Boer Meetings Being Held to Receive Explanations.

The General Outlook Considered Favorable-Mounts Shipped for Third Regiment of Fourth Contingent.

London, May 2 (6 a.m.)-Distinct confirmation is given this morning to the belief that events in South Africa are shaping themselves towards an early peace. The Standard correspondent in Pretoria says the predominant feeling among the burghers who have consulted is in favor of peace, but at the same time he anticipates that an intractable and irreconcilable minority may declare itself at the Vereeniging meeting. Mr. Bennett Burleigh makes t plain that the pourparlers were unlertaken by the Boer delegates in good faith. He learns that Dewet has at last recognized the hopelessness of a further resistance, and is communicating the facts of the situation to his men in the most straightforward man-

It is understood that the heated discussions which have occurred have usually shown that the majority are in favor of peace. J. Balfour, had announced that the officials of the White Star Line did not appear to have violated their contract with the British admiralty, Russell Rea (Radical), a ship-owner and merchant, moved the adjournment of the house in order to discuss the matter, which was of urgent public importance. A few members having spoken of tre very great anxiety experienced throughout the country as a result of the formation of a combine of such strength and character as the Ameri-

He quite appreciated the importance of the subject, and the desire of the members to discuss it, but no useful purpose could be served by a debate now. The government had been privately informed regarding the actions of private individuals, and it was giv-

The government would be bound to make such arrangements with regard to the navy as the proposed changes might necessitate; but regarding the effect of the combinawhat should be done to meet it, no announcement of its policy could be made except after prolonged and anxious consideration of the complicated problem. Under the present arrangements the subsidized ships remain in the service of the admiralty for another two years and the government would be much blamable if in the interim it could not either negotiate a continuance of the existing arrangements or make others equally serviceable to the admiralty and the counnot propose on the spur of the mo-

Sir James Woodhouse (Liberal) disclaimed all antipathy to or ill-feeling for Americans; but, he asserted, British maritime and mercantile interests were menaced by the Americans, who had already captured the British shoe

A third table sets down the total amount borrowed at £159,000,000, the grant an appropriation to Capt. Bercash proceeds of which are stated at SITUATION IN RUSSIA.

It now develops that the agitators, who are chiefly responsible for the spread of the revolutionary movement among the hungry peasants in South Russia, used a curious political canard to bring the former serfs and the land-owners into collision. A rumor was circulated that the czar had ordered the lands of the nobles to be divided among the emancipated serfs. The peasants thereupon formed comwhich waited on the land-owners and ordered them to vacate the land withown agents and proceeded to distribute the land and movables, leaving the noblemen from 15 to 20 acres each. Immigration Act Read Third Time-Government Will Begin Morning Sessions on Monday.

Ottawa, May 1.- The House of Commons dealt with two important matters today, namely, the amendment offered by Mr. Bourassa respecting the unfairness of the embargo on Canadian cattle in Great Britain, and the proposed expedition by Captain Bernier to the North Pole. Sir Wilfrid's motion to have morning sessions begin on Monday was carried.

THE IMMIGRATION ACT. Mr. Sifton's bill to amend the immigration act was read a third time. Mr. E. F. Clarke read a letter from Mr. Watchorn, the American immigration agent at Montreal, stating that during April the rejections of his office would be about sixty persons. At the very moment he was writing there were one hundred awaiting admission to the United States, every one of whom had been refused passage to the United States by bona fide lines, and the lines that sent them had refused them tickets until they changed their destination to points in Canada. He approved of Mr. Sifton's bill. Mr. larke contended that there should be definite instructions given to immigration agents in Europe to prevent Canada being made a

Mr. Sifton said if the physicians in the Montreal hospitals, in their replies to his official inquiry, had neglected the outdoor patients he would be very much surprised. It was intended to take all the powers covered by the bill. As to the specific statements in the letter he would make immediate inquiries. NORTH POLE EXPEDITION. On motion to go into supply, Mr. Charlton urged that the government nier in aid of his proposed expedition to the north pole. Mr. Charl-ton proceeded to recount the record of polar expeditions, concluding with those of Peary and Baldwin, who, he feared, might succeed in reaching the pole before Bernier got there. Bernier was admirably fitted for the task of commanding a polar expedition. He was of the race of LaSalle, and had the courage and perseverance to get to the north pole if the government would give him the necessary assistance. In the course of his references to Capt. Bernier's mittees under the commune officials, qualifications, he mentioned that he was 50 years of age, had commanded a vessel at the age of 17, had been held from the peasants, chose their master of 46 ships and never lost but one, and had crossed the Atlantic 174 times. His plan was to proceed by way of Bering Straits and sail north till he encountered the ice pack. He would enter the ice pack between 170 and 175 degrees west longitude, drift with it to within 150 miles of the pole. During the voyage he would at intervals send out sledge parties A MODERN LADY GODIVA.

Besides, he would use a new instrument, contrived to point in the direction of a similar instrument, so that the parties would al-ways know the direction of each other and the bearing of the ship. As for the expense, Capt. Bernier had secured subscriptions of $20,000, and would require $100,000. Mr. Charlton

Bernier, which personally he felt deserved recognition. RHODES FEARED THE PRINCESS

Only Woman Who Ever Influenced Him.

His Worry Over Radziwill's Doings Said to Have Hastened His

London, May 2.—The morning papers comment on the remarkable career and the personality of Princess Radziwill. They generally attributed Mr. Rhodes' death to the worry she caused him and to the fact that he was obliged to return to South Africa in the hottest weather to fight this case. In a sketch of the princess the Daily Telegraph says that Mr. Rhodes lived in almost comic terror of her. His house was always open, says the paper, and his notions of hospitality did not permit him to deny his door to anyone. As a result Princess Radzi-will as a frequent, but unwelcome

The Daily Chronicle describes the princess as probably the only woman who ever obtained the least influence over Rhodes. Cape Town, May 2.-During the address by the attorney-general, Princess Radziwill drummed angrily on the desk with her fingers and was continually engaged in writing notes and tearing them up. Counsel for the defense, in addressing the jury, denied fraudulent intent on the part of his client and dwelt on the unrevealed mysteries behind the case He appealed to the jury on the ground that nobody had suffered by the frauds, and said that a verdict of guilty would be equivalent to hanging the princess to the nearest tree, for then every door in Europe would in the future be closed against her.

DAVOS CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Description of Life at the Famous Swiss Resort.

How the Inroads of the Disease Have Been Checked by Modern Methods of Treatment.

Davos, the Swiss mountain resort for lung troubles, has gone through many changes since strangers first began to visit it almost forty years ago, but through them all it has retained its place as the leading resort of its kind in Europe. For ten years, from 1860 to 1870, Davos was only visited in summer, as McDonald was yesterday awarded a are most of the Alpine stations today. Verdict of $5,000 against the City Elec-Then it was suggested that the cold tric Railway. McDonald had both winter months, when wind and rain feet mangled in alighting from a car were unknown and the deep snow covered up all dust and all sources of dampness, would be still more beneficial to those who sought pure, clear air and a stimulating climate. Trial proved this belief to be right, and the winter cure was so much more successful than the summer one that a reaction came, lasting for about twenty years, during which Davos was only visited in the winter. Lately a third change has come, and the winter and summer seasons are both felt to have their value. Most of the doctors insist upon the importance of patients being continuously under their care, to avoid the many setbacks which used to occur when they til cured. Besides these there is an influx during the three finest winter months, of visitors, who come mainly to enjoy the sports of skating, tobogganing, skeeing, and sleighing, and, incidentally, to benefit from the perfect climate. In round figures, Davos equal number of Germans, 3,000 Eng-

As late as the days when Robert Louis Stevenson, and John Addington Symonds were there, Davos was only a small village, or, rather, two small villages, called "Dorf" and "Platz," situated in the same cuplike valley and separated by perhaps a mile of fields in the summer and snow-drifts furs from head to foot. in the winter. The cure consists practically in constant attention to three thingsair, rest and food. For the first, Davos is exceptionally favored, not only by its altitude of 5,000 feet, but by its splendidly sheltered situation. The valley in which it lies is surrounded thousand feet higher than the valley itself, and even on the fourth side, where the railroad enters, there is a by using the power of two mountain and determs of the victor depends, and a plan is under consideration as splendid proof of the victor ation to abandon all fuel in Davos, and a ble disease.—H. REST SECOND REQUISITE. The second requisite of the cure is rest, and the amount of exercise allowed is strictly ordered and enforced by the doctors, especially in the sanatoriums. Patients are encouraged to do as much as their condition permits, but the first tendency on getting better, especially under the exhilarating effect of the mountain air, is to overexert one's self and to suffer in consequence. A daily walk, at least, is the rule for the majority, and the winter months are full of sports and social activities is which all but the seriously ill participate.

Still, many hours a day must be spent resting on the lounges on their so balconies by those who strictly obey the doctor's orders or "play the game for all it is worth," as it is called at Davos. These are the ones who go away cured, but many do not "play the game" at all nor give themselves a chance to come out a winner in the fight. Leaving their homes and countries to come to Davos and then lacking the strength of character to lead the life that is ordered for them, they undo the good gained each day in the foul air of overcrowded rooms at night.

Just about a year ago I came down in the train from Davos with a young German girl who was leaving the sanatoriums after a year's treatment, and a more perfect picture of health than she was, with her rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes, and every movement full of life and vitality, could not be imagined. When the train where it was necessary to change cars for Zurich, the sun was setting, there was a chill in the air, the wind blew sharply, and there was a general move among the passengers to put on coats and wraps. While her father and mother sought a sheltered corner until the other train arrived, the young girl, the once delicate consumptive, seemed the only one quite unconscious of the a splendid proof of the victory that has been attained over the once incur-

WEPT OVER WRONG CORPSE. Springfield, Mass., May 1.-Miss Agnes Rogan, 18 years of age, a handsome and well-known young woman of this city, died suddenly of heart disease at a performance in the New Gilmore Theater. Immediately afterward her body was identified by George W. Summers as that of his wife Bertha. The grief-stricken husband placed his arms about the cold form, rained kisses on the unresponsive face and called to his loved one to come back to life. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Holmes, the parents of Mrs. Summers, and their two daughter arrived soon after, and they, too, were positive the dead woman was their Bertha. The grief of the family was pathetic as they gathered around the bed in which the body lay in a room of the Hotel Gilmore, adjoining the theater. The transports of sorrow

CHICAGO CATTLEMEN WERE IN UGLY MOOD

Dwindling Orders Left Them With Many Cattle on Their Hands

Chicago, May 1, - When the pretense of cattle buying ended at the stock yards yesterday 10,000 cattle remained in the pens unsold. In 20 years such a number has not been left over. The buyers of the packers told the commission men and shippers that until the people commenced again to eat meat they would purchase only the cattle necessary to fill the dwindled butcher orders. No animals, they said, would be put into the coolers. The bottom instantly dropped out of the cattle market, and the hog and sheep markets tumbled in sympathy. The price of cattle fell from 15 to 25 cents on the hundredweight; that of hogs 10 and 15 cents, and that of sheep about 10 cents. At these reduced prices the packers divided about 8,000 cattle among themselves. Having supplied their immediate needs they refused to bid further and left the pens The angry shippers charged that they were the victims of a conspiracy. They declared that the packers had deliberately trapped them into shipping by offering high prices, and that having got the live stock within reach they had purposely plotted to break the market. The cattle left over will go "stale" in trade parlance, and under the best conditions will sell much lower than the market price. Absolute proof of the existence of at least three agreements betwen the packing concerns included in the beef trust was obtained by United States District Attorney Bethea. Backed by documentary proofs the evidence will be among the strongest yet produced and the hardest for the attorneys of the meat companies to combat. The pacts entered into are referred to as "cartage," "credit," and "railroad," the last of which is said to be in violation of the interstate commerce Copies of these agreements are in the hands of the government representative, and will be used in its case to show the methods of the combine. Former employes of the various packing companies have already given Bethea valuable evidence and will be on hand if called upon to give testimony regarding these agree-because of the advance in the prices of meats. Some of the letters stated that the writers would blow up the packing houses. Other letter writers have made milder threats. "Beware the fate of McKinley" is one favorite phrase used by the authors of the letters.

BIG HOTEL THIEF NABBED BY POLICE.

One of the Cleverest Creoks in the Country-$2,000 Worth of Plunder in His Room.

New York, May 2.-Frank O. Von Weslak, arrested for robbing a patron of the Grand Union Hotel, is believed by Capt. Titus to be one of the most expert, as well as dangerous hotel thieves in the country. Von Weslak police think crimes of a more serious nature than robbery may be traced to him. His picture has been sent to Chicago, from which city he recently cago authorities are heard from. In his room were found a heavy bludgeon, besides other criminal instruments. Von Weslak, when arrested, fought the detectives, endeavoring to get hold of the bludgeon. He was overcome with great difficulty.

Capt. Titus was notified Monday by the proprietor of the Grand Union Hotel that a room occupied by a musician was entered by a thief by means of false keys. From the room was taken jewelry valued at $1,500, clothing valued at $300 and money to the value The proprietor of the hotel was without suspicion, believing that the thief was in no manner connected with the house. Capt. Titus sent Detective Sergeants Duggan and Kinsler to work on the case. They closely questioned all hotel employes, and immediately suspected a window-washer named Von Weslak. The detectives went at once to 212 East Twenty-fifth street, where Von Weslak was known to have a room. A search there convinced them they had made no mistake. They found a large amount of jewelry, some of much tickets. Packed in a box was a large name of New York and Chicago hotels. When questioned by Capt. Titus, he practically admitted his guilt. He said he had been in New York only a few weeks, coming here from Chicago. There he had worked at the Great Northern Hotel, Leland House and the Carlton. All these hotels had been Hobbled Six Years Cured in Six Weeks of Chronic Rheumatism by Ferrozone.

Hundreds, aye thousands of cures have been put on the market for Rheumatism during the past few years, but a remedy with power to cure Chronic Rheumatism, Ferrozone excepted, in the estimation of Mr. Cullen, of Sturgeon Bay, does not exist.

Mr. Cullen says, "As everyone knows, I have been simply tortured for years with Muscular Rheumatism, not the ordinary kind that bothers most people, but the kind that ties one up so they can't move.

"For six years I hobbled about like a cripple, unable to move without crutches and canes. I used quantities of medicines, special baths and so forth, but they didn't help me very much.

"On the advice of a Presbyterian minister I used Ferrozone, gave it a good trial at first and when I saw it was helping, I bought six boxes and took one tablet at the close of each meal. I am perfectly cured and am today as spry as a youngster of ten. I am convinced that my recovery is entirely due to the marvelous action of Ferrozone.'

Mr. Cullen's case is a fair example of the kind of cures that Ferrozone is effecting every day. In severe cases Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism and Lumbago, it acts with surprising alacrity, and no case is recorded where it failed.

Ferrozone cures these diseases because it is a solvent for uric acid in the blood. It removes all traces of it and other poisons from the blood in from two to ten days. Then it builds up and invigorates the system, and makes weak, sickly people strong and well enough to resist and ward off disease.

The best Rheumatism remedy that one can buy is Ferrozone. It relieves quickly and cures so perfectly that the disease never again returns. After all other remedies fail, it cures, and that is the sort of medicine you want. Ferrozone price 50c per box, or three boxes for $1 25. Sent to your address by mail be unusually small. The School Book Ring.

"The School Book Ring" is a sounding phrase and rolls trippingly off the tongues of Opposition spell-bind-Mr. Whitney, who never paints his platform pictures in half-tones, talks about the "School Book Barons" and the fine houses they are building with money squeezed out of the parents of school children. To investigate charges of this kind, the Government in 1897 appointed a royal commission, consisting of Edward Morgan, junior judge of the county of York; James Bain, librarian of the Toronto Public Library, and C. B. Robinson, president of the Westminster Publishing Company. Referring to the public school readers the report of the commission states that "a careful inquiry into the cost of publication, and an examination of the make-up of each book and ple. the testimony of witnesses qualified to judge as to the material and workmanship employed, has satisfied us that the readers are of excellent and Assuming that it takes ten years to complete the public school course, the average per pupil each year is 57 cents. Perhaps no better nor more conclus-Ive answer can be given to the "school book monopoly" charge than the following excerpt from the report of the royal commission, the members of which are too widely and favorably known to be maligned by opponents of the Government:

"The contracts with the Government under which the various school books are published, contain certain provisions entitling the Department of Education to make arrangements with other publishers on similar terms for publication of the same books, so that there cannot be a monopoly; in fact, some of these books are published under those agreements by more than one publisher, but competition has not reduced price, showing that the original price was not excessive. Great care has also been taken to provide that the material used and workmanship employed in the manufacture of each book shall be of excellent quality and kind, and we have much pleasure in reporting that the publishers have lived up to their contracts in that respect, and that the various books published by them are excellent as to paper, printing and binding, very durable and of very attrac-

Fix the Holiday.

The 24th of May falls on a Saturday, but a Saturday holiday would be strongly opposed by the retail merchants and business men generally. It would also mean the loss of the Saturday market. The celebration should be on Monday, May 26, and the City Council should fix the date at once, so that the public may make its arrangements. The matter should not be left to the last moment, as in the case of the King's birthday last year.

No Prince of Canada.

At the banquet of the Imperial Institute at London Wednesday evening Hon. Henry Copeland, representing New South Wales, suggested that the three sons of the Prince of Wales should have the titles of Princes of Canada, of Australia and of South Africa, and the daughter, Princess of

New Zealand. It is surprising that any colonial public man should propose anything so silly on a serious occasion. It looks as if hobnobbing with dukes and belted earls, and breathing the atmosphere of London society had turned Mr. Copeland's head a little. There is some historic significance in a title such as the "Prince of Wales," but a Prince the battle of Waterloo. of Canada would be an anachronism and a jest. It would be too suggestive of personal rule and leading strings for the democratic spirit of this country. Canadians yield to none in attachment to the crown, but they are not hankering after a Prince of their

An Attempt to Deceive.

Some good Conservative, perhaps in missionary spirit, has sent us a copy of the Opposition campaign book which is intended to be the arsenal for orators and editors in the present political warfare. The pamphlet purports to set forth the "Record and Platform of the Conservative Opposition," though we do not see why this should occupy 62 closely-printed pages, when the essence of the party's policy contained in the headline, "Time for a Change." We were prepared for an ex-parte presentation of the issues of the campaign, but we hardly looked for so many downright misstatements. A typical example of these is given on page 17. We quote this par-

A Long Outstanding Account.

[New York Herald.] Who talks about "the law's delay?" A special cable from London to this morning's Herald chronicles the fact that the Court of Chancery has just sent a check for the equivalent of $475 to a Regent street firm for wine supplied to a client in 1816, the year after All the original participants have long gone to their last account, but firm still exists and has received the check. Assuming that this $475 represents the claim with interest at three per cent compound, it would appear that the original bill rendered must have been $35.

The moral is, Don't let your debts run too long, or perhaps it is, Keep out of chancery. Our special refers to "Jarndyce and Jarndyce," but, after all, chancery can't be quite so bad as it is painted, else after 86 years the lawyers wouldn't have left enough of the estate to pay that wine bill. By this, however, we mean no reflection on the absorptive skill of the British lawyer, for the estate may have been a very large one, and our special does not say how much of it

Municipalities Safeguarding Their Interests.

Amendments to Canadian Northern Telegraph Company's Bill Proposed -Matter Goes to a Sub-Committee.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., May 2.-The cities of Canada are cutting a greater figure at Ottawa this year than ever before. The Association of Municipalities has been heard a dozen times in defense of the rights and privileges of cities, which were heretofore given without question or opposition to companies. The Canadian Northern Telegraph Company, which is to operate in connection with the MacKenzie & Mann railways, and also do a general telegraph and telephone business in all parts of Canada, asked this morning that the railway committee approve of their charter. Mr. E. F. Clarke, M.P., objected that this charter would give the company power to enter any town, use the streets, and do a local business without the consent of the municipalities. He asked for an amendment which would compel the company to obtain the consent of cities and municipali-

Mr. Z. A. Lash, for the company, pointed out that if the permission of countless municipalities had to be obtained the company would be blocked in its operations.

Finally the representatives of the municipalities and the company, on the suggestion of Hon. Mr. Blair, consented to amendments which would make the railway committee of the Privy Council the arbitrator of disputes on rights and rates. Mr. Tarte said that Montreal and other cities had to be protected from monopolies with great privileges. The Bell Telephone Company he used as an instance of a condition to be avoided. The bill was referred to a sub-committee to draw an amendment embodying the spirit of the suggestion.

The Wrong Idea of the Nerves.

The Action of the Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys Dependent on the Nerve Force== Extraordinary Results From the Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There is not a single organ of the numan body that can perform its functions without a liberal supply of nerve force—the motive power of the body. The nervous system should never be thought of as a separate part of the body. Its branches extend from the brain and the spinal column to the tips of the fingers and the toes. Just as the blood is carried by the arteries to every nook and corner of the system, so the nerve force, by means of nerve fibres, is distributed, and nerve force is just as important to life as is good, rich blood.

When the nerve cells are wasted by over-exertion, worry or disease, more rapidly than they are replaced, the action of the heart become slower, the lungs begin to weaken, the stomach fails to do its duty, the liver and kidneys falter in their work as filters, and the excretory organs get feeble and inactive. You may be a sufferer from weakness and exhaustion of the nerves, and may have been attributing the trouble to the stomach, kidneys or azines. other organs. Nervous exhaustion is marked by restlessness, disturbed sleep, languid, weary feelings, head-features of peculiarly timely interest ache, dyspepsia and bodily pains, inability to concentrate the thoughts, absent-mindedness, weakened memory, twisting of the muscles and eyelids, sudden startings and jerking of the limbs in sleep, dizziness, irritability and gloomy forebodings.

Through the medium of the nervous system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food carries new life and energy to every organ of the body. It strengthens the action of the heart, invigorates the stomach, makes the kidneys, liver and bowels more active, and builds up the entire

If you experience any of the symptoms of nervous exhaustion, you can rely absolutely on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to cure you. It does not stimulate, but thoroughly cures by forming new red corpuscles in the blood and creating nerve force. Mr. E. Rosevear, a retired school teacher, of 2 Markham Place, Toronto,

Literary Notes.

Edmund Gosse contributes to the May number of the Century Magazine a paper on the poet Swinburne, which is in its nature a small critical biography dealing with the successes and failures of the poet's career. The Century contains also a full-page portrait of Swinburne, drawn from life in 1886, when he was at the height of his literary activity. Among the twenty-five articles in the May Atlantic Monthly is one by John Corbin, author of an American at Oxford, entitled "The Modern Chivalry." This contribution is the first of a series of papers on outdoor life, and is apropos of the time of the year. The author eulogizes the modern passion for field sports, and defends them, and likens the outdoor amusements of the day to the jousts and tourneys of the middle ages, or the Olympian sports of old Greece. The menu arranged by the editors of Success for the May number contains a long list of wholesome dishes spiced with admiration and good cheer. Success has no sympathy with pessimism, but flings far and wide, the essence of optimism, which, in a large measure is responsible for its spirit-stirring qualities. The opening article in the May number is entitled the "Return to the Soil," by Rebecca Harding Davis, Israel Zangwill writes on "What Have the Hebrews Accomplished?" Ellen Terry gives some advice to stage-struck girls in a paper entitled "An American Girl's Possibilities as an Actress." Professor Charles F. Thwing contributes an article that should be read by every college man in the country. It is entitled "Should a College Student Be a Student?" Success is one of the best ten cent mag-

There are several notable pictorial and also others of an artistic flavor in the magazine number of The Outlook for May. In the first class may be named that describing District Attorney Jerome's official home on the East Side of New York, and that on the King of Spain, who this month becomes King in act as well as in name, by General Stewart L. Woodford, formerly United States minister Spain. Art and music are respectively represented by an article on the great Spanish painter, Sorolla, written by one of his pupils and illustrated by reproductions of paintings and original sketches, and by a thoughtful critical and personal article on the work of Greig by Daniel Gregory Mason. Western interests and commercial interests are brought to the front in Mr. Ray Stannard Baker's "The Commerce of the Great Lakes," which is as well informed as it is readable, and is made picturesque by a dozen or more illustrations relating to the shipping and commerce of the Lakes. Articles relating to the spring season are, Mr. weak and nervous, and suffered so John Burroughs' little out-of-door esmuch from dizziness, that I found it say and poem called "A Spray of Arnecessary to begin treatment of some butus," and Mr. J. HERE'S A GENTLEMAN. In my opinion the most admirable quality in a man is manliness. The manly man makes no parade of his superiority—he does the right because it is right. He is thorough in all Wherever there is work to be done he is there in the thick of it, shoulder to shoulder with his fellows, ready and willing to take the heavy only to those he may meet in society, but to those of his own household. He treats them fairly and on a level as rational beings, possessed of common sense; not creatures whose hands and heart are fitted only for silly sentimentality. He has that inward tact and goodbreeding which enables him to adapt an unfair condition of affairs. He did himself to all circumstances. He is a just master or a loyal servant, accordhelping hand or speak a kind word, and not too fine for this rough and tumble world, but taking things as they come and making the best of them. Such a man earns the love and respect of all; he is a manly man, a gentleman in the broadest and best sense of the world .- Miss M. A. Fen-

THERE IS danger in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their troubles from exposure, followed by a cold which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the skill of the best physician. tial outside support, by furnishing the balance required, but now it appeared that he had only secured $20,000, and the government was asked to pay practically the whole cost. $100,000. The majority of those who had spoken were ready, apparently, to support and sustain the government if they gave $100,000, and the government could not be indifferent to the views presented. They would receive due consideration, and if after due consideration the government decided to make a grant he was sure the opposition would acquit them of extravagance.
Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition, indorsed what had been said in regard to the earnestness and ability of Captain Bernier. He would be inclined to give favorable consideration to such a proposal as that made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

CATTLE EMBARGO.

Mr. Bourassa's resolution regarding the cattle embargo was as follows: That evidence having been furnished to the British authorities that there is no justification for the application of 'the diseased cattle act of Great Brithouse regrets that the provisions of this act continue to be applied to Canadian cattle, thereby preventing the sale of Canadian animals in Britain on fair terms, and injuring the cattle trade of Canada in all foreign markets. That this house hopes the government of Canada will avail itself of the approaching imperial conference London to urge upon the British He is the man we in the emergencies government the removal of this unjust of life instinctively make way for; restriction on the admission our very contact with him lifts us adian cattle to Great Britain." restriction on the admission of Can-

The Hon. W. S. Fielding, in reply, stated that the subject to which Mr. Bourassa invited the attention of the house was one of recognized importance, and the terms of the motion such as he felt inclined to think would find favor on both sides of the house, inasmuch as complaint has been made for several years, and it has been well founded, that the regulations of the imperial government in relation to the cattle trade were unreasonable and unfair as respects Canadian cattle. The motion was a respectful remonstrance against what was felt to be not for one moment question the right of the imperial government to make ng to his station; ever ready to lend such regulations as may be deemed best in the interests of the people, and if it was avowed that the regulations had been imposed in order to restrict the importation of Canadian cattle, Canada would have no ground for entering any protest whatever, as that would be a matter for the judgment of the imperial authorities. But when the embargo was based upon the ground that disease was supposed to exist in Canadian cattle, that was altogether another affair. Against that he felt the government and the parliament of Canada might well protest in modest and respectful terms. The government have from time to time made every effort to bring about a better condition of affairs, and the minister of agriculture has done all within his power to impress upon the imperial government last thirty years. the importance of the matter. Under such circumstances the government felt there was no reason why, when the prime minister goes to England in connection with other matters, he should not have behind him this motion, supported, as he thought it would be, unanimously, by the House of Com-mons, to strengthen his hands in the effort to lead the imperial government to take a different view to that which t has in the past. The government accepted the motion in the spirit in which it had been offered, and trusted it would be productive of good.

After some discussion, in which Mr Borden (Halifax), Dr. Sproule and the Hon. Mr. Fisher participated, the amendment was adopted unanimously, and the house went into supply. The greater portion of the main estimates for the department of railways and canals having been passed, the committee rose, and the house adjourned at 1.30.

THE CAMPAIGN IN ONTARIO!

Hon. F. R. Latchford.

Two Liberals Placed in the Field at the Capital—Campaign Notes.

Arnprior, May 1 .- If enthusiasm and expressed appreciation count for anything, Hon. F. R. Latchford will surely carry South Renfrew by a large majority. The feeling is not confined to the Liberal party by any means, for reports from all parts of the riding inlic works has represented the constituency. Today's convention, though and at the extreme eastern end of the riding, brought a full delegation from each portion of it, full of vigor for the fight. After election of officers and routine business, resolutions of confidence in the governments of Right Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and of Hon. George

W. Ross were passed. A resolution of continued confidence in Hon. F. R. Latchford was carried, amid cheers. The resolution stated that 'the government of Hon. George W. Ross has no more valuable member than our worthy representative. In all that pertains to the general welfare important department intrusted to his | sistance. are he has shown admirable energy and judgment. In his doings with his constituents of the south riding he has been equally distinguished by readiness to attend to their wants without distinction of Liberal or Conservative, and by the never-failing courtesy that has always gone along with that attention. South Renfrew is proud to have as its representative so able a minister, and one whose character, ability, courtesy, and straightforwardness give him so prominent and so enviable a position among the public men of the province. This convention would therefore heartily express its renewed confidence in R Latchford." Sympathy was expressed to Hon. George W. Ross, through a motion of the Killaloe representative, on account of his recent bereavement. Hon. Mr. Latchford was asked to convey the same to the premier. When nominations were called for, Mr. David Barrow, Renfrew, nominated Hon. F. R. Latchford, and the nomination was seconded by Mr. Thos. ain to the cattle of Canada, this Daley, of Hagarty. There was no other name mentioned, and the result was received with ringing cheers. There was another outburst of applause when Mr. Latchford took the platform to express his thanks for the evidence of renewed confidence. Mr. Latchford made an able address, dealing especially with Ontario finances, and won the close attention and hearty applause of the great gathering.

OTTAWA LIBERAL NOMINATIONS Ottawa, May 1 .- At a convention of Liberals tonight Mr. Alex. Lumsden and Mr. D'Arcy Scott were selected as the Protestant and Irish Catholic candidates respectively for the city. Nominations for the Irish Catholic candidate were first called for. Only two nominations were received. Mr. Samuel Bingham and Mr. D'Arcy Scott. A ballot being taken, Mr. Scott received 94 votes and Mr. Bingham 92. There was one ballot not marked, and Mr. Scott, although a delegate, did not vote. Mr. Scott was then declared the choice of the con-

For the Protestant candidacy Messrs. Alex. Lumsden, the retiring Liberal member for Ottawa: Mr. Levi Crannell and Mr. W. E. Brown were nominated. Mr. Crannell withdrew. Before taking a ballot upon the remaining two names Mr. Laggatt stated that he understood Mr. Lumsden had, late that afternoon, sent a letter to the executive declining to accept nomination from the con-

Edward Devlin, who proposed Mr. umsden, reminded the that a week ago the latter announced before a public meeting of Liberals hat he was in the field to stay. Some of the delegates called for the production of the letter, but a majority decided to proceed with the ballot. The result was that Mr. Lumsden secured a preponderating vote over Mr. Brown. The former was accordingly chosen as the second candidate. Mr. Gordon Henderson, who nominated Mr. Bingham, intimated that he had no authority from the latter binding him to adhere to the convention's decision respecting the Irish Catholic nomination.

After the convention had adjourned t was stated by Mr. Bingham's friends that he did not consider himself bound by the convention's action, and intended to seek election. NOTES.

Ald. James Banwell has been elected chairman of the Third Ward Liberal Association, Windsor.

James Edgar, of Sundridge, Conservative candidate in Parry Sound, has announced himself in favor of prohibition. In the past several provincial elections, municipal clerks, except in towns and titled to be appointed deputy returning cities, were by virtue of their office enofficers, but the law has been amended and they are not now necessarily entitled to be appointed deputy returning officers.

The Ontario Liberal Association, Mr. Alexander Smith, secretary, 34 Victoria street, have issued a neat little pamphlet setting forth the planks in the platform of the Ross government, and showing in what position the province would now find itself if the Opposition had had its own way during the last thirty years.

LIFE SAVING MADE EASIER

Invention of Capt. Andres to Take People From Wrecks.

Line-Carrying Projectile Enables Men on Shore to Get Rope to Imperiled Craft Quickly.

ships is made more speedy and certain by a device invented by Captain W. L lot of Hartz Mountain canary ing station. The new invention, which makes possible the prompt shooting of a life line over a wreck, no matter how dark the night, was tested last evening. The old style projectile a sort of a steel rocket is fired. During its flight it leaves a long, bright trail of colored fire, which will make it easy to get the exact range of a wreck after two or three attempts. Several other improve-South Renfrew Liberals wame ments on the present system are made.

TEST A COMPLETE SUCCESS. The test was a complete success. The projectile was charged with red, white and blue powder, and the flight from the cannon was marked by the trail of light. The powder burned for 35 seconds, much longer than is necessary, as the shot is spent in a fraction of that time. Covering the powder holes is a flat disk, which is uncoupled-from the shell by the concussion of firing. The charge in the cannon ignites the slow burning powder in the shell through the medium of four small openings in the disk. At the same time this is done the disk flies to one side, leaving the rocket powder, which is packed into the four holes, exposed.

IMPROVEMENT LONG SOUGHT. The inventor thinks his device means the ultimate displacement of the conventional life-line shot. The problem of eliminating certain objectionable features connected with the projectile now held in a very busy season for farmers, in use throughout the world has been made the subject of study among inventors for many years. In the manner of rendering aid to ships in distress in vogue now, shot after shot often is fired from shore without conveying knowledge to a crew that efforts are being made to effect their rescue. In the darkness there is often no clew to the exact whereabouts of the distressed craft, and as a consequence shots with life line attached are fired at random. Though the projectiles may pass close to the spars of the vessel, the crew knows nothing of it because of the heavy sea and strong wind which drown the whirr of the he has been conspicuous by the ener-getic ability with which he has done his part. In the management of the miss the position of a boat needing as-

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT MADE. The shank that throws off the disk from the breach of the shell in Captain Andres' invention is the same agency that is utilized to overcome an obstacle in the old shot, which greatly lessens the range and hindered accurate aim. That the shot may lead ahead of the line in its flight through the air it is necessary for the device now in use to turn over once, for, before firing, the end which projects from the mouth of the cannon is the one to which the life line is attached. In reversing its position while in the air the shot loses momentum. In the new invention this is overcome by a shank which opens from a grove in the side of the shot and allows the life line to trail after it without changing its course through the air. In daylight a whistle will take the at night, and it is expected that this will be of value in fogs.

THE NATIONAL BIRD OF GUATEMALA

It is the Quetzal and is Said to Prefer Death to Captivity.

The Republic of Guatemala decorates its coat of arms, its stamps and its official documents with the picture of a beautiful parrot. The bird is of a rich green color, with tufted head and eaten. a long tail, which frequently grows to a length of four or five feet. It is found only in the forests of Guatemala. The green parrot or quetzal, as it is called, has been made the national emblem of Guatemala, just as the American eagle has become the national emblem of the United States.

The Guatemalans are very proud of their national bird, and have written many songs and poems about it. The parrot was selected for the national emblem, because it was found very hard to catch, and because tradition says that when once imprisoned, it always kills itself rather than remain in captivity.

The Guatemalans say that this bird which so skillfully eludes capture and dies rather than surrender, is typical of their own country and its people The quetzal lives in the wildest parts of the mountains, and never visits the neighborhood of the towns or cities. The only parrot ever brought out of the forests are caught by the native Indians.

The parrots are too wary to b caught in a trap. The Indians first watch the parrot sometimes for days at a time, until they discover haunts. Then they smear the limbs of surrounding trees with thick glue. The parrot perches on the sticky limb and is held fast. The natives remove the birds from the limbs by the simple expedience of cutting off their

No parrot has ever been brought from its forest home alive. They struggle desperately when caught, and when they find they cannot escape they kill themselves, so it is declared. The natives say that the birds always commit suicide in the same way, by pecking at their breasts until the jugular vein is exposed. A final peck severs the artery and the bird bleed to death quickly. The quetzal dies, but never surrenders.

The green parrot stuffed, but with its feet missing, is to be found in natural history museums all over the world. But no one has ever succeeded in keeping a specimen alive in captivity.

THE TRAGEDY OF A WINDOW.

Murder of a Tame Canary by a Mouse

Led to Prompt Justice-Saloon keeper's Sermon on False Friendship With Object Lesson.

Across the wide front window of the little German saloon ran a sash curtain about three feet high. Originally it had been a bright green, but it had faded to a dirty yellow, fly-specked and spotted. Inside the floor was covered with sand, and behind the bar stood a big, fat, smiling German saloon-keeper, with a red face and a The saving of lives from wrecked huge yellow mustache. He had brought with him to this country a Andres, of the Jackson Park life-sav- and a great love for all kinds of animals and birds. "Bismarck," meanwhile jumped up through the British markets, and even-on the perch out of reach, and, cocking tually found it masquerading as chedhis head on one side, looked down at the intruder. The mouse kept on eating, and presently "Bismarck" recovering from his surprise, started to sing at the top of his voice. At the first note the mouse stopped eating and looked up. As the bird continued, it ran over to the outside edge of the cage, where it could get the best view of the singer, and sat up on its hind legs.

"Music sath charms," Herman quoted to himself with a smile. Presently the bird stopped singing, when the mouse immediately went back to its eating. Rheumatism is really a poison in the blood, and where there is poison there's disaster in a lesser or greater degreebut there's a cure.

South American Rheumatic Cure neutralizes the acid poison in the blood in a few hours, and hence relieves at once-the complete cure is effected a little more slowly, but surely. When the disease is of only a few years standing, not more than one to three days' time is required to effect a complete cure. When it has been present in the system for 10 or 15 years the acid poison has permeated the flesh and often the marrow of the bones. In such eases, relief is obtained at once, but a cure cannot be secured under two or three weeks. 92 For sale by C. McCallum & Co.

A Physicians Testimony

- For Labatt's Stout. Dear Sir :-Speaking from personal experience I can state that your Stout is excellent in building up the system-I was very much run down and was advised to use Labatt's Porter—this I have done for some time and I largely attribute to its effects my steady improvement in strength and weight. I deem it but justice to you, and it certainly is a pleasure to me, to add my testimony to its sterling qualities, and I gladly recommend your Stout as an excellent tonic and food in cases where such is required. THE MONTH'S FIRES.

During the month of April the firemen answered seventeen fire alarms, none of which were of serious consequence. Nine of them resulted in slight damage, six were chimney fires and two were false alarms. This has been a record month for the small amount of damage done. BARBERS' PRICES GO UP.

LABORERS ARE NOT ON STRIKE. The hodcarriers and laborers employed by Mr. John Hayman, contractor, to pull down a wall on Carling street, were asked last night, according to Mr. Hayman, to come to work an hour earlier. They made no objection at the time, but this morning resend to Nature a vivid account of a duel he saw between a hedgehog and a viper. The two enemies knew very well at first on the corner of King and Clarence streets, and induced a couple of the men working there to leave their work sight who was who, and eyed each other as if they knew a moment's inattention would be fatal. The viper was the first to get tired of gazing, and it began to glide away. Just then the hedgehog rushed for the viper's tail, and having nailed it fast with its teeth, it rolled itself up. The hedgehog was very careful, however, not to cut the tail off. The viper curled back and delivered furious assaults on its aggressor, wrestling and and join them. An Advertiser reporter asked one of the men what the trouble was, and was told there was nothing wrong. The rumor of a strike was unfounded, it was claimed.

AT WOODS' FAIR

Tremendous Crush of Buyers Throng Great Establishment.

Opportunity for Bargains New Presented Was Never Been Surpassed in London.

During yesterday and today a tremendous stir has been caused in local trade circles by the enterprise of Mr. J. C. Woods, of Woods' Fair. It has aroused the purchasing public as nothing has done before. His 5, 10 and 15cent sale has caught the public fancy. Naturally enough, because the people of London know the quality of goods sold at Woods' Fair and appreciate the chance to secure these goods at the absolutely astonishing prices-5, 10 and 15 cents.

There was a repetition this morning of the unusual and remarkable rush which was witnessed at Woods' Fair yesterday. Hundreds of people crushed about the store-a jostling, pushing, eager mass of buyers, all anxious to get their choice of the practically limitless array of bargains, whose top price was 15 cents. The unique spectacle was presented, of the store management being unable to get their clerks into the store without the very greatest difficulty; but immediately after they were in their places, the doors were thrust open and in a twinkling every department of the immense establish was thronged.

The plan upon which this noteworthy sale is worked is this: During the present week the top-notch price is 15 cents. Of course, no store on earth can keep up this pace for any length of time-not with goods which are worth in indisputable value 50 and 75 cents and more. So next week the highest price will be raised; it will be 25 cents instead of 15. It depends, -The mayor was out of town today. therefore, upon the people themselves, as to whether they want to benefit by the chance to buy for 15 cents what will cost 25 cents next week, and has in the past cost 75 cents or $1. At the same time, it should be remembered that there are thousands of articles selling at Woods' Fair for 5 and 10 conts-articles that are unquestionably worth several times those amounts -The regular monthly meeting of the | The people who have already secured some of these bargains, know best that this sale is an astonishing recordbreaker in the matter of remarkably high values for remarkably low prices; and needless to say, it is they who return again and again to supply themselves with the articles that are purchasable at the present prices. The window at Woods' Fair is the index to the sale for the following day. See a thing in the window today and you may buy it tomorrow-if you get there soon enough. That's the public's look-out, though, not Mr. Woods'. His clerks sell and sell as long as the goods demanded last, and those who These two last will be the features of the day. It will be a rare mous demand as there was yesterday and has been all today. It is possible for Mr. Woods to conduct such a sale largely because of the magnitude of his system of stores, when it is considered that in this system there are 32 establishments similar to the one in this city, the possibilities in the way of economical buy-ing by reason of the immense quantity bought will be realized. This, however, is only one consideration by means of which the present sale was made possible. At present it is not a question of selling, to make money, it is a question simply of selling, and the people have been decidedly quick mation, can be had at the secretary's in taking advantage of it.

Mr. Woods is the originator of the fancy fair form of catering to public necessities, and the present sale is the culmination of many years' experience of studying people's needs and supplying them in a satisfactory way.

The Toronto Globe this morning says: Mr. Whitney has repeatedly challenged the government to prosecute Mr. Pritchett for the offenses which it was alleged he had committed in West Elgin. It is one of the peculiar incidents of legislation that, no matter with what care a law is framed | United States, and vice versa, and no it is possible for offenders sometimes to escape by a careful and studied consideration of the law which they desire to evade. It appears that the affidavit which Mr. Whitney read in parliament, and which was made by Mr. Pritchett in the city of Detroit, was prepared by Conservative lawyers, who, no doubt, thoroughly understood the scope of the affidavit and the importance of protecting Mr. Pritchett, who for the time being was their client, against the consequences of any state-ments which he made. KAISER AND THE UNEMPLOYED. A noteworthy incident occurred recently when Emperor William, accompanied by some of his aids-de-camp, was returning from his customary ride in the Thiergarten to the old palace here. He noticed a group of the unemployed on the bridge in front of the palace, and after returning their salute looked closely at them and then beckoned to a police officer and sergeant. After speaking to them he again greeted the unemployed and went on his way. CONSERVATIVE CORRUPTION!

Premier Ross Turns the Tables on Mr. Whitney.

The Opposition's Record Recalled From the Pacific Scandal Down to Date.

Lindsay, May 1.-Liberalism in the Victorias received a great impetus tonight in the enthusiastic meeting adada for an offense committed in the dressed by Premier Ross in the interests of Mr. Newton Smale, candidate for the west riding. The Music Hall was unable to hold nearly all who sought entrance, and the enthusiasm displayed toward both the premier and statements not having been made in Mr. Smale foreshadows a favorable canada.

Wr. Smale foreshadows a favorable verdict on election day. Mr. Ross, who is daily warming to the exigencles of the campaign, was in his best form, and as he reviewed the successes of his own policy and arraigned the shortcomings of the opposition he was cheered again and again.

After dealing effectively with Mr. Whitney's shop-worn statements regarding corruption in the Liberal part, he said:

"Mamma! mamma!" she murmured in such a tone of relief that it brought tears to the eyes of both women, though the mistake betrayed that her mind was till understanding the mute appeal.

Agnes slowly turned her head and looked at the door behind her bed, as if noticing for the first time that it would be impossible for any one to enter there; then, her glance wandered back to her friend, a satisfied expression overspreading her features, and presently she had dropped off into another restful slumber.

CHAPTER XXX. When Agnes awoke again she was in a gentle perspiration, and every vestige r natural; then her eyes began to droop eavily.

She was, of course, exceedingly weak, and could scarcely move hand or foot, for all her false strength had vanished of course, exceedingly weak, her eyelids flew open, revealing the old look of terror in her eyes.
"Don't let him come in!" she began, when Mrs. Remington suddenly checked moisture from her forehead with a hand

This assurance appeared to pacify her; er white lids slowly drooped again, the early as a shear of the standard and hands as tenderly as if she were her own mother. Then she fed her again with a few spoonfuls of beef tea. "More," Agnes begged, as she stopped, but the war warman shook her head with a pleg-ed laugh.

"Zo, you can't have any more just now," she said, "though it's music to my ears to hear you ask for it. I must be a little stingy with you to begin with, but it helf as you have to be a little stingy with you to begin with. but in half an hour you shall have more."
Agnes smiled as she glanced at the clock on the mantel to see when the time would be up. Then she weakly put out her hand again to Mrs. Remington, who clasped it and bent to kiss her white forehead at the same time.

"Agnes," she said, "would you like me

"Please do-if-you can."
"If nurse says I may," replied Mrs.
Remington, glancing inquiringly at the the bed, watching the sweet, wan face on the pillow beside her, and prayed that the precious life might be spared, for Maxs sake as well as her own.

The two hours that followed were the longest that the beautiful woman ever knew. That settled the matter, and Mrs. Remington resolved that she would not leave her until she was able to be moved, for she believed she would now get well with proper care, and then she would take her to her own home. But it would be necessary for her to return to explain matters to her servant, provide herself with a change of apparel, and leave a note for Max.

"That soundy encouraging, doesn't it, dear" she remarked, smiling, "but there are a few things that I shall need, if I remain away from home for several days, so I shall he obliged to leave you for a

Agnes said, with a furtive glance at the door behind the bed.

Her recent vagaries had taken such a tendance, 2,000.

"I will return just as soon as possible, but I must make some arrangements for Max during my absence, and let him knew where I am." Mrs. Remington had purposely men-tioned her son, hoping that Agnes would betray some sign of her feelings toward him. Matthewson does not seem to have lost any of his old-time cunning. At New York yesterday he held Philadelphia down to two hits and administered a shut-out.

The St. Louis grounds are adorned by a score board that will be of considerable value when the electrical apparatus that goes with it is put in working order. There is a place on the board on which is posted the number of the inning, as well as the half, and there is also the usual arrangement for display of score by innings, all of this being attended to in the ordinary manner. The new features are three large dials, one to indicate the number of men that are out, another the number of strikes on a batsman, and a third the number of called bails on the batsman. The figures for these three dials are to be controlled by the club's official scorer, sitting in the press box, keys connected with electrical apparatus being under his hand. The board will be of especial value when there are big crowds, many of the spectators being so far from the umire that they cannot well hear what place, but is waiting a stronger bat- 1:491/4. tery than the one first provided.

man the other day. "Some persons have hardier constitutions than others and they are apt to transmit them to their children. A man, both of whose parents were long-lived, has a promise of a good old age himself. This, of course, is an old story. A much less familiar principle affecting the duration of life has been presented by Miss Mary Beeton, of Cambridge, and Prof Karl Pearson, of London, in a brief periodical called Biometrika.

"A comparison was made between the lengths of the lives of two adult members of a pair. The figures here Sixth race, maidens, 2-year-old, 5 given represent the average of over fullongs—Turai Bev. 108 (T. Burns), 1,000 cases, and hence would seem to ed that the particular persons under investigation belonged to the Society of Friends. That organization placed its records at the disposal of Miss Bee-ton and Prof. Pearson. "It thus appears that the average years, the younger brothers 54.575, the elder sisters 59.924 and the younger sisters, 55.667. There is a difference of over four years in favor of the older brother or sister. This does not signify that the older brother or sister will survive the younger. The mean interval between the births of all the pairs under consideration was about six and a half years. Hence the older brother or sister would ordinarily die first, though attaining a greater age. "The first inquiry here mentioned was limited to pairs, the younger members of which had attained the age of 21. A second comparison was made that included minors with adults. It gave results closely resembling the other. The mean excess of life in 3,855 pairs was 4.6 years. But the intervals between the pairs appears to exert some influence. Biometrika's contributors furnish a formula by which one's expectations can be computed. and adds: 'Thus a brother born ten years before another brother has probably seven years greater duration of life. A sister born ten years before another sister has probably about six years greater duration of life."-Galveston News.

[Philadelphia Record.] A shabby looking man with a very red nose walked into a Ninth street second-hand book store yesterday afternoon. "I have a couple of old books would like to sell," he said pulling from his pocket two paper bound novels. They were quite dilapidated, the backs and title pages being entirely missing. "I'll give you 3 cents for them," said the attendant, brusquely. "Apiece?" asked the owner of books. There was inexpressible eagerness in his voice. "No, 3 cents for both," came the discouraging reply. The silence lasted for fully a minute. A customer came in, and the attendant started to wait on him. The man who owned the two tattered novels waited. "Did I understand you to say 3 cents apiece, or 3 cents for the two?' he asked falteringly, clutching the attendant by the arm. "Three cents for the two," said the attendant, rather harshly. "Can't you make it 5?" The tone was pathetic in its pleading. A vigorous negative sent the owner of the novels out. HICKS' HOROSCOPE

Will Be Generally a Fine Month-Warmer W eather Starts in Tomorrow, Followed by Stormy Period. Rev. Mr. Hicks, of prophetic fame, thus outlines the meteorological programme for May: About the 3rd of May, the date on which the moon passes over the celestial equator coming northward, look for decided rise of temperature, beginning, of course, in western parts, resulting in threatening storms of thunder, wind and rain progressively from west to east about the 3rd, 4th and 5th. It is quite probable that an unsettled, if not stormy condition of the weather will continue from these reactionary storm days into and through the Vulcan storm period, extending from the 7th to the 12th. We would again call attention to the fact that the month of May brings a tier of states. In the nature of things city, inspected the Guelph Collegiate this generates an abnormal amount of Institute Cadets this afternoon at 2 electric and solar energy in our atmosphere and usually brings on a series of very threatening and often dangerous storms. We believe that a daily seres of storms of thunder, ain and wind, with heavy ies rain -Mr. R. E. Stewart, of 45 Byron hail in many localities, will occur from about the seventh to the 11th, and that at the final "blow out" or break up of the cycle, a marked change to cooler weather, with great probability of heavy frosts northward are almost certain. If only one general storm should occur at this period, the cool wave and frosts will follow it up im-

A reactionary storm period is central on the 14th and 15th, followed on the 16th by the passage of the moon over the celestial equator, on her way o south declination.

Such a thing is not improbable for the daily cycle period referred to above to last into this reactionary period, and if such should prove to be the case, look for a general and violent culmination on and touching Very cool nights and frosts northern sections likely follow these most actionary perturbations, with very cool weather over most parts of the country, lasting from about the 16th up to about the 19th. The Vulcan storm period, central on the 21st, and covering the 19th to the 23rd, is another period in which very active storms may be counted on. We will name Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the 21st, 22nd and 23rd, as the days upon which the storms of this period will develop and run their course from west to east. As we enter this period the days and nights begin to grow sultry and warm. About the 20th these conditions will break into active storms of rain, wind and thunder in western sections, and during the three days next following, these storms will increase in extent and severity as they gather force and William John Hunter passed away at Victoria Hospital yesterday after an illness of two weeks from lockjaw. The case was a bad one, nourishment having to be furnished the patient through a tube. His sufferings were said to be terrible.

Questions Answered.

TRADE-MARK .- D. S. wishes to place on the market a biscuit with trade-mark, consisting of a head of grain together with the name of same. What will a trade-mark for Ontario cost? What for the Dominion? Must he employ a lawyer? Or could he simply send the fee, etc., to the registry office? How should the address be written? Can he place said biscuit on the market (in stores and groceries), without legal formalities, simply putting on the parcel said trade-mark and his own name and address? If he makes them in a part of his house on the farm must he pay license or extra taxes? Ans.-A trade-mark cannot be registered for Ontario only, but may be for the whole Dominion. fees are $50 for a general and $25 for a special trade-mark. You need not necessarily employ a lawyer, but it will be prudent to do so. Address Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa. He may place his biscuit on the market without formality, provided his design does not infringe a trade-mark already registered. There is no license required for making biscuits.

CITY ENGINEER RECOMMENDS MORE ASPHALT PAVEMENTS

List of Streets Requiring from Dundas to King streets; macadam Immediate Attention.

Numerous Petitions Against the Cement Walks Allowed.

Board of Works Would Have New Wide-Tire Bylaw Passed-Teamsters' Wages.

The board of works transacted a considerable amount of business at their regular meeting last evening. Secretary Bell presented a regulation adopted by last year's board to the effect that the city pay half the cost of cement sidewalks; a quarter of the cost of a roadway or pavement put down on a street where there had been no constructed road before; and FOR MONTH OF MAY half the cost of roadways and pavements where roadways had been previously put down. Ald. Jolly moved that the city hereafter only pay for the street intersections, all frontage to be paid by the taxpayers, and the remainder of the regulation to remain as before. After a lengthy discussion his motion carried. A motion passed by the Ottawa city council regulating the width of wheels on all conveyances where the load exceeds 1,000 pounds, was received and read. It provided for the fining of everyone not having tires between 3 and 5 inches in width. Ald. Jolly's motion that all wheel tires on heavy conveyances should be from 3 to 5 inches in width, and that the former bylaw be rescinded, new bylaw not to come in force for one year after its passing, was adopted. Engineer Graydon recommended that the wages of teamsters be reduced from $3 50 a day to $2 50. He said there were few men who earned this much money in a day. There were some, however, who did earn this much money, and this fact prevented the board from taking any direct action. It was moved and carried, however, that the engineer be instructed to see that the ward foremen discharged men who did not do their duty, and that men using quarter-cord boxes be only given $3 per day, and those with one-third cord boxes $3 50 per day.

NEW PAVEMENTS. The engineer recommended that the following streets be paved: Dundas street, Wellington to Waterloo; asphalt, with brick for street railway portion. York street, Richmond to Talbot; asphalt, with brick for street railway portion.

Princess avenue, and William street. pavements.

King street, Wellington to Ridout; asphalt pavement. King street, Wellington to Adelaide; bituminous macadam.

He reported that Maryboro Place was in such a condition as to require new blocking. He recommended that macadam pavements should be put down for a five-year life, unless it was provided for in the bylaw for maintenance by the property owners. The asphalt and bituminous pavements should be put down for a ten-year life. AGAINST CEMENT WALKS.

The following petitions against cement walks were allowed: W. H. Small, south side of Princess avenue, between English and Elizabeth streets; W. D. Buckle, east side of William street, between Oxford and St. James streets: Alice Butler, north side of St. James street, between Wellington and Waterloo streets; John Coulter, east side of Maitland street, between South and Nelson streets; B. J. Clampitt, east side of Colborne street, between Bathurst and Simcoe streets; Henry Warner, north side of Phillip street, from Maitland to William streets, and H. B. White, north side of Riverview avenue from Wharncliffe road to lot

4 on the same street. The following petitions against cement sidewalks were filed: John G. Draper, south side of Grosvenor, from Maitland to William streets; Mary A. Laskie, south side of Kensington street between Wilson avenue and Wharncliffe road; Bowman & Co., north side of Bathurst, from Talbot to Clarence streets; J. R. Minhinnick, Grand avenue, from Ridout to High streets; R. Stephens, south side of Emery, from High to Ridout streets.

Ald. Jolly moved that as soon as the bylaws to provide for the construction of pavements on Talbot and Peter streets was passed that the engineer call for tenders. Carried. Wm. Nicholls wrote the board, asking that some action be taken to remedy a nuisance in a lot on Wharncliffe road, near Blackfriars street. engineer was given power to deal with the matter. The petitions of John S. Pearce for an 8-inch tile sewer on Talbot street, from Albert street north to another sewer, was confirmed on a former recommendation, and that of H. S. Alberton for 6-foot cement sidewalk on the south side of Pall Mall street, from Wellington to Waterloo streets, was granted. The petition of Wm. Park for a 6foot cement walk on Richmond street, from Cheapside to Victoria street, in place of a 5-foot walk, was filed. The pay sheet amounted to $320 18. Those present were Ald. Cooper (chairman), Dreaney, Jolly, Gerry, Secretary Bell, and Engineer Graydon.

LABOR DIFFICULTIES Number of Men Idle at St. Thomas-8,000

Out at Pittsburg. St. Thomas, Ont., May 1.—Forty per cent of the total number of men employed in the Michigan Central Railway shops here were laid off last night, and great dissatisfaction prevails. It is thought this is the first move of the company to introduce the piece-work system, as the men laid off included many who were most outspoken during the recent friction. Another significant fact is that the remaining employes continue to work a full ten-hour day, which if, as the company claims, the lay-off is occasioned by lack of work, the same effect could have been produced by employing the average number of hands and reducing the work days to eight hours, as has been done on previous occasions. Some 50 heads of families are thrown out of employment.

EIGHT THOUSAND IDLE. Pittsburg. May 1.—Reports received up to noon indicate that the number of men out will not exceed 8,000. A number of firms have signed the various trades organization scales, and, with the exception of the carpenters and the structural ironworkers, the strikes are not as exensive as expected. CHANCELLOR BOYD ARBITRATOR. Toronto, May 2.-Chancellor Boyd has Toronto, May 2.—Chancellor Boyd has been selected as the third arbitrator to settle the differences between the C. P. R. and their trackmen. Chancellor Boyd is expected at Montreal in a few days, when the questions in dispute will be submitted to him.
