ARE MANNERS VANISHING?

If there is any force in the saying that "manners make the man," it must be admitted that this is rather a poor age for the manufacture of men—or women. In the education of our boys and girls the last thing to which attention is given is their manners. Indeed, so full are the school curricula, so many distractions there are to home life, that too often the boys and girls are sent out into the world as educated savages, knowing nothing of manners, and innocent of that polish, grace, and consideration for the rights, comfort, and finer feelings of others, which contribute so much to the advancement of life.

What the Pulp and Paper Industry Means

A ton of news print paper sells for from seven to eight times the price of a cord of pulpwood. Bearing this fact in mind it will be of interest to examine the following estimate, by a Ban, nor authority, of the value of the pulp and paper industry to Maine, our next door neighbor, says the St. John Times.

"Ten million dollars will be required to pay the army of lumbermen at work in the forests of the Northeast Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont and the Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia—this winter. There are in this peaceful army of loggers 70,000 men. They are accompanied by 22,000 horses, and the fruits of the campaign will not be fallen capitals and confiscated territory, but a crop of 2,500,000 feet of pine, cedar, spruce hemlock and birch. Maine's logging industry, which twenty years ago seemed to be on the decline, has been so revived by the coming of the pulp and paper mills that the woods operations are today more extensive than ever before. While the value and wages are higher than at any time since the flush days immediately following the civil war.

"When the first pulp mills were built in Maine the lumbermen had no idea that the industry would ever amount to much, except that it might afford a convenient market for the smaller trees that were not fit for lumber. From a small proportion of the total cut of logs the 'pulp stock' has now increased so that on some rivers it equals and on others even exceeds in quantity the logs cut for the sawmills. In Maine the harvest for the pulp mills will reach the enormous total of 350,000,000 feet this winter. The amount cut for the saw mills will not be far from 400,000,000 feet."

If New Brunswick were turning its pulpwood into paper in its own mills a vast amount of money that now is distributed in another country would be going to Canadian workmen. It is contended by some that we have not the necessary water powers, and by others that the time to start paper mills here has not yet arrived. The longer we send away the pulpwood to feed foreign mills that are dependent upon us for their raw material, the longer we shall postpone manufacturing.

An expert examination of all the promising waterpowers in the province is needed. The Public Domain Act ought to be put into force, and together with the survey and classification of our forest lands, there should be a satisfactory examination of the power sources available for manufacturing purposes.

THE CANKER PLAGUE

Editor of Monitor-Sentinel:—
During my work in Annapolis county as Institute speaker I have noticed with much concern the prevalence and destructive effects of canker in apple orchards. While there last winter, I sent specimens of this dread disease both to the Experimental Farm, Ottawa and to the Agricultural College, Truro. Having now before me replies to my inquiries, I shall with your permission, outline a course of treatment.

"Remove all dead and dying limbs. Cut around canker sores with a sharp knife till healthy wood is reached and then cover with white paint. Be careful not to injure the bark, for such injury is likely to be followed by canker. Scrape the rough bark from the limbs and trunks of the trees so that the sprays may be more effective. Practice clean cultivation from early spring till July 1st, and fertilize liberally, for well cared for plants are more disease resisting than those that are neglected."

"Spray with Bordeaux mixture at least four times; 1st, application just before the blossoms open, 2nd, application just after they fall, 3rd, application ten days after the 2nd, 4th, application when the apples are as large as the largest crabs."

It is certain that careful attention to the details mentioned above, especially spraying, would greatly lessen this plague of canker.

THERE'S MILLIONS IN IT

Representatives of 25,000,000 Sunday School people meet in Convention at Washington D. C. on May 19th and May 22nd. It is World's Sunday School Day. On that day all the preachers are expected to preach Sunday School and the people to give to the Sunday School. A special program for opening S. S. on that day is published and will be supplied by S. S. Times Co. 1041 Walnut St. Pa. for 50 cts. per 100 copies. Or I will supply free of charge to any Supt. applying for them before May 3rd. Each copy copies for use in his school provided he agree to have a special offering taken on that day for our Co. pledge to Provincial S. S. Work. It appears appropriate that the Churches on that day should devote their offerings to S. S. purposes either for their own local schools, which are never over-stocked with money, or if they prefer for the general work.

I take this opportunity on behalf of the Co. Executive Committee to thank the S. S. workers of this County, who by their generous contributions and pledges have made it possible for the committee to pay the expenses of a delegate to Washington. The public will be pleased to know that Annapolis Co. is to be represented at Washington by Miss Young, our County Secretary. Any persons who wish to contribute may send money to the subscriber, or S. E. Bancroft of Lawrencetown and if any surplus should occur it will be devoted to our $100,000 contribution to provincial work. On behalf of Ex. com.

A VETERAN OF THE FOURTH ESTATE

Mr. W. James Williams, now residing at San Diego, California, writes the Yarmouth Herald as follows: "1827—1910 Began my 'career' as 'devil' in the Herald office in June, 1838, so I am sure I am the oldest in age and in service of any who have 'done time' on the Herald. Hope you will reach my years and feel as well as I do. Regards to all." Mr. Williams was born on the 2nd day of April, 1827.

RURAL POSTAL DELIVERY.

Thus far, 325 free rural postal delivery routes have been established in the Dominion. The work is progressing on well-defined lines with the object of securing the best results at the smallest cost, and of not being compelled to halt and reorganize. It is hoped to make the system one of steady growth and expansion.—Chronicle.

Thirty Million Dollars Damage to Crops

Storm Wrought Havoc in the Michigan Fruit Belt—Freezing Temperature Killed Buds, Flowers and Fruits, and Threatens to Ruin Oats.

Chicago, April 24.—In the most disastrous and far-reaching storm experienced in a generation, damage amounting to more than $30,000,000 has been wrought in the middle west to budding crops fruits and vegetables.

The Michigan fruit belt, the backbone of the fruit district, is described as almost wiped out for the season. Freezing temperature in Illinois and Iowa, not only has killed buds, flowers and fruits, but threatens to ruin oats.

South Water Street Commission men agreed last night that the middle west will suffer the greatest loss it has ever experienced because of the storm. They also say that high prices automatically will begin at once.

The forecast of snow flurries, continued cold and northwest winds, indicates further extensive damage.

The Awful Fate of Poor Ruth Wheeler

New York, April 20.—No prisoner on trial for his life in the New York courts is ever remembered to have faced such an array of facts and heard such a staid indictment with such a stolid indifference as did Albert Wolter today, when confronted with the charred fragments of the body which was Ruth Wheeler, whom he is charged with having murdered. He is in his flat not a month ago in answer to his advertisement for a stenographer.

Phillip O'Callahan, a coroner's physician testified that Ruth Wheeler was attacked before she was murdered and that she was still alive in her body when it was soaked with kerosene, jammed up the chimney of Wolter's flat and set afire. He found human hair, not her own, he said, adhering to the burned fingers. Therefore he knew that she fought for her honor. There was soot in her lungs. A corpse does not breathe. Therefore he knew a living and still sentient body inhaled smoke and flame.

During this appalling testimony, which made the jurors fidget in their chairs, Wolter sat trim and listless, scanning indifferently the jurors, the grewsome exhibits themselves, and his lawyer. He gave no sign of emotion when Adelaide Wheeler, 19 years old, and said to bear an extraordinary resemblance to her dead sister, took the stand.

New York, April 22.—Albert Wolter the youth of 19 years, who was "crazy" about women, must die in electric chair.

MARATHON VICTOR

Amherst Does Honor to The Winner of The Boston Marathon, and His Trainer

AMHERST, April 26.—Fred S. Cameron, champion long distance runner of America, accompanied by his trainer, Thomas Trenholm, arrived home from Boston tonight. From St. John to Amherst, the return of the victor took the form of a regular triumph. At St. John Cameron was presented with an address from the Harriers' club. At all stations along the line crowds of people gathered to tender congratulations to the modest champion. He was due to arrive in Amherst at 5.22 by the C. P. R., but a special train went to Moncton to meet him and detain him there for a few hours until the details of reception were arranged. At Moncton the citizens turned out en masse. Mayor Reilly and council welcomed him to Moncton and congratulated him on his victory. Cameron and Trenholm were then given an automobile trip about the town and was induced to go to Davison theater to say a few words to the assembled crowd.

At Dorchester hundreds were at the station and at Sackville the band and citizens turned out to honor the first marathon prize winner that the maritime provinces have produced.

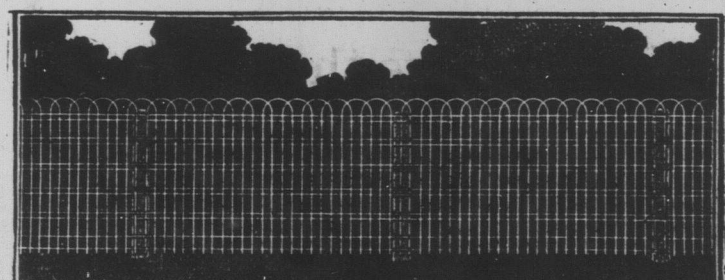

When the train arrived in Amherst, fully five thousand people thronged a long station street, who cheered themselves hoarse when Cameron and Trenholm appeared on the scene. The town itself all day presented a gala appearance. Flags were flying from all the buildings and the streets were gay with bunting. A procession, headed by the band, was formed at the station and Cameron and his trainer were escorted to the Auditorium building, which was packed to the doors.

Mayor Curry presided and on the platform were a large number of leading citizens, comprising town councilors, merchants, manufacturers and professional men. Adorning the centre of the platform was the handsome trophy which was the emblem of Cameron's magnificent victory.

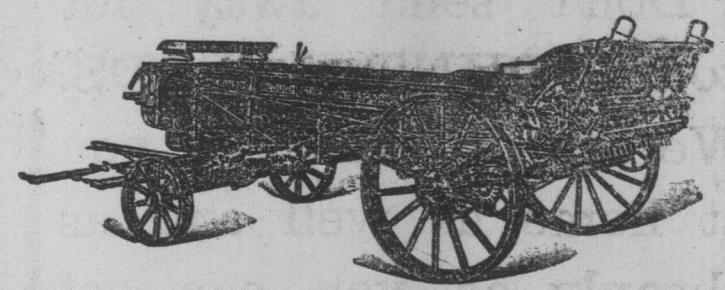

THE RUNNER'S FATHER PRESENTED TO AUDIENCE

The dramatic feature of the evening's proceedings was when Cameron's father was introduced to the audience. He had come from his home in Advocate to meet his son and was accorded a great reception when he rose to thank the citizens for the honor they had bestowed upon his son. The meeting was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King."

It is not saying too much to state that the home-coming of Cameron was marked by the most spontaneous enthusiasm and the reception given to him was never paralleled in the history of the town. The citizens realized that Nova Scotia and Amherst had received a splendid advertisement by Cameron's which was the emblem of Cameron's magnificent victory.

Tea that satisfies

UNION BLEND TEA

YOUR DECISION IS FINAL

There is no appeal for me from your decision—Union Blend Tea has to stand or fall on your judgment. Yet, such absolute confidence have I that it is all I claim—that it is better than other teas, that I am not only willing but anxious to have my words put to the test. If you are disappointed, I can never expect you to buy again—but I'll take the risk. Won't you try a single pound—or even a half pound—if you prefer?

Henry H. Frost

Union Blend one pound packets—the only—contain coupons that are worth money to you. But this is only an advertisement—the tea itself is worth the price, fully.

I do wish I could make you realize with this advertisement what personal selection of fine, tender young tea sprouts—hill-grown, mind you—means to the great expense and trouble entailed thereby was not in vain. Selected fresh at the very spot where they are grown, my expert blenders devote their entire time in producing what Canada delights in—UNION BLEND TEA—rich, fragrant and sustaining. With thirty years' practical experience I don't honestly know how UNION BLEND TEA could possibly be improved. And when Union Blend tea comes to you, get it with all the tea-rose in it—in a hermetically sealed packet that is proof against dampness and atmospheric changes. Look for my picture on the end of the packet—that is your guarantee of quality. Make your own tea-cup convince you.

SPRING STYLES.

Safe Color Combinations—Dutch Neck to Be in Vogue.

The vogue for black and white which has been spreading since early fall is likely to continue into spring fashions. This combination is a safe one for the woman who is at all dubious as to color schemes.

In the spring one may still wear the Dutch neck or high collar and be in fashion. In these enlightened days fashions are largely a matter of being original, and one must study oneself and find out the little touches or lines which suit one's special figure or face.

The summer hats include lovely turban shaped affairs of tulle almost and entirely covered with flowers. One of light brown tulle had the top covered with green leaves, while the brim was bordered with bronze shaded roses and a bow of the same tone of velvet was at the back.

Bishop sleeves are in the height of fashion, and they are often trimmed with bands forming the sleeve into puffs.

Coats a little below the hips are to be smart this season. This length is MISSIE'S COAT.

The model pictured is suitable for all materials that have sufficient body for wraps.

These May Manton patterns are cut for girls of fourteen and sixteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, size, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

A Protest Against the Too Tight Skirt. The Fashionable Blouse.

Protest should be made against the skirt that is narrow at its hem and tied in just above the ankles at its worst. It should be condemned and discarded by every woman who considers personal comfort and a graceful appearance.

Many of the newest lingerie blouses are collarless, and the old fashion of wearing them over pale pastel colored slips is again in vogue.

Silver ornaments are raised to a place of importance in the wardrobe of smart women nowadays.

Shirt waist dresses are worn at all seasons, but are in special demand with the coming of the springtime. This one is simple and girlish and is of tan colored linen trimmed with brown and white plaid.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns come for girls fourteen and sixteen years of age. Send 10 cents each for them to this office, giving numbers—skirt, #61 and shirt waist #62. They will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

Does Your Flour, Madam, Whiten Through Kneading

We well remember our little chat with Mrs. B., an A1 breadmaker. Said she: "After kneading my dough awhile, I often wonder how it whitens so noticeably under the hands. The more I knead and work it, the whiter it gets, more wholesome-looking, you know." "That's a very encouraging thing in FIVE ROSES flour which I've so sadly missed elsewhere."

Maybe, Mistress Housewife, you've noticed it, too.

But all flours, alas! are not FIVE ROSES. With flour from poor quality wheat, poorly milled, there's no material improvement in the color of the bread due to kneading.

It's the gray that's developed, Madam, not the white.

It's whiter dough you want, whiter the longer you knead it, and you want it so without having your elbows tinged and lubricated like John L. Sullivan's.

And FIVE ROSES, Madam, responds beautifully to the least exertion and in the morning your dough is up as light as a cork.

The strong, live dough crackles and snaps heavily as you knead it down. Then the snowy whiteness in the pans to be proved and baked!

From the oven your crusted golden loaves yield the aroma of freshly-baked hickory nuts that portends a tooth-teasing flavor irresistible.

And the kiddyskins need no other call to breakfast, Madam; just follow their noses.

Don't let your neighbour beat YOU at breadmaking. You can so easily do better, Mistress Housewife.

By getting FIVE ROSES. So roll up your sleeves, Madam, and—DO IT NOW.

More bread and Better bread—And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purity Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties. In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Of course this special process is more expensive to operate but it means a lot to Purity flour users—that's why we use it.

It means that Purity Flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

Purity may cost a little more than some flours, but results prove it the cheapest and most economical after all.

Wednesday, April, 27 1910.

The session of parliament just closed which lasted eight weeks, during two weeks of which Premier Murray was confined to his room by illness, was quite eventful in the passing of important measures of legislation. Among the most important were acts relating to Crown Lands, Public Health and Coal Mine Regulations, an act to establish Juvenile Courts, the Nova Scotia Temperance Act and the Workmen's Compensation Act. The general trend of these measures is in the line of progress. The last mentioned, the Workmen's Compensation Act was somewhat hastily put through at the end of the session and was completed half an hour before closing. The bill originally was proposed to include the Coal Mines, where most of the fatalities occur, but when it passed the Legislative Council the coal mines were exempt and outside of these companies the bill makes liable employer of ten men or more for partial or total disability or the death of their men by accident. This defeats the purpose of the bill, and is worthless as far as the small manufacturer and capitalist is concerned. It will also tend to limit the operations of small concerns that cannot afford to hold themselves liable for accidents. There is however a proviso in the bill that measures will be taken on the part of the government to induce the Coal Companies to increase their agreement of liability to employees or to abandon their present relief societies so that they may come under the government act.

SENDING MESSAGES BY OVERSEAS WIRELESS

The Marconi transatlantic wireless station at Port Morien, which was destroyed by fire last summer, has been again rebuilt, and the first overseas message from the new plant was transmitted this morning from the Cape Breton station to Clifden, Ireland. The new plant is far more modern than its predecessor, and is fitted with all the latest ideas for sending messages by the air line. The capacity of the plant is at present 1,000 words per hour. Signor Marconi was present this morning when the messages were being sent, and expressed himself as being thoroughly satisfied with the smoothness and accuracy with which the apparatus worked. The wireless way is given up almost wholly to sending and receiving despatches for the big continental newspapers.—Sydney Post April 26th.

PREMIER MURRAY VERY ILL

Premier Murray is very ill at the Victoria General Hospital, caused by stoppage of the main artery of one of his legs, upon which a minor operation for relief was performed yesterday.

MARK TWAIN DEAD

Redding, Conn., April 21.—Samuel Langhorne Clemens, (Mark Twain), died painlessly at his home here at 6.30 to-night of angina pectoris.

Granville Centre

Miss Eva Troop, of Bridgetown, is visiting her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Troop.

The W. M. A. S. for the month of May will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank F. Bent Thursday afternoon, May 5th, if stormy, Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. David Wade and Mr. John M. Troop, who have been ill of late, are recovering.

Mr. Isaac Gesner left last week for Digby, where he intends remaining the summer.

The death occurred here on Easter Sunday of Minard Mitchell, (colored) at the age of twenty-seven years. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. T. Suckling, and the remains interred in the Church of England cemetery.

The family and friends of Mr. Wm. T. Eaton, formerly of this place, now of New Dorchester, Mass. were grieved last week by the shocking intelligence that a fire had occurred in his home, by the explosion of an alcohol lamp, in which Mrs. William Eaton, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold Eaton, were so badly burned that both died a few hours later in the City Hospital. The sister woman leaves a husband and one son, the younger leaves a husband and little daughter sixteen months old. The sad affair has cast a gloom over our community. Messrs. Valentine Eaton and Burton Eaton, Mrs. Henry Calnek and Mrs. Thomas Harris are brothers and sisters of Mr. William T. Eaton.

Clementsport.

We are sorry to have to report that Mr. Frank Durling, who has been absent from his home for some time and returned a short time ago, is in ill health, but we hope for his speedy recovery.

Mr. Reginald Burrell, who has been absent from his family for about a year at Cobalt, has returned looking hale and hearty.

Rev. W. A. Lane addressed a meeting of young men and others at the Baptist Hall here recently in connection with the Annuity plan lately adopted and formed by the Dominion Government. This certainly gives our young men a good chance, if they will accept its conditions, of securing themselves from want in old age.

Two of the staff of the D. A. Railway spent Sunday last at their respective homes here in the persons of O. C. Jones of Digby, and Frank L. Corey, of Kentville.

Several persons were taken into the Methodist church here on Sunday last by the Rev. H. H. MacNeil, the result of a series of meetings held in the village some two months ago.

Schr. Mercedes, Capt. Henshaw sailed from this port last week with a load of wood and piling shipped by Mr. W. H. Hicks.

Schr. Emma E. Potter, that has been undergoing quite extensive repairs, is now about ready to take in a cargo and put in the regular trade between this port and Boston under the charge of Capt. A. Walker.

Mr. Fred Ruggles, our popular blacksmith, and Edward Bent, one of our prosperous farmers, sold their horses to Mr. O. C. Jones, of Digby, last week, or the livery stable business. Digby expects a boom in the business this summer.

Capt. Elias Rawding, our Councillor, attended the meeting of the Council held at the picturesque town of Bridgetown last week.

We are having good growing weather. Grass seems very forward for the time of year and indications point to a good hay crop.

Lower Granville

We regret to report the venerable Van Buren Foster as very ill at the home of his son, David M. Foster. Mr. Foster was ninety-nine years old last February and up to a few days ago had enjoyed very good health.

After a protracted illness Mrs. John W. Ellis passed away at her home Victoria Beach on Sunday. The deceased had a large circle of friends who will hear with deep regret that she is no more. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Morrison, went to Boston last week on a visit to their children.

A clam supper held in Karsdale Hall on Thursday evening realized $12. The proceeds go to the funds of the Episcopal church.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

COMPOSITION IN BRITAIN.

Ballot Box Tricks Are Not So Unheard of After All.

Now that the elections are over, many voters, especially in the smaller constituencies, are wondering if the ballot is really and truly secret. In theory, of course, it is. But in practice, it is alleged, there are all sorts of leeways.

There is a reason for this. Every constituency has its Conservative and its Liberal Registration Association, or some similar organization, whose duty it is to see that as many as possible of its side get their names on the register of voters and keep them there.

This he accomplishes in two ways, by "objecting" to electors or would-be electors who are known to belong to the opposite party, and by "claiming" for those who are on his side.

These claims and objections are heard by officials known as revising barristers, who hold Revision Courts all over the country once a year for the purpose of adjudicating upon them.

Now it is obvious that, in order to either claim or object to a voter effectively from a party agent's point of view, the latter must know what are the politics of the man he is acting for or against, or otherwise he would be just as likely to be doing harm to his own side as good.

Supposed, for instance, that the Conservative agent for the Little Puddletown Division of Wiltshire happens to discover that a number which is really John Smith, an alien, and, therefore, not entitled to vote, although as a registered voter, he is on the Little Puddletown electors' register. It would never do for the agent to lodge offhand an objection against John Smith, for it is quite possible that John Smith may be a Conservative in politics.

So he gets to work to make discreet inquiries, and if by any chance he is able to discover that John Smith voted Liberal election he promptly lodges an objection, which is upheld in due course by the revising barrister, and John Smith is struck off the register.

Such is the method of "weeding out" the registers, or, as it is called by both sides, and it is at once evident how important it is for a registration agent to know what are the politics of as many as possible of the voters residing in his constituency. It is this need which leads to the leakage already mentioned.

Each ballot-paper handed to a voter has stamped upon it a number which corresponds to a number standing opposite his name in the polling-books, and, as both the ballot-papers and the polling-books remain in the custody of the returning officer for some time after the elections are decided, it is obvious that any one of these officials who chance to be of a sufficiently unscrupulous turn of mind would be able to violate the secrecy of the ballot wholesale. There would be no insuperable difficulty, in fact, in the way of his ascertaining how every single elector (who polled) voted, and communicating the result to whichever party agent he cared to do so. Of course, he would render himself to heavy legal penalties for so doing.

Usually the returning officers are men of unimpeachable character, to whom the bare thought of such a thing would be abhorrent. But there are black and white men, and it is an open secret that such a thing, or at all events something very like it, has been done, and that more than once.

Others, too, are careless, and leave much to their clerks. In such cases mere curiosity will often induce some subordinate to try and find out how certain individuals voted, either through carelessness or purpose, he imparts the information thus acquired to one or the other of the registration agents, who in his turn uses it at the next Revision Court in the interest of his party, framing his list of claims and objections accordingly.

In addition to this surreptitious leakage, there is a vast amount of open leakage at the polling-stations on the day of the election, due largely to the indifference or carelessness of individual voters in flaunting party colors, or in giving up to the party canvassers outside dummy voting cards that are issued by the rival candidates for the guidance of their supporters, and each of which bears a register number by which the voter can be identified at leisure later on.

It will be gathered, therefore, from the foregoing that the ballot is only nominally secret. One important factor, however, detracts largely from the value of such information from a party point of view. An agent may know how a man has voted, but he cannot tell how he is going to vote. There are many men who are not partisans; they side with the Liberals at one election, with the Conservatives at the next, with the Labor party on the third occasion, while perhaps on the fourth they will abstain from voting altogether. These are the "silent voters," and it is they, after all, who win or lose elections, and thereby decide the fate of Ministries.

"Our Political Brute." Everyone knows that there are two Winston Churchills—the British Cabinet Minister and an American novelist. Mr. Fred T. Fane, the naval author, tells the following story: It was shortly after the publication of "My South African Journey," that the Hon. Mr. Winston Churchill was chanced to go on board a British warship to call. Conversation had thus drifted round to medals, literature, when an officer approached, and shook Winston warmly by the hand. "Delighted to meet you, sir," said he. "I am a fervent admirer of your books. It gave me such a fearful shock when first you came on board, you know, because I thought you were our political brute of the same name."

The London County Council consists of 118 members and 19 aldermen.

NO SHORTENING OF LOBSTER SEASON.

Ottawa, April 27.—The recommendations of Commander Wakeham for the shortening of the lobster fishing season has been rejected by the Fisheries Committee of the Commons on the ground that it would too seriously disturb the industry.

A very radical recommendation is made that all along the coast except in the Counties of St. John and Charlotte, New Brunswick, the size limit be abolished. In St. John and Charlotte the limit will be ten and a half inches.

It was recommended that in 1911 new trap regulations be enforced which would prevent too many small lobsters being taken. It was recommended that the slate of traps be not less than an inch and a quarter apart and the mesh of the net at either end be not less than three and a half inches.

Materials That Will Make Smart Frocks and Suits.
 For dressy spring frocks craze will be much worn. It is the same weave of craze that we have been wearing during the winter, but a little thinner, although very substantial.

The new suitings for spring walking gowns are two toned and in these weaves, such as oatmeal cloths, can be used for hosiery. They are extremely smart and suggest very suitably.

Star check is another material that is very new. The outline of the star is barely perceptible. The new materials, too, have a two toned surface. Little girls' coats made with plaided little portions are graceful. The model

Rich Business Man Goes Back to School

Age Forty-five, Employer of 4,000 Hands, He Enters on Harvard Commercial Course.

"I am taking advantage of an opportunity to accumulate facts. From scientific facts we gain knowledge, wisdom and... in the words of Daniel Walds Field; the young man of forty-five, millionaire, married and the directing genius in several great corporations, whose advice on business matters older men gladly cherish, yet who considers his own knowledge so incomplete that he tucks his green felt bag under his arm three times each week and goes eagerly to his studies at Harvard from Brockton to acquire that broader and higher education in the Graduate School of Business Administration which was denied him a his youth.

In Brockton, where Mr. Field is one of the big men in the shoe manufacturing industry, they point to him as an ideal type of the man who worked his way from poverty to affluence. His prime at Harvard is with pride an exhibit, pointed out with pride by members of the faculty as the type of business man desired as special students at the business school, which is not by any means an institution solely for young men just out of college.

The Harvard business course was established in March, 1908, to give thorough and scientific instruction in the fundamental principles of business organization and administration and to present such a range of elective courses that students may receive the special preparation which is suitable to the requirements of the business career he purposes to enter." These sentiments in an early prospectus coincided with the principles of the Brockton millionaire president of the Field-Lumbert shoe manufacturing concern and one of two affiliated companies, director of a national bank, etc., and he quietly enrolled to ascertain what the courses on "industrial organization" and "corporate finance" had in store for him.

There is no more assiduous student in the course. He listens three times each week to instructors, some of them the heads of corporations as large or as successful as his own companies, but nevertheless acknowledged experts. Speaking of his interest in attending the lectures given by business men considered to be no more adept than himself, Mr. Field then would have shied at such a story and there would have to be a prima facie case of overwhelming strength before a Canadian newspaper would touch such a story to-day. The case in question was one that involved a politician long since dead, who was at that time very prominent in Ontario. Charges of disreputable conduct in his private life were made against him, and the chief witness against him was a young woman who lived in his home as a sort of companion to his wife. Her own character, which was good, was not involved, and she was apparently in good health also when she fell ill with some slight sickness and was treated by a physician who was related to the politician in question. She never rallied, and before the criminal charges and the libel actions arising from the charges came to trial she had succumbed to galloping consumption.

To his dying day Nicholas Murphy, who was counsel for the young woman and who was responsible for bringing the original charges to light, avowed that she was a victim of tubercular inoculation at the hands of the physician, but he could obtain no evidence for his theory in any quarter.

CERM INOCULATION.
 Late Nicholas Murphy, K.C., Tried Hard to Prove a Grave Charge.

Readers of the daily papers are aware that in one of the large American cities a doctor was recently on trial on a charge of murdering his wife's uncle by inoculating him with typhoid germs. Such charges, which seem fantastic but are not beyond the region of possibility, have been made not infrequently since the germ theory of disease became accepted by scientists. Over fifteen years ago the late Nicholas Murphy, K.C., had a case of the kind which he desired to have ventilated in the public prints. It may be said that he did not succeed, for the most sensational editor before a Canadian newspaper would touch such a story to-day. The case in question was one that involved a politician long since dead, who was at that time very prominent in Ontario. Charges of disreputable conduct in his private life were made against him, and the chief witness against him was a young woman who lived in his home as a sort of companion to his wife. Her own character, which was good, was not involved, and she was apparently in good health also when she fell ill with some slight sickness and was treated by a physician who was related to the politician in question. She never rallied, and before the criminal charges and the libel actions arising from the charges came to trial she had succumbed to galloping consumption.

To his dying day Nicholas Murphy, who was counsel for the young woman and who was responsible for bringing the original charges to light, avowed that she was a victim of tubercular inoculation at the hands of the physician, but he could obtain no evidence for his theory in any quarter.

TAR AND FEATHERS.

What the process of law we know not, but there surely is, under the wide heavens of British justice, some way to bring to trial the parties who would abuse, ill-treat and maltreat a poor little waif of hardly three years of age. If the law is powerless, feathers and the tar pot are still in the hands of an outraged and indignant public.—Truro News.

NOVA SCOTIANS IN CONTROL

Without entering into the questions in dispute between the contending groups at the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co., it may be said that it is a matter for congratulation that the Nova Scotians who have built up this important Provincial industry remain in control of its affairs.

An Unexpected Answer

A Goldwin Smith story comes to us by way of M. A. P.: "A life-long total abstainer and non-smoker, Professor Smith relates a quaint experience he once had while lecturing to a number of school children on the subject of temperance. He had arrived at his peroration, and he was describing a certain little boy who played truant instead of going to school, went fishing on Sundays, ran away from home and learned to smoke, drink, and play cards." "Children," said Professor Smith, "where do you think that boy is now?" "Please, sir," said a voice, "he stands before us."

A CARELESS REMARK.

Job at Salvationists Helped to Defeat Labor Lawyer O'Donoghue.

It does not pay for politicians, to speak carelessly and it certainly behooves the man seeking the popular franchise to treat the Salvation Army with respect. Mr. J. G. O'Donoghue, the barrister who ran for South Toronto on the Labor ticket with the Liberal organization at his back, says that he made this discovery when he went down to defeat before Mr. A. Claude Macdonell, M.P., at the last Federal elections. Two or three years ago one of two so-called socialists, who were merely malcontents with no formulated economic views of any kind, got into trouble with the police by insisting on addressing public meetings at street corners and refusing to move on when rudely interrupted by the men in uniform. They were arrested and were defended by Mr. O'Donoghue, who is counsel for most labor sympathizers when they get into trouble. In the Police Court, in combatting the allegation that these orators were a public nuisance to those doing business in the vicinity of their meetings, he remarked that they were no more of a nuisance than the Salvation Army with its outdoor services, or words to that effect. The remark was made off hand with no desire to offend the religious convictions of anyone, but with a view to helping his clients. An evening paper, however, being short of a subject took it up editorially, and administered a castigation to Mr. O'Donoghue for speaking disrespectfully about the Army.

The episode was apparently forgotten by the time that the elections of 1908 came on and Mr. O'Donoghue found himself a candidate, making a house-to-house canvass in South Toronto, in which the electorate is almost without exception poor. Then he found that the casual remarks thoughtlessly made in the Police Court had proven veritable dragon's teeth, and had roused up a host of enemies. He encountered the story that he was an enemy of the Salvation Army on all sides, and many of the poorer classes of his constituents were outraged at the idea.

"I attribute to that matter more than anything else the size of the majority against me," said Mr. O'Donoghue recently.

SCHOOL BOY SHOT NEAR WINDSOR FORKS.

A despatch from Windsor says: What might have proved a very serious accident occurred yesterday in the Mill school section near Windsor Forks. The teacher, Miss Chase, was on her way to school accompanied by several children. Their road led along what is known as the old post road, where there is a high embankment on the south branch of the Avon river, with thick woods on each side.

At one place near the ruins of an old mill the bank is about fifty feet above the river. Just as the teacher and children reached this part of the thoroughfare a report of a rifle sounded and almost without warning a bullet cut off two of the fingers of one of the children, a boy of twelve years of age, named John Redden, son of Edward Redden, Windsor Forks.

The frightened group did not know who fired the shot. They did not see anyone and supposed it was a hunter who fired the shot at some animal and the children being directly in the path of the bullet one of them received the shot. No clue is yet reported as to who the hunter was. The teacher and children were naturally frightened at the accident.

GERMAN AIRPLANE WAS WRECKED.

Plan, Germany, April 14.—Major Gon Passal's new aeroplane was caught in a violent wind while flying over Lake Plan today and turning turtle fell into the water. Engineers Blochman and Hoff escaped unharmed. They dropped with the machine, but succeeded in freeing themselves from the wreckage, and were picked up by a passing craft.

Major Von Passal's invention is a monoplane. It carried 170 pounds of benzine and was expected to remain in the air three hours. The breadth of the plane was forty-five and a half feet, and the length of the machine forty-five feet. It was provided with torpedo-like floats for descending on water and with wheels for a descent upon land.

London's Latest "Princess."

Miss Isabel Jay, who is to take the leading part in "The Balkan Princess," at the Prince of Wales' Theatre, London, made her first appearance on the stage in the summer of 1897 in the revival of "The Yeoman of the Guard." "An awful panic seized me," she says, "while I was waiting to go on the stage. Just as I felt that nothing could ever induce me to go on, Mr. Walter Prynore took me by the shoulders, and with a kind word literally pushed me on to the stage. The effect of suddenly facing the footlights and the audience was like an electric shock, and I could not brace my nerves. I was told afterwards that I did not miss a note of my part, though to this day I cannot tell what I did that night."

MOST REMARKABLE CURES

Are Daily Credited to the Wonderful Powers of "Fruit-a-lives."

Bancroft Man Thinks This Fruit Medicine Will Work Miracles.

It is the old chronic case, the stubborn case, the case that will not yield to the ordinary remedies of the physician, that "Fruit-a-lives" never fails to cure. Many of the cures made by "Fruit-a-lives" are the wonder and admiration of the doctors who cannot understand how "Fruit-a-lives" can do what they cannot.

Bancroft, Ont., October 17th.

A MATTER OF VITAL IMPORTANCE.

Dr Hewitt, Dominion entomologist who recently visited the province, recognizing the national importance of helping this destructive moth out of Canada, purposes recommending that the federal department of agriculture join with the local department in the work of eradicating the brown tail moth, and from a general inspection of the area infested, is sanguine of at least keeping in control, if not absolutely destroying this moth.

FRUIT GROWERS SHOULD INSPECT THEIR TREES.

Citizens of Nova Scotia who are familiar with conditions in Massachusetts, and know that it costs over $1,000,000 per year to repress this pest in that single state, cannot but endorse the active policy which the local department have pursued. It is hoped that during the next few days owners of properties in Kings, Annapolis and Digby counties at least, will make a very thorough search of their orchards, with a view of finding any possible nests which may be present. The matter is of great importance.

SETTLERS' HOMES.

Quaint Little Places Growing Up Around Montreal.

Early as it is in the year, one may see processions of immigrants passing through the city of Montreal—the men with bundles on their backs, the women following with the children.

In the immigrant quarters of the C.P.R. they huddle, while the train which are to bring them to the North West are being made up; but many Russians, Roumanians, Austrians, Italians and Swedes, remain in the city.

The increase of big industries both in the city and along the canal bank, makes employment for the strangers possible.

They cannot offer skilled labor, but they are willing to be taught; and, in forms of work which need strength and endurance, the strangers excel. This is especially noticeable with the Russians—great, big, patient fellows, who talk little, do as they are told, and work for an average of 10 long as they are unorganized.

These strangers soon find employment in the Angus shops, the Locomotive Works, Longue Pointe, the Canada Car Co., Dominion Car and Foundry Co., the Mills-Clifton, Bullock Co., or in any of the half dozen or more big machine shops in the city and along the canal bank.

Industrial corporations which operate outside the city proper, prefer that the employees shall live in the neighborhood of their work, and pitiful attempts at home-making in the district, wherever it is.

Along the banks of the Leobine canal, in Leobine itself, many large industries have been started in recent years.

The employees, or many of them, have managed to buy on installment plan, bits of land on which they begin the erection of homes.

To glance at these, the word would seem a misnomer. In most cases, there is a long wait until the lot is ready for building. After this, there can only be the buying of bits of lumber now and then as means will allow.

The work of construction is mostly done in the early mornings and late evenings by the men themselves.

Any old bit of wood that can be picked up, any piece of tin sheeting anything that will help to keep out wind or rain—is eagerly requisitioned. You will see scores of these shacks on the way to Leobine, set down in what is called the Dominion Park.

They are pitifully small. They seem to make a mockery of the word "home." Dotted here and there, without, as it would seem, any regard for street lines, in the centre of a level plain, they look like the hurried structures of a mining camp or raw settlement.

A stranger going to Montreal on business or pleasure, would get an odd notion of this architectural medley, so close to a great metropolitan city.

The Quebec Legislature.

At the present session of the Quebec Legislature, there will be a report to establish something like working hours into the proceedings of the Lower House. Mr. Arthur Plante, M.P. for Beauport, is the prime mover in the plan, and early in the session he will introduce the necessary resolution.

In an explanatory way it may be said that the popular idea that a representative's presence at the Parliament of which he is a member is a great big holiday, is a fallacy, as far as most Houses are concerned.

Last session in Quebec, for instance, sessions lasting until two and three o'clock in the morning were common, and sometimes at six a quorum of members were still at their posts. Then there were committees as seen to be attended, as very often important measures were under consideration.

Mr. Plante has decided that a fixed hour for adjournment should be established, and he will by formal resolution ask that the House should establish such. He will propose that at twelve o'clock, whether a debate or a speech is concluded or not, the House should rise.

Some Booming Towns.

If we are to take the growth of cities and towns in the Dominion of Canada represented by the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, there is a wonderful future for some of them. Winnipeg, the largest city, in eight years has increased from 42,000 to 140,000.

Other places for the past eight years show this expansion: Calgary from 4,900 to 29,000; Edmonton from 2,600 to 25,000; Regina from 2,000 to 15,500; Brandon from 5,000 to 13,000; Saskatoon from 113 to 12,200; Moose Jaw from 1,500 to 12,000; Lethbridge from 2,100 to 10,000; Prince Albert from 1,800 to 7,000; Portage la Prairie from 4,000 to 7,000; Ferris from 1,900 to 5,200; Medicine Hat from 1,500 to 5,000.

In these places $47,000,000 has been invested in new buildings in the last three years, and in five years their taxable values have been increased from an aggregate of nearly $67,000,000 to about $220,000,000.

If the Colt Starts.

When the multitudinous crowds gather on the hills of Epsom to witness the race for the Derby of 1911, there may be many there who will cheer for a Canadian victory. In the list of entries for the race appears a colt by Eleton, owned by R. M. Dale of Qu'Appelle, Sask. If the colt starts Mr. Dale will be the first resident of Canada to try his luck for the prize and the other he will have the well wishes of his fellow-Canadians.

Not Able to Judge.

"Been abroad, I hear." "Yep." "I understand that living is very cheap in every country in Europe." "Can't say. We only hit the high places."

Upon reading the petition of S. G. Baker and upwards of twenty others freeholders of the County of Annapolis praying for the appointing of a committee to define that part of the road that is now in use leading from the Allen Settlement to the New Canada Road in Torbrook East.

It was ordered that Messrs. McGinty and Whitman be heard in reference to the same.

Messrs. McGinty and Whitman were then heard.

It was ordered that the prayer of said petition be granted and that J. B. Whitman, Bridgetown, T. M. Man-joe, Kingston Village and Fred Randall of South Farmington be the Committee appointed to define said road.

Upon reading the report of Wm. C. Healey and Bernard Saunders in re change in road district No. 7, Ward No. 10.

It was ordered that Mr. G. W. Shipton be heard in reference to this matter.

Mr. Shipton was then heard. It was ordered that the report as read be received and adopted.

Following is the report:—
Mr. Warden and Councillors of the Municipality of Annapolis:—

We, your Committee to define the boundaries of road section No. 7, in Ward 10, beg leave to submit the following report:—

We made careful inquiry of all or many of the oldest inhabitants of this place also searched any public records we could find and got all the information we could and defined the road section to the interest of all concerned.

We commenced at the public highway leading from Bridgetown to Annapolis at near Col. George Leclair's or the Saunders' lane so called following the Saunders lane road to Mr. DeLaney's west barn thence south westerly along the old public road now travelled until we came to Mr. Fred Tupper's land thence following the old public road westerly to Mr. G. W. Shipton's farm, making the south boundary along the new wire fence, recently erected, and the old stone wall across Mr. Tupper's land, the road to be two rods wide from here to the road leading to the Saunders wharf and from here to the main post road to be three rods wide.

From all the information we secured we learn this was an old public road laid out years ago and we would advise the Council to keep this road open to the public this will give Messrs. Shipton and Tupper a good right of way easterly to the main post road and they both as marsh owners have a right of way out across the marsh south through the Mead lane, as their lane is open to all marsh owners subject to gates and bars. This should satisfy Messrs. Shipton and Tupper. Now we were asked by Mr. Shipton to also define another road around the marsh as seen by plan annexed. This we declined to do as this road would do no party any good and be a great damage to the marsh owners, running about one half mile or more through good dyke marsh, and of no benefit to any one.

There are some doubts as to whether this is public road; there has been several lawsuits over the same by Messrs. Pratt and Henry and John Bartlett, which cost thousands of dollars, but no decision was ever reached.

We do not think the Municipality wants to contend any lawsuits to prove this road. If the parties asking it want to contest this matter it is open to them to do so.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. C. HEALEY
BERNARD SAUNDERS

The short piece of Rail road is being rapidly pushed forward by the contractors and a number of our local men and boys are employed. The private homes near the works are getting pretty well filled up with boarders, though changes are good for several yet and quite a number more men will be needed.

THE ROCKY ROAD.

A man's life is full of crosses and temptations.

He comes into this world without his consent and goes out against his will, and the trip between the two is exceedingly rocky.

The rule of continence is one of the features of the trip.

When he is little the big girls kiss him and when he is grown up the little girls kiss him.

If he is poor he is a bad manager; if he is rich, he is dishonest.

If he needs credit he can't get it; if he is prosperous everyone wants to do him a favor.

If he dies young, there was a great place for him, and he is no good to his country.

If he doesn't give to charity, he is a stingy cuss—if he does it's for show.

If he is actively religious, he is a hypocrite; if he takes no interest in religion he is a hardened sinner.

If he gives affection he is a soft specimen—if he cares for no one, he is cold blooded.

If he dies young, there was a great future before him.

If he lives to an old age, he has missed his calling.

The road is rocky, but man loves to travel it.

A number of our boys will probably run in the five-mile Marathon race, in Digby on Dominion Day.

The strawberry blossoms have appeared, the earliest on record. Ripe strawberries should be on sale much sooner than usual. If they ripen too soon, they will be too early for the tourist market, and accordingly the price would run considerably lower.

Several members of Home Division including Squire Wilson, W. B. Snow, Elmer Weir, Miss Lambertson, Mrs. John Smith, William Woodman, Oran Woodman and Reginald Gillatt, paid a fraternal visit to Hope Division, Hill Grove, last Friday night. Forbes Digby was the name given to Mrs. Mason's baby boy, who was christened in the Methodist church by Rev. Mr. Glendening.

The metallic sheathing recently imported by Mr. A. H. Weir for the Baptist church vestry now adorns the walls, and it has improved the appearance of the vestry very much.

Squire Potter was called upon by his friends April 23rd and congratulated on having reached the 90th anniversary of his birth in such excellent condition, mentally and physically. He attends to his post office duties with the same vigor that has always marked his activities, carrying the mail to and from the station himself the distance for the round trip being a mile and a half. He has held the position of Postmaster here for fifty-three years, which makes him the oldest postmaster from point of service in the Dominion of Canada. It is the wish of his friends that he may reach the century mark in full possession of his health and faculties and still perform his duties as Postmaster. He bought a second hand baby carriage lately to carry his mail in, and the wheeling of this has renewed his youth already.

Dampton.

Mrs. William Foster has recently received the sad news that her sister, Mrs. Annie L. Southward, wife of George A. Southward, died at her home, Boston, on April 26th. Mrs. Southward was the daughter of John and Sarah Taylor of Arlington. Mr. Southward and wife were visiting here last fall and purchased a farm at Arlington. Having been in the dry goods business, farming was not suited to his taste, and Mrs. Southward's health being somewhat improved, they returned to Boston about Christmas.

Mr. Dodwell, Royal Engineer, was here last week to arrange the building of a block in our breakwater. Work will begin soon.

Long Sessions of Parliament.

Long sessions of Parliament are becoming an evil in Canada, and despite the months of talk business is not advanced. The insurance bill is an example. For three seasons it has been on the Parliamentary program and is still before the Senate. The Banking Act is also due for its decennial revision this session, but from present indications it, too, will be among those matters of business relegated to another session.—London Free Press.

One Reason Why.

Combines and scores of other great public curses exist in this country because we have in Canada millions of people who are partly mad, and who are frequently led by unscrupulous men.—Winnipeg Tribune.

For Good Cause.

It is said that the United States are unwilling to impose their maximum tariff upon Canada. They have another reason to be so.—Halifax Herald.

FAME.

A poppy sneers from her dark, dark hair.
A braggart poppy, with reckless air.
She dances, swaying the crimson bloom,
Lethal odors invade the room.
The music swells in a heavenly strain,
I smile at sorrow, I fast at pain,
And say: "To-morrow the Maid Di-vine
Will have the tale of this love of mine."
And as I dream of a future fair,
The Poppy-maid, with the dark, dark hair,
Another Queen of the Theban Nile,
Turns languorous, with a melting smile
And bends on me such a loving glance
Inviting, passionate, Speed the dance.
Sing, viola, sing ye a cadence rare,
I go to the maid with the dark, dark hair!

She beckons. Ah, such a soft, brown eye!
Her bosom swells with a loving sigh.
I see the poppy so boldly red,
A martian star on her graceful head.
I speak, press onward to grasp her hand.
She starts. Ah, God, could I understand
That glance so chill, that majestic air
Of the Poppy-maid with the dark, dark hair!
—J. Edgar Middleton, in The Canadian Magazine.

TOLD OF BONAR LAW.

Canadian in British Commons is a Man of Ready Wit.

Probably more good stories are told of Mr. Bonar Law than of any of the politicians of first rank on either side of the British House of Commons, says a writer in M.A.P.

At the time of the last General Election Mr. Bonar Law was speaking in Glasgow and happened to refer to the attitude Mr. Balfour then took on the fiscal question. He pointed out that the "English people love compromise," and instanced the course taken by Henry VIII. at the time of the Reformation.

Whereupon the following question was handed up to be answered: "Is the candidate aware that Mr. Balfour is a bachelor and that Henry VIII. was much the reverse?"

"The candidate," he said, "but possibly Mr. Balfour might not be a bachelor if he could be sure of getting rid of his wives as easily as Henry VIII."

As a platform orator Mr. Law is undoubtedly one of the best half dozen speakers in Britain to-day. In appearance he is a spare, upright man of average height, with reddish brown hair, a moustache, and kind eyes.

Although he is a Scotsman by parentage, he was born in New Brunswick, Canada, in the year 1858, the son of Rev. James Law, Presbyterian minister in that province, and of Eliza, daughter of the late Mr. William Kison, an iron merchant of Glasgow.

His boyhood until the age of twelve was spent in Canada; and this partly accounts for the keen interest he takes in all that makes for the welfare of the Dominion. At twelve he went to Glasgow, presently to attend the commercial section of the High School, being destined for commerce.

Of this stage of his career, Mr. Bonar has himself gives an interesting note. "As a boy in the High School I remember being told by one of the masters: 'You have every kind of sense except common sense—a character sketch which I hope you could be reversed with more truth.'"

Premier Robin's Bowling Boy.

All Manitoba is titillated over the funny mistakes which have been made by all the number of eastern papers in confusing Premier Robin with his youngest son, George, in imagining that the latter had been on a bowling trip east. George, or as he is better known in Winnipeg, "Jake," who is a reporter—and a good one—on the staff of The Winnipeg Telegram, is an enthusiastic bowler. He is a member of the Winnipeg Wanderers, one of the teams which made the trip recently to the big Detroit tournament and played at a number of other points including Hamilton and London.

At the Forest City an enterprising member of the visiting team and sprung a sensation which occupied the day before the match by announcing that "Twenty-seven Winnipeg bowlers, including Premier Robin will bowl against the locals." Just what was said when the reporters met the train and sought an interview with the Premier is not on record.

As a matter of fact, the Premier is at present at Hot Springs for his health and is not even able to attend the Legislature which is now in session, let alone bowl.

ZAM-BUK IN 3 ACCIDENTS

It would seem that Zam-Buk, the famous healing balm we hear so highly spoken of everywhere, is particularly useful in the family circle. A report sent by Mrs. E. Davey, 786 Ellice Ave., Winnipeg, will illustrate this. She says: "My little boy of three, while playing, fell from a verandah to the ground, cutting his forehead badly. Instead of calling a doctor who would undoubtedly have put in a number of stitches, I bathed the wound well, and applied Zam-Buk. The little fellow, although suffering keenly, soon had relief from his pain in the course of three weeks by applying Zam-Buk daily, the wound in his forehead was nicely healed.

"Since then I have also used Zam-Buk for a boil which came on my cheek and which proved very painful and looked unsightly. Zam-Buk soon drew the boil to a head and it then quickly banished it.

"Another time my baby was scalded on her left thigh and calf of leg with boiling water. This was a severe scald and the child suffered cruelly, screaming from pain. Directly it was done I thought to use Zam-Buk, as we had a box in the house, and spreading some on lint I wrapped up the baby's limb. Next morning she rested much easier and I applied a fresh bandage with Zam-Buk. I kept this treatment up daily and was rewarded by seeing a great improvement each time I dressed the wound. In a very short space of time the scalds were all nicely healed.

"I cannot recommend this wonderful healing preparation too highly for family use, and I have such great faith in its healing powers that my house is never without a box."

For all skin-injuries and diseases, piles, eczema, salt rheum and face sores Zam-Buk is absolutely unequalled. 50c. box all druggists and stores or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse all substitutes.

HYSLOP BICYCLES

Bicycles are rapidly coming back into popular favor, the demand this year being five times what it was five years ago. We have planned for it in two ways—by getting the very best English wheel we can for popular selling, and by saving to our customers all intermediate profits by filling orders direct by mail instead of through agents. In this way we can offer and give better satisfaction all round. The quality of the wheels is all right—only the best materials used and only skilled mechanics employed in construction. The equipment is right up-to-date and the machines throughout are such as we can thoroughly recommend. We sell automobiles as well as bicycles and our plan is to make wheels serve as a good advertisement to the entire business. Send for illustrated folder.

$50 Wheels for $25
