DOMINION DAY OPEN-AIR HORSE PARADE

OPEN AIR HORSE PARADE WAS BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Ten Thousand Citizens Witnessed Start in Ideal Weather—Record Entry List in Fifty Classes—Mayor Presented Prizes.

Toronto's 13th annual Dominion Day Open Air Horse Parade and Show was held yesterday morning. It was a great success from every viewpoint. The weather conditions being perfect, the list of entries very large and the throng of spectators on hand to witness the start of the parade from Queen's Park, numbering well over ten thousand. Prominent officers of the Horse Parade Association declared yesterday's show "the very best yet held."

The exhibitors assembled the nearly thousand horses between 8 and 9 o'clock and the judges had gone over them by 10.30. The official catalog showed 55 classes. The parade route was Hoskin avenue, St. George street, Beverley street, Queen street and University avenue. As the parade, headed by the 48th Highlanders, on the return re-entered Queen's Park, Mayor Church presented the prizes. "Gripping" describes many of the illustrations which will appear in the Art Section of this week's Sunday World. Incidents of the war are vividly portrayed, and the multitude of pictures tell the story of happenings in the war zone better than columns of reading. A half-page drawing by The Sunday World's special artist depicts the tense moment just before the second battle of Ypres, when the Canadian division quietly fell in perfect order, while the roads were literally swarmed with refugees. ANOTHER HUN LIE IS READILY NAILED

Tale of "Poisonous American Shells" is Merely Work of Fiction

U. S. SUPPLY NONE

France Has Bought No Explosives There Since War Began

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Flat contradiction of the claim that American shells have been used to a large extent by the French in the French Embassy, it follows: "Statements have appeared in the press from time to time, describing the use by the French of American shells and killing of German soldiers by such ammunition, said to be vastly more effective than that made in France. It has been added of late that the mortars used by the French have been considerably increased because the French were using 'poisonous American shells' made by a certain company in Cleveland, Ohio, in such a way that, in many cases even slight wounds resulted in terrible infection, causing quick death. "Prince's Delusion. "One of the German Princes was asked 'What was the percentage shot by the French in the great drive north of Arras, in the course of which the French captured the labyrinth and some other important positions? His royal highness vouchsafed the opinion that it is rather difficult to estimate this accurately,' but he thought that at least fifty per cent. were American shells. "The commission which investigated the reports of German atrocities, shipped without American ammunition. "In view of such frequently repeated assertions, it cannot be amiss to state once for all that France has bought no shells of any sort in the United States since the beginning of the war."

TO LIMIT IMPORTS TO NETHERLANDS

Dutch Overseas Trust Negotiates With British Government Over Shipments

TO CUT OFF GERMANY

Americans Will Not Be Allowed to Accumulate Goods in Holland

LONDON, July 1.—A representative of the Netherlands Overseas Trust is here for the purpose of negotiating an arrangement with the British Government providing for the limiting of imports by Holland to an amount necessary for the normal consumption. The agreement contemplates regulations which will prevent accumulations that might tempt the ultimate consignees of the goods to re-export them to Germany. The British Government is in possession of evidence that importers wish to bring into Holland large stocks of goods, some of them in contemplation of the advantage of having the goods there when peace is declared, while others apparently are destined for running the blockade into Germany. Since a virtual blockade of American exports to Holland already exists the only effect the proposed new measure will have on American exporters will be to give them more definite information relating to the amounts they can ship.

HERE'S THE NEWEST SWEATER

You May Select Striped Designs
in All Materials

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW

FASHION always has some novelty "up her sleeve" with which she lures her devotees to follow in her train. The summer offers a wider scope to display her originality, for the call of the out-doors is so strong that she must provide the sports-girl with smart attire which offers variety as well as service.

One of the most practical of winter-weather garments is the sweater. It is handy to slip on over the thin lingerie frock, when the evenings are cool, or to wear with the linen skirt and tailored blouse when boating, playing golf, driving a motor car or on the cross-country "bike."

There is a fascinating array of smart silk, shetland or hand-crocheted woolen sweaters in the shops, and they are to be had in plain colors or in two or three tone combinations.

The striped designs in combinations of red and white, blue and white, violet and white, yellow and white, green and white, and black and white are the favored ones, and if you are to be strictly up-to-date you must invest in a striped blue and white silk sweater such as the one pictured here.

The most striking feature is that it slips on over the head, instead of buttoning in the conventional manner. Two frog fastenings serve to close it snugly about the neck and the belt and turned-back cuffs are of plain blue.

The shoulders are extended far over the arms and the sleeves are comfortably wide. It is a smart looking—reaching below the hip-line and is roomy enough not to have the tight appearance of last year's sweaters.

A manish Panama hat in the fashionable combination of blue and white, is worn with the sweater to complete this stunning outfit for sports-wear.

Wanted—An Inn Where "I May Take Mine Ease"

By WINIFRED BLACK

VACATION is coming. You can see it in the face of the girl at the ribbon counter. You can read it in the eyes of the woman in the embroidery department. And if you listen real hard you can hear it in the whisper between the man at the gingham and the chap who's come up for a minute from the hardware and household furnishings.

Where are you going to take yours when it comes? Up in the mountains, down at the seashore, out on a farm? Will you canoe or tramp or drive a camp wagon or motor, or will you camp out some-where where the shade's good and the water is plenty? One thing I don't believe you will do, and that is go to a big hotel, as your mother did when she went on her honeymoon. That sort of thing is out of fashion, at last.

Isn't it odd how fashions change? Twenty years ago—yes, even 15 years back—the big summer hotel was the thing. You saved and scrimped and plotted and planned for months, and then, when July came, you and July went away somewhere to get acquainted, on the piazza of an enormous rabbit hutch, with all the other rabbits scurrying through the corridors and giggling over the transoms and being afraid to turn over in bed for fear grandpa rabbit in the next room might be asleep or grandma rabbit across the hall wouldn't want to be awakened.

The "Summer Man." You baled in the little pen that wouldn't make a kennel for a good-sized dog, and called it a bedroom. You washed from a wash bowl that wasn't big enough for a doll. You dressed up for breakfast and you dressed for luncheon and you dressed for dinner, and the little inn just at the end of the road and a new man arrived, you dressed for the hop.

And the new man had to divide every dance with four different girls or prove that he was no gentleman. The new man was apt not to be a man at all, but a boy not yet out of college, or else some poor, old, doddering grandpa escaped from grandma and the girls for a week or so, and making himself out to be a regular rascal among the ladies for a few minutes.

Real men wouldn't come to the summer hotel, not unless they were bridegrooms, and no bridegroom counts to anybody but the bride. Real men went hunting up in the North woods, or fishing out West, or sailing on the deep blue sea. Or they took tramping trips or they rode bicycles from where to whether in so many days, so many miles a day. Or they bought canoes and helped carry them over the rocks and came home and told amazing stories about the Big Woods and the things they saw and did there.

And the women were lonely and miserable and bored to death. Then came the automobile. When that arrived everything was entirely different. The automobile has not only changed the family life of America, but it has changed the very face of nature. The big hotels are empty, the seaside "resorts" are deserted. Now it's the roadhouse and the open road, the little inn just at the turning and the place beyond the hill, where the farmer and his wife will keep you all night, if you telephone ahead from the last town.

A Real Host. And now, for mine host—we need him in America. We need him and his good wife, the hostess. No, a proprietor won't do, and neither will a clerk. Even the most bed-diamonded barkeeper is not enough.

We want some old-fashioned inns with some old-fashioned innkeepers and an innkeeper's wife, who helps with the cooking and is proud of it. You find inns everywhere in the world except in America. And, oh, what a difference there is between an inn and a hotel! An inn belongs to you while you're living there. When you live in a hotel you belong to the hotel, and there's a great difference.

What would you give to find a real inn at the end of the day's road this vacation? An inn with an old-fashioned sign, "Entertainment for Man and Beast." An inn with a quaint name, "The Three Kings" or "The Four Golden Pheasants." An inn with a cheery fire and a cozy sitting room, where you can draw your table close to the leaping blaze. An inn with a man at the head of it who knows his business, and a woman helping him who knows her business, and who minds it?

With breakfast when you want it, and what you want for breakfast? With dinner at your own hour and your own things specially cooked? With tea when you're tired, coffee when you feel like it, things served in your room if you want them, no fuss, no feathers, no fashion, no peacock alley, just quiet and comfort and good cheer and willing service? Who'll open a real inn, somewhere in America, and watch us all flock to the comfort of it?

July is here, sweet July, fair July, free July. Let's find the open country and July together. And the elbow of the road let's find an unpretending little inn, where we can rest, when July is just a trifle over friendly.

Three Minute Journeys
By Temple Manning
WHERE BULLS ARE BRED FOR THE BULL-FIGHTS.

ONLY a few miles from the great seaport of Marseilles, France, lies a stretch of shore that glitters in the sunlight like a Christmas card. It is due to the salt that clusters on every blade of marsh grass and covers the ground until it is nearly white. This country is called the Camargue. Here there are thousands of French mutations, wild white horses and wild bulls, bred for the bull fights. Left to roam the Camargue at will, these animals are only captured when wanted. The bulls are guarded in a more or less close way, by "gardians," who drive them to and fro across the lands by means of simple traditions. Indeed, so apt are these "gardians" that they handle even the fiercest bulls with the utmost coolness and ease.

In the Camargue. Nevertheless, when the bulls are turned loose in the bull rings of Spain and France, these seemingly subdued creatures exhibit a ferocity that makes them prizes for the games. Once a year in the latter part of May the towns bordering the Camargue hold "Etrades" or bull-baiting contests. The bulls are led through the streets, and any one who dares may try to seize and throw one. Much merriment is caused by the ridiculous situations in which the would-be baiters sometimes find themselves when the bulls chase them to cover.

Exercise After Bathing Valuable Aid to Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI
Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

NOW that it is time to migrate to the country, mountain or shore to enjoy the varied pleasures of vacation days, of which one of the most popular and beneficial is swimming, I am going to give you a few practical hints about exercising after you have had your plunge.

There is nothing more invigorating than swimming and there should always be a glowing reaction when you come from the water. If this is missing it is usually a sign that the bath has either been of too long duration or that your circulation needs stimulation. For the average person a half-hour is quite long enough to remain in the water, but others may safely enjoy swimming for an hour or more.

You cannot be too careful, when coming from the water, to prevent the body from being chilled. Begin immediately to exercise and have a sweater handy to throw over the shoulders. If you are at the shore and there is sunshine you may lie upon the sand until dry, but if the day is cloudy or you are summing in the mountains you should wear a sweater and walk briskly or run until the blood courses through your veins, then go to the hotel or bath-house stand under the shower, rub yourself vigorously with a bath-towel and dress at once.

If the day is warm and you feel a slight chilliness, when emerging from the water, begin a series of mild exercises which will promote circulation. I once saw a group, composed of young and older people, sitting on the same beach, stand under the shower, and what I considered a novel and sensible manner. They were in a row, with their knees partly drawn up while their arms moved in perfect union in the pantomime of rowing. One of their number was the "coachman" and when he called a mournful "Pull," in owl-like tones, the rowers bent forward and then completed the stroke with a backward pull of the arm, shoulder, chest and abdominal muscles, while the muscles of the legs were held taut to withstand the imaginary resistance of the

Do not make the mistake of bathing too soon after eating, for all sorts of bad effects may be derived from the indigestion and its resultant muddy complexion is one of them. Some medical authorities insist that three hours should elapse between the meal and the bath. Never allow the time to be less than two hours.

When exercising always introduce the element of fun by having others exercise with you. If one is to derive mental or physical benefits from anything it must be enjoyed. Be happy in all things—even exercising—and you will soon have an inexhaustible supply of health, which also means beauty. Few of us comprehend the magic power of joy.

Let of all, I ask you not to take your daily swim without first resolving to do everything which will help you gain the best results from it. You will want to return to the more conventional rounds of town-life well stocked with strength, vitality and good spirits. By properly bathing and exercising you are sure to acquire all of these.

Secrets of Health and Happiness
Boiling Water Treatment Often Eliminates Goitres

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University)

PERHAPS Dr. John A. Wyeth, surgeon-in-chief of the New York Polytechnic Medical School and Hospital, when he proposed boiling water for goitres, felt as Hotspur did in "Henry IV."

"The purpose you undertake is dangerous; why, that's certain, 'tis dangerous to take a cold, to sleep, to drink; but I tell you, my lord fool, out of this nettles danger, we pluck this flower, safety."

The method proposed has to do with the syringing of boiling hot water—under an anaesthetic—into blood tumor, cysts of the thyroid gland and other soft tumors. Not only Dr. Wyeth, but Dr. Porter of Fort Wayne, Dr. Reder of St. Louis and other surgeons have triumphantly substituted the steaming with sterilized water for the knife, in a few selected tumors.

When the gland in the forefront of the neck becomes overly aggressive, various mental, emotional and physical manifestations assert themselves. These may be comparatively harmless or far more serious in their results. Anxiety, worry, trembling, palpitation of the heart, popping eyes and profuse sweats are only a few of these. Often the thyroid gland becomes simultaneously large. It is then called a goitre.

Most young women have goitres, small or large. Nine times in ten it is better to leave them severely alone. If they reach a grade great enough to demand interference by a surgeon of discretion this new hot water syringing is at times carried out.

The skin and neighborhood to be syringed is made painless with one-half of one per cent novocaine solution. The steel syringe is taken from a cauldron of boiling water, filled and inserted into the goitre or other tumor.

All the skin is protected with sterilized towels, except the selected point for the pin prick of the syringe needle.

The flesh, to be sure, is made aseptic with iodine, alcohol and other aids to disinfection. Ten to 20 drops each are injected in three or four spots. This is repeated in a week or two until the tumor disappears.

One victim of a large goitre received five such treatments at two weeks intervals, and at the end of three months the goitre was gone.

Prof. Wyeth has used this method for 15 years, and only now gives it wide publicity. He is of the opinion that the majority of simple, uncomplicated goitres can be successfully treated in this fashion.

Moles, birthmarks, strawberry marks and a few selected skin tumors of the "angioma" or blood-tumor sort are at times wholly eliminated with a very small scar by this method.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care this office.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE
Author of the new novel, "Plane of the Green," priced at $10.00 by Ida M. Farrell and G. M. McCue as judges.

Penalties of Progress. It does look wonderful, Peter," said Mary, when I came home one evening and she met me at the gate. "I'm a very good housewife, but I don't contain all the plant food elements you buy by the plants."

LEONA DALRYMPLE
I was in a glow of good will, for the freshly painted little house had aroused in me a thrill of optimism and happiness. Life was really very good. I slipped my arm around Mary's shoulder and together we went into the house.

The First Letter. A letter lay upon the mantel. I picked it up with the frown that any normal man assumes over a communication from the tax inspector.

"Well," I exclaimed. "Well, by George, this is the limit!"

"What is it?" asked Mary, slipping her arm within mine.

"Our taxes have been raised!"

"Rained!" Mary viewed me in wide-eyed despair. "Why?"

"I suppose," I said bitterly, "that after the house was fixed over it looked so well its taxable value went up immediately. That comes of being a householder!"

I stared in disgust at the letter. Well, there was always something new to perplex a married man. Life wasn't so very good, after all. "What with taxes and paint bills, and—"

Cutting the Cost of Ice in Summer.

THE ice man failed to appear on the scene for two days, and after I had waited patiently with hope beating high for several hours I discovered that it was too late in the day to be able to get ice from any other dealer. The refrigerator was absolutely empty of a bit of ice, and I was at my wit's end wondering what to do to prevent the food from spoiling. Finally I remembered that in the country we used the "water treatment," because ice was more or less of a rarity.

So I wrapped a wet cloth around my jars of milk, keeping the ends of the cloth in a pan of water so the whole cloth would be kept moist all day long. I also wrapped a wet cloth around the crock of butter, tied my radishes in a bunch and hung them up so their roots touched water, and kept the bunches of lettuce so the bottom touched water lightly, and covered their heads with paraffin paper.

But I've done a little experimenting the last few days and find that what I hitherto had considered great economy in the way I purchased ice is really an extravagance. Getting a small piece of ice every single day was a thrifty habit, I thought, because it kept some ice on hand during the day and yet not an unnecessarily large quantity ever. But now I find that getting a large piece so large that it completely fills the ice chamber—is by far a better and not more expensive way. The foods kept at the proper temperature, and the one large piece lasts longer than two small pieces that keep the ice chamber half empty most of the time.

It's the cold air in the ice chamber which falls down—as cold air always does—and keeps the foods in the storage chamber underneath cold. But if there is only a small amount of ice the ice chamber really is not kept chilled sufficiently. Consequently the temperature keeps rising instead of falling lower, and there is little benefit in having the ice. Circulation of air is poor, whereas the ice in the chamber gets low and, of course, the refrigeration is proportionately poor.

The paraffin paper ice cover over the ice keeps it a little longer. Another great absorber of ice is the placing of any foods in the storage chamber open. No matter how carefully I watch and am sure to cover all cooked foods and milk and butter, sometimes I fear that I have carelessly slipped in some food that I didn't seem able to cover, but never again! Vegetables that have to be put on ice can be wrapped in cloths, sometimes damp, and I've enough heavy crockery to contain all the food we might ever have provisioned ourselves with.

Another help to keeping foods properly chilled is to adopt the following plan just before the refrigerator is to be refilled. All the food is removed from the refrigerator and the refrigerator itself is thoroughly cleaned, the ice chamber washed, and a solution of washing soda poured down the pipes. Then the ice chamber is refilled and all doors of the refrigerator are closed and the ice left for six hours. Then food is placed in the provision chamber, which by that time is perfectly chilled.

Of course, this process must be prepared for. This kind of weekly refrigerator cleaning is done on the day when there aren't many foods which would spoil by being left without ice for six hours.

Advice to Girls
SWEET SIXTEEN: Is the boy friend who "drinks" as young as you? It is rather discouraging to think of a man not yet 20 breaking the heart of a girl who loves him by getting intoxicated. Many men who have begun so early in life selfishly to indulge their baser natures have awakened to the hideousness of it all, and at the age where they could really be of service to the community they have come out of their state of evil selfishness and been valuable men. Quite as many more have, before they were 30, shown themselves to be worse than useless. Think seriously of this boy's nature. If you can see the spark of manhood hidden away in all this disgust, selfish indulgence tell him plainly that if he wants to brace up and amount to something you will wait for him; otherwise you will seek other company. If you cannot, in all honesty, see that spark cut him out of your life as you would an ugly sore, and if you need encouragement to do this, look about you and see for yourself what happens in the household where "drink" is a monster always hiding ready to spring out and crush every atom of happiness.

A few times I have taken her to the parks, to church and other places.

Artillery Duel Along Ridge of Carnic Alps Also Unfavorable to Austrians

"VOLUNTEER ORGANIST"—GRAND.

The Phillips-Shaw Company will revive W. B. Gray's popular stage story, "The Volunteer Organist," at the Grand Opera House next week. It is a New England drama, introducing the present day in many respects.

The play is founded on the famous song of the same name and the author, who writes in an unusually interesting story, which lends itself admirably to stage purposes. It is one of the best plays that have received the endorsement of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts.

For the production a special scenic equipment has been provided, and the various characters are well cast. The regular actors are well cast. The regular actors are well cast.

BURLESQUERS AT HIPPODROME.

Martin and Maximilian, the two burlesque magicians who come to the Hippodrome as the headline attraction next week, do not pretend other than what they are—jokers. They take the greatest feasts of the stage's cleverest magicians and they present them according to their own ideas.

"The American Girl," who comes to the Hippodrome as the special feature, has a number of novel and creditable sketches with excellent effect. The Millard Brothers have a cycling act that is said to be the best in the city.

Efficiency Vacation. In most of our large concerns, which are taking their usual holidays, which means that the office has to be run short-handed during this entire time, away by the end of the season work is usually in bad shape for this reason and also for the reason that more or less of the work has been attended to by people who were not familiar with it.

A new plan is being tried this year by the Ontario Telephone Company, which promises to be quite an improvement on the old method. Under this plan practically all factory and office employees will have a two weeks' vacation at the same time. Sufficient help, however, will be in office and shipping work, and the necessary work.

All the customers, however, have been notified to kindly anticipate their requirements, and it is believed that the co-operation of all concerned in the new plan of holidays will be an entire success.

TORONTO, OUT AND ABOUT, YESTERDAY

All Resorts Favored by Record-Breaking Crowds on Season's Best Holiday

LEAVE ON VACATION

Hanlan's Point, Beach and Humber Swarmed With Pleasure-Seekers

Old Sol smiled benignly on Canada's forty-eighth Dominion Day yesterday and everybody was happy. Being practically the first holiday this season of weather fine enough to enjoy outdoor sports to the fullest, the parks, athletic fields and aquatic events were all favored by record-breaking crowds.

Steamship and railway traffic taxed the resources of the various transportation companies to handle, largely on account of the fact that Thursday marked the beginning of the vacation season and the beginning of the annual exodus to Muskoka and other summer resorts.

In town, the open-air horse parade was the centre of attraction in the morning. More than one thousand horses figured in the annual turnout of Toronto's free horse show, and it was a splendid spectacle, worthy of the pride and care which local business concerns take in maintaining a high standard. Crowds lined the route of the parade and the scene at the judges' stand in Queen's Park was quite impressive.

Hanlan's Point, Scarborough Beach and the Humber were simply swamped with crowds of pleasure seekers. Practically all records for ferry and street car traffic were broken despite war conditions. The ferries at Hanlan attracted several heavy train loads of Torontonians anxious to try their fortunes with the book makers.

The fourteenth annual picnic of the Sons of England Benevolent Society attracted 4000 people to Exhibition Park where athletic games, vaudeville and a concert by the Queen's Own Band were enjoyed.

It is estimated that at least 200,000 people or practically half of the city's population indulged in some of the many forms of holiday recreation which were afforded yesterday.

The City Playgrounds' first mid-summer athletic meet, held at Mosley Park yesterday afternoon and was an unqualified success in every respect. The entries, both for the boys' and girls' events, were very large and the times were very creditable to the boys' and girls' high jump brought out a great deal of enthusiasm among Kaiser, Carlton and Park.

It was a very exciting finish. Miss Anni Miller, 125 St. George street, won in a creditable manner. St. Andrew's won the playground championship with a total of 38 points, Oiler second with 26. East Riverdale third with 16, Moss Park fourth with 22, Carlton fifth with 28, McCormick sixth with 28 and Elizabeth seventh with 22.

YOU'RE too much of a business man not to "see through" the type of some Clothiers' advertisements that give you a preposterous reason for value-giving.

WE think too much of your shrewdness to try and convince you by such methods. We give great values because we know how to buy, and where to buy, and when to buy.

AND after we buy we mark our stocks at a fair profit---fair to you and fair to us. That's why our summer clothes at $15 (which, by the way, are taking splendidly) are worth a lot more than they're marked---they're bought right and sold right.

GOOD RACING AT CHATHAM CLOSING

All Direct Wins the Left-over Race---Fields Small---The Results

By a Staff Reporter. CHATHAM, Ont., July 1.---The closing day of the Chatham Driving Association circuit races saw the largest attendance of the month. The heavy storm of last night was hardly expected that there would be a chance to race, but Secretary Massey had his help early at work, and with the aid of automobiles and much work, it was in fair condition at 9 o'clock, when the first heat of the unfinished race was called, which was won by the favorite, Direct, by a wide margin. It was originally intended to have a free-for-all 2 1/2 mile race, but the Junior Champion, two-year-olds, 6 1/2 furlongs, was not in the race. The race was called, and these drivers, Gb Knowles, V. Fleming and V. Collins, did not respond. The judges told the starter to score the horses who came for the word, and after the race finished the three-named drivers $10 each for refusing to start. The free-for-all had to be declared off account of lack of entries. Both of the other races were featureless. Monarchial Lady won the 2 1/4 trot after losing the heat to Nats Prime. The time was slow, but the track was heavy. Texas Jim won the 2 1/4 classing in straight heats with Milton Hal fighting him every inch of the way. The association were unfortunate with weather conditions, which caused the track to be heavy. The fields were not large, but the racing was good. The summary: Third day, first race unfinished, 2:30 pace, purse $400. Direct, b.h., by Go Direct, Jas. Bell, Winnipeg. Man. (Gosd) 1 1 4 7. Birdie Welsh, b.m., by Alcyonum Boy, V. DIVIDEND NO. 100. Notice is hereby given that a Dividend at the rate of twelve per cent. (12 per cent.) per annum upon the paid-up Capital stock of this institution has been declared for the three months ending 31st July, 1915, and that the same will be payable at the head office and branches on and after Monday, the 2nd day of August next.

WANTED—Must be good... Sinking of Armenian Caused Some Uneasiness in Wall Street... C.P.R. AGAIN WEAKER... Europe is Still Selling American Securities, Particularly Bonds...

NEW YORK, July 1.—Features of special interest were altogether lacking in today's stock market, which bore the usual ante-holiday aspects in its duplicitous and irregularity. So far as outside developments were at all a factor, foreign conditions exercised an unfavorable influence, the sinking of the steamship Armenian, the past decade's movement in the relations between this country and Germany.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Estimates that the United States would harvest 5,000,000 bushels more in 1915 than was expected a month ago, had a restraining influence today on bullish sentiment regarding wheat. The outcome was an unsettled close at a shade off to % advance compared with last night. Corn gained 3/4 to 1/2 to 3/4 to 1/2 net, and oats 1/4 to 1/2. The finish in provisions varied from 5 cents off to an equal upturn.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards on Thursday were 40 carloads, comprising 362 cattle, 1325 hogs, 120 sheep and lambs, and 49 calves. The quality of the cattle offered was far generally speaking, was only common, and medium, with a very few good to choice mixed in with them.

Strawberries were shipped in small quantities yesterday morning, selling at $1.25 per box. Canadian cabbage, which was very scarce for a few days, is again coming in in quantities, selling at 65c to 75c per bushel basket.

HOSTAGES TO PREVENT CRUELTY

Sagacious Plan on Foot to Seize and Impound German Millionaires in England

German property owners in England, now at large, can confidently look for incarceration as well as confiscation of all property by the government, unless cruelty in the treatment of British prisoners of war by Germany stops instantly.

Such a course would immediately have a good effect on the Teuton Government for when Germany has direct knowledge by the government of her most opulent citizens are at the mercy of just British reprisals her mad lust for materialistic gain will undergo a cooling process.

Nor would this be an act contrary to the most rigid code, for while the Kaiser's exchequer has been soiled by numerous acts of dishonesty and disregard for the rights of his subjects, unsullied by any unfairness, even to the German citizen.
