Brighten up!

Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes

"The Real Brighten Up Stuff"

Spring brings a desire to brighten up things about the house, both inside and out. This is a wearisome task unless paint and varnish be used, and an uncertain task unless you use the best. The Sherwin-Williams Co. make a finish for every surface in your house—a piano or a chair—a floor or a picture frame. A little time and money spent this Spring on "Brighten Up" stuff will greatly lessen your work and add very much to the appearance of your house.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE OF THE CHARLOTTE COUNTY WEIR OWNERS AND WEIR FISHERMEN'S UNION

Important Changes in the Constitution---Increasing Popularity of the Union---Annual Picnic to be Held at St. George

A full and very enthusiastic meeting of the Executive of the Charlotte County Weirowners and Weirfishermen's Union was held at St. George on Thursday, April 2nd.

Every section was represented except Campbell and Deer Island--the members from these places being prevented from attending by the bad storm which raged all day.

Members reports were presented and were of the most encouraging nature, all showing the increasing popularity of the Union, and everyone is looking forward to a successful season. Several important matters were discussed, and some important changes made in the Constitution. Section 21 of the constitution was changed to read: "Any boat, or boatman, taking fish from a non-Union weir, shall be debarred from taking fish from a Union weir for the balance of the season and it shall be the duty of any member of the Union, to report at once to the Executive Committee, or other officer of the Union, any boat or boatman taking fish from a non-Union weir."

Another important change is that "No member of the Union shall sell fish to a boatman unless he, the boatman, is provided with the cash, or a certificate showing his authority to purchase and for whom."

Also, that any member of the Union who resigns his membership, in any year, shall be debarred from re-instatement for the unexpired portion of the fishing season of that year. The preference given to the Canadian factories, at the annual meeting in December, was, at their own request, cancelled, so that during the coming season the Canadian packers will buy their fish from the weirs, on the same terms and conditions as the American packers.

The minimum price for fish shall remain as fixed at the annual meeting--namely $5.00.

The Executive were empowered to appoint as many deputies as they deem necessary for the proper supervision of their several districts.

Pres. Belyea said that in a recent communication from Mr. Calder, Fishery Inspector, he was assured that in a short time he would have good news and plenty of it for the fishermen. This is taken to mean that, at the urgent request of the Union to the Dept. of Marine and Fisheries, licenses shall be granted, and that the clause in the fishery regulations compelling the weirs to keep their weirs open from 6 o'clock Monday morning to be abolished.

This concession will be a great boon to the County. Many young men have been compelled to leave the County because they could not obtain employment in the business in which they were brought up. With the granting of new licenses and other concessions there will be work for all. In the days of the old brush weirs--which were dry or nearly so--the Saturday night clause was perhaps in order, but weirs are built now with twenty to thirty feet of water in the pounds, where the fish are put when caught, and kept for sale. This is rendered necessary by the present mode of caring for fish, which requires that they be kept in deep water until the feed leaves them.

It was decided that the annual picnic be held at St. George, probably between the 5th and 10th of August--the exact date to be fixed later.

Special efforts will be made to have this picnic the event of the season in the picnic line--excursions will be run from all points--several bands will be in attendance, and elegant prizes offered for sports. The details are in the hands of the energetic Secretary, Mr. Geo. Frauley, which is sufficient to ensure the success of the affair.

The Secretary reported that new members were coming in almost every day. Several names had been added to the roll from Grand Manan, through Mr. J. B. Cook member of the Executive for No. 8 district Grand Manan.

The feeling of security which prevails on having such a thorough and complete organization in charge of the principal industry of the County, is growing every day.

The many concessions secured for the benefit of the fishermen, through the efforts of the Union have been appreciated, and the people engaged in this industry are alive to the fact that their own interests will not suffer so long as the Union is run as it is now on sound business principles.

The Present-Day Cult of Introspection

An English writer, commenting recently upon the ways of the present time, says there has never been a period when people were so interesting in themselves. We have made a cult, he thinks, of introspection. One's diet, one's body and one's nerves are studied closely, singly and collectively, and are treated according to one's belief in what is good for them. Is it wise, this writer asks, to spend so much time in self study? To frame his answer he says that in the Stuart days the accepted time for dying was set at a much earlier date than we now fix it, and that in the eighteenth century many of the ailments today associated only with those in extreme maturity attacked persons barely out of their teens. He says that youth never endured as long as it does now and notes the further circumstance that heroes and heroines on the stage, in fiction, and in real life, are at least to decade older than they were a century ago. Today there are no fixed boundaries for youthfulness though youth itself may pass. All these conditions being, he believes, due to the modern habit of introspection, he concludes that a continuation of the habit is advisable.--Boston Transcript.

The New Canada

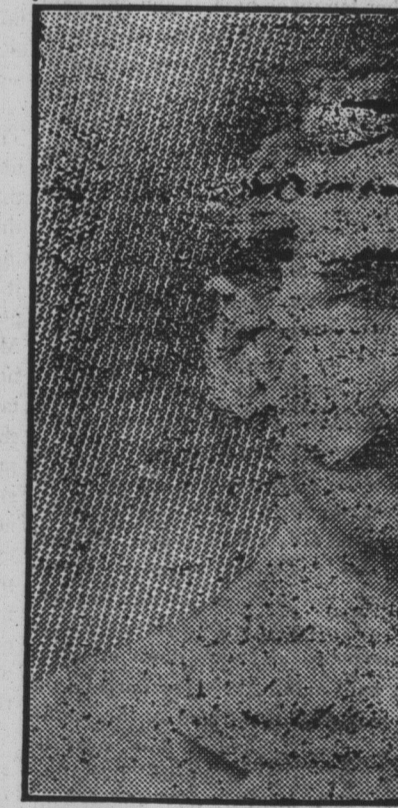

(From the New York Post.)

During the three hundred years of the history, Canada has been under French and English rule for almost exactly the same number of years. The Canada of the present is largely what the Pacific Union of the races has tended to make it, and that main conditioning force must control the Dominion's destinies for years to come. The newer and greater Canada, which is finding her growth among the prairies of the Northwest, is being populated with an English speaking stock, but under the chief guidance of a French-Canadian who has for twelve years now been at the head of the Federal Government.

THE OLDEST TEMPERANCE SOCIETY IN NORTH AMERICA

To the President and Members of the Temperance Congress, Chicago, 1893:

The undersigned desire to present for your consideration the claims of the Beaver River Total Abstinence Society as the oldest association of the kind in North America.

The above-named Society was founded at Beaver River, Nova Scotia, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1828.

Believing this fact to be a matter of historical interest in connection with the great temperance movement, and of value in any study of the growth and progress of temperance ideas and principles on this continent, they very respectfully request that the statements to which they have here subscribed may find a place among the records of your congress.

About twenty years ago the question was pointedly raised and warmly discussed in the press and elsewhere as to the birthplace of total abstinence societies in America. Although many claims to the honor of being earliest in the field in this direction were put forward, to which no proof has been furnished of the existence of any total abstinence society previous to the date of the formation of the Beaver River Society. The following is a literal copy of the pledge upon which this Society was based, with the names of the eight first signers thereof:

We, the undersigned, firmly believing that the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is injurious to the bodies and souls of mankind in general, both spiritual and temporal, and to remedy this great and spreading evil, we, whose names are hereto annexed, do forever renounce the use of such, except when prescribed by a physician as a medicine in case of sickness. And we pray Almighty God to establish our hearts and strengthen our serious resolutions.

Beaver River, April 25 A. D. 1828. Josiah Porter Jonathan Raymond, William Perry, Ebenezer Corning, David Corning, Joseph Corning, Daniel B. Corning, David Corning, Jr.

The David Corning, jr., whose name is the last one on the above list, is still living, hale and hearty, at the ripe old age of 89 and well remembers the circumstances under which the Society was formed.

This Society still exists in Beaver River, and holds its meetings in a hall built over the very spot where the above pledge was written and signed. This hall, called in commemoration of the event above referred to "Memorial Hall," is a commodious two-story building devoted to temperance. Here are now preserved the pledge and the records of the Society.

The great work to which this historic little band of total abstiners resolved to dedicate themselves over sixty-five years ago, has since, under God, greatly prospered in Nova Scotia. The County of Yarmouth, in which their influence was first exerted on behalf of total abstinence is now among the communities most distinguished for the prevalence of temperance principles and for the large proportion of its sons and daughters, who, in the matter of total abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors, are following in the footsteps of those whose names are signed to the Beaver River pledge of 1828.

D. C. CROSBY, Sec'y. Beaver River, N. S., July, 1893.

David Corning whose name is signed to this document died in 1903. The first pledge of this kind, in the United States was signed 12 years later. Mrs. Daniel Munson of Piskehegan, who is a daughter of Mr. Corning, received the pledge from D. C. Crosby, Secretary, Matamoras, N. S., some years after her father's death.

Taken By Surprise

To Dixon's expectant query whether Miss Mayo was home he had been told by the maid who answered the bell that no one by that name lived there.

As he hesitated for a moment, she told him in a polite but decided manner that she was a stranger in the neighborhood and that she knew nothing of the former tenants of the building. The family that now occupied the house were on their way to Europe for a short vacation. She could furnish him with the address if he wanted to write to them.

But Dixon, with a smothered "Thank you," turned away. To Europe. He had just arrived from Europe himself, and as soon as he left the boat he had run out to Longhurst to see Annie. And now to find out that she had moved away and he had no way of telling whether she had gone.

Six months before, when he and Annie became engaged, he had been sent to England on business. Since then he had received several letters from Annie, but had recently missed all his mail.

In his letters he had spoken of his love and how happy he was as the time drew near for their marriage. Contrary to his habit, he thrust his hands into his pockets. The next morning he gave a start and drew a bulky package from his coat.

"By jove," he exclaimed aloud, "I came near forgetting this package." He turned it over in his hand. "Two sixty-nine," he mused as he read the number. "That must be around here someplace."

Before leaving England a friend had placed the package in his hands and asked him to deliver it to the address on the outside.

"It is very important," he told him "and I dare not trust it to the mail service. It is of a special nature, George, or I would make you acquainted with its contents. However I can trust you to deliver it right side up with care."

He glanced at the numbers on the houses as he walked along. Ah! Here was the very place. Slowly he walked up the long walk to the house. Dixon drew in a deep breath as he pulled the doorbell and waited.

A moment later he heard the sound of feet moving along the hall. The knob of the door rattled, but to his surprise the door did not open.

He was not a believer in spiritualism, so he grasped the knob and opened the door.

The next moment an ejaculation burst from his lips. He found himself looking at the smallest mite of humanity he had ever seen.

"Oh, beg your pardon," he stammered, grabbing his hat off and making a low bow. He smiled as he beheld the reason the door refused to open. She was just tall enough to turn the knob.

"Oh, that's all right," exclaimed the mite. "I've been expecting you." "Expecting me? I was not aware that I had notified anyone of my coming."

"Yes, you did," she said, looking into his strong face. "I read your letter a long, long time ago."

"Sis and I have been watching for of the room enclosed himself behind the curtain. A faint noise in the outer room warned him of the arrival of the Mite, and he hugged closer the wall.

A small hand brushed back the curtains, and Dixon, ready for the grand finale, burst from his hiding place with outstretched arms.

"Annie," he cried, with the fervor of an ardent lover. "I love you; will you become my wife?"

A low cry from a young woman brought him to his senses. His arms were clasped tightly around her, but he dropped them quickly and stepped back. His face was crimson, and he lowered his head to hide his confusion.

"Mr. Dixon, may I be so bold as to ask the meaning of your impolite conduct?"

That voice, George lifted his head and looked at the speaker. A glad cry broke from his lips and he stepped to her side.

"Annie," he cried, "thank heaven I have found you!" The girl laid her head on the young man's shoulder. "I knew you would come back, George," she murmured.

Sitting by her side he recounted his experiences with the Mite.

"By the way," he added. "I have a message and a package to deliver here. The message is an invitation to the little girl to make her future home with you, and me. The package must be for your father, although I never expected to find my fiancée by means of it."

Outside the door a gladdened little heart heard everything and she clasped her hands in joy.

Presence of Mind—and Body

An Official who has been long in the service of the Government at Washington tells a good story of the time when Hamilton Fish was Secretary of State.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish had, according to this official, a grand air, an old-fashioned courtesy that introduced a new note into the Washington society of that time. It had been said that Mrs. Fish sometimes carried her high idea of courtesy too far—that it was Quixotic.

One of her rules, for instance, was to return every call she received. Her husband was continually holding public receptions, and to these of courtesy, many women would come who had no desire that Mrs. Fish should call upon them—who were in no position to receive her properly if she did call.

One such woman attended a Fish reception, left her card, and a little later was duly honored by a call from Mrs. Fish.

It was a beautiful, mild afternoon. The Fish equipage, all aglitter in the wintry sunshine, dashed down the narrow street and halted before the woman's shabby little house with a musical jingle of silver chains. The footman leaped from the box and opened the carriage door and Mrs. Fish descended.

The poor woman of the house was in a dreadful predicament. She was also, kneeling on the sidewalk beside a bucket of hot water. Her sleeves were rolled back. She had a scrubbing brush in one hand and a cake of soap in the other. She was scrubbing the front steps.

Bending graciously over her, Mrs. Fish asked politely:

"Is Mrs. Henry Robinson at home? And Mrs. Henry Robinson replied: No, mum, she ain't, and went on scrubbing."

The Father's Duty

We estimate a mother's importance in her family as high as any one can; and yet we do not believe she monopolizes all the qualities needed in the great work of training up human beings. Her familiarity with her children places her in some respects, at a disadvantage for the exercise of wholesome authority. The wise father will not indeed take the reins of the family government from his wife; but he will make his children feel and know that her gentle sway is sustained by a firm and steady hand; that behind their mother's tender heart stands a cool judgment, and a will stronger even than their own, and that they cannot impose upon one or resist the other. But if he would be truly the father of his family, he must answer no purpose for him to come in once in a while to meet some great emergency, and awe down rebellion by hard authority. He must be the companion, the friend of his children. Strong, natural love must be the basis of all beneficial discipline. But this is also, we had almost said, equally necessary for the father himself. Nothing keeps the heart so fresh and young, saves it from bitterness and corrosion through the cares and conflicts and disappointments of life, as the daily enjoyment, of a happy home. A man of business, or a scholar, who thus allows himself time for relaxation, and for the play of the domestic affections, will in the course of years have accomplished more, with less wear of mind and body, than one who has been all the time on the stretch, seeking to catch the nearest way to wealth or any other object of personal or public good.

No matter where women meet they talk and wherever you hear them talking the gist of conversation is always the same.

Modern Society

It is in the home that woman rises to her truest heights and yields her widest influence. Every home is a miniature world, and the wife is a crowned queen. The wife who makes society the field of her accomplishments soon finds her husband a devoted club man. The woman who fills her head with many of the ideas and pleasures of much that is called society, soon wants to entertain her husband, any evening she may not have some other engagement with cards. She plays just as she did to win some prize at progressive euchre or whist parties. She cheats a little, and they have a great spat over it, and then another and another, and presently she fires something at his head, but misses it and hits the motto over the door, "God bless our Home." Their little boy says: "Ma you missed pa's head, but you gave the motto hail Columbia." Often the only question to be decided in that home is, "who shall have the boy?" and the court is asked to decide it. God pity the woman who has set her heart on much that is in modern society.

His Life Work

A Foreign tourist who had received permission to visit one of the large asylums for the insane in this country was surprised at the neatness, quietude and good order that prevailed within the walls of the institution. He asked if it was always like that, and the polite attendant who was showing him through the buildings said it was. "We have what we call our violent wards, of course, but I presume you would not care to see those?"

"I think not." "It is just as well, perhaps. They are rather noisy, although, of course, we exercise the same care in providing for the welfare of the inmates that you see in this part of the institution. We also have a section where we keep the incurables."

"These inmates, then, are considered curable?" "Their cases are at least hopeful." "I am greatly interested, said the visitor, "but I will not take up any more of your time. You have other duties to attend to, have you not?"

"Yes, sir," this is merely one of my recreations. In one of the rooms of the main building I am engaged during most of the time in pursuing what may be called my life work." "Your life work? May I ask what that is?"

"Hadn't you heard?" said the attendant, in a tone of astonishment. "I am compiling an index to Webster's Dictionary."

BIG BUTTER CONTEST National Buttermakers' Association Won as Usual by Users of DE LAVAL Cream Separators

On March 11th, 12th and 13th there was held at Minneapolis, Minn., the big annual butter scoring contest of the National Buttermakers' Association. 304 of the best buttermakers in the United States competed in this contest, which makes the results especially interesting and important. The first prize was won by J. C. Post, Hector, Minn., with a score of 98 p.c.; the second prize by E. O. Blomquist, Centre City, Minn., with a score of 97.1-2 p.c., and the third prize by G. P. Sauer, East Troy, Wis., with a score of 97 p.c. All three of these victorious buttermakers, of course, use De Laval cream separators. This contest, as has every similar contest held within the past sixteen years, shows a complete victory for butter made from De Laval separator cream. A clean sweep of all highest prizes was made by De Laval butter at the big National Dairy Show held in Chicago last October, as well as at sixteen of the more important state fairs of 1907. Going further back, De Laval made butter received the Grand Prize at the St. Louis World's Fair, as well as the Grand Prize at the Paris Exposition. Invariably in these big contests more than 90 p.c. of the contestants who receive a score of over 90 p.c. on their butter have been found to be De Laval users. In hundreds of such contests the world over during the past twenty years, the superiority of the De Laval Separator over all others for making fine butter has been conclusively proven. A postal card will bring our handsome new catalogue illustrating and describing the new 1908 improved De Laval machines in detail, and affording a complete education in the production of the finest quality cream for making prize winning butter.

Extension to the Intercolonial

The House of Assembly in Nova Scotia has adopted a resolution approving of the proposal to have the I. C. R. take over the branch lines of the province and operate them as part of the main system. An interesting discussion on the subject took place in the Nova Scotia Assembly on Friday afternoon. During the debate reference was made to the hearty support given the proposal by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, who had brought the matter before the Dominion parliament this winter in a resolution which went much further than the one under discussion, as it asked for the extension of the road to the Great Lakes. It was urged that every argument in favor of extending the road to the Great Lakes could also be urged in favor of extending the road in the Maritime provinces. Mr. Armstrong, who introduced the resolution, pointed out that the object of the I. C. R., when it was constructed, was to cement the provinces, and it was the intention of its founders that it should be extended much farther than it has been. It was regarded as a national work in those days, and was intended to become a system which should connect all the provinces. Opinions expressed at the time were quoted to show that it was intended to be a railway system which should extend to the West. So far the cost of the road has been nearly $83,000,000 and the Maritime provinces have paid more than their proper share. A table of rates was presented showing the disadvantage of the merchant on a branch line compared with a man doing business on the main line. A comparison was made of the freight rates from Montreal, Truro, Halifax and Amherst, to points on the western railways of Nova Scotia with other points on the I. C. R. the same distance away. In every case it was shown that the cost of transportation on the trunk road was from twenty to forty per cent. cheaper than via the I. C. R. and the smaller railways. Among the other points urged were economy in management, and rolling stock and more opportunities for securing improvements.

This proposal, which has been so ably advocated by Hon. Mr. Emmerson, is receiving strong support in the adjoining province. It has been endorsed by the Nova Scotia Press Association and the Western Counties Lumbermen's Association, numerous boards of Trade and leading newspapers. In P. E. Island and in this province the project has met with hearty approval. The advantages of such a step to the people living along the branch lines, and the beneficial results to Moncton, the headquarters of the Intercolonial, are well known to the readers of this paper. Notwithstanding the opposition of men like Hon. John Haggart, the proposition has been growing stronger in public opinion throughout the Dominion every year. When the railway budget was submitted to the House of Commons recently the Minister of Railways said the question should be investigated with the utmost care, and he outlined a policy of leasing or buying any line approved of by the department. Transcript.

Thin as a Rail, are You?

Every day spending as much energy as you make--if the balance goes a little further, well, you get thinner. On the danger line to-day--tomorrow may be too late! Better use Ferronine, it builds up--a little gain the first week, but the gain keeps growing. Next week, not quite so thin. Keep right on, lots of fat won't hurt at all. Your blood is enriched, cheeks grow rosy, your heart and nerves grow strong and you don't tire so quickly. Joyous robust health, a sturdy frame and a cheerful mind--all these come with Ferronine. You'll try it, only 50c. at all dealers.

Priest Says Boys Should Make Haste

Fredericton, March 31--At St. Dunstan's Roman Catholic church, Sunday morning at the celebration of High Mass Father Carney referred to the new edict from the Holy See which was lately received by Bishop Casey at St. John in reference to marriages, and which goes into effect at Easter time. Hereafter all engagements to marry must be placed in writing and be in possession of the priest.

In referring to the matter Father Carney gave it as his opinion that no courtship should last more than one year and told the young women that if a man did not make up his mind to "pop the question within one year she should go and spark with some other fellow.

Father Carney stated that the men should be married between the ages of twenty five and thirty years, and women between the ages of twenty and thirty, but he would give any of them until they were fifty years of age if they did not marry sooner.

N. B. Contracts on G. T. R. Were Awarded

Ottawa, March 30--At Saturday's Cabinet meeting contracts were awarded for the construction of 365 miles of the Transcontinental Railway. From a point 58 miles west of Moncton there is a contract for 39 miles running west awarded to the Grand Trunk Pacific. From the end of this 39 miles another contract for 67 miles extending to the Tobique River is also awarded to the G. T. From the Tobique river to Grand Falls, Willard Kitchen & Co. get a contract for 31 miles. This puts all the New Brunswick portion under contract. A fourth contract from the interprovincial boundary of New Brunswick and Quebec westward for 52 miles has been awarded to M. P. Davies and J. C. Davies of Ottawa. From about eight miles west of Abitibi, for a distance of 100 miles the contract has been awarded to Faquier Bros., of Ottawa, and another contract, making six in all, from Lake Nepigon westward for 75 miles has been awarded to Faquier Bros., of Ottawa.

A Worthy Class

Whilst most of the departments of the public service, including school-teachers and civic officials have received attention regarding increases of salaries, that of the light-house keeper appears to have been overlooked. There is no more faithful class of public officials than are these worthy men, and their occupation is a monotonous and hazardous one. A large proportion of these men, we are informed, receive less for their services than the ordinary workmen, say $400 or $500 a year. This, we believe, in many cases is not adequate. Their salaries are the same as they were half a century ago and everyone knows that the cost of living has largely increased and they were not overpaid then. Whilst we believe in keeping the expenses of the country down to the lowest level, with efficiency in each department, still we believe a revision in the schedule of wages paid these worthy and faithful public servants is necessary. --Yarmouth Herald.

News by the Wires

Milton, Ont., Richard H. Newton, C. P. R. brakeman will appear for trial here today. A charge of criminal negligence has been preferred against him in connection with the death of Engineer Charles Armstrong who was killed at Guelph Junction on March 10th. Engineer Armstrong was at the head end of a special train that took the members of St. John's Lodge back to London. When near Guelph Junction a switch that had been left open caused a collision and Armstrong was killed.
Milford, Mass., The death of an unknown boy child at the Milford Hospital early today as a result of injuries received in a tenement house fire here last night, brought the number of victims to three, with the possibility that it may be still further increased during the day.
Anburn, N. Y., Unmoved and without showing the faintest sign of emotion of any kind, Chester Gillette was put to death in an electric chair at Anburn this morning. The electrocution was the most successful that ever took place in the local prison. But one contact was all that was required to carry the mandate of the law into effect and when that was over, the murderer of Grace or "Billy" Brown had been avenged and the slayer had paid the penalty, giving a life for a life.

LIBERTY OF THE PRESS.

In an article on the Press Convention at Toronto, the "Patriot" says: "Who will deny that the public do not adequately recognize the valuable services of a newspaper? The proof of this is found in the severity always shown towards the press which causes the least mistake of language and the slightest errors of fact to bring reproaches upon the journal, without any extenuating circumstances being admitted, or any account being taken of the constant effort made to never go beyond the limits of moderation and truth. The liberty of the press is admitted in principle, it is true, but of how many mishaps is not that acquired right the cause? It would seem, indeed, that the law allows the press to say everything, provided it says nothing. The libel law, so often and so uselessly denounced, allows anyone to submit newspapers to glaring persecutions. That law exists in contempt of the rights of the press, which does not represent a more commercial enterprise, but which is the voice of the people."

OUR FORESTS.

Twenty-five years ago the crown lands of this Province as a revenue producer were considered as practically exhausted, yet last year they gave a profit over management of about thirty thousand dollars. These woodlands are worth millions to the Province and should be carefully guarded. The lumbering industry is a fire. The scene of lumbering operations should be carefully watched all summer long for fear of fire breaking out. Keep down the fire fiend and the woods will recuperate from the despoiling of the lumberman in a comparatively short time. Let fire follow the axe and the natural wood is gone completely and in its place comes a cat spruce and shrubbery.

TIMELY THOUGHTS

The Elections of 1904 with their "questionable methods" are fresh in the minds of all. One side could not say to the other "I am holier than thou," although there were a few hypocritical pretensions in the way of protest. When we people took time to think quietly over the matter, from one end of the Dominion to the other in both political parties, there were men who vowed that never again would they become party to such conditions. From that time until the present there have been outward signs of a desire for a better public life, in the agitation going on in the press, from the pulpit and platform and in the organization of reform leagues of various kinds. The result has been a much better state of affairs as evidenced in the election of March 3rd when both sides state that the elections were conducted on clean lines, and there has been no aftermath of protest.

The tendency of events at the present time is clearly toward higher and better public life. He must be dull who does not see that the old excuse that "anything is fair in politics" will no longer meet the case.

Clean and honest governments and public men is what the people are calling for. The church member, and respectable citizen can no longer be identical with the vote buyer or the booze distributor. Nor can the political party which employs the latter rely longer upon the support of the great body of Christian and self-respecting citizens. Already another Dominion election is in sight. It is the time therefore for electors to consider what is their true responsibility as citizens. The exercise of the franchise is one of the most sacred trusts reposed in the free citizen. It carries full responsibility to the extent of each citizen's vote and influence for the acts of the candidates and party in support of which the vote is cast. Let each elector, therefore, be prepared to so exercise his franchise that he will not feel guilty before God or man.

BY THE WAY

The town hall sticks out large and eloquently.

Winter might just as well give it up, it's bound to fizzle.

The coal miners are going to do their little best to help reduce incomes.

"Speak well of the bridge that carries you over" is the motto just chosen for a new whist club.

The man who tried to find out the trouble in the acetylene plant with a lighted lantern is dead.

Salt mackerel and sardines are going up. In the market nowadays most varieties are flying fish.

The one crying need of St. George is more manufacturing plants, which will turn out goods for shipment.

Chester Gillette "met his death bravely." He might have had courage to save poor Grace Brown.

There are sunken trees, sawdust, pulp and rubbish enough at the bottom of the river to keep a dredge at work a long time.

Politics not only makes strange bed-fellows, but it generally leads to a quarrel as to who should have the middle of the bed.

Mrs. Hetty Green's remark that she knows more about discounts than foreign counts seems to exclude her approval of international matches for her own family.

Ghosts are said to be tall and thin. A broad fleshy ghost is something unusual, and fails in its efforts to "scare." In some cases a blanket, or sheet, is superfluous.

"Yes, sir, said Mr. Gallagher, it was funny enough to make a donkey laugh. I laughed till I cried," and then as he saw a smile go round the room, he grew red in the face, and went away, mad.

Immigration into Canada from the United States shows an increase of 61 per cent. for January and February over the first two months of last year. Hard times do not check a movement of home builders, men who go forth intelligently to assist in the development of a new land.

The bills near St. George can furnish as good granite as there is in the world. If the business men of the town will have faith in the home industries and will make investments to develop what is close at hand, the time will soon come when the river will be thronged with vessels from April until December.

Mayor Lawrence is nearing the end of his term of office, and the record of his service has highly justified all that was expected of him when he reluctantly took office. While he has not been so enthusiastically supported as he might have been, his interest and earnestness have been felt, we are confident, by the whole town.

The report of the Civil Service Commission is a sweeping document. The Federal Government was at least not afraid to appoint a non-partisan body to probe into the public departments, to expose abuses and defects, if they existed, and to suggest reforms. Only a government honest in its intentions, and anxious to improve the public service, would have taken this step.

If all who engage in industrial strikes would agree upon a common line of action and unitedly strike at the ballot box, the complexion of our politics and laws would be materially changed. It will be time enough for industrial strikes when no other course is possible. At present the workman has the ballot. It would be wiser to strike less and vote more intelligently. ---Newcastle Advocate

Three hundred thousand members of the unemployed will not lack real opportunity for work the next two months. The railroads of the United States will have to find between 250,000 and 300,000 men to mend their tracks and road beds. All of the managements of Chicago roads have decided to carry on repair and renewal work this spring and early summer. The wages offered are to be about the same as last year, $1.25 to $1.60 a day.

No matter how much improved methods of forestry may do for our timberlands, all of us must admit that our lumber industry cannot grow very much beyond what it is today. The making of pulp and paper is moving inland. We don't ship wood to Rockland, we are selling it to be manufactured into pulp to be sent away. The question of dredging the river and making it accessible to vessels of deep draft is not all that is required, our people must develop new industries and load these vessels when they do arrive.

In the first year of our incorporation the following appeared in one of our papers: "In the matter of our school building we have not shown due wisdom. While a good school building is one of the vital requirements of any community, nevertheless we cannot afford to be unduly extravagant in our methods of acquiring the same. The fact that we have paid 90 per cent. of the first cost of our school building in interest, and not one of a sinking fund, towards the principal, is a blight on the business ability of our community, and the argument 'Let future generations pay the bill,' will not wipe it out." This was written in 1905—are conditions any better today?

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

J. W. Gay, formerly of the Oxford Journal, has assumed the management of Cumberland Star in Springhill. Mr. Gay is an experienced Journalist and the paper under his management should prove a success.—Advertiser News.

With two shoe factories running, the erection of the public building, the Washington County Railway improvements, and the building of a new bridge across the river, business will boom in Calais this summer. There is also a prospect of a large coeperage plant being established here the coming year.—Advertiser.

It is reported that sailines have been located in the vicinity of Point Lepreau and also in other places along the coast. The down river factories will be ready for them the fifteenth of the coming month and now that the packers and weir owners are agreed to the price it would seem if fish came along in quantities like last year that there would be nothing to hinder a good sized spring catch, as old goods are reported to be practically cleaned up.

The big white whale, which disported itself in St. Croix and St. Andrews waters last season, is still in the neighborhood. It has struck up an acquaintance with Capt. Ingersoll, of the ste. Aurora, and scarcely a trip occurs that his whalship does not turn up to greet the genial captain as he moves up and down the river. Last Thursday it appeared to the "Aurora" passengers as the steamer proceeded up river. The next morning, off Ravens' Head, it bobbed up again and gave the captain a merry salute as he steamed by. The monster is evidently hanging around until the biological station apparatus is fitted up, when it will apply for lodgings.—Beacon.

Mr. W. C. H. Grimmer's friends are congratulating him on his appointment to the surveyor generalship of the province. Mr. Geo. J. Clarke's many friends feel correspondingly depressed because he was overlooked. In the words of that gallant American naval officer, who, when the Chinese forts some years ago were pouring hot shot into some British ships in the harbor, "Blood is thicker than water," cried this officer, as he opened a terrific fire on the forts which allowed the British ships to get out of range. Yes, blood is thicker than water, sure enough. We wish we had an uncle or an aunt in parliament.—Advertiser.

Mr. N. C. Griffin, last week, concluded a satisfactory arrangement with the promoters of a revival of the business of the old St. Croix Shoe Co., and an agreement has been signed, sealed and delivered. Mr. Griffin is to have charge of the reconstruction of the buildings and will oversee the erection of the new machinery, the changes not to cost the subscribers to the bonus fund more than $10,000. The plant is to exempt from Municipal taxation, also Mr. Alfred Tower and a crew of over 40 men and 12 horses are now at work, and by next week probably a number of carpenters will be added to the force. Mr. Griffin expects to begin the manufacture of shoes about the last of June or the first of July.—Advertiser.

The following from a Wisconsin paper conveys the news of the death of Thos. Seelye. The deceased was for many years a resident of Mascarene, in which community he was very highly respected and his demise will be mourned by a large circle of friends and relatives. Mr. Neill Seelye, who is well known, is a son.

"One of the pioneers of Northern Price Co. passed to his reward Sunday evening in the person of Thos. W. Seelye, at the venerable old age of 91 years and 6 months. Grandpa Seelye, as he was familiarly called, was a wonderful old man. Up to within the past year he retained his vitality to a wonderful degree and would often walk from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alex. Patterson, where he resided, into the village of Fifield, a distance of three miles, and home again. He also took an active interest in school affairs being a member of the Fifield school board until he retired a little over a year ago. He was very fond of a chat with his friends both young and old and he was loved and revered by all alike.

Mr. Seelye came to Fifield from New Brunswick, Canada, some twenty odd years ago and has resided here ever since. He was a member of the Fifield Congregational church in which he held the honorary office of life deacon.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alex. Patterson and Mrs. S. Peever, both of Fifield and one son who resides in the east.

The funeral was held Tuesday from the Fifield Congregational church to Fifield cemetery, Rev. F. Osten-Sacken officiating."

A steam laundry in St. George should be a paying proposition. There is an opening for an enterprising man in this business.

The surplus of the Independent Order of Foresters, Feb. 1st, was $11,990,628.59. Over a million dollars was added to the accumulated funds of the order in 1907.

Post card buyers should watch for the large assortment of Easter Post Cards expected any day at Brown's Post Card store on Lower street. Also a large line of leap year post cards.

Mr. Philo Hanson has a bear skin in his shop window that attracts much attention. The bear was shot by Mr. Hanson last fall, and the skin is very large and a beautiful color—being a deep black.

First Officer W. J. Milne, of the Dominion cruiser Canada, lying at the Dockyard, has been appointed to the command of the cruiser Curlew, which goes into commission at St. John. Mr. Milne will remain by the Canada for a short time.—Halifax Echo.

Is St. George to have a base ball team this summer? Now is the time to talk the matter up. The town can easily support a team and the material is here to make good players. Let the young men get together and form an association, select the best players and undoubtedly a winning team can be formed.

J. F. Calder, Fishery Inspector, has been in town looking over the location for the fishway. He drove to Second Falls while here and interviewed parties interested at this point. He will report to the Dept. the result of his investigations and it is probable that plans for the structure will be completed and building operations commenced during the summer.

Rev. Wm. Morrissey, the aged and well-beloved Priest of Baribogue, known far and wide even in distant British Columbia, and the Western States, as a most successful physician and practical philanthropist, passed away in Hotel Dieu, Chatham, Monday morning. Deceased had been in failing health for three or four months, and had been in the hospital for about two months.

Mr. J. W. Webster has opened his jewelry store in the Young block with a complete stock of up-to-date goods. The place presents a very neat and attractive appearance and is lighted with an improved acetylene plant. Mr. Webster is a graduate of the Canadian College of Optics, and is prepared to treat all troubles of the eyes scientifically. His adv. appears in this issue.

Col. Howard, in a great defence of the Salvation Army immigration methods, said that the Army brings out none but domestics and people prepared to go on the land. He had been asked by the railways to supply 10,000 men for construction work at $1 per head, but had refused. Of 15,000 people brought to Canada by the Army last year only forty-eight were known to have been out of work at once on the land for any of the unemployed, but he complained, and probably with cause, that some Canadian farmers do not live up to their agreements with the men they employ.

The beautiful Land of Nod

Come, cuddle your head on my shoulder dear,
Your head like the golden-rod,
And we will go sailing away from here
To the beautiful Land of Nod.
Away from life's hurry, and flurry, and worry,
Away from earth's shadows and gloom,
To a world of fair weather we'll float off together,
Where roses are always in bloom.
Just shut up your eyes, and fold your hands,
Your hands like the leaves of a rose,
And we will go sailing to those fair lands
That never an atlas shows.
On the North and the West they are bounded by rest.
On the South and the East by dreams;
Tis the country ideal, where nothing is real,
But everything only seems.
Just drop down the curtain of your dear eyes,
Those eyes like a bright bluebell,
And we will sail out under starlit skies,
To the land where the fairies dwell.
Down the river of sleep, our barque shall sweep,
Till it reaches that mystical isle
Which no man hath seen, but where all have been,
And there we will pause a while.
I will croon you a song as we float along,
To that shore that is blessed of God.
Then hoi for that fair land, we're off for that rare land,
That beautiful Land of Nod.
---Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Some Knowledge Profound

Weak women get prompt and lasting help by using Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories, with full information how to proceed are interestingly told of in my book "No. 4 For Women." The book and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Simply write Dr. Shoop Racine, Wis. for my book No. 4. Sold by All Dealers.

Nobody knows how noble it is to know and nobody knows that you do not know and you know that nobody knows that you do not know, it is very pleasant to know that they don't know that you don't know that they don't know that you don't know.

No man knows how much he really knows until he knows how much other people know that he doesn't know. To "know thyself" is really all there is worth knowing, and since no man really knows himself, and there is no other knowledge worth knowing, and we do not know the only thing worth knowing, we really know nothing.

But to know that we know nothing is knowledge greater than the knowledge that some people think they have when they really know nothing and think they know something.

Therefore, it is greater to know nothing, and know it, than to think we know something when we know nothing.

So, if you know nothing and think you do, and I know nothing and don't think I do, I know more than you. It is, therefore, well that we know that we don't know.

Barre Quarries Filling With Water

Barre, Vt., March 28.—That the Barre granite owners have given up hopes of an early settlement of the strike which has kept their quarries practically closed during the past seven weeks, seems to be indicated by the decision of several to stop the pumps in the quarries, thus letting them fill with water.
Since the strike started on March 1 the owners have kept the pumps working at a daily expense of $75.

A Sermon to Husbands

We are not a minister, or even the son of a minister, so pardon us if we make a dismal failure in our first attempt to preach a sermon. You will find our text in the bible. It is not necessary to give the chapter and verse, but look for it. In brief it is this: Spend some of your evenings at home with your wife and children. If you have an amiable, gentle wife, surely your home must be a pleasant one, but if, from increasing cares of other reasons, she has grown fretful or sullen, who knows but a little more attention or kindness on your part might do a great deal towards the return of the amiability you so much admired in her girlhood. If you would stay at home oftener evenings, treating her with something of the old tenderness, making her believe, at least, that you are not wholly indifferent to her happiness, you would soon see a change for the better in your household.

She has not forgotten the time, if you have, (not very long ago, perhaps) when her society was all you asked for to make the long evenings pass delightfully away. Loving you as she did, she would quiet you, contented and happy. But, alas, you soon grew tired of the same room evening after evening, the same easy chair, and sadder of all, weary of the society of your wife—impatient of the restraints of home, longing for a change. So you spend your evenings away, meeting many gay, companionable fellows, who entertain you with wit, song and wine, and you fancy yourself delighted and charmed. Perhaps there are moments of reflection, when conscience seems whispering to you of the pure, holy influences of home which you have so recklessly and unfeelingly cast away from you. Your lonely wife sits by the fireside watching and waiting for your return through the hours that drag along listening eagerly to every footfall, starting at every sound, she knows not what, yet conscious always of the weary heartache that seems wearing her life away.

Evenings after evenings she watches your preparations for departure, hoping, meanwhile, you will relent and stay at home with her. But you hastily don your hat and coat, turning your back resolutely towards her, fearing to encounter that gaze of wistful entreaty, for you know she is watching you, with tears silently rolling down her pale cheeks. You know it, still you do not think it best to notice it, for you dislike a scene. Tears annoy you exceedingly, so you close the door, perhaps, with a bang, trying hard to feel very indignant towards her for daring to weep, even behind your back. So the lonely wife brushes away the falling tears, and sits down with bitterness in her heart, to compare the last years of her married life, to those first ones, made so bright and happy by her husband's love and care. Sometimes softer feelings pierce her heart, and she dreams of that old home she left for this one—some that sheltered her childhood; and as she thinks of her beloved parents, her brothers and sisters, and the warmth and love in the nest, she wonders she bows her head and weeps by her lonely fireside, a griefed, homesick child. Of course, no husbands in this community do this manner; if they did we would estimate that their wives read to them sermons as so near the beginning of a year is a good time to begin a new age.

Mental Growth of Babies

Dr. Hutchison, M. D., could hardly have touched a more live wire when he selected for his subject "Mental Growth of Babies," published in the March issue of The Woman's Home Companion. Here are a few of Dr. Hutchison's short paragraphs:

"Just as the germ of the flower is contained in the tiniest seed and will reveal itself with as absolute certainty as will rootlets and leaves when proper conditions of heat, moisture and light are accorded, so the germ of the mind of the child is present in his little body and will develop and unfold itself with the growth of the latter.

"The only way to stop the growth of a child's mind is to stop his body from growing. Appetite is the mother of the mind, and muscle is its father. At its lowest estimate the body with its brain is

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys usually cause a weak bladder, nervous, and other troubles, and the kidneys, and their weakness, are in the lower back, both in the nerves that control and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. It cures the kidneys, and it is a wash of them, and of the bladder.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is dark and strong, if you have nervousness, or if you are otherwise troubled, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative at once. It is a wash of them, and of the bladder, and it is a wash of them, and of the bladder.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

"ALL DEALERS"

the tool of the mind, and good work cannot be done without good tools.

"The first test of muscular vigor, the hand grasp, is an indication of the mental possibilities as well. Not one child out of a hundred who at ten days of age grasps firmly and clings to a finger or pencil rubbed against his pink little palm will ever fall below the average intelligence of his race."

Storing Advice

To a great extent the celibacy of our young men is owing to the way in which girls are brought up. Through mistaken kindness, mothers often themselves do what they ought to make their daughters do. Let them teach housekeeping on a fixed methodical history, French and music all the better. It is natural and right that a mother should wish to see her daughter well educated and even highly accomplished; and it is a mistake that good and careful education should unfit a girl for the homely duties of cooking, dusting and general housework. On the contrary, those duties would be better performed if mothers would at the same time that they seek talented instructors for their daughters, impart to them some of their own culinary talent; there would be more good wives and marriages. Little girls should be taught as early as possible, to perform simple household duties neatly; and as they grow older, let them become gradually acquainted with the theory of housekeeping in such a manner that, when they are married, they will be able to adapt themselves to their circumstances, and be useful as well as pleasing companions to their husbands.

Nervousness, Irritability, Drowsy and Dull

Do You Feel That Way?

How provoking these symptoms are! You sleep well, but when you awaken there is none of the exhilaration that sleep and rest should confer.

Instead of being alert, having quickness of apprehension, there is languor, dullness, a disinclination to do things. Three causes for this feeling:

Lazy liver, lazy kidneys, and a mighty lazy stomach which does its work very poorly and compels the other organs to do things they are unequal to for any length of time.

Note the consequence—Blood is filled with wastes—poisons weigh down the nervous system—rebuilding processes are absolutely stopped.

You'll notice an instant change when you take Ferronone.

Appetite improves, digestion becomes good as ever—skin grows rubly and clear, all sense of languor, uneasiness and depression fades away and finally disappears.

Ferronone clarifies the brain, supplies tone and vigor, imparts clearness and strength. You feel like a new person, full of life, full of ambition, ready to do things—and able to do them also.

Think it over. Ferronone is a tonic that uplifts, rebuilds, that nourishes and restores the sick by supplying the elements their weakened system needs. It can't help but do you good. For men, women and children, in fact anyone seeking strength and health, Ferronone is invaluable; try it, sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.

Ottawa Journal

It has been frequently asserted that cases of insanity and other mental afflictions are often caused by religion. Dr. A. B. Richardson, lately in charge of the hospital for the insane at Washington, and now resident in the State of Ohio, however, gives evidence of a very different character. In reply to a question by a person interested in an affecting case of insanity, he wrote:

"There are only two patients in this hospital whose insanity has any relation to religion, and I think, from their predisposition to insanity, that they would probably have become insane on some other subject, if they had not on religion. Now if you had asked me how many people in Ohio are kept by religion from insanity and out of these hospitals, you would have given me a question hard to answer for they are a multitude. The good cheer, bright hopes, rich consolations, good tempers, regular habits and glad songs of religion are such an antidote for the causes of insanity that thousands of people in Ohio are preserved from insanity by them. But for the beneficent influence of religion, Ohio would have to double the capacity of her insane patients."

That is pretty straight talk.

The Education Bill

Will the concessions that it offers mitigate any of the elements of opposition? Do the Irish Catholics, for example, consider that they can assure themselves of any permanent settlement on better terms? Or, again, if they dislike contracting out, can they come forward with any practical proposal for an allocation of a portion of the education rates which would clearly place the burden of maintaining Catholic schools on Catholic shoulders, and so meet the fundamental objection of Nonconformists to the existing law? We do not suppose that Mr. McKenna or anyone else is wedded to the idea of contracting out. It is at best a makeshift and is tolerably only as an exception, which time will make still more exceptional. But unless denominationalists can find some method of fairly meeting their adversaries on the point of principle, they cannot on this occasion expect to receive the concessions of detail made so lavishly two years ago. If they elect to fight, they will have to stand or fall with the general political fortunes of Liberalism; which from this time forward may be taken as resolute on one point—to secure access to unsectarian schools, publicly controlled and staffed, and working without reference to religious tests, as the right of every child.—London Nation.
