The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Gallery of Canada,
Library

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Musée des Beaux-Arts du Canada,
Bibliothèque

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

Press Notices.

THE TIMES, February 7, 1897.

The Prince of Wales visited the Exhibition of Australasian Scenery by Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair.

THE TIMES, January 25, 1898.

Mr. Wadham has not been deterred by the difficulties of painting mountain scenery—difficulties which have been too much for almost every artist except Turner—and he takes us by preference to the glaciers and geysers of New Zealand, and to the Blue Mountains of New South Wales, though quieter landscapes here and there claim his attention. All these drawings show a certain dexterity in handling, and the artists have a knack of choosing picturesque subjects which should make them popular.

THE MORNING POST, January 28, 1898.

The drawings are distinguished generally by a force of effect and a dexterity of workmanship which testify to the experienced skill of the artists.

THE BRITISH AUSTRALASIAN, January 20, 1898.

These works are very impressive, and ably, as well as boldly, treated. Throughout the other sketches and pictures there are the same characteristics of vigour, decision, and force. They each and all bear the unmistakeable sign mark of having been mostly painted in the open. They have the feeling of Nature and individuality about them, and for these qualities they possess a charm and value never attained in studio work.

THE WEST AUSTRALIAN, Monday, November 29, 1896.

PICTURES FOR THE NATIONAL GALLERY.—Some of the members of the committee of the National Art Gallery last week visited Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair's exhibition of pictures in Hay Street. They were so pleased with the collection that they have purchased two of the exhibits for the National Gallery. These are entitled respectively, "Evening Glow on Lake Wakatipu," by Mr. W. J. Wadham, the immediate past president of the Society of Artists in Adelaide, and "Golden Autumn," by Mr. A. Sinclair. The pictures are good types of their school.

THE WEST AUSTRALIAN, Monday, October 17, 1896.

WADHAM AND SINCLAIR'S ART EXHIBITION.—Yesterday afternoon, the small but excellent collection of water-colour pictures of New Zealand and other scenery brought to Perth by Mr. W. J. Wadham, on behalf of Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair, the well-known artists, was opened at Eagle Chambers, Hay Street, by His Excellency Sir Gerard Smith. His Excellency expressed to Mr. Wadham the pleasure he had received in viewing the pictures, and subsequently, in declaring the exhibition open, said that he had gazed with delight upon the lovely New Zealand scenes depicted on the canvas—scenes which were doubly interesting to him because of their novelty and their beauty. He hoped, for the sake of Perth, that Mr. Wadham would be able to realise his desire to remain in the colony and carry out his idea of establishing a school of art. He felt sure that the exhibition would be of interest to the public, and he trusted that it would be a profit to Mr. Wadham. Mr. Wadham thanked his Excellency, mentioning that during his ten years' sojourn in Australia, he had received generous encouragement from the patrons of art. The pictures will be on view, by invitation, for a few days, when they will be thrown freely open to public inspection.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN REGISTER, Saturday, February 15, 1896.

NEW ZEALAND SCENERY.—Lovers of art will welcome back to Adelaide those clever and consistent artists, Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair, who have returned from a trip to New Zealand, and have with characteristic taste and inherited tact, selected the most picturesque places in Maoriland for brush and pencil. They intend opening a new gallery in the A.W.F. buildings, Grenfell Street—one of the few edifices in the city graced by a group of statuary, by the way—and it is to be opened on Wednesday, February 19, by His Excellency the Governor, when there is to be a private view, the exhibition being open and free to the public for a fortnight. Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair are artists with an English training who have made a study of Australian scenery, and their productions have won first favour because of their character and faithfulness.

THE LYTTLETON TIMES, May 11, 1895.

. . . A marked characteristic of the work of both is its sympathetic quality. They have caught, and, as it were, "fixed" the very spirit of nature in her quieter mood. Power and vigor are not wanting, and one or two of the pictures show that they can successfully portray the wilder aspects of nature. As colourists they are distinctly good. They deal in tones which are soft, clear, effective, and thoroughly natural; indeed, a second striking characteristic of their paintings is fidelity to nature. Each maintains a high standard of work.

CHRISTCHURCH PRESS, May 8, 1895

A notable event in connection with the history of art in Canterbury was the opening in the Chamber of Commerce last night of the exhibition of paintings in water-colour by Messrs. W. J. Wadham and A. Sinclair, of Adelaide. These two gentlemen's English training reveals itself in the characteristics of their works. . . . Devout lovers of nature in her varied aspects, they have evidently been carefully trained in drawing, have paid close attention to colour, and by careful study have acquired a remarkable tenderness of treatment. The colour is admirable, the tones are exceedingly clear, and their work as a whole should be a revelation as to methods of manipulation.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN REGISTER, May 14, 1894.

Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair, the two best water-colour artists we have . . . display several characteristic examples of their sympathy with nature.

THE ADVERTISER, Thursday, May 10, 1894.

The principal production from the easel of Mr. Wadham is entitled "The Politician." A good deal in the way of excellence is expected from Mr. Wadham, and it is not too much to say that the most exacting of his admirers must be fully satisfied with this performance. Mr. Sinclair is seen to best advantage in his largest painting, and which bears the title "Seven Hills," as it is the best in the exhibition.

QUIZ, May 18, 1894.

Mr. Wadham, who is our premier artist, starts off with a dozen pictures.

THE AGE, August 30, 1890.

The Earl and Countess of Hopetoun visited Messrs. Wadham and Sinclair's exhibition yesterday, and made a minute inspection of the collection, the principal picture being a fine oil painting from the Derwent, England. It is powerful and vigorous, much after the manner of the Highland Scene by Peter Graham, R.A., in the Public Gallery.

THE HERALD, November 27, 1895.

We have previously called attention to the exhibition of pictures of Mr. W. J. Wadham, President of the Adelaide Easel Club, and his colleague, Mr. A. Sinclair. We do so again now because the pictures have been attracting the admiration of the art-loving public. The chief merits of Mr. Wadham's art as of his colleague, we take to be its truthfulness and beauty. They do not give us sketches that seem to have been painted from the washings of the mustard pot. Their skies are blue, their trees are green; they love bright colour and genial sunshine, and paint as if they loved nature, and not as if they looked upon the world with dyspeptic eyes.

TABLE TALK, November 22, 1895.

As a water-colourist, Mr. Wadham possesses qualifications to ensure success. He has a fine sense of colour, and a mastery of method that tells of years of patient work.
