Petitcodiac Fire Sweet, Loss Placed At $125,000 To $150,000

Whole Block Destroyed; Also Several Other Buildings Outbreak in Early Morning; Flames Fanned by Wind and Wooden Buildings Soon Are Enveloped in Flames and Consumed

(Special to Times.) Petitcodiac, N. B., March 14.—The whole block of buildings here was destroyed by fire and several others outside the block, as well today. The fire, which started at about half-past one had burned almost by six o'clock this morning. The Sussex fire department arrived on the scene about 4:30, but neither the Moncton department nor the Sussex fire department could do any good then as the fire had abated. A call was put into St. John to the fire department, but on account of no available railway engine they could not respond.

A large number of families are homeless, but are being cared for among the other families in the town. The grocery stores being all burned out, the only provisions in the village are those in the homes. A delegation invited by Mayor Price went to Moncton to lay the facts before the council, and it is presumed that help will be sent immediately. The damage caused by the fire is estimated at between $125,000 and $150,000. Only about half of the amount will be made up by insurance. All families in the burning houses escaped without injury, although Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, who are both about ninety years of age, had a narrow escape, and only by the presence of mind of Mrs. J. H. Yeomans and her heroic work saved Mr. and Mrs. Crawford.

A bucket brigade was organized soon after the outbreak, but on account of the high wind this was of little avail. The station agent, R. H. Cross, notified the railway authorities in Moncton, who notified Mayor Price. A special train was despatched with an engine and hose cart and seventeen men. The fire started near the kitchen store in the rear of the house owned by A. Moore and occupied by himself and his wife. The house was situated nearly opposite the C. G. E. railway station. The fire, driven by a strong southeast wind, rapidly made progress and in a short time had caught the house next door owned by J. H. Crawford and occupied by himself and his wife and J. H. Yeomans, hairdresser and his wife. A working factory owned and operated by Bliss Hicks, was the next to catch. Mr. Hicks lived above the factory. A blacksmith shop owned and operated by N. A. MacNeil was the next building to be destroyed. The fire then changed its course, crossed the street and the general store owned by S. C. Goggin was the next to be enveloped in flames. Over this store was a public hall. In this section of the village the buildings were close together, and as all were wooden the fire was hard to check. It spread to the general store owned by R. G. Innis and from there to the large store of H. W. Church and Company. The next was a grocery and meat store owned by A. M. Brown and adjoining that was a drug store owned by W. E. Blakney. The rear of the drug store was occupied by F. McKillop, who lived there alone, and Mr. O'Brien and his wife and five children lived over the store. The law office of U. King was destroyed and in the rear of the law office was a warehouse rented from the same estate by H. W. Church & Company. This was likewise destroyed. The post office, owned and managed by D. S. Mann was destroyed. The upstairs part of the building was occupied by Mrs. Collette, who lived there alone. A son was killed in action a short time ago, and this disaster happening so near was a great shock to her. The Bank of Nova Scotia was next destroyed. The building was owned by the Sussex Mercantile Co. of Sussex. The next building to be destroyed was the general store owned by S. L. Stockton & Son, a small warehouse used for storing hides owned by J. C. Jones, a law office owned by J. H. Yeomans, a small warehouse owned by H. W. Church & Company, the Mansard House and the undertaking parlors of Smith & Dunfield. The fire burned itself out before it came to the Blakney store and the stock was all gotten out for safety. The building was not damaged. A block burned. The entire block covering an area of about 100 by 200 feet was entirely destroyed. Besides this there were the Moore house, where the fire originated, the Crawford house, the Hicks' wool-working factory and the blacksmith shop; then across the street. The Mansard House was outside the block. The values of the buildings and the insurances on each have been estimated as follows: House owned by A. Moore, $35,000, insured for $1,000. Crawford house, valued at $15,000, no insurance. Hicks' factory, valued at $1,000, and insured $800. Blacksmith shop owned by N. A. MacNeil, valued at $1,800, insured for $800. S. C. Goggin store, owned by Mrs. Teves, valued at $4,000, insured at $1,000. Goggin stock, valued at $15,000, insured for $5,000. Building used by R. G. Innis as a store, controlled by the Sussex Mercantile Co., valued between $6,000 and $7,000, insurance unknown. Mr. Innis had his stock, which is valued at $20,000, covered by between $12,000 and $14,000 with D. Rogers of Amherst, Iowa Insurance Co. Building occupied by H. W. Church & Co. and their two houses and the stock, valued at $16,000, insured for $2,000 with Frank T. Fairweather & Co., St. John. Stock in the warehouses, valued at between $3,000 and $4,000, and insured for $1,000. Grocery and meat store of A. M. Brown, valued at $1,500, and insured for

Turks Reported Violating Armistice And Terrorizing Greeks

Saloniki, March 14.—Turkish troops in Southern Asia Minor are ignoring the fact that an armistice has been signed and are terrorizing the Greeks in that region, according to the Metropolitan of Byzantium, who says that Allied forces should be sent to protect the population from the young Turks.

N. B. FARMERS ARE FOR RECIPROCITY

Convention Adopts Resolution for This and Against Daylight Saving—House to Adjourn at 6 Today Till Monday

(Special to Times.) Fredericton, March 14.—The following resolution on reciprocity was passed by the Farmers' and Dairyman's Association yesterday: "Resolved that we, the farmers of New Brunswick in convention assembled, do hereby endorse the action taken by the provincial legislatures of Manitoba and Saskatchewan in requesting the federal government to adopt the reciprocity compact formerly proposed between Canada and the United States, and hereby request our legislature to do likewise." The association also opposed daylight saving and adopted the following: "Resolved that this association protest against the introduction of the daylight saving scheme for New Brunswick this year and ask the legislature to use its influence against it." The members of the association are at the Experimental Farm today. In the legislature this afternoon Hon. Dr. Roberts will be the first speaker on the subject. The house will adjourn at six o'clock until Monday night. The opposition will put up a man to follow Dr. Roberts, but the debate will be adjourned until Monday night. The members will spend the weekend at home. N. S. Farmers. "Truro, N. S., March 14.—Resolutions concerning the soldiers' settlement act, falling to meet the present situation, recording 'absolute opposition' to the daylight saving scheme and the endorsing of conscription of prize animals for exhibition purposes were adopted at yesterday's session of the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association here. Others provided for the organization of farmers in an endeavor to secure increased representation in parliament, recommended the purchase of all farm machinery, and proposed the taking over by the government of the railways in Richmond and Inverness counties.

PEACE TREATY NOT READY BY MARCH 20

Great Progress, However, By Then Expected THAT WITH GERMANY FIRST

There Will be Three Others—Question of Resuming Commercial Activity—Dispute Over Possession of Shantung Peninsula

Paris, March 14.—Captain Andre Tardieu of the French peace delegation held his usual weekly conference yesterday with the newspaper correspondents. Responding to an inquiry whether it is possible that the peace treaty will be signed by March 20 he said he believed such a contingency quite impossible, although he expected great progress to be made within the next week. Four treaties will be necessary, one each with Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, he explained, and these, he said, probably would not be signed together. The treaty with Germany being the most important, would be signed first. The other three would be drawn along similar lines and will place limitations of armaments upon the other Central Powers, but these will be less hazy about framing these. Asked if the signing of peace would permit Germany to resume commercial activity, Captain Tardieu said the financial and commercial sections of the treaty will contain important regulations of enemy trade, but that shipping will be resumed under certain reservations. Answering an inquiry whether the Germans would be permitted to come to Paris to sign the peace treaty, Captain Tardieu said it was not certain that the Germans would be summoned to Paris, but the conferences had not decided this point. A Matter in Dispute. Paris, March 14.—(By the Associated Press.) The supreme council of the peace conference has virtually decided to include in the preliminary treaty of peace a requirement that Germany should relinquish her lease-hold of Tsing-Tao and all properties and concessions on the Shantung peninsula. No attempt, it is understood, will be made at present to render a decision as to the ultimate possession of Germany's rights, which are now the subject of a controversy between the Japanese and Chinese delegations in Paris. The former holds that the right of conquest over the German forces there, although she is willing to permit the ultimate status of the Shantung peninsula to be determined by the peace conference. China contends the lease was automatically cancelled by the expiration of the twenty-year term which originally acquired it by force, and that the property reverts to China. It is expected that the final adjustment will be made in the defensive peace treaty or by the league of nations, unless, in the meantime, the principals to the controversy reach a mutually satisfactory agreement.

Americans In Clash With The Japanese

Marines Raid Tien Tsin Concession and Attack Consul

Revenge for Alleged Rough Treatment of Disorderly Soldiers; Consulate Inevitably and Official Reported Seriously Injured

Peking, March 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—American marines have raided the Japanese concession at Tien Tsin, forcing their way into the Japanese consulate and assaulting the consul, according to dispatches received here. The trouble is said to have been caused by rough treatment given American soldiers who became disorderly in the Japanese quarter of the city. It is said Japanese soldiers drove out the Americans with fixed bayonets, wounding two of them quite seriously. The next day 200 angry marines who were off duty paraded through the Japanese concession and it is alleged they attacked every Japanese encountered. When the marines reached the consulate they forcibly entered, it is reported, and assaulted the consul, whose injuries are understood to be serious. The consular body is deliberating on measures to be taken to restore normal conditions. It is said that feeling is running high in Tien Tsin. Washington, March 14.—A clash between American troops and Japanese policemen and some civilians at Tien Tsin, was reported to the state department today by Minister Reisch at Peking. The minister said he had sent First Secretary Spencer to Tien Tsin to investigate and report.

MUST REVISE "SCRAP OF PAPER" TREATY

Rejoicing in Belgium Over Supreme Council Decision

Brussels, March 14.—Premier Delecloux announced in the chamber of deputies today that the supreme council of the peace conference had decided the treaty of April 19, 1918, between Belgium and Holland must be revised. "Parliament and the country," he said, "will receive the decision with satisfaction. They will see in it the forecast of actions which will have a profound influence on the destination of Belgium. On March 12, 1918, exactly eighty years ago, these walls heard the farewell of representatives of Belgian provinces which the execution of the treaty was about to separate from this country. The hour cannot but be moved by such a memorable coincidence." The deputies stood while the premier was speaking and there was enthusiastic applause from all parts of the chamber.

DEATH TO THE INTERPRETER

Police Agent Says That is Threat in Vancouver Case TRIAL OF A CHINESE

Vancouver, B. C., March 14.—"Any man who translates in this case is threatened with death," said Malcolm Reid, Dominion police agent, in the police court yesterday, at the trial of Chen Sheu Yen, alleged member of the Chinese Nationalist League, charged with being a member of an unlawful society. Comment was made in one of several letters put in as evidence on the murder of the Hua Lung, in Victoria, to the effect that that was a bad move, as it had caused the roof to cave in on the league. Among letters captured by the police was one from the accused to Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the league in China, in which the accused was alleged to have stated that $10,000 had been collected here for the cause. Reid testified that copies of secret treaties between China and Japan had been located in Vancouver. In this connection it is recalled that Chinese delegates to the peace conference decried in Washington some weeks ago that copies of these treaties had been stolen from their baggage in Japan. The threats were not read. Reid said the Chinese Nationalist League had spread all over the world. Pictures of Chinese youths put in as exhibits were not explained, but a local paper states that "some of the pictures were regarded as oriental military colleges in Calgary and Lethbridge, and that these men were to assist in a German financial revolution in South China. The case was adjourned until Monday.

THE BREAKWATER WORK

Commissioner Bullock Thinks Harbor Specialists Should Investigate Who's Situation

The delay in the extension of the Negro Head breakwater to Partridge Island is not without its advantages, in the opinion of T. H. Bullock, commissioner of harbors. Mr. Bullock has been giving careful consideration to the various aspects of the situation which would be created by closing the western passageway and he finds such a diversity of opinion that he has come to the conclusion that an impartial investigation should be made by harbor specialists before any plans are approved and the contract awarded. There is no difference of opinion regarding the need for greater protection for the harbor and the harbor facilities, this need having been accentuated by the total amount. Permission to print the report will be made by the harbor committee, which is now acting as a natural breakwater, but there are different opinions as to how this protection should be afforded. One of the chief objections to an extension of the present breakwater to the island is the fact that this would permanently close the western channel. Pilots and others interested in shipping have urged the value of this passage as an alternate route for vessels entering and leaving port, the value of which is readily recognized in the case of the smaller craft and which is said to be an asset in the handling of larger vessels. In addition to the value of the passage, it has been suggested that closing the channel might effect changes in the direction and strength of the currents in the main channel, which would not improve conditions. The suggestion made by those who are opposed to closing the channel is the construction of a separate breakwater from the island running towards the shore and overlapping the present structure, but leaving a passage which would permit of the entry of vessels.

CARUSO'S TAX BILL IS $153,937.70

Takes Advantage of Installment Plan and Pays Fourth of It New York, March 14.—Enrico Caruso, tenor, will pay an income tax of $153,937.70 for 1914. This was revealed at the collector's office yesterday. Caruso visited the office and taking advantage of the installment payment system, presented a check for $38,483.42, one-fourth of the total amount. Permission to print the amount was given by Caruso. The law does not permit the tax collector's office voluntarily to give out the information.

DISCUSSED OVERDRAFT

Members of the local board of health, accompanied by the county secretary, met Mayor Hayes in the latter's office this morning to discuss plans for carrying over an overdraft which has been incurred by the board.

PRESENTATION MADE TODAY TO S. R. MAXWELL

Retiring From Railway Mail Service After Long and Efficient Service S. R. Maxwell, of the railway mail service staff of the post office, who is retiring after thirty years of service, was presented with a testimonial by the members of the superintendent's staff, who made him the recipient of a gold-headed cane, a fountain pen and an address. The last mentioned expressed the regard of all at his departure for the service and best wishes for future happiness and prosperity. Mr. Maxwell joined the service, January 1, 1882. He has been a popular and efficient official.

C. P. R. PRESIDENT NOT HERE TODAY

E. W. Beatty, president of the C. P. R., who was expected to arrive in St. John this evening, will not be here today. Mayor Hayes, who had extended an invitation through H. C. Groat to Mr. Beatty to be his guest at dinner, received word this morning from Mr. Groat that Mr. Beatty had been delayed twenty-four hours, and that a previous engagement would make it impossible to accept the invitation for tomorrow evening. The telegram was not quite clear as to when the president would leave Montreal or whether he was coming to St. John on going to Halifax, his object in making the eastern trip is to meet Lord Shaughnessy, who is returning from England and his plans depend on which port the latter will arrive at.

UNIQUE THEATRE WILL PRESENT

"The Cannibals of the South Seas" Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of Next Week

Martin Johnson's "Cannibals of the South Seas," the most talked of picture of the hour, will be presented at the Unique Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This thrilling feature was photographed at the risk of life by the daring adventurer, Martin Johnson, who spent fourteen months of hazardous exploration in the South Pacific, where the new-catch savage still exists. The New York Times says: "It is absorbingly interesting, an unstaged drama, thrilling, exciting, entertaining and unusual." Don't forget this is your opportunity to see a feature distinctly different.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY SHOW

The comedy offering of the Young Men's Society of the Cathedral parish, entitled "Eliza Comes to Stay," which is to be held in the Imperial Theatre this year, will have its performances after the first picture show at night (8.30). Talked On 'Phone To Flying Airship

Radio Telephone Message Sent to Point One Hundred and Fifty Miles Away by Secretary Daniels

Washington, March 14.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels talked today by radio telephone with Esigian Harry Fagenwater in a navy flying boat en route from Washington to Hampton Roads. Communication was established at a distance of more than 150 miles, by far the longest transmission of radio telephone signals with an airplane in flight ever accomplished. The secretary used the ordinary desk telephone on his desk at the navy department. Officers in charge of the development of radio signalling were grouped around him. Mr. Daniels asked the esigian how far away his machine was. After a moment's delay the officer replied that he was then more than 150 miles from Washington and flying at a high altitude. His voice came very distinctly toward the end of the conversation, as the distance increased. The esigian at the department said the 150 miles was practically the extreme range of radio telephonic communication with an aircraft with present equipment and more than double any previous distance covered in a similar test.

'His Master's Voice' 90 cents for 10-inch, double-sided

The Admiral's Broom—and—Up From Somerset H. Ruthven McDonald 216053

"The Admiral's Broom" is a ballad vigorous and tuneful, having all the swing of the rollicking song of the sea, and possessing breadth of bigness as well as strength of workmanship. This rousing ballad song as rendered by Ruthven McDonald is remarkable for clearness of enunciation and the listener will have no difficulty in following every word.

"Up from Somerset." The old song has all the qualities of the good old ones, the expressions used all possess the power of conjuring up pictures in the mind of the listener, which is one of the highest qualities of art. Mr. McDonald's voice is not only ample in volume but he can phrase with delicacy and the tones of his upper register are remarkable for their richness.

"Till We Meet Again"—Waltz. Nicholas Oriando's Orchestra. "Beautiful Ohio"—Waltz. Waldorf-Astoria Dance Orchestra. The waltz is a dance that never loses its flavor, no matter what others may come and go. The two waltzes on this record have all the old-time grace and the virtue of novelty. "Till We Meet Again" is the first offering of an orchestra new to dancers—Nicholas Oriando's Orchestra. It is a full-bodied string orchestra possessing exceptional brilliance of tone. A vocal chorus also assists by singing the refrain. "Beautiful Ohio" is played by the Waldorf-Astoria Dance Orchestra under Joseph Knecht, whose name is sufficient guarantee of its excellence. "Beautiful Ohio" is a song, but it makes an exceptionally good dance number. The cello obbligato which enriches the song makes a splendid counterpoint to use as a climax at the end of the waltz. Dancers will appreciate a waltz which intensifies in interest before the finish in this way.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRE

The congregation of St. John's Presbyterian church, Moncton, met last evening and adopted resolutions expressing regret at the decision of their minister, Rev. T. Porter Drums, to accept a call to Newark, N. J., but announcing that they would not oppose the call.

The mayor of Halifax has vetoed the increases in salaries for civic officials grounds that they already are receiving a fair living wage while the increase for the magistrate was not sufficient. The board of control yesterday approved a bond issue of $1,000,000 for street paving.

At the convention of the Dominion Council of Women, now in session in Ottawa, Mrs. E. A. Smith invited the council to meet in St. John next year. Liberal Candidate, Aymer, Ont., March 14.—East Elgin Liberals yesterday chose W. G. Charl-

AT FREDERICTON. The opposition in the legislature is foolish as well as weak. It makes many mistakes which experience should enable it to avoid.

The opposition in the legislature is foolish as well as weak. It makes many mistakes which experience should enable it to avoid. Several of its members have directed taunts at Hon. Mr. Veniot since the session began, and they should have known better, for their house is notoriously of glass and Mr. Veniot is a willing and ready fighter.

THE SOLDIERS. Are men in khaki in St. John being restored to civilian life as rapidly as it can be done? Is there any reason why men who could be usefully employed at home on the farm should be kept in uniform?

PLANNING ACTIVITIES.

A special meeting of Valcartier Chapter, L. O. D. E., was held last evening at the residence of Mrs. F. R. Taylor under the presidency of the regent, Mrs. D. L. McLaren, and a great many future activities were planned for. The first action of the meeting was to vote into existence a war savings society with a large membership, and the second action was the authorizing of a donation of money towards the furnishing of a bedroom in the nurses' home of the East St. John County Hospital. A pantry sale, a rummage sale and a dance were then decided upon as means of adding to the chapter funds, and committees were appointed to take charge of the various arrangements. The rummage sale is to be held first, and the week following the rummage sale, the pantry sale will take place in W. Pedersen's store in Charlotte street. Towards the end of next month the dance will be held in the Stouido, Germain street.

SAYS ERZBERGER WILL NOT BE AT PEACE CONFERENCE

Bath, March 14—Mathias Erzberger has refused to be a member of the German delegation at the peace conference, although pressure has been brought to bear upon him to bring about his acceptance, according to a Berlin despatch which is said to be based upon authoritative information.

MARCH

The stormy March has come at last With wind and cloud and changing skies. I hear the rushing of the blast, That through the snowy valley flies.

Ah! passing few are they who speak, Wild, stormy mouth! in praise of thee. Yet, though thy winds are loud and bleak, Thou art a welcome month to me.

For thou, to northern lands, again The glad and glorious sun dost bring, And thou hast joined the gentle train And wear'st the gentle name of Spring.

And, in thy reign of blast and storm, Smiles many a long, bright, sunny day, When the changed winds are soft and warm, And heaven puts on the blue of May.

Then sing aloud the gushing rills In joy that they again are free, And, brightly leaping down the hills, Begin their journey to the sea.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Sprague-Lester.
Apoahqui, March 13—The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kierstead, Collins, was on Wednesday afternoon, March 13, the scene of the wedding day of their granddaughter, Miss Leah Lester, who became the wife of Gray E. Sprague, Rev. C. Saunders Young officiated.

Taylor-MacWilliam.
Salisbury, N. B., March 13—The home of Mr. and Mrs. James MacWilliam at Salisbury was the scene of a pretty nuptial event at 8.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon when their second daughter, Miss Emma Mae MacWilliam, was united in marriage to Chipman Lewis Taylor, second son of Mrs. Albert Taylor, and the late George W. Taylor of North River, Salisbury.

NOT AGREED AS TO WHAT TERRITORY GREECE SHOULD GET
Paris, March 14.—(By the Associated Press)—The report of a commission of the peace conference which has been considering Greek territorial claims is not unanimous concerning regions which should be apportioned to Greece in the peace settlement. The majority of the commission favored giving Smyrna to Greece, as the city has a large Greek population and lies immediately opposite Athens, across the Aegean Sea. American members of the commission took a different view, however, holding that Smyrna was essential as a port of exit and entrance for the vast commercial enterprises of the Hitherland of Asia Minor. Thus divided, the report goes before the council of the great powers for final decision.
Concerning the Dodecanese Islands, the commission was unanimous in recognizing the Greek civilization of the islands, and the American delegates favor the incorporation of them in Greece, but the British, French and Italian delegates, in view of the special treaty of London, withheld their approval until the subject can be diplomatically adjusted with Italy.

SINN FEINERS ASK SAFE CONDUCT TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE.
Dublin, March 14.—The Sinn Feiners are "in accordance with international custom" asking the British government for safe conduct for their delegates to the peace conference, but it is said they will not ask for passports.

PUT TO DEATH RELATIVES OF THE OFFICERS

More Crimes Charged Against the Bolsheviks—Officers Also Shot

Stockholm, March 14.—All the relatives of officers of the 96th Russian Regiment which went over to the white guards against the Soviet government, have been executed, according to a dispatch from Petrograd. The executions were ordered by the military revolutionary committee of Petrograd.

Some well known Russian officers, it is added, also have been executed after being convicted of charges of having spread false rumors regarding the Soviet government.

London, March 14.—The Bolshevik general staff at Moscow says that during January and February the Bolshevik army occupied territory the size of France, having 1,000 miles of railroad under its control, and declares that the Soviet troops will reach Archangel by May 1.

At Kiev Professor Baranovsky, an economist, appointed to represent Ukraine in Paris, is reported to have been executed, also Professor Zakhodoff, Professor Zhemniko, General Babichan, eleven newspaper men and the president of the municipality.

BLAME PATRONAGE EVIL FOR SITUATION IN PRINTING BUREAU

Typo Committee in Ottawa In- vestigate and Present Report

Ottawa, March 14.—A special committee of Ottawa Typographical Union No. 102, appointed to consider the recently announced findings of the commission which investigated the printing bureau, insofar as they referred to the members of the union, made public its report yesterday.

In brief, the report is a strong arraignment of the government for what is declared long continued mismanagement and discrimination against the operatives of the printing bureau.

Coupled with this is a declaration of principle that the bureau should be continued as a government printing bureau, and that the salary scale provided by law, but withheld, should be put into effect.

The report also demands that the investigation of the commission be continued by an independent body of three men, representative of the printing union, the commercial printers and parliament or the newspapers.

The report takes up the more important findings in the committee's findings, which it terms "slandorous and a gross libel on a large and respectable body of citizens." It is charged that the commission held its meetings in camera, took no evidence and gave no opportunity for the employees to be heard, that it exonerated the management but made direct stab at the employees, that in their words, the workers were made the scapegoat and laid down with blame properly belonging to the patronage system and its sponsors.

The report also demands that the government ownership of the printing bureau be maintained, that the public utilities, the report declares, have given the workers the same consideration of what responsible government can do in the way of mismanagement and political jobbery.

SECOND READING FOR STRONGER BEER BILL

Quebec Legislature Dealing With Referendum for Next Month

Quebec, March 14.—The Mitchell bill, providing for a referendum on the sale of light beer and wine was given a second reading in the legislative assembly yesterday. It was then passed in committee of the House and third reading fixed for today. It provides that the lieutenant-governor in council may, by proclamation, fix a day between April 1 and 15 next on which the voting shall take place.

The bill will ask the following question: "Is it your opinion that the sale of light beer, cider and wine, as defined by law, should be allowed?" The vote will be yes or no.

The definition referred to in the bill concerns the strength of the beverages as outlined in the conditions bill, a portion of which is to be enacted and the second provides for the sale of light beer and wine in an affirmative vote when the referendum is taken. The strength of the beverages is fixed as follows: Beer of 2.31 per cent weight alcohol, and wine and cider of .94 per cent weight alcohol.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell said it was estimated that the cost of the referendum would be between $40,000 and $50,000. The house also studied the resolution on the prohibition bill upon which progress was reported.

Train Becomes Siberian Horror

Box Cars Filled With Prisoners
Cross Country and Back Again
—Red Cross Helpless

(Correspondence of the Associated Press)
Vladivostok, Feb. 5.—A daily trying to induce Trans-Siberian railway authorities to halt a "death train" on which 800 persons are being sent back toward Samara, after they had been shipped from that city on a 2,000-mile journey across Siberia in mid-winter. Many of them are ill with typhoid fever and they have only such medical attention as can be given at stations en route.

They are part of a group of 2,100 war prisoners, inmates of Samara jail and other alleged "offenders" shipped out of Samara by the Czech-Slovaks on October 26 after they captured that city.

On the way from Samara to Nikolai, near Vladivostok, 760 of them perished of disease, starvation or cold. Their sufferings make a pitiful tale of hunger, disease and death. Coupled in forty freight cars, fifty or sixty to a car, they were packed in small spaces, and many of them, left only a small space of standing room in front of the seats. The train was crowded with prisoners of war, including Siberia from Samara to Nikolai. Of the 2,100 who started the terrible journey, only 200 were left when they reached Vladivostok.

Red Cross representatives removed hundreds of them from the train and sent the most serious cases to an improvised hospital at Nikolai. Eight hundred were re-packed back toward Samara in a fresh train of box cars, which was started on its journey toward Vladivostok, one of the Red Cross representatives sent to Nikolai to care for the refugees, departed the train until the station master at Nikolai said he was in danger of court-martial if he permitted the train to proceed. How far the train has proceeded, no one here knows. Examination of the prisoners at Vladivostok disclosed that fifteen of the 800 who started back for Russia, had died after leaving Nikolai, and that nearly one-third of the others was ill. There were three or four women among them, and their condition was no better than that of the men.

Two very heavy cases of typhoid fever on the train.

At Vladivostok station two American railway operatives raised a subscription and purchased food for one day for all the sick and suffering. The American Consulate here, supplied some medical attention and fuel for two days, and the train was sent on its journey toward Vladivostok.

There is said to be little chance of relief for the train, which is feared the unwelcome refugees will be passed along from one station to another until the last victim succumbs.

Many of these people had been traveling in box cars since October last, most of them being packed in small spaces, and according to the description of one of the Red Cross workers, among them were a number of innocent prisoners who had been imprisoned by the Bolsheviks. One was a young woman doctor who had been with the Red Guards. Another was a girl of eighteen, formerly a typist and bookkeeper in the mayor's office at Samara, who had been with the refugees were clothed in rags or clothing ill-fitted for the rigors of a long journey across Siberia in mid-winter.

Their train was in charge of a joint guard of Czechs and Russians who also were dependent upon charity. The report was that the train descended like a pest upon the towns and villages en route, and that it was the business of the station masters to get rid of it as quickly and with as little trouble to himself as possible. The train was packed with prisoners, and for days at a time the natives populations along the line responded to the best of their ability, but their best was not more than a makeshift necessity, and they could do no more. The prisoners were compelled to go without food.

It is reported that several similar trains were sent eastward from Samara and that they were being sent along the line from Omsk eastward.

COMPLAIN ABOUT SUSSEX TRAIN

A delegation of business men who are accustomed to coming to the city on the Sussex train waited upon Supt. I. R. Ross of the C. G. R. this forenoon to register a complaint about frequent late arrivals of that train. The Sussex train is supposed to arrive here at 8:35 but on several occasions of late months it has been a half hour and more behindhand. The allegation is that the man at Sussex is responsible for keeping the tank pumps full of water has been laid off on Sundays and when freight trains use the supply of water there is none available for the Sussex train when it is ready to start early on Monday. It is further stated that the train has been delayed because of this reason on days other than Monday.

It is understood the delegation today included a half hour's delay in this morning's arrival, but others say that the Sussex engine was required to haul the fire relief train to Pettaudiac at 4:30 a. m. and was late in returning.

DEATH OF MRS. CLARK OF CAR. TON WHO HAD BEEN SEVERAL TIMES AROUND WORLD

Mrs. Sarah A. Clark, widow of William Clark, passed away suddenly but peacefully at the home of Robert Gering, 164 Gorman street, west end, St. John, N. B., on Wednesday morning, March 13. Mrs. Clark, who had reached the advanced age of ninety-four years, had retained the use of her faculties until the last and had continued bright and cheerful, taking an interest in the events of her home circle and the world beyond. She was a native of North Shields, England, and came to this city as a bride many years ago. First with her father and later with her husband, both of whom were sea captains, she had traveled extensively and had made the voyage around the world several times. Recollections of her travels and experiences made her an interesting conversationalist.

Mrs. Clark was a faithful member of the Ludlow street Baptist church and was active in its work until advanced age prevented. She is survived by one son, Herbert, of the electric contracting firm of James Moore & Company, Los Angeles.

TO SELL CANADIAN MILITARY STORES

Ottawa, March 14.—The war purchasing commission is making plans for the sale of second-hand and condemned clothing, shoes, equipment, etc., of the militia and other departments of the Dominion government. Sales will be made by tender except that Dominion, provincial and municipal departments, hospitals, charitable and philanthropic and similar institutions which are conducted for the benefit of the public and not for profit may purchase goods at prices which will be established by the war purchasing commission.

It is requested that persons wishing to purchase goods should register their names and addresses with the war purchasing commission, stating the lines in which they are particularly interested.

A GLOUCESTER FISH TROUBLE

Gloucester, Mass., March 14.—Producers and buyers said to represent virtually the entire fish industry here, announced yesterday their refusal to comply with the demands of the fishermen's unions to arbitration. They asserted that to grant the principle demand for the establishment of a minimum price of fish would lay them open to prosecution for controlling prices.

The joint council representing various unions of fishermen has expressed a willingness to arbitrate, although the unions individually some weeks ago in present proceedings in working conditions, announced that they would accept the price of 15 cents if the demands were not granted.

DAUGHTER TRUESA

THE P.E.I. CAR FERRY

(Correspondence of The Times-Star.)
At the present time the question of permanent docks and ferry landings is a very live one in St. John and it may be that a short description of the new concrete car ferry terminals at Port Borden, P. E. I., which were designed and constructed by the well-known Canadian harbor engineers, Roger Miller & Co., under general supervision of the government, will be of interest to your readers.

At the outer end of a stone approach about 1,700 feet long are nine concrete cribs, seven of which are sunk on the west side of the car ferry's berth and two on the east. These cribs were all built the same width, namely 35 feet, and were from 91 to 118 feet long and were sunk to an elevation of 20 feet below low water.

These cribs were constructed at Port du Chen, N. B., as at the time no harbor existed at Port Borden. In order that these cribs might be started dry a floating dry dock 135 feet long, 47 feet wide and 12 feet high was constructed for the purpose.

The bottom of these cribs were built of British Columbia fir 8 inches thick, 18 inches wide and 35 feet long with all seams thoroughly caulked. These were built on shore, launched and hauled into the dry dock and upon them forms were set and enough concrete placed so they would float above water when removed from the dock. After the concrete had set sufficiently, valves in the dry dock were opened and water allowed to enter until the cribs floated. One end of the dry dock was now opened and the crib floated out. The remaining concrete was then placed while the crib was in a floating position and at the same time another one was being started in the dry dock. All cribs had two longitudinal walls running the full length of the cribs and cross walls which were placed at 11 feet 2 inch centres, which formed pockets 10 inches wide and 12 feet long. The outer walls is 14 inches in thickness except in the tidal range where it is 10 inches thick. All the inner walls are 10 inches in thickness.

After being sufficiently set the cribs were then towed 40 miles to Port Borden by two ocean-going tugs at the rate of about four miles per hour. During one trip a severe storm was encountered and the tugs were surprised how well it rode the sea.

The bottom where these cribs were to be placed is solid rock. This was dredged to a depth of 12 feet and then two feet of fine rock added to bring it to grade. This was levelled carefully and the concrete was then poured in parallel at say 150 or 200 feet apart. The greater part of this space could be filled in with dredged material by the use of a hopper barge which could go in between them and release their load at high tide. After being filled up cribs were then placed in position across the entrance. This type of dock in conjunction with concrete sheds would give St. John a terminal second to none.

THE HIGGINS CASE

To the Editor of The Times:
Sir.—In reply to the letter of Bishop Richardson in regard to the jury's finding on my boy's death, allow me to say that it is not surprising, and perhaps commendable, that Bishop Richardson should have taken the attitude which he has taken in regard to Miss Spencer, the daughter of one of his clergy.

It is surprising, however, that the bishop, resident in Fredericton, without the evidence before him, would be able to decide whether the jury were right or wrong in their finding. But it is more extraordinary still that his lordship was able to come to the decision that one part of their finding, namely that the death was due to spinal meningitis, was conclusive and final, while the second part of their finding, that Miss Spencer's conduct warranted her removal, was absurd.

Yours truly,
JAMES R. HIGGINS.

Hon. Mr. Veniot Sweeps Aside The Pretensions of Opposition

Reveals the Shallowness of Their Criticism and in Recalling Record of Previous Administration Presents Their Present Protestations in True Light—Soldiers Settlement Bill Introduced

Fredericton, March 13.—The opposition in the legislature had a most unhappy afternoon. Hon. P. J. Veniot had the floor most of the time and the way he carried the war into the enemy's country was a fine lesson in aggressive tactics. He was cheered again and again by the government supporters, and a few interruptions from the other side met with so ready a response of a stinging nature that the habit did not grow to any measurable extent.

It was a field day for the government and the minister of public works was in fine form. The seats quickly filled and there was not a dull minute during his skillful dissection of opposition criticisms and exposure of opposition inconsistency or worse.

When the house met, Hon. Mr. Tweeddale introduced the soldiers' settlement bill. He first explained how his government had prevailed upon the government at Ottawa to make provision for soldiers to get lands in New Brunswick as well as in the west. Under this bill the government purchases 2,000 acres in lands near cities or towns for partially disabled soldiers who desire to do gardening, poultry raising, bee keeping or raise small fruits. These lands are to be transferred to the Soldiers' Settlement Board. Not more than $25 per acre is to be paid for them by the government. Provision is also made to give those who desire virgin land 100 acres of crown land. The Blue Bell tract is open for this purpose and any forest land anywhere, if necessary such land will be expropriated. The soldier gets it free. Any soldier who made application for 40 acres before going overseas may, if honorably discharged, get it without further fee.

Soldiers can, of course, get money on easy terms of payment to provide houses and other things needed. Mr. Tweeddale gave a very clear explanation of the bill. Dr. Crockett then resumed the debate on the address, and in a mildly carping and satirical vein condemned the game law and the public health act. He provoked much mirth but offered no more serious criticism than that no man should be asked to inform on his neighbor, and the chief game warden should not be paid more than a teacher or professor.

Mr. Veniot. When Mr. Veniot's voice rang through the chamber the seats filled quickly to hear a most aggressive and stinging address. He observed in opening that all of the opposition criticism had been of the trifling sort indulged in by Dr. Crockett, and did not touch the real administration of affairs. Dealing with the speech of Hon. J. A. Murray, he reviewed the patriotic potato deal in reply to a charge that he himself had deceived the people. It was an inviting topic, and when Mr. Veniot had cited the evidence of Mr. Daggett that Mr. Murray knew all about the scandalous deception practiced upon the country in connection with covering up the potato transaction, it was quite clear who was the real deceiver. The house listened in strained silence as the minister mercilessly exposed and flayed characterized that transaction.

Passing on, he considered the charge that this government does nothing for the soldiers, and made some biting allusions to men who wore the uniform until the war broke out, but did not go overseas. In defence of the health act, he said that measure the finest tribute it has yet received and proved his statement by facts and figures what it had saved and is saving the province.

By contrast he reviewed the old government record in regard to public health. Next he exposed the false rumors circulated by political opponents that he and Hon. Mr. Byrne were interested in the Carquet railway. Passing on to a charge that this government seeks to palm off worthless, abandoned farms on soldiers, he reported that such farms had been bought right and left by the old government from their friends. Speaking of treatment of soldiers he reminded his opponents of the shameful treatment of Colonel Guthrie. There was only lip-loyalty and lip-loyalty to the soldier, and their own aim was to divert attention from their own record. They talked about officers that were not given to soldiers but had not a word to say about the failure of the government at Ottawa in that respect. Mr. Veniot denounced an assault upon democracy any attack upon him or any other man who conscientiously opposed censorship. He convulsed the house by an adaptation of Mr. Tilley's story about the North Shore ants.

Resuming after dinner Mr. Veniot took up Hon. Mr. Murray's boasted scheme to provide for the returned soldiers and asked why if it possessed all the virtues claimed for it the dominant government never gave it a second thought, while that proposed by Hon. Mr. Tweeddale and supported by his colleagues was endorsed. Moreover, it was whispered that Mr. Murray's scheme was put forward in London without consent of his colleagues and he was censured by the late Premier Clark. If so, he should have resigned his seat, as having been guilty of a breach of courtesy to his leader and colleagues in the government. Mr. Murray and his friends, however, are not of a resigning disposition.

Mr. Veniot next explained his course on woman suffrage and declared his course had been consistent. He would now vote for that measure, and this was the first government since Confederation that dared introduce such a bill. He reminded his opposition critics that seven of them voted against woman suffrage. He significantly added that it is time some statement came into the public life of this province to drive out of it the men who disgraced it. He had no doubt as to what the women would do with the franchise, and had no fear of the result. Mr. Veniot next exposed was whispered that Mr. Murray's scheme for community settlements of soldiers was put forward in London without with biting force the falsehoods and misrepresentations circulated in relation to an inquiry held at Shippegan as a result of charges made by Hon. B. Frank Smith on information given by a man who had found it expedient to retire from membership in this house.

Referring to the complaint of the opposition that certain reports of royal commissions had not been tabled, Mr. Veniot said there had been no unreasonable delay but he reminded the opposition how they when in power held back reports demanded by Mr. Dugal in one case for sixteen days and in another a much longer time.

Taking up the plea of Hon. Mr. Baxter for race unity, Mr. Veniot recalled the attacks last year by the opposition press upon the French, and sternly condemned last night's effort of the attorney-general to make political capital by offering flattery to the French people of this province.

Continuing, Mr. Veniot made a searching reference to Hon. Mr. Baxter's professions of purity, and in that connection referred to the Jones and Tennant episode.

He also dealt in trenchant style with what he described as Baxter's scurrilous attack upon Commissioner McQueen in an effort to break the force of the McQueen report. Mr. Veniot was applauded again and again in the course of one of the most masterly addresses defending a government and denouncing its opponents he has heard in many years.

Mr. Potts followed and charged at the outset that Mr. Veniot had thrown down the gauntlet to the English-speaking people. Mr. Potts devoted a lot of attention to Quebec and conscription, and the language question and went on to assail Mr. Veniot, Premier Foster and the government generally in general. He was more laughter on both sides of the house during his wandering discourse than anybody had expected to hear this session. It was a relief after the tension of the day to listen to Mr. Potts before going to bed. He talked till 12 o'clock and then Dr. Roberts moved the adjournment of the debate.

(Official report.)

COMMERCIAL UNION BETWEEN W. INDIES AND CANADA URGED

Trades Benefits to Dominion and Islands Would Be Great Says T. B. Macaulay—Opposed to Political Union—Canada Needs Storehouse

(Montreal Star.) Will the British West Indies link up with Canada? Will the union, if consummated, be a political or a commercial one? Will Canada benefit by such a union? Such are the questions that Montserratians who are following the West Indian news in the daily papers are asking themselves. For, down in the West Indies, an obvious desire for very much closer trade relations with Canada is manifest these days.

T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company and of the Canadian-West Indian League, probably knows more about the situation than any other man in Montreal. Mr. Macaulay has given years to the study of the subject, and he has been zealous in his efforts to further the proposal of free trade between Canada and the British West Indies. He has twice made extended trips to the islands. He has been the subject of commercial union with statesmen both in Canada and of the islands, and he has never wavered in his advocacy of union.

"Not political union, remember," he said with emphasis to "The Star" this morning while discussing in his office the West Indian question. "No, not political union. I believe that will be a mistake on account of the great distance of the islands from Canada and the mutual lack of knowledge of the other's needs, it would be unwise either side should attempt to control the government of the other. The idea that a Canadian federal election should turn on the vote of the British West Indies would be equally as ridiculous as the controlling of West Indian affairs by a Canadian majority.

Commercial Union Needed. "It is a commercial union that we need," continued Mr. Macaulay. He reiterated his words: "We need commerce. We need it. They need it. Both sides have everything to gain and nothing to lose. We gain a new market for our products, and these are the days when the need of markets for our goods is so pressing that it is engaging the attention of every Canadian statesman. In return we get the food products of the West Indies; sugar, tropical fruits, coconuts, rice. Many of these products come to us now through American clearing houses."

He pulled down an atlas from a shelf and opened it at a map of Central America and the West Indies. "The islands fall naturally into two groups," he said. He laid his pencil vertically on the map to show the dividing line between the groups. The pencil lay across the Island of Porto Rico.

"With this eastern group, which includes St. Kitts, St. Vincent, Grenada, Dominica, Barbados, Trinidad, and with which is associated British Guiana on the mainland, Canada already has a trade agreement involving 50 per cent preferential tariff. Sugar is their great product, but they could supply Canada with coffee, coconuts, rice, and a host of other tropical foodstuffs." He went on to speak of the difficulties the "sugar" islands and British Guiana would have had in marketing their sugar before the war if it had not been for the preference given them by Canada. European beet sugar was going freely into England and was consequently cutting heavily into the West Indian trade. The war had brought an artificial prosperity to the West Indies, but with the coming of normal conditions the West Indies were beginning to look for a further extension of trade necessary to their prosperity.

ROUMANIA PLACED HER FAITH IN FOCH

Queen Marie Tells of the Sufferings of Her People During the War—Crying Need is Food

Paris, March 14.—Queen Marie of Roumania on leaving the War Ministry today after her visit to Premier Clemenceau, met Marshal Foch, with whom she had a short conversation.

The Queen told Marshal Foch that during the occupation of Roumania by the enemy the thoughts of the Roumanian people were all centred in him. The Roumanians were sure he would deliver them, said Queen Marie, but had no idea that their deliverance was so near.

Queen Marie declared that in spite of the plight of her country and the sufferings of the people in the war, there is no danger of Bolshevism there if supplies of food can be secured. Speaking of conditions in Roumania during the war the Queen said: "We suffer even worse than did Belgium. She had Great Britain and France by her side, and behind them stood America, while we had only Russia to depend upon. When the Russians came to assist us all they did was to eat our food. They were never of any real aid. German plotters saw to that, and when Russia broke we were absolutely isolated."

"I have no fear of Bolshevism in Roumania if food is provided immediately. We are used to being shabby, and can go without clothes and shoes, when that body adjourned some days ago, the bill providing for a change in time on March 30 was still in fact.

NO DETAILS OF RIOT

Ottawa, March 13.—Prior to resumption of the address in the house this afternoon, Mr. Casgrain of Charlevoix-Montmorency, asked the government when Hansard would be printed again.

Sir Thomas White replied that at the present time, Hansard was being micrographed because the government was unable to have it printed. As soon as conditions changed, the debates would be printed and distributed as usual.

Sir Sam Hughes asked if the government had any further reports on the rioting at Rhyly.

"No further details," Sir Thomas White replied.

Ottawa, March 13.—Government supporters subsequent to the adjournment of the Unionists caucus today asserted the belief that a daylight saving bill will not be introduced this session. They based their statements on the amount of criticism of the measure heard in caucuses. According to these members, practically no one spoke in favor of Canada again adopting the experiment of last year. Members representing city constituencies, where daylight saving is in favor, it is understood, did not seriously attempt to meet the avalanche of objections registered by the representatives of rural constituencies.

In some cases they stated that if the feeling of parliament was so strongly against the re-introduction of the measure, the cities would introduce the scheme on their own account. The development of so much opposition

THE WHITE HART INN
The Place Where Pickwick First Met Sam Weller

Story of Historic Old Hostelry Told by Editor of the Dickensian—Dickens Description of It

(One of a series by B. W. Maza, Editor of The Dickensian, specially for the Christian Science Monitor, Boston.)

Perhaps the inn whose name is more widely known through association with Dickens than any other is the White Hart, which, in days gone by, was one of the most famous of the many famous inns that then stood in the borough of Southwark. Long before Dickens began to write, the White Hart was the centre of the coaching activity of the metropolis south of the Thames, and was one of the oldest inns in the country.

Travelers from the Continent and the southern and eastern counties of England to London made it their halting place, whilst from a business standpoint it had scarcely a rival. Coffees laden with passengers and wagons full of articles of commerce made the courtyard of the inn always a bustling and busy corner of a hustling and busy neighborhood. In the coaching era, therefore, the White Hart was a household word to travelers and business men. Dickens, with his magic pen and inventive genius, made it a household word to the inhabitants of the whole globe, who never had occasion to visit it either for business or pleasure.

Its history goes back many centuries, as far back as 1400, and possibly earlier than that. Its sign was taken from the badge of Richard II, who adopted the emblem of the White Hart from the crest of his mother, Joanna of Kent. A fine old inn of the highest type, the White Hart no doubt was the resort of the most prominent noble and retainers of the time, public men of the period and ambassadors of commerce. It is not surprising, therefore, that it figures in English history generally, and that was particularly mentioned in Shakespeare. It is certainly the center of many a stirring scene, and events of feasting and merriment, besides being a place where great trade was transacted.

It is often mentioned in the "Paston Letters" in reference to Jack Cade, who made it his headquarters in 1450. In Hall's Chronicles it is recorded that the Captain, being advised of the King's absence, came first to Southwark, and there lodged at the White Hart. In "Henry VI," Part II, Jack Cade is made to say, "Hail my word therefore broke through London gates that you should leave me at the White Hart in Southwark."

Thomas Cromwell, Henry VIII's most able minister, was also associated with the borough of Southwark, and on one occasion (in 1529) it is recorded that he received a message to the effect that one clever, and blue glass buttons, drab breeches and leggings. A bright red handkerchief was wound in a very loose and untidy style round his neck, and an old white hat was carelessly thrown on one side of his head. There were two rows of boots before him, one cleaned and the other dirty, and at every addition he made to the clean row, he passed from his work, and contemplated its results with evident satisfaction.

This, we need hardly say, was the innkeeper Sam Weller, and it was his first introduction to the story with which his name is now inseparable.

Dickens then goes on to give further particulars of how the yard looked on the particular morning of which he writes.

The yard presented none of that bustle and activity which are the usual characteristics of a large coach inn. Three or four lumbering wagons, each with a pile of goods beneath its ample canopy, about the height of the second-floor window of an ordinary house, were stowed away beneath a lofty roof which extended over one end of the yard; and another, which was probably to commence its journey that morning, was drawn into the open space. A double tier of bedroom galleries, with their cluttered balconies, ran round two sides of the straggling area, and a double row of bells to correspond, sheltered from the weather by a little sloping roof, hung over the door. . . . Two or three gigs and chaise-carts were wheeled up along different little sheds and penthouses; and the occasional heavy tread of a cart-horse or settling of a chain at the further end of the yard announced to anybody who cared about the matter that the stable lay in that direction. When we add that a few boys in smock frocks were lying asleep on heavy packages, woolpacks, and other articles that were scattered about on heaps of straw, we have described as fully as need be the general appearance of the yard of the White Hart Inn, High Street, Borough, on the particular morning in question."

This was the inn to which Mr. Pickwick, Mr. Wardle and Mr. Perker came in search of the runaway couple, Alfred Jingle and Rachael Wardle, and Sam Weller was the first person they interviewed on the subject. The reader will refer to Chapter X of the book should he want his memory refreshed regarding the amusing scene with Sam, which has been so faithfully pictured by Phil in one of his illustrations. How they discovered the misguided Rachael, how they bought off the adventurer Jingle, and how Mr. Pickwick, Wardle and the deserted lady set forth the next day by the Muggleton heavy coach is duly set forth in the chapter already referred to.

The White Hart remained very much as Dickens found it and described it in 1836 until it was finally demolished in 1888. Following the advent of railways it lost a good deal of its glamour, and in its last years the old galleries on two of its sides were let out in tenements, and the presence of the occupants gave a certain animation to the scene. In the large inner yard were some quaint old houses which were crowded with lodgers, but it still hung on to its old traditions of the coaching times, and even up to its last days the old inn was the halting place of the last of the old-fashioned omnibuses which plied between London Bridge and Chatham.

Nothing now remains to remind us of the old inn which Dickens and Sam Weller have made immortal in the annals of coaching but a narrow turning bearing its name, where is established a Sam Weller Club.

MONEY FROM GERMAN SUBMARINES DIVIDED

Already 54 Have Been Sold, and There Are Others—British Navy Has Carried 26,724,000 Men, 47,995,000 Tons During War—5,500 Moored Mines Destroyed.

London, March 13.—(Canadian Press & Despatch from Reuter's Limited)—More German submarines will be sold and the money realized distributed among the Allies on a scale to be adopted by the supreme council, T. J. MacNamara, parliamentary secretary to the admiralty, announced in the house of commons today.

Mr. MacNamara stated that already fifty-four German submarines had been sold. He also said that the supreme council had not yet decided what was to be done with the other German warships. The provisional composition of the Mediterranean squadron was six battleships, six light cruisers, a destroyer flotilla and a submarine flotilla.

Walter Long, the first lord of the admiralty, moving the vote for the naval personnel of 280,000, said that the British navy had nobly borne its full share in the attainment of peace which was now within sight. The admiralty was preparing a statement of the navy's part in the war which was one of the most wonderful stories ever told. The navy's activities in the war had been universal and it had appeared in almost every sea in the world and had prominently participated in every campaign.

23,328,000 Effectives Carried. In detailing the services of the navy, Mr. Long referred to the number of troops escorted overseas and the great part it had played in the blockade, also in the maintenance of the food supply of the United Kingdom. Since the war and up to March 2, the following had been transported by military sea transport: Personnel effectives, 23,328,000; non-effectives, 3,336,000; animals, 2,204,000; British military stores, 27,995,000 tons. (Cheers).

Mr. Long, continuing, said that since the armistice mine sweepers had destroyed no fewer than 5,500 moored mines, and no merchantmen, adhering to the prescribed routes, had been damaged by a moored mine. He emphasized the fact that no merchantmen had ever failed to sail owing to the lack of men, although there were men who had been torpedoed and mined as many as five times. The empire, he added, might well be proud of this unbeatable record.

The first lord emphasized the fact that the surrender of the German fleet was a greater naval victory than could have been achieved by any action at sea, and he trusted that it meant that the world in future would be relieved of past terrors.

Continuing, Mr. Long said that behind the navy the most extraordinary work had proceeded. Great booms for safeguarding harbors had been constructed, great bases like Rosyth and Invergordon had been created, and scientific devices of every kind had been developed.

No Details Pending Treaty. Explaining why it was impossible for the admiralty to present detailed estimates, Mr. Long pointed out that the peace conference was at present discussing the great naval question and until a general scheme for world armaments was known it was useless to attempt to form Britain's policy. Another reason was that the admiralty intended to apply many invaluable lessons of the war in the development of its future policy.

Referring to Lord Jellicoe's tour of the empire, Mr. Long said the object was to try to secure greater efficiency and co-operation in the future between the navies of the empire. He was confident that with a give and take spirit and, if we rightly realized the respective responsibilities and possibilities, the visit would have very satisfactory results. He said he looked forward to the time when the co-operation of the navies of the empire would be closer and that they would play even a greater part in the future than in the past.

Indemnity Only Hope of France Meeting Bills

Paris, March 13.—(French Wireless Service)—France spent twenty-six billion francs for shells and projectiles during the war, Senator Lucien Hubert told the senate army commission yesterday. He said that one billion five hundred million francs were spent for extra material for use by the artillery.

The return from taxes and state monopolies during February was 438,411,900 francs, an increase of 120,000,000 francs over the same month last year. The February returns were 180,000,000 francs more than those of February, 1914. Louis Klots, the minister of finance, began his eagerly awaited speech in the chamber of deputies today on the financial situation by denying that he had made the statement that France had become richer since the war. From the fiscal point of view there had been more resources created, the minister conceded, but it would be absurd to say that any country with departments in such a condition as the invaded departments of France had become richer.

The yearly budget, M. Klots announced, would be three or four times greater than before the war, the deficit to meet being 21,500,000,000 francs.

Concerning the tax on capital property, M. Klots said the French capitalist taxpayer would not be called on to pay one franc of additional taxes until Germany's indemnity figures to France were settled upon and guaranteed. But even should Germany pay completely for damages and the restoration of its devastated provinces, M. Klots said, this would not balance future budgets after 1919. The tax on capital, the minister asserted, was destined to reach war profits.

M. Klots did not heed interpellations from all sides of the chamber asking him to name the amount which would be demanded from Germany. Victor Dalbiez, Socialist, created some excitement by shouting "Long live Caillaux" referring to former premier Joseph Caillaux, who is under arrest charged with having dealings with the enemy. The chamber was filled with officers and soldiers, who loudly hissed Dalbiez. One officer shook his fist at the deputy and shouted a challenge to a duel.

M. Klots during his address mentioned a future financial society of nations, the plans of which have been discussed and will be given out shortly, as the only means for France to balance future budgets. He also spoke of additional taxes after Germany's war indemnity has been deducted from the present French debt.

BRITISH MERCHANT MARINE (Ottawa Citizen) British men in the merchant service have done nobly in the war. They refused to be driven off the seas by submarine frightfulness. Many thousands of British men gave their lives, without pension or compensation to their dependents in the desperate contest between the German submarine and the British merchant service. No more practical recognition could be given to the men of the merchant marine, who did their part in saving the Allied cause, by keeping open the ocean lines of transportation, than by endorsing the proposal to establish an international scale of wages and working conditions on ships engaged in international trade. A step forward in the direction of better conditions would be a great help to attract the British youth again to the merchant service; and the necessity of having British men in the merchant marine has been demonstrated in the war.

Admiral Sir David Beatty—"The tireless work of the hundreds of small craft, trawlers, drifters, whalers, manned by Scottish fishermen, which kept our channels free from mines and protected our coasts from the submarine furnishes a special chapter in our naval history."

CUT THIS OUT OLD ENGLISH, RECIPES FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES. If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions. Secure from your Druggist 1 ounce of Parmitin (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmitin used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a slight tonic action that facilitates obtaining the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial.

Y. M. C. I. Ice Sports.
The Y. M. C. I. Ice sports, which were held in the Victoria rink last evening, attracted a great crowd of spectators and with excellent ice and keenly contested events, the sports proved an old time success.
Owing to the absence of one of their members and injury to another, the Victoria rink team did not appear for the relay race with St. Peter's.
All the races were exceptionally good and there were some extremely fine finishes, the most exciting of all being the final of the 225, in which W. Gibbons and J. Dever skated to what the judges declared to be a dead heat. The matter was settled, unknown to the judges, by the two contestants losing a cent, and the coin decreed W. Gibbons the victor. The final of the 440 was also closely contested by these two skaters and was also won by Gibbons.
No records were broken during any of the races. During the 880 yard race, Logan, one of the skaters, was injured by falling on the ice and crashing into the fence near the judges' stand. He was assisted to his feet by his friends and

THE WELLINGTON
THE UNIVERSAL PIPE

JUST smoke—clean, dry smoke down to the last piece of tobacco—that's what you get from a Wellington. The moisture stays in the well. The bowl is genuine French briar, fashioned and fitted by a master hand. The W.D.C. triangle trade-mark tells you so. Good dealers have the shape and size you want—$1.00 and up, and worth every penny of it.

MUTT AND JEFF—MUTT WISES JEFF UP ON THE MEANING OF INDEMNITY
By "BUD" FISHER

(COPYRIGHT, 1919, BY H. C. FISHER, TRADE MARK REG. IN CANADA.)

MUTT: I SAY HERE THAT GERMANY MUST PAY A BIG INDEMNITY TO THE ALLIES. I DON'T GET THIS INDEMNITY STUFF. WHY MUST GERMANY PAY AN INDEMNITY AND WHAT DOES INDEMNITY MEAN?

JEFF: I'LL EXPLAIN IT TO YOU, JEFF!

MUTT: I JUST HAVE TO DESTROY SOMETHING OF YOURS, EH? ALL RIGHT!

JEFF: TEE HEE! MUTT MUST BE CRAZY, BUT I SHOULD WORRY. HE DIDN'T TELL ME WHAT TO DESTROY, SO I THINK I'LL JUST BUST UP HIS WATCH!

MUTT: I DON'T SEE WHAT THIS HAS GOT TO DO WITH INDEMNITY BUT I'M ONLY DOING WHAT MUTT TOLD ME. ALL RIGHT, MUTT!

JEFF: FINE! THIS IS A VERY GOOD DEMONSTRATION. YOU HAVE DELIBERATELY DESTROYED MY WATCH JUST LIKE GERMANY DESTROYED PROPERTY IN BELGIUM AND FRANCE. THIS WATCH SET ME BACK TEN DUCKS, THEREFORE YOU GOTTA PAY ME AN INDEMNITY OF TEN DUCKS AND WE'LL BE SQUARE!

MUTT: PERFECTLY! AND I THINK GERMANY SHOULD PAY SOMED POOR JUDGMENT!

SUNDAY BILL REJECTED.
Concord, N. H., March 13—The state senate today rejected a bill designed to permit the playing of baseball, golf and other games on Sunday. The vote was 16-10.

Semi-ready Shop Talk:
"There's just one way to tell whether it's a genuine or a counterfeit of Semi-ready—look in the pocket."
On the real thing there is the semi-ready trade-mark and the exact value—a silk lapel sewn in the pocket of every genuine Semi-ready suit or overcoat.
"If any other shop than this in the city present Semi-ready—but on your pocket and run—Semi-ready Store, Corner King and Germain St."

BASEBALL.
In Favor of It.
Providence, R. I., March 13—An act legalizing Sunday baseball playing in this state was passed by the lower branch of the general assembly today on roll call, the vote being 71 to 91. The bill reserves to cities and towns authority to determine whether baseball games may be played within their limits on Sunday.
An enjoyable afternoon in honor of little Miss Vera Campbell, it being her twelfth anniversary, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Campbell, 129 Main street, from 4 to 8 o'clock. Many friends of the young lady were present and each one presented her a beautiful gift. A dainty tea was served at 6 o'clock, after which games and music were participated in by the young folk.

THE RING.
Bout in Montreal.
Montreal, March 14—Showing to better advantage than he has done in some of his recent fights, Joe Burns, a local featherweight, fought a ten-round draw with Battling Lahn of Brooklyn here last night. This was their second meeting this season.
In the previous meeting Burns was the better at opening fighting while Lahn outpointed him at infighting and ending it up style. The only decisive rounds were the fifth and the tenth. In the fifth Lahn had the better while Burns made a strong rally in the tenth, outpointing his opponent for the three minutes.
The men alternated as the aggressor and both showed excellent defensive work throughout the ten rounds. Burns was in better condition than in his bout with Pitsimmons and finished as fresh as his opponent.

HALIFAX GOES AFTER BOUT.
H. H. Dennis and another prominent business man of Halifax passed through St. John last evening on their way to New York to engage upon Ted Rickard the claims of their city as the scene of the Willard-Dempsey bout. They carry with them guarantees from Halifax citizens of a purse of $125,000.

BOY SCOUT LEADER HERE.
A largely attended meeting of the scoutmasters and other men interested in the boy scout movement was held on Wednesday evening in the headquarters of the St. John local association. At the meeting the maritime secretary, H. O. Eaman, discussed with those present the development of the movement in St. John. While in the city Mr. Eaman will address the St. John's and Trinity troops and rallies of the Exmouth street troop and the troop leaders, patrol leaders and scouts.
Boss—That office boy of mine is a nuisance.
Clerk—What's the trouble with him now?
Boss—Instead of going around whistling like other boys he goes around playing a ukulele.

Mr. Advertiser:

(Ottawa Journal.)
There have been those who thought that the dignity of the press was lowered by its advertising columns. There have been expressions of regret that newspapers should be compelled, in order to meet their heavy expenses, to sell so much of their space for advertising purposes. It has been urged that greater confidence could be placed in the press if the commercial feature of its management and operation could be reduced or eliminated altogether. Regardless of fact, there have not been wanting those who asserted that editorial policy was governed by advertisers and that it would be far better if newspapers carried no advertising and depended solely on circulation returns. The war has, perhaps, worked no greater revolution than in upsetting such theories. A letter recently circulated among advertisers in the United States is enlightening. It does not come from a publication soliciting advertising, but from one of the most studious and carefully-managed branches of the United States government—the Department of Labor. It is dated February 13, 1919, and in part is as follows:

"It is the desire of the department of labor to stimulate business by suggesting to present advertisers that they increase their space and to prospective advertisers that they bring their plans to a head and start advertising immediately.

"The surest and quickest way to bring business to its pre-war basis is to overcome the general apathy to buying which exists in the minds of many people at present. Advertising will do this.

"We would like to see more retail advertising and more national advertising and we believe that the press of the country and yourselves will appreciate the fostering of such a movement by the department of labor.

"May we ask you to prepare one or more advertisements for the department of labor carrying the message outlined. Your co-operation in this matter is earnestly desired."

In the months immediately prior to August, 1914, the Canadian government had made some experiments in the use of the advertising columns of the newspapers that had opened the eyes of the ministers to possibilities and opportunities not hitherto availed of. The lessons then learned were taken advantage of in the four years following, and as a result the Canadian government has become one of the biggest and most persistent national advertisers using newspaper space—because it found advertising properly written and properly displayed paid and paid well. The facilities provided by the newspapers for advertising became a valued national asset.

But observe the new angle from which the United States Department of Labor views advertising. It urges commercial houses to "start advertising immediately," indirectly for their own good but directly for the good of the people of the United States. The welfare of all is bound up in a resumption of business on normal lines following the war, and advertising will help to bring that about. The newspaper's function as an advertising medium is recognized as of the greatest importance; its advertising columns are no longer a deplorable accessory but a vital necessity.

Early in the war the slogan was used: "Business as usual." The newspapers gave it the widest publicity. To many it seemed in bad taste; yet it achieved a very necessary and commendable purpose. The commercial world had been smitten a tremendous blow. It tried to look into the future and failed. Blind, it began to move warily, to retrench, to economize, to stop plans for development. Such a condition continued meant commercial stagnation and industrial calamity. The slogan "Business as usual" was needed as a stimulant to prevent disaster, and those who used it were performing a patriotic duty however tinged with selfishness it may have appeared. Those who study the situation now must be convinced that a similar attitude on the part of business men is required if trouble beyond measure is not to be precipitated. The men in charge of our business houses great and small, in control of undertakings great and small, have a tremendous individual responsibility. Pessimism as to the future must give way to optimism, for success and failure are largely psychological. The tired mind sees only trouble, trouble ahead; it has a habit of creating its own troubles. The world is tired as the result of four years of war; and it sees only trouble in front of it. As in the individual life more than half the trouble feared never materializes, so in the national and international life. Let us all try to be optimists, confidently and hopefully doing our part to make that optimism justified.

The press takes on a new dignity through the official endorsement of its advertising columns, and the advertiser is awarded a new and honored place in the scheme of things.
