GREAT GAPS ARE TORN IN THE DEFENCES OF WARSAW

SOVIET CAVALRY ON ENCIRCLING MOVEMENT—SITUATION IN ENGLAND GROWING MORE TENSE DAILY

"Very Dark Hour," Says London Times, While News Says Workers Will Strike if Britain Offers—Russia Will Withdraw if Allies Hold Off, is Statement by Lloyd George—Bolsheviki 40 Miles from Polish Capital.

(By the Associated Press.) Russian Bolsheviki attacks apparently have broken the Polish lines near the East Prussian frontier, and Soviet cavalry patrols have swept forward in a great encircling movement north of Warsaw.

In the centre of the Polish front the Soviet armies also seem to have torn a great gap in the defenses of Warsaw.

Przansyz, a city forty-one miles north of Warsaw, has been occupied by these advance guards of the Bolsheviki horde, which have passed on and are reported to be approaching Mlawa, and to the west, Czestochowa, to the southwest.

The loss of Przansyz is admitted in an official statement issued in Warsaw last night, and it would seem that the Soviet hordes are advancing almost without serious opposition.

London, Aug. 9.—Russia is ready to start withdrawal of her forces to the line stipulated in 1918 by the supreme council, providing Poland agrees to the armistice terms and if the Allies, particularly France, undertake not to advance and not to support any advance against Soviet Russia on any front, and to withdraw Wrangell's army from the Crimea, according to a statement issued by the Russian delegation in London yesterday.

This statement was immediately transmitted to Mr. Lloyd George, and later a new communication was received from Moscow.

London, Aug. 9.—There is a deep note of anxiety pervading comment in this morning's newspapers relative to the rejection by the Russian Soviet government of the request made by President Lloyd George for a ten day truce with Poland.

Regardless of the views adopted by different newspapers on the general question of Bolshevism and of the immediate relations between Russia and Poland, concern is reflected by all.

Renewal of war in Europe is generally considered a possibility, and is treated in gravest terms. It is not regarded as inevitable, but no one ventures to strike an optimistic note.

"A very dark hour," is the Times' editorial headline.

"It is war," asks the Daily News, and the Telegraph declares: "The situation holds the gravest peril which has menaced Europe since the Germans marched into Belgium."

The attitude of British workers is given much consideration by several journals.

The Daily News denounced the "incomprehensible" attitude of France to a settlement with Russia, and declares: "If the decision rested with Great Britain there would be peace with Russia in a fortnight."

In any case the newspaper is convinced workers of all ranks in Great Britain will refuse to lift a finger, and will strike, if so criminal an enterprise as war against Russia is attempted.

The Times and Morning Post charge that "Bolshevik sympathizers among British workers are acting on the basis of the Soviet Russia, and the Morning Post accuses them of helping to promote the civil war which Lenin, the Bolsheviki premier, recently prescribed.

This newspaper apparently believes the attitude of workers will compel the Allies to surrender to Bolshevism.

"The situation," it declares, "has been so contorted that the Allies will find themselves in a position where it is impossible to advance without disaster, or retreat without dishonor."

It may be humiliating for Great Britain to capitulate, but it is to be made impossible for the Allies to do so.

London, Aug. 9.—Warsaw will be evacuated by Polish government Sunday, according to Berlin dispatch to the Times under Saturday's date. Reports add that Polish government will retire to Cracow.

Premier Says "No."—Premier Witos in a statement to Polish newspapermen yesterday said the government would remain in Warsaw indefinitely.

Paris, Aug. 9.—Polish counter-attacks against the Bolsheviki have been successful, according to newspaper reports here.

Bolshevik Success Reported. London, Aug. 9.—Russian Bolsheviki troops have broken into the town of Skolow, about four miles east northeast of Warsaw, and have captured several points south of Brest-Litovsk, according to an official statement issued in Moscow yesterday and received here by wireless.

Malkin, a railroad junction on the Bug river, about four miles southeast of Ostrow, the Bolsheviki have beaten off fierce counter-attacks by the Poles, the statement says.

It adds that Soviet troops on the northern front are successfully advancing toward the Narw River.

In the direction of Sielice and Lukow the fighting continues with alternate success, the statement says.

On the southern front, Bolsheviki forces drenched along the Bug river on August 6, striking the Polish lines from Lodzaya to Karyenki village, advancing to the town of Vladimir-Volynsk and developing their advance south of that town.

CANADA'S PART IN EMPIRE'S POST WAR PROBLEMS

Interesting Address by English Journalist—Dominion Is Partner Now With Britain—'Should Have Left Russia Alone,' He Says.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—In the course of a brilliant address to the Canadian Club on Saturday Robert Donald, one of the English journalists attending the Imperial Press Conference, made lengthy reference to the post war problem of the British Empire and the part Canada is destined to play in the future of the empire.

Canada, he said, could no longer be described as a dependency of England, or as the child of the mother country. She was now promoted to partnership.

"We should have long since left Russia alone," he said. "We have wasted treasure that we should have used for the working out of our own salvation. It is this continual intervention that keeps anarchy alive. We feel that we have come out of the war with a handful of problems much too big for our statesmen to handle. All these problems are taking away our attention from matters at home that need immediate attention."

The state of Europe, he insisted, was worse than before the war. There is more race hatred, more antagonism and more jealousy than ever before. The peace treaty had destroyed the Austria Hungary monarchy and has grown up a universal system of state control.

"The first thing new Austria and New Poland did was to obtain new uniforms for their troops, and I am sorry to say that Poland is just as bad as the other countries."

COMING TO CANADA. Victoria, Aug. 9.—A plot believed to have been hatched by the Bolsheviki government to advance by general army headquarters, has been discovered in Warsaw, where several persons have been arrested and great quantities of arms and ammunition confiscated in the old Russian cathedral, which is situated just across the street from the army offices.

Foreign Legations Leave. Warsaw, Aug. 9.—All foreign legations in Warsaw left for Moscow last night on a special train.

IS QUIETER AT WEST FRANKFORT Twenty-Five Suspects Under Arrest on Riot Charges—The Denver Tie-up.

West Frankfort, Ills., Aug. 9.—More than twenty-five suspects are under arrest in connection with the rioting here. The situation continues to improve and last night there were no indications of a recurrence of the outbreaks which began early last week.

Millitiamen on duty, numbering about one thousand, however, will not be removed for several days. It was explained, as it is feared their early departure would be followed by fresh disorders.

At Denver. Denver, Colo., Aug. 9.—Striking trainmen of the Denver Tramway Company returned to work until company officials met their demands and they were allowed to resume their duties in a body and discharge the strike-breakers. The company has refused to treat with the union.

Still Looking For Coughlin Baby. Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—Search for the kidnapped Blakely Coughlin continued yesterday.

Along the Crimean front fighting is proceeding favorably to the Soviet army, the statement says.

45 Miles from Warsaw. Warsaw, Aug. 9. (By the Associated Press.)—Przansyz, a city about 41 miles directly north of Warsaw, has been captured by the Bolsheviki cavalry, which is fighting along the Prussian frontier, according to an official statement issued here today.

Right Hon. Brig-Gen. J. E. B. Seely, P. C. C. B. U. F. O., M. P., who commanded the Canadian Cavalry Brigade during the Great War and who is coming to Canada in about a month.

As Hiram Sees It

"Zeb Perkins sat me yesterday," said Mr. Hiram Horneham, "if the work of the Lord was a prosperer in my hands. Well, now Zeb says I don't know whether I broke even with you last week or not. How much, says I, 'did you gouge out of the neighbors since you seen you last?' You know, Zeb, he's as crooked as a ram's horn an' he thinks nobody knows it. But a feller can't go on for years makin' a grab here an' another one there without folks comparin' notes an' stalin' him up. Zeb has religion every Sunday. When I ask him that question he looked at me sort of pityin' like an' said I never did pay no heed to the messenger of the Lord, an' some day I'd wish I had. Says I, 'Zeb, if you're a messenger of the reg'lar ones must-a-gone on strike,—but I don't see no cre-de-nial,—no, sir. Then he said I belonged to a perverse an' stiff-necked generation, an' if I didn't repent I'd be cast into outer darkness. 'Well, Zeb,' says I, 'I callate I'll run agin you out there somewhere, provin' around me that I'm not a member of the church an' then water his milk till he get it back. They caught Zeb one time tryin' to sell boys in the market. The work of the Lord wasn't prosperin' in his hand that time. I don't wish the critter no harm,—but I pull no wool over my eyes. By Hen!"

CLOSE FINISH EXPECTED IN BOTH LEAGUES

Brooklyn Batting Hard for Lead in National—St. Louis Climbing—The Week's Play.

New York, Aug. 9.—An upheaval is due in both major league standings at the present rate of play of the leading teams. While the Brooklyn and Cincinnati Nationals, and the Cleveland and New York Americans are losing, the Chicago and Pittsburgh Nationals and Chicago Americans are proceeding at a pace that promises a battle royal in both leagues.

Brooklyn held on to first place in the National League yesterday only by admitting the first defeat Pittsburgh suffered in seven games. The Brooklyn twirlers were carried through by the heavy hitting of their team-mates in several contests last week.

Cincinnati failed to bat in the New York game, but succeeded in taking three games out of four from the tail end Philadelphia New York climbed back into third place yesterday defeating Chicago.

The Giants twirlers were invincible last week until Chicago batted 'em out of the box Saturday, breaking New York's winning streak of six games. Boston is also getting good pitching, but is handicapped by light batting. St. Louis was unable to turn its numerous hits into runs.

In the American League Cleveland was forced to call frequently on its two star boxmen, Bagby and Coveleskie, but the Indians won only half of their games.

Today the league leaders began a series with their eastern rival, New York. The Yankee sluggers could do little with the Chicago pitching, dropping three games out of four, and were held even by Detroit, including yesterday's shut-out.

Chicago found a more worthy opponent in Boston, winning by a one run margin Friday and breaking even on the series by winning yesterday.

St. Louis went into fourth place by out-playing Washington after splitting four games with Philadelphia.

MOVING TO SUBURBY. B. J. Quality, formerly of West St. John, and at one time assistant superintendent of the C. P. R. at McAdam, arrived in the city Saturday and will leave next Monday with his family for Sudbury, Ont., where he holds the position of assistant superintendent of the C. P. R.

FOUND AFTER TWO WEEKS' SEARCH

Man, Missing from Fort William, Crawls to Railway and Is Picked Up—Lived on Berries.

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 9.—David Kincaid, a returned soldier, who has been missing in the neighborhood of Loon Lake, ninety miles east of Port Arthur, was apparently living on berries and roots. He was taken to his home in Fort William.

The finding of Kincaid brings to a close one of the longest man hunts in this section of the country. Ever since his disappearance he has been scouring the woods from Port Arthur and Fort William, Indians, mounted police and returned soldiers have been searching the woods.

According to the story of the train crew, Kincaid crawled out to the track, being too weak to walk and was placed in the caboose of the freight. He was too weak to tell of his experiences.

BIG LIQUOR SEIZURE

$35,000 Worth Taken by Inspectors from Montreal Steamer on Way to Ontario Ports.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Ontario provincial license inspectors on Saturday removed from the Montreal steamer Samuel Marshall more than one thousand cases of American and Canadian whiskey and gin, valued at between $35,000 and $40,000.

The vessel, seized by the Canadian officials Saturday night at Cardinal, Ont., on a charge of violating the Canadian customs laws, yesterday was taken to Prescott, Ont.

It was en route from Montreal to Lake Ontario ports when it was held up. Its owners last night were arranging to furnish bonds for its release.

On Long Air Trip. Toronto, Aug. 9.—The gigantic hydroplane, fitted by private interests for a tour of northern Ontario and a part of Georgian Bay, left here Saturday afternoon.

Right Hon. Brig-Gen. J. E. B. Seely, P. C. C. B. U. F. O., M. P., who commanded the Canadian Cavalry Brigade during the Great War and who is coming to Canada in about a month.

STREET RAILWAY MATTERS ARE BEFORE COUNCIL

Question of Proper Bonding in Douglas Avenue Discussed - Paving Contract Awarded.

At a committee meeting of the common council this morning Commissioner Thornton brought up the matter of the work being done by the new New Brunswick Power Company. He maintained that they were not bonding all of the joints of the rails, and that they were using old fish plates. He read a report from the city's electrical engineer, Barry Wilson, explaining that unless this work was done properly the city would have trouble with their wires.

Engineer Hatfield said that they are not bonding the rails, and explained the method being used. He said he did not favor it and considered the heavy copper wire bonding the best. Regarding the fish plates, he said they were just putting back the stock that had been in use there. He asked if the city could not compel them to use new ones, or where permanent pavement was being laid. He also brought up the matter of the gas pipes in Douglas avenue, maintaining that it was in poor condition and pointed out that in event of permanent pavement being put there, any leakage from these pipes would disintegrate the asphalt.

Commissioner Prink explained that there was nothing in the act which authorized the city to compel the company to use new stock, but felt that the matter could be dealt with by the Utilities Commission, if necessary.

On motion of Commissioner Thornton the commissioner of public works was instructed to notify the New Brunswick Power and Telephone Companies that new pavement was to be laid in Douglas avenue and have them attend to all underground work as soon as possible.

A motion of Commissioner Prink that Frank Wade be given a contract to lay concrete blocks in Prince William street at $140 a yard, was passed. He had contracted for that line of work, as far as he knew. Commissioner Thornton said that the public works department were to do the work themselves and strongly favored contracts being let. He moved in amendment that public tenders be called. He was supported by Commissioner Bullock, but the amendment was lost and the original motion carried.

Mayor Schofield read a report from Engineer Hare regarding the work being done by the street railway at the corner of King Square and Charlotte street, after which the meeting adjourned until this afternoon when the matter of a level crossing in Douglas avenue will be considered.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

WEEK-END BILL ENDS TONIGHT

Popular Programme Can Be Enjoyed for Last Time This Evening at Opera House - New Acts Here Tomorrow.

The popular week-end bill at the Opera House terminates tonight, but there is still another opportunity for patrons to see and enjoy Harris and Halley, in their brilliant and ever eccentric dancing and comedy offering, also Delano and Pike in a feature dramatic, dancing and comedy offering, which has been making a big hit. There will also be three other acts and an episode of the motion picture serial "The Third Eye."

The new programme booked for tomorrow should prove interesting and popular. A feature of the new bill will be the showing of the big Vitaphone motion picture serial "The Silent Avenger," which is featuring William Duncan, and which cost $100,000 to film. The new dramatic acts will be as follows:—Billy Kewirk and Fayne Sisters, in a variety whirl of songs and dances; Jack McDermott, formerly of McDermott and Heagerty, in humorous songs and stories; O'Brien and Woods, in comedy songs and breezy chatter; Cordell, wizard of the piano accordion; Royal Sidneys, in a comedy cycling offering.

THE BULGARIAN TREATY IN EFFECT

Exchange of Ratifications Is Made Today.

Paris, Aug. 8.—The peace treaty with Bulgaria was made formally effective by the exchange of ratifications among the powers party to the pact, which occurred today.

The treaty was signed at Neuilly on November 27, 1919, and was ratified by the Bulgarian Soubraze, January 12 of this year.

NORTH END THEATRE
CHANGES HANDS
T. J. O'Rourke, proprietor of the Gaiety Theatre, Fairville, has purchased the business of the Palace Theatre, Main street, and taken a long lease of the premises from the Temple of Honor. Mr. O'Rourke is having the theatre remodelled and decorated, and when re-opened September 6 he promises a very attractive and cozy play house.

PARLIAMENT TO MEET JANUARY 10
Ottawa, Aug. 8.—(Special).—Premier Meighan's statement to Ontario referendum committee Saturday at noon that the next session of parliament would be called about January 10 has given a quietus to the hopes of those who thought a general election might be held.

BOARD OF HEALTH MATTERS
A number of people are being reported by the Board of Health for not having their premises cleaned and neglected to have their ashes removed. One man complained that he could not find anyone to haul his ashes away, that he was perfectly willing to pay for it, but that he could not find anyone to do the work.

TO INVESTIGATE THEFT.
Rev. W. D. Wilson, chief inspector under the Intoxicating Liquor Act, will go this evening to St. Leonard's to investigate the recent theft of alcohol which was in a car there preparatory to shipment to Fredericton for storage. Detectives Cutlow and Leggett, of the C. P. R., are at work on the case.

AUCTION SALES
The property of Mastion comprising 1,065 acres which was to have been sold at auction at Chubb's Corner by F. L. Donald on Saturday was withdrawn at $2,400.

Three auto trucks, an ambulance and military supplies were sold at auction in the Armories this morning by F. L. Potit.

Dr. J. H. McDermid, superintendent of the provincial deaf and dumb institute in Winnipeg, was drowned while swimming on Friday night.

PROTEST AGAINST CITY'S ACTION IN DOUGLAS AVENUE

Property Owners Appear Before Council to Object to Having Pipes Laid to Vacant Lots.

A delegation of property owners and representatives appeared before the common council this morning protesting against their being forced to have water and sewer installations made to their vacant lots.

Sir Douglas Hazen explained that the city engineer estimated that installations to his property would cost $4,000, but he believed that they would exceed that amount. He said that he was assessed in the city of St. John $87,150 on real estate, $20,000 of which was on his dwelling. Of the remaining $67,150 he said he derived $21,217.07 and was taxed for $2,000.07, leaving him a very small balance, which was practically eaten up making repairs, etc. He said he had $10 on the eastern side of Douglas avenue, and $40 feet on the western side. Thirty years ago, he said, this property was assessed at $6,000, while today it is increased to $20,000. He proposed that the city install the water and sewer connections and as these lots were sold or leased they be reimbursed for the cost of the installation. He maintained that as far as he knew it was the first time that a by-law pertaining to this work was ever put in force and he felt it was discriminating against the property owners in Douglas avenue. He said that permanent work had been done on other streets and that the act was not enforced.

Judge J. R. Armstrong said he owned five lots, which were assessed for $1,600. He would gladly sell them for $200 a lot. He felt that the proposition advanced by Sir Douglas Hazen was a remarkable one that Douglas avenue would be paved.

Sir Skinner told of properties he was looking after and explained the hardship which would be made nine installations within thirty days. He maintained that on the part of the city there had been no assurance that Douglas avenue would be paved.

King Hazen, Miss Maura Hazen and Sir Skinner spoke on the subject, after which Mayor Schofield said that the object of the proposed work was to make the city a better place to live in and that it was originally intended to pave Douglas avenue this year, but owing to service pipes, etc., having to be placed it could not be done.

Commissioner Thornton asked the speakers if they were willing to sell their property and if so for how much. In the majority of cases they answered that they would sell below the assessment value. He told of one gentleman recently being informed that he could procure one of the lots in question for $1,200 and another for $2,300.

The delegation were assured that their remarks would be considered before any action was taken.

WURT IN CAR COLLISION

Mrs. H. M. Dickson Received Slight Injuries at Quispamsis This Morning.

A head on collision early this morning between a car driven by H. M. Dickson, traveller for E. McAvity & Sons, and one bearing a Massachusetts license tag, took place in the middle of the Quispamsis bridge, and Mrs. Dickson, who was with her husband, was hurt. She was thrown forward against the instrument board by the shock of the collision and struck heavily on her head. Both cars were damaged about the front wheels.

Mrs. Dickson was brought to the city as quickly as possible in a car and is in the General Public Hospital, but not badly hurt. The car in which the Dicksons were driving was a sedan and the other a big touring car. It seemed as if there would be plenty of room for the cars to pass, but an error in judgment on the part of one of the drivers accounted for the collision. Although the damage done to both cars was considerable it is not serious.

Warsaw, Aug. 8.—Bolshevik aviators flying over the Polish lines have scattered broadcast propaganda pamphlets designed by the president of the revolutionary committee in Poland, saying: "Make your officers prisoners and let us jointly march on Warsaw." The Poles are appealed to in the pamphlet to wipe out the aristocracy and make Poland a great communist country. The pamphlet declares that the Bolsheviks are marching on Warsaw with the best of motives, to save the country from the land-owners rule. A Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the Imperial staff of the British army; Admiral Baron Beatty, commander of the grand fleet, and Marshal Foch of France, conferred at Hythe relative to the Polish situation until an early hour this morning.

AMUNDSEN AWAY TO THE ARCTIC

Nome, Alaska, Aug. 8.—Captain Amundsen left here yesterday on his ship Maud for a cruise in the Arctic. Captain Amundsen said he would lay his course west of Wrangell Island and toward the Siberian Islands, keeping in open water as long as possible until he found a favorable place for striking directly northward, probably in the vicinity where the Jeanette of the James Gordon Bennett, Jr., expedition foundered in 1881.

Several persons were reported killed today when a two-story brick building in Dallas, Texas, caved in. A score of persons were removed to hospital.

A MEMORIAL TO HEALTH

St. John, N. B., Aug. 9, 1920.
To the Editor of the Times:
Sir—Doctor Wright of New York wrote a letter to the civic authorities of New York saying he had forty-nine cases of nervous prostration of patients caused by automobiles going through the residential district blowing horns, with their cut-outs open at all hours of the night, and hoodlums shouting and singing. Police Commissioner Shoutung took the matter up at once and put every noise nuisance on the books as a danger to public health. Here in St. John, if an automobile goes through the residential district the driver is reported, but automobiles can go through the residential districts and going fifty miles an hour, blowing horns, hoodlums shouting and singing, milkmen banging bottles and shouting at their horses at daylight, and the chief of police sits calmly down a chair while sick and nervous people have to tolerate it. It is about time to give this nerve racking noise immediate attention, or get some one who will give the property holders in the residential district some protection. Let the civic authorities give this some consideration.
I am, Sir,
A PROPERT HOLDER.

IN MEMORIAM

GOSLINE—In loving memory of James H. Gosline, who died August 9, 1919.
Call not back the dear departed.
Anchored safe where storms are o'er.
In our Father's mansions fair.
Soon to meet and part no more.
When we leave this world of changes,
When we leave this world of care,
We shall find those gone before us
In our Father's mansions fair.
WIFE AND FAMILY.
BASTIN—In loving memory of Private G. L. Bastin of the 26th Battalion, killed in action August 8, 1918.
WIFE AND CHILDREN.
BROWN—In memory of Pte. R. A. Brown, who died in France August 5, 1918.
In France softly sleeping,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
Sleeping in a hero's grave.
WIFE AND FAMILY.
GRAY—In loving memory of our dear brother and father, Mr. Charles Gray, who departed this life August 9, 1919.
Just as the day was breaking,
And the morning task began,
An angel whispered to father and brother,
Your life work is done.
The path that you have traveled
Leave memories cherished and true;
The love we will rejoice in,
Thinking of the past that belongs to you.
DAUGHTER ANGLEEN.
SISTERS VIOLET AND BELLA.
CARD OF THANKS
Mrs. William Megarity and family wish to thank their many friends for kindness in their recent bereavement.

HAS PUBLISHED BOOK
H. S. Culver, American consul, who was formerly consul at Cork, Ireland, has produced a most attractive de luxe book in pictures and interpretive verses entitled, "The Emerald Isle in Poetry and Pictures," which should greatly interest the public, especially the sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle.
TONIGHT'S SPORTS
A slight change has been made in the programme of sports, which are to be held in Courtenay Bay this evening. It was originally intended to have the boys row over the full course of one and a half miles, but as the distance was considered too great they will start from the turning buoys and row to the end of a distance of three-quarters of a mile.
CONDENSED NEWS
Permission for the British cable ship to lay cable outside the three-mile limit at Miami, Fla., has been refused by the British embassy.

LETTER CARRIERS HAVE GOOD PICNIC

The picnic held by the letter carriers at the Ferns on Saturday was a success from every standpoint. G. C. Cosman was the head of a very capable managing committee and everything was splendidly arranged. Through the energies of M. J. Finigan some handsome prizes were given for the various events and for the drawings. The proceeds of the picnic are to go to the fund for the relief of the sick and distressed among the carriers.

Among the guests were some of the best who had received special invitation from Postmaster Sears. The prizes won were as follows: 1st, gate prize, ton of coal, ticket No. 2441; 2nd, load of coal, 1908; 3rd, barrel of flour, 2500; card prizes, ladies' shawl by Miss Vera Ferris, City Road; club bag, by C. Long, Victoria street; umbrella, Mrs. T. F. Fenton, Water street; West St. John pictures, Mr. Brewer, Woodville road; ladies' boots, F. W. Gigg, Millidge avenue; umbrella, Mrs. T. F. Fenton, Water street; 297 Union street. The prizes had been on exhibit in the window of one of the King street stores for some time before the picnic. The door prizes are in charge of William Tyrer, who is holding them until they are claimed by the owners of the winning tickets.

The grand drawing for the five big prizes in the lotteries is to take place on Aug. 28. The first prize is a ladies' rain-coat; second, ladies' neck fur; third, a ton of coal; fourth, a marble clock, and fifth, a leather suit case.

The carriers worked hard for their picnic and every one did his share in making it go off so splendidly.

DID MANKIND DRIFT TO REMOOTE PACIFIC ISLES?

A French consular officer in Hawaii has made a report which, it is thought, may throw light on some problems of ethnography. Not long ago a little schooner, dismantled and with its rudder gone as the result of a storm, was borne by the winds and ocean currents to Hawaii, after eighty-one days of helpless wandering.

Hawaiian traditions declare that in ancient days people came from Tahiti, drifting with the currents, and settled Hawaii. The adventures of the dismantled schooner seem to show the possibility of such a migration, and it is suggested that the currents of the Pacific, which have not yet been sufficiently studied, may throw much light on the distribution of the native races among the island groups.

THE STEEL MARKET.

(Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing.) Although the steel mills are turning out a decreased tonnage, they are still producing more than the railroads are taking away from them, so piling is still going on. The Canadian yards, all of which are in the hands of the American companies, report no improvement in the matter of deliveries. The Canadian steel mills are hard pressed for their own coal and coke supplies, and on this account are not able to do as much as they otherwise would in the way of relieving the situation locally. Some of the Canadian mills have labor troubles. This week's figures show a very low level.

The business that is coming up in the machine-tool market is not in large volume. Dealers are able to show improvement in the matters of several lines. There have been some cancellations, and it is often possible to fill an order in the way that this brings the makers of machine tools to the attention of the buyer must be taken gradually. One will know maker has this week sent notices to the trade covering this point by announcing that there will not be any reductions during the year 1920 so far as this line is concerned, the idea of this being to reassure buyers who might be holding off in the hope of a better price treatment a little later on.

There is something not far removed from stagnation setting down on the scrap metal trade. Certain it is dealers are not anxious to get out and take on tonnage unless there is a distinctly favorable price attached. The large buyers are absent from the market, and obligations to deliver on contract accounts for about all the business that is moving.

A man named Charles Carpenter, Mount Pleasant avenue, was seized with an epileptic fit last evening about 7 o'clock while in Rockwood Park. The ambulance was called and took him to the General Public Hospital, where he was treated. Later he was taken to his home.

Aladdin Dye Soap is made for that very purpose. Enable you to convert an old faded blouse into a thing of beauty—supplies the needed fresh color for your Summer Dresses, Camisoles, Stockings and all wearing apparel.

No ordinary dye—but a new and entirely satisfactory way of coloring wool, silk, cotton, or any mixture. With Aladdin, there's no need for boiling—no messy work, no staining of hands or bowl. You just "wash" the fabric in ALADDIN and it comes out resplendent in its new color.

The use of ALADDIN is at once a delight and a real economy. Choose the shade you want from the Aladdin color range—whether it be a vivid red, a flashing green, or a soft tint of moonbeam delicacy, ALADDIN will faithfully add to any garment the exact color you select.

Eighteen beautiful fashionable shades to choose from. You can get Aladdin for 15 cents a cake, at almost any Drug Store, Grocery Store, Hardware Shop or Departmental Store.

TALK ON IRELAND

A large audience in St. Vincent's Auditorium last evening listened with great pleasure to an address delivered by Professor George H. Derry on "Democratic Ideals and Irish Aspirations." The speaker was introduced by Miles E. Agar, who occupied the chair. Mr. Agar informed the audience that Professor Derry held the chair of political science and international law at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, and that he had given many important lectures on questions of international interest. He had studied at Stonyhurst, Oxford and the University of Paris and was at present on his way to address a teachers' convention.

Professor Derry went into the subject of the right of self-determination, saying that it was the principle for which the war had been fought and won—the right of every nation to govern itself according to the way in which the majority of its people thought was best. He discussed the Irish question from its moral, political and human aspect. At the conclusion of his address the speaker of the evening was tendered a very hearty vote of thanks.

A STORY OF TENNYSON AND OTHERS.

She was a young girl and she sat on the great Tennyson's knee while he read to her from "Maud"; read it as only he could read. "I had an unfortunate experience with a young girl to whom I was reading," said Tennyson. She was sitting on my knee as you are doing now, and I was reading:

"Bids in the high Hall-garden
Maud, Maud, Maud, Maud
They were crying and calling."
I asked her what bird she thought I meant—she said "a nightingale." This made me so angry that I nearly fung her to the ground. I said:

"No fool! LOOK!
The young girl to whom this story was told was Margot Tennant, who later became the wife of Herbert Asquith, England's great Liberal leader.

In another place Mrs. Asquith tells of a visit to the poet and Essayist, Arthur Symonds, one of his reminiscences of his great friend Robert Louis Stevenson. "He said that Mrs. Stevenson suffered a great deal from the long visits which this distinguished man and his wife paid them at Davos; that Louis

NOTICE

The undersigned has purchased from the owner the Cafe No. 44 Mill street, of which J. P. McGuire was the manager, and will, after thorough renovation, conduct the same under the name of "Viny Cafe."

On another occasion talking with George Meredith, the novelist, shortly after the appointment of Alfred Austin as Poet Laureate, she had said to him: "I wonder what your friend Alfred Austin thinks of his appointment?" Shaking his beautiful head he replied:

"It is very hard to say what a bentam is thinking when it is crowing." These are only a taste of the multitude of intimate stories appearing in the most intimate and fascinating of reminiscences. "The Life Story of Mrs. Asquith" that begins in the August issue of Maclean's Magazine. There is an endless array of other stories about Gladstone, and Lord Morley, Lord Curzon, Churchill, Chamberlain, Balfour, Rosebery, Salisbury, Harcourt, and a multitude of other folk, all of whom it is an intimate ray account by one of England's cleverest women. This story is appearing exclusively in Maclean's Magazine, in Canada.

There are other striking articles in this issue. K. Munro's story of "The Rise of Meighen," an interesting story, telling of the cross currents of political life in these last few days at the capital.

There is another of W. A. Fraser's thrilling race horse stories, "The Night Riders," and a story, "Handy Man Lenic" by Archie P. McKinnon. Another article of unusual interest is George A. Warburton's "Driving the Water Wagon." The intimate history of the Committee of One Hundred, and of the campaign that put the much discussed Ontario Temperance Act on the legal map.

Be suspicious of TENDER GUMS. Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhoea—an insidious disease of the gums that gradually destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. This opening in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhoea.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhoea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhoea—it guards against other ills. Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, destroy the germ and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

LEAGUE OR NO LEAGUE

Governor Cox, the Democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States, has made the issue clear. Some days ago the New York Evening Post said: "Gov. Cox must make the chief issue of his campaign America's duty to ratify the treaty of peace and enter the League of Nations at the earliest possible moment. He must give us his own clean cut conception of the conditions under which the United States should enter the League. He must not be frightened by the opposite and mutually destructive criticisms coming from the Republican camp. The League for which Gov. Cox must make his stand is not the Wilson League but the League which can be made acceptable to the United States Senate without nullifying itself. The essentials of the problem are three. We must enter the League, we must do so in open, manly fashion, and we must do so on the basis of reciprocal obligations. We cannot go into a Covenant where we take but do not give. The League of Nations is the outstanding issue in the campaign, and Gov. Cox must recognize it as such. It is the one issue on which he can hope for the support of the enlightened and independent body of public opinion without which he cannot hope for victory. A workable League of Nations in unmistakable terms—that is the message we expect from Cox next Saturday."

On Saturday in his acceptance speech Gov. Cox said: "League or no League is the issue between the two parties, the supreme issue of the century. The first duty of the new administration will be ratification of the treaty."

Gov. Cox applies a new word in dealing with the treaty. Instead of reservations he uses the word interpretations, and insists that there will be no difficulty in making such interpretations as will satisfy the people and make the League of Nations a guarantee of world peace.

Because the United States held back and played party politics when it should have been concerned with great world issues the conditions in Europe today are very threatening, and there is even the prospect of the Allies being forced into another struggle. Before the presidential elections in the United States occur there may be even greater evidence of the folly of that country in holding aloof when it should have been working in complete harmony with its Allies to save to the world the fruits of the great struggle waged in behalf of civilization. Today the fanatical Soviet autocracy of Russia threatens the world with a new danger, and still the United States is standing aloof. We greatly misinterpret the spirit of the American people if they do not prefer the attitude of the Democrats toward the League of Nations rather than the attitude of the Republican candidate for the presidency.

HARBOR COMMISSION

The Globe gave harbor commission a black eye on Saturday. In an editorial paragraph it said: "The Canadian National Railway is seeking full control of a government dock at Vancouver, included in the property under the direction of the harbor commission. The commissioners ask a rental of $400,000 a year and the railway offers $400,000. Negotiations are proceeding with every prospect of the railway paying the rental demanded."

When we remember that the C. N. R. is building a dock of its own at Vancouver, and read that the C. N. R. wants control of its own wharf, the "unity of control" theory, so much harped on in St. John, goes a little unimpaired. But mark what the C. N. R. is willing to do in Vancouver. It is willing to pay $400,000 a year rental and is expected to pay $600,000. That amount capitalized would provide for a large expenditure on terminals. The C. N. R. can easily build and own its own terminals in St. John.

Speaking at Newmarket on Saturday Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King set in striking contrast the spirit of Liberalism and that which actuates the present rulers at Ottawa. "The Liberals believe the people should be consulted when a new government is formed or an old one has exhausted its mandate. The gentlemen now in power hold that they and not the people know what is best, and they only have by-elections because that is necessary under the constitution. There is a new name, a new leader and a new platform but the people were not consulted. "Everything," says Mr. King, "has been by special appointment, under divine or some other assumed inherent right. Here, my friends, is the real difference between Liberalism and Toryism, call them by whatever name you please. Liberalism trusts the people and manifests itself by giving expression to the popular will. Toryism ignores the people and manifests itself by the assertion of self-appointed and self-constituted authority."

The aquatic sports in Courtney Bay this evening will be made much more enjoyable if the owners of motor boats and other craft will keep well off the course and give the oarsmen a clear field. Everybody should desire a successful series of

ON THE RIVER

Not less than a hundred people were on the wharf at Public Landing at dusk on Saturday evening when the Dream landed passengers there. Nearly all of these were city people spending holidays or the week-end at the Landing. At Belyea's Point about seven o'clock last evening had a dozen yachts and a dozen or more motor boats were lying in the cove and scores of people were strolling about the beach or sitting under the trees, where there is also a line of tents. Over at Puddy's Point another group of tents under the trees. From six o'clock or earlier until dark and after a procession of motor boats moved toward the city, to be joined at Bona's Head by another procession coming down the Kennebecasis. Half a dozen sailing yachts in Grand Bay were in evidence to show that the sailing craft is coming into its own again on St. John waters. All along the river to Brown's Flats the beaches presented an animated appearance. Coming through Grand Bay last evening salmon were seen leaping from the water, much interest being aroused by one large and one smaller fish leaping one after the other several times as if in play. A twenty-four pound salmon was taken in a net at Carter's Point last week, and a twenty-seven pounder at Craig's Point, across the river. The weather yesterday was hot, the thermometer showing above eighty in the shade at the Landing, but with the evening coolness came, that brought everybody out of doors and was especially delightful on the water. The people do not half realize what an asset they possess in this splendid river, or on its shores would be hotels to accommodate visitors.

$3,000,000 FOR SCHOOLS

The board of education of the city of New York has asked for $3,000,000 for new school buildings and grounds. There has been practically no increase in the number of school buildings in the city in the last four or five years with the result that there were in the month of May 222,471 pupils on less than full time because of congestion, and that 111,000 additional seats would be necessary to give every child a seat. The new program would only add 48,855 seats, the cost, $1,422,000. It covers portable school buildings, $128,000; sites for portable buildings, $72,000; for improvement of present playgrounds, $385,845; four new high school buildings, $7,475,000; one high school site, $185,000; one supply depository, $1,250,000; one new headquarters building and site, $3,900,000. These are staggering figures, but the Evening Post says that "no one pretends that this expenditure, impressive as it appears to be in the aggregate, will be adequate even for the immediate needs of the city's school children," and it adds that New York normally requires from 15,000 to 20,000 new sitings every year. It will be noted that even the elementary school buildings will cost more than a million dollars for each, while each high school building costs nearly twice as much. Even the site of one school is set down at $185,000. The great increase in the cost of construction is of course responsible for much of the additional expenditure, but according to the statement submitted to the city council the $3,000,000 will only provide 48,855 additional seats, while 111,000 are required to meet the full requirements. New York's educational needs are of very large proportions.

The news regarding the situation in Poland is contradictory. One cable says the Polish government and Allied representatives will leave Warsaw at once; another says they will not. One report says the Bolshevik forces are within a few miles of Warsaw. Another says the Soviet government of Russia is prepared to withdraw its armies on certain terms. One fact is clear. The Allies are ready to give Poland prompt assistance if that should be necessary. They will not permit the Russians to set up a Soviet government in Poland. A serious phase of the situation, if it be true, is the rejection by Lenin of proposals made by Mr. Lloyd George and endorsed by the Russian envoys in London. The crisis is at hand, and the action to be taken depends upon the attitude assumed by the Russians in regard to peace with Poland.

The correspondent who protests against noises, especially at night, expresses the feelings of a great many suffering citizens. There is no necessity whatever for much of the noise that racks the nerves of such people from dusk till dawn. Regard for their health and for the comfort of all would prompt those who are abroad at a late hour at night to make as little noise as possible. A few cases in the police court would have a salutary effect, and the penalty should be sufficiently severe to make an impression, even upon the most reckless.

A summary of the new bankruptcy act appears in today's Times. It will be of special interest in business circles. Under this act the merchant who defrauds his creditors must step lively. The measure is a drastic one.

MY TICKET.
I'll vote for Cox and Harding when comes election day, and thus avoid retarding the good times on the way; they stand, in seemingly manner loud hoarse, from Portland to Swanton; let's sound our bell hooey. I'll vote for Hox and Carding for presidential jobs; I want to see them guarding our sacred thingumbobs; when these two are elected our rights will be respected, our wrongs will be corrected, and we'll cut out the sobs. The ticket's surely regal, the smoothest thing in view; well may our famous eagle rear up and scream a few; they're men of repute, who've won our admiration, and they will sweep the nation from Waco to Wahoo. I cheer for Card and Hoxing throughout the busy day, when I am busy boxing my oars to ship away; and in my sleep I'm dreaming of faces proudly beaming and eagles bravely screaming upon the water. When they're declared the winners the rich will go to jail, the poor will have their dinners and every kind of cake; of coal we'll have our bin full; we'll all be glad and gay, the pitfalls of the sinful will never more avail. Sit up, men and brothers, rise up, of one accord! Rise, sisters, aunts and mothers, and vote in every ward! Let's gain the full fruition of every high ambition and lay the opposition, all stricken, on the sword!

MARCHING TO MONTREAL

After the siege of Quebec was abandoned by the French in 1760 General Murray, the English commander, had an effective fighting force of about 2,500 troops. As spring approached he set his camp on the island of Orleans with the result that in a short time his men were in the best health imaginable and ready for any battle, or it was possible on all second of July of that year to order 2,400 men and officers to prepare to set out against Montreal, where the French were still in authority. On the fifteenth the English sailed in thirty-two boats with a number of smaller craft following. A little later Lord Rollo followed with 1,300 men who had just arrived at Quebec from Louisbourg for that fortress had been dismantled and abandoned. The force advanced up the St. Lawrence river slowly, skirmishing with the French frequently. At Jacques Cartier the French poured shot and shell into the ranks but the advance continued with such success that on August 4 they were within sight of Three Rivers where a French force was expecting an attack. But the English sailed past the place, although the French manned the batteries on the river as the English sailed up the stream and harassed the boats as much as possible. Murray sent a proclamation among the settlers advising the farmers to remain at home and to give protection to all who surrendered their arms and took the oath of neutrality. From the houses where the men went to the stores and the stores and the homes. The effect was in a short time to bring most of the French into the camp, and Murray's little below Montreal about the middle of August and waited for a helping force to arrive from the river before launching his attack on the new town of Montreal.

THE COMMON TOUCH

(By Edgar A. Guest.)
I would not be too wise—so very wise
That I must dwell in simple songs and creeds,
And let the glare of wisdom blind my eyes.
To humble people and their humble needs,
I would not care to climb so high that I
Could never hear the children of the street,
Yet never hear the cheering words they Say.
I would not know too much—too much to smile.
At trivial errors of the heart and hand,
Nor be too proud to play the friend
Of those who are less than I.
And cease to help and know and understand.
I would not care to sit upon a throne,
Or build my house upon a mountain-top,
Where I must dwell in glory alone,
And never friend come in or poor man stop.
God grant that I may live upon this
And face the tasks which every morning
bring,
And never lose the glory and the worth
Of humble service and the simple things.

A PLEA FOR THE TEACHER

The Future of America hangs in the balance every day in every American school-house. In the wide-spread discussion of better methods of promoting the more perfect understanding of American ideals by all the people, we recur constantly to the school-teacher. Here is a public servant whose work is essentially constructive. Pay the teacher a wage commensurate with their great responsibility to the nation—Meredith Nicholson in August Cosmopolitan.

YOUTH—OUR INHERITANCE

While we have not counteracted age to any great degree, sufficient has been done in the last fifty years to enable us to see that, if we had only the courage to believe it, youth is our natural inheritance. We, as individuals, whatever our task, are instruments of the divine energy which cannot fail. Success lies in knowing our relation to that energy and endeavoring to keep pace with it. Time, money, and beauty are our God-given workers. Those who recognize their origin and motive will never lack any of the three.—Basil King in August Cosmopolitan.

Defendant's Air

The judge made jokes, the witnesses looked weary, the counsel declaimed and cross-examined, the twelve good men and true twiddled their thumbs, and the usher ushered whenever necessary. Altogether it was a model English court of law. "Now, ma'am," cried the cross-examining king's counsel, "was the defendant's air when, as you allege, he promised to marry you, perfectly serious, or was it, on the contrary, jocular and full of levity?" "It was all ruffed," replied the plaintiff, "with 'im ruffing' 's made through 'im."

URGES MINIMUM AGE FOR CHILD WORKERS

Children's Bureau Favors Sixteen Years—Also Recommends Periodic Physical Examinations.

A minimum age of sixteen years before a child's entrance into industry is recommended in a preliminary report of the permanent Committee on Standards of Physical Fitness for Children Entering Employment, appointed by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. No child, according to the recommendations, should be allowed to go to work until he has had a complete physical examination and has been declared physically fit for the particular occupation which he is about to take up. A re-examination for children when changing occupations and periodical examinations for all working children are deemed necessary. Tentative standards suggested in the report for children in industry cover normal development, indicate what conditions of employment and those for which temporary refusals should be made are listed. A record form for the use of employers of employment and those for which temporary refusals should be made are listed. #### ARMY ORGANIZATION

(Navy and Military Record.)
The changes contemplated in the organization of the Brigade of Guards are by no means determined. The cost of the infantry regiments of the Household Brigade will not bear comparison with that of equally efficient battalions of some of the county cadets, and whilst not desiring in any way to belittle the Guards, some drastic economy in administration is to be introduced. England cannot recruit the Grenadiers and Coldstreamers from the 17th and 18th regiments, who in normal times are readily obtainable, but in regard to the Irish and Welsh Guards it is more difficult to keep up a six-company battalion from the number of men presenting themselves for enlistment. Ireland at one time contributed a steady flow of young men of 20,000 annually. The number is now less than 5,000, whilst Wales has the establishments of the Fusiliers, the Irish regiment, and the South Wales Borderers, let alone picking out her best recruits for the Welsh Guards. It has been indicated that separate regional headquarters for the different national battalions cannot be continued. This month in the abstract that the younger formations of the Guards—to wit, the Irish and Welsh battalions—realize by their own experience the same good understanding exists. This proves that it is not a delusion and that the same excellent relationship will spread throughout the Dominion. By knowledge that in the maritime provinces the population has a full right to speak its own language, conducted its own schools and enjoy all its other proper rights, we are respecting the spirit of Confederation.

HOW TO DEAL WITH PROFITERS

Le Presse.—The evil work of the profiteers has been denounced at the congress of National Catholic Unions at Fortin, one of the directors of the congress, ought to be treated as the usurers have been treated, and as the law forbids these people exacting from their debtors an exorbitant rate of interest so ought the law to prohibit speculators from charging unduly high profits. This is not the first time a complaint of this kind has been heard, but it would seem that the ministers at Ottawa are afflicted with deafness.

Dr. Scholl's "3" Necessities
 For Perfect Foot Comfort

While no preparation, or combination of preparations, can possibly correct foot ailments which are due to fallen arch or other physical deformities, a great measure of relief can be obtained in all cases by the use of this famous combination of foot comforters.

The combination consists of Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Soap, Dr. Scholl's Antiseptic Foot Powder, and Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Balm. The three, in combination, form a perfect treatment for tired, weak or hurting feet, as has been proved in thousands upon thousands of cases. Rarely, indeed, does a purchaser of one combination box fail to return for more.

Dr. Scholl's Bunson Reducer protects the tender bunson from pressure and preserves the shape of the shoe. Price, 75c. each.

Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Soap

This is a specially prepared soap in granular form. It is designed to cleanse the pores of the feet more thoroughly than could be done with ordinary soap and to bring out all of the impurities and poisons that accumulate therein and cause irritation. That it fully accomplishes its purpose will be admitted by anyone after a single trial.

Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Balm

This is a massage cream or ointment for rubbing into the pores after they have been cleansed thoroughly. It is antiseptic, healing, cooling and comforting, and it leaves the feet with a grateful feeling of wonderful comfort.

Dr. Scholl's Antiseptic Foot Powder

A powder to shake into the shoe or upon the foot when arising in the morning. It is antiseptic and has the property of keeping the feet cool and comfortable throughout the day, especially if used after a bath with Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Soap and a massage with Dr. Scholl's Pedico Foot Balm.

Try this famous combination yourself, and to-day. Give your poor, suffering feet a real treat. At shoe stores everywhere.

RECENT DEATHS

The death of Mrs. Annie Nickerson, widow of John S. Nickerson, occurred yesterday at her residence, 11 Wentworth street, after a long illness. She was eighty-nine years of age and had been a life long resident of this city. Although she had been ill for a long time she bore her sufferings with patience and fortitude. She leaves one brother, John Stephenson, of Portland, Oregon, and one sister, Mrs. George Baxter, of this city. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from her late residence.

Word has been received in Welsford of the death in Pomona, (Calif.), of Mrs. Melburn Hudson, formerly Miss Jennie I. Cochrane of the first named place. Mrs. Hudson had been ill a long time. She is survived by her husband, four small children, her father, mother, four sisters and three brothers, who will have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends in their affliction.

Many friends in the city of Mrs. James T. Logan will be very much grieved to learn of her death which occurred last evening at her late residence, 36 Mel-calf street, after a lingering illness which she bore with great patience. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn two daughters, Ruby and Marie, both at home, also her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander. She is also survived by two brothers, Harry, of Halifax, and Murray, of Kansas City, and two sisters, Misses Mamie and Gertrude, of this city.

The funeral service will take place at 2:15 Tuesday afternoon at her late residence and the funeral will be at 8:30 from Portland Methodist church.

Eva Brown, fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Brown, died at Sussex on Saturday. The bereaved parents will receive the sincere sympathy of their friends in their loss. The funeral will take place this afternoon from their residence.

George Clark, for forty years an employe of the street department in Fredericton, died Saturday morning. He was up early and went to collect lanterns in streets under repair. He had collected them all and was on his way home when he was stricken with paralysis and fell in the street. Medical aid was immediately secured, but it was of no avail.

FUNERALS ON SUNDAY.
 The funeral of Jeremiah Daley took place on Sunday afternoon from the residence of his nephew, 117 Charlotte street, at 2:30. The service was held in the Cathedral with Rev. W. M. Duke officiating. Interment was made in the old Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Robert Knox was from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Hamm, 81 Watson street, West St. John. The body was taken to Lorneville for interment in the family lot and the services in St. John and Lorneville were conducted by Rev. Mr. Beveridge. The service in St. John and the funeral at Lorneville were both largely attended.

PRESS CONFERENCE CLOSSES ITS WORK AT THE CAPITAL

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The second session of the Imperial Press Conference closed this afternoon with a short session in which routine business was transacted and immediately reported to the government house to the official garden party. The delegates left last night for Toronto.

Empire trade formed the subject of an address by Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, before the Saturday morning conference.

P. D. Ross, Ottawa, gave instances of the value of organization among newspapers. A resolution was introduced aiming to enlarge the scope of membership of the union by taking in weekly and trade papers. The motion also provided for a conference within the empire every four years.

The resolution carried after lengthy discussion. There were three dissentients.

NEXT SEASON'S FURS.
 (Toronto Globe.)

With regard to the slump in prices of raw furs which occurred recently in the United States markets, and its effect on the prices of manufactured furs here, a prominent Toronto dealer claims that it will have the result of keeping values at more reasonable levels than would have been the case had the advances of early spring been maintained. The market generally, he claims, will be higher this fall and winter than it was a year ago.

A shortage in the catch of muskrats from the skins of which Hudson seal is made, will hold prices in this fur fairly high. Demand for Hudson seal in the past has been good, and the prospects are that demand will continue good during the coming season. Electric seal is coming forward again in fair quantity, and it is estimated that a coat of this kind, of good quality, can be bought next winter at fairly reasonable prices.

While it is a little early yet to speculate on the prospects for next season's trade, it is felt that a good business will be done, as, even though prices will be somewhat higher, the increase, as stated above, will not be nearly so great as was formerly looked for, owing to the heavy decline in the raw material from the higher levels.

The government tax on fur coats over $200 in value, while regarded as a hardship, and not quite fairly apportioned, does not seem to have hurt business so far, to any great extent, although it is

GIFT FROM POPE FOR SCHOOLS OF KINGSTON, ONT.

Archbishop Spratt Brings 1,000 Lire for Higher Education—Is Tendered Royal Welcome.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 8.—Archbishop Spratt on Sunday afternoon was tendered a royal welcome home on his arrival from Rome, where he was shown special marks of favor, including a gift from the Pope of one hundred thousand lire to develop higher education in the archdiocese of Kingston.

Thousands of people from the Kingston parish and from all parts of the archdiocese turned out to meet the distinguished prelate, who was greatly impressed and pleased with the signal marks of affection shown him. His grace arrived on board the yacht of W. H. Downey, of Brockville, and was escorted by a motor launch to St. Mary's cathedral.

EMPIRE COMBINE OF THEATRES IS ANNOUNCED

Will Own 1,200 Theatres, But Will Handle Bookings for 5,000 to 6,000.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—George F. Driscoll, vice-president of trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., made the announcement yesterday that plans are afoot in the theatrical world to establish a vast combine of all the legitimate theatre interests of the British Empire to include the legitimate theatre owners and administrators of England under Sir Alfred Butt, and also of Canada, New Zealand and South Africa.

The actual ownership of such a combine would include 1,200 theatres, but the bookings would affect from 5,000 to 6,000 theatres. Mr. Driscoll is sailing next Wednesday for England on business relative to the formation of the combine.

BOY SCOUTS CAMP A large number of visitors were present at the New Brunswick Scout camp at Jenkins Cove in the Belvidere yesterday and found everything as well as could be desired. The boys are having the time of their young lives. One accident occurred since the camp started. Scout Steeves of Hillsboro fell thirty feet from the top of a willow tree and sprained his wrist. He was taken to the nearest doctor in a car of one of the visitors.

CHIEF INSPECTOR IN CITY Chief Inspector Rev. W. D. Wilson was in the city on Saturday afternoon on official trip to Albert county, where there have been a number of complaints regarding noisy motorists, especially on Saturday nights. Some of these parties carry liquor and efforts are being made to prosecute infractions of the law. A large quantity of liquor seized at St. Leonard's and stolen from a freight car at that place, has not as yet been recovered. It is supposed the liquor has been taken into Maine.

DECRETITUDE THE RESULT OF MISUNDERSTANDING GOD'S LAWS. Among the first of the agencies seen a hostile to man is time. Thought, speech and literature abound to such a degree in lamentations over time, with its accompaniment of age, that I think it worth while to repeat what Henry Thoreau says of his God-intended function.

"Time is one of God's loveliest creations, and has been misunderstood by men, who describe it as inexorable, ally of death. In reality death is music, a progression of harmonies based on rhythm. The conception of time as a force causing degeneration and decay, and hurrying us on to the grave, is as ludicrous as it is hideous."

"I FEEL LIKE A BRAND NEW MAN"

That is How Foreman Goguen Describes His Condition Since Taking Tanlac.

"I eat better, sleep better and feel better in every way since taking Tanlac and after the great good it has done me I feel I ought to tell everybody about it," recently declared Ben Goguen, foreman at the Atlantic Underwear Co. and residing at 109 Luts street, Moncton (N. B.).

"For three years before I started on Tanlac I suffered so much with stomach trouble I was in perfect misery most of the time. Soon after every meal I would be seized with pains in the pit of my stomach and the gas would form and blast me up till I could hardly breathe. I was said to be a very much because of what I knew I would suffer afterwards and fell off in weight and became so weak I could hardly drag around. The pain and gas caused by indigestion kept me awake at night and I would roll and toss about for hours and get up in the mornings feeling worn-out. My nerves were in such a fearful state that the least usual noise made me jump as though I had been shot at and I could hardly hold my head steady enough to write my name.

"But my first bottle of Tanlac started me on the road to recovery and now after taking five bottles I am like a brand new man. I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything I want without suffering the least pain or gas afterwards. I sleep like a log and my nerves are as steady as a dock. I have gained considerably in weight, am stronger in every way and feel young. I don't hesitate to say Tanlac is the finest medicine I have ever taken and strongly recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by the Ross Drug Company and P. W. Munroe; by C. W. McKay, Beaver Harbor; Willard J. Colwell, Evans; C. V. Parsons, High-land; John F. Magner, Debec; J. D. Hanson, Lepreau; E. L. Conley, Leonardville; N. H. Johnson, Clarendon Station and by the leading druggists in every town.—(Adv.)

BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles."

"I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for you." Mrs. Mary Boyd, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only remedy, but on the other hand many women have been cured by this unique root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a trial before submitting to such a fearful and dangerous operation. If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years' experience is at your service.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

T. P. O'Connor, president of the Irish League in England, strongly condemned the new criminal law for Ireland. He says that it was the worst coercion act ever passed by an English parliament and is without precedent in any modern country.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, on the other hand, supports the new legislation, saying that it is meant to bring justice to Ireland. He says that the country is threatened with economic ruin unless the moderate people of that country save it.

When two street cars on the Bout de L'Isle route came together in a rear end crash yesterday morning five persons were injured, one of them seriously. Paul St. Jean suffered two fractured legs and was taken to the hospital, the other car hit the other car.

While there has been no talk of officially declaring war upon Russia, the allies have decided to give Poland all possible military, naval and economical assistance without delay. A proposal was presented to the British delegates at the conference on Saturday by M. New Bankruptcy Act A Stringent Measure

Very Little Chance for Evade- tion Under the New Legis- lation — The Principal Conditions.

By F. G. T. Lucas, Barrister-at-Law. On July 1st there came into force in Canada the new Bankruptcy Act. Bankruptcy is a proceeding by which when the debtor cannot pay his debts or his creditors cannot obtain satisfaction of their claims, the state (in Canada acting through the medium of the dominion parliament under its new Bankruptcy Act) takes possession of his property by a trustee appointed for the purpose (herein known as the "official trustee"), and such property is realized and distributed in equal proportions amongst his creditors. The debtor, in the mean- time, has protection from legal proceed- ings at the instance of his creditors, and provided he has not been guilty of mis- conduct, and subject to certain definite restrictions specifically set out in the act, he (the debtor) can obtain a dis- charge from his debts and liabilities and commence his business life anew.

This legislation involves a very radical change in the relationship of debtors and creditors in Canada. Heretofore and now, the only legislation pertaining to insol- vent debtors has been and is the acts relating to assignments for the benefit of creditors, commonly known as the Creditors' Trust Deed Acts, of the several provinces. As insolvency is one of the matters which, under the British North America Act, comes within the exclusive jurisdic- tion of the dominion parliament, the provincial legislatures in drafting their Creditors' Trust Deed Acts have care- fully avoided this feature. Any person, insolvent or not, can make an assign- ment of his assets for the benefit of his creditors under the Creditors' Trust Deed Act. In practice, however, it has worked out that no one makes such assignments except an insolvent.

No one can be forced to make an assignment for the benefit of his cred- itors, and an insolvent gets no permanent relief in making an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, because he is not thereby at any time ever absolved from his liability to his creditors, but must pay them in full if he has the means at any time in his lifetime to do so (subject only to such defenses as he might at a later time raise by way of the statutes of limitations).

The result is not satisfactory in prac- tice, either to the debtor or to the cred- itors, as nothing is accomplished except only equal and rateable distribution of assets which at any particular time may be in the possession of the insolvent and the consequent diminution of legal pro- cess against the insolvent, not because there is denied any legal right to pro- ceed, but because such procedure under such circumstances will bring no useful result.

All these various features of present conditions are changed by the new bank- ruptcy act. Any debtor who commits what is described as an act of bank- ruptcy leaves himself open to attack by any creditor or creditors in a sum of $500 or over, the attack being by way of petition which such creditors may take to a bankruptcy court for a receiving order under the bankruptcy act, and for a declaration that such an individual is a bankrupt.

On the hearing of such petition, the judge or court is satisfied that the debtor is insolvent and has committed an act of bankruptcy, he will appoint an official trustee to whom forthwith all the assets of the bankrupt pass.

Act of Bankruptcy. What, then, is an act of bankruptcy, which when committed or done, leaves a man open to such a serious proceeding? The answer is contained explicitly in the bankruptcy act. Any one of the following eight things is an act of bank- ruptcy: 1-If he makes an assignment for the benefit of creditors. 2-If he creates a fraudulent conveyance of his property. 3-If he creates a charge on property which would be void as a fraudulent preference. 4-If he absconds with intent to defeat his creditors. 5-If he permits an execution in the sheriff's hands to remain unsatisfied subject to certain limitations. 6-If he exhibits to any meeting of his creditors a statement of his assets and liabilities which shows that he is insolvent. 7-If he assigns, removes, secretes or disposes of any of his goods with intent to defraud, defeat or delay any of his creditors. 8-If he makes a sale in bulk of his assets without complying with the Bulk Sales Act.

The results of the making of the bank- ruptcy orders are serious, and the deb- tor's status as a citizen is materially changed. No longer is he entitled to get his mail or telegrams from the post of- fice or telegraph offices. For three months the postmaster and telegraph companies deliver the bankrupt's mail and tele- grams to the official trustee. No longer can he borrow any sum in excess of $500 without giving notification that he is a bankrupt, upon a penalty, if he does so, of paying a fine and suffering a term of imprisonment, and upon further pen- alty that if he does any such act, when the time comes for him to obtain his discharge from bankruptcy, he will find that said act forms a bar, which can only be removed by a further term or period of time to be suffered as a bank- rupt. No longer can he engage in any trade or business under a name other than that under which he was adju- dicated bankrupt, without disclosing to all persons the name under which he was so adjudicated bankrupt. There are many other minor handicaps upon a man's activities. He must hold himself available to the official trustee and must attend his first meeting of creditors and submit to examination and furnish his trustee fully and frankly with all partic- ulars concerning his property and assets.

Discharge From Bankruptcy. If he has been an honest man, and if his insolvency has been occasioned by causes beyond his control, and if he deals frankly and fairly with his official trustee in bankruptcy, he may, at the time after his estate has passed into the possession of his trustee in bankruptcy, make application for discharge by obtaining a certificate from his trustee specifying the names and addresses of his creditors, and, upon giving the necessary notices, the matter will be heard in court, and the trustee will appear before the judge and present a statement of the conduct and affairs of the bankrupt and, with this and such other material as he may desire to submit, the judge will decide if he requires, the bankrupt may be discharged and thereupon he is re- leased and relieved from all his former debts and liabilities, and all recent judicial decisions coming from the old country, where bankruptcy has been so thoroughly well tried out, indicate that where the proceedings have been com- menced, and no good purpose can be obtained, or benefit derived to the creditors by keeping a man in bankruptcy, that he should be discharged, under the order of discharge subject to conditions which impose upon him such a burden that he can have no hope of bettering his position.

Suspended Discharges. On these applications of bankrupts for discharge, the court has a very wide and almost absolute discretionary power, sub- ject, however, to specific limitations con- tained in the act. This limitation is that if it is proved by anybody that in the course of the business history of the bankrupt, or during his bankruptcy, he has committed any one or more of eleven different things specifically set out in the act, the judge has no longer unlimited discretion, but can only refuse the discharge altogether, or suspend it for a period of not less than two years, or suspend it until a dividend of not less than fifty cents on the dollar has been paid to the creditors, or attach to the discharge a condition that the bank- rupt agree to allow a judgment to go against him for the amount of the un- paid balance of his debts in favor of the trustee, who will, at some future time, collect the same from future earnings of the bankrupt and distribute the same amongst his creditors.

The eleven specific facts which when existing in the business history of a bankrupt, or during the course of bank- ruptcy, so limit the power of a judge to give him his unconditional discharge, are as follows: 1-That his assets do not equal fifty cents on the dollar of his unsecured creditors, unless such condition has arisen from circumstances over which he cannot justly be held responsible. 2-That he has kept no books of account. 3-That he has continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent. 4-That he cannot account satisfac- torily for loss of assets. 5-That his bankruptcy has been brought on or contributed to by rash or hazardous speculations or by injus- tifiable extravagance in living, or by gambling or culpable neglect in business affairs. 6 and 7-That he has permitted frivolous and vexatious litigation to contin- ue, or that he has made an undue or improper preference to some of his creditors. 8-That he has intentionally incurred liabilities with a view to making his assets equal fifty cents on the dollar of his unsecured creditors. 9-That he has been a former bank- rupt. 10-That he has been guilty of a fraudulent breach of trust. 11-That he has committed or done any of the essential changes in our business affairs which will be introduced as a result of the passing of the bankruptcy act, name- ly the fact that: 1-That a man in insolvent circum- stances is no longer a free agent, but is placed under the control of the trustee in bankruptcy by the acts of his creditors. 2-That the honest man who has, by reason of circumstances beyond his con- trol, become involved in a burden of debt beyond his power to pay, may, by acting fairly and squarely with his cred- itors, without too serious detriment to himself, become relieved of his burden and have the opportunity of commencing his business life anew, and so become once more the master of his own affairs, and take his proper part and share in carrying on business in the life of the community in which he lives. 3-That the way of the dishonest debtor is hard and almost impossible of success. At present, he may carry on his predatory plans and schemes and, unless he actually puts himself within the realm of the criminal courts, he is free to prey on the business community afforded by the bankruptcy act, such a man cannot continue to carry on busi- ness. He becomes a bankrupt, and, by reason of his business history, he cannot absolve himself from the stigma. For these reasons it will appear that the introduction of this act cannot but be beneficial to the carrying on of the business life in Canada.

There are many details of the act which appear to be fair and beneficial to all concerned, but, owing to lack of space, I can mention only a few here— Priorities.—From the moneys which the trustee receives from the sale of the assets of the assets of the bankrupt, he must pay:— Firstly.—From out of the value of the goods in the possession of which he has found upon the rented premises the claim of the landlord for an amount not exceeding the amount of the rent. (Under the existing law, the landlord has preferential claim for six months' rent.) Secondly.—He pays his own fees and expenses, and, in this connection, his trustee's fees are settled by the creditors, but must not in any event exceed five per cent of the gross receipts. Thirdly.—He pays the costs of the execution creditor where the assets have come into his hands from the hands of the sheriff's writ. Fourthly.—He pays three months' wages, salaries, commissions earned and unpaid, and the costs of clerks, servants, traveling salesmen, laborers and workmen. Fifthly.—He divides the balance of the moneys equally among the creditors. This, of course, deals with the un- secured creditors. The secured creditors are entitled to rank for the balance of their claims after valuing their securities. The process is similar to that which we have under the Creditors' Trust Deed Act, and, for that reason, I will make no further mention of it here. Upon going into bankruptcy a man is entitled to reserve to himself all those things which he is entitled to hold out of his estate, and which are not household goods, viz.—Tools of his trade, and like assets, personal apparel and $500 of the household goods under the Homestead Exemption Act.

Interest.—Creditors are, under this act, to be entitled to interest on the amount of their claims from the time that the same became due until the date of the receiving order, at the rate of six per cent per annum, and, after the date of the receiving order, they are to be entitled to interest on the amount of their claims from the date of payment, provided there is enough money in the estate to pay them. (Heretofore there has been no provision for any such payment of interest in any existing act.)

Carrying on business.—Although the primary intention of the bankruptcy act is to take the assets of the bankrupt, realize them and distribute the proceeds among the creditors, still, if the creditors so determine, and upon following the procedure laid down in the act, the official trustee may carry on the business of the debtor and incur obligations and make advances in respect thereto so that it may come about in some instances that the business may be able to pay of the liabilities of the debtor, and, under such circumstances, the bank- ruptcy will be annulled and the bank- rupt handed back to his former owner without being broken up.

Corporations may go into bankruptcy as well as individuals. A debtor or an insolvent may go into bankruptcy of his own motion, but, upon doing so, incur the same responsibilities as if he had been put into bankruptcy by the act of a creditor. One feature existing in our act which is not present in the English act, is that any man, firm or corporation finding himself in difficult circumstances, may, without going into bankruptcy, present a scheme or plan of arrangement of his affairs, providing for an extension of time and for carrying on business under certain express conditions specifically embodied in the act. The official trustee then calls a meeting of the creditors and presents the scheme of plan. The creditors may accept or reject it as they see fit, whether to put the insolvent into bank- ruptcy or not, or they may have him examined as to his affairs. Assuming, however, that all these things are done, and the creditors decide to accept the plan or scheme of arrangement for carrying on the business, and thereupon such a scheme becomes binding upon all the creditors. In order for such a scheme to pass the creditors, it is necessary that it be approved by a majority of creditors in number holding at least two-thirds in amount of the proved debts, vote in favor of the proposal. Such a scheme must be carried out in its entirety, and default on the part of the terms as contained, gives to the creditors or any of them the right to have the order annulled and the debtor declared a bankrupt.

OUR UNDEVELOPED POWERS. If the current interest in things psychical did nothing for the world but to call attention to our undeveloped powers, it would still contribute much.

FEAR IS A MAN-MADE EVIL. "Fear," writes Henry Tadjer, "is a man-made evil, foreign to infants or the young of animals. It is only after God's creatures have been influenced by man that they become a prey to this emotion. Man's mistaken beliefs make it appear necessary to him to instruct his offspring in the laws of fear and until these be- liefs are corrected, fear will be taught."

EUGENIE AND FRANZ JOSEF

For half a century two historic figures sat on the sable throne of tragedy. The throne of one was material and above it waved the sceptre of the Hapsburgs, draped in the crape of many griefs. The throne of the other was the phantom dates of the Second Empire, sheltered in the bloody mire of Sedan, and above it waved only the memory-sceptre of the most brilliant court of modern times. All that history has of the terrible in romance and of the fearful in parallel and coincidence was pressed into the double tragedy of Franz Josef and Eugenie and perhaps two sovereigns never lived who were more universally pitied by a sympathizing world. Eugenie's life story is in the nature of things, more brilliant with regal glamor, for Franz Josef sat in the seat of power to the last, while Eugenie for half a century ate the bread of exile in a foreign but kind- ly land. For fifty years Eugenie was the world's "queen of sorrows," sharing her sombre reign only with Franz Josef and Car- lotta—whose throne was one. And now the long vigil beside the tomb of erst- while splendor, if not of an early love, has ended. The bent figure with snowy hair will rest by the side of the royal spouse who preceded Eugenie by forty-seven years, and by the royal son whose untimely death on the point of a Zulu spear brought new grief to "sorrow's queen." Thus passes the glory of the world, but its love and sympathy endure.—Kansas City Journal.

WIRELESS WAVES ARE A NEW PERIL

World Cataclysm Feared Unless Way Is Found to Control Volts.

It was electrical wireless waves that caused the fire which sent a dirigible sailing over the city of Chicago, according to new discoveries by French scientists.

These scientists say that the development of wireless telegraph, a danger to life by ground in. Not only that, but explosions on earth which have until now been inexplicable have been traced to the same cause—millions of volts of uncontrolled electricity floating through the ether.

Among the disasters directly attributed to wireless, are the Chicago explosion, sinking ships off Toulon.

Mine explosions in the heart of Chicago's business section in the beginning of this year, according to new discoveries by French scientists.

THE DOMINION of CANADA

Guarantee & Accident INSURANCE COMPANY

HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO

ONE-THIRD of a century ago this institution was founded—upon an ideal.

We set out to give protection through insurance to Canadians and Canadian business against loss through the hazards, accidents and risks of everyday life.

And to give this service through a company that was purely Canadian.

Pioneers among Canadian casualty insurance companies, today our organization is Dominion-wide. Just as we were first in existence, so we rank first in strength.

Last year our income amounted to $897,317.56. We have on deposit with Dominion Government practically a quarter of a million dollars.

Our surplus to policyholders exceeds six hundred thousand dollars.

In 1919 we wrote more Personal Accident and Sickness insurance than any other company in Canada.

We paid over 2,000 claims. Over 95 per cent of these were paid within one day after receipt of proof. We have paid claims totalling over two and three-quarter million dollars.

Among the risks we cover are—Accident, Sickness, all forms of Automobile Insurance, Burglary, Fire, Plate Glass, Liability and Surety.

3th Avenue Store Built on Personality.

"Light and Originality Need for Good Windows."

"If you expect to make the public take an interest in your light bills," is the advice of Sidney Silberstein, head of the National Window Trimming Co., a large concern of the kind in the country.

"While I thoroughly sympathize with the dealers' efforts to reduce store expenses in every way that makes for real economy, I think it is to be regretted that all retailers don't realize the value of thoroughly lighting their displays at night."

The lighting corporations certainly add to the store-keeper's burden and anything that will reduce the cost of illumination without spoiling the appearance of the store is in order, especially now when the dealer is breaking all precedents. But sacrificing the effectiveness of the show window in order to save money on light bills is akin to spoiling the show window to save money on merchandise.

"The store window should have the benefit of as much light as possible, even though the resultant expense appears to be more than the dealer can afford. As a matter of fact, light bills, high though they may be, are good investments. If the dealer doesn't believe that he can prove it easily enough by turning out many of his window lights and then watch the inevitable drop in sales, he will find that the money derived from the sales made when the window is brightly lit will be sufficient to pay for his light bill several times over."

"Retailers operating in locations on the less prominent thoroughfares are apt to fall into the error of believing that they can get along with less light than they would have to use were they situated on one of the principal streets. This is absolutely wrong, as the dealer who is situated on a less frequented street should do everything possible to make his store stand out conspicuously among his more advantageously located competitors. If his rival storekeepers are illuminating their windows, he, too, should do so. Besides, Frey, being a woman, knew these tricks intuitively—and she put them to work on her own women customers."

All Kingston Was After These Green Envelopes.

A new wrinkle in the publicity-creating field was launched in Kingston, N. B., recently by the clothing firm of S. Cohen's Sons, and Kingstonians have for the last six weeks been anxiously awaiting the arrival of the green envelope.

The scheme, known as "The Legal-size Green Envelope Game" was originated by S. Cohen's Sons, and consisted of dropping one of the streets of Kingston each day for thirty days an envelope containing an order for $1 in cash. On one of the days, which was not mentioned, the envelope contained an order good for $1 in cash at the store. For each envelope returned at the box office, the Cohen store, awarded two tickets free. Each envelope and order was numbered from one to thirty.

To stir up public interest, Cohen ran a number of small "reader" advertisements which contained nothing but the words, "S. Cohen's Sons' Legal Size Green Envelope." Inquiries began to pour in at once, so another and merely announced "Watch out for the announcement of Legal Size Green Envelopes."

In a space 3 by 3 inches the firm published the names of the winners. "The idea worked with remarkable success," said Cohen recently. "We figured that it was really an inexpensive way of getting our name before the public, and all we could hear on all sides were mentions of the 'legal size green envelope.' Of course, we had to have the co-operation of the local newspapers to get the amount of publicity it required, but this was accomplished by our advertising."

Query—What Became of the Charizman?

A certain druggist in Superior, Wis., has a reputation as a chemist and has been called upon also in many legal cases. He has a very good and thoughtful friend living on a private lake in the next county and many a time has that friend fished for the table of the druggist.

One morning recently the local expressman left a little pine box at the store. The druggist noted the friend's address in the corner and thought that this was an offering to make up for the lack of an invitation to come up to the lake. Sure enough, inside were some fish, laid on some wet moss. The druggist telephoned to his wife and she invited the minister and his wife over for dinner that evening.

The fish were fine, but the next morning...

What is the Average for a Suit, Store Finds

What is the real average retail price for a suit of men's clothing in these days of "hundred-dollar" suits and manufacturers' desperate efforts to rid themselves of their surplus stocks?

So far as the patrons of a big New York store are concerned, the store figures it out at $55.

"We are selling about 100 suits a day and at an average price of $55," recently declared one of the store's executives. "The public will pay a good price for clothing that comes well recommended and represents a reduction on values quoted earlier in the season. It is hard to say what the situation would have been now without meeting the consumer with special prices."

Even the Root Can Be Made Profitable.

The sporting goods department of the Dyas store, Seventh and Grand, Los Angeles, has found the patrons who wish to get the first points in fly-casting need not go away disappointed. For, in addition to a rifle range in the sporting goods department, this store has a fly-casting school.

This school is on the roof of the store and the patrons find plenty of space in which to get a start in this sport. The feature was inaugurated by the insertion in the local newspapers of illustrations of local moving picture folk, enjoying this part of the store service.

Woman Who Don't Dress Well Can't Sell Well.

"Dress as well as my merchandise looks. Cultivate style. Be neat. Look prosperous and happy."

That is the advice L. R. Eakin, proprietor of the Spot Cash Store in Manhattan, Kan., gives when he employs a young woman clerk. And he makes it possible for her to carry out this advice by paying an average of $28 a week to his thirty girl employees.

Manhattan is a strictly rural town of about 7500 inhabitants. It is a college town, but it is in a typical agricultural district. The Eakin store has a seventy-five-foot front, with large display windows, which are always tastefully decorated. It has an atmosphere, thoroughly cultivated, of prosperity, and the atmosphere is truly real, because Eakin is doing a big and constantly bigger business in women's wear.

Fifty clerks are employed in the store, thirty of whom are young women.

"I have learned to select my clerks almost instantaneously," says Eakin. "A young woman comes into my store to apply for a position. As soon as she enters the door and I have had one good look at her I know whether I will hire her or not. I am a believer in the theory that girls or women who have never been accustomed to good clothes, who know little or nothing about fine materials, good lines and dainty accessories cannot sell merchandise as well as those who have. I go on this theory when I select girls and women who dress well and becomingly, who have pep and style as well as ability."

"Girls of this class have to be paid better salaries, but they are worth it. I pay my women clerks an average of $28 a week. I start them at not less than $10, and if they are not worth $12 in the course of a few weeks I drop them. Not many are dropped, though, and some of them have been in the store for several years."

"I'll pay you prices, Eakin holds, the girl cannot dress well, secure enough to cat and be contented on small salaries. He tries to make conditions such that the girls will not wish to move on to some other store as soon as they become efficient."

THE PASSION FOR HASTE.

DECLINE OF THE TATTOOING ART

The tattoo artists who for years have reaped a rich harvest in their studios on Sands street, Brooklyn, and on the Bowery, now find their revenue fast dwindling and many are closing their doors, writes Thomas F. Barry, Jr., in the New York Evening Post.

Authority for the foregoing is a tattoo artist who has been engaged in his trade in this city since 1878. He is nearing his seventy-fifth year now, and his hand is still sure as he pricks the skin of a subject with his needle.

The old man's studio is on Sands street, Brooklyn, that haven for Jack ashore whose ship is lying in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. "Timmy Sammy" is his sobriquet, for he is English, and came here years ago after plying his trade in the "ditches" in Southampton, where he learned it as an apprentice.

"The queer," he reminisced with a quaint accent, "but during the war there were thousands of men who came here to Tattoo Row to get themselves a picture or two for their arms. Business was good. But during the last six months there has been a falling off. The men no longer seem to care about it, and don't come near us at all. Many 'artists' have shut up shop and gone to other cities where, perhaps, trade will be better. I fancy that prohibition may have something to do with it. I'm lucky now if I make two quid a day, where I made from four to five p'nce during the war."

Sammy's remarks may be taken as truth itself. He is said to be the dean of all tattooers on Tattoo Row. He objects, however, to his art being referred to as tattooing. With him it is "tattoo-graph." This name, he thinks, sounds better and is more comprehensive. His little studio, more artistically arranged than many others on the Bowery and Sands street, is decorated with pictures of birds, snakes, and cuttlefish from the Tropics. Quaint Japanese paintings cover the walls and albums containing hundreds of patriotic, grotesque, and floral designs are scattered around.

SEILORS NOT ONLY CLIENTS

In speaking of the fact that many people imagine the passion for having the skin marked with emblems in India ink and colors is confined to sailors alone, Sammy says that college students, soldiers, divers, telegraphers, salesmen, and men from all professions and occupations have been his subjects. Over his protest, he says, girl night-seers traveling with a party have had him tattoo the name of their fiance on arm or shoulder, and several days later have rushed back to him and demanded that the blemish be removed. The removal of tattoo marks, he asserts, has not reached a very high degree of success, although reports have it that a new and successful process has been discovered. If so, Sammy says, it may or may not be a good thing, all depending on how you look at it.

"If you use judgment in selecting your design," he declares, "a picture is a nice thing to look at. If not 'tattoo'd be better if it could be obliterated."

When the dean of the tattooographers learned his trade, tattooing was done by the operator puncturing the skin of his patron with a bunch of needles fastened to a stick or set in a cork. The primitive instrument was dipped into ink, and the tattooing was slow and painful. Now, however, it is done rapidly and without excessive pain by the use of an electrical device invented some years ago by a New Yorker.

After a patron has selected a design, the operator carefully washes the surface of the skin which is to be operated on, and then sterilizes it with alcohol. As soon as the cuticle is prepared he attaches the wires to one of his ingenious machines. The next instant half a dozen tiny needles, dancing up and down so rapidly that one can hardly see them, are puncturing the skin and forming the outline of the design.

The ink splashes and falls in big blotches and one fancies that the result will be merely an unsightly blotch, but when the

St. Peter's Split With Vets.

St. Peter's baseball team lost to the Moncton Vets. Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3, but won the evening game 7 to 3. The box scores and summaries follow:

The Moncton Veterans and St. Peter's split even in their two games here on Saturday, the visitors taking the afternoon session by a score of 5 to 3 and the local boys the evening one by 7 to 3. The afternoon game was closely contested and well played. The scoring started in the third inning when the visitors nine got two tallies. St. Peter's in their half of the third and tied the score in the sixth when they put another across. The visitors came back strong in the eighth and put the game on ice by getting three runs. The best of the North End boys could do was to get one more. Parlee, a St. John boy, was on the mound for the Moncton team and held the heavy hitting St. Peter's down to five hits. He also struck out seven. His team mates had several errors but they did not prove costly. Chestnut pitched for the home team and was hit safely eight times. He worked hard and played a good balling game. O'Regan also played well at third.

The evening game, which went to six innings, was marked by heavy hitting, the visitors getting ten bingles off King while St. Peter's got a total of fifteen of the delivery of McLellan and Friars, who relieved him. Milan and Callaghan shone at the bat for St. Peter's while Edington was strong for the Moncton aggregation.

National League Sunday.
Brooklyn	Brooklyn	retained first place by a 2 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh yesterday, in a game featured by arguments and a bombardment of pop bottles from the stands. The pop bottles from the stands came in the eighth inning when Brooklyn players crowded around Umpire Moran to protest against his decision that Mitchell was out on a close play at third.

INJURED AT SHERBROOKE.
 John S. Simonds, son of W. A. Simonds, Water street, who left on Friday on the harvesters' excursion, met with an accident at Sherbrooke, Que. His arm was quite badly hurt by some glass in a broken window, and the artery nearly severed. The wound was dressed by a doctor and Mr. Simonds returned home. He is now at his father's residence at Red Head where it is hoped that he will soon be all right again.

BADGES STOLEN.
 Word has been received at local military headquarters to the effect that Class A badges numbers 418650 to 418674 inclusive and Class B badges numbers 418225 to 418249 inclusive have been stolen from the clearing service command in Quebec. It is presumed that they were stolen with a view of being worn by unauthorized persons. The G. W. V. has been notified and if badges bearing these numbers come to the attention of any one they will confer a favor by notifying the headquarters of any military district that action may be taken to apprehend the guilty party or parties.

This is Rotary week in connection with the East St. John and military hospital, and members having cars are giving their use to give patients an outing. Ronald McAvity is chairman of the committee. On July 30 Rotarians will picnic at Crystal Beach. The committee are: Sports—George Margetts, Ken. Haley, Ken. MacRae. Refreshments and Serving—Tom Guy, Dr. Chippm, Robt. Reid. Reception.—Dr. Spangier, Ronald McAvity, Clinton Brown, Dr. Barton.

FINE OF $1,500 IN DRUG CASE
 Case of Laurent Deleglise Is Disposed of—Two Liquor Cases and Eight Drunks.
 In the police court this morning the case of Laurent Deleglise, charged with having drugs unlawfully in his possession, was again taken up. F. R. Taylor, K. C., appeared for the department of Justice and Deleglise was represented by J. A. Barry. Argument was heard on both sides. The magistrate imposed a fine of $1,500. The accused has been out on a deposit of this amount.
 There were eleven arrests over Saturday and Sunday. Eight drunks were fined $8 or two months in jail. Thomas Hayes, arrested on the double charge of being drunk and having liquor in his possession was fined $8 or two months for being drunk and $400 for having the magistrate could investigate his past record.
 Cyril Kane and Robert McEachern were arrested by Sergeant J. McEachern on Sunday at 1:45 Sunday morning charged with lying and lurking in a yard off Portland street. Kane was also charged with having liquor in his possession at the time of his arrest to which he pleaded not guilty. When asked about the bottle he said it did not have liquor in it, but cylinder oil. Constable Gibbs was sworn as a witness and told of making the arrest in company with Sergeant J. McEachern. He said that at 1:45 on Sunday on Acadia street they saw the men come into a yard from the rear of Portland street. The men rapped at the back door of a house and were admitted. The two officers then went around the house and the two accused came out. When Kane saw the officers he began to run and produced a bottle from his pocket which he threw against the side of a house and smashed. Both men were placed under arrest and taken to the North End police station. The officers then returned to the place where the bottle had been broken and found that all the glass had been removed, though there was a strong odor of liquor about. While being taken to the station McEachern told officer Gibbs that he had seen the men go to bring a bottle as he knew these two policemen were out. He also said that he had seen them as he and Kane entered the house. They were remanded.

REG. BONNELL BADLY INJURED
 Thrown From Load of Hay at Ketepec and Seriously Hurt About Face and Head.
 Reginald Bonnell, son of Mrs. Mabel Bonnell, Ketepec, met with a serious accident on Friday afternoon which resulted in painful injuries to his face and head. About four o'clock as he was assisting to put a load of hay into a barn at Ketepec, the horse started suddenly, throwing him from the side of the ground. He struck the side of his face on a plank with sufficient force to break the plank in two, and injured his cheek bone severely. He was picked up unconscious and carried into the house. Dr. Davidson was sent for and the patient put under his care.
 Bonnell did not regain consciousness until Saturday afternoon and then was only in a semi-conscious state. Yesterday his mind was a little clearer and he seemed to take a more natural interest in things. His condition is serious as yet. Mr. Bonnell is a young man well and favorably known in the commercial and social life of the city and is also a veteran of the great war. His many friends join in wishing him a speedy return to health.

FREDERICTON PUPILS LEAD IN EXAMINATION
 Announcement of Results of Matriculation and Leaving
 St. John Pupils in Third and Fourth Places—Only 17 Failed in Class of 190—Successful Candidates.

Although pupils of Fredericton High School took first and second places in the provincial matriculation examinations, the third and fourth places were secured by St. John pupils. Frank Corkery came third and Samuel Douglas McGowan fourth. Out of sixteen pupils who passed in the first division five were from St. John.
 Mary B. Jones, who led the list, is a daughter of Dr. G. C. Jones, chancellor of the University of New Brunswick. Arthur E. L. Booth, who is in second position, is a son of Arthur H. Booth of Fredericton.

The board of examiners for the matriculation and leaving examinations for 1920 report the following:
 There were 100 candidates for matriculation and 20 for leaving. Of the candidates for matriculation 16 passed in the first division, 96 in the second division, 25 in the third division, 89 in the third division conditionally, and 17 failed.

Simplicity Should Be the Keynote in Home Furnishing
 If you were to ask us, we'd say, let simplicity be the keynote in home furnishing. Too many objects in a room is not good. Many a picture is spoiled in the painting because the artist keeps adding touches after the job is done.
 Frequently pretty interiors are knocked all askew by the addition of two or three inappropriate articles of furniture, or an unfortunate selection in floor covering, or something else.
 Furniture designed on approved lines costs no more at Everett's than the nondescript kind. It has long been the aim of this growing business to popularize beauty in home furnishing—to bring it within reach of the many.
 We do not seek to oversell patrons, but take personal interest in enabling them to work out all the little angles in home beautifying successfully.
 Just the NECESSARY things, fittingly selected—art and utility combined—and that's what's wanted these days.
 Period furniture at fair prices: DRESSERS, BUFFETS, BEDS, DAVENPORTS, PORCH FURNITURE, FLOOR LAMPS, SHADES, DINING SUITES, BEDROOM SUITES, RUGS, anything and everything useful for mansion, cottage or flat.
