering. However, the constitution prevented a motion being passed.

It has been said that the local command of the Great War Veterans had lost 100 members because of prohibition. This number had returned to the old country, it was claimed, because they were denied the liberty of taking the drink to which they had become so used while in England. Thousands of other soldiers in the province were only awaiting the results of the referendum before deciding whether or not they would go overseas again, it is stated.

FEW INQUIRIES FROM VETERANS FOR ASSISTANCE IN BUYING UP SMALL HOLDINGS OF PROPERTY

One Application Granted and About a Dozen Others Considered—Most Men Want Larger Tracts of Land For Farming.

Inquiries for small land holdings by soldiers in the London military district have not yet warranted the Government in purchasing a tract of land for dividing up into, say, five or ten 25-acre plots, according to Capt. P. S. D. Harding, district superintendent of land settlement.

Last spring the question of small holdings for soldiers was taken up by the chamber of commerce, and a special committee appointed to look into the matter. To ascertain the extent of demand questionnaires were printed for distribution to returned men, a number of these being turned over to the military headquarters staff.

When the land settlement office was opened here the beginning of June all data, etc., were turned over to the superintendent, Capt. Harding.

Few Replies.

"Only half a dozen of the questionnaires have been turned in," said Capt. Harding today, "though we have had perhaps a dozen inquiries in regard to the small holdings.

"All have been given thorough consideration, and one application has gone through. Five acres of land just east of Pottersburg have been approved for A. L. Buckland, an experienced man, for market gardening."

The majority of the returned men want larger holdings, from 50 to 75 or a 100 acres, according to Capt. Harding, two brothers frequently taking up 100 acres together.

No Great Rush.

While numbers of inquiries regarding land are received almost every day, a great "back-to-the-landia" rush is not indicated in this province.

With regard to this phase of the question, Capt. Harding says: "The present wages being offered for employment in the city seem to be attracting men to the city rather than to the country. At the same time, since the beginning of June, when this office for the district was opened, 174 applications have gone through for farms and there have been many more inquiries. These figures are up to Aug. 20th.

"Up to July 26, 6,620 loans had been made in the Dominion, aggregating $21,311,425.

"The real big land rush has been in the four western provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia.

All Land Bought Up.

"In this connection, it must be taken into consideration that all the land has been bought up in this part of the country, and that, as a result, conditions for obtaining land are somewhat different from what they are in the west.

"Alberta has had the largest number of applications, 6,312; Saskatchewan, 5,683; British Columbia, 4,428, and Manitoba, 4,191. Toronto, the provincial headquarters, reports 2,466 applications in Ontario.

"The majority of those applying, so far as my experience goes, are men with a knowledge of farming, as a rule men who have worked for farmers before going overseas. Occasionally there is a man who feels that he would be more independent on a farm than in a position working for others, or a man makes application who cannot stand indoor life."

Returning to the subject of small holdings, Capt. Harding stated that this phase of settlement may develop later after returning officers and men have tried out their former occupations and found them unsatisfactory following their years of war experience, or for other reasons.

Land Is Dear.

"It costs almost as much to get a small holding near a city or other good market as it does to get a larger holding farther out," was a comment made by the district superintendent, who, nevertheless, admitted that possible equipment would cost less, and that one man alone, not particularly strong physically, could manage the smaller holding to better advantage than a farm.

"Apart from an inclination towards farming, and the independence the life offers, a small percentage of the men inquiring regarding land settlement now are impelled to do so by the high cost of living. They have tried many other things since returning home, and are realizing the advantage of being able to raise food.

"One thing," states Capt. Harding, "people are not seeming to realize the large wages that are being offered for farm work, including free rent and other advantages. I know of a position open right at the present time for a good man, on the outskirts of a good-sized town.

"The wage offered is $500, with cottage free, a cow and garden."

Two Parties of Veterans On Their Way To This City

Men From Belgic Expected Here at 11 o'Clock Tonight.

A pary of four officers and sixty other ranks for this military district, which crossed from England on the steamship Belgic is expected to arrive in the city about 11 o'clock this evening. The conducting officer, Lieut. Slingsby, dispatched a telegram from Montreal early this morning which stated that the party had left that city at 6:15 a.m.

Another party of returned men, consisting of three officers and 70 other ranks, from the steamer Saxonia, probably will arrive here tomorrow morning. The military authorities have received advice from Riviere du Loup that the men left there yesterday evening at 8:30 o'clock under Capt. Malenfont.

American Aviator Racing Machine He Fought In Overseas

Was Friend of Victim of the Woodstock Accident.

Major Reed M. Chambers, who was forced to land on the Hunt Club grounds at 7 o'clock Friday night, while en route from Detroit to Toronto to take part in the airplane race from the Ontario capital to New York, was a chum of Lieut. Harry S. Ormsbee, another American flyer, who was also entered in the race, but was killed when his machine crashed to earth at Woodstock the same evening.

Was Good Flier.

"Although he was not overseas, he was a good flier, and was a close friend of mine," said Major Chambers. "He was from Detroit, too. In company with four other airmen, I left Detroit yesterday. The other contestants from that place are Capt. Cook, who was overseas, and Lieuts. Young and Slate."

"I had trouble with my engine when I was 20 miles away from London, but I came here because I thought it was the nearest place to get mechanics."

His Fighting Bus.

Major Chambers went overseas in September, 1917. He enlisted in his home town, Memphis, Tennessee. With the machine in which he made the trip he brought down seven German planes, according to official records. He was attached to the 94th Air Squadron. His fighting extended over the western front from Soissons to Switzerland. Some of his fiercest engagements were in the vicinity of Chateau-Thierry and the Argonne.

War Decorations.

In recognition of his services he was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross with three bars, the French Legion of Honor, and the Croix de Guerre.

The machine, which is a Spad, was brought home by him last June, and is capable of making considerably more than 140 miles per hour.

If he wins the race, he will not be allowed to accept money prizes, as he is still in the army, but he may accept a cup.

TORONTO WELCOMES

the governments and people of Canada there is a strong element of personal respect and esteem for the young prince who played a man's part in the great war from which we have just emerged victorious; who bore his full share of danger and privation; and who on every occasion displayed the traditional courage of his ancestors. It rejoices us to know that, in close and intimate association with the military forces of Canada (nearly one-half of whom came from this province), your royal highness was content to be a man among men, and to inspire those feelings of affection and admiration which augur so well for the attitude of the Canadian people toward their future sovereign. The interest taken by your royal highness in all that concerns the welfare of the people—in such problems as the housing of the poor and in the various charities and philanthropic work rendered necessary by the war—has not passed unnoticed in this dominion, and it is significant and gratifying to observe that the motto of the Prince of Wales, "I serve"—has thus early been adopted by your royal highness as a guiding rule of life.

"Following the worthy examples of Their Majesties the King and Queen, who possess a practical knowledge of the various parts of the empire vouchsafed to so few of their subjects. Your royal highness, has we humbly submit, taken a wise and commendable step in visiting Canada and the other self-governing dominions in the empire. You will find, we believe, that the greater the freedom and autonomy with which these dominions have been intrusted the more devoted has been their allegiance to the crown and the greater has been their pride of membership in the worldwide British Commonwealth. We trust that the journey of your royal highness may be safe and prosperous, and that it may be fruitful in such knowledge and experience as will tend to the continued well-being of the empire and will strengthen the ties that unite the throne and the British nations overseas. We pray that God may grant you all needed strength and wisdom for the discharge of your high duties in these days of crisis and opportunity."

Prince's Reply to Province.

In reply to the address of the Province of Ontario, the prince said:

"I am deeply touched by the loyal terms of your address, and I beg you to convey to all the people of this province my grateful appreciation of the splendid British welcome which they have given me. It will be a pride to me to tell my father, the King, of this most sterling expression of your attachment to his family and his throne.

"Upper Canada and York, Ontario, and Toronto, are great names, Mr. Premier, in the annals of the British race. The loyalty of your fathers to British institutions and the British crown was tried and proved by the sternest and most searching of ordeals. The record of the United Empire Loyalists is deeply engraved upon the history of this dominion. They could wish no better monument than this great Canada of today. The province of Ontario and this fine city, its seat of government, are built upon their labors and their faith, and I know that in this province their unshaken spirit can never die.

Appreciates Sacrifices.

"I cannot tell you, gentlemen, in the limited scope of a reply to an address, how strongly and how deeply I appreciate the magnificent sacrifices rendered by this province to the Empire during the great war. One and all, men and women, you gave generously of your best. Your traditions made it certain that you would, and I can only say that your record in this war was worthy of your historic past.

"You have spoken too kindly, Mr. Premier, of the modest part which I was able to play on the western front. That experience will remain, I believe, the most valued treasure of my life. It brought me into close association with my brother officers and men, not least with those of the Canadian Corps. I think that nearly half the strength of that corps was found, as you have said, by this province. You can understand, therefore, that I come amongst you as one who has seen with his own eyes and proved by personal comradeship in the field the gallantry, the patriotism, the splendid staying power of your men. That I can never forget.

Problems of Peace.

"Now that we have won the war, we have to concentrate upon the problems of peace. You have not exaggerated my interest, Mr. Premier in housing, in labor conditions, in all that concerns the welfare of the Empire's men and women, in the great cities and in the countryside. In this dominion you have an opportunity given to few peoples in the history of the world. You have already proved yourselves a nation in the terrible ordeal of war, for you have played your part as such, not only in the struggle itself, but in the long negotiations which have ended in the peace of Versailles. A splendid future awaits you as a great self-governing nation, with British institutions, British ideals, and undiminished loyalty to the British commonwealth and crown.

"I am deeply glad to be here amongst you today, and I can assure you, gentlemen, that I shall not easily forget my first welcome from the Government and people of Ontario."

Toronto's Address.

The loyalty of the citizens of Toronto, capital of Ontario, was expressed in an address signed by Mayor Thomas Church, City Clerk W. A. Littlejohn and City Treasurer Thomas Bradshaw, as follows:

"May It Please Your Royal Highness,—We, the mayor and council of the corporation of the city of Toronto, on behalf of our fellow citizens, have the greatest possible pleasure and gratification in extending to your royal highness a most loyal and hearty welcome to this, the capital city of the province of Ontario. In addressing your royal highness as the heir-apparent to the British throne, we deem it a manifest duty as well as a privilege to ask that you will on your return to England convey to our beloved Sovereign, His Majesty the King, our most earnest assurance that devoted loyalty to his crown and person fills the hearts and inspires the lives of our citizens of every class and station.

"The momentous crisis which confronted the British nation at the outbreak of the war and the sinister menace which threatened even the very shores of the motherland awoke to action a passionate love for the British Empire and all that it stands for and has stood for down the ages. Canada faced the peril unflinchingly, and there was no uncertainty in measuring the unity and strength of the determination of her people to support by every means at the country's command, the imperial cause to the end. We are glad that we can truly say that the city of Toronto has fulfilled her duty to the empire to the utmost of her ability. The people of Canada have now no disposition to conceal a natural pride in remembering the heroism, devotion and self-sacrifice displayed by her overseas forces throughout the war. Your personal association with them in the field and the deep interest which you invariably manifested in their welfare were gracious and kindly acts, which will be long and gratefully appreciated.

"While our people mourn the loss of many of the noblest and best of Canada's sons, they rejoice in the establishment of a victorious peace. This triumph of the armies of the empire and her gallant Allies over an arrogant and ruthless enemy will, we trust, permanently remove from future danger the treasured institutions and principles which we have inherited and the liberties which our forefathers fought for and maintained. It is now the duty of the Canadian people to meet the many obligations which follow at the conclusion of the war. We are satisfied that they fully realize the extent of their indebtedness to the brave men and splendid women who served their country with such fidelity in the struggle for the preservation of civilization and liberty, and that they will cheerfully accept the responsibility of caring for the dependents of those who have made the supreme sacrifice and also for those who have been maimed or afflicted in upholding the empire's cause.

"We are confident that the wonderful development which has taken place throughout the Dominion will not escape your observation, and it is with a feeling of the utmost gratification that we entertain the expectation that in the generations to come happy and prosperous homes will be found within its borders for millions of subjects ever true in their allegiance to the British crown.

"With the warmest hope that the blessings of health and happiness will be vouchsafed to your royal highness, and that you will carry away pleasant memories of your sojourn among the Canadian people, this address is signed and sealed on behalf of the Corporation of Toronto this 25th day f August, A.D., 1919."

Prince's Reply to Toronto.

His royal highness replied as follows to the address of the city of Toronto:

"I thank you all sincerely for this hearty welcome and for your eloquent expression of the attachment of this great city to my father, the King. I will not fail to convey your loyal greetings to his majesty on my return.

"I agree with you, Mr. Mayor, that Toronto may well be proud of the part which she played in the great war. I have served with so many of your fellow citizens on the western front that I can testify to their splendid record from personal knowledge at first hand. It is a great pleasure to me to find myself in Toronto itself after knowing so many Toronto men in less brilliant surroundings in France, and I look forward equally to seeing for the first time the city as a whole, to meeting my old Toronto friends again, and to making acquaintance with their kith and kin.

"We, who are privileged to enjoy the peace which they have won, cannot over-estimate our debt to those who fought and more particularly to those who fell. I beg you, Mr. Mayor, to express my deep regard and sympathy for the soldiers who have suffered disablement and the homes which have been berett.

"I am sure that you do not over-estimate the future in store for this great dominion, and that Toronto will play that part in its development, both moral and material, which she has always played. This is not only a great Canadian city; it is also one of the chief political and industrial centres of the British commonwealth. I know that it will always be a stronghold of British institutions, and I wish it all possible prosperity and happiness."

Canadian National Address.

The following address was presented to his royal highness on behalf of the Canadian National Exhibition. It was signed by the president, Thomas A. Russell, and the general manager, John C. Kent:

"May it please your royal highness to accept today the sincere and heartfelt welcome of the Canadian National Exhibition to this inauguration of Victory Year. We are sensible of the high honor you are paying our association, and we take advantage of the occasion to assure you of our unwavering devotion to his majesty's throne and person, and to herald your visit to Canada at this time as indicative of an ever-deepening and strengthening alliance in sentiment and purpose, between the mother country and the self-governing dominions, and may we perhaps hope between all branches of the Anglo-Saxon race.

"By encouraging art and industry and by bringing together on common grounds year after year, the manufacturer, the industrial worker, and the agriculturist, the Canadian National Exhibition, has been able in the forty-one years of its existence to render a willing service toward the achievement of that ideal.

"It was our privilege during the great war to place these entire grounds and the buildings at the disposal of our country, and with such signal results that forty thousand men passed through training on these grounds, to overseas service, and we rejoice to add that since the day of victory, over sixty-seven thousand men have returned to civil life, through this demobilization centre.

"May we venture to observe that your visit to us, has awakened pleasant memories of the time when Canada was honored by the presence of your distinguished and ever-lamented grandfather, the late King Edward, the Seventh, and the more recent and equally prized tour of His Majesty the King, and his gracious consort, Queen Mary. These are memories cherished by Canadian people.

"Your personal association with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France, and the many incidents that are related in barracks and at firesides in this country by men who were strengthened by your presence and achievements in the field, encourage us to assume the privilege of receiving you not as a stranger, but as a comrade, welcomed and loved.

"May we ask that you honor us by declaring this exhibition now formally opened, for the celebration of that great victory, for which we all give heartfelt thanks."

In reply to the toast of his health at the luncheon of the Canadian National Exhibition, the Prince of Wales expressed his thanks for the kind reception given to him.

Glad To Be in Toronto.

"I am delighted to be in Toronto at last. I say 'at last,' as when I was with the Canadian corps I heard a great deal about Toronto from brother officers and friends in other ranks. It seemed to me that a tremendous lot of them came from this great city, and I know no finer soldiers or better friends.

"I have already seen many familiar faces, and hope to see many more, and to add new friendships to my old ones before I leave.

"I have been so closely associated with the men and women of Canada during the great war that I do not feel I come to you as a stranger, but as a Canadian. I have said this several times already, but I feel it so strongly that I cannot help saying it again; and I should like to tell you of an incident that happened to me last night which pleased me enormously. The train pulled up at Outremont station, and when I got out to talk to a small crowd of people who had kindly come to welcome me, a woman came up and shook hands with me, and said, 'My husband met you at the front.' Now, I feel that that short sentence sums up what I consider to be my present link with the great Dominion, though I am now being able to satisfy a long-felt desire to strengthen this link by coming to Canada itself, and meeting the kith and kin of those splendid men that I met and I knew on active service.

Interested in Dominion.

"But I do not want this feeling of mine that I do not come as a stranger to be one-sided, as I want all of you to look on me as a Canadian, as one of yourselves, as one as deeply interested as you are in the welfare of the Dominion. If you will think of me in that way, I will do my best to be worthy of Canada's friendship and of Canada's trust.

"Besides being Canadians, we are all Britishers, which, for lack of a better expression, means loyalty to the British flag and to British institutions—in other words, citizens of the British Empire. I am a Britisher through and through, and I know of no place where I could feel prouder to say so than in Toronto.

"This wonderful exhibition by the lakeside brings the greatness of your city home to me. Toronto was founded in warfare; in fact, the name was first given to a fort. What a fort, in many new senses, Toronto has become! A centre of politics, a centre of industry, a centre of education, one of the greatest bulwarks of British institutions, one of the finest examples of British development in the whole Empire."

The Prince of Wales finished his speech by expressing his great admiration for the splendid part played by the Province of Ontario and the city of Toronto in the great war, referring to the achievements of those who fought on the western front, as well as to the inestimable help of the women.

The Prince of Wales then proposed the toast of the province, coupled with the names of the lieutenant-governor and the premier.

Spoke at 2 a.m.

An incident illustrating the democratic and princely nature of His Royal Highness occurred at 2 a.m. this morning at Smith's Falls, where the royal train stopped to change engines. A great crowd clamored around the train, despite the hour, and the fact that the prince had retired. The staff, knowing that the prince had a busy day ahead of him in Toronto, hesitated to have His Royal Highness break his rest. The prince insisted, however, and to the great delight of the Smith's Falls people appeared on the train platform and made a short address in response to a speech of welcome.

PRINCE OF WALES GREETS PEOPLE OF THREE RIVERS, QUE.

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 25.—The Prince of Wales, on his way from Quebec to Toronto, spent half an hour in this city, and was received by the mayor, the clergy of all denominations, and leading citizens. The mayor welcomed his royal highness in an impromptu speech, and the prince replied in French without notes. The crowd, accustomed to the pictures of the royal visitor in military or naval uniform, was slow to recognize the slender young man in grey motoring togs who alighted from a car in front of the city hall, and having shaken hands with the mayor, made a rapid inspection of the guard of honor. There was no formal reception, but the prince shook hands with about 100 persons of both sexes before returning to the royal train. At Berthierville Junction the train was switched into the town of Berthierville, where a quarter of an hour was spent, and a warm welcome given by the population.

HEARST SILENT ON SUBJECT OF THE ELECTION

Expectation of "Important Announcements" Was Not Fulfilled.

DEFENDS GOVERNMENT

Says Responsibility For Nickel Export Rests With Dominion.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Aug. 24.—Predictions of a 12,000 crowd for the rally of Conservative stalwarts from the ridings of North and South Brant and South Oxford, North and South Norfolk and Haldimand fell sadly to the ground at the Tory rally held at Mohawk Park here yesterday. To place the attendance at a thousand would be a generous estimate. Premier Hearst and his two cabinet colleagues, Hon. F. G. McDiarmid and Hon. W. D. Macpherson, undoubtedly felt the extraordinary coldness of the gathering, for except from the platform there was no applause during the three-hour talk-session.

In spite of the predictions that important announcements would be made the addresses contained little of importance. The date of the prohibition referendum is still locked and lodged in the mind of the premier. He declared that it would be not earlier than October 1 and not later than October 22, but otherwise disclosed nothing. As for a provincial election the Sphinx would not have been more non-committal. "But when the election comes, be it near or far," was as close as Hon. F. G. McDiarmid would come in appealing to the electors for support of the Government.

Thanked the Premier.

Senator John Fisher presided at the gathering, and the only other speakers beside the Governmental representatives were W. S. Brewster, ex-M. P. P. for South Brant, who urged that as there was no reason to turn the Government out, there was every reason for rallying to its support, and Mrs. S. W. Secord of Brantford, who thanked the premier for extending the franchise to women, and urged the women to turn out and get every other woman to the polls for the referendum, declaring that she had no misgivings as to the way the women would vote.

Hon. F. G. McDiarmid was the first speaker. Practically his entire address was a defence of the Government policies and a Te Deum of praise for what had been done in the past five years. His defence of the roads policy of the Government was that the growth of motor traffic necessitated more Government aid. It was not fair that a farmer on a main road should bear the entire burden of maintaining a road for the benefit of through traffic. The Dominion Government grant of twenty millions would take much of the burden off the counties.

Praise for Women.

In his introductory remarks Premier Hearst paid a tribute to the war work of the women and to the record set by Ontario, incidentally extending the praise to the Liberal opposition which had supported the war measures of the Government. There has been no politics during the war. But the Liberals at Toronto and Ottawa had held conventions and drafted platforms.

"Platforms and promises are easy to make. Performances are what count," declared he premier. Mr. Dewart had said that the Liberals had a platform on almost every conceivable subject. Mr. Brackin's plank had been added, and the Liberal leader was willing to take in the U. F. O. platform, but the U. F. O. declared that he would have to be a bigger man than he was to take its platform. "If you have a platform or a plank or an oar or a chip that will help him to float, let him have it," commented the premier.

He declared that he did not intend to enter on a campaign of villification, but he was not going to let Mr. Dewart get away with everything. As for his remarks at Eugenia Falls, which Mr. Dewart construed as being a declaration by him that the U. F. O. was made up of "camouflaged Grits," and that they were "donkey engines for the Grit party," he stated that he had only warned the farmers' clubs not to become "camouflaged Grit clubs." The premier declared that at Toronto Mr. Dewart had attempted to make the Labor party and the United Farmers donkey engines to the Grit party.

A Hit at Dewart

"If there is anybody familiar with muck and filth it is Hon. H. H. Dewart," declared the premier, charging that during the war Mr. Dewart went from the Atlantic to the Pacific trying to stir the political embers into flames and prevent the sending of reinforcements to the boys overseas. As for Mr. Dewart's charges that Ontario nickel sent to the United States went to Germany, and was used to make bullets which cost the lives of brave Canadian soldiers, the Dominion Government, and not the Ontario Government, had to assume the responsibility. The Dominion Government at the beginning of the war had adopted a licensing system which had the approval of the Right Hon. Bonar Law. If there was wrong-doing, that lay with the Dominion Government and British admiralty, not the Ontario Government. If Mr. Dewart had charges to make, he could get his friends in the House at Ottawa to make them there, where the responsible ministers were. The province had nothing to do with importations or exportations.

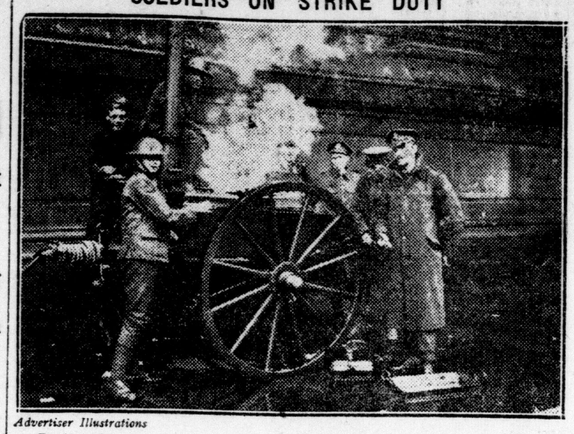

Favors O. T. A.

Dealing with prohibition, the premier declared that personally he was in favor of the Ontario temperance act, but the Government would abide by the will of the people, as shown in the referendum. The law would be enforced according to that vote. The questions were not trick ones. Each of them stood on its own bottom, and the people would decide. Every question had to be voted on, but there was no need to vote "yes" or "no" on all of them collectively. Each question could be answered as the voter wished. The vote would be taken not earlier than October 1 and not later than October 22. It would depend upon the preparation of the voters' list. He made no reference to the time of the provincial elections.

Hon. W. D. MacPherson urged the electors to judge the Hearst Government by its whole record, not by one issue.

An interesting sidelight of the meeting was in the fact that the entire police force was present at the picnic. Some joker started the rumor that employees in Brantford factories were organized to prevent the premier from getting a hearing by the mass singing of the chorus, "How Dry I Am." Managers of the picnic took the intimation seriously and called the police to be present. It all originated in a fertile mind, and there was no untoward incident. Nevertheless, wise ones are having the laugh over the discomfiture of the managers of the picnic.

ROWELL ANNOUNCES HEALTH DEPARTMENT PLANS PROGRESSING

Will Soon Be Advanced Enough To Permit Policy Announcement.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—Hon. N. W. Rowell, the minister who will be in charge of the new federal department of public health for which provision was made in a bill passed by parliament at the last session, stated today that good progress is being made in connection with the organization of the new department. The first step in connection with the bringing of the department into existence will be the taking over of the various departments up to the present time under the control of various ministers as provided for by the act.

The federal health department has already taken over the department of quarantine, formerly administered by the department of agriculture, but more recently under the control of the department of immigration. The medical branch of the immigration service and the administration of the aduiteration of foods act and the proprietary and patent medicine acts, formerly administered by the department of trade and commerce. These changes include the transfer of the staffs of these departments to the health department.

Dr. Amyot, the deputy minister of health, is now taking up with the health authorities of the province the plans for co-operative action for combating venereal diseases and other matters affecting the health of the people generally.

Mr. Rowell intimated that in the course of a short time the plans of the department would be sufficiently advanced to permit of a definite announcement as to its policy and proposed activities.

COMMITTEE HAS AMENDED PEACE TREATY CLAUSE

Gives German Rights in Shantung to China, Not Japan.

VOTE WAS 9 TO 8

Amendment Offered in the Foreign Relations Committee by Lodge.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 23.—By a vote of 9 to 8 the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today adopted an amendment to the peace treaty by which German rights in Shantung Province, China, would go to China instead of Japan.

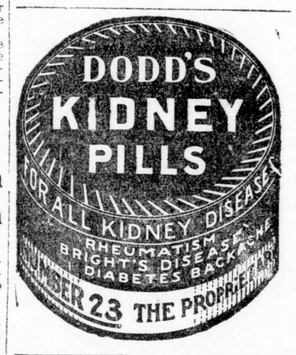

All the Democratic members and Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, voted against the amendment.

Chairman Lodge offered the amendment under which the word "Japan" would be stricken from the Shantung sections of the treaty and the word "China" substituted.

After voting to amend the treaty the committee notified President Wilson today that it could not intelligently proceed with its work on amendments until he furnished additional information.

Sale of Surplus Army Food Brings Out Great Crowds

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Market basket in hand, thousands of men, women and children yesterday hurried to the 58 school buildings in the second day's sale of surplus army foods. The crowds were two or three times as large as on the opening day. The municipal stores were swamped. Most stocks were sold out in the forenoon. Call went out for additional help. Many times the amount of supplies on hand could have been sold if it had been possible to make the distribution.

The public was most anxious to get meat, and eagerly took up the 250,000 pounds of bacon offered in Manhattan and the Bronx. Eight trucks were used to carry bacon from Fifty-ninth street and First avenue to the school stores, but the army could not keep pace with the demand. In all, 125 trucks were employed to cart supplies. The allotment of bacon for New York was announced as 1,800,000 pounds. Estimates yesterday were that close to 1,500,000 pounds of food were sold on the second day. The average received at the schools was about $1,500 each, and the total about $85,000.

MUST INCREASE PRODUCTION OR FACE TRAGEDY

British Trade Union Federation Management Issues Warning.

FACTS MUST BE FACED

Political Strikes Bound To End in Either Failure or Revolution.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The quarterly report of the general federation of trades unions contains a warning by the management committee.

"November, 1919, to May, 1920, will be fateful months," says the report. "Unless sanity returns and production increases they will be tragic months." The report adds and continues: "Strikes have been precipitated which might have been avoided and union funds have been needlessly dissipated. Some strikes had a distinctly political origin. Political strikes must either fail or end in revolution. They are not against the capitalists, but against the community. It is not the capitalist who suffers, but the people. Against such strikes the Government must protect the people or surrender its functions. The effect of such strikes is to decrease production and increase the price of all commodities.

"In view of the national situation and the possibility of a grave shortage, it is imperative that the trades unions face the facts. The outstanding ones are that the war is over, that competitive laws as between nations are now forcefully operating, that food and raw materials required for the subsistence of Great Britain must be bought from countries over whose merchants our Government has no control, and that commodities must be paid for with goods, not paper."

U. F. O. WILL HAVE NO TRUCK OR TRADE WITH EITHER PARTY

President Says New Political Body Will Hoe Its Own Row.

NEWMARKET, Ont., Aug. 23.—"We intend to have no truck or trade with either Grit or Tory," declared R. H. Halbert, president of the United Farmers of Ontario, at a nomination meeting here Saturday afternoon, when S. P. Foote was named as the U. F. O. candidate. "We have started out to hoe our own row and we intend to finish it," President Halbert added.

The U. F. O. had not started out with the intention of becoming the governing body in the legislature, President Halbert said, but it hoped to have sufficient representation to carry weight in fighting suggested legislation opposed to the farmers' interests.

LIBERAL WORKERS CATCH OMISSIONS IN KENT VOTERS' LIST

Meeting Called For Tuesday Night — Loan Company Shareholders Meet.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, Aug. 24.—That a large number of names have been omitted from the city voting lists was the report this morning. Among those who have been omitted are many of Chatham's leading citizens. A meeting of the workers of R. L. Brackin, the Liberal candidate, has been called for Tuesday evening next for the purpose of revising the voters' lists. The meeting will be held in the campaign headquarters of R. L. Brackin, which were opened this morning in the Garner House Block.

BRITISH SOLDIERS REBEL WHEN ORDERED TO LEAVE FOR FRANCE

300 Veterans Belonging to English Regiments Refuse To Embark.

London, Aug. 23.—Three hundred soldiers belonging to Warwick, Berkshire and Gloucester regiments were arrested today at Southampton for refusing to obey orders to embark for France. The ringleaders were driven away in motor lorries.

The soldiers, who had been on leave, are for the most part veterans. They objected to embarking because they had heard they would be sent to the Black Sea after their arrival in France, whereas they had received promises that no one would be sent to Russia unless he volunteered.

The men are quartered in a public park; perfect order prevailed.

A war office statement tonight says that the men were being sent to Turkey, not to Russia.

ST. THOMAS LIBERALS WILL HOLD MEETING TUESDAY, AUGUST 26

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 24.—President J. E. Nelson has issued a notice calling on members of the local Liberal Club, including the ladies' association, to attend a monster gathering of Liberals at the clubrooms here on Tuesday evening, August 26, at 8 o'clock. Business of very great importance will be discussed at this meeting, he says, and he urges every member who can possibly do so to put in an appearance.

From appearances, the provincial election is not far distant. On Thursday next at Aylmer a convention of the Liberal-Conservative Association of East Elgin will be held. On Tuesday afternoon at Aylmer the United Farmers of that riding will meet to discuss the nomination of a candidate for both Provincial and Dominion Houses of Parliament.

PROGRAM PREPARED FOR MONSTER PICNIC IN WEST NISSOURI

THORNDALE, Aug. 24.—The great celebration and picnic which will be held in honor of the returned soldiers of West Nissouri Township on Wednesday, August 27, at James Wheaton's farm, second concession, will be one of the biggest events in the history of the township.

It will be a general holiday throughout the whole district, and it is expected that every machine and farm implement will be idle and that not a furrow will be turned on any farm in West Nissouri on that day.

An excellent program of sports has been arranged for the afternoon, including three ball games, Belton vs. Thorndale, Thamesford vs. Ilderton and the last of the series between the two winning teams.

In addition to the unveiling of a memorial tablet and honor roll, presentation of medals tug-of-war, baby show, G. W. V. A. Band, novelty races, etc., a grand banquet will be tendered the returned soldiers and their parents by the ladies of the Red Cross Society of the township.

An excellent program is also being provided for the evening's entertainment, and everything will be free from start to finish.

The medals of the following soldiers who gave up their lives in the war will be awarded to their relatives: Pte. Everett Fitzgerald, Pte. Christopher Carter, Pte. Herbert Carter, Pte. Richard Fox, Pte. Jack Heigh, Pte. W. C. Pulham, Pte. Wesley Walters, Pte. Roy Vining, Pte. Lorne Guest, Pte. Stewart Kerzie, Pte. Geo. Clark, Pte. Fred Elfey.

The G. T. R. freight sheds were entered by burglars on Friday evening and goods valued at over $100 were stolen.

The West Nissouri Township Council recently granted $10 to Thorndale public library.

At the recent normal entrance examinations 75 per cent of the students of Thorndale High School were successful and 25 per cent secured honors.

FARMERS MAY MEET AT INGERSOLL TO NAME CANDIDATE

INGERSOLL, Aug. 24.—A meeting, which it is understood was for the purpose of discussing the possibility of a convention for the selection of a U. F. O. candidate, was held in the council chamber Friday night, representatives of farmers' clubs, chiefly the executives, being present. The labor men of Ingersoll had been extended an invitation to attend the meeting, but it seems the attendance was small. So far as can be ascertained, nothing of a definite nature was done. It is probable, however, while information to this effect was not given out, that a convention will be held in the near future.

Grasshoppers Chew Tobacco; Theory of Small Boy Is O. K.

BLENHEIM, Aug. 24.—A number of reports have come in from farmers that the grasshoppers are so numerous that they are becoming a menace. Pasture fields are being eaten off, young clover fields are being stripped, in some cases the tomatoes are being attacked and they have even taken to chewing tobacco. Some tobacco fields near pasture fields which have been overrun, have suffered considerably. Experiments have been made by putting poison on plants but the result has not been satisfactory, and a continued dry spell, which is favorable to the pest, is viewed with alarm.

SEEK LOST TREASURE WHILE MAKING REPAIRS TO DEPOT PLATFORM

It will not be necessary for the Prince of Wales to watch his step when he arrives in London at the Grand Trunk station on his impending visit. Workmen have been busy replacing all the defective planks in the platform, so by the time his Royal Highness makes his appearance the new board will be the same color as the old ones.

The men are willing workers, for besides what the Grand Trunk pays them there is always the chance of recovering property which has been lost during the last forty years. One man found $1.35, another a nail file, but what they are all looking for is a Masonic pin. For this pin there is a reward of $25, and all are hoping to draw the capital prize.

Mr. Forrester said that seats would be placed on the beautiful pot of grass where wearied travelers now take refuge from the hot sun, but this improvement will, in all probability, be carried over until next year, as no appropriation was made for it in the estimates for 1919.

SHOWER AT DORCHESTER.

The Liberal Leader

The large audience who heard Mr. Dewart on Friday evening got the impression of an earnest, honest man who will fight hard and win victory. There is nothing about him of the spellbinder. He appeals only to the reason of his hearers, argues his case thoroughly and massively, finishes it, and brings conviction to every open mind. He knows the history of nickel in Dominion and Ontario politics, and spares none who do not deserve to be spared.

The shocking negligence of our governments at Ottawa and Toronto in regard to the export of Ontario nickel via New Jersey to Germany in the late war was exposed by Mr. Dewart in an array of evidence that was even horrifying. People who lost sons, brothers, fathers in the war, especially in its latter years, will gasp with horror at the favors extended, even illegally, to the International Nickel Company by two governments that boasted their "patriotism" and slandered the character of Canadians whose loyalty does not confine itself to the pocket. The decent public will agree with Mr. Dewart that the most drastic investigation should be made of the whole nickel business in late years and its connection with politics in the war. Mr. Dewart contrasted with the criminal laxity of our governments the manner in which the British and Australian governments dealt with Hun agents whose operations were brought to their attention. We want to know the reasons why.

In these days of profiteering and governmental inactivity at Toronto in dealing with illegal combines, the government's record on the nickel question is of peculiar significance. If our government in time of war concerned itself so little to curb the manipulations of a company directed by enemies of our country, but regularly encouraged that company in spite of its flagrant character and played into its hands though voices all around were crying out against the iniquity, what action can we ever expect from such a government against native Canadian combines who merely plunder us without taking the lives of our young men? Mr. Dewart very properly emphasizes the case of the Nickel Company. He is a master of that important and crucial subject. The whole treatment of nickel by the Ontario Government in recent years has been unpatriotic in the extreme, on a par with the Borden-Bourassa alliance in 1911, and it is typical of the piratical economic policy pursued at both Toronto and Ottawa. These governments crush and make poor the mass of the people, and if the people object they are un-British or disloyal to the Empire. Canada, especially Ontario, is the most backward part of the Empire in democratic legislation. Mr. Dewart promises when returned to power to prosecute the combines and give us a square deal. What can be more British than that?

Pershing For President

Although another year must elapse before there is a presidential election in the United States, party circles are already looking around for the "strong" man. At present the Democrats appear to have nobody who measures up to Wilson's strength, but that strength does not seem as potent as six months ago. At any rate, the Republicans are claiming that the drift of public opinion is toward them and they are casting about for the best man to lead them to victory. At the moment General Pershing stands out prominently as the man for the job, his splendid leadership of the American armies in the war making him an attractive figure for manipulation by the party bosses. The Republicans would have great chances of success if they could have Pershing to hold the flag in a khaki election. Pershing has shown no especial capacity to occupy the White House so far as statesmanship or political craft is concerned, but a soldier-president, with his knowledge of effective military organization, might be the best thing for the United States and the world at large, as it is certain whoever rules at Washington must share the task of regulating the world in the stormy years ahead.

The Plumb Plan

The storm centre of reconstruction at present in the United States is the railroad management question. Mr. Glenn E. Plumb, counsel for the Railroad Brotherhoods, outlined a plan two months ago which in the main the New York Outlook summarizes as follows:

(1) The government shall buy all existing railways.

(2) It shall create a corporation to be controlled by a board of directors, one-third of whom to be named by the President and Senate of the United States, one-third to be elected by the executive employes and one-third by the wage-earning employes.

(3) Profits shall be equally divided between the government and the employes, while the public will be benefitted by a reduction in rates "whenever in one year the profits received by the government shall equal or exceed five per cent. of the gross operating revenues.

This plan has been criticized mainly on two grounds. In the first place no account is taken by it of possible lean years with deficits. But concerns so large as the united railway systems of the United States can face the problem of annual deficits just as any national government does or as a life insurance calculates the future, or as even an Ontario farmer, with his varied crops and resources, has little worry about the weather. A second criticism is that to the managers and workers of the corporation it is proposed to give too great control in that they shall elect two-thirds of the directors. It would seem fairer that the government, which supplies the capital and represents the people for whose benefit the railroads are to be run, should have at least half control.

When it was understood this month by the railway workers that President Wilson was favoring the creation of a federal commission, which would increase railway wages where needed, they showed their good sense in coming out flatly against this unsatisfactory method of dealing with the industrial situation of the present day. They are taking a broad view in remembering the interests of the general public as well as their own temporary advantage. In a statement issued about a fortnight ago they say:

"We realize that in the strife for wage increases we cannot win any permanent victory. It is not money, but value, which counts. The vicious circle is infinite; increased wages are overcapitalized, for inflated profits and the cost of goods mount faster than the wage level. A few grow wealthy and the multitude is impoverished."

There is the gospel truth of the present situation in industry and finance. The sooner both trade unions and our governments face this truth squarely the better for all. There is no use in the sparring here and the sparring there for isolated increases in wages. They only swirl the vicious circle faster, and a slight advantage tomorrow turns into a loss in a few months' time, especially for the community at large. Very justly and with a broad regard to the whole public's interest the railway workers' statement says: "Not only have we suffered from inadequate wages, but the public has paid an extortionate tax for transportation, a tax based on inflated values and collected from every person buying the necessaries of life."

So the workers say that the railway industry must be democratized on the Plumb plan. The rate-fixing power they would leave still to the Inter-State Commerce Commission. At the same time they contend that the sharing by workers in annual surpluses will make against the waste that has often gone with governmental enterprises and permit by increased efficiency the reduction of rates that all desire. It is proposed that the workers' half of the profits in any year shall be so disposed of that management shall be given twice the rate of dividend that is received by the ordinary employes. That will make for keener management and against any raising of wages intended to wipe out surplus. It will be more to the interest of the management to make surplus than to increase wages; but, on the other hand, when profits rise to a certain point, the public will be protected by the reduction of rates (outline of Plumb plan above, Section 3.).

The scheme looks like a good one on the whole for workers, public and government. Operation of railroads would be cheapened through the general consolidation and also because the government could get its bonds at four per cent., where five and six per cent. are charged on bonds of private character. The various checks and balances seem to safeguard against negligent management or indifferent labor or profiteering and speculative manipulation. It is not government ownership unqualified and crude, but a subtle division of power among managers, workers and the public.

Exit Daylight Saving

After the last Sunday in October daylight saving will disappear permanently from the calendar of the United States, Congress having overridden President Wilson's veto of the repeal measure. Daylight saving, or summer time, arose directly from the necessities of the war, starting in England and Europe and immediately leaping the Atlantic to be adopted on this continent. Canada was obliged, from economic reasons, to follow the lead of the Republic in the matter, and now that the Republic has decided to do away with it presumably Canada will follow suit. Next summer there will be no official advancing of the clocks in this country.

In both the United States and Canada opposition to summer time came from the farming community. The residents of cities and larger towns, speaking broadly, are in favor of daylight saving. The long evenings provide opportunities for securing fresh air and recreation, and the people of this city will, we think, as a whole concede that its general health and happiness have been advanced by daylight saving, especially this present summer, remarkable as it has been for length and openness. Probably in many cities there will be a continuation of the practice next summer through individual action. A general, if unofficial, understanding to start the day earlier for the summer months could bring about the beneficial change for the majority of citizens and would not hamper the farmer, as seems to be the case at present.

THE PINK BUNGALOW.
(BY IZOLA FORRESTER.)

It was pink, a rampant rose pink that snote the eyes the instant the shore train rounded the cove, and its veranda was a clambering mass of rose clusters from rock foundation to roof.

Mrs. Demorest took one look at it and leaned back in her car horrified.

"I can't imagine why you even thought I could live nxet door to that horror all summer," she told Dudley. "It will fairly smoke on hot days with such coloring. Who lives there?"

"Oh, mother, dear, who cares who lives there," teased the major. "After all I've been through a pink bungalow won't ruffle my happiness. You've been living too easily over here. Turn your back on it if you don't like it."

Which she certainly proceeded to do; not only her back, but Venetian blinds were ordered immediately for that side of the Demorest veranda, and Japanese shades for the sleeping porch and bedroom windows, that no glare of the offending pink should hit her eyes.

The major was strictly neutral. He lounged about the grounds, chatting with the gardener and chauffeur, or strolled the two blocks down to the beach every morning before breakfast. And here he did have a startling experience which failed to reach the ears of Mrs. Demorest. It must have been about 6:30.

Just as he came down his steps he caught a flash of rose pink running along the sidewalk from the beach, looking for all the world like a large runaway rose. It turned into the garden next door, ran up the steps and vanished.

"God bless us," murmured the major thoughtfully. "What was that, Judd?"

The gardener shook his head.

"'Deed, sir, I couldn't say. It's de young lady next door. She takes her dip early. She lives with her grandma, very dignified old lady, sir. Understand she got back from war lately, too; used to drive her own motor car full of sick folks."

This was establishing a fraternal basis for opening up overtures. The major waited his chance and called, not on the rose girl, but on her grandmother. Mme. Sigourney welcomed him charmingly. They had come to America after the invasion of Northern France, and one granddaughter had married here. Diane, the younger, had kept on her work at the front until the close of the war. Now they were resting at Spring Beach until the return home.

The major told his mother nothing of his visit, but day after day he strolled over to the rose garden, quite safe from any home scrutiny by reason of the shades, and Diane rejoiced in meeting somebody who knew all about her loved France and had fought for its safety.

Mrs. Demorest was too much engrossed in her own activities to notice what was developing beyond the Venetian blinds. After much argument the little close corporation at Spring Beach which comprised local "society" had decided to give a Versailles fete under Mrs. Demorest's guidance.

"We have everything but celebrities, dear," she told the major. "Can't you find me some heroes?"

"They'd run ten miles from being on a parade like that, Mumsie," he laughed. "I wouldn't be responsible."

"But Mr. Everitt will be there, and he was on so many committees over there, and so very important, Jack, that we must have him meet some one of importance. We're going to have the dear countess—oh I forget her name. Mrs. Vaughan knows her well. She will be guest of honor after Mr. Everitt, or should she come first?"

The major rose restlessly at a flash of pink in the garden and excused himself.

"Have it your own way, Mumsie," he told her, hurrying out to find Diane. Later on he did suggest that they include their neighbors on the receiving committee for the fete, but Mrs. Demorest refused.

"Pine bungalow, that tells it all, Jack. And, anyway, Mrs. Vaughan is in charge of the invitations."

The day of the fete the major declined to attend. He was extremely "busy," it appeared, and no coaxing would make him stir.

"I'm sure it's that girl in pink," Mrs. Demorest thought anxiously as she turned her head to watch him out of sight. "Men are impossible."

At half past three Diane came down the steps next door, lovely as a rose in her new gown, with a rose pink parasol tilted over her. The major joined her at once and discovered that she was bound for the fete over at the Vaughans' ground. Also, "la bonne grandmere" was likewise going and he wondered why her brown eyes shone with mischief as she told him by all means he could accompany them.

As they entered the beautiful entrance gates at Lynwood, he saw Everett hurrying toward them. The whole receiving line of ladies seemed to wait their cue. And Diane laughed with eager outstretched hands.

"Oh, but it is so good to see you again, Monsieur Everitt!"

The major's heels clicked attention and his chin was up as he realized the joke was on him. The Countess de Sigourney was being welcomed by Spring Beach's best, and his rose girl was swept away from him. As the truth dawned on Mrs. Demorest, she came to him anxiously and laid her hand on his arm.

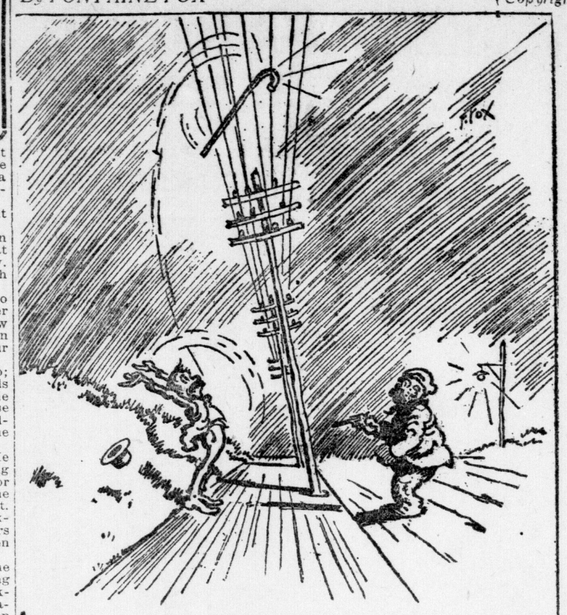

"I'm so very sorry, Jack. Of course I couldn't be expected to know, could I? And a pink bungalow is rather disturbing. Have I hurt your chances?"

He laughed, his eyes softening as they followed Diane.

"No, Mumsie. Madame gave her consent to our marriage last night."

Nothing but industry and frugality can make the world safe for democracy—the course we are steering it is more likely to make it safe for licentiousness.

TOO MUCH EXTRAVAGANCE.

[Brantford Expositor.]

Lloyd George complains that the people of Great Britain spend too much and produce too little. Herein is one of the chief causes of financial embarrassment. What is true of Great Britain is equally true of the United States and Canada. A magazine writer finds too much buying of things not needed and paying of exorbitant prices without complaint; ever growing insistence upon the most expensive in foods and clothing, regardless of income endurance; a too general predilection for "keeping" up with the Joneses."

WILL THE UNITED STATES SHIRK?

[Toronto Times.]

While the United States Senate haggles over the peace treaty some American newspaper correspondents are inclined to condemn Great Britain for preparing to withdraw her troops from Asia-Minor. They say that if the troops are withdrawn the Armenians will be massacred by their Turkish oppressors. The tendency of some people across the line is to leave the British people to bear the white man's burden and then to criticize the manner in which that burden is borne.

The fact is that the United States instead of Great Britain should be protecting the Armenians with its troops. As Mr. Bonar Law has said in the House of Commons, "It is an American rather than a British affair." The interests of America in that region are larger than those of Great Britain. Mr. Lloyd George put the case even more clearly when he said that Great Britain wanted to know whether the United States was prepared to take her share in guaranteeing protection for peoples who, if not protected, would be subjected to terrorism, plunder and massacre. The world looks to the American Republic to play up and play the game.

WHY A SENATE?

[Winnipeg Tribune.]

In a quarter of a century the Senate, if the people are wise and courageous, will have been so long out of existence that those then living will wonder why such a body ever did exist. For if it were totally abolished now, it never would be missed for one day. Before we go into the bother of making over the Senate, we need carefully to examine the fundamental question as to why we should have a Senate at all. The Tribune has carefully analyzed the well-known arguments of the constitutional professors in support of a bicameral legislature for this Dominion, but has not seen nor heard anything at all convincing in any of them.

LUMBER MERCHANTS

Gentlemen:—We want to tell you about the Goodyear Extra Power Rubber Belting we bought for our new mill two years ago and what great satisfaction this belting has given us. As you are aware, we bought this kind of belting from you for the equipment of our mill throughout, even to planers and matchers. We were skeptical at the time about using this belting on our matchers, especially on the side heads, as that is a very trying place for any kind of a belt. We concluded we would try your rubber belting, as we thought then, as a makeshift. Now it has been something over two years since we belted up our matchers with your belting and the original belts are yet on these machines and still giving good service. We thought where this belting of yours had proved so eminently satisfactory that we should tell you just as we thought about it and you know we are giving you this testimonial of Goodyear Extra Power Rubber Belting entirely at our own initiative. Yours truly,

Better belting, scientifically applied, will save you money. Without obligation to you, a belting man, trained by Goodyear, will call and make a record of your needs and experiences. Our recommendation will come from engineers who fit belts to conditions. Phone, wire or write the nearest branch.

INFLAMED GUMS— THE CAUSE OF TOOTH-BASE DECAY
Just as the strength of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so are healthy teeth dependent upon healthy gums.
Permit the gums to become inflamed or tender and you weaken the foundation of the teeth. This condition is called Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Loosening of teeth is a direct result. And spongy, receding gums invite painful tooth-base decay. They act, too, as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system —infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.
Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) attacks four out of five people who are over forty. And many under that age, also. Its first symptom is tender gums. So you should look to your gums! Use Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. It also scientifically cleans the teeth—keeps them white and clean. Brush your teeth with it.
If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

She Describes a Striking Gown for Afternoon Affairs.

"A gown for bridge parties or other afternoon affairs, that's what I'd like, Madame. I want a rather dressy gown, nothing that resembles a street dress."

"I have a quaint taffeta gown you'd love, Miss Griscom," Madame said. "It is a grey-blue-lavender. Really, it takes three adjectives to describe the color. There is a silver sheen in the glace taffeta that suggests grey, and the color is old-fashioned bluish lavender. You will find it attractive in either lamplight or daylight."

"The shade sounds very alluring," Miss Griscom answered. "I'd love to see it."

"Please show the lavender taffeta with the quaint little jacket," Madame turned to me with a smile.

This Delightfully Quaint Gown Is of Lavender Taffeta.

This gown is very quaint, and I knew it would appeal to Miss Griscom, who is a picturesque blonde, just the type for this rather olden-time dress. When I appeared in this frock she was charmed with it.

"Oh, madame, that gown is lovely enough for any hour of the day! The coloring is delightful, and the model is so reminiscent of the 1860 period."

"I thought it would appeal to you," madame smiled.

"The combination of lavender taffeta with that lovely striped material is fascinating. Let's see. There are green and silver stripes on grey taffeta. How perfectly the colors contrast with the greyish-blue lavender," Miss Griscom remarked.

"Yes, the materials of this gown furnish a very effective color scheme," madame replied.

"I like the way the Eton cuts out around the armholes to show the striped blouse, and I think the way the strap that runs over the sleeve is cut in one with the jacket gives a very effective line," Miss Griscom commented.

"Yes, that strap is nicely accented with the buttons and bound buttonholes. As long as the buttons are of the material they are not too conspicuous.

"The mauve lining of the little jacket is lovely," Miss Griscom observed, "and the various tones of lavender are perfectly blended, even the violet tie strikes another note in the scale, and yet all the shades harmonize beautifully."

"How do you like the silhouette?" madame inquired.

"That full tunic is very new, isn't it, madame?" Miss Griscom inquired.

"Yes, it is very new and a decided departure from the lead pencil silhouette."

"Rather a relief, I should say," replied Miss Griscom. "The tunic is faced with mauve, too, isn't it?"

"Yes, as the taffeta falls in this shaped tunic it cascades a bit at the sides and a contrasting facing is a little more effective than a hem would be. Of course, it is faced by hand with invisible stitches. Another attractive way of finishing this tunic is to bind it with a bias fold."

"I want to try this gown on, but I am a bit doubtful about the rose hat. The color is lovely, but it is such an unusual contrast."

Both the gown and hat were becoming to Miss Griscom, and she ordered them.

WINIFRED BLACK

Writes About False Looking-Glasses.

Copyright, 1919, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

Once there was a man who wrote a play called "The Palace of Truth."

It was a very clever play, based on rather a clever idea.

Everybody who entered the Palace of Truth had to tell the plain truth about something every time he opened his mouth.

No camouflage, no polite fibs, no little stretching of the facts.

If a woman sang, when she was through singing all those who heard her must either keep silent or say exactly when they really thought.

The young man in love, the jealous woman, the scheming politician—what a time they did have, telling and hearing the plain, unvarnished truth!

I wonder if there aren't a good many people in this country today who feel as if they had gone to visit at the Palace of Truth.

Thousands and hundreds of thousands of men and a good many more women that you'd think have never faced a real crisis for years, without a little magic looking-glass which made them look quite different to themselves—I wonder how they're going to feel now that the magic glass is gone and they have to face plain, cold facts.

The magic glass—what do I mean? Why, I mean alcohol, of course.

Don't you know people who haven't had a good, straight, honest look at themselves or their motives or their circumstances for years?

I do.

An Evil Change.

I know a man who started out one of the most brilliant boys in town. He always passed highest in all the examinations. He always made the "address of welcome" on special occasions.

He was the captain of the baseball team and the best swimmer in the class, and as for skating he made all the rest of the boys look like clumsy louts when he came skimming over the ice as if he had wings on his light feet.

He was good looking, too, in a bold, dashing, rickless kind of a way, and half of the girls in school were in love with him.

I met him on the train not long ago and it was as if some evil spirit had cast a blighting spell upon him.

Stogy, sullen, commonplace, almost shabby—the world was against him, he said. No matter what he did, he never had any chance.

He couldn't bear the dull plodding that so many men made of their lives and he had determined to live while he was living.

I could see that he thought of himself as a brilliant, misunderstood, unappreciated genius. Poor fellow, I wonder how he feels today with his magic mirror smashed, and nothing but the cold, hard facts to face?

I wonder how it will affect the women—the smashing of the magic mirror. The average woman has never cared much for that mirror anyhow, but how about the elderly person who could imagine herself quite young and frisky when she had had two or three cocktails. Will she see the wrinkles in her face now, I wonder? Will she realize what a mockery it has all been, the imitation of youth, the pretence at high spirits, the futile, desperate clutching for something—which is gone.

Is it going to be a dull world now that the magic mirror is smashed? Or is it going to be brighter and happier and more full of real gayety and natural joy of living than it has ever been before?

I know two or three persons that I'm very anxious to see some time within the next month or so.

Do you remember the old poem of the Lady of Shallot, who lived in a tower high above the shining river and always, and always she wove a wondrous tapestry?

The Enchanted Lady.

A tapestry with pictures in it—knights and ladies and snow-white palfreys and coal-black steeds and silvery lilies and winding rivers and leaping waterfalls

Tall trees and weeping willows and blooming roses—fair maids and gallant suitors, storied castles and hoards of faithful old retainers.

All these the enchanted lady wove into her tapestry—but these things she never thought in reality at all, for it was a part of her enchantment that she must never look out of the window into the real world, but always into the mirror to see the reflection of the real world. For if she looked at the reality the spell would break, the mirror would shatter and she would no longer weave the strange and mystic tapestry.

They're beginning to look out of the window at the real world—the weavers of the enchanted fantasy they call life—now that alcohol is gone

Will they die, I wonder, like the Lady of Shallot, or will they just come down to plain life again and rejoice to shake off the strange dream which has held them like some heavy enchantment for so long?

It will be very interesting to see, will it not?

NICHOL—HILL.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at All Saints' Church on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Daisy Ann Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hill of 104 Adelaide street, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Samuel Nichol, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nichol of this city. Rev. R. E. Charles officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Tucker, and looked charming in a gown of ivory satin, with pearl trimmings and overdress of tulle, with bridal veil and orange blossoms, carrying a bouquet of sweetheart roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Louise Hill, sister of the bride, looked very pretty, gowned in pale pink georgette crepe, with picture hat, and carried sweet peas and roses. Little Audrey Jones, niece of the bride, made a pretty flower girl, carrying a basket of sweet peas, and frocked in blue satin, with little poke-bonnet. The groom was supported by his brother, Charles Nichol of Toronto. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, at which 50 guests were present. They left on a wedding trip to Toronto. Many out-of-town guests were present.

Good Night Stories

BETTY VISITS A GUIANA INDIAN HOUSE.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Betty, throwing herself down on the porch steps. "Every place I go the old mosquitoes nearly eat me up."

"You might complain if you lived with your little brown cousins in Guiana," laughed a merry voice, and Betty turned to see her little elfin friend smiling at her from the porch rail.

"And why, Gocomeback?" asked Betty. "Do they have many mosquitoes in their country?"

"I should say they have, and much larger than the kind that sail around here," replied Gocomeback. "But come on, I was just on my way there, and if you'd like you can go with me."

Betty, who never needed a second invitation, jumped up and caught hold of the little travel elfin's hand. Away they sailed until at last they reached the homes of the Guiana Indians.

Betty looked around and asked Gocomeback where the houses were.

"Houses?" laughed Gocomeback. "Why, it's so warm in this part of the country the folks don't need such a thing as a house. All they need here is a simple roof to cover their heads," and he pointed to a queer sort of shed without any walls, supported on posts and thatched with leaves. "These serve the Guianans for houses."

Betty ran under one of the sheds. There from the posts and rafters hung the personal goods of the family—pans, paddles, clubs, guns, bows and arrows. Between the upright posts in tiers, one above the other, like berths on a passenger ship, hung great, deep hammocks.

"Hammocks are used instead of beds, you see," Gocomeback said. "Up there they can rest better than down on the ground, for the mosquitoes and other winged pests stay nearer the earth."

"Oh, I should think they'd be eaten up with mosquitoes, sleeping outdoors all the time this way!" Betty declared.

"They probably would bother these folks more, too," replied Gocomeback, "if it wasn't for the great fire they build every night before going to bed. The smoke from the fire is their only way of getting any peace at all, and each fellow takes his turn at getting up and tending the fire. Why, I've seen this old place shake until I trembled for its safety when the Indians would get in and out of their hammocks, but, as shaky as it seems, it's really built very strong. All the junctions of the beams and posts and rafters are firmly tied together. Well, how would you like to live here?"

Just then a swarm of mosquitoes buzzed around Betty's head, and she opened her eyes to find she was sitting on her front steps.

Betty rubbed her eyes and looked out into the gathering darkness. She was glad that she didn't have to climb into a hammock for a bed.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

From an Overseas' Nurse.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have seen several letters in your column lately in regard to returned soldiers overseas, and have found out that the boys are just exactly what we girls make them. The boys know what sort of girls we are before they have talked to us for five minutes, and if we are what we ought to be, the boys fail to show any roughness. Boys always prefer the quiet, womanly dignity of a nice girl to the manner of the rougher set. So it is up to us girls to make our boys what we would have them be.

I could not find any letters to Miss Grey in tonight's paper, but I hope to see this one in print, that is, if Miss Grey thinks it is worth while. Now, I hope that any of our returned men who read this letter will rest assured that it is only the rougher sort of girls who consider our boys as roughs.

CONFIDENCE.

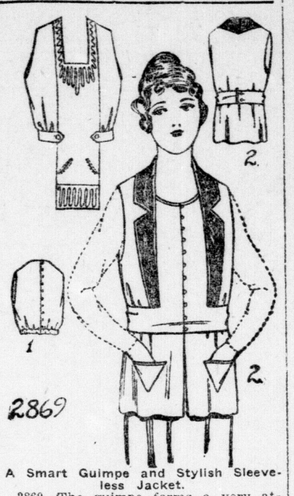

Ans.—Surely the opinion of "Confidence" will impress itself upon not only the returned men who read our columns, but upon some of the young women who choose to snub men wearing the service badge. Your letter is very "worth while," Confidence, and I hope you may write again.

Our P. C. Shower.

Seldom does an appeal for a bit o' kindness go sounding through the Mail Bix circle without a response from several readers. It does my heart good today to report the receipts of a number of attractive postals for the girl-reader, "K. Pistol," who in a recent letter told of a broken leg and the difficulties of amusing herself. The cards have all been inclosed in an envelope, and K. P. will have them before this is published. Cards are acknowledged from Cleopatra, Babe, A Pageite (Komoka), Aunt Jane, Meent and a Sick Person's Friend (two). On behalf of P. K. many thanks, Page friends.

Tatter,—I shall be pleased to mail your letter to Robina, just as soon as I receive her address.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps To Make the Home."

How to Give "An Alphabet Party" for All Manner of Amusement Purposes.

Have you ever been to an alphabet party? They're very jolly affairs provided there is a versatile hostess whose motive power is forceful enough to keep things going at concert pitch. Raising money for church activities has been the means of developing many a woman's ingenuity along entertainment lines, and some of the ideas are adaptable for private affairs—the alphabet party being one of that sort.

Upon their arrival each guest is asked to drop as many pennies into a bank as there are letters in their name, the bank being sent later to a local popular charity. After this formality of paying for the use of the alphabet, the evening becomes a mad race to see what each letter has to offer in the way of grown-up surprises.

At table "A" prize, first and second, are offered for the greatest number of words spelled from a few carefully selected letters, no one being allowed to see another's words until all have done their nimble-brained best.

Table "B" offers prizes to those who sew the most buttons on a card in a given length of time. Needless to say it is an occasion of fingers all proving thumbs and haste making waste.

An opportunity is given at Table "C" for the cat's cradle artist to show what he can do. The cat's cradle is almost as old as man, and has been played by every known nation and race in the world. In some Indian tribes intricate problems worked out in grass, sodge or thong instead of string have been handed down from generation to generation. It offers lots of fun even today. Try it and see!

Another table of interest is table "H," where the architectural minds build houses with alphabet blocks and the houses are judged by your own home committee.

At table "T" is the tape race, which is almost as exciting as the real thing. The "horses" entered are each given a pair of scissors and the end of one of several long tapes depending from a strong horizontal tape fastened to the wall. The bell rings and "they're off," cutting their way to the goal through the centres of the tapes. Many are disqualified by cutting the tape in pieces, so only the expert cutters claim the prizes, but the game is an hilarious one.

"M" is a millinery contest. "P" is a restricted paper chase, while "Q" is for quaint and queer animals drawn on folded papers passed from one contestant to the next, no one knowing what part of the anatomy of the animal has been already drawn by his neighbor. Many novelties are offered and many more can be developed by others wishing to give the party themselves.

Alphabetical pitfalls are many for the unwary, for all letters are not used up by the tables are attached to the refreshments, and if P's and Q's are not minded, one may get an onion sandwich with his ice cream, sardines and cake, or bouillion and coffee without even a cracker to float on the surface.

Dancing is always a possibility, but must be governed by space, the music available and the wish of the hostess. It is not necessary at this party.

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where Wives Urge Their Husbands to Take a Second Wife.

Revolting as the thought of polygamy is to every woman you and I know, and sad as are some of the stories that come to us from faraway lands where one man may have many wives, there is one section of Africa where women actually urge their husbands to take another wife. The reason for such an amazing request is found in the arrangement of society in the bush.

In this part of Africa the men are hunters and warriors. It is their part in the scheme of bush society to supply the home with fresh meat whenever they can and to guard their homes and fight the battles of their tribe.

But the constant food supply of the native home isn't the game caught every now and then, but the vegetables grown in little clearings close by the huts. These gardens are planted and worked by the women. In addition, it is the wife of the valiant warrior who also does all the work that falls to the share of the family in their village.

Now, a wife in most parts of Africa is a possession purchased by gifts to the father or the chief of the tribe and treasured not merely for love, but because of the work she does and the part she plays in the scheme of industry. As the family grows, the work becomes harder and harder for the poor wife. To escape constant drudgery she has but one way.

She begs her husband to take another wife to help her do the work of the home. Accidents of the hunt and casualties of the wars make the women more numerous than the men, so there is little difficulty in inducing another woman to share the common life.

Sometimes it happens that the first wife points out the girl she wants for the second wife. It has even happened that the first wife has done most of the "courting" of the second wife, picturing to her how fine a man the husband is and how lucky she should consider herself that she can share the life of so wonderful a man.

Of course domestic troubles are not uncommon in such a home, but that is another story.

Tecumsehs Back Home Again After Severe Mauling on Trip

BY BERT B. PERRY.

The Tecumsehs returned to town on Saturday night after a week and a half away from home. "Dad" Stewart's team failed to win one game of the nine played during the trip. This showing is rather surprising, in view of the fact that the Tecumsehs were playing better ball than any club in the league before they hit the road. Also, four of their nine games were played against Flint and Kitchener, admittedly weaker clubs than London.

Various reasons will likely be advanced for the team's poor showing. The probable truth of the matter is that the players have reached a stage of indifference and don't care whether they win or not. Three or four games lost on the road were practically thrown away after they were as good as won. The Tecumsehs are out of the race for the pennant or any other position of credit in the league standing and they are merely playing out the schedule. The chances are the club will finish the season where it started and stayed most of the way—in the cellar.

Too Many Heavers on Staff.

Manager Stewart is carrying six pitchers and not one of them could turn in a victory. Cy Pieh had the best opportunity in the third game against Saginaw. With a four-run margin in the ninth inning, he blew up quicker than a burning blimp and handed the game back to the Aces. 'Twas a remarkable performance and one that gives much food for thought. "Dad" is carrying too many pitchers. The good heavers are not getting work enough and the others are getting too much. Just why Stewart needs so many hurlers is hard to figure out. It is just as easy to lose nine games on the road with three or four slab artists as it is with six. The London club owners must be running a charitable institution for homeless pitchers, although it is hard to associate the London owners with anything charitable. Some of them are still chirping that they are losing money heavily on the season, and yet the club is carrying more players than most of the other clubs in the league. The London directors have spent a lot of money trying to give local fans a good team and get London out of last place. The team is still in last place. What's the answer?

The Tecumsehs will perform at Tecumseh Park for the next week or so. Today and tomorrow are really open dates, but Kitchener has been secured to play exhibition games here with Stewart's team. The rumor that extra seating accommodation will have to be provided for the crowds has not yet been verified.

Custers Win Both Ends of Double-Header on Sunday From the Halligans.

BATTLE CREEK, Aug. 24.—Battle Creek had little difficulty taking a double-header from Flint today. In the first game Fisher was hit hard for eight runs, to Flint's lone tally, and in the second game the Custers made five hits count for five runs. Flint again scored but one run on Trefry's home run smash. The feature of the second contest was a running shoestring catch by Main of a drive by Warner. The scores:

New York Giants Make London Club Offer for Okrie

London Southpaw Apparently Looked Good to Scout Kinsella a Few Weeks Ago.

Frank Okrie, the London club's pitching star, may get a chance to show what he can do with the Giants next season. The London Baseball Club has received an offer from the New York National League Club for Okrie. Some weeks ago "Fighting Dick" Kinsella had a good look at Okrie in action and it is believed that the famous scout has recommended the Detroit lad to Manager McGraw.

The London club has not yet made any announcement as to its intentions of accepting or rejecting the offer.

Saginaw Increased Lead on Hamilton by Half a Game When Bay City Proved Easy.

BAY CITY, Aug. 24.—Saginaw added half a game to its lead over Hamilton today by handing Bay City a 9 to 2 beating. The Aces sewed the game up in the second inning, when they hopped on Laurent for six hits and aided by three bases on balls scored eight runs. After that they had numerous scoring chances, but played listlessly, being content to let Jack Wisner mow down the Wolves.

Saginaw ran bases at will on Harrison, but at the same time passed up good scoring opportunities by foolish base running when safe play would have meant runs.

TAYLOR-FORBES WON FIRST SOCCER GAME

GALT, Aug. 24.—In the first game here in the fall soccer series Saturday afternoon for the Macand Casy cup, the Taylor-Forbes team of Guelph defeated the recently organized Caledonian team, 2 to 1. The local team showed a great lack of training.

CRANWOOD EVENTS WON BY IMPERIO AND E. COLORADO

Hickory Bill Fought For Four Heats, But Failed in Last.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—Though they raced horses yesterday at Cranwood until sundown put an end to the sport, only two races were completed, the 2:17 trot and 2:18 trot. As as result, Monday's card will be a big one, including two unfinished races from yesterday and three new events.

Yesterday was another day of real sport, with only one winner going over in straight heats. That winner was Imperio, second choice in the 2:17 trot. He trotted an impressive race and scored an easy victory. After taking the lead early in the opening heat he was never headed. Hickory Bill was the choice of the talent in the 2:18 trot, but did not have stamina to win, E. Colorado simply trotting him into the ground in the fifth and final heats.

Only Two in This Battle.

It was practically a two-horse race between E. Colorado and Hickory Bill. They alternated as heat winners in the first four heats, and hooked up in a mile-long clash in the fifth mile. Then they raced practically as a team to within 100 yards of the wire, where Hickory Bill had enough and quit, letting E. Colorado go on and win.

The 2:11 pace proved to be a real struggle. Grattan Regent, the favorite, won the first two heats. In the third mile Captain Shirley came home with a rush and nosed out Grattan right at the wire, and in the fourth mile The Christian, which had been acting badly, settled down, got away to a flying start, and held the lead for the entire mile, flashing past the finish a winner over Captain Shirley by a length.

Cherry Willis, the favorite, won the two heats that were contested in the 2:14 pace before that race went over until Monday. In each mile Mary O'Connor was a stronger contender.

During an intermission, A. C. Pennock, proprietor of the Cranwood track, announced that the entire gate receipts of last Saturday had been turned over to the Cleveland Welfare Association, to be distributed among different Cleveland charities.

RED SOX SEND SHAG'S TIGERS DOWN TO DEFEAT

Brantford Knocked Glasier Off the Mound and Behan Was Nearly as Bad.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 23.—Attendance records for baseball in Brantford were broken here Saturday when 3,808 persons attended the battle between the Hamilton Tigers and the Brantford Red Sox.

A rude jolt was delivered the Tigers' chances for the pennant when the Sox won by 7 to 3. Estelle, Brantford's star pitcher, held the Tigers helpless except in the second inning. Glasier was knocked out of the box with four runs, and Behan, who relieved him in the second inning, was touched for sufficient hits to account for three more counters. Score: R.H.E.
Hamilton ......002 000 001—3 8 1
Brantford ......070 000 000—7 12 1
Batteries—Glasier, Behan and Lapp; Estelle and Moorefield.

Because of a squabble among Philadelphia promoters, the bout between Willie Jackson and Johnny Dundee, scheduled to take place in Philadelphia, has been declared off. It is likely that the rival heavyweights will decide the question of superiority between them in Newark on Labor Day.

BEAVERS BUNCH HITS AND DEFEAT SCHMIDT IN SIXTH AND SEVENTH

Frank Quinn Holds London Runless After the First Frame.

KITCHENER, Aug. 23.—London lost the series when the Beavers took this afternoon's fixture by a score of 6 to 1. Manager Stewart was determined to win this last game, and shook up the batting order completely. Quinn, in the box for the Beavers, pitched clever ball throughout, and was given excellent support in the field, three fast double plays stopping whatever chances the Tecumsehs had to score after the first inning. Schmidt held the Beavers down to three hits up to the sixth when Wade's single, Eckstein's triple and Fletcher's sacrifice fly overcame the lead of one run gained by London in the first. In the seventh Shay's fumble, a base on balls, Beatty's double and Wade's single netted four runs. The score: R.H.E.

Dick Roche Drove Trotters and Pacers All Over World

Late Horseman Made Wonderful Record as Driver During Long Career.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—Dick Roche, the renowned horseman, who died August 19 in Winnipeg, was an Irish-Canadian, and first developed his love of light harness horses at his home town, Forest, Lambton County, Ontario. For over twenty years before taking up his residence in Winnipeg he trained and drove trotters and pacers on all the principal tracks of the United States and Canada and campaigned many noted trotting horses through Great Britain and Central Europe including the principal German, Russian and Austrian meetings.

In North America and abroad Mr. Roche was equally successful, winning very many important races and driving a great number of crack racers to their records, and, while it would be impossible to enumerate in detail the list that Dick brought before the public eye in his long experience, the success of his career as a reinsman can be gauged by the following records notched under his guidance:

A Few of His Horses.

Colonel Kuser, 2:11¼, Bismarck 2:12¼, Bellwood, 2:13¼, Bell Pilot, 2:15¼, Quarter Cousin, 2:15¼, Allegro, 2:17¼, Reddy, 2:18¼, Harry Wilkes, 2:18¼ and Bluebells, 2:19¼. In considering the above list it should be borne in mind that some of these are records made on European tracks, and from a standing or slow start. As to the sidewheelers that "Dick" has held the lines over their name is legion, and it will suffice to mention Harold H., 2:03¼, with which he drove a winning race at Milwaukee.

Wide Experience Across the Seas.

Turning to his foreign successes, he has caught the judge's eye in England at Alexander Park and Wembley Park, near London, and at the Wigan, Manchester and Blackpool tracks in Lancashire. Hamburg and Berlin with their beautiful suburban race tracks were the scenes of his chief victories in Germany, while Mr. Roche had many pleasant recollections of the splendid tracks in the vicinity of Baden and the Austrian capital, Vienna. The majority of these tracks are located in the midst of lovely rural scenery and vary in extent one or two miles around. The course at Baden lies in a valley, surrounded by mountains, and is especially picturesque from a scenic point of view.

Set Five-Mile Mark.

On one occasion at Delorimier Park, Montreal, he was up behind Harry Wilkes, 2:18¼ and in a field of eleven drove in the winner in a five-mile race to a fresh record for that distance that stood for many a day.

His services as a starter for the past fifteen years have been in great demand throughout the Canadian Northwest, and he was never happier than when officiating at the matinee events among his cronies of the Winnipeg Amateur Driving Club.

DODGERS WIN EASILY.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 24.—Brooklyn got twenty-one hits off Doak and Tuero today and made it two straight from St. Louis, 10 to 1. Johnston led in the batfest with four hits, but Griffith did the heaviest slugging with a home run, a double and a triple.

The score— R. H. E.

WILL RUN 22 EVENTS AT READVILLE MEETING

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—The grand circuit race meeting which opens tomorrow at the Readville track for five days will decide 22 events, ten of them early-closing stakes. Three divisions of the American Horse Breeders' Futurity will be decided, among them that for 3-year-old trotters, which has five entrants grouped as favorites. A match race between the trotters, Ante Guy, 2:04¼, to be driven by Murphy, and Lou Princeton, 2:02, with Cox up, was arranged tonight as an addition to tomorrow's card.

SAME OLD QUERY UP AGAIN.

Sporting Editor, Advertiser,—A bets B that team C would double the score of team D. The game ends with a score of 1 to 0 in favor of team C. Does A win his bet?

Answer—Yes.

LACROSSE RESULTS.

At Montreal—Shamrocks, 12; Nationals, 5.

THE PRIZE BONER

Ol' John Sheridan, the umpiring gent, discussing "bone" plays the other day, was inclined to pass the championship belt to Zach Wheat, captain and brightest star of the Dodger firmament.

"It happened in a game between Brooklyn and St. Louis," related Sheridan. "The score was 2 to 1 in favor of St. Louis. Johnson was on third and Wheat on first for the Brooklyn team with two out. Hickman was at bat, and the pitcher decided to pass him.

"And while the pitcher was intentionally endeavoring to pass Hickman what did Wheat do? He started for a steal of second, a base that he would have been sent to on the next pitched ball by the passing of Hickman. What could Wheat gain by stealing? Nothing! But he had everything to lose, for if he had been retired — which fortunately he wasn't—the side would have been out. By waiting until Hickman was passed he was sure of second anyway — and the bases would have been loaded with his people.

"Wheat normally is a smart player. But that day he executed a play that was astounding because of its boniness."

LONDON ROWING HAS A NEW TROPHY FOR TOURNEY ON FIRST

Dr. Jeff Wood Skipped His Rink To Victory on Saturday.

The annual Labor Day bowling tournament of the London Rowing and Bowling Club will be held at their grounds at 9 a.m. of September 1. There will be six sets of valuable prizes and a new trophy given to the winning rinks. It is the intention to play four fifteen end continuous games. The entry fee will be $5. Entries may be made to Secretary J. M. Farrow, 314 Hyman street, or phone 1843.

New Trophy.

The new trophy is one of the prettiest trophies in Canada, and is known as the J. C. Trebilcock memorial trophy. It was donated by Mr. Carlyle Trebilcock in memory of his uncle who was a very active member of the London Rowing Club at one time. The trophy has to be won three times before it becomes the permanent property of any club.

Last year, which was the first Labor Day tournament that the London Rowing Club held, the Thistle Club of this city won the Dunlop trophy.

Thirty rinks participated in the tournament held by the club Saturday, and although the games were held up by rain for an hour and a half, they managed to finish them by cutting the games down to twelve ends instead of playing the usual fifteen.

The usual Monday evening tournament will be held at 7:15 sharp.

The winning rinks Saturday were as follow:

1. J. M. Hunt and Dr. Jeff Wood, skip, won 4, plus 25.
2. H. V. Nichols and A. McLaren, skip, won 4, plus 21.
3. F. Wilgoose and Fred Allen, skip, won 3, plus 15.
4. Cecil Snellgrove and W. J. Snellgrove won 3, plus 11.

The prizes were: First, cut glass sandwich tray; second, cut glass bowl; third and fourth, silver casseroles.

SARNIA TEAM WINS ON SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

SARNIA, Aug. 24.—The Sarnia Independents defeated Amherstburg by the score of 6 to 1 in a game of baseball here Saturday afternoon. Allen and Petz, for Sarnia, and Brush and Hamilton, for Amherstburg, were the batteries.

The Sarnia Imperials, leaders of the second section of the City League schedule, defeated the Port Huron Mitchells in a close game Sunday in Port Huron by the score of 5 to 3. Moorehouse of the Imperials, only allowed two hits. Sensational catches by Gilchrist and Longo featured. The batteries were: Moorehouse and Larney for the Imperials and Gardner and Carson for the Mitchells.

WHITES AND POSTIES TO CLASH FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

At a meeting of the Manufacturers' League held at Briscoe's Friday night it was decided that Whites and the Postoffice were the only two teams who had any chance of winning the second series. All postponed games will be cancelled and the above teams will fight it out in a three-game series. The first two games will be played at Queen's Park on August 25 and 27, at 6:30, daylight saving time.

Both teams have won all their games in the second series and will use every effort to capture the silverware.

Bradshaw, who pitched for the Guelph team in the old Canadian League, will probably do the slab duty for Whites, and "Hank" Down or "Goldie" Prodger will look out for the Postoffice team's end.

HERRON BEAT JONES IN THE FINAL MATCH FOR AMATEUR TITLE

Atlanta Youngster Cracked in Concluding Stages of Game.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 24.—S. Davidson Herron of the home club won the national amateur golf championship of the United States today by defeating Robert T. Jones III. of Atlanta by 5 to 4.

Herron shot a brand of golf that it was impossible for the Georgia youth to follow, and he finally cracked.

The break came at the 29th and 30th holes. Herron was leading three up as they came to the 29th, and Jones trapped his second and nervously over played his third, and lost the hole. They were both safely off the 30th tee. Jones was forced to play the odd, and topped his shot into a bunker. After playing three shots he was still in the bunker and conceded the hole.

Herron Leading.

They walked to the 31st tee with Herron leading by four holes. Herron struck his iron to the green, 164 yards away, and Jones was in a trap. Bobby played his second over the green to another trap, got on in three and was down in four, but he lost the hole when Herron's approach putt was dead, and he was out of sight in three.

The match was then dormie, and the players halved the next hole in perfectly-played fours. This gave Herron the championship by a five and four score.

The tournament is the first in which Herron has ever figured prominently. He is the second member of the Oakmont Club, and the third Pittsburg golfer to win the title.

Toting a Revolver Proved Downfall of Joe Walcott

Famous Negro Fighter Never the Same After Shooting in Massachusetts Saloon.

[Written for The Advertiser by Frank G. Menke.]

...e story of how Joe Walcott ...ne ...ter the prize ring is told best by ... Sheehan, the veteran Boston ...e, who was the real discoverer of ...e Black Demon."

"Back in 1889 I was sort of physical ...ctor at the Parmenter Chapel Gym...um in Boston," relates Sheehan. "...the boys who belonged to the ...ous classes were white. But one ... noticed a negro among the small ...d that had come to see some of ...wrestling and boxing matches. He ...about the blackest human I ever ...ed at, but he had a rather pleasing ...and there was a wistful look in ...s eyes as he watched the wrestlers ...action.

"Finally I walked over to the lad, ...st to welcome him formally, and asked ...if he was an athlete.

"'... don't know,' he replied. 'All I know is that my friends say I'm power...ully strong, and can wrestle pretty well.'"

Gave Colored Lad a Chance.

That decided Sheehan, whose motto ...ways was "A Square Deal for Every...ne," to decide to give the negro boy a chance. So he told him to take off his ...ogs, put him in wrestling regalia and sent him against one of the best grap...plers in the gym.

"Walcott quickly showed two things," ...xplained Sheehan. "One was that he ...new absolutely nothing about the ...ience of grappling; the other was ...henomenal strength. After the two ...ys—my crack white wrestler and the ...olly unschooled negro, had been at ...about 30 minutes without either gain...g a fall, I called it a day for both of ...em, and then said to Walcott:

"'You come back tomorrow and I'll ... to teach you a little about west...g. You're awfully strong, but you ...ust know some tricks before you get ...nywhere.'

"After about two weeks of patient ...toring of Walcott, I turned him loose ... a championship contest in the gym...asium in his own class. Joe won easily. ...while later there was a tournament ... our gymnasium, and Joe entered in ...ee classes. None but a superman ...ld have won all three titles, but Joe Walcott was the superman. In a few months he had developed into one of the greatest wrestlers that ever stepped on to a mat.

Built Like Gorilla.

"The major portion of Walcott's suc...ess lay in his freakish build. His ...ns were gorilla-like in length and ...wer, and he had the chest and shoul...rs of a middleweight, although then ... was only a trifle beyond the bantam...eight class in poundage.

"Having won the undisputed cham...ionship of wrestling, Walcott began to look around for more worlds to con...quer. He had become friendly with Tommy Connolly, a boxer, who used to work out at the gym, and quickly show...ed a great interest in the fistic game.

"Joe at last appealed to me to give him some pointers in the fistic game. I did, devoting many hours to the task. And Connolly, too, aided him whenever possible. Joe quickly demonstrated that he was a natural boxer, and his quickness in absorbing his teachings advanced him in a few months to one of the best fighters in the club.

"Soon afterward another tournament was put on in the Parmenter Gym, and Joe entered both for the boxing and wrestling matches. He swept through to victory in each, and his work as a boxer was most impressive. For a while afterward Joe remained in the amateur ranks, starring as our gymnasium boxer. So good did he become that I finally prevailed upon him to enter the profes...sional ranks, as I was sure a glorious future was there for him.

Tracey His First Boxing Opponent.

"Walcott's first real big fight as a professional was in 1894, against Tommy Tracey, an Australian. The youngster from the Antipodes sized up then as a real warrior, and I knew that in taking on Tracey the negro would get a real test.

"The bout was scheduled to go fifteen rounds, but Joe knocked out Tracey in the sixteenth. The extra round was fought because the ring officials had lost count, and thought that the fifteenth really was the fourteenth. While the crowd, knowing that the fight really had gone its limit, was in a furore, the referee ordered the sixteenth round to be fought, although the fifteenth al...ready had passed. The fighters obeyed him, and Joe and Tommy mixed it again. Joe cracked Tracey with a sleep punch in the extra round, and at once established claim to real ring great...ness.

"From then on through nearly ten years Walcott was a fistic marvel. Then came an accident that marred his life and took from him much of the punch...ing power that was his.

"Somewhere along in the latter part of 1904 Walcott entered a saloon in Malden, Mass., one night, carrying a revolver, with much the same bragga...docio spirit that a youngster would tote around a similar weapon. Joe was drinking quite heavily then, and with each new drink would explain to his negro associates what he could do with 'this little bit of hardware' if he only pulled the trigger.

"In some way or another, while Wal...cott was explaining the workings and the power of the gun, his finger press...ed the trigger, and a bullet tore into a fellow named Hall, one of Walcott's bosom friends. Walcott, excited, placed the palm of his left hand over the mouth of the revolver in an effort to stop further firing, yet, at the same moment, he pulled the trigger again. The bullet passed through his hand.

Was Exonerated.

"Hall died a few hours afterward. Walcott was arrested, but later was exonerated of blame in the killing of his friend. But it was more than a year and a half later before Walcott's hand had healed to a point where he could attempt a ring come-back in 1906. His first foe upon re-entering the ring was Jack Dougherty. Walcott knocked him out in eight rounds, but showed plainly in that fight that his days of real greatness were over—that the long lay-off had affected him, and that his crippled left was to be forever a handi...cap.

"Walcott continued in the ring for five years after the shooting affair of 1904, but he never was the same. Men that he could have knocked out in a round in the earlier days stayed the limit with him. And frequently he lost to men who weren't to be mentioned in the same breath with him in the days of his real ring greatness. Just what—other than the thought to im...press his negro friends—influenced Joe Walcott to buy that revolver, no one knows. But possession of it abruptly terminated Walcott's climb to the ethereal heights of ringdom."

VOODOO WORSHIPPERS CREATE A REIGN OF TERROR IN HAVANA

Superstitious Negroes Spirit Away Children to Offer as Sacrifices.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—With the recent sudden outbreak of cannibalistic practices by Voodoo worshippers, which have resulted in the deaths of at least three innocent children and a half dozen of the Voodoos, the latter by the application of "lynch" law for the first time in this country's history, fathers and mothers are living in constant fear that their little ones may be spirited away by the superstitious negroes to be offered up in sacrifice to "Chango," the god of the "Brujos," as they are called in the Castillian language.

The Voodoos are divided in various sects, each with its separate god. The latter include "Babagueye," god of sickness; "Elecua," god of injury; "Olorrun," god of misery, and "Chango," the terrible god, to whom human sacrifices are made.

"Chango," according to the Voodoo belief, was the son of Olorrun and Anaragua. He was slain by Elecua, the "god of injury," and ascended into Heaven from a Ceiba, or god-tree, in the month of May. It is in the month of May, therefore, that the "Brujos" observe their holy week when Chango is expected to make a weekly visit to the earth, descending by the Ceiba, his sacred tree, always on Monday.

The followers of Elecua do not directly offer human sacrifices, although their healers sacrifice the lives of some patients, by giving them poisonous concoctions, supposedly a mysterious cure for some ailment, in order to restore to health of some other patient, Elecua, being "God of Injury," his followers believe that good can come to one person only through injury to another.

Voodooism is not practiced by the negroes alone. Many white persons also are said to secretly take part in their religious meetings and accusations have been heard in various quarters of the difficulties encountered by officers seeking to break up their temples because of the obstacles placed in their way by persons of influence.

An active campaign by the authorities in Havana and other parts of the island have resulted in the capture of numerous "Brujos" and the seizure of many curious and weird objects used by them.

SAYS GERMANY WILL NOT PAY INDEMNITY

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 23.—Baron von dem Bussche-Haddenhausen, former German minister to Argentina in an interview published by the Buenos Aires Herald, a newspaper printed in English, says that the indemnities provided for in the peace treaty will never be collected, because they are so ridiculous and high that the league of nations will eventually annul or reduce them. He declares that it is only a matter of time until Germany will regain "her old place of supremacy."

Baron von dem Bussche-Haddenhausen characterizes the peace treaty as "a monstrosity and imposition without precedent in history." He asserts that Brazil is angling for German immigration, and that the Argentine Government "may offer inducements," but says that the number of immigrants from Germany will be much less than 5,000,000, as previously reported.

"Germany has the greater part of her territory and most of her mines," the baron continues, "and it will make no difference even if Upper Silesia is given to the Poles, because the Silesian mines are owned principally by Germans."

FORMER BRUSSELS MAN DIES IN KANSAS

BRUSSELS, Aug. 24.—People of the locality were greatly surprised to hear of the death of Dr. R. J. Whitfield of Fort Scott, Kansas. He had been seriously ill a few months ago, but was getting along well and he and Mrs. Whitfield were contemplating a visit to Brussels when pneumonia set in and he passed away at the early age of 57 years. Dr. Whitfield was born in this locality. He was a prominent Mason. Two brothers and two sisters live here.

The new voters' lists for the referendum vote are printed and ready for revision. The addition of women voters has nearly doubled the number of names usually on.

Brussels Fall Fair is looming up. It will be held on September 16 and 17. There are many special prizes and attractions, with a good band. The prize list is one of the largest and best in Huron County.

Three interments were made in Brussels Cemetery this week, that of Mrs. Wm. Krauter, who died at Hanover, aged 45 years; Mrs. S. Bailey, a resident of town for the past fifteen years, and Mrs. Dan Dunman, who died quite unexpectedly. She was 44 years of age.

NEW CANADIAN RECORD FOR HUNDRED-YARD SWIM

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The Canadian swimming record was broken at the 44th annual races of the Montreal Swimming Club at St. Helen's Island on Saturday afternoon, when George Vernot covered the 100 yards in 60 4-5 seconds, nearly two seconds better than the time made by Frank McGill at Halifax some time ago, which was 1:02 2-5. Vernot was expected to establish a new mark for the distance, and to avoid all posibility of doubt, a 100-yard line was brought to the island and stretched over the club's course. Vernot also was the winner of the 440 yards and the 100 yards on back.

LIVE STOCK

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Receipts at the Union yards this morning were 4,821 cattle, 804 calves, 3,748 hogs and 4,060 sheep. The trade in cattle was much more active, partly owing to the exhibition trade. The chief demand was for light handy weight butcher stock, but the tendency is firm in all lines. Sheep and lambs were weaker, calves about steady. Quotations:

Cattle—Exporters, medium, per cwt, $12 50@13 50; do. bulls, $10@11; butchers, choice, $12 25@13 50; do. medium, $9@10; do. common, $8@9; do. cows, choice, $10@10 55; do. medium, $9@10; do. canners, $5@5 50; do. bulls, $9@9 50; feeding steers, $10@11; stockers, choice, $8@9; do. light, $7@8; milkers, choice, each, $80@125; springers, choice, each, $90@135; calves, $19@20 50.

Sheep—Ewes, cwt, $8@9; bucks and culls, $5@8; lambs, $15 25@16 25.

Hogs—Fed and watered, cwt, $21 50; f. o. b., $20 25.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The offerings of live stock at the west end cattle market this morning amounted to 1,600 cattle, 3,065 sheep and lambs, 500 hogs and 750 calves.

The run of cattle today was too much for the demand, and the general tendency in prices was toward somewhat lower levels. There were large numbers of inferior grade stock offered, which were taken to some extent by packers. Choice stock in the beef line is still scarce. Butcher cattle met with good inquiry, and the bulk of cattle trade is in these lines.

Choice steers sold at $12 50@13 50 per 100 lbs, while others were down to $7@8. Butcher cows and bulls sold at $8 50@10 for the best per 100 lbs, while other grades were down to $5@6.

In the small meat section there was little excitement, the hog market being flat, and the best selects sold at $21 50@22, with a slow, draggy sale; the quality offered was poor. Other small meats were plentiful, lambs being a little easier, and the demand for calves continuing strong. Lambs were from $12@15 per 100 lbs, sheep $8@9 50, and milk-fed calves $12@16.

HAY

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Hay—Baled, on track, Toronto, in carlots: No. 1, $22@24 per ton; No. 2 mixed, $10@19 per ton. Straw—In carlots, $10@11 per ton.

FLOUR

Toronto, Aug. 23.—Flour—Manitoba, Government standard, $11, Toronto; Ontario, Government standard, Toronto-Montreal, $10@10.50, in jute bags.

Millfeed—In carlots, delivered, Montreal freights: Shorts, $44@57 per ton; bran, $42@45 per ton; feed flour, $3.25 @3.50 per bag; middlings nominal.

WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 25—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Stocks were irregular to heavy at the outset of today's trading, last week's deficit of actual reserves in the clearing house statement and further industrial disturbances prompting further moderate liquidation. Steels, equipments and tobaccos fell 1 to 2 points, and Industrial Alcohol lost 3. Recessions were partly balanced by gains extending from fractions to 1 point in oils and specialties. Shippings were variable, Marine preferred gaining 1 point, while American International lost 2 points. Nominal changes ruled among rails.

John W. Sterling Left $18,000,000 to Yale University

One of Largest Gifts Ever Made To Educational Institution.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Yale University will receive from the estate of the late John Sterling, lawyer and alumnus, about $18,000,000 as residuary legatee, making the gift one of the largest ever donated to any public educational institution. The sum was greatly in excess of the amount which had been estimated as Yale's share of the estate under the terms of Mr. Sterling's will.

Besides this munificent bequest to Yale, Mr. Sterling left more than $1,000,000 to the Osborne Memorial Association, a corporation established by his friend, the late Mrs. Charles J. Osborn, for the purpose of founding a home for aged women. Valuable property holdings owned by Mr. Sterling in Rye and Harrison, N. Y., also constitute the share of the memorial association and upon these will be erected buildings in memory of life-long friends.

The partition of Mr. Sterling's estate was outlined in a report of Anthony P. Luddena transfer tax appraiser, filed in the surogate's court yesterday. No actual appraisal of the estate was made because the residuary estate, which comprises nearly all the property, passes to corporations exempt from inheritance tax.

However, it was ascertained that Mr. Sterling left a fortune of $20,336,199, of which the bulk goes to the university where he was educated for a memorial building and scholarships. Trust funds aggregating $750,000 were created by the lawyer for the benefit of his two sisters, nephews and niece, while law associates and employees are among those generously remembered.

Holders of Food Ordered To Sell or Be Prosecuted

Drive Against High Prices Is Continued in New York City.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The drive against high prices continued in this city Friday all along the line of federal, state and municipal endeavor.

Mayor Hylan made public a report sent to him by Commissioner Drennan of the fire department on the results of the search for food hoards which the mayor ordered several days ago. The report, which gives a list of hundreds of millions of pounds of edibles discovered stored here, is in the hands of the federal district attorney. It will be studied to ascertain what part of it may be regarded hoarded, and thus liable to seizure by the Government.

It was announced at the federal district attorney's office that owners of food in storage discovered by department of justice agents were being questioned and that many who could not show proof that their supplies were not being held for a rise in the market, were being ordered to "sell or be prosecuted." Assistant United States District Attorney Ben Matthews said that many of these merchants already had agreed to put their food on sale under terms of the "fair price" list compiled by the fair price committee.

Federal Food Administrator Arthur Williams announced that a campaign to educate housewives of the city in buying economically had been launched by Mrs. Charles Carey Rumsey, chairman of the fair price committee's subcommittee on field activities. Mrs. Rumsey's plans provide that fair price information shall be sent into every home in the city. The schools will be enlisted to help in this work when they are opened for the fall term, Mr. Williams said.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Science Now Blames the Eyes for Some Common Fears

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

The human eye cannot begin to take in the billions of real things in the universe. It may discern many more objects than the visual senses of lower creatures, but it is far from the powers of the spectroscope, radioscope, roentgenoscope, telescope or microscope, which give us but an inkling of what is real and material that the eye cannot see.

Next to the muscles, the eyes are the most essential sense structure. Unless they are symmetrical and healthy, all sorts of confusions worse confounded are possible. A sense of unreality in a person may be due to the eyes, especially the eye muscles. You may feel, believe or dream that you are drifting into space. This is often due to the relaxation of the eye muscles, which gives you a half-recognized sense of things in motion receding from you.

Dreams of falling, drifting, "goneness" and a sense of unreality have, like sleeplessness itself, been benefitted by the adoption of eye glasses, as well as drowsiness, exhaustion and faintness, traceable to dimly-lighted offices, gloominess or close eye work.

Prof. C. P. Emerson, dean of Indiana University School of Medicine, says that he has traced fears and phobias to eye disturbances.

A Case in Point.

When the eight or ten little muscles of the inner and outer eye are strained you may not be secure on your feet. You step down when you walk on level ground or you mistake your balance as you walk inclines or stairs.

The play of children and your experiences in childhood may give a clue to your vision. The reason many persons have no clear vision of world affairs, business, love and money is made plain at times from these queries:

Could you when a child run along a stone wall, over a railroad bridge on the open ties or play tag over the rafters of a house partially built?

If your answer is "No," perhaps you can recall that your friends did these things and ridiculed your timidity, although it was due largely perhaps to your untrained, unadaptable, strained eye muscles.

Another Example.

If you feel dizzy when high up, or dislike looking down from great heights, if you cannot walk a tight rope or a slack wire, your eye muscles have as much to do with it as your other muscles, perhaps much more.

When you are on a steel track which has a broad, flat surface beneath, you can balance yourself with great ease. If the broad surface beneath it is absent your mind consciously realizes that the eyes do not give accurate enough information to guide the muscles of the feet when a fraction of an inch may mean a death fall.

Finally, "agoraphobia," or the fear of crossing open spaces, open squares or a busy street appears to be a swift warning via the eyes that your muscles are not equal to an emergency.

After all is said, vision depends much upon the condition, training and discipline of the muscles. If you are an athletic, muscular, well-exercised individual your eyes will be helped, you will see more things to do and be better able to do them than if you are fat and flabby.

Answers To Health Questions

MRS. C. A. C. Q.—What do you advise for anaemia?

O.—Open air, sunlight, milk, meats, eggs, nuts, cereals, vegetables, butter, fruits, all fresh country rations, light athletics and exercises are all conducive to the cure of blood defects. Open air sleeping, 10 grains of carbonate of iron in sugar-coated pellets, X-rays, bone marrow and a few drops of arsenic under a doctor's vigilant attention all help.

MRS. J. Q.—What do you advise for arthritis?

A.—Arthritis is an infection of the joints of some sort. It may be due to mechanical efforts of the joints, but usually an infectious germ into the joints by way of the tonsils, nose, throat, intestines or even the scalp or skin disease or from the bladder. The only cure is to discover the focus of germ supply and be rid of it. Hexamethylenetetramine and alkaline fluids help sometimes.

MISS E. R. Q.—What can I do for epilepsy?

A.—Epilepsy of a special kind is cured by surgical measures. Much help comes to others at times from the use of bromides, especially the effervescent bromide tabloids in water. Plenty of water should be drunk, three quarts a day. The intestines should be always kept active. No muscular work or housework should be done, and no meat usually eaten. The diet is not essential other than the avoidance of gluttony and excesses, or the artificial stimulation of tobacco and other drugs.

J. W. H. Q.—What can I do for dandruff?

A.—A little of the following used three times a week does much good:

Sulphur	1 dram
Resorcin	10 grains
Salicylic acid	10 grains
Sulphate of quinine	10 grains
Petrolatum	1 ounce

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND
ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF
REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

The Question That Sorely Troubled Madge.

If I had not been secretly preparing myself to hear almost anything concerning the mysterious death of Milly Stockbridge I think that I should have betrayed what I knew at Alice Holcombe's astounding assertion. As it was, I repressed my start of dismay, simply asked the very natural question:

"What in the world are you talking about"

"I know you think I'm as demented as poor Milly was," she replied, "but you must be patient with me. I've never in my life had such a shock as was mine when Milly's sister sent for me tonight."

I realized that I had made a blunder in trying to question her, that I had only confused her instead of aiding her, and I hastened to rectify my mistake.

"Suppose you begin at the beginning and tell me the entire story," I said soothingly. "Then I can get the whole thing clear in my mind, and we can decide what is best to do."

"Kenneth has already decided," she said, and the little speech so puzzled me that I had to flog my wandering brain to pay attention to the tale Alice Holcombe began without further delay.

Yes, I Know."

"It was about 7:30 o'clock when Mrs. Watkins, a neighbor of Milly's, called me up saying that Milly was dead, and that her sister wanted me to come straight to the house. It seems that they had tried to get me before, but I didn't get in from that little business trip I spoke to you about this afternoon, until just two or three minutes before she called. I went right over—and—"

"Wait a moment!" I put up a protesting hand with the remembrance of the two or three mouthfuls, a poor trifle for even a canary, which I had seen my friend swallow at luncheon. "When did you dine?"

"I didn't dine," she retorted, "but for goodness sake don't speak to me of food!"

"I'm not going to—now." I finished the sentence under my breath. "I simply wished to know. Go on."

"When I got there the house seemed filled with people. Milly was lying on a couch, and her mother and sisters were shrieking and moaning over her. They're tails, answering any questions that were asked him.

"His story was that he came home this afternoon, and after remaining a little while went to his father-in-law's on an errand, and that when he returned he found her lying on the floor between her 5 o'clock tea table and the couch. He said he thought she was breathing when he picked her up, and that he tried several restoratives, thinking she had fainted. Then he tried to get Dr. Lane, but had to go to a neighbor's to telephone, as he found theirs out of order. What did you say?"

"I didn't say anything," I returned, hoping she had not noticed my involuntary start at her words. But beating upon my brain was the question:

What had put the Stockbridge telephone out of commission so suddenly?

the kind that cannot seem to control their grief, must make a show of it—I don't mean that as censure—they can't help it, probably, but you know what I mean."

"Yes, I know." I have experienced the type to which Milly Stockbridge's relatives belong.

Madge Listens.

"They rushed at me the moment I got in—you know I was the oldest friend Milly had, made me look at her poor, contorted mouth, and the marks on her wrists, wanted to know if I had noticed anything queer about her lately, and when I had last seen her. I told them that she had come to school to luncheon a few days ago, and at that time she seemed to be in good spirits. I hope I'm forgiven for the lie, although, for that matter, I did not see her that day except when she was in good spirits. It was lucky they didn't have you to question."

I silently confirmed her assertion, and praying that I might never be questioned as to that day, listened intently for the rest of my friend's story.

"And then they set up their crying again and kept exclaiming nosily, over and over again: "Milly never did it herself. She was forced to take it.'

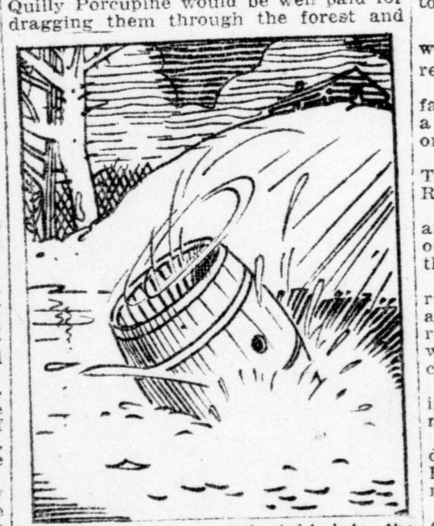

"Of course, they didn't mention Kenneth's name, but I could tell that it was an awful thing for him to hear just the same. I never saw so colorless and despairing a face on any human being. He was attending to all the little de-

WHAT HAPPENED TO MR. PORCUPINE

Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum and little Peter Rabbit were standing on their hind legs and pushing the pork barrel down the hill from the camp to the pond. I was hard work, for the barrel was heavy.

Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum didn't mind the work and they were laughing all the time, for they thought that old Quilly Porcupine would be well paid for dragging them through the forest and telling them that he had something lovely for them to eat.

At last the barrel fell right into the water.

Jimmy Coon liked a joke—especially if it was on someone else—better than anything else in the world except something to eat.

Little Peter Rabbit was all in the dark for he didn't know what on earth was the matter that those two friends of his were working so hard. But he wanted to help because he had such a good disposition that he always wanted to help.

You can be sure that Mr. Porcupine was all in the dark, too. For, as you remember, he was inside the barrel.

The barrel was rolling faster and faster down the hill and only stopped a little when it came up against a bush or a stone.

Sometimes the barrel almost ran over Teddy Possum or Jimmy Coon or Peter Rabbit when it was rolling very fast.

It was pretty hard to push the barrel and keep out of its way. Once it ran over Teddy Possum's tail, and then there was a howl.

Chatterbox, the red squirrel, was running along the tops of the trees, and as he only came up when the barrel was rolling, he couldn't make out what the game was or what those rascals were up to.

Of course, Quilly Porcupine was making an awful noise all this time, but nobody heard him.

Teddy Possum and Jimmy Coon didn't want to hear him and little Peter Rabbit and Chatterbox, the red squirrel, didn't know he was in the barrel.

By the time the barrel reached the edge of the pond many of the little wood folk were out to see what was the matter.

You know how it is with us when there is a fire—in less than no time everyone that anyone has ever heard of or ever seen, and lots of other people besides, run to the fire. So it is in the Great Forest—all the little animals ran to see what was the matter, for Chatterbox talked all the time and kept calling to Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum, and the birds were fluttering and making a great to-do about it.

Well at last the barrel fell right into the water, "kerplunk," and Teddy Possum and Jimmy Coon and Peter Rabbit stood on the bank to see the last of Mr. Porcupine.

But what was the matter? They didn't see him at all!

Tomorrow—The Joke on Mr. Porcupine Turns.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, AUG. 26.

The sidereal operations for this day denote some active and interesting occurrences, though not of a startling nature or far-reaching results. It is moderately promising in a commercial or professional way, with some degree of success assured from dealings with trusts, combinations, secret orders or intrigues. There may be some subtle benefits or secret help. Writings, publishing and signing of papers are fostered under a favorable Lunar aspect to Mercury. Mars semi-square to Moon warns against quarrelling and rash conduct lest these lead to litigation. A fortunate Solar aspect to Mars makes for initiative and enterprise and stimulates the energies generally.

Those whose birthday it is, while having a more or less active year, need not expect a very eventful one. A child born on this day will be active and enterprising, yet may not have a great career.

Four Troopships Dock at Halifax During Week-End

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 24. — Four steamers arrived at this port yesterday and today with returning soldiers. Two of them had Canadians, the Belgic and the Saxonia, and two, the Royal George and the Carmania, had imperials, who are being repatriated to this country.

The Belgic had all told 2,787 troops and the Saxonia about the same number. Among the Belgic's passengers was Adjutant-General Thacker, a brother of General Thacker, who is the general officer commanding this district. The Saxonia entered the harbor soon after the Belgic had begun debarking, but there was no delay in forwarding the soldiers, who got away on seven trains.

On the Royal George and Carmania today there were no Canadian soldiers and no lists of the imperials who came such as are provided in the cases of returning Canadians.

The Royal George brought about 1,000 imperials and 500 other passengers. The Carmania brought over 2,000 imperials and nearly 600 other passengers. All the steamers proceeded to New York.

Among the officers on the Saxonia were: Captain R. C. Geddes, Port Elgin, Ont.; Lieut. O. Rolfson, Walkerville, Ont.; Lieut. M. V. Sadlier, London, Ont.; Major G. H. Pollier, Tillsonburg, Ont.

The total number present yesterday was 35,500, although the big show will not be formally started until this afternoon, when His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will declare it officially open.

TWO ADDITIONS TO CONSERVATORY STAFF

Beginning with the reopening of the school year on Tuesday, September 2, the London Conservatory will have two new members on the teaching faculty. Mr. Herman J. Brouwer, a splendid baritone, who has had great success in operatic and concert work and who for the past year has been engaged by the United States Government as director of community singing, will be added to the vocal staff, while Mr. T. Martyn, concert pianist, will be added to the piano department.

Both artists will commence their duties immediately on reopening.

MILK "GOING UP."

Milk may sell at 14 cents per quart retail in September. It was suggested at a meeting of the milk producers of this district, which was held in the office of the Middlesex branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, on Saturday, that the price of milk to the retailers be raised to $3.00 per cwt. on September 1. This would make the retail price 14 cents. This proposition will receive the further consideration of the producers at a meeting to be held in two weeks' time. Thirty farmers were present on Saturday.

WILLIAM S. HART IN A BIG PRODUCTION AT MAJESTIC TODAY

Bert Thomas, "the Boy With a Smile," Is Vaudeville Feature.

William S. Hart, hero of a hundred thrilling dramatic situations, star of some of the finest photo-dramas that have ever reached the screen, and one of the most virile and popular delineators of western characters, will be seen in "Wagon Tracks," an Artcraft picture, at the Majestic Theatre this week. This photoplay promises to eclipse even his best previous offerings by reason of its exceptional quality and historic interest.

To men, women and children in every section of the country "Bill" Hart is typical of the western spirit—breezy, resourceful, forceful, skilled in every sport and necessary accomplishment of the plains. His face is the synonym for power and manliness; his ability as an actor is admitted by all; his naturalness, restraint, quiet ease in even the most trying moment stamp him as a finished artist.

"Wagon Tracks" was written by C. Gardner Sullivan, and that is a guarantee of its dramatic strength. Lambert Hilyer was the director. Jane Novak is the leading woman and heads a capable cast, including such players as Robert McKim, Lloyd Bacon, Leo Pierson and others.

Bert Thomas, "the Boy With the Smile," will render a special program of songs. Other features include comedies, news weeklies, travelogues and orchestra overtures.

EMMY WEHLEN STARS IN FEATURE PROGRAM AT THE GRAND TODAY

Mabel Whitman and Picks Appear in Vaudeville.

Far too seldom are motion picture-goers treated to such a combination of beauty and talent as is featured in the attraction at the Grand today, tomorrow and Wednesday, when the beautiful Emmy Wehlen appears as the star in the Metro production of "The Belle of the Season."

"The Belle of the Season" is a comedy-drama of intense human interest, adapted to the screen by S. Rankin Drew from Ella Wheeler Wilcox's celebrated poem, and in it Miss Wehlen is again presented as the "fashion plate of the screen."

There is in all probability no other star of the screen who displays with such ease and grace the stunning sartorial creations which have made Emmy Wehlen a famous personage on both the stage and screen.

From her first appearance in American theatricals, being imported from the London Gaiety by Broadway producers, Miss Wehlen has led her sisters in styles of the last minute, and with the production of "The Belle of the Season" she will maintain her enviable reputation with a brand new series of luxurious gowns and millinery.

In her latest Metro offering she is said to surpass herself in the role of the sole heiress to millions who interests herself in the welfare of the working classes, who have aided her father in amassing his wealth.

The vaudeville feature of this bill is Mabel Whitman and "Picks," a talented troupe of singers and musicians, who will offer an original novelty in jazz music.

A Mack Sennett Keystone comedy, entitled "Skidding Joyriders," featuring the well-known fun-maker, Chester Conklin, the Pictorial Life, and an overture by the orchestra complete the bill.

MAY ROBSON, appearing at the Grand Theatre in a new comedy, "Tish," Labor Day matinee and night.

"THE SIREN'S SONG" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

THEDA BARA, in "The Siren's Song," a super-production showing at the Patricia Theatre on Monday Tuesday and Wednesday next. Also an L-Ko two-reel comedy, a special comedy and a Universal screen magazine. In vaudeville a real B. F. Keith act, "Bits of Musical Comedy," featuring Lampsell, Leonhart and Matthews, will be presented.

THOUSANDS VISITED SPRINGBANK PARK FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

McClary Welfare Outing Drew Season's Largest Crowd To City's Picnic Grounds.

Thousands of people visited Springbank Park on Saturday afternoon to participate in several long-anticipated annual picnics, and the exceedingly heavy downpour of rain between 2 and 2:30 o'clock failed utterly to discourage them. They waited until the shower had stopped, and then, disregarding the threatening aspect of the sky and the fact that the ground was completely soaked, left the city as quickly as the special street cars could carry them. Upon arrival at the popular park, the picnickers found that their recklessness had been warranted because the ground there had been scarcely affected by the rain, and better still, that the weatherman had substituted a clear, sunny sky for the former overcast one. So everyone proceeded to forget all worries and enjoy themselves to the utmost extent.

The McClary Welfare picnic party was the largest at the park by many hundreds, for it consisted of almost 1,500 elders and children. A brass band also accompanied the party and materially assisted in making the outing a success by supplying bright music during the refreshment hour and between the various events on the program. Many original features were introduced by the members of the sports committee, which proved to be excellently entertaining for everybody. The most popular among these, in the eyes of the children, was the rabbit class, in which the boy who captured the fleeing animal was proclaimed the rightful owner. For the ladies, a chase after three roosters was an amusing event to the spectators. It was evident that the affair was not at all enjoyed by the birds though, judging by the noise they created. One poor rooster lost most of his gay tail feathers, too, in the fight which ensued when two strong ladies caught him at the same time. A special race for the members of the band was also highly amusing, for the men had to play their instruments as they ran.

The success of the McClary picnic was largely due to the efforts of the following committees:

President—Col. W. M. Gartshore.

Starters—Messrs. J. H. Allen and A. McCulloch.

Announcer of races—Mr. R. McDonald.

Baby show judges—Misses E. Paton and E. Colquhoun and M. Carney.

The next largest party was that of the Beresford Lodge, No. 203, Sons of England, which boasted of over 900 picnickers, all of whom thoroughly appreciated the annual lodge outing. The committees were:

Sports — Bros. Holmes (chairman), Potter, Penhallurick, Chappell, Henson, Nicholls, Chambers and Gower.

Refreshments — Bros. Sheard (chairman), White, Bone, Vann, Owen and Brimblecombe.

President—J. Henson.

Secretary—T. Cole.

Ladies of the Edith Cavell L.O.B.A., their families and friends, numbering about 200, also enjoyed the outing—their first annual picnic. A splendid list of races was run off, and two good baseball games were played. The first was between the ladies and men, and which the "fair" team won, while the honors for the second were contested by married men and single men, the former team winning. Messrs. Todd and J. Kay acted as umpires.

About 100 members of the Howden Company also formed a jolly picnic party and a good program was enjoyed. The number of large parties was brought up to six by members of the Grand Trunk Railway freight office and their families and by the boys of the Wellington Street Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Canadian Boys' Efficiency Tests Club. The G.T.R. employes' party totalled over 200, while that of the boys' club was about 40.

W. HERSEE ADDRESSED BIBLE STUDENTS AT HYMAN HALL SUNDAY

"The Signs of the Presence of the Son of Man," His Subject.

"The Signs of the Presence of the Son of Man," was the theme of an address delivered by Mr. W. M. Hersee yesterday afternoon at Hyman Hall. This is the second of a series of lectures given under the auspices of the local branch of the International Bible Students' Association. In part, Mr. Hersee said that the title Son of Man is closely associated with Christ, who, at his first advent, presented himself to the Jews as their king, and although all were then in expectation of him, yet they failed to recognize him as such, thinking he would then appear in great power, and not as the Babe of Bethlehem. Being made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, blinded all, save a few of the children of Israel, to a recognition of Messiah. Substantiating his remarks from the Bible, the speaker said that as the sun rises from the east and shines over unto the west, so gradually all would discern the presence of Christ when he came this time in plenitude of power, bringing blessings to the groaning creation, ransoming them from the power of the grave, and restoring earth to Edenic beauty and perfection.

The gospel having been preached to all nations for a witness, constituted a sign of his presence. The earth and heaven fleeing away could not be taken literally, as there would then be no place in which to dwell, but signified the removal of the present ecclesiastical elements, which would give place to the righteous reign of Christ, in which time of refreshing should come from his presence (Acts, iii., 19-21). As in Noah's day there were many scoffing at the thought of a flood, so it is in the days of the Son of Man, many saying in derision, "Show us the signs of his presence." Quoting from the parable of the fig tree, that when ye see the tree breaking forth, then know ye that summer is nigh, and likening the fig tree to the Jewish nation, who are being regathered and blessed, and that as such a time the Lord said he would return and build up the Tabernacle of David, signified that Christ was now here.

Commenting on the doctrine of eternal torment and the immortality of the soul, Mr. Hersee said that the Bible taught that the wages of sin is death, and that as Christ's presence was for the raising up out of their graves all of mankind, therefore neither the eternal torment or immortality theory was Scriptural.

Asks $100,000 for Alienation of His Wife's Affections

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—John M. Peck, a commission merchant at 47 West Thirty-fourth street, head of Peck & Co., was arrested yesterday on an order by Supreme Court Justice Kapper in a suit brought by Joseph N. Billings, a broker, for $100,000 damages for alienating the affections of Mrs. Regina Feeney Billings.

Billings alleges that Peck induced Mrs. Billings to leave him in November, 1916; that until May 1 of this year they lived as Mr. and Mrs. R. Feeney at 14 Butler Place, Brooklyn, and since then at 17 Henley Place, Queens, where, it is alleged, Peck bought a house for Mrs. Billings. Peck is alleged to have given Mrs. Billings an interest in his business, the name of "Feeney" appearing on the door. The plaintiff asserts that when his wife left him she also abandoned two sons, now 11 and 13 years old.

UKRAINIAN ARMIES HAVE OCCUPIED KIEV AND OTHER PLACES

The advices add that Ukrainian armies are approaching the Dnieper River along the entire line.

FALL OF STERLING IN UNITED STATES CAUSES CONCERN

Saturday's Slight Improvement Only Temporary.

HURTS BOTH COUNTRIES

Those Willing To Buy From America Lack Wherewithal.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The gravity of the situation arising from the fall of sterling in the United States which has been the subject of articles in all sections of the press for days past, was emphasized again today, yesterday's slight improvement being regarded as only temporary.

The Daily Mail, which has constantly urged increased production here as a remedy, gives prominence today to the contention that the position is equally as serious for the United States as for Great Britain, as it is impeding American export trade. The same point is made elsewhere and opinions of American bankers are cited in support of it. It is remarked by the newspapers that American exporters have plenty to sell and that there are plenty willing to buy, but they point out that unfortunately those willing to buy have not the necessary money.

Novel Feature.

In this connection the Mail regards as "a novel feature in the annals of trade propaganda" a statement cabled to America Friday by the American Chamber of Commerce in London, warning American exporters against trying to rush the British market simply because of the removal of import restrictions. The newspaper calls attention to the fact that withdrawal of the restrictions allows importations of automobiles after September 1 and says that the agent here of one American firm, notwithstanding the shortage of cars in the United States, cabled Friday an order for 4,000 automobiles to be delivered in England as speedily as possible. This agent declared there would be no "dumping" about this, because the cost here would be double the price in America.

The agent of another firm said that in view of the shortage of cars in America and falling exchange, importers would be wise to go slowly. He said he would do nothing until the outlook became clearer.

TORONTO PREPARES FOR RECEPTION TO PRINCE OF WALES

Merchants and Citizens Co-operate in Decoration Plans.

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—This city, named "The Queen City of Canada," is sparing no effort to give to the Prince of Wales when he arrives here on Monday a reception that will do justice to its standing as the largest English-speaking city in the Dominion of Canada.

Merchants and private citizens have entered into the spirit of the historic occasion with energy and thoroughness. The streets along which his royal highness will pass in his various trips through the city, are being transformed into flag-draped avenues of color.

The heir to the throne will arrive Monday morning at 8:30 from Quebec. He will step off the royal train at a private platform on the C. P. R., near Government House. He will be greeted by Sir John Hendrie, the lieutenant-governor, and his staff.

After breakfast at Government House, the royal party will proceed to the provincial parliament buildings where provincial and civic addresses of welcome will be delivered. In the afternoon the prince will formally open the Canadian National Exhibition.

ALLIES CONSIDER POLICING SILESIA WITH HUN CONSENT

Believe Germany Will Agree Because of Interests Involved.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—(By The Associated Press.)—The supreme council to day discussed the question of sending troops to Silesia, in case the Germans are willing to permit foreign troops to enter the district for police purposes before the peace treaty has been ratified.

The general impression in conference circles is that the Germans will consent, because of the large property interests involved. The American delegation has advised the council that it will be unable to provide troops without instructions from Washington.

STOP A MOMENT! LISTEN TO THIS

Cincinnati man tells how to lift off any corn without hurting one bit

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied, and is said to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callous.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.
