with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a MILK Cows.—Cows that are to come in early should be dried off in good time. It is not economy to milk cows as long as a few pints may be drained from them. The drain on the system in nourishing the calf is enough for the cow to bear. If the cow is a copious milker, care must be exercised in feeding, lest in the new flush of milk garget may occur. To avoid this, feed low; give no corn meal whatever, and it is safest to give nothing but hay and SATURDAY, the 23rd day of some roots. There need be no apprehension if a large heavy udder is not shown before calving. It will be the safest, and the flow of milk may easily be encouraged when the calf is a week or two old, and danger of inflammation is passed. Every farmer cannot have his cows fresh in the winter, nor can every dairyman or woman make winter butter of first analyty, but those who can do these displacements of four poles each; thence are the country of the calf is a week or two old, and danger of inflammation is passed. Every farmer cannot have his cows fresh in the winter, nor can every dairyman or woman make winter butter of first analyty, but those who can do these eighteen chains of four poles each; thence or woman make winter butter of first quality, but those who can do these things are able to get profits from their cows that others do, and have their dairy work come at the season when there is little else to be donear matter for smart farmers to think over.

All the foreign Ministers and Chinese and Japanese embassies were also present, Earl of Beaconsfield carried a sword of State before the Queen. The Marquis of Salisbury was not present. After Her Majesty had taken her place on the throne, the Lord High Chancelor read the Royal Speech.

The Queen, in her speech, says:
The hostilities which before the close of last session of Parliament had broken out between Turkey on the broken out between Turkey on the one hand, and Servia and Monteneon the other, engaged my most serious attention, and I anxiously awaited an opportunity, when my good offices, together with those of my allies, might be usefully interposed. This opportunity presented itself by the solicitations of Servia for our mediation, the offer of which was ulti-mately entertained by the Porte. Her Majesty then refers to the basis which, in the course of negotiations and are prepared to supply all brands of concert with others powers, she deemed it expedient to submit to the WINES.

Porte excesses committed in Bulgrade, and express her reprobation of their perpetration.

Her Majesty next spoke of the armistice and Conference in which she was represented, and says, in taking these steps, her object has been throughout to maintain peace of Europe and of disturbed provinces within India, to arrest which every resource will be employed.

The remainder of the speech is devoted to home matters.

Earl Granville, in the House of Lords, launched into the subject of Eastern matters, severely criticising Lord Beaconsfield.
