AN UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL FOR

Welch's Grape Juice.

The following is an extract from the letter of a prominent business man, received this week, and speaks for itself: "You may be interested to know that I wanted WELCH'S GRAPE JUICE for one of my daughters who has been very ill with typhoid. She absolutely refused to touch milk and we found the usual stimulants prescribed were too stimulating and were having an injurious effect. I fortunately thought of WELCH'S GRAPE JUICE and obtained the Doctor's consent to try it. As she liked it very much she has taken it freely and the immediate improvement was really marvellous and we attribute her rapid convalescence largely to this agency. It is certainly all the makers claim for it."

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for a few days everything seemed clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rule. Here is the prescription. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drip eye Bon-Opto tablets in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in this way.

Child Was Nervous, Irritable, Tired Out.

She Had No Appetite, and Her Complexion Was Pale and Sallow. How many parents realize the strain which going to school means to the child who is naturally nervous and of delicate health? You see them come from the schools daily with pale faces, many wearing glasses, and looking tired and worn. At home they are irritable, do not sleep well at nights, and are upset by a little extra excitement. If they are to grow to healthy manhood and womanhood their systems must have attention now. Such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does wonders for children in this condition. We are constantly receiving letters from grateful parents telling what the Nerve Food has done for their children. This one is a fair sample: Mrs. Stephen Hartman, Italy Cross, Lunenburg Co., N.S., writes: "My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and seemed all tired out. She had no appetite, was lifeless and drowsy and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed and have somebody with her all the time. She was afraid of everything, would get excited and tremble till the bed would shake. As she seemed to be getting worse under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After she had used about four boxes, improvement was noticeable and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew week by week. She used ten boxes altogether and they cured her. She got fat and rosy and went to school every day with an ambition that she never seemed to have before. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone, for it was indeed wonderful what it did for her." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Patriotic Hockey

The proposed hockey match, the first for the season, between a team from the Regiment and a picked seven from the City is eliciting much interest. The proceeds are to be given to the W. P. A. Funds and this in itself is sufficient guarantee that there will be a big attendance, apart from the fact that the game will probably be the fastest for the season. The Regiment seven are practicing hard now at the C. L. B. Armoury and are filled with the hopes of giving their opponents a trimming.

Two of Artizan's Crew Drowned.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. P. J. Shea received a message from across the Atlantic from Capt. J. Callahan, of the schr. Artizan, informing him that Herbert Score, son of the late John Score, of St. John's, and J. Aspell, of Cape Broyle, a married man, had been washed overboard and drowned. The Artizan left here St. Stephen's Day, December 26th, with a full cargo of codfish for foreign markets and shortly after leaving this port must have experienced very unfavourable weather, as ships which entered this port on the 27th and 28th reported having met it rough on the date the Artizan put out to sea. It is supposed the unfortunate seamen lost their lives during that storm.

Capt. Callahan is one of the oldest and best known mariners sailing from St. John's, and as far as we can learn never before had to report the loss of any of his crew of the different ships in which he was in command. The trip across was made in seventeen days and was an exceptionally good one.

Cleanses Your Hair Makes It Beautiful, Thick, Glossy, Wavy

Try this! All dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanser" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. It moistens a cloy with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Thetis Refitted.

The work of re-fitting the S. S. Thetis is finished. The ship has been practically re-classed, as she is in better condition than when she came here from the Pacific Coast six months ago. Next month she will prepare for the seal fishery. She will prosecute on the front of the country and will be commanded by Capt. 'Billy' Winsor.

Handling Greece.

We shall continue to hear extreme rumours about Greece until the inevitable climax in her affairs determines the issue of the silent conflict that is going on. The prediction from Rome that Constantine is about to be deposed may be said to voice a quite common opinion, and that is all that need be said about it. What the ministerial conference decided is known only to the ministers themselves, though the world can make shrewd guesses about much of it. We have every reason to believe that the most important of the military questions which were discussed were concerned with the East and primarily with Greece. The recent drastic ultimatum to King Constantine and sundry overt acts of the Allies indicate that a definite programme is in course of performance and that it will be carried out to a finish. If one of the items near the finish is the quiet removal of the troublesome Constantine, no one will be surprised, but such an apparently tyrannical proceeding is not likely to be attempted by the Allies until events lead logically up to it, until, that is, it is plain to everyone in Greece that the King is simply "asking for it."

The occupation of Cerigo may not mean much. It is another of many such acts of the Allies, and could easily be explained on the ground of the submarine peril—it lies right off the way to the Aegean. But it also lies just south of the frontier where the Royalist troops are, or are about to be, stowed for safe keeping. A convenient naval base here may be useful to the Allies, and it would be interesting to be admitted into the intimate thoughts of Constantine at this moment. The continuation of it will be to find in Romania is the clearest intimation to him that he has been abandoned. It states unambiguously that Germany has not the means to attack Monastir and force a junction with his troops. And now, if she decides that she has, and leaving Roumania despatched to them south, it will be to find there are no troops to make junction with; they will be in Morea, and Allied regiments and warships at the Corinthian isthmus. This hints at the end of it all. If Constantine stands in the way he must be removed. Better to the Allies the hostility of those Greeks and the condemnation of a misunderstanding neutral world (we know now how easily possible this is) than irremediable disaster to the Salonika enterprise.

Germany and Peace

The German Foreign Minister seems to be satisfied, albeit reluctantly, that there is no present hope of peace. His country will not state her terms and suffer the implication of weakness that the statement will entail. For once a German statesman has correctly sized up the situation. Not all the cleverness of her ministers and the magnificence of her first note available to dispel the same suspicion of weakness which its publication created. She will not encourage by stating any terms which will grant the slightest of the Allies' demands. Yet the interesting feature of every responsible utterance of her leaders is the intense desire for peace that can be read between the lines. The Allies, she protests to heaven, reject the notion of peace, but the strength of her protestation reveals that it is she that desires it.

Why does she so desire it? The reason cannot be mistaken. Many argue plausibly that it is a mere trick of hers and what was to be expected of her diplomacy. She has attained everything that she can hope for, and more than she has many times expected, to attain. The future can hardly add to her conquests and will almost certainly take from them. It is most natural, therefore, that she should want peace now, and to that end encourage in every way talk of peace within and without her dominions. This is convincing enough, except in one most important particular. If her military position and prospects were the only cause underlying her overtures, we should expect her to encourage peace discussions indeed, but not all of the kind which we hear. We should expect her to point insistently to her invincibility, the futility of attempts to crush her by arms, and so on. This is the tone that she would dictate to her press, and it is in fact the tone of her official pronouncements. But that which has most strongly impressed the Allies in the columns of her press and in the talk of her people which has percolated through to the outside is the very last that she would wish to be known. It is simply the evidence that she is approaching starvation. Nothing else could possibly so encourage her enemies to continue, nothing else militate so strongly against her efforts for peace. Because rumours and proofs of her food shortage are the last things she would wish to get abroad, they are the first entitled to credence. The German newspapers have long been full of articles not merely reflecting generally a state of universal privation, but complaining of the rations on which existence must be maintained in bitter detail which enable us to estimate what they are. We cannot suppose that the Government encourages these disclosures and can only conclude that it cannot prevent them, and that they are probably but a part of the truth. Undoubtedly it is largely definite knowledge of the true state of things in the Central Empires that accounts for the firmness of the Allies. Were the blockade not in force and they had to rest their assurance solely upon their military powers, it would hardly be as great or as confident as it plainly is.

Slight Fires.

With the wind blowing at such a high rate last night, an outbreak of fire would mean much destruction for the city. At 7:10 an alarm was sent in on Rawlins' Cross by someone who had seen sparks issuing from the chimney of Mr. J. Ayre's residence, on Rennie's Mill Road. The Central and Eastern Companies responded, but their services were not needed. Shortly after 10 p.m. a "still" alarm called the companies to Gower Street where a chimney was in trouble. In either instance no damage was done.

JACK AND MARIE ROSSLEY MAKE BIG HIT.
 There was a large audience at Rossley's British Theatre last night when the Swanky Soldier was presented. The people not only roared and it was like good old times to hear them laugh with such keen enjoyment. The Swanky Soldier is one of the funniest sketches ever produced. The applause was loud and long when Jack Rossley appeared; Rossley's military uniform was a corker. The military songs and witty dialogue were very clever and was written by Mrs. Rossley. The pictures were splendid. The audience declared it was the finest show ever seen at the Rossley Theatre. Don't fail to see the Rossleys in the Swanky Soldier, assisted by the clever pantomime Co.

THE SMALL SALARIED MAN.

The small salaried man is a humble spectator who sits on the side lines and watches prices climb the greased pole.

Prior to the war in Europe the small salaried man was able to exchange his weekly pay check for enough rent, light, heat, graham flour and New Orleans molasses to last until the next Saturday night. Every once in a while some man on small salary was able to save enough to buy a 1912 runabout and take his wife for a ride on Sunday, without fearing anything except a few blow-outs. Then the war cloud began to rise in jumps like a prize hurler and the price of everything from side pork to the baby's shoes began to jump with it. Many a small salaried man has invested the savings of a lifetime in an automobile troubled with chronic asthma and two strokes of paralysis, only to be overtaken by the high price of gasoline and cylinder oil and be forced to trade all four tires for candled eggs.

While they are making heroes over in Europe, we are also producing a few in this country. The small salaried man who manages to make ends meet on the same wage he drew in 1911 does not need to stand in the front line trenches in order to find out what trouble fees like. Thousands of men are supporting families on $15 a week, but they are doing it with the aid of a wife who has as much courage under her dust cap as an army aviator who is plastered with iron crosses from the fetlocks up. The small salaried man with a wife knows how to prepare 11 cents' worth of food so it will look like a table d'hote dinner has something in the house better than antique furniture or a string of foot-loose chambermaids.

If justice were done in this country the small salaried man would get the Carnegie medal instead of the hook.

To prepare a tub of bluing water have the water cool, and stir white you add the bluing.

In Milady's Boudoir.

MILADY'S TEETH.

In the majority of cases, the teeth are sufficiently far apart for small particles of food to lodge between them. If these particles are not promptly removed the heat and moisture of the mouth, acting upon them, promote their decomposition and set up an acid fermentation that causes the decay of the enamel and finally of the teeth themselves.

When the teeth are decayed this danger is even greater and the result is offensive gasses, fetor of the breath, poisons of the blood and grave injuries to the digestive and nervous system. When possible dental floss should be used after every meal. Toothpicks are to be tabooed for several reasons. The wooden toothpick is especially undesirable since tiny particles of wood are sometimes left in the gums.

When the teeth are of irregular formation it often happens that the toothbrush does not reach all of the surfaces. In that event they should have treatment once or twice a week with a soft orange wood stick which, dipped in tooth powder, is used as a cleanser and polisher. This little attention not only keeps the teeth from becoming yellow but it discourages the growth and development of bacteria and prevents the catarrhal irritation that sometimes sets up about the margin of the gums which leads in time to their recession and exposure of the teeth where they are not protected with enamel.

In addition to this treatment the mouth should be rinsed every night with some mild antiseptic solution. Tincture of orris, rose water and alcohol in equal parts, flavored with a drop of oil of bitter almond make a very agreeable mouth wash.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Should I leave a card when calling on a friend and she opens the door for me herself?" asked Jack.
 "If you are making a first call or calling in return for some hospitality shown you, you should leave a card. Do not make the mistake of handing them to your hostess, but leave them on the table as you depart," answered his father.

Unfortunate Vagrant.

Edward Scott, an unfortunate man, who has frequented the lockup and the Penitentiary for several years past, not having any home or friends, was again taken in at the police station last night for shelter. The poor fellow's mind is somewhat unbalanced and he is very sick as well. He appeared before Mr. Hutchings, K.C., this morning charged with vagrancy, and was sent down for ten days. In the meantime Mr. Hutchings, who had already interested himself in the man's case, is arranging with the Poor Commissioner to have him admitted to the Poor Asylum.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT.—A very important address and presentation to a very popular person, who is shortly to leave for the Old Country, will be made on behalf of a number of patriotic workers at the naval lecture and entertainment at Botwood Hall, Hutchings Street, to-morrow night. An enjoyable time is assured.

ALLIES OCCUPY GREEK ISLAND.
ATHENS, via London, Jan. 15. The Allies occupied the Island of Cerigo on Wednesday. Cerigo is south of the principal of the Ionian Islands belonging to Greece. It is in the Mediterranean on the southern extremity of Morea. A number of other Greek insular possessions have been occupied by the Allies supposedly on account of the establishment of bases for hostile submarines.

KING CONSTANTINE TO BE DEPOSED!

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. The Tribune this morning publishes the following special cablegram: Rome, Jan. 15.—It is understood that King Constantine of Greece will be deposed and an Italian Prince, a relative of King Victor Emmanuel, will be placed on the Greek throne. This decision had been reached at the recent conference of the Entente leaders. This action, according to report, has the approval of the Venetian faction and will be carried out under the leadership of the former Premier. The Duke of Aosta, a cousin of the Italian King, has been chosen as the successor to the Kaiser's brother-in-law, but has not yet accepted.

NO PEACE PROSPECT.

BERLIN, Jan. 15. Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, German Foreign Minister, informed the Associated Press to-day that in his opinion the Entente reply to President Wilson's peace note bars the possibility for the present of further German steps to bring about peace. In particular he said it precluded any direct announcement by Germany to peace conditions in answer to the terms set forth in the latest Entente note. Dr. Zimmermann asserted, however, that the answer of the Entente weakness and a desire for peace at any cost. The publication of the peace terms of the Central Powers, therefore, would defeat its every purpose, said Dr. Zimmermann. The Foreign Minister expressed doubt as to whether, after what he described as a rebuff to President Wilson's peace efforts, given in the reply of the Entente, the President could take any further steps at present, adding that the Entente answer excluded for the present any possibility of peace. He expressed the profound conviction that the programme of the Entente Powers never could be carried into effect. Dr. Zimmermann intimated that the failure of the Entente offensive this year, which he expected, might again make it possible to approach them on the subject of peace on reasonable terms, with some prospect of success.

WAR OFFICE ANNOUNCEMENT.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The war office announced tonight the capture of a town on the Shatt-el-Hai River, south of Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris front, and stated that the night bank of the Tigris east of the Shatt-el-Hai is now clear of Turkish troops except for a small strip of land in the bend of the Tigris, northeast of Kut-el-Amara.

REPORTED SUB. ACTIVITY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. News that an unidentified submarine was moving west in the Atlantic as late as last Thursday morning, was brought to port here to-day by the British freight steamer Clematis, from Bordeaux, France. Persons on the freighter thought the undersea boat might be a German submarine merchantman, the Deutschland, on her third ocean voyage to America. The stranger made no move to attack the Clematis, which was at the time approximately 800 miles east of Newport, R.I.

TIMES' CORRESPONDENT TALKS.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The Times' military correspondent maintains that prolongation of the war as a result of the foredoomed failure of the peace more throws upon all the Allies the duty of making greater efforts in order to deserve victory. He says that Germany did not want a reply to her peace offer, but initiated the measures a month ago to expand her supplies of men and munitions. We ought to see, the correspondent writes, clearly enough now that our efforts on land, especially on the Western front, have not been adequate to secure a decision or even to deserve it. Referring to a tendency to exaggerate the fact that the British have two million men in France, and the French have three million, he says, "statements of this nature serve rather to obscure the issues than to illuminate them. It ought to be known and admitted that the aggregate national strength does not express the real value of the fighting armies. We all ought to count in bayonets and guns in order to ascertain our own chances of victory and when we count in this manner the figures dwindle to quite a different total. The truth of the situation in the west is that Germany has 128 divisions opposed to us and that the number of French, British and Belgian divisions is not yet such as to promise a decision in an offensive war."

HUN SUB. CAPTURED.

LONDON, Jan. 15. A Flushing despatch says that a Dutch warship brought into Flushing last night a German submarine which was found in Dutch waters. The submarine will be interned.

TURNING OUT HEAVY AMMUNITION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. The following from the Associated Press correspondent from London dated January 5th, is published here to-day: English munition factories are now turning out every forty-eight hours more heavy gun ammunition than they manufactured in the entire first year of the war and the production is still increasing week by week in preparation for the great offensive on the western front, which British military critics believe will come round next spring. Although the figures of actual production of guns and munitions are jealously guarded and there is no avowal on the part of the Ministry of Munitions of any intention to discontinue importations from America, there is an evident feeling of optimism among the officials in the big munition headquarters as well as a willingness to give out comparative figures to justify that optimism. The improvement in our position may be illustrated in this way, remarked an official of the Ministry: "We are now manufacturing every week three times as many 210 millimetre shells, five times as many 200 millimetre shells, and three times as many 230 millimetre shells as we manufactured during the whole first year of the war. Of small shells we are turning out in about a week the same quantity as was produced during the first year. Finally, the

ARTILLERY FIGHTING.

PARIS, Jan. 15. There was active artillery fighting last night in the vicinity of the Avre River, and in the sector between the Alsace and the Argonne. Otherwise the night was uneventful, the war office reports.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

LONDON, Jan. 15. Dr. Karl Liebknecht, German Socialist leader, has received an additional sentence of four and a half years' hard labor and expulsion from the Berlin Bar, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam.

NORWEGIAN SHIPS CONFISCATED.

BERLIN, Jan. 15. Four Norwegian steamers under construction or recently built in England have been confiscated there, according to reports from Kristiania says the Overseas News Agency. Among them were the steamers Mordetsa, six thousand tons, and the Ringda, ten thousand tons. Both these reports state, were cleared for sailing and hoisted the Norwegian flag, the Ringda being armed with cannon.

ON THE MACEDONIAN FRONT.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The following British official, dealing with operations on the Macedonian front, was issued to-night: We bombarded, in co-operation with the Navy, Neochari, and brought down and captured an undamaged enemy airplane with its pilot and observer. Near Lahana on the Dolran front, our raiders entered the village of Akinjali, inflicting casualties on enemy detachments.

TO REPRESENT SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The war office makes the following announcement: The Imperial Government has acceded to the South African Government's request that Lieut. General Smuts, Commander of the British expeditions against the Germans in East Africa, to represent South Africa at the coming Imperial War Conference in London, instead of General Louis Botha, the South African Premier, whose presence is urgently required at the coming session of the South African Parliament. Accordingly, General Smuts will be replaced in the military command in East Africa, where the situation is so well in hand that the necessary reorganization in the command will be a comparatively simple matter.

GREECE.

ATHENS, Jan. 15. The Entente, through the Italian Minister, has insisted on an unqualified acceptance of the last Entente ultimatum, considering the Greek Government's reply as equivocal. It is stated in Government circles that while maintaining the observations accompanying Greece's reply, they in no wise constituted reservations to the fullest acceptance of the ultimatum. The Government is willing to repeat its acceptance, categorically, as desired.

HENDERSON SPEAKS.

LONDON, Jan. 15. Arthur Henderson, member without portfolio, in the British Cabinet, speaking at Croxford of the necessity of the whole Allied nations standing behind the men on the battlefield, who have consecrated all they had to bring about a great victory, said there is too much of a feeling that this war can be won on the battlefield alone; but if all consecrate themselves for the ideals for which we entered the war, as expressed in the Allies' note to President Wilson, I confidently believe this year will inaugurate an era of peace. That peace can only be satisfactory and permanent if it is founded upon the defeat of the unrestrained militarism and accompanied by a league of nations sufficiently strong to keep the existing armies in their proper place, prevent the inflation of armaments and secure the enforcement of international law.

GERMAN SUB. RELEASED.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The German submarine taken by the Dutch to-day outside territorial waters, was a submarine mine-layer from Zeebrugge, and had a crew of 32. She strayed out of her course during a thick fog. The underwater boat was liberated after the captain signed a declaration that he had not been in touch with hostile forces throughout the day, and that consequently the presence of the boat in the territorial waters of Holland was not the result of hostile pursuit.

ADMIRAL DEWEY ILL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. Admiral Dewey, hero of Manila, has been confined to his home here the last five days. A general breakdown and slowly sinking, is reported by his doctors this afternoon.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The British official from headquarters in France made public this evening says: During the night a party of our troops entered the German lines east of Loos. Many casualties were inflicted on the enemy and his dugouts bombed and some prisoners secured. North of the Ancre an enemy transport was successfully engaged by our artillery. In addition to the usual artillery activity along our front the enemy's positions were effectively bombarded southeast of Loos and opposite Bois Grenier.

AUSTRIAN PASSENGER STEAMER SUNK.

LONDON, Jan. 15. The sinking of the Austrian passenger steamer Zagreb, 637 tons gross, by a submarine in the Adriatic, Jan. 14th with the loss of 26 lives is reported in a telegram from Vienna to Amstergdam as forwarded by a Reuter despatch. The Zagreb is reported to have been torpedoed without warning off the coast of Central Dalmatia.

"We are going to have a new car," a friend of mine said to me one day.

"That's fine," I said, trying to keep the surprise out of my voice, and evidently failing.

"Less Luxury and Less Worry." "You don't think so," she laughed, "but I do. It's this way. We could just barely afford to run that large car. It was always running over the allowance we put aside for it, and I was always adding up bills, and feeling we ought not to use it so much. Of course, it was nice to have a luxurious car, but one day after a ride had been spoiled for me by some little accident I knew would cost a lot to repair, and a friend who had with us had told us how little that would cost on his car, it came over me that I would be happier on the whole with less luxury and less worry."

"Did John see it that way?" I asked. "Not at first," she confessed. "How did you persuade him?"

"John was hard to persuade. 'Well, I haven't wholly. It took a good deal of tact and our last bill of repairs even half to persuade him. He says 'It's only an experiment.'"

"I met this woman again the other day and at once inquired about the experiment. She said it had become permanent, and I congratulated her. For it seems to me they have set their feet on the road to happiness.

Another young couple whom I know had a big raise once. The first day or two they talked much of what they would buy—a piano, a new set of living room furniture, even by economizing an auto. I asked her later what they had decided upon.

"All They Bought Was Peace of Mind. 'Oh, a few little things we need,' she said, 'and after that, just peace of mind.'"

"You mean—"

"That I'd rather have a comfortable margin for extras than anything else I could buy."

When standards rise faster than incomes you get misery, when standards keep constant pace with income you get discontent and uneasiness; when standards are rigidly kept (they don't do it of themselves) a little below income, you get peace of mind and contentment.

And what in all the world is there better?

What are you doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing: I've about given up trying to cure it." "That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists."

involved in this discreditable affair have been weak and foolish rather than criminal, but they are officers of high rank except the humble and innocent Lieutenant of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, whose entanglement through no fault of his own, in an unsavory romance was the cause of all the trouble. Needless to say, the punishment of the culpable officers by the publication of the report of the court of inquiry is sufficient. But it is not this particular scandal that is so significant at this crisis. It is the notice given to the peccant minority of the British aristocracy, to all British society, and to the world at large that England has become wholly serious and is controlled by one great purpose.—N. RELIEF COMING.

WALT MASON

The winds are blustering and rough, the frost keeps at it, steady; a little winter is enough, you've had your share already. You're tired of winter, grim and drear, you're tired of all his poses. Cheer up! The spring will soon be here, with the nightingales and roses! You're tired of blowing in your rail that you may keep from freezing, for cords of wood and tons of coal—it surely isn't pleasing. You're tired of toiling day by day, to feed the hungry heaters. Cheer up! The spring is on the way, with meadow larks and skeeters! You're tired of falling half a block, when streets with ice are slippery; you're tired of cleaning snowy walks, and other labors dippy. You faint would sound a note of grief, with cymbals, timbrels, cornets. Cheer up! The spring will bring relief, and bobalinks and hornets. Cheer up! Though gloomy be the day, the darkest day will vanish; there's something traveling our way that will out, troubles banish. To-day may be a thing of dread—we're banking on tomorrow; there's always something just ahead that's bound to knock out sorrow.

Samp cooked in the usual way and sprinkled with grated cheese, is an agreeable dish.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a step saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture.

It Eliminates Hard Work.

Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

Marooned in Elevator.

Stock Was Going Up While Imprisoned Speculator Thought It Was Going Down, and He Made $5,000.

(Toronto News.)

Many strange stories are going the rounds regarding small fortunes which have been made during the recent fluctuations of the world's stock markets. Perhaps the strangest story in some years is that of a speculator who was imprisoned between the floors of a local skyscraper when the car was marooned there through the power failing. He had seen on the ticket that one of his holdings was at a high level. Immediately he decided to sell and raced for the elevator in a hurry to get to his broker.

The market looked a little erratic and time meant everything. When about half way to the street the lights in the car commenced to flicker, the car slowed down and as the lights made their final spurt before going out the car stopped, between two floors. Beads of perspiration stood out on his forehead and fear gripped his heart, but try as he would he could not force the operator to move the car to the next floor. After putting in the worst twenty minutes in his life the lights commenced to burn dimly, but still the car would not move as the switches had to be set in the elevator room. Finally after another few minutes the car started and he was landed safely at the street. Feeling sure he was a big loser he made a grand rush for the broker's office, scattering everything that happened to get in his way. "Sell my holdings at 194," he shouted at the broker, when only half way through the door.

"Why sell at 94 man, when the stock has been selling at 99 for the past five minutes?" queried the broker. In place of losing by the delay the party in question, who is well known in financial circles, was made richer by about $5,000, and so another was added to the list of "lucky ones."
