THE SITUATION.

The Somme fighting is clearly the most intense which has yet developed in connection with the war. One estimate is to the effect that more than a million and a half soldiers are engaged, with the main fighting front concentrated within a distance of twenty-five miles. The losses to English, French, and Germans alike must be proving enormous. Monday's list given out in London is alone said to have totalled some six thousand officers and men. The Allied forces are feeling out the German third line defences, which are stated to have been tremendously reinforced. Fierce Hun counter attacks have made some progress North of Pozieres. Hand to hand fighting is characterizing quite a lot of the struggle which is levying even a bigger toll than that at Verdun. Without any doubt it is a very crucial test of strength especially for the Huns.

The Russians have scored a notable success in a north drive on Lemberg and Berlin admits reverses west of the Lipa river. The Grand Duke reports a rout of the Turks ten miles east of Erzingan, and a late statement is that the place has been captured.

THE KAISER'S LATEST.

In his latest fulmination, the Kaiser paid special attention to the English. He told certain troops that it was their "special privilege" to fight against a foe that "has sworn to destroy Germany." Holy Willie knew that to be a lie when he uttered it, just as much as when he congratulated his royal navy on a victory which was a crushing defeat. It is Prussianism and the Hohenzollerns that John Bull and his Allies are after and will get.

Proceeding, this modern leader of the Huns, alongside of whom Ananias appears like a sucking dove in the matter of untruths, declared that England had for years plotted this war. Yes, plotted it so hard that it has taken her nearly two years, after the commencement of hostilities, to get together and train a land force of sufficient size to take the offensive.

This wholly miserable economizer of the truth, likewise affirmed that Albion had plotted "the destruction of the Fatherland." How? By giving German goods free access to her markets? By allowing Germans to become members of her Stock Exchanges? By giving German vessels the same rights through the Suez Canal as her own? Why go on with the list? The truth is that in so far from hostility, Great Britain has in the past, made a good deal of a jackass of itself in the amount of friendship shown to the nation generally, and the people individually—scarcely an office in London without one or more Huns in confidential positions.

The Kaiser ended with the whine that the intention now was an endeavor to carry the operations to German soil "to the peril and undoing of our helpless women and children."

This from the man who let loose all the excesses of hell among the unoffending Belgium people! This from the man who has approvingly witnessed the murder of innocent women and children by air raids and the torpedoing of passenger boats! This from the man whose personal ambition has loosed the most terrible period the world has ever seen of bloodshed, of destroyed homes, of rapine, of ravishment, of slaughtered and maimed, and bereft and starving and ruined millions.

A BLACK LIST.

John Bull recently issued a black list with regard to firms in neutral countries, identified with German concerns, and he has forbidden British subjects, under severe penalties, to have any dealings with them.

A number of United States houses are on this list and there is a great hullabaloo across the border about it. All sorts of reprisals are threatened and the British lion is coming in for a great old mauling. Amid all the threatening comments, it is refreshing to find this editorial utterance from the Brooklyn Eagle:—

"The frank acknowledgment of the British authorities that seventy or eighty concerns or individuals in the United States are on a formal blacklist, and any subject of the crown may be sent to prison for trading with them, sounds worse than it really is. Americans resent the notion of the blacklist. Their feeling is the enemy" is an elastic term as English statesmen understand it, and there is pretty good excuse for what has been done.

"There are German firms in America, with head offices in Germany. There are others incorporated here but with substantial ownership in Germany. There are individuals or firms which are sole agents for German concerns. And there are a few cases in which misuse of cable facilities is charged against an American firm or individual. Full assurance is afforded that, save in these cases, no American will be blacklisted.

"We do not think Great Britain can be blamed for this course. The safety of the Empire is the supreme law. It ought to be. If, incidentally, a few neutral interests suffer unjustly, the case is one that hardly admits of any international remedy."

As a matter of fact, Great Britain has just as much right to black list such firms, as Uncle Sam would British firms under like circumstances, if he ever got into a genuine war, say with Mexico. He wouldn't hesitate a minute either.

Speaking of trade matters, there is commencing to be a good deal of thought among serious circles in the States, with regard to the position in which the land of the star spangled banner will find itself after the war. A lot of them are not nearly so cock sure, that even on the basis of business reasons alone, it has been a good thing for Uncle Sam to have refrained from joining the Allies in their titanic struggle for the freedom of the world. When the job has been completed, the countries which have stood shoulder to shoulder are likely to enter into trade agreements, the one between the other, and the people of the United States will have no place in these. Why should they? True they have supplied munitions for the Allies, but at a good round profit, and Germany would have been an equally welcome customer, could she have provided vessels for successful transport. The Detroit Free Press in referring to the subject urges that leading American business men at once get together in order to devise a counter trade combination.

Meanwhile, Uncle Sam, having kept out a task (and that too despite the murder of American citizens) which in the interests of liberty and civilization was as much his as that of the others, has no legitimate cause of complaint if he finds his nose decidedly out of joint with regard to some subsequent trade arrangements.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

When probs says "cooler," does that mean more superlatively hot, or less markedly frigid?

There are a number of witted mortals hereabouts who would like an answer if anyone has enough strength left to give it.

The decision of the Chicago judge that Bacon wrote Shakespeare has been upset. His finding was regarded by a higher court as rather than the facts warranted.

The Huns have fined Brussels $200,000 for celebrating "Belgium Day," and these are the devils who claim to hold a divine mission.

Uncle Sam has purchased the Danish West Indies from Denmark, but the price on Villa's head has not yet been collected.

Think of the plight of the Grit editors these hot days, with the exploded fuse charges showered right on top of their witted frames.

Hon. George Graham went to New York and met someone who had heard from someone else that the German submarine carried some Canadian nickel. Along comes the Toronto Globe and talks of a cargo of Canadian nickel. That's an easy one for the leading Grit organ. The

Not a Prisoner of War as it Was Previously Thought He Was.

(From Our Own Correspondent) P. Paris, July 26.—The "Philathea" class of the Methodist Church held a most enjoyable picnic last Saturday afternoon, when some thirty of their members, with their teacher, Mrs. Albert Howell, took their picnic baskets and tennis racquets, and journeyed by trolley to Victoria Park, Berlin. Needless to say the girls had a right jolly time, and are loud in their praise about the park as an ideal leatly spot.

Fire Near Old Station

Quite a commotion was caused on Railroad Street, at the Junction, last week, when fire broke out in a large brush heap, near the Grand Trunk pump house. The firemen were called out and soon had the blaze under control before any serious trouble, however. The same place burst into flame some two years ago, and residents living in the vicinity state that smoke has been coming from there now and again ever since, the heap being of such depth that it was impossible for water to reach the bottom.

Peculiar Accident.

The little five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lasky received a nasty scalp wound last week which required several stitches to close. The little girl was playing in a neighboring yard when a wooden box was thrown from an upstairs window, striking her on the head and inflicting a ugly gash.

J. H. Fisher, M.P., has just received official word from Ottawa to the effect that Pte. Arthur Bench, who was severely wounded in the recent fighting in France, is in one of the Canadian hospitals in England, and not a prisoner of war, as was before stated.

Daylight Saving Matters

A petition was circulated among the business men on front street, to repeal the "daylight saving clause," and met with great success, bearing the signature of every business man with the exception of two. Petitions are also being circulated through the Penman Mills and Winney Mill. A special meeting of the council will be called later, to consider this question.

GARDEN PARTY AT LA SALETTE PASSED OFF WITH BIG SUCCESS

Annual Function Drew Great Crowds as Usual and Every Person Had a Most Enjoyable Time - Splendid Speeches and an Excellent Program

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Simcoe, July 26.—If Tillsonburg residents in the vicinity of the Presbytery are alarmed in the near future by the bleating of a lamb, let them know that Father Goetz was down to La Salette last evening at the annual church garden party and that he held the lucky ticket on a fair draw, for a lamb "without spot or blemish," donated by Mr. J. C. Ball—the best of the flock; $13 was the number of the ticket, the figures of the Norfolk battalion somewhat disarranged. Miss Addie Hoffard, of Delhi, held No. 116 for the easy chair.

La Salette Picnic.
Talk about city life and its pleasures, but the La Salette picnic would make those of most urban proclivities years for the country. Father Brennan has not been there long, but long enough to have become master of a great organization which last night kept James Gibbons and John Ball busy all evening taking care of the cash, which totalled somewhere between five and six hundred dollars.

Ball Game to Open With
As a starter, La Salette drubbed Otterville on the baseball diamond, and handed them the calomine brush. The Otterville band played a lengthy program, while the wide spread tables were laden again and again, on the Presbytery lawns, which, with their now well grown border hedges and booths, presented an unusual charm.

Program Varied
And the program: varied? yes, and fit for any audience. The chairman, J. W. McCauley, set the standard, and though a tiller of the soil, the opening address, for eloquence and platform dignity of language and subject, was not surpassed by anything delivered in the Simcoe drill hall at any of the recruiting meetings held here during the recruiting campaign. He touched on the Irish rebellion as a parallel to the rebellion of 1837, and hoped for a similar outcome, of the rebels, who were men of intellect, he said, "their action was born of impatience, their courage was excited only by their folly, and their bravery by their blindness. The punishment meted out to them could not, under the circumstances, be considered venal or even harsh, but merciful and temperate."

Prominent Speakers.
Other speakers of the evening were Messrs. H. P. Innes, K.C., of Simcoe, S. P. Squires, of Waterloo, T. R. Atkinson, M.P.A., and W. E. Kelly, of Simcoe, and Dr. Zoustein, of Delhi. Several clergy from contiguous parishes, including Father Nagle of Simcoe, were present, but none of them appeared as speakers.

Big Turnout.
Cr. C. E. Turner, gave comic Irish sketches and songs, which always held the entire gathering and stopped business at the booths. Miss Eva Dertinger, a local talented soloist, and Miss Leo Ball, of Duesseth, sang such more than once during a program that lasted till almost midnight. A mild shower early in the afternoon laid the dust and stopped

Delhi Won.

Three rinks of Delhi lawn bowlers played a schedule match to-day at Waterloo and through over-confidence of the home rinks on their own green, the honours went to the visitors.

Up to seven o'clock this evening there was no news regarding the whereabouts of either James Potts or John Leslie McDonald, who broke gael on Sunday evening.

Col. Aikens Retires from 39th.
Active recruiting for the 133rd has ceased for the present. Lt. Col. Aikens and three or four men are here this week. Col. Aikens' term in the 39th Norfolk Rifles, having expired, he is at present preparing to turn over to Major Townsend, of the 39th all of the battalion's stores. Col. Aikens retires with a clean record from the 39th. He was a capable and much esteemed officer and there, as in the 133rd, the boys hold him in affectionate respect.

DOVER PATROL MAKES REMARKABLE RECORD

Over 21,000 Merchant Ships Pass Through Lines and Only 21 Are Lost.

London, July 26.—In a report to the Admiralty reviewing the operations of the Dover patrol since December, 1915 and recommending numerous officers for meritorious conduct, Vice-Admiral Sir Reginald Bacon, commander of the patrol, says that in six months more than 21,000 merchant ships, apart from men-of-war and auxiliaries, passed through the patrol lines. Of these only twenty-one were lost or seriously damaged by enemy vessels.

"But to effect this security to merchant shipping," says the Admiral, "I regret that over four per cent. of our patrol vessels have been sunk and the lives of seventy-seven officers and men lost to the nation."

The Admiral further notes that the patrol assists in the protection of the flank of all sea transport to and from the British army in France, and that this vast transport has been so thoroughly safeguarded that not a single life has been lost during the sea passage.

Wedding Bells

Martin—Waterhouse
One of the season's most charming weddings took place at St. Mary's church yesterday morning, when Miss Marion Waterhouse, daughter of Mrs. John Waterhouse of 62 Strathcona avenue became, the bride of Mr. Herbert Martin of Detroit, the nuptial mass being celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father Padden, pastor of the church. During the service Miss Keen and Mrs. Murphy of Hamilton, an aunt of the groom, both sang very sweetly, the latter rendering the "Ave Maria" delightfully.

The bride was most charmingly arrayed in gown of satin with an overdrape of georgette crepe, and wearing the customary veil and orange blossoms. She carried a nuptial bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Aneta Dawson, wore white voile with pink rosebuds and a pink tulle hat and carried pink roses.

Miss Genevieve Gee, wearing pink passetta, made a very charming flower girl. The groom was supported by his brother Charles Martin, while the bride was given away by her brother, Corp. Fred. Waterhouse of the 125th battalion.

After a delightful buffet luncheon, the happy couple left for Detroit, where they will take up their residence. The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque; to the bridesmaid, a pearl ring; to the flower girl a necklace; and to the best man a pair of cuff links.

ST. LOUIS NEWSPAPER INCREASES PRICE

St. Louis, July 26.—The Globe Democrat in its issue to-day will print a notice announcing an advance in the price of the paper from one to two cents. It is the first St. Louis paper to change from the penny basis inaugurated some years ago.

"The relentless law of supply and demand controls the cost of newspaper, just as it controls the cost of shoemaking, needlemaking or bridgeworking," the Globe Democrat will say to-day. "For several years past the cost of print paper and the other essentials of newspaper making have been steadily increasing and during the eighteen months of the European war these costs have finally soared beyond the horizon of precedents."

Walter J. Hayes, one of Theodore Roosevelt's secretaries, was rescued from drowning by Miss Gladys Sutphen, a New York girl.

PTE. W. JARVIS RETURNS HOME

Shell shocked into deafness, Pte. Wm. C. Jarvis, 40 Curtis street, who left Brantford two years ago next month, with the first quota of soldiers from this city, returned to Brantford last night. On account of his deafness, only a quiet reception was accorded him. He was met at the station and warmly welcomed by Lt. Col. Colquhoun, in whose battalion Jarvis served, Ald. J. S. Dowling, chairman of the Soldiers Aid Commission, J. H. Spence, vice chairman, M. W. Wilbee and H. W. Pitton, members of the same committee. Messrs. Pitton and Wilbee then motored Pte. Jarvis home.

How 84th. Batt. Traveled Over to Old England

others to the 50th; Capt. Lee to the 46th; Gilmour, Hovcroft to the 67th, some to the 75th and so on.

Review by the King.
Saturday morning the new 75th marched from Bramshott to Hankley Common—ten miles, where the King reviewed the 4th Canadian Division. It was a mighty spectacle, nearly thirty thousand troops, artillery, cavalry and infantry, which included Highlanders, Grenadier Guards and plain soldiers.

With His Majesty were Sir William Robertson, Sir John French, an Admiral and some other famous soldiers, beside the Body Guard.

As His Majesty passed a few of us heard Sir John or rather Lord French say "These Canadians, you know, are mostly clerks and townsmen." Sounded rather funny to us.

Sunday, a church parade and Monday, here, Longmoor Camp, for musketry—three weeks of it. Two weeks more to go.

War Comes First
Our hearts are still with the 84th, as I suppose they shall always be. But it is war here, and everything but duty is cast aside. As Kerry said, it was harder than leaving home to be split up. We were more than brothers to each other.

Our new Colonel is a splendid man and soldier. Lt. Col. S. G. Bickett, of the 9th Missauga Horse, and the other officers we find are gentlemen.

On account of the "Big Push" and heavy casualties, the 4th Division, which means ourselves, is due for France in a month, but with our experience in moves, we do not think so.

Here endeth the first lesson, or story of our exploits to date.

You can have your plumbing, heating and electric lighting, repairs done by men who know how.

TEUTON INTRIGUES AGAINST VENIZELOS

Former Greek Premier's Adherents Organize Opposition League Athens, July 26.—For the purpose of counteracting the widespread effect of the formation of anti-Venizelos leagues among the demobilized Greek reservists, adherents of former Premier Venizelos this afternoon launched a similar nation-wide opposition league, of which the former War Minister, General Panoyotis Dangelis, chief of staff during the first Balkan war, was elected president. There is undisguised uneasiness in Entente circles as to the possible consequences of employing the army for political purposes by both sides in the approaching political campaign.

TORONTO LOST OUT BY 4-

Dropped a Game to Montreal and Drop Down a Notch in Standing.

Toronto, July 26.—The Royals evened up the series by trimming the Leafs yesterday at the Stadium, with the score of 4 to 3. The locals spotted the visitors two runs in the first inning, and while at one stage the tie-up to the game, yet a base on ball to Smyth started the sixth inning blossomed into the winning count.

Manning and Goodred were the opposing twirlers. The latter failed to last, while Manning, after betting away to a rocky start, grew better as the game progressed. His best work was in the eighth inning, when after setting himself into hot water with one out by hitting one and passing two, thus choking the sacks, he fanned both Damrau and Wagner.
