Mortry. THE SERENADE.

I'm almost tired of waiting here-" Awake, my love ! arise !" I'm howling to the skies. The stars are twinkling merrily, But they no answer make; interior they resign to thoe—
"Arise, my love? awake!"
lut soft—the lattice open—"My love—
What is my love's decree?" Black girl at the window. My Miney wish you go away, And let her quiet he." Seconder, singing " Hey, Betty Martin." From the London Literary Gazette.
