

DEAD. BY DAVID. Madly weeping, weeping, Take the lock from off his brow, He is quietly sleeping, Gone to rest just now.

AN AGRICULTURAL SNOWFLAKE. I have just now arrived from the clouds overhead, Will you stand on that side? Please look out for your head, I'll make a white spot on your nose, While I'm sliding here where the wind blows.

THE DARK HOUR. "I can't stand it any longer, Jane; I'll go out, and perhaps something will turn up for me."

to the cold, and shivered as he walked along the pavement. "You," he said, "my coat must go, I know not how I shall get along without it, but I cannot see my wife and children starve before my eyes."

There was a time, and he remembered it well, when he too suffered not a Christmas to pass without buying some little gift for Jimmy and Agnes. How wide he dreamed then that they would ever want bread.

There was one man shorter than himself, and he was a little fellow, with a round face and a pair of eyes that looked as if they were made of glass.

He thought intently. A vision of the comfort which the money would bring to cheerless room lighted up his brain for an instant; but then—

"I've lived honest so far," he thought; "I won't turn thief now."

"I was with an effort he came to this decision, for in the while there was he a pleasant smile on his face, and he could hear Jimmy asking for food. It was with an effort he started forward and placed his hand on the merchant's shoulder, and extended the hand that held the pocket-book.

"Remember, Robert," she said solemnly; "it is hard to starve, but there are things that are worse."

EDUCATED FEET. WHAT CAN BE DONE WITH THE TOE—ABOUT FEET IN GENERAL—SHOES. It is astonishing what use the feet and toes can be put to if they are properly educated.

Why is the world so full of sinners? It is not sufficient for legislators to close the avenues of crime; they should open those which lead to virtue.

Mr. Clarke (Wellington) moved that the Bill with regard to Municipal Institutions be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the following gentlemen:—Hon. Messrs Crooks and Fraser; Messrs McLeod, Tooley, Hardy, Springer, Wood, Bishop, Ardagh, Stricker, Finlayson, Calvin, and Clarke (Wellington). Carried.

ORANGE BILLS. Hon. Mr. Fraser brought down the correspondence and papers in connection with the Orange Incorporation Bill. THE ASSAMMENT ACT. Hon. Mr. Crooks moved the house into committee of the whole on the Bill to amend the Assessment Act, Mr. Hodgins in the chair. Mr. Crooks moved the adoption of the first clause, and explained that its introduction was intended to make clear the construction placed on the analogous clauses in the old Act, with regard to property owned out of the Province. Mr. M. C. Cameron was not aware that the clause had hitherto been misconstrued. He thought the hon. gentleman had discovered a difficulty that had never existed. The first clause was adopted. The second clause was adopted without discussion. On motion for the adoption of the third clause. Mr. Ryker moved, as an amendment that it should be expurgated. The amendment was lost on a division. Mr. Crooks moved its adoption with the insertion of the following words, "Before owner unknown," in the 39th line. The motion was carried. The fifth clause was carried without amendment. Mr. Crooks, in moving the adoption of the sixth clause stated that the object of this clause was to provide for the assessment of persons who held a lucrative appointment in one Municipality while they resided in another. Mr. Tooley called attention to a case in his regard to the Registrar and Treasurer of the county lived outside the limits of London, while their office was within the limits of the city. The city had no control over the salaries of these gentlemen. They performed duties on behalf of the county, and their incomes should not be assessable by the city. He moved the clause should be amended by the addition of words, "This clause shall not apply to Municipal Officers." Mr. Crooks said presently he had no objection to the amendment. Mr. Finlayson suggested that the words "County Municipal Officers" should be employed. The clause, with the last amendment, was carried. Mr. Crooks next moved the adoption of the seventh clause. Mr. McLeod objected to the amendment proposed with regard to tax land. The law in this respect had been found to work very well. Mr. Ardagh was of the same opinion. Mr. Pardee pointed out that a desirable feature with regard to these sales was that they could be conducted with uniformity, and it was considered best, in the interest of the public, that the sales should be conducted by county officers. Larger audiences would be obtained, and a better price would be obtained for the land. Messrs Gow, Finlayson, and Ryker were in favour of the law as it stands. Mr. Pardee said he would like to see the law amended so that the county officers according to the requirements of the law as it was prior to the amendments in 1868 or 1869. Communications had been received as to the advisability of changing the law, and he considered the simplest way would be to allow the law to be conducted by the county officers. Mr. M. C. Cameron said the effect of the clause would be to legalize the sales which the Commissioner of Crown Lands had shown had taken place. If it were in the interest of the public that these sales should be legalized, a Bill should be introduced for that purpose; but he objected to legislating them by this means. He agreed that it was desirable that there should be uniformity in the manner of conducting the sales, and said it was generally supposed that it would be to the interest of the public that the sales should be conducted by the county officers. Mr. Hardy pointed out that while the passage of the other clause under consideration would legalize the illegal sales which were at present legal. Mr. Mowat said the objections which these sales had been found to be these clauses could not be passed as they stood in the Bill. Mr. Wood (Victoria) was in favour of the law remaining as it stood, and thought that if illegal sales had been made an Act should be passed to make them legal. Mr. Beane was of opinion that some amendment to the law was necessary, and said it was true a great many persons did not think there had been any change in the law. Mr. Cameron said that because some lawyers had not discovered the flaw, that was no reason why it should be allowed to remain. The Hon. Mr. Crooks then moved that the seventh and eighth clauses be withdrawn.

Mr. Clarke (Wellington) moved that the Bill with regard to Municipal Institutions be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the following gentlemen:—Hon. Messrs Crooks and Fraser; Messrs McLeod, Tooley, Hardy, Springer, Wood, Bishop, Ardagh, Stricker, Finlayson, Calvin, and Clarke (Wellington). Carried.

A correspondent of one of the English papers at Cape Coast Castle says: "The care which Great Britain takes of her soldiers is a most singular feature in this Ashantee war. There is nothing on record to equal the excessive caution and regard for health of troops about to engage in war that has been manifested by the authorities here. Sir Garnet Wolseley shows signs of climatic influences, appearing debilitated, and as if hardly able to withstand long the latitude and feebleness which this untoward climate engenders. He, however, declares he never felt better in his life. The report that the Ashantees had died in great numbers of disease has been confirmed. The dead bodies strewn the line of march from the Abrahams to the Prah are sufficient evidence of the mortality that overtook them."

MANITOBA.—The elections for Manitoba are now over. For Selkirk, Mr. D. A. Smith has been elected; for Provencher, Louis Riel; for Lisgar, Dr. Schultz; for Marquette, Mr. Ryan. The latter it seems has defeated Mr. Cunningham, who was first erroneously reported as elected. In regard to Riel, who was returned by an overwhelming majority over Mr. Hamelin, the Nouveau Monde says this new manifestation is another plea for urgency on the part of the Government in dealing with his case and asserts that at the opening of the coming session at Ottawa, after the adoption of the Address, the Ministry will be ready to make known the policy it intends to follow in this matter.

A good deal of scepticism has been exhibited at times as to the fact of persons attaining the age of one hundred years and upwards. Yet unless our census and registration statistics are very far astray, Canada is remarkably favoured with centenarians. The second volume of the census shows a considerable sprinkling of them throughout the various Provinces, and the last annual report of the Registrar General of the Province of Ontario returns 3 persons as having died at the age of 100, 1 at 101, 2 at 102, 1 at 103, 3 at 104, 2 at 106, 1 at 107, and 1 at 123. It will thus be seen that the deaths of no less than 14 persons have been returned who are represented as having reached their hundredth year. Eighteen were returned among the deaths in 1871, but these are not all verified.

The London Times says the final results of the elections to the British House of Commons may be given as follows:—Conservatives returned, 351; Liberals and Home Rulers, 302. Of these 466 were elected after a contest. The total number of votes polled in the United Kingdom and Ireland was 2,500,000. This is a considerable falling off from the last general election. All the Parliamentary elections have now been held except in Wexford. The House of Commons stands as follows:—Conservatives, 351; Liberals and Home Rulers, 302. The same authority hints at Mr. Gladstone's probable retirement from the leadership of his party. He has nominated Viscount Enfield, Messrs. Cardwell, Hammond and Chichester Fortescue for peerages.

According to investigations made by Prof. Carpenter, it appears that the Red Sea loses annually by evaporation, at least eight feet of water—some estimate it as much as twenty-three feet—and regains this by the inflow from the ocean; that the Caspian Sea has been brought down from a sea covering a large part of northern Asia by the excess of evaporation over supply from rain and rivers, being kept at its present size and level by the fact that evaporation takes off all the water which the rain and river supply furnishes; and that the rain and river supply of the Black Sea is nearly all taken up by evaporation, leaving but a moderate amount to flow into the Mediterranean.

Mr. Gladstone has accepted the evidence of defeat as conclusive and has resigned office. Mr. Disraeli succeeds him, and is engaged in the formation of a Cabinet, with prospects of success. It is probable that the personal of the new Administration will be announced in a few days.

THE PENNY READINGS, which have been held for several weeks past in the Town Hall, were held in Newman's Hall on Thursday evening last. The Hall, as usual, was completely filled, showing how popular these entertainments are becoming. The programme consisted of several readings in prose and verse, interspersed with music by the Band, and by several songs, both sentimental and comic, all of which elicited the warmest applause. We notice a new feature introduced into the readings this year, in the form of a short address on some Scientific subject each evening, and generally accompanied by experiments or illustrations. We can confidently recommend the Readings to the public as one of the pleasantest and most profitable places they can go to spend an evening each week. We understand the next one takes place as usual on Thursday evening, in the Town Hall.

THE MANITOBA ELECTIONS.—The latest news from Manitoba goes to show that Mr. Mackenzie returns to Parliament with a far stronger support from the prairie province than he or his most sanguine friends could have hoped for. The whole of the members returned came out as professed Ministerials and although opposition was against them as such were triumphantly elected. The first election news that was received led some of our opposition contemporaries to rejoice over what was believed to be the defeat of him whom they called the man of Marquette. An Ottawa paper went so far as to congratulate Mr. Alderman Heney on the defeat of his quondam friend, at the same time placed Mr. Cunningham with the defeat of East Middlesex, styling both of them as traitors, and as traitors justly punished. Had Mr. Cunningham been defeated he would not have been disgraced, his cause had been a noble one, and like Mr. Glass, he would have triumphed in his fall.

The official list of Mr. Disraeli's Cabinet is given as follows:—First Lord of the Treasury, Benjamin Disraeli; Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Northcote; First Lord of the Admiralty, George Ward Hunt; Home Secretary, Richardson Assheton Cross; Foreign Secretary, Earl of Derby; Colonial Secretary, Earl of Carnarvon; War Secretary, George Hardy; Secretary of State for India, Marquis of Salisbury; Lord High Chancellor, Lord Cairns; Lord Privy Seal, Earl of Malmesbury; Lord President of the Council, Duke of Richmond; Lord John Manners, Postmaster-General. It is stated that Mr. Gladstone's intention in raising his war secretary, Mr. Caldwell, to the peerage, was in order to keep an eye on the Duke of Richmond, and be a thorn in his side during debates in the House of Lords on war matters. Probably Mr. Disraeli, fancied as much, for while in former times the Duke was made war secretary, that office in the above list has been conferred on Mr. Gathorne Hardy a member of the Commons, and the Duke made President of the Council.

On Friday, 13th inst., the presentation of the prizes for 1873, awarded in the Carleton Place High and Public schools took place in the Town Hall. In the afternoon, the pupils marched in procession from the School house to the Hall, those of each department being under the guidance of their Teacher. We can assure those who missed seeing the procession that they missed a treat, as it was really a fine sight to see nearly four hundred children with their bright, cheerful faces, marching along in so orderly a manner.

After the Hall had been filled by the scholars and their parents, the prizes were handed to the successful pupils accompanied by a few remarks in each case by R. Bell Esq., Chairman of the Board of Trustees. At the conclusion the children separated for their homes, those who had secured prizes, evidently feeling very proud of them, and the others well pleased at the success of their companions, but apparently determined to lay claim to some of the much coveted books at the next distribution.

COUNCIL MEETING.
Carleton Place, Feb. 18, 1874.
The council met pursuant to adjournment. Present, the Reeve and councillors, Taylor, Gram and Morphy. Minutes of last meeting were read and laid over for amendment.
Mr. Gram gave notice that he will at this meeting of council introduce a by-law for the appointment of an Inspector of Tavern and Shop Licenses for the year 1874.
The following applications for tavern licenses were read—From Geo. A. Cornell, N. Lavallee, James Lee, Joseph Wilson, Wm Kelly, Duncan McIntosh, Thomas Warren, Mrs. McKeel, and for shop licenses, Alex. Sibbit, Robert Waugh, and George Warren.
Mr. Gram moved, seconded by Mr. Taylor, that the by-law for the appointment of Tavern and Shop license Inspector for the year 1874 be now introduced and read a first time, and that rule 32 be suspended for that purpose—Carried.
Mr. Taylor moved, seconded by Mr. Morphy, that the by-law for the appointment of a tavern and shop license Inspector for 1874 be now brought up and read a second time, and that the first blank be filled with the name of Mr. David Findlay, and that the second blank be filled with the amount of two dollars per day, and that the third blank be filled with two hundred dollars—Carried.

THE GOOSEBERRY & CURRANT WORM: HOW TO DESTROY IT.
Many persons attach great importance to the cultivation of the larger fruits, such as the apple, pear, plum, &c., while the small fruits are almost if not entirely neglected. This is a great mistake, as the small fruits may be relied on for a crop, when the large kinds often fail. We know of no fruit trees that will yield a greater crop for a small amount of space bested, than the currant and gooseberry; and if they were not so common and easily cultivated, there can be little doubt that they would be more highly esteemed. This is especially the case with respect to the currant.

The greatest enemy of these fruits is the green caterpillar or currant worm. Like many of our insect pests, it is said to have been imported from Europe, and it seems to be yearly becoming more troublesome, of a larger size, and more voracious. In a very short time it strips the trees of their foliage, leaving the fruit exposed, in which state it soon perishes. In some localities the evil has become so serious that it is difficult to find a lot of trees that are not devastated by this pest. Thus it is that many persons, after repeated attempts to banish this caterpillar, have finally become discouraged, and given up the cultivation of the currant and gooseberry.

Various remedies have been proposed. We think, however, there is none so efficient and simple as White Hellebore, a powder to be obtained at the druggists for about 30 cents per pound. Some persons may be aware of this being a specific for the currant worm, and yet not have any definite idea how to apply it. We will therefore give plain directions for its use, the results of our own practice.

Three large heaped tablespoonful of powder to a patent pail of soft water, being about a spoonful to the gallon, will be found sufficient. Let this be well stirred occasionally for ten or twelve hours, and then pour off the clear liquid into a watering pot with a fine rose; and so soon as the worms appear on the bushes, sprinkle them with the prepared liquid sufficiently to wet all the leaves. Evening is the best time to do this; and if you walk round and examine your trees on the following morning, you will have the satisfaction of finding the pests all dead or dying underneath them. If you wish to prepare your liquid more quickly, you can expedite the process by pouring scalding water on the powder, as in making tea. We do not waste the grounds or sediment, but put it in a bowl and have it over the fire with water and the hand. None need be afraid of poison in the use of the above. Many substances, harmless to man, are destructive to insects. Oil of turpentine, though it may be used with impunity by man, is deadly to an insect. The rains and dew take away its injurious influence away from the fruit; and there are few persons who cook gooseberries or Currants without first washing them. When this precaution is taken, every vestige and trace of Hellebore will be removed.

Dr. Isaac Bell, member for Limerick in the new Parliament, in addressing a meeting of the Home Rule Association at Dublin said there would be 83 supporters of the movement in the Parliament, and expressed his opinion that Disraeli's Government would not last beyond three sessions.

By a majority of 49 to 14 the Ontario Legislature passed an unimpeachable condemnation of the system of subjecting Bank Stocks to Municipal Taxation. The question was debated with considerable ability on both sides, but the result from the commencement of the debate could not be doubtful.

General Morison, finding the Carlist forces round Bilbao stronger than he anticipated, has retired, and Bilbao has sent a deputation to the besiegers to negotiate for a capitulation.

The English election returns being now completed, the House of Commons stands as follows:—Conservatives, 348; Liberals and Home Rulers, 302.
