Under the Rose

By FREDERIC S. ISHAM, Author of the "Strollers."

Now the fool had dismounted, and she observed that he was bending over another jester who had been unhorsed. "Why," she murmured to herself in surprise, "Gaillette! As good a soldier as a fool. Who among the jesters could have unseated him?"

But her wonderment would have increased could she have overheard the conversation between the duke's fool and Gaillette as the former lifted the other from the saddle and assisted him to walk or rather limp to the jester's pavilion.

CHAPTER XIV.

Lord rang and blessing on the king of the people that night crowded in the great courtyard around the great tables set in the open air and groaning beneath viands nutritious and succulent.

Her eyes kindled. An angry retort seemed about to spring from her lips. It was with difficulty she controlled herself to answer calmly a moment later.

"You are mad because," she breathed softly, "I have said that you are a fool. You are not a fool, but a jester. You are a jester, and a jester you shall remain."

"You are mad because," she breathed softly, "I have said that you are a fool. You are not a fool, but a jester. You are a jester, and a jester you shall remain."

"There, I've danced enough!" said the king to the duke. "The duke has but left me. He received a message that the man hurt in the jester's side, raised her hand to his face flushed and he would have turned abruptly when—"

And as his eyes turned from her to those of a glance beyond and then to his own auring fingers. "The duke, madam, is most solicitous about his men," he said in a voice which sounded strangely calm.

Her hand played among the blossoms. Over the flowers she looked at him. Her features and arms were of the sculptured roundness of marble, but the reflection of the roses bathed her in the warm light of a book seemed turning before his eyes. Did she remember?

"You are mad because," she breathed softly, "I have said that you are a fool. You are not a fool, but a jester. You are a jester, and a jester you shall remain."

Hello! Have you heard of the New Case Mill Bearing Working Machine? It is the best thing you will ever see. It will save you a great deal of money.

DAY, JANUARY 14, 1905.

My going to Boston by this vessel, but I shall go the next time... Boston people don't burn her, which I should be very sorry... as she carries no stamps. My heart bleeds for my Country, what end of all this?...

On the 2nd February following, he writes Mr. Nath'l Rogers of Boston, "We are now employed in getting logs to the mills. I hope we shall get them going early in the summer. They will begin to pay something of the expense before the fall. It's impossible for me to tell you in a letter the expenses of the different branches of business which I am obliged to carry on to complete the whole. It is not only building mills, surveying, etc., but clearing up the land, building houses, making roads, hiring oxen (for we have not half enough of them) and in fine so much I shall never pretend to write it. James Simonds, Esq., who is the Bearer of the mill, will be able to inform you much better than I can. I am not determined to finish what I have undertaken and then quit it. I am not in the best situation in the world, as I believe you'll think when I tell you I am not only shut out from all society and know nothing of what is carrying on in the world, but my stores are all expended, nor is there one thing to be bought here, pray send me last year's magazines and some English newspapers as well as the Boston ones. I should be glad if you'd send the oxen, they may be not old nor of the largest kind but good to draw. I pay half a dollar a day for each ox I hire so that they'll almost pay for themselves in one year's work. Those that we have here have worked more than one hundred days since I came, so that if we had been obliged to have hired them at the rate I pay others, it would amount to a large sum. Twelve is the least that can be employed always at the mills hauling logs, as they will cut 8,000 feet a day, I am told, when they are finished. I told you I would not write you a long letter, as there is nothing I hate so much; it's the D—! I have ten thousand things to say."

Glazier Rejoins His Regiment.

Beasley Glazier's connection with the St. John river was now drawing to a close. In the summer of 1767 he went to New York where he found himself engaged, in company with the Rev. Dr. Ogilvie, in collecting the second annual subscription from the members of the society. The military gentleman proved very dilatory in paying their subscriptions. Whether Capt. Glazier became disheartened at the outlook, or whether he received preliminary orders to rejoin the Royal American Regiment is uncertain. But about the end of August, 1767, James Fortens, representing the Montreal committee, wrote to Nathaniel Rogers: "We are now informed Capt. Glazier is at New York on his way to join his Regiment; it therefore becomes necessary to appoint another person to transact the Society's business, for which purpose we have appointed Mr. James Simonds, one of the Proprietors, agent with whom you will please correspond on any occurrence regarding the settlement."

Fruit-atives or Fruit Liver Tablets Instead of Fruit. Fruit is a splendid tonic for stomach and liver. The active principles give fruit its medicinal value. But they occur in such minute quantities, that when fruit is taken with other food and goes through the process of digestion, their action is lost. "Fruit-atives" are the active principles of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—extracted from fruit juices, combined by their own secret process, and compressed into tablets. They are the concentrated medicinal virtues of fruits and act much more effectively than any other known treatment in curing Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Torpid Liver, Biliousness and Kidney Troubles. At all druggists. 50c a box. Manufactured by FRUITATIVES, Limited, OTTAWA.

Digby Shipping News. Digby, Jan. 11—Steamers Hilldale, Captain Chambers, and Kikkee, Capt. Pettit, are in port with coal from Parrsboro for Portland (Me.). D. A. H. steamer Prince Albert, Captain Holmes, which arrived here Saturday and sailed yesterday for Yarmouth, is in Westport for a harbor. Tern schooner Hay arrived this morning from Bear River yesterday and anchored off Digby with lumber for Buenos Ayres. Tern schooner Margaret May Riley towed from Annapolis Monday with lumber for the West Indies. Barque Venus and tern schooner Chas. W. Alcott are still off Digby, the former for Buenos Ayres and the latter for New York.

Mrs. C. H. Borden, Wolfville. Robert Wisely received news by telegraph Monday that his niece, Mrs. Catherine H. Borden, had died at Wolfville (N. S.). She was formerly Miss Macklin, of Fredericton, and leaves her husband and three small children. A sister resides in Tennessee and a brother, Maurice Macklin, at St. Mary's, N. S. Mr. and Mrs. Wisely will attend the funeral at Wolfville.

Lester Stockton. Anaganac, Jan. 10—The many friends of Lester Stockton, Anaganac, were yesterday shocked on Saturday morning to hear of his death, which occurred on Friday evening after about two days' illness with a gripe. Deceased was sixty-six years of age. People are speaking of his death with emotion of regret that the village has sustained a loss of such magnitude. Mr. Stockton was a very gifted man. His lovable nature and many attractive qualities rendered him the object of universal esteem and unbounded popularity. Mr. Stockton was twice married, his first wife being Miss Keziah McCready, of Smith's Creek, Kings county, by whom he had five children, three of whom are living—Mrs. Daniel Burlock and the twins, Prof. Quincy Leander, of Boston, and Prof. Leander Quinby, of maritime province fame. Mr. Stockton is survived by his second wife, who was Miss Katherine Beatty, of Upland, and two daughters, Misses Ruth and Mary, who are at home.

Shipping Notes. The only damage to the schooner Iron May, ashore near Bass Harbor, was, it is reported, the loss of a rudder. Barkentine Edith Sheraton, which discharged coal at Halifax, was under charter to load at Lunenburg, but that port is frozen, so she may load at Ingram river instead. Fairway buoy, off Whitehead (N. 6.), is reported three miles E. S. E. of Whitehead light and the chain caught in the rocks. The following charters have been announced: British schooner Rawa, 16 tons, Pt. Johnston to St. John, coal, p. C. British schooner Silver Leaf, 285 tons, New York to St. Andrews, fertilizer, 41.50. British schooner Geo. R. Alston, 90 tons, Carteret to Halifax, coal, p. L. British schooner G. S. Troop, 69 tons, Elizabethport to Halifax, coal, p. L. British schooner Robt. S. Prof. E. Franke. David Franke, of Cliff street, foreman furrier with C. & E. Everett, has word from Germany of the death of his uncle, Professor E. Franke, which recently took place at Riechenbach, Silesia. Prof. Franke has eighty-one years old and was a musician of some distinction. In 1888 he was honored by Emperor William, who personally presented to him a medal in recognition of his musical talent. During the later period of his long life he was principal of the Riechenbach School of Music, an institution maintained by the Catholic church.

Mrs. Edwin Barlow. The many friends of Edwin Barlow were shocked to hear of the sudden death of the deceased last week. The body was taken to Newvic for interment, where the deceased had been a resident for many years.—Com.

James Simonds writes from Passamaquoddy, August 20th, 1763. "Sir,—Agreeable to your desire I have made the nearest calculation I could of the cost of two mills and dam on Nashvow River, and am of opinion that they will be mostly for the dam, yet as the stream is sufficient for an addition of three or four mills on the same dam, it will be cheaper in the end than to build the same number of mills and a dam to each on small brooks that will be almost dry next half the year. I must advise you Sir to have your Iron work made of the best Iron, as breaches in any part of mills is of fatal consequence to the profit of them. I have seen the dimensions of the cranks, knowing it to be the practice in New England to make them so small as to retard the business of sawing, besides frequently breaking—the breaking of one may be a greater damage than the cost of two. I have described them something large, but think you had better exceed the size than fall short of it. The best workmen will be the cheapest as the whole depends on the effectual laying the foundation of the dam, etc. I make no doubt but when the mills are completed they will saw at least 5 M boards per day. I am Sir, your most obedient servant. JAMES SIMONDS."

It may be noticed, in passing, that Mr. Simonds writes from Passamaquoddy. The headquarters of the trade and fishery there was at Indian Island, or as it was sometimes called, Perkins Island. Mr. Simonds and Wm. Hazen were members of the St. John's River Society and it would appear from Capt. Glazier's letter to Nathaniel Rogers of 10th Novr., 1763, that the Society had ambitious designs with regard to this locality. "Our fishery at Passamaquoddy," writes Glazier, "is an object worth your attention; it is the best in the province. A Block-house will be built there next spring and I can get a party from the Fort and some small cannon which will secure the fishermen against any insult from the Indians. This spot is more valuable than you can imagine. I was promised by some of the principal fishermen belonging to New Hampshire if I got a grant of this Island they would come to the number of 100 families with their crafts, etc., and become our regular settlers at Saint John, and if we got Grand Manan" it will give us a chain of harbours all the way to Mount Desert, which will be of the greatest use."

The civility manifested by the agents of the St. John's River Society in seeking favors at the hands of government would seem to countenance the idea, suggested in the preceding chapter of this history, that when the memorialized the government of Nova Scotia for a grant of "the Point or Neck of land bearing three quarters of a mile from Fort Frederick, with 60 acres of land adjoining to it, for the making and curing Fish," he said in view the valuable peninsula on the east side of the harbor of St. John, on which the principal part of the city now stands; but further investigation shows that this is not the case and that the point of land meant was the neck adjoining the fort, on the Carleton side of the harbor.

Indians and Milldam. We have ample testimony as to Beasley Glazier's zeal and energy as director of the affairs of the St. John's River Society. Charles Morris, junior, says of him, "Capt. Glazier has done everything that was possible for any man to do, and more than any one else in his situation would have done to serve the Society," adding that he had not been properly supported, and if he had retired "there would have ended the Grand Settlement of St. John's River, for as soon as he had left it, in all probability the Indians (who have been made to believe our Dam will destroy their fishery) would have burnt and destroyed all that has been done this summer at the mills, and before we could build other mills and get things in so good a way again the lands would be forfeited, for there will be a court of Escheator hold and all the lands that have been granted in this province that are not settled and improved agreeable to the express condition of the Grant will absolutely be declared forfeited. "But," he continues, "I can't imagine the Society will suffer either to be forfeited, for I am well convinced that less than £30 sterling from each proprietor will build all the mills, divide all the lands and pay every expense that has been attended the settlement from first to last; and each proprietor will then have 7,000 acres of good land laid out into lots, mills built and everything ready and convenient to carry on and make a fine settlement of it."

Glazier rarely complained of the difficulties with which he was confronted, but on one occasion he admits "I am in a very disagreeable situation and am heartily tired of it, and was it not for engaging in the Mills, would curse and quit the whole business. I have not been well treated; the agents for all the Philadelphia and other Companies have been genteelly appointed and every expense paid with honor. What I have done by myself has been ten times more than they all together and the expense not the fifth part in proportion."

Boston and the Stamp Act. Whilst engaged in his work on the River St. John, Glazier was obliged to make occasional trips to Boston, taking passage usually in the vessels of Hazen, Simonds and White. The excitement produced in New England by the operation he obnoxious Stamp Act gave him some concern. He writes in November, "I have some things to settle with the Governor & Council next time they another part of his letter Glazier says, "Capt. Falcoer, who is on the spot, is petitioned the Lords of Trade for this Island." Capt. Falcoer intended to have uspect by his being ordered with his regiment to Ireland. "Speaking of the fishery in St. John harbor Capt. Glazier writes, under date Dec. 1761, "The fish is caught in Weirs just under the Point below the Fort," that is on the Carleton side of the harbor, and in the next sentence he goes on to identify this "speaking in here a month sooner than at Cape Sable shore & goes off a month sooner; you catch the fish a league within the mouth of the Harbour and quite up to the Island (Navy Island) near the Point of Land I have asked for."

CAMMACK HAS PAID PENALTY FOR MURDER

Trap Sprung by Sheriff Hayward as Town Clock Struck Five

Nervous, But Kept Up Well, and Was Resigned as End Drew Near

Spoke of People He Knew in St. John, But Avoided Reference to His Crime Except to Exonerate His Son, Walter—Sons and Daughter With Him Until After Midnight

Woodstock, N. B., Jan. 12.—(Special)—Just as the town clock was striking 5, Sheriff Hayward, of Carleton county, sprang the trap which launched Thomas Cammack into eternity for the murder of William Doherty, near Glasville, July 17. The condemned man, though nervous throughout parts of his last day on earth, walked with firm tread to the scaffold. When the body shot down the nose worked round somewhat towards his chin, but the execution was not marked by mishap, and in about ten minutes life was extinct. After being with him until 10 o'clock last night, Rev. F. J. McMurray, who has been most earnest in his care for the condemned man, returned to the jail at 3 o'clock this morning and remained with him until the end.

When the question of his personal feelings were touched on the old man, amid his deep sighs, complained of a pain in his head, probably caused by the bullet which remains there from the revolver with which he tried to commit suicide. Lived in Carleton Once. He brightened when a talk on St. John was begun. He said that before the fire of seventy-seven he resided at Sand Point, Carleton. He had been employed in Carleton's mill on Rodney wharf, afterwards known as the Gregory mill, near the ferry dock. He also worked in the Brooks factory in Carleton. He asked about many of the older residents of Sand Point. He said his wife had given him a call about two weeks ago but she had nothing much to say. She had not been to see him since. The unfortunate man sighed when he spoke on the subject. In regard to his marriage with the woman who had a husband in Dorchester penitentiary, he said to the reporter: "I spoke to her about this man and told her to go and see a lawyer if it was right to be married. Her husband was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary and I thought that when a man done more than seven years it was all right to marry. "She went to see a lawyer and on her return she said that the lawyer said it was all right and we were married by Parson Brooks at Bristol. I thought matters were all right. "Here the prisoner's voice went into a whisper and he sobbed. The conversation was brought to a stop. After he had regained his composure the topics of old Carleton were talked over and he mentioned prominent citizens with whom he had some contact when employed there. During the conversation the work of the carpenters could be heard plainly. "All the time the prisoner fondled his prayer book. Exonerates His Son. When asked about a statement regarding the crime which the public were well acquainted with he said: "Only I and God knows what happened that night." He said that his son Walter knew nothing about the matter at the time the murder was committed. He said that he had requested that when Father McMurray left him at 11 o'clock no person should visit him as he wished to be alone. The prisoner then became in better spirits during the afternoon and with the exception of frequent long sighs he bore up well. He always had his prayer book in hand and said that he was ready to meet his God. He was feeling quite well. "I have resigned myself to God and I trust in Him to help me through. When asked if there was anything else he wished to make public the prisoner spoke almost in a whisper and said he would advise people to take care of themselves and not to be drawn into trouble. "It is no use for me to advise them as they can get other advice from whom it would be better."

derer was despaired of, but he was named back to health in Woodstock jail to die by the hangman's noose. At the trial it came out in evidence that Cammack had tied the several doors of the Doherty house before entering the cell. The reason for the crime was jealousy of his wife.

WOULD BUY A STEAMER Said Effort is Being Made to Purchase the Champlain for Down-the-Bay Route.

It has been rumored in Indiantown eteambasting circles for the last few days that negotiations are pending between owners of the river steamer Champlain and the manager of the steamer Viking, which is maintaining the service between Deer Island and St. Stephen, for the purchase of the St. John craft, but so far the bargain does not seem to have been consummated.

Captain Charles Wasson, of the Champlain, says he knows of no sale, but is aware that the managers of the bay route steamer want to buy a new boat, as the Viking is said to have outlived her usefulness. Three people wanted to acquire the steamer Maritime some time ago, but no transfer resulted. Captain Wasson says, as one of the officers of the Champlain, he is unaware of any sale.

Street talk has it that the hitch between the parties interested is a matter of price. The Champlain's owners, it is stated, want $20,000. They claim their boat is well kept and in excellent condition, and rebuilt and modernized after being burned when she was the Queen.

The St. Croix route is about sixty-five miles long and taken in Deer Island, Lord's Cove, St. Andrew, Welspool, St. Stephen and other places. It is about a seven-hour run from the St. John steamer-yacht Dream was on the route temporarily.

Provincials at McGill. The names of several maritime province students appear in the partial results of the Christmas medical examinations at McGill. Among those in the past list of first-year physics are: R. W. Allen, St. John; L. P. Churchill, Sackville; C. E. A. Davis, B. A.; R. A. Donohue, Charlotte town; A. E. Gardner, McAdam; B. E. Goodwin, Lunenburg; W. P. P. Kirby, B. A.; Gagetown; R. E. Powell, B. A.; Sackville; Messrs. H. J. Peters, B. A.; St. John, and H. A. Farris, White's Cove, are among the honor men in pharmacy and history, both second-year subjects. Messrs. A. L. Johnson, B. A.; Chatham, and F. R. Shankel, B. A., are in the past lists of the same classes. Messrs. Farris and Dexter were also honor men in organic chemistry, a second year subject, and Messrs. Johnson, Kirby, Powell and Shankel are named as passing in the same class.

Will Increase Elaine's Speed. Captain Fred Mahee, of the St. John-Wickham steamer Elaine, has great hopes of the possibilities of his newly purchased craft. Before spring the Elaine will be thoroughly overhauled and renovated, which is an annual necessity, but upon laying her up next fall a new boiler will be installed at a cost of more than $5,000. The Elaine will then be enabled to maintain an average speed fully two miles an hour better, which will, perhaps, place her at the head of the class. Captain Mahee's patrons regard him sincerely for his enterprise.

SENT BACK, TO FORFEIT

Russian Private, a Deserter While Officer Speaks Westward.

CONTRAST AT SAND One Could Not Pass Medical Exam and is Returned Across the Russian Officer Bound for Chicago.

Two Russian soldiers widely distinct in rank, met fates of a very different character at Sand Point Wednesday and the day before.

One, in his dapper uniform, all gilt and gaudy braids, passed the doctor with flying colors, and is now on his way to join relatives in Chicago.

The other, a poor private, was thrust aboard the steamer Mount Temple yesterday, and is journeying across the Old World again, possibly to face the old agents of the Czar, who may drag him back to the regiment he deserted, there to pay the death penalty.

This unfortunate foreigner is Gyorgy Wolowynsky, a young man, but a victim of the trichina malady, that bane of Russian peasantry. He failed to satisfy the doctors at Sand Point as to physical fitness, and was held in the detention hospital. Disinfecting and fearful of the result of his depuration, he broke bounds and was for some time a refugee from Canadian officials as well as Russian tyranny. But he was captured and brought back, and with little chance he may have had of staying on this side of the water took wings when he attempted to run away.

Wednesday the opposite case—that of the uniformed soldier—was the conspicuous feature in immigration circles. This Russian was tall and erect, a model fighting man. He confidently underwent the medical examination. "Chicago" was the name on the forehead of his long ticket, and to-day Chicago the train is now bearing him.

PRETTY WEDDING AT MONOTON LAST NIGHT R. O. Johnston of Winnipeg Married to Miss Mabel Schwartz—News of the Railway Town.

Monoton, Jan. 12.—The home of Mr. W. O. Schwartz, Church street, was the scene of an interesting event at 8 o'clock this evening, when his eldest daughter, Miss Mabel Louise, was married to Mr. R. O. Johnston, formerly accountant with F. P. Reid & Co. here, but lately of Winnipeg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. MacOdrum in the presence of quite a number of invited guests.

After the ceremony luncheon was partaken of and the happy couple left for the Maritime express for their future home in Winnipeg, where Mr. Johnston is in business. The bride is one of Monoton's best known young ladies and the best wishes of many friends follow her to the west. Mr. Johnston belongs to Chatham, but lived in Monoton a number of years, where he made many friends. The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents testifying to the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

At Tuesday night's meeting of Westmorland Lodge, K. of P., the following officers were installed by deputy grand chancellor, E. Forbes; P. S. Abrams, C. C.; E. Prince, V. C.; D. A. McBeth, P.; W. E. Wilson, M. of W.; G. N. Palmer, K. of R. S.; J. W. H. Roberts, M. of P.; W. B. Sherman, K. of E. N. McBeth, M. at A.; L. C. Lynds, I. G. W.; E. Marks, O. G.; S. E. Forbes, Jos. Bedford and L. C. Lynds, trustees.

A. G. Putnam, accountant in the Royal Bank of Canada here, has returned from his home in Truro, where he was spending a couple of months for the benefit of his health. Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Truro, has been filling Mr. Putnam's place during his absence.

The Sackville Curling Club has notified Monoton that they will play here on Saturday afternoon four rinks strong. Since the match with Sackville Tuesday night, the executive of the hockey team in this town has been close to the Wright street. On the evening of Sept. 10 she heard from her residence sounds of trouble. She saw the prisoner run across the street with a club, to where a man was standing by the shingles. The prisoner brought his club down on the man's head. The witness distinctly heard the sound of the blow. It sounded like when a bullock was being butchered.

Cross examined by Mr. Fowler, practically no new evidence was adduced, but through her entire examination she maintained that one man stood by the shingle pile until he was felled. Not once did he move away. That man she believed was Wm. McKnight.

What Mrs. Kingston Saw. The next witness sworn was Mrs. Kingston, of Havelock, widow of Alexander Kingston, who lived close to the Wright street. On the evening of Sept. 10 she heard from her residence sounds of trouble. She saw the prisoner run across the street with a club, to where a man was standing by the shingles. The prisoner brought his club down on the man's head. The witness distinctly heard the sound of the blow. It sounded like when a bullock was being butchered.

Witnesses said that during the progress of the fight, he did not have difficulty with any one. He bore no ill will toward the prisoner.

Says McKnight Tried to Hit Wright. Oscar Peterson then was called. He said he saw McKnight walk from the side of the street and attempt to hit Wright. The witness was examined very closely by Dr. Pugsley and Mr. Curry. He did not see any blow struck, for men were surrounding Wright, but he was confident that McKnight did attempt to club the away he happened to glance over his shoulder and saw McKnight falling backward the blow of some one he could not distinctly see. He bore no ill will against McKnight.

A. J. Guion, a Havelock merchant, swore that the prisoner once told him that he would get even with certain persons over the disposal of his father's estate. It might take years, but he would get satisfaction. The witness was always good friends with the prisoner.

Mrs. McKnight Could Not Testify. The widow of William McKnight had by this time entered court. She is slender and stooped, and walked to a chair between Mrs. Alward and Mrs. Kingston. As she sat down she rested her face in her hands for a few moments. Then looked timidly toward the bench. Presently she was talking to B. The next witness was butcher, of Havelock. That as McKnight stood by, he said, in a laughing way: "No sir, I did in the disturbance."

Howard Alward, of Havelock, gave evidence and court adjourned at 5:30.
