CHINOOK AGAIN FIRST IN SALMON BOAT RACE
Fourth of Dunn-Rothwell Series Sailed Saturday—Mona Second—Viking Won Motor Boat Race

Two interesting races were pulled off under the auspices of the Westfield Outing Association on Saturday afternoon. In the salmon boat race Chinoook led at the first buoy and already captured the Dunn-Rothwell trophy, was first again.

This race was the first one brought on, and proved quite as interesting as its predecessors in the series.

The boats got away in a bunch the Chinook led at the first buoy and was passed by two others but regained the lead on the second leg, and easily won, coming in nearly fourteen minutes ahead of the Mona. The Gladys was third, the Lolita fourth, Thistle fifth, Leola sixth and Sans Sauc last. The elapsed time was 1 hr. 31 min. 20 sec. The final race will be sailed on Aug. 24th, as several of the boats have entered for the Beverage cup race on the 17th.

Dr. Wetmore was officer of the day.

MOTOR BOAT RACE
In the motor boat race Norman Truehart's Viking won, thereby clinching the handsome cup offered by the Toronto Gas, Power and Launch Co. Arthur Smalley's Jolie was second, the Sidcoo, owned by Murray Jarvis, being third and a new boat owned by Edward Jarvis fourth.

It was an interesting race between the Viking and the Jolie, but the former had quite a lead at the finish, although she had a time allowance of two minutes as well.

The difference between the winners was only six seconds.

LEADING THE LIFE OF A NOMAD IN A CARAVAN IS THE LATEST FAD OF BRITISH ARISTOCRATS

Spending the Holiday on Wheels, Seeing the Natural Beauties of the Country and Getting Into Closer Touch With Nature and the Simple Life are Now Attractions.

'T'd be a sly, merry and free, 'A zypsy's life is the life for me.'

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Life in a caravan has become the fad of the hour, and now scores, if not hundreds, of families have deserted towns to share the experiences of the gipsy tribes who wander restlessly over the length and breadth of the land.

There is a certain class whose sole ambition in their annual holiday is to break the many habits of their life and explore some unusual phase of existence. These are the yachtsmen, the campers and the caravanners.

Whereas other people make a journey to reach a certain destination, and, indeed, regard the journey as a necessary evil, the caravanner—having no destination to reach—goes out to make a journey solely for the sake of travelling.

The day's march, on the one hand, and the camp, on the other, are his two great interests; and, if he takes the road with a genial spirit and an open mind, he will find life full of pleasant episodes and memorable scenes.

For all he does is set in a picturesque and romantic setting. He will have a new sympathy for his fellow-vagabond—the tramp under the hedge or the circus proprietor in the gilded wagon—and for all he meets upon the common road. And he will even find himself upon a new and intimate footing with the birds that patter on the roof at dawn, or the cow that rubs against the shafts, while his horse is a comrade-in-arms well worthy of his friendship.

This fascinating nomad life on the open road is so simple, so healthy, so fine a rest for wearied brains, so complete a change from the weary monotony of business, that it appeals to everybody, and as he wanders, he becomes a sort of national institution.

THE CARAVAN. The literature of the caravan is by no means insignificant, and the daily papers display stories written by those who have enjoyed the delights of the road. One of these, Britan Smith, writes as follows about the nomadic life: 'It is, in my estimation, of the greatest importance to have your caravan as light as possible, and easily drawn by one horse, not for the sake of making record journeys, but to make sporting matches possible. It is also important in these days to see roads, as far as may be, where the motor cannot follow, with its hideous clouds of dust. There should be at least two rooms inside, with light wooden partitions and curtains between, and every corner must be occupied with folding chairs and tables, a cabinet washstand, hanging cupboards and racks. Everything that will collapse must be collapsible, with the exception of the beds, for the caravanner is a tired man when evening comes, and in no good case to wrestle with ingenious devices and fight his way to repose. I strongly recommend a sound and pliant rubber bath, candle brackets on the walls, a cork carpet for the floor and beds with spring mattresses, one above another, like banks in a cabin. The door should be in front and the beds at the far end. There should be plenty of windows that will open, and curtains are much better, warmer and more artistic than blinds. A ladder, boxes and hooks for buckets should be slung below the floor.

A GOOD DEAL OF WALKING. "When on the road the caravanner will, of course, walk for the greater part of the way; and he should, from the very beginning, cultivate a contentment for weather if he would have a perfect peace of mind. He may 'change' as soon as he comes to camp, and need have no cause to go out again, so no ordinary rain should keep him back. A suit of oilskins will be found most useful for foraging on wet evenings. Short marches are the best—some ten or fifteen miles a day; a caravan does not pretend to be a rapid mode of transit.

"The horse should be a strong dry-bone, not too heavy, and capable of trotting when roads are good or the way lies down hill. There is no need to carry a large store of provisions, as one can as a rule, live handsomely off the country.

"The caravanner will soon pass under the influence of the beneficent Spirit of the Road, and will come to love his hobby for its charms, and respect it for its antiquity; for, long before the days of bricks and mortar, the world was full of caravanners. It is no new mode of life, but the oldest of all. The real innovators are not the caravanners, but those who live in houses, shorn of wheels."

MANCHESTER, Aug. 3.—As General Booth, who is on a tour of the north of England, was about to enter a church at St. Neots, Herts, yesterday to speak, William Ibbett, aged 82, a retired merchant, fell dead on the church steps.

Mr. Ibbett had for many weeks been looking forward to General Booth's visit. "I'm thankful I have lived to this day," he said when the crowd, seeing General Booth approaching in his motor car, shouted, "Here he comes!" As General Booth approached the steps Mr. Ibbett raised his hat as a salute, and in doing so fell to the ground. He was carried into the churchyard, and as he was dying muttered, "My sight is going; I cannot see the general."

"God has summoned this old comrade of mine at noon today," said General Booth, addressing the spectators. "It makes me question if I should be called tonight. I also am getting old, but I trust when the summons comes, I, too, will have my man raised at the salute, and will be prepared."

"My father had been preparing for a long time to meet General Booth," said Miss Elizabeth Ibbett, subsequently. "Since his retirement from business he has spent much time and money helping the Salvation Army. He would go from town to town, giving where it was most needed."

Three of Mr. Ibbett's brothers had earlier deaths. Joseph fell dead at 73 while entering a bank, Henry, did at 81, and Thomas at 77. Two aged sisters also dropped dead.

SALUTING GEN. BOOTH OLD MAN FALLS DEAD IN AUSTRALIAN BUSH. Pathetic Incident Marks the Tour of Aged Salvation Army Chieftain.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 3.—A thrilling story of the privations endured by Engineer Commander Ethelbert Silk, of the cruiser Pyramus, who was lost for five days in the brush near Port Darwin, is told in the papers today.

The Pyramus had conveyed Lord Northcote, the governor general, and party to Port Darwin on a tour of inspection. Commander Silk landed with a shooting party, but afterward the commander went alone to search for game. When it was known on the Pyramus that he was missing the vessel's searchlight was displayed at night, so as to act as a guide for him.

When dusk set in he found himself hopelessly lost in some mangroves. He obtained some water from a swamp, and during the next two days he continued to wander about.

His position grew more desperate, for besides having had no food, he could not find any water. On the night of the third day rain fell in torrents, and Commander Silk spread his clothes out on the ground and squeezed the water into his mouth.

At night he saw the searchlight of the Pyramus, but was unable to go in its direction owing to a wide river, fringed with mangrove swamps, blocking his way.

It was not until the fourth day that he met two black natives, who pushed him into a canoe, which they pushed across the river, one swimming on either side. They first took him to their house, gave him nourishment, and next day they drove him into Port Darwin.

NOT ANXIOUS FOR WORK.

Every employer of labor in the city is seeking help; the demand for men and the supposed scarcity, is one of the most serious difficulties to be met at the present time. Contracts are delayed and in spite of high wages it seems impossible for the employer to secure sufficient hands. Yet while this is true, there are, even in St. John, scores, perhaps hundreds, of men who are now idle simply because they are too lazy to work. Some of these men will not work at all, but others are agitators in what is now looked upon as the annual 'longshore' strike. Their arguments for an additional five or ten cents per hour will be that the season is short, that they do not have regular work, and 'in all last year I earned only $271.' These loafers are the ones who make trouble. The majority of those who are now idle had good pay last winter, saved a few dollars over living expenses, and are this summer wasting their time while using up the surplus, waiting until the winter season opens before attempting to earn anything more. The wharves are full of these people, Market Square is the gathering place for a crowd of them every day. They stand about chewing tobacco, smoking and looking on at what others are doing, refusing jobs which are offered to them, and imagining they are having a good time. Such men are worse than useless in St. John or anywhere else. They not only delay the proper accomplishment of works which are in progress, but they prevent those who are more deserving from enjoying the fruits of the good times in winter. Not only are these idle men injuring themselves and demoralizing the labor market, but their example is having a most serious effect on their children and in fact on all young people. Years ago boys and girls on leaving school sought positions in order that they might learn trades or earn money to help their parents. Nowadays it is very different. Some young people refuse to work at all, while many of those who do start for themselves look upon their employment only as something which will bring them in a little money. They care nothing about the future but regard work as a necessary evil which, however, must be borne in order that they may secure money to purchase entertainment. The desire of many young people in St. John today is simply to get sufficient cash to spend on amusements, and if the money can only be had by working, then they are willing to work.

ANOTHER SESSION.

Months before parliament last assembled it was announced that two sessions would be held this year and that there would be no elections until after the second. One session has already been held, and much important business which might have been taken up was allowed to stand over until the autumn assembly. There has been no reason why any change should be made in this arrangement, but certain opposition papers have recently been proclaiming that elections would be called on this fall and that Premier Laurier was endeavoring to break an alleged agreement with R. L. Borden. No such agreement was ever made, but there was issued early in the present year a ministerial announcement that two sessions would be held, this plan being best suited to existing conditions. The second session will no doubt shortly be called.

WHO HAS IT?

A recent financial report states that there is now in circulation in Canada $241,000,000 specie and $45,541,182 Government notes, making a total of $286,541,182 issued by the Government. Added to this $75,510,402 of chartered bank note circulation makes a total of $362,051,584, which Canadians are now using to grease the wheels of commerce and for their pleasure and comfort. The question naturally arises, where is it all, anyway? The increase in currency is shown by this: 'Going back only five years it is seen that the money in circulation at the corresponding period of 1902 was only slightly over half as much as it is now, and it is apparent that the country has grown individuals who have grown richer in greater ratio. In 1902 the specie in circulation was $11,695,053, Government notes $19,085,886, and chartered bank notes $49,118,473, making a total of $79,900,428, against $45,116,187, or an increase of $34,784,241 at the present time.'

The Governor General in a message to Ottawa Old Boys sees Canada a nation of eighty millions before the end of the present century. Earl Grey is an optimist of the first water, and on his approaching visit to St. John should certainly be induced to make a speech. He may perhaps express the belief that the first section of the new wharf will be ready by December. Even this should not be beyond his imagination.

Saturday and Sunday brought the customary long list of tragedies, and unfortunately the loss of life as recorded in this morning's despatches is greater than usual.

MARINERS WE.

Mariners we, hearty and free, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o! No more on shore we might abide, So we launched through the waves at the flood to the tide, To the sea that is broad and deep and wide, With a compass that points to the other side, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o! Mariners we, on the open sea, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o! Mariners we, on the open sea, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o! Bright be the way or black with thunder, Our ship cleaves the path and parts it asunder, Flings fountains of the foam that shine and go under, While we sail on and on through the ocean of wonder— Mariners we, hearty and free, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o!

Mariners we, hearty and free, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o! A gallant folk, we are not a few, Merry we are, and brave and true, And one most gallant, and gentlest, too, Is Master of our merry crew— Mariners we, on the open sea, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o!

Mariners we, on the open sea, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o! The way we go all men have passed, Stout hearted men whose faith held fast, Where they cast their great anchor our own shall be cast, In the same Port we shall greet them at last— Mariners we, hearty and free, Yo-ho-ho, yo-heave-o!

THE FRESH AIR BABIES.

Here in the gladland of shadow and sunlight, Daisyland, mayiland, gayety, song, The open air babies—eyes bright with funlight, Laughter and frolic the blessed day long, Through the lush grasses, the lawns stampeding, The butterflies romp in the clover blooms awop, With the dew of the morning, delighting, unheeding, The daisy chains tangling their tiny bare feet, Surret top, freckle face, sunburned and rosy, Guttering laddies with fun in their eyes, Vanished the city paves, banished the prosy, Workday humdrum from this paradise, Ho for the merriment, cheerment, sweetness of Life that is gayety, laughter and song! Here in the gladland of sunshine, completeness of Blissland, they blossom the blessed day long.

HAD BEEN THERE BEFORE.

There was once a man from Toledo, Ohio, who, while having 'a good time' in the Tenderloin district, was according to Simon Ford, 'held up' by an individual who suddenly darted out from a dark corner and presented a pistol at the head of the Westerner. 'Give me your money, or I'll blow out your brains!' observed the foot-pad. Without flinching, the Toledo man calmly surveyed the highwayman. 'Blow away,' said he, 'I'd rather be without brains in New York than without money.'

SLIGHTLY MIXED.

This is told as an actual happening to a Kansas man. He and his family had gathered round the supper-table, and all heads were bowed for him to ask a blessing, when the telephone bell rang. The man answered it; and, coming back to the table, again bowed his head, but again the telephone bell rang. He answered that call; then for the third time seated himself and bowed his head, said, 'Hello!'

INSIDE INFORMATION.

A woman who is trying to 'climb' into Washington society attended a recent reception at the house of Mrs. Taft. The crowd was so great that guests were hurried along the line of the receiving party, with merely a handshake with the wife of the secretary of war. The 'climber,' with determination written on her face, finally pushed her way up to her hostess and paused long enough to say, 'How do you do, Mrs. Taft?' adding with a very impressive manner, 'I've heard of your husband.'

THE OCEAN BOARDED.

'This breeze,' said John, 'is somewhat fully, It makes my mustache taste quite salty.' With smiles demure, said pretty Sue: 'Yes, does n't it? I thought so, too.'

BURGLAR CAUGHT BY FIRE EXTINGUISHER
Girls Turns on the Hose and Drench Him With a Chemical Fluid.

EDINBURGH, Aug. 3.—A remarkable story of a girl's pluck and resource comes from the far north of Scotland. Sackville House, Bowen-by-Wick, the residence of Mrs. Sinclair Wemyss, was broken into by a tramp, who is believed to be of German nationality, while the family were at dinner. The first to discover the intruder was the butler, who, after a great struggle, was knocked down and rendered unconscious. Two other servants attracted by the noise were attacked by the tramp, and during the scuffle the daughter of the house, 16 years old, rushed out of the dining room, and at once took a patent fire extinguisher which was hanging on the wall from its hook and squirted the chemical contents into the face of the burglar. The man, utterly unnerved by this unexpected attack and believing, probably, that he was blinded for life, gave a shriek and bolted out of the front door. He was, however, captured later on, and is now being in the local jail awaiting trial. The extinguisher was a cone-shaped apparatus with a knob at the top. When the knob is struck on the floor the extinguisher can be held horizontally, and a powerful jet is thrown a distance of thirty-five feet. It was this jet which settled the burglar.

STONED TO DEATH, FATE OF EX-MAYOR
Village Curate Arrested for Inciting Crime, Which Was Due to Political Fanaticism.

MILAN, Aug. 3.—Signor Loggio, ex-Mayor of Bergamo, a village on the outskirts of Bergamo, was barbarously waylaid and stoned to death by political enemies while returning home across a lonely mountain path on Thursday night. The assassins appear to have first stoned the victim and then dragged him some twenty yards across a field where they hung him into a ditch and then dispatched him. Don Domenico Milesi, the village curate has been arrested on the charge of having instigated the crime. This cleric has given much trouble to the ecclesiastical authorities on account of his notoriety as a political agitator. He has led a fierce opposition against Signor Loggio, so as to divide the district into two hostile camps of almost equal strength. The bishop, with a view to restoring peace, recently ordered Milesi to resign his seat on the municipal council, but the priest, it is alleged, gave the diocesan to understand that rather than retire as one vanquished from the district where he had worked for twenty years he preferred to cast aside the casock. This week new elections were held, and consequently, Signor Loggio announced to his friends several days ago that there was a plot hatching against his life. After the murder the band of assassins marched into the residence of the victim and stoned the residence of the victim and of the aged parish priest who had striven to curb his curate's political fanaticism.

NAKED IN CENTER OF BLAZING CLOTHES
Man Commits Suicide in Awful Manner, Involving Most Excruciating Torture.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—An extraordinary case of suicide is reported from Dover, the victim being S. Lefevre, aged 38 years, a tradesman in the town. Mr. Lefevre on Thursday night started from Dover for London, but left the train at Folkestone, where he purchased a quantity of methylated spirits. He then walked along the railway line in the direction of Dover, and on reaching an isolated spot known as The Warren, he undressed. Placing his clothing on the ground, so as to form a circle, he saturated it with the spirit and then set fire to it, remaining himself in the centre of the blazing material. For some time the unhappy man walked around in the circle, until he collapsed from terrible injuries. Meanwhile he had been observed by a naturalist engaged in catching moths, who at once gave information to the railway authorities. A light engine was sent to the spot, and the man was conveyed to Dover, where he died in hospital at 6 o'clock yesterday morning after terrible agony. The ground where the tragic event took place is stained with blood in thousands of places, where the deceased walked about in his frenzy. It is supposed that his mind had become unlit through worry.

CHILD OF SEVEN DROWNED IN CAPE BRETON.
NORTH SYDNEY, N. S. Aug. 4.—The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jenson, aged about seven years, was drowned in Mill Creek, Little Bras Bay yesterday morning. Nobody seems to know how the accident occurred, but it is thought that the little fellow was playing in the water and got beyond his depth. Boys wading on the shore saw the body floating and notified a man who waded out and recovered it.

THE CEDAR'S NEW PROGRAM.
At the 'Cedar' moving picture house, in Union Hall, North End, today, Tuesday and Wednesday, a program of unusual excellence is awaiting those who enjoy this form of entertainment. For instance, the film entitled 'At Three in the Morning' is a sorrowful funny picture story of a man with the toothache and an amateur dentist. 'The Mines and Forges at Deuzeville' in Southern France is educational in character showing the manufacture of the famous Crueset guns from ore to cannon. 'Cowboys and Redskins' is wildly western in spirit and its bronze and green finish as the mail coach is held up and interest to the pictures. A screamingly funny film is 'At the Dentist's,' which is in no wise like the first picture mentioned in this list, though it deals with toothaches and the like. The new illustrated song is 'When the Whip-poor-will Sings Marguerite.'

HELENA, Ark., Aug. 4.—J. M. Scott, city editor of the Helena World was found dead on the sidewalk early today. Two bullets had entered his head. It is believed that the killing of Scott was due to a personal quarrel.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Suspended in a net-work of electric wires seventy feet in the air along the tracks of the public service corporation trolley line in Hoboken, a 12-year-old boy was shocked and burned to death tonight as several hundred persons looked on helplessly. Two chums of the boy dared him to climb the trestle and rob a bird's nest under the iron girders. Throwing off his jacket and straw hat he started to climb the iron support. When near the top he lost his hold and fell among the wires.
LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 4.—Calvin P. Prince, 37 years of age, was almost instantly killed by coming in contact with an electric light wire directly in front of his home. Mr. George Moore, his father-in-law, was but a few feet behind Mr. Prince when he fell. He ran to the assistance of his son-in-law and received a severe shock.

The girl and the man, who, though bearing the same name, were not related to each other, were well known in this village. Two men, Olin Stevens and Oliver Sanborn, while at work in a hayfield near the road heard the groans of the dying victims and found them lying in the ditch.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 4.—By the bursting of a tire on an automobile this afternoon as it was racing through Southport, one man was killed and another badly bruised, but not seriously injured. The dead man was Peter Henderson and the injured William Malory, both of this city.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Three well-known young men were probably fatally injured today, when their automobile was struck by a car at Third Avenue and 35th street and after being shoved along for a distance of thirty feet was ground to pieces against an elevated railroad pillar.

STORM CAUSED DAMAGE IN COUNTRY DISTRICTS

Where Hay Had Been Cut—Ald. Bullock's Yacht Was Sunk at Westfield.

A wind and rain storm, the heaviest of the season, swept over the city yesterday. The wind at first blew from the southeast and changed later in the day to the northwest. The rain commenced to fall at nine o'clock yesterday morning and continued until 9:40 o'clock last night. The heaviest fall was between eleven and four o'clock. Altogether one inch and a quarter of rain fell. The wind varied hard last night, at one time a velocity of 38 miles an hour being reached. At midnight, the storm broke up and at two o'clock this morning the stars were shining. The lowest temperature yesterday was 52.

Yesterday's storm was unfortunate for many farmers who had most of their hay cut and many dollars worth of damage was done.

WANT A NEW BOILER FOR THE CITY DREDGE

The regular monthly meeting of the Common Council is being held this afternoon in the council chambers in the court house.

Ald. McCordick, as chairman of the board of works, will ask to have a new boiler installed in the city dredge. While working at Indian town on Friday last two rivets were blown out of the boiler. On inspection last Saturday it was found that the boiler was in poor condition and it will be necessary to install a new one. The present boiler has done service for seventeen years.

The council will also pass a resolution of congratulation to Dr. William Bayard.

WHEAT. Experiments show that wheat has the same nutrition, no matter where it is raised. Even though the plant itself gets very poor, it turns out a grain of uniformly high nutrition. The amount of wheat alone varies.

As a usual thing we don't care a hang how much other people want to have their own way so long as they are decent enough not to mention it. It is less embarrassing to have an excuse without an occasion than an occasion without an excuse.

ALDERMEN FIND THAT THE DREDGING IS NEARLY DONE

No. 1 Site About Ready, No. 2 and 3 Finished, No. 4 Getting Along Well—Clarke & Adams to Start Work on New Warehouse Today

A special meeting of the sub-committee of the board of works in charge of the west side work, was held at West Side this morning. Chairman McCordick, Ald. Bullock, Holder, Baxter and Director Peters being present. The two contracting firms, D. C. Clark and Clarke and Adams, were present, and after some discussion it was decided that Messrs. Clarke and Adams should proceed at once with the construction of the warehouse on the new wharf. Messrs. Clarke and Adams will begin the work this afternoon, the men and materials being ready.

At No. 1 site for the new wharf two boulders are still to be blasted. They will probably be taken up this evening's tide. The site will then be ready for the sinking of the crib. No. 2 crib site has been finished for some days. No. 3 site is also complete, and good progress is being made with the other, or No. 4. The work at Sand Point is progressing quite rapidly now, and the members of the committee expressed satisfaction at the progress made. It will thus be seen that practically only one crib site is still to be attended to, and the sinking of cribs may be proceeded with at any time after tomorrow.

Messrs. Clarke and Adams received an instalment on their work last Friday.

W. Z. EARLE MAY BE THE NEW DIRECTOR

Committee Decide to Ask Him if He is Open to an Offer From the City.

There is a possibility that Mr. W. Z. Earle, C. E., may become the new director of public works in St. John. The fact is that the members of the special committee recently held, the opinion was expressed that Mr. Earle would be in every way suitable for the position, that he has had considerable experience along the lines required here, and has the advantage of a personal knowledge of conditions in St. John. In accordance with the decision to look up men other than those who had applied for the position, a member of the committee was instructed to communicate with Mr. Earle and ascertain whether or not he is open to an offer. A report of Mr. Earle's reply, which it is hoped by the committee will be favorable, will be made at the next meeting.

COLLICUT REMANDED TILL WITNESSES ARRIVE

Fairville Prisoner Held on Suspicion of Assaulting a Little Girl.

Ernest F. Collicut, who was arrested last Friday by Officer Lawson and charged with vagrancy, was brought before Justice Mason this morning. He did not plead to the charge and as he is held on suspicion of being the person who chased little Hazel Burgess in Fairville, he was remanded until several important witnesses arrive in the city.

Ever since the Burgess girl reported to the police that a man had chased her on the Manawagonish road, Officer Lawson has been working on the case. He had been given an excellent description of the man, and on Friday night he saw Collicut leave a house in Fairville. This officer at once placed the man under arrest and sent for Miss Burgess who positively identified Collicut as the offender. The prisoner is about twenty-one years of age. He is a swarthy young fellow and states that he is a native of Woodstock. He came to this city with Hargrave's circus and since that show left town he has been loitering about Fairville.

RESCUED FROM DROWNING AT HILYARD'S SLIP

Roy Sullen, a ten-year-old lad of Elm street had a narrow escape from drowning this morning. He was playing on the boom at Hilyard's mill when he fell into the water. Benjamin Currie, an employe of Hilyard Bros., went in after young Sullen and succeeded in rescuing him. The boy was unconscious when brought to shore and it is almost certain that he would have drowned had Mr. Currie not reached him when he did.
