YUDENITCH BUT 25 MILES AWAY

Confirmation of Capture of Gatchina Near Petrograd

MORE GAINS AGAINST REDS

Estonians Face Fortress of Kronstadt—Advance in Centre by Anti-Bolshevik Force—Allies Concerned About German Influence if Soviet Government Falls

London, Oct. 18.—The British war office today received confirmation of the news of the capture of Gatchina, twenty-five miles south of Petrograd, by the northern Russian army of General Yudenitch. The Bolsheviks were driven from the town yesterday.

The Estonians, operating in the coastal region, along the Gulf of Finland, the official advice states, are within a few miles of Krasna Gorka and are facing the fortress of Kronstadt.

In the centre of the advancing line, official information is that the anti-Bolshevik forces on Thursday pushed forward to a point three or four miles below Luga eighty miles south of Petrograd.

Further Successes.

London, Oct. 18.—General Yudenitch has captured Krasna Gorka and Gatchina, south of Petrograd, where he met workmen from the city, who asked that the northern Russian army refrain from shelling Petrograd, and pleaded if this promise was given to join the anti-Bolshevik, according to a Helsinki dispatch received here.

General Denikin appears to be advancing his left flank along the Dnieper Valley taking Chernigoff and moving northward toward Gomel, where his Cossacks may join Polish forces and present a compact front to the Soviet armies.

If this junction is made, the anti-Bolshevik front from Petrograd to Orel, south of Moscow, would resemble a great horseshoe enclosing the Bolsheviks.

At Orel and in the Don region the Bolsheviks are reported to be retreating along the front. It is said the Don army has a front 200 miles in length. German-Russian forces are said to be holding the left bank of the Lower Dnieper at Rika. Farther up the stream indecisive fighting is reported.

Under Goltz.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The Vossische Zeitung's Kriegsbericht, East Prussia correspondent, says that the German general von Der Goltz sent a message to the sixty German reserve corps now incorporated in the army of General von Hindenburg, thanking it for its heroic deeds before Riga, and promising to do his utmost to care for them.

He also has written to Col. Avaloff, Bernadoff, says the correspondent, concerning the capture of the city of Riga, and in the recent fighting in which "for the first time more than a century ago, Russian and Russian troops fought side by side."

Finland Declines.

Helsingfors, Oct. 17.—The Finnish Riksdag has decided to take no action with regard to the Bolshevik peace offer. The premier said the present conditions in Russia could not last, but that a question of time and that Finland's well-being did not demand acceptance of the Bolshevik offer.

ALLIES WATCH VON DER GOLTZ.

Paris, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Reports of the capture of Riga have not been confirmed, and of further advances by General Yudenitch towards Petrograd, which has intensified the peace conference interest in the Russian situation, especially the fear of the Entente, and emphasized the fact that General von Der Goltz may entrench himself in northern Russia and give the German an important part in directing Russian affairs should the Bolshevik government fall.

One explanation of the reported capture of Kronstadt is that the British do not want the Bolsheviks to have assistance from the remnants of the Russian Baltic fleet, as such support might make General Yudenitch's farther advance eastward difficult and give General von Der Goltz an excuse to support General Yudenitch and thus participate in the taking of Petrograd and establishment of a new government there.

The eagerness of the Entente to prevent Germany from having water communication with Bolshevik ports on the Baltic is explained by the fact that von Der Goltz might be supplied in that manner with munitions, enabling him to carry out plans he is known to have for getting a foothold in Russian territory.

The blockade against Bolshevik Russia has really existed since last July in definite form recognized by all the important powers except the United States. The only new feature of the recent notes to neutrals is that Germany also was asked to establish a blockade of Bolshevik Russia.

The unwillingness of Germany to comply with this request is explained in some quarters as meaning that she wanted to help General von Der Goltz and other German leaders who are keeping the Baltic states in turmoil.

Surrender of Kronstadt?

London, Oct. 18.—The white flag was hoisted over the Bolshevik fortress of Kronstadt on Friday night, according to a Helsinki dispatch quoting a Finnish general staff report.

COMMONS PROBABLY WILL PASS GRAND TRUNK BILL

Opposition in Senate Likely to be Stiffer

Senator Fowler Named Among Strong Opponents of the Measure—Cabinet Man's Prediction on Result of Ontario Elections

(Special to Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—After an afternoon session yesterday the house adjourned until Monday. The debate on the second reading of the Grand Trunk bill failed to develop any more strenuous opposition than hitherto. Singularly enough, although there is a good deal of rumor abroad that a wide dislike to the principle of the bill, the drive against it in parliament so far has seemed to be lacking in force.

Mr. Meighen expressed the opinion privately that the debate would not last beyond Tuesday night, and there is no doubt, as there has been no apparent defections on the part of the government supporters on the question. The members of the benches went with the government on the vote to proceed with the bill.

In the senate it is probable that more opposition will be encountered and it is known that Senator Fowler and some other Conservatives are very strongly opposed to it. The government has a majority of seventeen or eighteen in the upper chamber but, as one frequently hears said, "where is never any telling what the senate will do."

Interest here centres very largely on the Ontario elections, although all guessers are confounded as to the result. The shrewdest judge of elections in the cabinet made an estimate on the result to-night in which the farmers' party is not given more than twenty in the next legislature. He says that the government will be returned but thinks that the opposition majority will be increased.

Medical Inspection in City Schools

Some Phases of the Situation Which Command Attention

It was announced at the Board of Health rooms today that the medical inspector of schools has been directed to furnish to the board a list of pupils who are suffering from defective eyesight.

The children are looked after as early as possible so that their brains may do their work properly and the fitting one taken of the various defects has not shown. This stage is considered to be the best state of affairs and when it is reached the various defects have not shown. There are about 8,000 school children in the city to be visited by the medical inspector in 14 rooms in twenty schools.

It is the hope of the medical inspector that each school will be visited about four times a year. At the beginning of the term a rapid survey of the school is made to exclude anything that would be allowed. At the same time a memo is taken of the names of scholars suffering from any marked chronic condition of the throat. During the winter the medical inspector will also discriminate the ordinary bacilli or slow pupils from those actually mentally defective. This work will fit in with the efforts being made by the different children's societies to bring before the public the needs for provision for the feeble minded in the province.

There are about fifty pupils on the list of the medical inspector who need glasses at the present time. The parents pleaded at the present time that they were unable to bear the expense. There are found six or seven each week with defective sight of whom four or five would require free testing.

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT

London, Oct. 18.—At today's session of the Congress of Tuberculosis Prevention, discussion revolved around employment of voluntary aid for tuberculosis sufferers, which proved so useful during the war. Sir Arthur Stanley, president of the congress, said:

"The sympathetic amateur is likely in many cases to do more good than the best state official. In a disease like this the human touch is much needed."

Lady Aberdeen suggested that the Red Cross institute a course of preliminary instruction to train women volunteers to aid in the work. Action will be taken on this suggestion next week.

Dr. Wheeler Hart opposed the use of amateurs because of the infectious nature of tuberculosis. He advised that "step equipments also making variable gains with leathers and textiles. Rails and steel were irregular.

NINE DAYS AT SEA IN A SMALL BOAT

Loss of The Schooner George D. Edmonds on Voyage to Hillsboro

CREW TAKEN TO ROTTERDAM

Captain Bennett D. Coleman Just Home to Boston—Vessel Burned At Sea—Two of Crew Had to Jump Overboard

(Special to Times.) Boston, Oct. 18.—Capt. Bennett D. Coleman of the Boston shanty schooner George Edmonds, which was burned at sea, is in this city today. In a report of the disaster he says that the Edmonds went from New York to Norfolk and loaded a cargo of coal, which he delivered at Hillsboro. On the passage from Hillsboro to Hillsboro, N. B., disaster overtook the craft.

On Aug. 16 the vessel caught fire and it quickly became apparent that the schooner was doomed. Captain Coleman ordered the men into a small boat, Benjamin V. Meuse of Waterdown, the mate, and Everett Higgins, the cook, of Provincetown, were obliged to leap into the sea to escape the fire. They were hauled out to the boat later.

The boat had hardly been pushed away from the blazing craft before there was a terrible explosion as the gasoline tank forward blew up. Within a few minutes the charred hulk sank.

On reaching the American steamer Rotterdam, bound from Savannah for Rotterdam, took the weary sailors from the small boat. They were conveyed to Rotterdam and when unloaded carried and started back for the United States by the steamer P. Lake, beyond the artificial lakes in Rockwood Park.

Bought a Property He Did Not Want

Albert County Man Made a Mistake at Chubb's Corner Sale

An unusual mix-up occurred today at Chubb's corner, as a result of which an Albert county man who had come to the city to buy a piece of land, found himself the owner of a dwelling house instead. The matter has not been straightened out yet, but meanwhile, he has in his possession some St. John real estate for which he has no particular use.

The first sale at noon was that of leases of timber lands in Albert county, owned by the late Canon Hoyt, consisting of Wedderburn, which were promptly disposed of, after some brisk bidding, to Garfield White for $2,700.

F. L. Potts, who had sold the timber lands, then proceeded to offer the property of the late Canon Hoyt, consisting of a ten-room dwelling with five acres of land in the Loch Lomond road, just beyond the city limits. The bid reached $6,000 when the Albert county lumber man came along. He did not know the sale was for one sale was taken place and supposed that it was the timber leases which were being offered.

He cut into the bidding, and when he finally offered $6,500, the property was knocked down to him. He had paid his deposit of twenty per cent and signed the bidding paper before he learned of his error from an acquaintance who stopped to ask if he was intending to live in the house he had bought.

ST. LUKE'S TO HAVE MEMORIAL HALL

Plans Approved Last Night—Bowling and Other Sports; Men's, Girls' and Boys' Clubs

A fine new memorial hall, dedicated to the memory of the men of the parish who fell in the great war and to the use of the young people of the congregation, will be erected by St. Luke's church next spring. The final decision was reached at a meeting of the memorial committee last evening and at which the architect's plans were adopted. A committee consisting of the rector, Rev. R. T. McKim, Hillier Miller, G. Hilyard and Thomas A. Graham was appointed to wait on the common council with regard to an extension of the water main to serve the new hall.

The building will be located on the lot in the rear of the church and, owing to the sloping nature of the ground, the lowest story will be partly underground. In this floor will be located howling alleys, rifle range and shower baths.

The next floor will contain a good sized gymnasium, and also accommodations for basketball and for entertainments. The third floor will have separate rooms for boys' girls' and men's clubs and also will have a living room and bedroom for the curate of the church, who will act as a director.

Work will be commenced in the spring and it is estimated that the building will cost $10,000, which will be met by subscriptions. Several amounts already have been received.

R. A. Saker, builder of the auxiliary schooner Doranfontain and Ranfontaine, arrived in the city this morning from London.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, you know where I would like to be this fine October morning?"

"Oh, I suppose you're thinkin' about New York or London—or some of them places," said Hiram.

"No, sir," said the reporter, "I'm thinkin' about the woods in the backlands that we traversed to get to the blueberry barrens in August."

"I do," said Hiram. "And do you remember how we picked blackberries and raspberries from the bushes that hung over the road? And how we admired the foliage of the dogwood and moss-wood, the great ferns and the dery bushes under the trees? And the nanny-berries just turning purple?"

"Yes," said the reporter, "I would like to see you at that moment sitting on a log on that old wood-road, with a gun in your hand, waiting for you to fill your pipe before we plunged into the woods. Maybe as we sat there we would hear a partridge drumming on another log, or see a bluejay flashing past, or a rabbit racing away, or even the flying legs of a 'Wells' said the reporter, 'I would like to see you at that moment sitting on a log on that old wood-road, with a gun in your hand, waiting for you to fill your pipe before we plunged into the woods. "Mister," said Hiram, "if we didn't see nothin' but a crow it 'ud be with the woodpecker on Monday."

"I've half a notion," said the reporter, "to clear out and spend the afternoon with a luncheon in the honor society, and the true heart of things."

FITCHBURG OPENS DOORS TO PARTRIDGE

Moran of The Reds Given Credit Welcome Home—Plans to Build Up Boston Sox Team

(Special to Times.) Boston, Oct. 18.—Patrick J. Moran, manager of the world's champion Cincinnati baseball team, arrived in Fitchburg, his home town last night. He reached Fitchburg at the forenoon and was met there by Mayor Frank H. Post, Col. George R. Wallace and others. Moran lost no time in getting to West Fitchburg where he was born and the place where he started his diamond career on the sand lots. From his art school, said Hiram. "You fellers in town don't know you're livin' half the time—By Hen!"

"Governments today," continued Mr. Harris, "were not run by elected representatives, but by permanent officials who had no more real conception of the Canadian trade relations broken down through the war. He hoped now to be allowed to return to private life and look after his own business interests."

"I'd do you a lot more good than holdin' up the sand lots. From his art school, said Hiram. "You fellers in town don't know you're livin' half the time—By Hen!"

PERHAPS OPEN SEASON IN 1920 FOR PARTRIDGE

They're Very Plentiful, Say Reports to Erectionist—Charges of Spearfishing at Grand Falls

(Special to Times.) Fredericton, March 18.—Reports received by the provincial game authorities that partridges are very numerous in all parts of the province, due to the close season which began with 1918 and also to conditions favorable to natural increase of the birds. If next winter is favorable partridge will be in swarms and it would not be surprising to see a movement to have 1920 an open season.

Under existing regulations 1921 will be the first open season. A daily express service is to be extended to the St. John-Crestville section to the C. N. R. by the Canadian Express Company beginning on Monday.

Fisheries Inspector H. E. Harrison was returned to Fredericton after being in the vicinity of Grand Falls since Monday. Seven prosecutions for spearfishing salmon are to be begun before Magistrate J. P. Kelly at Grand Falls. Some gear was seized.

Paris, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Gabriel D'Annunzio has issued a manifesto to the Serbians, expressing the need of recognition, by the Serbs, of a community of interest between Italy and the Serbs. It says:

"Serbs: There exist no obstacles to a harmonious peace. Fiume wishes to be Italian. Freedom of commerce in the Adriatic will not be prohibited to you but will be enlarged for your benefit. The only obstacle now is political intrigues and foreign gold. Now they seek war against Italy by collecting forces in the neighborhood of Fiume to occupy the city, the citizens of which, with volunteers, will defend it unto death and destruction."

TRADE IN OPIUM AND COCAINE

Parliamentary Bill to License Imports and Exports

SMUGGLING INTO STATES

Impetration into Canada for That Purpose—Legislation to Provide for Full Weight of Lobster in The Tin

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—Following the adoption of a resolution, Mr. Rowell introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon a bill to license imports and exports of opium, cocaine and their preparations. The bill contains in effect orders-in-council passed in last May under the war measures act. In recent years, Mr. Rowell said, quantities of opium and cocaine imported into Canada have shown a marked increase. In view of this situation, and in order to exercise greater control, the orders-in-council were passed. The increase in importation however, did not necessarily mean an increase in consumption in Canada. The object of importation in 1919, there were 12,283 ounces of cocaine imported into Canada. During the three months of 1919, under license, July, August and September, cocaine imported amounted to 1,544 ounces.

Morphine imported during the year ended March 31, 1919, was imported to the extent of 84,000 pounds. During the three months under license, importations were compared with 84,000 pounds before licensing was put into effect.

Mr. Sinclair (Guyabaro) "Is it true that the use of these drugs has already increased in Ontario during the last year?"

Mr. Rowell—"There is no evidence to that effect. My advice from the officers of the health department is that there is no ground for the conclusion that increased importation is due to any laws recently enacted in the province of Ontario."

The bill was read a first time.

Canoe Lobster.

Hon. A. K. MacLean then introduced a resolution providing for an amendment to the meat and canned foods act in its application to the canning of fish. He explained that the amendment had been introduced into the house at last session and considered by a special committee which had not reported before prorogation. The statute at present provided that a pound tin of lobster should contain fourteen ounces of meat. This provision tended to give the impression to the public that it was being deceived because a pound tin contained only fourteen ounces of meat. Therefore, it was considered advisable to introduce this amendment, which provided that lobster should be packed in six ounces, six, nine, twelve and sixteen ounces, and that their labels should indicate the net minimum weight of the meat in the cans.

Hon. W. S. Fielding remarked that the important thing appeared to be to provide for cans being stamped with the weight of meat contained in them. He thought the amendment was in the right direction.

J. H. Sinclair asked the minister what was the legal weight of salmon in this country?

Mr. MacLean replied that he would endeavor to have that figure on the second reading of the bill. The proposed amendments did not affect any fish except lobster. Mr. Cahill asked if the cans containing only twelve ounces of lobster meat would be the same size as the cans which formerly contained sixteen ounces.

Mr. MacLean replied that the true weight of contents must be stamped on the cans.

The resolution carried, and a bill based on it was given first reading and will come before the house at its next session for second reading.

NEED THIS LOAN MORE THAN THOSE RAISED IN CANADA DURING WAR

Toronto, Oct. 18.—Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, addressed the Canadian Bankers' Association here last night on the Victory Loan.

"You are commencing this month on this loan," he said, "and we hope we shall have a tremendous victory on Nov. 18. We will then have re-established our financial position, and proved, basically, as well as in all other directions, Canada's debt credit."

Sir Edmund Walker declared that Canada's debt credit could be carried only by increased production, which would mean the extension of foreign markets. The needs of the coming loan were greater, he said, than those raised during the war.

"This loan is necessary," he said, "if we expect to finish with credit the job we entered upon."

Find Out About Your Eyes

Very often eye strain exists although vision is good. The sight may even be unusually keen. The strain shows in other ways, such as headaches, nervousness, tired, itching or watering eyes. It is a drain on health and a menace to sight. There is only one remedy—properly fitted glasses.

Long experience, and the most facilities, enable us to serve you most efficiently in the testing of eyes and the fitting of glasses. There is no guess work. Our examination determines the exact condition of your eyes.

ORGANIZED LABOR'S TASK.

In the United States today the leaders of organized labor are experiencing what the governments of the different countries had to face during the war. The latter had to reckon with troubles at home as well as with the armies of Germany; and so today, the labor leaders find that organized labor as a force is being threatened from within as well as from without. When there are those in the ranks who think and speak as Foster of the steel strikers did in his book on Syndicalism, the whole fabric of unionism is in danger. When the longshoremen of New York refuse to give their agreement and go on strike in defiance of the heads of the international organization, it is another proof that there are miners in the ranks; and that what sane labor leaders have built up during a long period of years is in grave danger from within. In his book on Syndicalism Foster wrote:

"The Syndicalist is as unscrupulous in his choice of weapons as he is in his everyday battles as for his final struggle with capitalism. He allows no consideration of legality, religion, patriotism, honor, duty, and so forth, to stand in the way of his adoption of effective tactics. The man who writes this is one of the leaders in the steel strike, and the fact tends to alienate public sympathy. In 1914 Foster advised members of the I. W. O. to give up their own organization, join the unions of organized labor, and endeavor to gain control of them. The policy seems to have been adopted by many, and would explain the apparent revolutionary tendency in some unions. Investigation at Gary, the big steel centre, has discovered radical plots to overthrow the civil government, even by resort to the use of bombs. Major-General Wood describes Gary as 'a hotbed of anarchy.' Such a condition is not sought by the real leaders of organized labor, and it makes their task infinitely more difficult. The New York Evening Post says:

"The fanatic fringe of the labor agitation is a more direct peril to the labor unions than to anybody else. There is, plainly, an element of violence among, or alongside, the workers. Call them Bolsheviks or I. W. O.'s, or mere unbridled trouble-makers and mischief-makers, they undoubtedly exist and are bent on producing explosions. But the first thing they would blow to pieces is the conservative labor union. Of its methods they are madly impatient. And so they put out their wild manifestoes like the one just issued in this city and that published out in Gary, calling upon workmen to arm and to wipe out the police, the soldiers, the courts and churches. All in this may be partly mania, but it is in part malice. Its aim is not simply to frighten the bourgeois, but to discredit the labor unions. They have been too slow, too orderly, for these heady communists. Mr. Gompers and his type must be got rid of before the grand revolution can be ushered in with its notice to all hands to take what they need."

It is reassuring to know that wherever in the United States or Canada the revolutionary element has attempted to force the issue (as in Winnipeg) the result has been overwhelming defeat. These persons would substitute a class rule for democracy and bring civilization into chaos. Happily none are more clearly aware of the fact than men like Gompers and sane leaders of organized labor all over the continent; and it is part of their task to convince the public at large that the role of the anarchist is not to prevail.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

Woodstock, which was the first centre in New Brunswick to open a vocational school, is also the first to open a vocational day school, with a competent staff of teachers. St. John is still content with a few evening classes for working boys and men, and nothing at all for girls. In the city of Bangor the evening schools are graded. The Commercial says:

"The night school draws its pupils from all ages, all nationalities, all kinds of workers. There is opportunity for everyone to learn something, to get something of real value. The girl who knows nothing of cookery and who has one or several reasons for desiring to learn, without the day-time to spare to it, and who goes into the domestic science department with its fine equipment and able instructor may learn much that is of real value. The boy who has been obliged to leave grade school but who wishes to go to high school later may take up work at the night school. Night school pupils have been graduated from night school to high school many times. The man in the shop may get valuable lessons in drawing or lathe work. The girl who has no business training and little time and no money to train herself for a good position may take the commercial course, may take bookkeeping or typewriting or stenography or all three."

It is gratifying to learn that there are more students in the evening classes in this city than a year ago, but surely the school board and city council could, if they chose, speed up the plans for vocational training on a more liberal scale.

THE FRUITS OF NEGLIGENCE.

"There is a constantly increasing disregard for law and order by the youth in our midst. Wanton destruction of property is very prevalent on the part of the boys of the city."

The above extract from a letter to the Halifax Chronicle is featured by that journal, which devotes a long editorial to the demoralization of youth due to the apathy of the community. It says:

"Still more deplorable is the increasing disregard of all social and civilized amenities, the assumption of a 'tough' and reckless manner, an utter lack of respect for age or position, a constant and obtrusive self-assertion, the self-assertion being usually of a very repulsive character. Boys and girls from respectable families now appear to take delight in appearing among the toughest of the tough in thought and speech and conduct. It is this which is most significant and most to be deplored."

The Chronicle finds that the home is primarily responsible, but that the school, the church and the police are also remiss in their duty; and it calls for a general awakening.

The people of St. John can sympathize with those of Halifax. Concerted effort to set the wandering feet of youth into the right path is utterly wanting. Over and over again until it has become a commonplace, the police magistrate has declaimed against the unsightly spectacle of mere girls walking the streets until late at night, and if every darkened motor car going out the roads at night could tell its tale there would be an additional chapter to the story of society's crime against the children. The girls as well as the boys are in danger, and society must pay in due time the price of its indifference and folly.

St. John has had a boys' club for more than half a dozen years, and it is claimed that of more than four hundred whose names were on its roll of membership less than half a dozen went wrong. More than sixty who had been members, donned khaki during the war. That club is this winter without a home. Its members meet those who conducted it, and ask: "When will the club be opened?" They are waiting—and must apparently wait in vain—for no quarters are available. Who cares?

In six different places in yesterday's Standard announcement was made in prominent type of the coming opposition convention. It is explained that delegates are to be elected from the various constituencies. Will the machine endeavor to control the election? It will never do to have delegates who might rise up when the leaders were shouting for an "honest administration" of provincial affairs and ask them questions about that $100,000; that $20,000; that $40,000; that $22,000; that $2,500; that $1,500; that $5,000; and sundry other sums which figured in the Valley Railway and Patriotic Potato affairs. Trust the Sackville Post says the party needs to be re-organized, and there are those who would not repulse the suggestion that they could lead a re-organized party; but what does the machine say?

The appeal in behalf of the Navy League should meet with a hearty response in this seaport. Canada must have ships and men to man them, and this city got more last year from the Navy League than the whole province put into it.

The Victory Loan drive will soon be on. Upon its success depends the success of Canada's re-organization plans, the extension of the country's trade, the activity of industry, and the successful meeting of Canada's financial obligations.

The industrial conference at Washington threatened to break up over the question of the steel strike, but wiser counsels appear to have prevailed. Labor and capital also appear to be getting closer on the question of collective bargaining. This conference may and should have momentous results.

The Women's Hospital Aid is giving evidence of being a most valuable organization. Will its request for a royal commission be heeded? There should be a complete re-organization in hospital affairs.

With two large additional homes for Protestant orphans in prospect the conditions surrounding the lives of unfortunate little ones should be greatly changed for the better.

Secretary Glass has recommended to the American Congress an appropriation of $20,000,000 to enable the federal board for vocational training to carry out the purposes of the vocational training act.

If the police put a stop to street walking—and they should—where will the young people go? Street walking is bad, but what is the alternative as things are in St. John today?

Premier Lloyd George puts squarely upon the United States the duty of the Anglo-Saxon race toward the oppressed people of Turkey. Surely the appeal will not go unheeded.

The American Senate can hardly regard its record in regard to the peace treaty with any degree of complacency. As a time-waster it beats Ottawa.

THE HIGH PLACES.

I have bought a grand piano and a sumptuous sedan, and a lot of other doodads, on the monthly payment plan. On each thing I paid a dollar and I'll pay a monthly dose, till I'm laid away and sleeping underneath a sagging stone. It's true I didn't need them, and I haven't coin to burn, but I see my neighbors blowing every kopeck that they earn, and if they can have pianos and fine motors and such stuff, I will go as far as they do, though it makes the sleeping tough. Every month I'll pay a dollar on the junk I do not need, till I limp around on crutches and my whiskers go to seed; and when I have crossed the river to the shining golden shore I will still be owing money to the installment store. And I fear the recollection will destroy my peace of mind, when I have a harp before me and a pair of wings behind, but my neighbors, they keep blowing every rouble, every red and I'd be a sort of piker if I let them get ahead of me in buying circus wagons, and I'm buying costly gems, and my wife is wearing sables and has diamond diadems, and I bought the whole caboodle on the monthly payment plan, and I'm riding to the poorhouse in a super-eight sedan.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Dominion Happenings of Other Days

THE CAROLINE.

Few events in the history of Canada possess more stirring interest than the cutting out of the steamer Caroline from the place where she was moored opposite Navy Island, Niagara.

It was in the restless days of the rebellion of 1837 that a band of men from the border, under their leader, Van Rensselaer, took possession of Navy Island and established a hostile camp there. The Caroline, a small ship of about fifty tons, was hired to bring supplies from Fort Schlosser. Colonel McNab, the British commander, decided the vessel must be captured. To Commander Drew of the royal navy was assigned the task of taking the ship that was playing such a strange role. In the night a party boarded the craft as she lay in the harbor, and after a brief struggle, on her deck there was a guard of armed men to protect her; on her deck a sentry who demanded the password when the British party climbed over the rail unexpectedly.

The sixty men in the cutting-out party soon had the Caroline away from her wharf and headed across the river at the end of Fort Schlosser. In the inn there was a guard of armed men to protect her; on her deck there was a sentry who demanded the password when the British party climbed over the rail unexpectedly.

Of course such an international incident made a good deal of discussion for a time but it ended in a treaty, more serious than the burning of the British ship Sir Robert Peel in retaliation on May 28, 1838, the day a West Indian steamer was taken in wood. The force from over the border remained on Navy Island until the fire from Chippewa forced it to flee from Canada.

THE WALLS OF CANTON.

The Great Wall still remains, but the walls of the cities of China are crumbling. They kept the invaders out, but they are useless before modern artillery. The pioneer of the British in China, gallant Captain John Woodley, contemporary of Cromwell and Hampden, silenced with his guns the Chinese batteries near Canton in 1687, but he did not touch the city wall. The Cantonese themselves are now engaged in pulling it down, so that motor cars and electric trams may have a track around the largest city in China. The other city walls of this long-lived, uninviting people will also crumble and disappear when the inhabitants of the cities hear the throb of the internal-combustion engine.

WOMAN FOR JUDGE.

Special interest is being shown in the women's non-partisan campaign for the election of Miss Bertha Rembaugh as Justice of the Municipal Court in the First Judicial District of Manhattan. It is not merely that a woman has been nominated for judicial office. Miss Rembaugh's qualifications are more than merely adequate. She is a lawyer of long experience, and besides her professional equipment is a public spirited citizen of character and force. Although she has built up a successful practice, she has also done a great deal of unpaid work both for the individual poor and for philanthropic associations. She has been counsel for two such different organizations as the Women's Trade Union League and the women's branch of the National Federation. Leaders in movements for social betterment tell of her energy, her sympathy, and her skilful handling of human problems. With Frances Perkins the first woman to hold important administrative office in the state, and Bertha Rembaugh the first to be elected, we hope a judge, we have a favorable augury for the part women are to play in public life.

THE ATTACK ON RIGA.

(New York Evening Post.)

The new "war" in the Baltic region will probably come to an early end now that the Allies have plainly shown to Von der Goltz and the German government that they are in earnest in demanding the evacuation of Latvia and Lithuania. Hilberts Von der Goltz's defiance was undoubtedly based in part upon the belief that the Allies were going through the motions of protest while favoring at heart the retention of German troops as a bulwark against Soviet Russia. The attack on Riga may have been undertaken in the same spirit and was probably brought on by the reported peace negotiations between the Baltic nations and Soviet Russia. The German reasoning was that the Allies must be fundamentally opposed to peace between the Letts and Estonians on one hand and Latvia and Lithuania on the other, and that an attack on the latter would be far from displeasing to the Allies. Actually the results of such an attack must be to strengthen any inclination for peace among the Three important points to remember are: (1) Every fur garment sold here is guaranteed absolutely reliable. (2) The fashions are authentic and each piece personally selected. (3) The goods are priced on the basis of value, not scarcity. They were bought at the low costs of months ago; undressed skins now sell at $6 each wholesale; and our foresight can be turned to your profit.

Suggests share in control of Gibraltar for U. S. if Turkish mandate is taken.

Henry Morgenthau, who returned yesterday from Europe where he had represented President Wilson in an investigation of conditions in Poland, suggested that if the United States were to accept a mandate for Constantinople, Armenia and Anatolia, the nation should also be given joint control with Britain of Gibraltar.

The possibility that Italy may be a candidate for the mandate over Turkey is being considered in political circles in Europe.

Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, former commander-in-chief of the British forces in Palestine, has been appointed British high commissioner for Egypt and the Sudan.

EX-BOLSHEVIK ON SOVIET RULE Mr. Alexinsky Defines Bolshevism as New Capitalistic Development in "Distorted, Primatively Robber-Flickeria" London, England.-The Russian colon met the suspicions of two Russian organizations functioning in London, the Russian Liberation Committee and the Russian Communist Party, to listen to two reports on the state of affairs obtaining in Bolshevist Russia by Victor Henri, the Sorbonne and Mr. Alexinsky, the Social Democrat, member of the central committee of the party. N. V. Tchakovsky, the well-known patriarch of the Socialist movement in Russia and the head of the Archangel Provisional Government, was in the chair. Mr. Tchakovsky opened the meeting by protesting against the wilful distortion of facts on Bolshevism by a certain part of the British public. Two gentlemen present the unbiased scholar and the prominent Social Democratic leader, he said, might throw a light on the real state in Bolshevist Russia which they had quite recently left. Victor Henri lived in Russia for the last four years, and in his capacity of secretary of a committee of the Academy of Science, kept in close touch with many institutions and persons of our exclusive but not expensive private work, $100 dollars daily. Magnificent Sample Book free. Special terms. Experience or capital unnecessary. Bradley Company, Limited, Brantford, Ont. Nobody may occupy more than 200 square feet in his own dwelling. The meaning of "nationalization," though is rather vague, e. g. fur "nationalized" for the Red Army were purchased. The traffic on the only railway line which still works regularly (Petrograd-Moscow) has diminished to two passenger trains and six goods trains a day. On other lines trains go twice or three times a week, and no time-tables exist. Extraordinary measures have been taken since March to alleviate this distribution. Organizing Bolshevism

THE DAILY MISERY OF FULL-HEALTH

Three Years of Suffering Quietly Reviewed by "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

MR. GASPARD DUBORD, 159 Avenue Plus IX, Montreal.

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from hypertension and general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine and followed his instructions; but I did not improve and finally the doctor told me I could not be cured. At this time I friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-lives' and I did so. After taking two boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives,' I was greatly relieved and gradually this marvelous fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health are splendid—all of which I owe to 'Fruit-a-lives.'"

GASPARD DUBORD, 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 50c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

HOW WILL CANADA RESPOND?

Over in the dank, rat-haunted trenches of the western front Canadian soldiers were confronted with an unseen danger, an insidious, invisible menace that was quite as formidable as the shrieking peal of the shell-splinters and the whistle of the machine-gun bullets.

It was the danger of tuberculosis. Up to the end of 1918 a total of 3,609 tuberculous cases had been treated in the sanatorium of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. The success of the method applied by the department was striking. Of the number given only 6.54 per cent died and 79 per cent were returned to their civilian life. It is all part of the effort of the country to do everything in its power for the men who faced the onslaughts of the gas.

Canada is asking that her citizens support the Victory Loan 1919, that she may do her duty by her returned soldiers. An immense sum of money is needed to maintain the medical services, to run the hospitals and sanatoriums, to train the men rendered unfit by their wounds or afflictions for their former occupations, and re-establish the fighters in civil life.

The money is here. The only question is, will Canadians now that they know the need is great, contribute magnificently to this appeal? They will!

MR. DEWART'S CAMPAIGN

MANAGER LIVE WIRE

Uses Aeroplane to Herald Arrival of Liberal Chief at Bowmanville

Oshawa, Ont., Oct. 18.—An aeroplane heralded the arrival at Bowmanville yesterday afternoon, of H. Hartley Dewart, K. C. leader of the Liberal party in Ontario. Twenty minutes before he started on his journey to Bowmanville, Dewart had taken to the air in a plane piloted by one of his lieutenants. The plane landed at Bowmanville, letting loose a flood of election cards. The plane had had upon it in large letters: "Vote for Dewart." The cards carried this Democracy against Harding and "Hypocrisy" and on the reverse side: "Put them down. The seven sleepers in Queen's Park, Toronto, must go!"

Mrs. Dewart was given a hearty reception. He repeated arguments used on several occasions during the present campaign.

NEED BETTER HOMES FOR SEVEN MILLIONS

London, Oct. 18.—(Reuter)—Lecturing before the Society of Architects, Sir Charles Rubben produced figures, as to the country's housing needs and said that if the output of bricks increased 250 per cent it would be some fifteen or twenty years before the present shortage would be overcome. At the present time seven million people were in temporary housing. This, he said, showed the impossibility of production of brick houses and the crying need of the immediate use of wood in building.

He estimated that if the housing problem were to be handled in any degree satisfactorily during the next five years a grand total of 1,044,000 houses must be erected or more than 200,000 more. Calculating 250 bricks to each house this would mean that five thousand million bricks would be required each year. To secure this amount two and a half times the number of workmen engaged in this industry before the broken auto parts or any machine parts in any metal.

A List of Words That Often "Back-Fire"

Poor phrasing, and the careless selection of words, is noticeable in a great deal of retail-store advertising. It is so easy to slip into terms of exaggeration and shadings of the truth that a department store head has issued a little booklet of rules on the subject. In it are set forth the customary words and phrases of the trade, with reasons why they may or may not be used. The following are a few examples:

"All sizes." The use of this phrase is permitted only when a complete stock of all sizes is on hand.

"Bargain" (as applied to goods quoted at regular prices) is a word the public understands and its use is permitted where circumstances warrant.

"Best" is prohibited. Frequent misuse of the word has deprived it of its meaning, and it is impossible to tell just where its application is correct.

"Choice of the House" or "Entire Stock." These phrases are only permitted where every article in stock and where no reserve supply is held back.

"Cost," "At Cost" or "Below Cost." Not allowed because the public is very likely to look upon them with suspicion.

"Ever Before" is a meaningless phrase which is not used.

"Fortunate Purchase," "Sample Lot" and "Manufacturers' Overstock" are not allowed to stimulate interest in goods when regular stock. When used they must apply truthfully to conditions.

"Half Price," "One-Half Off" and similar phrases are only permitted where goods are actually one-half, one-third or more off.

"Last Season's" is O. K. if it expresses the truth.

"Limited Quantity." The use of this is encouraged where the supply is likely to be exhausted before the end of the day.

"Never Before," "Never Again" are prohibited.

"Not All Sizes" is misleading. Sizes should be stated, if possible, giving the amount of each, if all sizes are not on hand.

"Get the Latest" is to be used only when goods are not entirely out of date.

"Regular Price Should Be" or "Would Be" "Price to Sell For" are phrases used when goods are advertised that were bought below the market price.

"Season" or "Run of the Mill" should always be used in an advertisement of such goods.

"Satisfactory as Always" is misleading and therefore not accepted.

"Special," "Special Price" or "Special Sale" must be coupled with a literally. Price in each instance must be below regular.

"The Latest," "The Newest" must express absolute truth.

"Usually Sold For" does not refer to competitors' prices, but to the same as regular price.

"Value" is another meaningless word because of overuse. It is so small that the exact value of any particular article.

"Width of Merchandise" should only be used in stating width as it is at that time; not as it was before bleaching or shrinking.

"It's Worth Up To" is forbidden because it allows for too much misrepresentation. Lowest as well as highest price must be stated.

These are simple rules of precaution, but they do not account for the small boggy for this store's remarkable following.

Ambulance Required, But Goods Arrived.

One day when a new salesman fell down because conditions were not as per the regular programme the proprietor of a Denver store said to him: "Use your head. Get it done some way. There is always a way and the young man who figures things out quickly is the one who gets to the top."

The salesman said he would try to do better.

That was on Saturday. His opportunity came. The boss had taken one of the cars to run down to market. The other salesman out Mrs. Watkins had called up to have a dinner order delivered at once. There was no boy there and the cashier was too new to trust. "My king, what's a trip ahead?" he asked. No, the man had just finished one and had found his way to a special rush trip for the store?

"No, just a delivery—one that has to be made within the next ten minutes, or I lose my job." The salesman ran over. "What? Oh, well, I'll help you out. Where is it?"

Five minutes later Mrs. Watkins saw

SHOULD KAISER BE PLACED ON TRIAL?

Opposing Views Presented in British Debate

ACQUITTAL POSSIBLE

Lord Buckmaster Views Matter From Legal Aspect—Lord Curzon Takes Popular Side of the Controversy

(Toronto Mail and Empire) We don't hear much more about the Kaiser nowadays than we do of Kerensky or Michael O'Leary, whose names not so long ago were on everyone's lips. The Kaiser is, of course, in Holland, but what steps are being taken to extradite him? When is he to be put on trial? Above all, when is he to be hanged? These are questions which we believe the Allies people are more interested in than in most of the other provisions of the peace treaty.

A Legal Mind

Lord Buckmaster, formerly the lord chancellor, objected to trying the Kaiser in England. He declared that the idea of the trial was popular rather than the time of the general elections when passions ran high and that the demand then was not for the trial but for the punishment of the Kaiser.

Possibility of Acquittal

If they were to try whether the Kaiser was responsible for the war under the German constitution, they were embarking upon an inquiry which would take months. They would be bound to summon all the witnesses, and the trial would be a long one.

Will Make No Spectacle

In replying, Lord Curzon said that in trying the Kaiser an English judge would not be doing the work of a government, but acting as interpreter of the international code laid down in Paris, and an English judge was as competent to interpret this code as any other.

Not Safe in Holland

He went on to say that he could not agree with the suggestion that the Kaiser was a refugee in Holland all future dangers from him were at an end. There was a party in Germany already clamoring for his return.

WAR SHATTERED ROYAL ROMANCE

Tragic Story of The Crown Prince of Serbia

LOVED DAUGHTER OF CZAR

She Became Victim of The Bolshevik—Wooer's Side of Story Revealed, But That of Princess Olga a Sealed Book

London, Oct. 18.—What must certainly be numbered among the most famous love romances of the world is the tragic story of which the Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia is the central figure.

The hero of the Serbian army and now than once the saviour of his country in war and diplomacy the Crown Prince Alexander loved and wanted to marry the beautiful Grand Duchess Olga, daughter of the Czar of Russia. Successful in most of the things he attempted, the young Prince had high hopes of winning the affections and love of his choice, but now the lady is dead. Had she lived and married her lover the beautiful girl might today have been Queen Regent of the new and Greater Serbia. Instead she met a terrible death at the hands of Bolshevik soldiers.

When the young Prince, fresh from his triumphs in the then newly won

Balkan war, sought the hand of his lady the Czar of Russia favored the soft and left it for his daughter to decide. What was Olga's reply? Did she say "No" to the wooing of Alexander? Or did she say "Yes" and the world war, which broke out six months afterwards, came to defer the wedding to what they both might have thought would be a happier time? These and the many others are the questions which now arise, and which cannot at present be answered, because Prince Alexander says nothing about his unfortunate love. He seems to have buried it with the past, and sought relief from the poignant memories of what might have been in an assiduous application to hard work and the reconstruction of his beloved country.

The remarkable story of the Royal romance has just come to light in an official record which has been found in Holland. It is not often that such a story is told as fully as this one. All Prince Alexander's side is fully given, but Olga's side has perished with her and her family.

The revelation of the romance is the outcome of a recent ventilation of the archives of European diplomats, in which is detailed a full report of the wooing and the State negotiations.

In February, 1914, there traveled to Petrograd a grey-haired, grey-whiskered old Serbian statesman, who went personally to the Czar to discuss certain questions concerning the Slav race. He was Paschitsch, Minister-President of Serbia and an European politician of note, accustomed to grimmer matters of European diplomacy than Royal love affairs.

The aged minister was received in audience by the Czar, and for half an hour they talked about the Balkan situation. The Czar, little knowing what the grey-bearded old Serbian had in his mind, entered enthusiastically into the discussion, criticizing Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and expressing his love for Serbia and the need of friendship with Greece. And then Paschitsch told Alexander's love story to the Czar.

Writing to him officially as he did, Paschitsch says: "Thereupon I referred to the matter of the marriage of our Heir to the Throne in the following words: 'I pray your Majesty may graciously permit me to propose a wish and a request of our King, and not to be angry if I do so.'"

Paschitsch seemed to realize that he was asking on behalf of the Crown Prince of a tiny country—Crown Prince by virtue of assassination—the hand of the most beautiful maiden of one of the greatest and most splendid Courts of Europe.

"Our King," he continued, "wishes to marry his son to one of the Grand Duchesses. The duty which he owes to his country and his successors impels him to express this wish to your Majesty through me, for he is convinced that no one will know or hear of it, if for any reason your Majesty should conclude that this cannot be.

"Our King will continue to cherish his sympathy for Russia and his loyalty to the Slav policy, and he would have the consciousness of having fulfilled his duty towards Serbia and Russia."

"Choose for Themselves."

The Czar—so runs the report of Paschitsch—smiled, smiling that he was not at all ill-disposed to the request of the King, and it was quite a proper one. His principle, however, was to permit his children to decide matters of the heart for themselves, and he did not wish to influence them in their choice of future life partners. He too, considered that it would be unnecessary for any one to know about the matter.

He had noticed that when the Crown Prince had been to dinner with the family of the Czar, he had often glanced at the Grand Duchess Olga, and tried to avoid having the others notice the fact. He found the Crown Prince quite smart. He did not boast about his war experiences. He seemed brave and smart.

"I thereupon thanked him," says Paschitsch, "and promised to tell no one, not even the King, what the Czar had told me. Only the Crown Prince was to know of it. The Czar said that the Crown Prince had not mentioned the matter when he was visiting there, to which I answered that he feared a refusal. I said that if it should be decided that we were to have a daughter of the Czar for our Queen, she would enjoy the sympathy of the whole Serbian nation, and would be able, if God and conditions would permit, to become the Czarina of the Southern Slav, Serbo-Croatian people. Her influence and lustre would encompass the entire Balkan Peninsula."

"The Czar listened to my words with apparent pleasure. The impression of this entire incident was a good one. I added that the Crown Prince (who had would remain a few days longer, but for myself I must depart."

"The Czar said, 'Oh he may remain here yet. He has plenty of acquaintances here, and can enjoy himself very well.' I had said this," M. Paschitsch explains, "so that the Crown Prince would still have occasion to meet the Czar and his daughters a few times. I did not inquire when we might have an answer from the Czar. I regarded it as superfluous to inquire into the ways and means of his reply."

There ends the official story of this great Royal attachment. There is a mystery about the Duchess Olga's part in it that will probably never be explained, although there is little doubt but that Prince Alexander could throw a great deal of light on it were he so minded. The beautiful Olga is dead. Did she say "No" to the wooing of the Prince, or did she say "Yes?"

RETURNED MEN GIVE A BIRTHDAY PARTY

A Happy Time at Military Hotel, Prince William Street

Miss Jean Condie Honored and a Traveling Bag is Presented—Birthday Cake, a Nice Programme and Good Speeches

A birthday party held at the military hotel, Prince William street last evening proved a great success. It was in honor of Miss Jean Condie's 21st anniversary and the returned soldiers of her full honors. The reception room was prettily decorated and various lights were added to enhance the effect. Those present were all returned soldiers and a few young ladies from the Salvation Army Citadel. A programme was very well rendered by the ladies and gentlemen as follows: Solo—A. Harris; recitation, Miss Nina Craft; vocal solo, Miss Jean Condie; recitation, Mr. Emory; vocal solo, D. Ritchie; recitation, A. Harris; solo, Wm. Thom; recitation, D. Ritchie; recitation, Miss Myrtle Berry.

After the programme games were enjoyed and then came a presentation to Miss Condie at which A. Harris officiated. He said:

"Ladies and gentlemen: I assure you it gives me great pleasure in being present at this, the 21st birthday of Miss Jean Condie. I am glad to see such a fine attendance, and I sincerely hope that you have all enjoyed the evening. Everything was arranged to make the old soldier merry and bright for this evening. Judging by the happy faces and the gaiety of the places I presume you all have been merry and bright. But the worst is yet to come.

Two weeks ago a committee of three was formed consisting of Miss Harding, Mr. Owen and myself, to give a party to Miss Condie. My part of the arrangement was to provide decorations and invitations and I personally took a small contribution from the boys here to provide a suitable token to be presented to Miss Condie as a remembrance from the boys of the hostel. The subscription was not quite what was needed but with the help of Mr. and Mrs. Condie, Miss Ashley and Mrs. Marshall and the staff we managed to procure a very useful present.

"And to you, Miss Condie, on behalf of the returned people, I wish to present this little token of our esteemed friendship and may this beautifully equipped, traveling bag remind you of the good time we have so well enjoyed tonight. And again on behalf of all those present I wish to convey to you our best wishes for your future happiness. May your light shine among men in the great world which you have so well chosen. It is the sincere wish of all that you accept many happy returns of this your 21st birthday.

"Always yours, the Boys of the Salvation Army Hostel."

Miss Condie spoke of how grateful she was to God for her 21st birthday and also to the committee who had worked so hard on her behalf. She thanked the boys and the guests and continued by saying that in her infancy she, like her mother, had been chosen to work for God and was always going to continue that good work. Her speech was an excellent one and was applauded vigorously.

Mr. Harris then invited all to the dining room for the reception. They found an elaborately spread table and a birthday cake lighted by twenty-one candles. After full enjoyment of this feature by all, Miss Condie was called on to speak. He told eloquently of how pleased he was with the honor done his only daughter and spoke of her good qualities. He then spoke of the work which had been going on at the hostel for the last eight months. He explained how the people of Canada had generously donated money for the upkeep of the hostel. He said that the weekly bill placed upon each man would not meet the expenses of the hostel. He was glad to have the opportunity of offering for the returned men. He thanked those who were responsible for the hostel every evening and concluded by asking all to sing "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow."

This was so well sung that Mr. Condie asked to have it repeated. Mrs. Condie offered prayer and the singing of "She's a Good Girl" ended the pleasant evening. The returned soldiers enjoyed it greatly. Nearly all of them who were present did not have a home to come to in St. John and they appreciate the hostel by making it a permanent home. The praise was justified by all. Miss Condie thanks is due to Miss M. Harding, Mr. Harris and Mr. Owen, not forgetting the staff, for the enjoyable time.

GOOD WEATHER AND GOOD RECEPTION FOR TAGGERS IN CITY

With weather conditions ideal and a band of 800 workers energetically canvassing the city the outlook is bright for the King's Daughters to reach their objective $8,000 in today's "Tag Day." The workers were taken to their districts this morning in automobiles, lent for the occasion and at noon were taken to the Guild rooms, 18 Prince William street, for luncheon.

The following are the ladies in charge: Mesdames D. W. Puddington, George Dishart, Norman E. Shaw, E. J. Fleetwood, Mrs. McAlpine, H. Colby Smith, A. B. Fowler, T. W. Vincent, J. E. Scord, E. W. Robertson, E. E. Thomas, Charles Clark, W. H. Nice, E. A. Young, Ernest Waring, H. W. Belding, F. E. Holman and Miss Ethel Barnes and Miss Lillian Pritchard.

Refreshments were looked after by Mrs. H. Colby Smith, Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. W. J. Bingham, Mrs. R. W. Wigmore, Mrs. E. M. Smith and Mrs. R. S. Craig.

The following associations assisted in the drives: Lady Robert's Chapter, I. O. O. F., Free Kindergarten, Excelsior Club of St. Andrew's church, Salvation Army and High School girls.

MARKET PRICES
 The country market was fairly well supplied today with produce, and prices ranged about the same as at the Thanksgiving market. Poultry was rather scarce but there was enough to meet the demand. Hens were plentiful at from 30 to 40 cents a pound while venison at the same price was rather scarce. There were a few geese to be had the latter brought 70 cents and the former 60 cents a pound. Prices on other articles were: chickens, 50-55 cents a pound; fowl, 45-55; duck, 60; beef, 25-40; veal, 20-30; lamb, 20-30; pork, 35-40 cents a pound; butter, 60 cents a pound; and eggs, 70 cents a dozen. Vegetables were plentiful with prices unchanged.

ALLA NAZIMOVA HERE ON MONDAY

Russian Celebrity in Powerful French Play at Imperial Theatre. Alla Nazimova, possibly the most striking feature in screen dramas to-day, as well as on the speaking stage, will appear at the Imperial Theatre on Monday in Mabel Wagnall's powerful novel, "A Rose Bush of a Thousand Years" under the adapted title "Revelation." This is a French story in which Nazimova portrays the role of Joine, a "daughter" who, dressed as a Bacchante, performs a wonderful dance of revelry in a cabinet in the Latin Quarter of Paris, afterwards becoming involved in a serious love affair, and finally the story strikes a deeply reverent and religious note when the miracle of the rose bush in a monastery garden holds breath in rapt attention.

This is just characteristic of its New York run at the Broadway Theatre, at the one dollar and fifty cent scale, and in all the other big American and Canadian cities.

SECRETARY'S VIEW OF ROOSEVELT

The Closer You Were, the Bigger He Loomed

NO SHAM ABOUT HIM

Intimate Glimpses of Great Citizen of United States by One Closely Associated With Him During Latter Years of His Life.

That old aphorism that no man is a hero to his own valet was properly met by Carlyle, who remarked that we ought not to have the minds of valets. Nevertheless, it is the general experience of public characters that those who come most intimately into contact with them have the least respect for them. A striking instance to the contrary is provided by Miss Josephine Stricker, who was Theodore Roosevelt's confidential secretary in the last years of his life. He was indeed a hero to her she says in an article in the New York Tribune, for he was of that rare greatness stuff that the closer you came to him the bigger he loomed, like a mountain. He was not a poseur; those who formed their opinion of him from his public life would find him exactly the same sort of man in private life. He practised his doctrines of Americanism in his home. His relations with his wife and children were ideal. A kinder, more unselfish father never lived. Wherever his home was there was his heart.

The Kind Employer. When Miss Stricker was recommended to him as his private secretary, she was in despair at having to confess that she had forgotten all the shorthand she ever knew, and that it would be necessary for her to learn it over again. "Well," he smiled, "we'll be patient with each other while you brush up on it, and I know it won't be long before you are an expert." His morning mail averaged about 200 letters a day, and such a thing as an unanswered letter was unknown to Colonel Roosevelt. Even toward the last, when he was in almost constant pain, he insisted that the day's mail should be answered on that day, though his secretary suggested that it might be left over till the morning. He said, "Miss Stricker, when I was president, I instituted a rule to clear my desk each day of the day's work, and I shall stick to it." This, she adds, was the nearest approach to a rebuke that she ever received from him, which is quite as interesting a sidelight upon his character as to his insistence upon the mail. She notes that when he was preparing his speeches or his editorials, he had the habit of walking about the room and delivering them with as great fervor as though he were addressing a public audience.

The Man With a Message. He never spoke without a message, says Miss Stricker. On one occasion in 1912, two newspapermen who were accompanying him on his tour at Salisbury, Md., strolled over to see that the press arrangements were complete for the meeting he was to address. "Fine!" said one who had joined the party on the previous night. The other smiled. "The Colonel," he said, "will first say, 'Take down those ropes so that everyone can get close to the platform,' and then he'll add, 'move those tables to one side so that everyone can hear me.' He's not coming here to be a spectacle for the mob, but to deliver a message." It turned out exactly as he had foretold, the colonel using the very words the correspondent had employed. He undoubtedly believed that he had messages of enormous importance for the American people. This was not egotism, but simply a sane knowledge of the fact that he had the ear of the public as had no other American of his generation, and that he foresaw grave perils menacing his country which only a roused consciousness on the part of the people could avert.

Mental Versatility. His mental versatility was one of his most remarkable features. He was an omnivorous reader, and read almost a page at a time. It is related that on one occasion an Australian public man called upon him with a long article upon agricultural topics that he desired to discuss. The president ran his eye over the twenty odd typewritten pages. His visitor said that he would appreciate the favor of another interview when the president had mastered the document. "I have read it," said Roosevelt, and proceeded at once to discuss the matter, even quoting many of the figures which were embedded in the screed. The Australian later said that it was one of the most wonderful facts he had ever witnessed. Others have testified at having been bitterly disappointed when having been commissioned to prepare reports on one subject or another, the president

The Soul of a Vision

So then—
My part is ended. Other men,
And women, too, still play their part,
With courage resolute and dauntless heart.

My broken comrade—
Searched by scars that time can not efface,
Is not the jest of fortune; for his aid
A nation's mighty forces doth provide.

And those who live—
To carry on our story down the years,
Face not their "quiet days" in bitter pain;
(Forgotten, now they've stilled the nation's fears)
Dwarfed by the lust of pride and selfish gain.

My Canada—
Thou fair land for whom great love
Inspired my youth to ancient sacrifice;
Grant that our serried ranks in realms above
May witness bear thee, worthy of the Price.

To Pay Debts of Honour

To the Dead and to the richness of their dying, we must give pause, and in humility confess
a debt beyond redemption.

Before the altar of their sacrifice, Canada is consecrated to make its dominion worthy. The Torch that illumines Victory so dearly bought, must burn eternally. Each year of peace must record an added lustre to our heritage.

But to those who have come back in suffering,
Canada owes a debt which money can, in part, repay.

It is a Debt of Honour. Canada was pledged to the end, that the wounded and the sick be adequately cared for, until they were fairly fitted for the competitive existence of civil life.

For this purpose, our medical services, and our vocational training schools must be maintained until the need for them is no more.

These, then, are some of the purposes for which the Victory Loan 1919 is being raised. Other purposes are told about in other announcements.

As you read them, the conviction will grow upon you of the absolute necessity for the

would merely appear to skim over the pages. Never, however, did he fall in this swift glance to seize upon the essential points, the facts that were to be most useful.

The Next Presidency. Miss Stricker says that his diversity was such that he could actually entertain two divergent sentiments simultaneously. Once he received the following note from one of his Rough Riders: "Dear Colonel, I am in trouble. I am in jail for shooting a lady in the eye—but I did not mean to shoot the lady; I was shooting at my wife." For an instant the humor of the appeal struck the colonel, but in the same instant, reports his secretary, there came a wave of pity for a man in such a moral and mental state as to offer such an excuse. As regards the part he might have taken in the presidential campaign of 1920 had he lived, he spoke in Miss Stricker's hearing to Governor Allen of Kansas, in February, 1918. He said that he would not lift a finger to get the nomination, but that if the party unanimously and spontaneously offered it to him, he could not refuse. "The dearest to me in the male line are on the other side of the water, fighting and being made ready to fight for their country. If they do not return, what would the presidency mean to me? In case they do return, nothing would give me greater joy than to spend the remainder of my time with my family."

TELLS OF FLIGHT

ACROSS ATLANTIC

Sir Arthur Whitten Brown Thrills Audience With Story of Ocean-Conquering Trip

Unsuited For Airplanes—Aviator Says Journey on Commercial Scale is Only For Lighter-Than-Air Ships

(New York Times.) For the first time the whole story of the pioneer non-stop transatlantic flight was told last night, when Sir Arthur Whitten Brown with Capt. Sir John Alcock made the crossing last lectured in Carnegie Hall of his historic experience.

Sir Arthur, who is an American, although he was born in Scotland, and served throughout most of the war as a lieutenant in the British Royal Air Force, was warmly welcomed and received a sympathetic hearing. His generous praise for his defeated rivals in the Newfoundland-Ireland contest and his frank tribute to Lieutenant Commander Albert C. Read who piloted the NC-4 across, as the real pioneer in the air journey between hemispheres, won him hearty applause.

To one who had last seen him as he stepped into the cockpit of the Vimy on the Hope Walk Airframe in St. John's, Newfoundland, that memorable June 14, Brown, despite the success, and the honors which had intervened, was the same modest, unassuming, agreeable person who had been so well liked by both rivals and associates in the days when the race was yet to be flown. His narrative was simple and uncolored, leaving much to the imagination of his hearers. But if one may judge from the tense silence and close attention with which the audience followed his illustrated lecture, the unvarnished tale appealed.

In outline there was little that was new in what the Vickers Vimy's navigator told. He even left out some things. He neglected, for instance, despite a multitude of unforeseen navigational difficulties, was a feat which may be fairly appraised only when one recalls that Brown had plotted his course for that very spot and that it had been the announced intention of navigator and pilot to "hang their hats on the aerials of the Clifton wireless station."

The navigator's story brought out more clearly than they have been depicted before the difficulties of that lonely journey of just under sixteen hours. He revealed that not only did the pair fly through clouds and between clouds, but found themselves in the midst of so many layers of clouds that the Vimy's most gallant climbing was unequal to extracting them from the blankets which made observations impossible. He described the breaking of an exhaust pipe, a detail hitherto undisclosed, and explained how that let the flames of the exhaust play directly upon a stay wire, which grew red hot, but fortunately did not break.

Another peril which never before has been mentioned was the freezing of the altimeter hinges by the intense cold. This held the altimeter stationary and for a time rendered lateral control impossible. Sir Arthur told with thrilling clearness of the long spin into which the machine journey was done. The pair had lost all sense of the horizontal and first became aware of what was wrong when they saw the ocean but 300 feet below them and apparently standing on edge.

Alcock righted the great twin-engine craft just in time. Last night's audience displayed particularly eager interest in what the navigator had to say of the loneliness of the journey. With the noise from the broken exhaust roaring in their ears, pilot and navigator were unable to communicate except by an occasional written note. They flew in semi-darkness though it was full moon. Now and then the moonlight, though not the moon itself, would lighten things for them and send the shadow of their rusting craft onto the clouds below, where it would travel along to keep them company. Again, the atmosphere would be so dense that the tips of the wings would be blotted out and the end of the nose would be lost in the darkness into which they were rushing headlong at more than 140 miles an hour.

Turning toward the close of his lecture, from a description of the flight itself to a discussion of what it had taught the flying world, Sir Arthur said that despite the Vimy's success he was convinced that heavier than air machines were not the answer for the Atlantic crossing. Though there may be more sporting attempts of it, he said, the journey will be done on a commercial scale only by lighter than air ships. The limitations on airplanes, because of the great weight of their fuel loads, which makes it impossible for them to carry many passengers or much freight, he said, make them unsuitable for commercial long distance work. He hoped for the eventual development of some new motive power which would obviate this difficulty.

The speaker urged that the development of commercial aviation should not be forced to such an extent that losses of life and losses of capital may retard rather than help its progress. He concluded by showing a motion picture of a Vickers passenger carrier taken a group of Dutch newspapersmen from London to Amsterdam.

Your skin is a living organ of your body

ALL night—all day—whether you wake or sleep—your skin never rests from its work. It is far more than a mere covering for your body—it is a living organ with vital work to perform.

The beauty of your skin depends on how it works

Is your skin soft, supple, fine in texture, brilliant in color—a delight to everyone whose eyes rest upon it? If so, it is simply in its healthy, normal condition—the condition in which everyone's skin should be. Its delicate pores are working actively, freely; bringing it the oil and moisture that keep it soft and flexible—carrying away the waste products and allowing it to breathe.

But if for some reason, your skin looks tired, dull—if it lacks the color and freshness you would like it to have—then you can be sure that it is not functioning properly. The pores are not doing their work—the little muscular fibres have become relaxed.

How to rouse a dull, sluggish skin

This condition can be relieved—your complexion can be made as fresh, clear, and colorful as you would like to have it. For every day your skin changes—the old skin dies and new skin takes its place. By the proper treatment you can stimulate this new skin which is constantly forming into healthy normal activity—you can give it freshness and color.

To correct a skin that has become dull and sluggish, use every night this special treatment with Woodbury's Facial Soap.

Before retiring wash your face and neck with plenty of Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water. If your skin has been badly neglected, rub a generous lather thoroughly into the pores, using an upward and outward motion. Do this until the skin feels somewhat sensitive. Rinse well in warm water, then in cold. Whenever possible, rub thoroughly, first in tepid water, then in cold. Whenever possible, finish by rubbing the face with a piece of ice.

Use this treatment regularly, and before long you will notice a marked improvement in the texture of your skin.

Special treatments to meet the needs of each individual type of skin are given in the little booklet which is wrapped around every cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap. Find the treatment that is adapted to your skin—then use it every night, regularly and persistently.

You will find that the very first treatment leaves your skin with a slightly drawn, tight feeling. This only means that your skin is responding to a more thorough and stimulating kind of cleansing than it has been accustomed to. After a few nights the drawn feeling will disappear, and your skin will emerge from its nightly treatment with such a soft, clean, healthful feeling that you will never again want to use any other method of cleansing your face.

Woodbury's Facial Soap is on sale at any drug store or toilet goods counter in the United States or Canada. Get a cake to-day—begin using it tonight. A 25 cent cake lasts a month or six weeks.

We shall be glad to send you a trial size cake

For 6 cents we will send you a trial size cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap (enough for a week or ten days of any Woodbury facial treatment), together with the booklet of treatments, "A Skin You Love to Touch." Or for 15 cents we will send you the treatment booklet and samples of Woodbury's Facial Soap, Facial Powder, Facial Cream and Cold Cream. DOES IT PAY to carry Life Insurance? There is only one answer, either from a financial or peace of mind point of view. The ever-increasing amount of life insurance written, not only by our Company but other representative institutions, is an evidence of its merit.

If it is good business to carry Fire Insurance—and every sane business man believes it is—then it should be equally good business to carry Life Insurance. A Fire Policy may become a claim, while a Life Insurance Policy must, either by death or maturity.

Write us to-day, stating your age, whether married or single, and we shall be pleased to forward you particulars of a policy best suited to your needs.

Good News to All Who Suffer

From the many ills caused by deranged kidneys,—news which those who have been relieved want all the world to know. The agonies of backache, the headaches, rheumatism and other pains resulting from neglected and congested kidneys, have yielded in thousands of cases to the wonderful action of Gin Pills.

BACKACHE

The two kidneys are situated just over the hips, in the small of the back. They are a mass of fine spongy tissues, fed by a great number of tiny blood vessels which separate the blood and filter it through the tissues...

SCIATICA

The poisons circulate all through the body, settling in the joints and muscles and around the sciatic nerve. And that intolerable pain ensues. Mrs. J. P. T. Wedge, Summerside, P.E.I., writes: "Gin Pills are the greatest of all kidney remedies and a medicine which is at present doing me a world of good. They are worth their weight in gold to any sufferer."

PAINS IN THE SIDES

"Four years ago," writes Mr. F. Lealand, St. Raphael, Ont., "I had such pains in my back that I could not work. The pains extended to my sides and shoulders. I used them all the pains had almost gone and I could keep at work. After I had taken six other boxes of Gin Pills I felt as well and strong as I did at the age of thirty. I am a farmer, 61 years old."

STIFF JOINTS

The uric acid which the kidneys have been too weak or congested to clear out of the blood, settling in the joints, causes the dreadful stiffness. "It affords me great pleasure," writes Mr. R. M. Wilson, of Hardfield, N.B., "to convey not only to you but to all sufferers, the great relief I have obtained from the use of Gin Pills. I am now 48 and feel as well as ever I did in my life."

HEADACHES

Some people have come to regard the headache as a necessary evil. That is a dangerous idea. Headache is a warning. It shows serious derangement of your system with regard to kidney trouble, especially when it comes with listlessness, dizziness and pain in the back. Try Gin Pills. There is nothing in them to harm you, should the headache come from other causes. And they surely help the kidneys.

Make no mistake. If you have the faintest suspicion that your kidneys and bladder are failing in their tasks, take Gin Pills. If your suspicions should prove unfounded, there is nothing in Gin Pills to hurt you in any way. And it is certainly better to be sure than sorry. Your druggist or general store dealer sells Gin Pills at 50c a box, with money-back guarantee, should you not be satisfied. A sample, sufficient to show what Gin Pills can do, will be sent you free on request to—

THE NATIONAL DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED, TORONTO. U.S. Address: No-Drug Co., Inc., 292 Main Street, Buffalo, N.Y. 50 Cents a Box.

DIIZZINESS

The first indication that your kidneys are not functioning is in the headaches, followed by dizziness and an overpowering feeling of lassitude. You feel drowsy, dopy and listless. Specks float before the eyes, irritability sets in and an uneasy feeling of coming catastrophe which you cannot explain. These grave warnings should be heeded at once.

LUMBAGO

Gin Pills can be used with benefit to ward off the evils of lame back, lumbago and other pains, by strengthening these vital organs. Mrs. Ripley of Williamsfield, East, testifies thus: "I suffered dreadfully with my back for twenty years. I got no relief until I took Gin Pills. I am now 48 and feel as well as ever I did in my life."

CONSTIPATION

This condition is often associated with derangement of the kidneys, and should never be permitted to run on from day to day. Get the constipation out of your system with regularity. Gin Pills have an ingredient which is especially designed to attend to this, while the Juniper and other valuable properties in them soothe and heal the kidneys and enable them to work the waste out of the body in the natural manner.

GENERAL DEBILITY

Debility of the whole system is caused when the kidneys cease to work. Gin Pills get right at the seat of the trouble. Mr. S. Weeks of Britton Hill, St. Michael's, B.W.I., took a sample of Gin Pills and three bottles. "I do not feel the need of taking any more," he writes, "my aching back and scorching urine have fled. I feel like a new man. I do not feel sluggish and worn any more. I do not feel the slightest ache."

GRAVEL

Mr. Isidore Thomas, of Tilley's Road, Glouc., N.B., writes: "No suffering could ever be worse than what I had to endure from gravel in the bladder. Now I am as strong as ever. I weigh about 20 pounds more than when I started to take Gin Pills. I beg you to publish my letter so that people may know what Gin Pills have done for me. The first box relieved me a good deal, 8 boxes were sufficient to cure me entirely and to bring me back to perfect health."

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and costly. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Witch's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it dardens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair appears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

ORPHANS' HOME DATES BACK TO CHOLERA TIME

Interesting Sketch Prepared by Mrs. David McLellan

FIRST LOCATION IN POND STREET

Peters Street and Albion Street Other Sites Until Present Building Opened in November 1888—Some of Those Who Carried on the Good Work

Proposed of the recent extension of the Protestant Orphans' Home into another building at West St. John, and the forward movement of its directorate in giving the institution definite provincial scope, the following historical sketch prepared by Mrs. David McLellan and read at a recent meeting of the board, is interesting. Mrs. McLellan has been a faithful member of the orphanage board for close to forty years and her reading of this sketch commanded the keenest attention of the members of the board who were very glad of the information it contained.

Doubtless it will be equally interesting to the people of St. John as herewith printed. The sketch is written somewhat in a personal vein and was not intended for widespread publication, but the writer has kindly consented to its use in the Times:

The Cholera Epidemic.

In the month of July, 1884, Asiatic cholera made its appearance in this city and prevailed to an alarming extent. It lasted throughout August and from the best information that could be obtained about 120 children became orphans, destitute and helpless—about one-third of this number being Protestants. All of these, with a large number of destitute women, with children, were at first temporarily provided for by a general relief committee, who solicited contributions for that purpose; but the necessity of having a permanent orphan asylum in connection with the various Christian churches in the city was more and more felt, where such destitutes could be received and provided for until they were able to provide for themselves or could be otherwise suitably situated.

How Orphanage Started.

Fifteen of the ministers of the various churches united in issuing an appeal on behalf of this object, in which they earnestly solicited contributions to bring about the establishment of such a home. A public meeting was held in the Mechanics' Institute on Nov. 12, 1884, at which resolutions were unanimously adopted setting forth the necessity for such an institution and ably advocated by those present. At the close of the meeting a collection was taken up which amounted to $15 64. Also a valuable site was placed at the disposal of the committee by Doctor Botsford, upon which a suitable building might be erected, but it was found difficult at once to raise the funds required. F. W. Daniel and the Rev. C. M. Armstrong, with the consent of the other members of the committee, secured a small house in Pond street near Fleming's Foundry, and engaged an aged man and his wife, who agreed to take charge of such orphans as were placed in their care at a fixed rate. In the meantime, the bill for incorporating The St. John Protestant Orphan Asylum passed the legislature.

Home Then in Peters Street.

After some time a more commodious building was procured in Peters street, where a number of ladies kindly took the oversight of the institution, and the whole number of orphans thus provided for during the first six years of its existence was thirty-nine. In July, 1861, the master and mistress gave up the charge and a matron was appointed under the sole direction of the ladies' committee who, with Mrs. H. Kinross at the head, managed very successfully for some time.

Difficulties arising from the scarcity of the means placed at their disposal and the place itself becoming too congested for the increased number of its inmates, an effort was made to procure a more suitable building. At length the Millidge property was purchased for $1,000, which was paid by subscription. Thither the orphans were removed in 1864, where they were well cared for.

Orphanage Burned in Great Fire.

At the great fire of June 20 the asylum was consumed and all the documents connected with the institution were destroyed. As far as can be ascertained there were not more than thirteen children in the home, all of whom were removed safely to the general hospital, under the care of Miss Frost, the matron. This kind matron watched over them there until ten of the number were removed to the Little Wanderers' Home in Boston. Here they remained for three months, when they were brought back to St. John and placed in a building in Albion street near Courtney Bay. In this building they had twenty-two children. Miss Frost continuing as matron. Several applications for admission had to be refused owing to want of accommodation. During the three years forty-one children had been cared for, including the thirteen passed through the fire.

Present Building Started in 1880.

On September 2, 1880, the corner stone of our present building was laid by His Honor Lieutenant Governor Wilnot of this province. There were also present the provincial secretary and the attorney general. The proceedings opened with prayer by the Rev. Wm. Armstrong. The trowel which was used was a very handsome silver one, with white ivory handle and was presented to the governor by Mrs. Chas. Wilnot. It bore the following inscription: "Presented to the Hon. R. D. Wilnot, Lieut. Governor of New Brunswick on the occasion of laying the corner stone of the Protestant Orphan Asylum, St. John, N. B., 2nd September, 1880." Hon. Robert Marshall deposited the box in the cavity in the stone and the mortar being spread by the lieutenant-governor, the stone was lowered to its position at the north-east corner of the building and pronounced laid in due form.

Opening of the New Home.

On November 17, 1881, the new building was formally opened. The staff, with the children, moved into the building in the summer, but the formal opening did not take place until November. The president was S. D. Barton; the other officials were Dr. Botsford, Messrs. John Fraser, John Armstrong, A. McL. Seely, F. W. Daniel, Wm. Peters, Dr. Patterson, John Boyd and Rev. G. M. Armstrong. Upon the death of Mr. Barton, W. W. Turnbull was elected president, and Mrs. Turnbull, president of the ladies' committee. (At that time I was elected a member of the ladies' committee.) From the establishment of the institution until 1884 only orphans were received—one parent being dead constituted an orphan. They were given up to the committee who provided homes for them.

In 1883 a bill was passed in the legislature, permitting the committee to take in children whose parents could pay a small sum for them, and they retained their guardianship over them. In the early years of the institution the committee had had to work hard at times to finance the work, but there were many faithful members whose faith did not fall them at these times, and God has been good in answer to their prayers and helped them over the hard places. There has been much to encourage us in the work and the seed sown in many cases has brought in a good rich harvest.

In closing I think it is only right to thank all those who have helped make the work easy for the committee by their co-operation, sympathy and financial aid. The foregoing deals with the present Protestant orphanage in Britain street, which is now possessed of an auxiliary building in the Martello Hotel, Queen Square, West St. John. The latter was recently rented from the federal government on a five year lease and is at present undergoing renovating and furnishing, and will accommodate more than eighty children. There will be an infants' home in connection. Both these buildings, however, will be superseded in time by a modern orphanage on comprehensive lines to be erected for provincial purposes in a suburban location according to the plans in mind at present.

Those Who See The Post-War Maxwell Want One

IT'S a great tribute to the keen minds and good taste that made the Post-War Maxwell so handsome, to find that so many who take one look at this car want one.

There have been, in other days, cars possessed of beauty that was only paint deep, but nearly all are "orphans" today. Not so with the Post-War Maxwell, because the major effort, the vast expenditure, the employment of superior brains, all have been devoted to a mechanical excellence.

Beauty came last with Maxwell executives; and it arrived last. But it's here now, and nearly everyone will say it's "liberally endowed with things that please the eye."

If it pleases you—take one ride. You will get a "feel" that you will remember many a day.

That delightful casting effect in steering which a new type front axle gives, that mental assurance you experience when you throw on the emergency (it's up on the transmission shaft), that troubleless electric system, that clinging-to-the-road feeling that a heavier rear axle supplies!

300,000 mighty good Maxwells are on the world's highways today. All the qualifications they possess and many more come with the Post-War Maxwell, and you pay only $1,395 f.o.b. Windsor.

NEW IMMIGRATION SHED AT NO 6

To provide additional facilities for the convenient handling of passengers landing at West St. John, it is possible that an extra storey will be added to the warehouse on No. 6 pier and accommodation duplicating that at No. 4 provided.

An informal opening of the C. P. R. winter service will probably occur next week in the scheduled arrival of the freighters Motifont and Batsford, the former with salt and the latter with ballast. The steamers will load lumber here for British ports. Marine Superintendent McGiffin of the C. P. O. S. service was in the city on Friday in connection with winter port matters and Mr. Kerr of the C. P. O. S. now in the city, is making arrangements for the discharge and reloading of the liners.

HOME FROM CONVENTION

A large number of the officers and delegates as well as some of the missionaries that were attending the maritime convention of the United Baptist Women's Missionary Society returned to the city yesterday by the Digby boat. Among the officers who returned were Mrs. David Hutchinson, Mrs. W. G. Clark, Miss Havelock, Miss Coy, Miss Clara Fullerton, Mrs. J. E. Wilson, Mrs. Parker, Miss Augusta Slipp, Mrs. N. C. Scott, Mrs. W. E. McIntyre, Mrs. George Dishart, Mrs. Thomas Robinson. The missionaries arriving by the boat were Miss Blackadar, Miss Eaton, Miss Armstrong, Mrs. G. Barrs, Dr. and Mrs.

Perry Eaton who were all on their way to attend the Baptist convention in Woodstock.

Reports submitted at the convention were gratifying. During the year $44,000 had been raised for home and foreign missions and excellent work had been accomplished. Ten missionaries from the Baptist church in the maritime provinces are leaving this year for Asia, among them Miss Machum, Miss Matheson and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Eaton, who are going for the first time.

It was decided that the celebration of the golden anniversary of the organization should be held next year in Main street church, St. John.

SHE withstood everything in the field and above all was, and still is, the last and only car to survive until the cessation of hostilities"—Extract from letter received by Ford Motor Company from a British Soldier, in Africa.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war. In press despatches, in field reports, in letters, in rhyme and song the praises of the Ford were sounded.

In France - 700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Italy - 850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Egypt - 996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Mesopotamia 999 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

THE PROVINCIAL OPPOSITION CONVENTION

(Moncton Transcript.)

A date has at last been fixed for the long talked-of convention of the provincial opposition. Whether the leaders or misleaders of the party took their courage in their hands or merely issued the call at the demand of the rank and file is perhaps immaterial. The leaders were on the horns of a dilemma anyway. They had to face a party convention, or the probability of a revolt by their followers in the legislature who at the last session solemnly passed a resolution condemning them for incompetence and shiftlessness. And the leaders who still boast that their actions in connection with the timber scandals, patriotic potatoes, and Valley Railway business were fine examples of party loyalty may still hope to secure from a hand-picked convention a snap endorsement of the doctrine that party loyalty should take precedence of political decency.

In this the opposition leader and his companions in misfortune are liable to be disappointed. Many of the opposition members in the legislature as well as the rank and file of the party have been shamed and humiliated by the proceedings of recent years. Doubtless some determined on a house-cleaning and a new deal, and unless they can be persuaded they will at any rate create some interesting scenes. There is no doubt that the decent elements of the party consider the present leadership impossible, but how far the delegates to the convention will exhibit the courage of their convictions remains to be seen. As the St. John Globe observes, the opposition has a great opportunity, but it is not for Leader Murray and his friends who control the chief party organs, are still powerful, and more concerned to save their face than forward the fortunes of the party.

Mr. Tilley is said to consider himself the logical leader of the opposition and he may undertake to lead a revolt if he finds the mood of the convention propitious. But while Mr. Tilley does not possess much tact he has a very considerable amount of caution. One of the few members of the opposition in the legislature who have the courage of their convictions is Mr. Potts of St. John, and his convictions are of such a narrow character that he is out of the question as a leader.

By the terms of the purchase, $5,000 are to be paid in cash and the balance can remain on mortgage for an indefinite period. Concerning the very important question of annual maintenance, at present the L. O. B. A. of this city have undertaken to raise annually the sum of $2,000 for this purpose and a voluntary subscription from its members of the committee for $100 a year makes an uncollected maintenance account of $2,100. The committee report having received furnishings for the home of the following offers of assistance:

- 1 room promised by L. O. B. A., St. John (admission).
- 1 room promised by Jewish ladies.
- 1 room promised by Mrs. Hughson and society.
- 1 room promised by Mrs. Thompson and also a dining room table and chairs and sewing machine.
- From T. A. Linton, the linoleum on both floors, piano and kitchen range.
- The furniture is now being selected by the committee.
- The annual yearly expenditure for maintenance, in round figures will amount to about $6,000.

The following local committee on finance was selected: T. E. G. Armstrong, J. A. Gregory, Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, H. Usher Miller, Mrs. G. O. Akeley, Mrs. H. A. McKeown, Mrs. W. I. Pen-ton and Rev. W. R. Robinson. To the above will be added representatives from all the counties in the province. Rev. W. R. Robinson is the present treasurer and authorized to receive any and all amounts. His address is P. O. Box 612, St. John (N. B.), and he will be most pleased to furnish all information concerning the movement.

After the meeting, the following statement was given out:

"The object of the movement is to co-operate with all organizations in New Brunswick with a view of caring not only for children who are orphans, but children who may be deserted by either parent or in cases where the mother may be sent to the hospital for treatment and the father unable to bear the expense of a housekeeper even if one could be procured at short notice, or the loss of time from work which means the livelihood of the family.

"This Home is opened to such emergency cases and children will be cared for and when the mother is in health will be returned home.

"Provision will be made for the care of all infants that may be brought to the Home for protection and support.

"The Home has been named in honor of the gallant boys of New Brunswick who enlisted during the great war in defence of our homes and loved ones."

Sorens, the first woman's club organized in America, was established in 1868 by a group of women protesting against the exclusion of women as guests at a banquet tendered Charles Dickens in London in New York city.

As the baseball season of 1919 draws to a close, the fireside league springs into prominence and perpetuates the greatest of all outdoor sports by replaying games over a glass of two per cent or a pipe.

For the present the matter rests, but it is up to St. John fans to see that it does not die. There are thousands of men and women in this city who would support a ball club as has been evidenced during the last season.

DAKAR IS TO BE LIVERPOOL OF AFRICA

French Improving Harbor to Receive Large Vessels — Administration Sent For French West Africa.

"Dakar, which is seldom heard about, promises to be a focal point in the expected rivalry of European countries with the United States for trade with South America—a possibility that every one is hearing a great deal about just now," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The sudden interest in Dakar the bulletin states, arises from dispatches telling of proposed Paris to Brazil and Madrid to Brazil rail and water routes, and also a contemplated transatlantic aeroplane flight from Dakar to Pernambuco, Brazil.

"A glance at the map will show why Dakar holds a strategic position for South American communication," says the bulletin. "The distance from Dakar on the tip of Cape Verde to Pernambuco, the easternmost city of the South American Continent, is but 1,715 miles as compared with 3,653 miles from New York to Liverpool.

"Already Dakar is a port of prime importance for vessels which ply between European ports and either South America or Southern Africa. Recognizing this fact the French have improved the harbor, with its naval and dry dock, arsenal, torpedo boat basin and facilities for transferring cargo from boat to train. Work on a deeper harbor and a larger drydock is now under way.

"Dakar also is important to its own hinterland, for it is the seat of administration for all the French possessions in West Africa, which include besides Senegal of which Dakar is the chief city, French Guinea, the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, French Soudan and Mauritania.

"The visitor today would find a thriving city of about 25,000 persons, with wide, well laid out streets, a large technical school, hospitals and workshops, and he might have trouble imagining himself in Africa, were it not for the preponderance of swarthy natives, as compared with only about 3,500 Frenchmen.

"Less than half a century ago travelers brought back different reports. Then children could have been seen running naked about the unkempt streets, and eating pig-like, from the same bowl. Mothers performed their work with babies strapped, astride, across their backs and one writer reported that children could be bought from willing mothers for a few francs, though he did not state what one might want with the purchase.

"The men literally wore rings on their fingers and bells on their toes, not to mention amulets, beads, combs, and a surprising assortment of trinkets, mostly regarded as charms.

Natives Good Fighters.

"But the Senegalese natives are far from savage, except in their ability to fight, as many American boys learned who observed them in France. The West African tribes, such as the Berbers, the Serer, the Fula, and the Mandingo, all of which are represented in Senegal, are among the most advanced of the African natives.

"The Berbers, for example, have a history dating back to pre-historic times, which mystifies ethnologists. They are believed, by some experts, to have been at one time the masters of the Mediterranean. Today many of them, were they attired as we might pass for Americans. Their skin is light, and some of them are blondes.

"Many times have the Berbers been conquered, driven out of their homelands, and, like the Jews, have become strangers in new lands, but they always maintain their racial identity, their physical characteristics, and a persistent love of freedom. Their women, like those of ancient Sparta and modern Russia, have fought by their husbands' sides, and their morality may be judged from the fact that the death penalty is administered for adultery. They have what amounts to universal male suffrage, though an assembly of all males, and the equivalent of universal military training, since each boy is equipped when sixteen, with arms which he must be ready to use until he is sixty.

"A novice can tell a light skinned Berber from a Wolof, 'black of the blacks'. Both Dakar and St. Louis, former capital of Senegal, are in the Wolof region. These ebony hued folk worship animals, revere sharks especially, but their poetic imagination is illustrated by the ceremony still preserved in crowning the King of Cayor, an old state recognized by the French government. After election the monarch is presented with a vase, in which are seeds of all the plants grown in the kingdom, signifying that he is 'lord of the land.'

"In Dakar, too, towering head and shoulders above the French and well above the natives, may be seen Serers. Their worship holds the snake in veneration, and they believe in transmigration of souls. Six feet six inches is no uncommon height for them.

"Perhaps the most intelligent of all the Senegalese natives are the Fulas, whose folk tales betray lofty ideals and poetic imagery that is comparable with early Greek and Norse lore. Their horsemanship is famous and their cavalry noted for daring and valor. The intelligence of their women and the respect accorded them is attested by the proverb: 'Let a female slave enter a household and she soon becomes mistress.'

"It was the Berbers whom General Faidherbe, the French governor, had to subdue in the 50's of the last century, before he could accomplish the inland advance of the French and assure protection for the coast settlements. This he paved the way for the founding of Dakar, in 1862. That city's commercial importance dates from the building of a railway line connecting it with St. Louis, 163 miles to the north-east."

Better Than a Hundred Hands

The Auto Knitter

A turn of the handle and 60 or more smooth, even, perfect stitches are knitted. Thousands of such stitches can be made in a few minutes by the operator of average experience. Many of our workers report that, with the Auto Knitter, a complete sock can be made in less than 10 minutes.

When the Auto Knitter goes into action, it is just like having many families or skilled knitters working for you; that is why our trade mark is "Better than a Hundred Hands." It makes the sock—top, body, heel and toe—without removal from the machine. It weighs about 20 pounds, can be clamped to any ordinary table or stand, and can be used anywhere. It is easily learned. Experience in knitting and familiarity with machines are totally unnecessary. Complete instructions about how to use the Auto Knitter are sent to every worker. The Auto Knitter is to hand knitting what the sewing machine is to hand sewing.

MAKES $35.00 IN ONE WEEK

The Auto Knitter is one of the best investments anyone could make. I can make three pairs of socks in an hour. In one week I make $35.00 from private trade alone. It is the finest and cleanest work I have ever done, and I would not be without it. Wheatley, Ont.

OPERATED BY BLIND WOMEN

I have now been using three of your machines, and they give good results. With a little patience at the start, I have succeeded in doing good work, which has always been accepted by you. You may be surprised to know that some of my work has been done by blind women, and it is impossible to recognize their work from mine. I am pleased with the business dealings I have had with you, and hope that future dealings will be just as cordial as they have been in the past. Montreal, Que.

HAS TWO AUTO KNITTERS

After being for 30 years on the lookout for something with which I could make money in the privacy of my own home, I answered the ad of the Auto Knitter Hosiery Co. I bought one machine. In a very short while I found that I had hit on something good—big returns for small investment. Right away I bought the second machine. I now have a little factory right in my own home, run by my own family. With one machine alone we turn out 10 dozen pairs of socks every five days. Your company has carried out all its agreements with me, and the machine is more up to the mark than I thought it would be. It is very easily understood and a pleasant pastime. Waldemar, Canada.

NOT A SINGLE PAIR REJECTED

It is not only profitable, but helps to pass many a dull hour away. I can knit two pairs of half-hose in an hour, which I think is good. The machine is what you claim it to be and does its work right, and being so small takes up but little room. Of the socks I have sent you, I have not had a single pair rejected, which is clear evidence that the machine can turn out good work. Fernie, British Columbia.

INCREASES FAMILY INCOME

I bought one of your machines about three months ago, and I must say that it is all you claim it to be, simple to understand, and easy to work. Good money can be made with it on the terms you are giving if full time is given to the work. But what I think is its greatest advantage is that it can be worked at odd times when there is little or nothing else to do, and so keep up and also increase the family income. St. Catharines, Canada.

We Supply Yarn Free and Pay You for You Work

THE whole world needs socks. In every country, in every city, in every town and in every village—in every corner of the world, in fact—there is an acute shortage of hosiery.

This great demand is your personal opportunity. It is your chance to add substantially to your income. It is the weapon with which you can meet the constantly increasing high cost of living.

You can make this money pleasantly and easily in the privacy, freedom and comfort of your own home. This is an unusual advertisement, due to an unusual world-condition. We are a firmly established Canadian business firm engaged in the manufacture of high-grade seamless socks. Our business connections are world-wide. We have been in business many years.

We have always preferred home manufacture to factory production. We believe in the independent employee. We know that the best work is that which is done by well-paid, contented people in happy homes.

These socks can be made by men and women. Knitting experience is unnecessary. The Auto Knitter, a marvellous machine, does the work. Anyone can quickly learn to operate this machine.

Workers Wanted Everywhere

For the reasons above stated—the unprecedented world-demand for hosiery—we need more workers—thousands of them. We need you.

We need all the socks you and your family can make on the Auto Knitter. We need this labor badly. We will make a contract to pay you a Fixed Wage on a piece-work basis. In this contract you take no risk. You can work for us as much as you want or as little as you want—spare time or full time. And for every dozen pairs of socks you send us, we will pay you a liberal wage.

With every Auto Knitter we send a supply of wool yarn FREE. We also supply FREE, the yarn needed to replace that which is used in making the socks you send us.

The yarn we supply is made specially for the Auto Knitter. It is the softest and warmest, and uniformity in quality, weight and shade is always obtainable.

You are, of course, at liberty to dispose of the output of the Auto Knitter as you see fit, or to buy your own yarn; you can also use the Auto Knitter to make at a remarkably low cost all the hosiery your family needs—wool, and cotton.

But please remember this: There are absolutely no strings tied to our Wage Agreement; it is a straight, out-and-out Employment Offer of a Fixed Wage on a piece-work basis—a good pay for your services alone.

The Auto Knitter is the most modern development of the hand knitting machine. It embodies many exclusive improvements, as worked out by us in our own factory. We are manufacturers of the Auto Knitter, our machines are fully guaranteed. In doing business with us you are dealing with a responsible manufacturing firm, so we could not afford to make, and do not make, any claim for the Auto Knitter that is not amply borne out by facts.

Positively Not a "Canvassing Scheme"

The Auto Knitter gives you the opportunity to make money during your spare time. It also gives you a chance to devote your entire time to the business, and this—to be independent of bosses, rules, time clocks, working hours, etc. Our Wage Contract is in no sense a disguised "canvassing scheme," "agency," or "open-a-store" proposition. Here is the proof—read the evidence from some of our workers:
