

OCT.

CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER.

ESACKVILLE, N. B., OCT. 2, 1884.

—Mr. Blake is touring in Quebec; speaks to-morrow at Newington and on Saturday at St. Martins.

—General meeting of Dairyman's association of P. E. I. takes place on the 8th at Charlottetown.

And now the mail with musquash segue both view the clouds and smile; She knows the days will soon come back When she can sleep on a style.

—Kings, P. E. I., votes on the repeal of the Scott Act on 16th Oct. The Conservative organ—the Examiner—strongly advocates the Act.

—Sir Charles Tupper has been appointed by the Imperial Government to co-operate with the British ambassador in trade negotiations with Spain.

—A large cattle business is springing up between Ontario and Buffalo. Shipments from Ontario to that place are being sold at good profit to shippers. Philadelphia cattle dealers are in Canada buying cattle for export and breeding purposes. They hope to raise for export a breed that will command as good prices in the British market as Canadians do.

—Picturesque Canada, numbers 31 and 32, deal with St. Andrews and the St. Croix, St. John, a sail up the St. John river, Fredericton, the Tobique and Restigouche. The illustrations are well executed and convey a very correct impression of the scenes they represent. The letter press is remarkably interesting. It is understood to be from the pen of Mr. Charles G. D. Roberts.

—J. H. Reid, of Fredericton, to whom the people of York and we might say the people of the province owe much for his indefatigable labors in promoting the exhibition building in the above city, is looking forward to the erection of another building in 1886. He proposes that the city give a grant of $4,000—the $3,000 which they have received from insurance on the old building, and an additional $1,000—and the county $6,000. The government will supplement them with a bonus of $10,000 which amounts will construct building and land exhibition. If John Reid has to have a building for 1886, people may rest assured it will be erected.

—Nature is commonly personified as of the female sex and she would seem by something that happened recently to be as sensitive respecting her years as the average woman is popularly supposed to be. Some members of the British Association were in a railway tunnel in the Rocky Mountains, searching for geological data, whereby to establish the age of the mountain above them, when, without a word of warning, no less than four miles of the tunnel collapsed and a huge mass of rock came within six feet of blotting out the whole crowd. The impertinent Britons experienced a very rapid decline in their scientific curiosity and made a record in reaching the mouth of the tunnel that would have done credit to St. Julien, Jr.

—On this side the water interdependence is undoubtedly the most important social problem with which philanthropists have to grapple in Europe, however, standing armies constitute another difficulty perhaps quite as appalling. The number of men at present actually under arms is 3,302,000. Estimating the wages which these men might earn at an average of seventy-five cents a day for each man, we have a clear annual loss to start with of $200,000,000. To support them in their costly idleness the European states have to raise by taxation about $3,000,000,000 per annum, which added to the financial loss just mentioned, will give us an aggregate of $4,500,000,000, which is worse than thrown away. Add to the money lost the terrible demoralization of camp life and we have before us a sum total of folly and wickedness, the existence of which in the nineteenth century painfully proves how essentially low after all is the stage of civilization, at which the human race has yet arrived.

—Philosophers of the present day are bent on explaining the origin of everything in heaven above or in earth beneath. Even so elemental an operation as kissing is supposed to be descended by due process of evolution from the licking whereby the female animal greets her young. And now a distinguished professor undertakes to explain the fondness of mankind for gold by an operation as kissing is supposed to be descended by due process of evolution from the licking whereby the female animal greets her young. And now a distinguished professor undertakes to explain the fondness of mankind for gold by an operation as kissing is supposed to be descended by due process of evolution from the licking whereby the female animal greets her young. THE CAUSE OF HARD TIMES.

One class of political thinkers lays the evil of hard times at the door of Protection; the opposite class at

Free Trade. The one class is centered by business failures, distress and strikes in Free Trade England; the other class by like evils in all Protective countries. Naturally we must then look further than either

Free Trade or Protection for the active agency in producing that general stagnation and idleness known as Hard Times. We have before adverted to the theory that Hard Times resulted from a superabundance of wealth and not from national poverty; that creation of more goods than is required to satisfy the wants of man, naturally leads in their order to glut in the markets, slowness of demand, a fall in prices, a cessation of production, idleness of the working classes and consequent distress. We observe that exactly similar views were advanced by Hon. Thos. E. Hill, of Chicago, at the sixth annual convention of the Business Men of America held at Rochester, N. Y., a few weeks ago.

Hill said:

"The day-to-day, throughout the country, a general stagnation. Why?

Does anybody know why? Apparently very few people have any distinct idea as to the causes that produce general distress throughout the community.

Ask a dozen of the best business men of your town today the reason for the present hard times, and you will get a dozen different answers. One will tell you that it is "a presidential year."

Another will tell you that it is "wild speculation." Another that it is "overtrading." Another that it is "a want of sufficient protection." Another that it is "a want of sufficient extravagance," etc., etc.

To get back to the real history.

Primitive man had no labor-saving implements to aid him in securing warmth and food. To obtain these he had to labor with every possible effort all throughout his working hours. He was a hunter, a gatherer, a fisherman, a farmer, a craftsman, the hoe, the plough, the flax-spinning wheel, the spinning wheel, etc.

With these came opportunity for rest from long hours; and with greater leisure for study and intellectual advancement, labor-saving machinery would make an over-production, succeeded by stagnation in business, bankruptcies, riots, and general distress.

This was followed by a shortening of the hours, when the productive power being lessened for a time, the demand for goods would equal or exceed the supply, and then came an era of better times. The hours of labor have never been shortened without great effort, and whenever they have been shortened, the periods soon following have been those of great financial prosperity to the country.

During a period of several years preceding the civil war, our mechanics, with the aid of improved machinery, working twelve hours a day, had produced a surplus of goods, which had been sold at a standstill. The time of a day's labor was lessened two hours near the closing of the century, and the result was a general depression of the country. The result was a general depression of the country.

The result was a general depression

the price of machine-made goods, and in the profits from their sale.

2nd. A permanent reduction in the price of mechanic and artisan labor and probably in the hours of labor.

3rd. As machinery enters into the completion of their Nova Scotia on Friday afternoon last. Arrangements were quickly made by gentlemen here to have them address a public meeting, and notwithstanding the short notice a large and intelligent audience assembled.

Senator Dickey, being called to the chair, introduced the distinguished gentlemen in a very appropriate speech, and first called upon

PROF. BLANFORD, F. G. S.,

President of the Geological Branch of the British Association. Prof. Blanford remarked that the representation was so small, but felt that he would re-echo the feelings of all of them who visited Nova Scotia when he said that he would always with the greatest degree of pleasure visit the province. He referred chiefly to the interest of Nova Scotia to geologists and miners, but he felt that even the short visit of members of the British Association would result in great benefit to the province, the great resources of which, as a consequence, he made more widely known.

Prof. Sheldon, of Dartmouth Agricultural College, who is already well known in the province, gave a capital address, which was highly appreciated. He also felt that Canada would be greatly benefited by the searion of the States, and that he was just

The DeWolf Fallure.
A failure so generally affecting Cumberland deserves more than passing mention.
From the statement furnished by the firm to their creditors, which we publish below, we learn their liabilities total up $257, $24.00, against which they show assets to the extent of $15,565.37. They furnished a statement as to their losses and expenditures in 1883 and 1884, which amounted to $138,825.00, from which it appears that they were at the beginning of 1883 over $112,000 behind hand. If this be so, it affords material for the commercial moralist to dilate on the heauties of the credit system and the ease with which large operations can be carried on without a dollar of capital.
