By Accidental Discharge of Gun Road Superintendent Will Be Criticized

Harold Dick of North Sydney, N. S., who was summoned to Campbellton on Friday last and failed to return, a gun of considerable power was found in his room in the night. It is surmised he intended to shoot the gun to explode. The body was shipped to Undertaker Graham here, who embalmed it and sent it to the young man's home at North Sydney on Sunday.

NO POLITICS IN GRAPHIC'S CRITICISM

Last week the Graphic, in the course of an article in reference to the roads, which everyone must admit were left in a most wretched state by the old government, despite the fact that some $10,000 extra money were supposed to have been spent on them last year, had occasion to criticize the apparent neglect of duty of two superintendents. This criticism was not of a political nature nor had politics anything to do with it. The roads under the care of these gentlemen were not receiving proper attention and as public servants they were open to criticism, and we criticized their work and will continue to do so as occasion demands it irrespective of politics.

The Graphic is a public newspaper which tries to publish all the news and strive to better local conditions. The letter written by Mr. J. H. Currie was written not as Hon. Wm. Currie's brother and a liberal worker, but as chairman of the Roads Committee of the Restigouche Auto Association. As an officer of the said Association he is pledged to leave politics out of all such matters, and to work in the best interest of the Association in the promotion of good roads for Restigouche.

Personally we have no quarrel with Mr. McNulty or Currie. They are very estimable gentlemen, but the sections of road they are supposed to look after are very bad in the places mentioned, therefore they are open to criticism.

We are pleased to add that already the sections complained of are receiving attention and a great improvement will be in evidence shortly. All that was needed, evidently, was to bring the matter forcibly to the attention of the proper authorities when the work was undertaken.

LT. STEWART McLEAN REPORTED MISSING

Sad News Received Here; Last Week—Missing, Presumed Killed

On Tuesday, Mr. Peter McLean received a telegram from Ottawa stating that his son Lieut. Stewart McLean was missing, presumed killed.

Lt. McLean was one of the most popular officers of the 132nd Battalion, and while the news is sad, still some hope that he may yet turn up as a prisoner of war.

This is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. McLean that has appeared in the casualty list, as Aubrey was killed some time ago. Another son is now in France with a western battalion.

BRITISH AGAIN ADVANCING

No Details Yet Available—Canadians in Stiff Fight and Hold Gains

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 22—(By the Associated Press)—The British began another operation northwest of Ypres at dawn today on the battle-scarred grounds between Langemarck and Frenzenberg. No details are yet available from this sector, which was the scene of some of the heaviest fighting on last Thursday in the assault by the British.

CANADIANS IN STIFF FIGHTING

Meanwhile the conflict continued about Lens though apparently greatly diminished in intensity with the Canadians still holding the Germans off from the southwestern portion which they gained in the city yesterday and at the same time clinging tenaciously to the numerous new posts in the German line on the northwestern section.

Pierce hand-to-hand fighting continued late into the night especially in the northwestern portion which lies between the Germans and Hill 70. The Germans continued to fling heavy counter-attacks against the Canadian and the battle surged back and forth amid the ruined buildings and trenches.

The morning advantage rested with the British and nowhere had the Germans been able to reach the lines from which the Canadians began their offensive yesterday morning.

WANTED BACK HILL 70

It now appears from the statement of German prisoners that the German counter-attack a dawn yesterday, which by a strange coincidence began at the same hour as that of the Canadian attack, was preliminary to a general counter-attack which had as its object the recovery of Hill 70, possession of which is necessary if the Germans are to continue their hold on Lens.

Large numbers of troops had been massed for this attack and these were used freely in the sanguinary struggle of yesterday and last night.

London, Aug. 22—In the face of heavy German counter-attacks the British have maintained the newly gained positions on the outskirts of Lens. The War Office announces. Further progress has been made at some points.

Following is the official communication:—

South and west of Lens the new positions captured by us yesterday morning on the outskirts of the town have been maintained and further progress has been made at certain points. Northwest and north of Lens also, as a result of heavy fighting in the course of which German counter-attacks were repulsed by our rifle and machine gun fire or broken up by our artillery, some additional ground has been secured in advanced positions captured on the 15th. There has been great activity during the night on both sides east and northwest of Ypres.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS FOR RESTIGOUCHE

Road Engineers at Work and Progress

The Graphic is glad to be able to announce that the Public Works Department have now completed all work in Restigouche county, and it is promised that the road from Campbellton to Dalhousie will be put in a class shape. This will indeed be good news to all auto owners and others who have to use this road, in fact it seems almost too good to be true, and the skeptical say they will believe it when they see the road.

In the meantime a few loads of mud have been dumped in the holes in the road this side of Dalhousie, but in the Restigouche section, the supervisor, Newlan had placed up the side of the road in front of his farm.

We sincerely hope that the Road Engineers will not allow any temporary work to be done on this road. It is the only section of the road which is in good shape, and Mr. Nolan put say money he has to spend further afield; let him go to the Red River portage and see what he can do there.

When the engineers commence operations they should begin at the Campbellton and Dalhousie ends, as both are a disgrace to the county. We trust a start will be made at an early date.

STANDING FIELD CROPS COMPETITION

Ten Counties in Province Entered This Year—Judges Getting Ready

Active interest is being taken in ten counties of the province in the Standing Field Crops Competition which is being conducted by the New Brunswick Agricultural Department. The counties are Restigouche, Gloucester, Madawaska, Victoria, Carleton, York, Kings, Westmorland, Northumberland and Kent. It is hoped that next summer the remaining five counties of the province will be entered in the competition. The rules and regulations are the same as were in force last year. Next year they will be revised to give uniformity.

Judges in the field crop competition conducted by the provincial department of agriculture were in Fredericton last week receiving instructions concerning their duties and the manner in which they should be carried out. S. J. Moore of Truro, was also at the Capital aiding in the instruction which is being given at the Dominion Experimental station.

LAKE BOATS FOR OCEAN BUSINESS

Many will be Sent Through St. Lawrence Will Help Atlantic Ports

Cleveland, Aug. 18—A representative of the United States Shipping Board was in Cleveland today defining the Government plans for commandeering lake freighters for coastwise and trans-oceanic war trade. Figures tabulated by the Government agent in conference with local shipping experts, owners, builders and tug men show that upwards of eighty lake boats can be taken to salt water. The Shipping Board's decision will rest upon the report to be made by its representative. The plan is to take every boat possible of passing through the Welland Canal and thence through the St. Lawrence River to the Atlantic before take traffic is forbidden.

They had lost their way in their new and expensive car.

FOUR LARGE GERMAN STEAMERS

Handed Over to the United States by Cuban Administration

Havana, Aug. 22—President Menocal, yesterday, signed a decree transferring to the United States government four large German steamers, the Bavaria, Olvar, Adolph and Constantine, of an aggregate tonnage of approximately 20,000 tons, which were seized as prizes of war by the Cuban government on the day this country declared war against Germany. It is announced that the United States Minister to Cuba, acting as the representative of the United States shipping board, will take possession of the ships immediately. When asked the amount the United States government was paying for these ships the Minister replied: "Absolutely nothing."

ARGENTINE NOW LOSING PATIENCE

Delay of Germany in Answering Protests the Cause

Buenos Aires, August 22—Increasing irritation among Argentine officials at Germany's continued failure to give a satisfactory reply to her protests against the submarine Argentine vessels was apparent today. The Capital heard rumors that the long expected break with Germany was about to occur.

HALF OF SALONKI DESTROYED BY FIRE
Eighty Thousand People, Who Were Left Homeless, Are Being Given Shelter

London, Aug. 20.—More than half the walled city of Saloniki in Greek Macedonia, which is under occupation by the Entente Allied troops, was destroyed by fire Saturday.

Eighty thousand who were rendered homeless, were being removed to neighboring villages last evening, according to a despatch received in London. The fire is now under control. Saloniki is enclosed by white walls, partly ancient and partly medieval, about five miles in circuit and is surrounded by greenness and evergreen. As seen from the sea it presents a bright and beautiful appearance; but its interval aspect is miserable in the extreme. The principal buildings are mosques, most of which were previously Christian churches. The citadel, called by the Turks Vadi-Kuleh on the seven Towers, is the ancient acropolis; within it are to be seen the ruins of a triumphal arch belonging to the time of Marcus Aurelius. Other relics of antiquity are the propylaeum of the Hippodrome, a magnificent Corinthian colonnade of five pillars; the triumphal arch of Augustus, erected after the battle of Philippi (now forming the gate of Vardar or Vardari); the arch of Constantine, etc.

SHEEP RAISING IN CANADA

The Sheep population of the World numbers well over Six Hundred Million, and out of twenty-five countries Canada is near the foot, being twenty-second with 2,175,502, Australia coming first with 35,977,462. The decrease in Canada in the number of sheep between the years 1901-1914, the most recent figures obtainable, amounted to 334,987. Between 1900 and 1910 the number of sheep in the United States decreased 5,390,368, being given as 62,838,748 in the latter year.

The number of sheep per 1,000 inhabitants in 1914 in Australia was 10,970; Ireland 823; Great Britain 678; United States 576; Canada 302.

These figures show to what extent the number of sheep in Canada might reasonably be increased, but instead we seem to be killing off the lambs and sheep rapidly. The number slaughtered under the Meat and Canned Foods amounts to nearly 25% of the whole, not talking into account the Farmers killing.

Canada's free imports of wool per annum, and of Wool Manufacture nearly twenty-five Million Dollars per annum.

Since the beginning of the War raw wool has increased over 100% in value, being now worth about 60 cents per pound, but this increase in value is partly due to better grading and co-operative marketing, as well as the introduction of pure bred animals, the fault having previously been the want of preparation of the wool bringing it into ill-repute for manufacturing purposes and cross breeding which produced a medium and coarse wool not so valuable as the pure bred. The production of the latter, while improving the wool, is said to lower the standard of merit on characteristics, but the introduction of pure bred animals for the finer grades of wool is not likely to be so extensive as to effect the meat production, and larger profits are to be obtained from wool rather than from mutton.

Of Canada's wool production which amounts to about Fifteen Million pounds per annum, the graded wool offered for co-operation sale in 1916 amounted only to 1,721,689 pounds, a great deal still being marketed in an unimproved condition, wool being simply wool to the ordinary farmer, and the educational work now under way should be supplemented by every reasonable means.

An incident of what the Railway may do and the good effect produced was the arrangement made by this Department for free short courses to be given by the MacDonald College staff between Megantic and Waltham in 1914, in which the Sheep Industry was made to feature very prominently. As a result of this trip Pure Bred Sheep Associations were established at nine points, with a membership of about 1200 and the wool clip of last year was increased over 20,000 fleeces from the product of pure bred sires immediately afterwards distributed from College Farm. It is decided now to extend these operations, and I have in hand with the College and Provincial Authorities the running of Sheep Sales Cars over the same route then followed, these to be advertised as stopping a certain day at each point, in order the pure bred animals picked up may be disposed enroute.

The difficulty how is found to be that the farmers are unable without considerable expense to obtain stock, this, in most cases, preventing them from going into the business.

Ontario seems to be better provided in this respect but we may find it profitable to extend operations to New Brunswick and long the line of the D.

PRUSSIAN GUARDS MARCH SUICIDAL
Thrilling Sketch of Attack on Hill Seventy by Noted Prussian Regiment

London, Aug. 20.—Describing the German counter-attacks on the Canadians, Beach Thomas in the Daily Mail, writes:—

The endeavor at Lens was magnificent, but not war. The fourth Prussian Guard, forming part of an army corps of guards marching in column of four, swung out from their snug line behind the town and advanced to drive home a counter-thrust against the "victorious" Canadians. They found the north of their line exposed that they dared not top the crest on that side and on the south a area of swampy ground ribbed and paled them in. They could not deploy; perforce they marched on still in fours, along the road and came first into indirect and then direct fire from a number of our converging machine field guns. In all they marched nearly three miles, most of it under direct fire. It was magnificent but suicidal. The whole body of several thousand men went shot down. They died and did not kill.

"In all ten counter-attacks have already been attempted against the Canadians. The enemy lost many more in these than the total Canadian losses in the whole battle. Other guards fifty miles farther north at Langemark, failed almost as signally though, with less intensity of loss.

AVEGED FAME OF FALLEN

The Times in an editorial, says the Canadian at Hill 70 avenged the fame of those fallen in the attack on the same ground in September, 1915. The enemy had nearly two years to score the height with trenches and defensive works but the garrison yielded almost at once to the impetuous assault of the Canadians. By their seizure of the mining suburbs they have tightened their grip on Lens, which is now held in a very close vice, although the flooded ground beyond Yvion probably remains a serious obstacle. Our special correspondent explains the system of rapid counter-attacks, which the Germans have devised. It appears to be conspicuously wasteful of men, though it leads to ground. Experience seems to sometimes to temporary recovery of show that it produces no permanent result when our troops begin an almost simultaneous attack over widely separated areas. That a heavier strain is placed upon the dwindling resources of Germany is indicated by the discovery of a number of German boys in the battle line."

A. R. in Nova Scotia after we see the further result of it in Quebec.

Another matter bearing upon the raising of Sheep is that of the Dog Nuisance. While in Eastern Canada the wild animals are not so destructive as in the West there are more dogs and heavy losses have occurred. Quebec has recently adopted an admirable law which places the responsibility upon the Municipality to the extent of two-thirds of the value of the destruction of dogs, and this is having a pretty good effect upon the owners of these animals. The Act recently passed by the New Brunswick Legislature makes this branch of animal industry much more secure than in the past from the Dog Nuisance.

To show how sheep raising is being taken up in the Western Provinces. During the week of June over 25,000 sheep were shorn at the Lethbridge Exhibition grounds. The work was done by machinery, one man being able to handle on the average 200 sheep per day, the cost being 15 cents per capita. The wool, which was of the highest quality, averaged 8 pounds per fleece and several owners disposed of their clip at 55 cents per pound, an average of $4.48 per fleece. The increase in the number of sheep in Lethbridge district this year is estimated at 80%. Up to July 19, 25 carloads of wool had been shipped from the district this year and there were six more to leave immediately; Lethbridge wool shipments are

PROGRESS OF THE PULPWOOD INDUSTRY

The war with its changes in trade routes and markets has tended to greatly increase the pulpwood and pulp industry in Canada in the last three years. In fact the industry has grown steadily since its inception. These facts are shown in a bulletin just issued by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior. The total value of the pulpwood made in pulp in Canada, and exported in the raw state for manufacture abroad was nearly $20,000,000. The amount of pulpwood made into pulp in Canada was 1,764,912 cords, an increase of about 300,000 cords over 1915. While over a million cords of wood were exported in the raw state for manufacture abroad, this was lower in proportion to the total pulpwood made into pulp in Canada than ever before, showing that the Canadian manufacturers are working up more and more of this raw material in our own country. The statistics of the industry are set out in Bulletin in 62B, Pulpwood, 1916, which may had free by application to the Director of Forestry Ottawa.

Since starting this Ladies' Comfort Society, the members have knitted a great quantity of socks and 26 pairs mitts, showing that if we cannot be on the firing line, we can still be of some use at home thus encouraging our boys at the front.

Is Lacked Concentration.

Speaking of a man who was a failure because of his lack of concentration and his inability to know his own mind, five minutes at a time, a captain of industry said he reminded him of a hunting dog he once owned: "At about the dog would start out on his own hook five feet. He would jump a buck and run him for miles. When the buck was on the point of catching the dog's nostrils would catch the buck in the air where he had crossed the trail, and he would instantly decide that, after all, fox was what he had come for, and he would turn and he would go after the fox. An hour later, when the chase was growing warmer every minute, his keen nose would detect the presence of a rabbit and he would go after the rabbit, with the inevitable result that he would catch the rabbit in the air and he would be left with a chipmunk's trail." Saturday Evening Post.

George and His Legs

By fit of the historical grubbers are digging out the truth about our immortal George. We have heretofore been told that he wore false teeth and that at Valley Forge he nobly deceived his ragged and despondent troops with the arrival of ample supplies of ammunition, which consisted of powder barrels filled with sand and now a correspondent of the New York Sun declares that in the full length portraits of Washington by Stuart, of which there is one in the New York public library, the legs were not his own. "I have seen the letter from Stuart thanking the true owner for his kindness in providing a symmetrical pair of legs for the best of the great president and presenting one of the smaller portraits in thanks for his kindness."

Free Speech

An old negro woman had lived with a certain family in the south for many years. One day her mistress had occasion to remark that she was quite sharply for something that had gone wrong. The negro said nothing at the time, but a little later her voice could be heard in the kitchen in shrill vituperation of her mistress. A neighbor, a faithful acquaintance of the woman, was so indignant, the exclamations that she went hurriedly down to the kitchen. "Why, Lisa," she began in amazement, "who on earth are you talking to?" "I ain't talkin' to nobody," the old negro replied, "but I don't keer who in this house hears me."—Harper's Magazine.

Misprints and Maxim Guns

The late Sir Hiram Maxim says in his autobiography that when he organized the United States Electric Lighting company the printer sent home his stationery with the heading, "The United States Electric Lighting company." When he established the company in England he told of this mistake in order to emphasize the importance of getting the stationery printed correctly. When the first sheets were brought to him, however, he found that the English printers had made his concern appear as "The Maxim Gun company."

Hearing Men at Work

The manager of a machine shop at factory can know how much work is being done at benches by mechanics or by power driven machines or tools by the use of telephones or telephone transmitters connected with the working apparatus. By becoming familiar with the vibrations of the different machines he can tell at any given moment how fast they are working the faster or how industriously Jack is operating the milling machines on one of his blue Mondays. In addition to this he can tell at a glance the turn of the switch in the machines are running at normal speed and smoothly and properly, as they should.—Popular Science Monthly.

Angkang Music

The angkang orchestra is a peculiar Javanese institution. The instrument known as the angkang is made of a Java bamboo tree. Different instruments have various tones of different tones, and they are played like the chimes one sees in vaudeville or the musical glasses. The angkang is simple, but characteristic. When Dwight Blinn, an angkang player, brought a set of the instruments to the United States, this orchestra makes music for the characteristic "hobby-hobby" tones of Java. The Javanese believe their paper figures decorated to represent the head, neck, and tail of a horse, and gaiter-riding above.

Boys' Generosity

"Mother (to small son)—Bobby, dear, I hoped you would be charitable enough to give little sister the largest piece of candy. Why, see, even our old hen gives all the nice big dainties to the little chicks and only keeps an occasional tiny one for herself." Bobby thoughtfully watched the hen and chickens for a time and then said, "Well, mamma, I would, too, if it was yours."

A Resurrection

In the long-lived patriarchal age a generation seems to have been computed at 100 years (Genesis 9: 24). Subsequently the reckoning was the same, but has been more recently adopted—that is, from thirty to forty years (Job 32: 7).

The girls made good headway in canning fruits, berries, vegetables, etc. Many ladies of town took a great interest in the work and paid visits to the school during the classes. On Saturday afternoon the girls gave an exhibition of the work done by them. The result of their labors filled two tables; one table contained berries and fruits; the other vegetables of all kinds and sorts. The room was very prettily decorated with flags. A good number of ladies were present, while Miss Knapp gave a short talk on food values and the different ways of conserving food which was very interesting and enjoyed by all. It is to be hoped when the vacation is over, that many more girls will join the club. It is the aim of the Education Department to keep up the club during the winter months so it will not be necessary to form new ones next summer.

A Famous New York Street.
Few of the thousands of people who pass the corner of Nassau and John streets every day know the early history of Nassau Street. And yet right at that corner is a bronze tablet which gives in concise form the following historical information:
"Nassau Street, Known Originally 'the Street That Runs by the Fire Woman, Was Laid Out About 1665 and Was Named in Honor of the House of Nassau, Whose Head at That Time Was William the Third, King of England and Stadholder of the Dutch Republic. Nassau Street Became Identified With the Jewelry Trade More Than Half a Century Ago."
The bronze tablet is on the exterior of the building at the north-west corner of Nassau and John streets. It is erected by the Maiden Lane Historical society in 1916.—New York Sun.

William De Morgan

In spite of himself William De Morgan became famous. He deliberately violated all the rules made for the authors of novels who seek to be popular. None of his novels was addressed to the greater public that is avid for the latest thing of the moment in fiction, but nevertheless they reached that public. He was a law unto himself in the novels that he wrote during his marvellous career that spanned only ten years. It is doubtful if in English literature or in any other can be found a writer whose life and literary career are comparable to his. He was an old man when the world of readers came to know him, and his age was an asset toward celebrity. At seventy he was hailed as eagerly as Kipling was hailed at twenty, and in his way he was no less a prodigy than the younger writer.

The Emerald

The emerald has been known since early times both in Europe and in certain parts of the Orient, where its attractive color and rarity have endowed it with the highest rank and a varied history. Its name may be traced back to an old Persian word which appeared in Greek as "smaragdus," mentioned by Theophrastus over 300 years before the Christian era, and again in Latin as "smaragdus," seen in the writings of Pliny, who particularized somewhat on its properties and supposed medicinal virtues and was even allowed enough to suspect its identity with the much more common beryl, although eighteen centuries elapsed before this suspicion was verified by scientific proof.

His Hard Luck

A small boy, whose record for delinquency had not had any parallel at 100 came home one day recently with his standing reduced to 98. "What have you been doing, my son?" asked his dotting mother. "Been doing?" replied the young hopeful. "Been doing just as I have been doing all along, only the teacher caught me this time."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Where is the Profit?

"I understand they sold their house for $2,000 more than they paid for it." "How lucky!" "Lucky nothing! After they'd sold it they discovered that they've got to pay $2,000 more than they received for their house for another home to live in."

Books in Brazil

In Brazil, as throughout South America, French is almost universally read. Editions of the classics are found in most homes, and booklovers are filled with modern French writers of prose or verse, sometimes in translation and as frequently in the original.

Went Further?

"Didn't I tell you that when you see a man in hard luck you ought to greet him with a smile?" said the wise old good counsellor. "I replied the stoutest stoutest person I went even further than that. I gave him the grand laugh!"

Best Way of Finding Iron

When a man is looking for iron in the best form in which to utilize it is to search for it in the form of iron filings, scrapings, lentils, carrots, and peas, all of which contain much iron.

POULTRY FEED

(Experimental Farms Note.) The question of feed for poultry is becoming serious. Corn is practically off the market, oats high in price, barley and buckwheat very scarce as well as high. Wheat the most popular poultry feed in Canada at any price, should not, under present conditions, be used for poultry if it is fit for milling purposes, for the prospects are that this year's crop will leave the world's supply of wheat still short and it will be necessary to save all suitable wheat for human consumption. Poultry will therefore have to look for a substitute.

MONARCHS PLAY VERY SORRY ROLES

Many Kings Discredited by the Great War. ARE NO LONGER LEADERS. Most of the Men Who Sit Upon the Thrones of Europe Have Lost Caste Since the Great Struggle Began—Crown Prince of Germany Excluded by Entire World.

WE have heard less of the royal personages of Europe since war ceased to be a military review and became a death struggle between the nations, and what we hear of them is not particularly majestic. In Germany the spotlight now rests upon the brutal head and face of Hindenburg. The Crown Prince at Verdun appears to have followed the example of his ancestor, who nearly spoiled the plans of Moltke and Bismarck by his interference. The Czar (long before he abdicated) got himself into such a position with a vicious monk of German sympathies that a number of severely practical

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE. Russians thought it necessary to dump the ecclesiastic into the Neva. The King of Italy made one bold appearance in the mountains and then returned to his coin collection. The King of Greece, like a good married man, took his orders from his wife. He preferred foreign war to domestic broils. The consequence is that he lost his throne. We have not heard from the King of Roumania, but undoubtedly he has a kingly place well in the rear. The fire-eating King of Montenegro is living in a dismal suburb of Paris. If the Sultan of Turkey is still alive, it is because Enver Pasha does not believe in nowadays are not fighters. They are right promoters. They do not love the glimmer of the flashlight. When they have started a war they feel their obligation is at an end, and go to keep an appointment with the photographer. With the blaze of this great catastrophe as a background, they look small and mean indeed. A great many of them are shown to advantage in the war. One is King George, a constitutional king and to the German and British Governments shortly before the war, and was rejected by both on the ground that three planes could not be practicable. Germany now has built 200 of these new machines, and it is said that they have proved very satisfactory and are a great improvement over the old type. The triplane can easily fly at a rate of 120 miles an hour, and when necessary can make 150 miles an hour. It carries seven men—an aviator, a pilot, and five men in the crew to man the guns. It is armed with three machine guns and two two-inch guns, so ingeniously and neatly mounted that every gun can be fired from any part of the machine by the pressing of an electric button should the five gunners in any way be disabled the aviator can fire any gun from his seat. In addition the machine can carry bombs as well. The triplane can be handled more easily than any other type of airplane. It is more stable and can rise or fall with ease. The guns can be fired readily either at the pursuer or below, and the speed of the machine is such that it is less likely to be hit by the enemy on land.

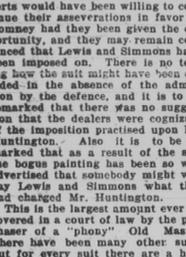

Large German Triplanes. From an authoritative source the New York Herald has received information regarding the type of triplane which is being used, to which copies despatches recently have referred. This new model consists of three planes, and is known as the triplane. Such a type of machine was offered to the German and British Governments shortly before the war, and was rejected by both on the ground that three planes could not be practicable. Germany now has built 200 of these new machines, and it is said that they have proved very satisfactory and are a great improvement over the old type.

Why Not a War Time Measure. If every business man in our town could do business on a strictly cash system it would be a blessing to us all. If we all had to pay cash we would learn to live within our means. It would save business men the expense of book-keeping and the loss of bad debts, all of which some one has to pay for. If our town could gradually work into a strictly cash system it would be better for us all.

Famous Paintings Was a Forgery

LAWSUITS as usual" is one of the slogans that continues to do duty in England, in proof whereof one of the most remarkable suits in history has just been brought to a sensational conclusion. The suit was entered by an American, Henry E. Huntington against Lewis and Simmons, of London, to recover $100,000 which he had paid them for a painting alleged to have been executed by George Romney, the celebrated English portrait painter of the eighteenth century. Mr. Huntington bought the picture in 1912 and some eighteen months later began to have doubts as to its authenticity. He communicated with the art dealers who asserted that it was a veritable Romney. They said that they welcomed the other had sworn that they would give them an opportunity to prove absolutely that Romney had painted the picture. The New York millionaire brought a formidable array of witnesses appeared on either side.

About half of them swore that the picture was a Romney, and gave convincing evidence in support of their belief. The other half swore that they had no doubt that it was not a Romney, and they have equally convincing evidence. The judge saved the difficulty of assuming the role of art expert by the unexpected admission by the art dealers that the painting was a forgery, and that they had unsworn evidence to prove that it had been painted by a man named Odus Humphrey, a contemporary of Rubens. Probably their own experts would have been willing to concede their own positions in favor of Romney had they been given the opportunity, and they may remain convinced that Lewis and Simmons have been imposed on. There is no telling how the suit might have been decided in the absence of the admission by the dealers. It is to be remarked that there was no suggestion that the dealers were cognizant of the imposture practiced upon Mr. Huntington. Also it is to be remarked that as a result of the suit the bogus painting has been so well advertised that somebody might well pay Lewis and Simmons what they had charged Mr. Huntington.

COUNT TERAUCHI. high contracting parties to guarantee the permanent peace of the East. "Its indisputable benefits in the past are already clear," he wrote. And he added: "It is destined to play even a greater part in the future. The interests of Great Britain and Japan have never conflicted and never will conflict." Viscount Motono revealed several aspects of the history of the alliance. "We must also recall," he said, "that had it not been for our British alliance we should have encountered the greatest difficulties in the prosecution of our war with Russia. During that war Great Britain did us immeasurable services, still little known to the general public. Great Britain probably would not have been able to make the agreement she signed with Russia had it not been for her alliance. It is therefore, in my opinion, whether the authors of the Anglo-Japanese alliance had in mind the possibility of a general conflagration between the great European powers when they signed the treaty. But in the fact remains that in the present moment the alliance is playing a most important part in the great war." The Minister was firm in the opinion that the alliance would last long after the war. From Japan's point of view the maintenance of the balance of power in the Far East was absolutely necessary. Japan and Great Britain, he wrote, had immense common interests in Asia that must be protected. Whatever contingencies the future might have in store, the close unity of Japan and Great Britain was, in the Minister's opinion, an indispensable condition for the maintenance of order and peace in the Far East; as much as for the effective protection of Japan's rights and interests. He concluded: "As long as Japan and Great Britain are united by a true and loyal alliance we need have no fears for the future."

Lumbering in Canada. The lumbering industry of Canada is regulated in part by the Dominion Government and in part by the provincial governments. Before timber may be cut on Dominion lands a license must be obtained, the cost of the survey, the ground rent, stumpage dues and half the fire protection expenses must be paid by the licensee, and all the timber he cuts must be manufactured in the country.

How He Knew. A lieutenant who was instructing a certain squad in visual training said to one of the recruits, "Now how many men are there in that trench-digging party over there?" "Thirty men and one officer," he answered promptly. "Quite right!" said the lieutenant. "But how do you know one is an officer and the rest are privates?" "Cos he's the only one not working, sir!"

ITALIANS MAKE CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS. Rome, August 21.—The battle on the Isonzo front continues without interruption. The War Office states that the Austrian line is beginning to bend and give way at various points. The Italians, supported by floating and fixed batteries and monitors, are marching towards Treviso, which, the statement says, is becoming delimitated in spite of undiminished enemy resistance.

ALLIANCE WAS WILL OF HEAVEN

Count Terauchi Issues Message to Japanese. NO FEARS FOR THE FUTURE. The Arrangement Between Great Britain and Japan Will Preserve Peace in the Far East, and the Interests of the Two Nations Have Not Come to Serious Conflict.

THE Anglo-Japanese alliance is the will of Heaven as well as the work of man," was the epigrammatic phrase in a message which Premier Count Terauchi recently issued on the subject of the relations between Japan and Great Britain. With Viscount Ichiro Motono, Japan's Foreign Minister, and others, Count Terauchi sent a communication to "The New East," a monthly review published by British residents at Tokio. The official Japanese contributors emphasize their desire to make the Anglo-Japanese alliance a permanent agreement. Count Terauchi said that the alliance was the result of the sincere desire of the

Our Pacific Fleet. Another ship has been added to Canada's north Pacific coast fleet. This is the SS, "Tillamook," and it has been placed in service between Prince Rupert, the western terminal of the G. T. P. line and Ketchikan, Alaska. This vessel is of United States registry, 119 feet in length, 29 feet beam, has a cargo capacity of about 450 tons, and good passenger accommodation. It will meet the growing demands of the Northern trade in handling fresh fish, in handling supplies to canneries, and in looking after general trade, and serves as a further indication of the continued development of Alaska, and of the increasing importance of the Prince Rupert as a Pacific port and distributing centre. The big vessels of the G. T. P. fleet, the Prince George and the Prince Rupert, are handling record business this year between Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Prince Rupert, and the principal Alaskan ports.
