THE MOTOCYCLE MOVING. Boston Globe.

JOHN STEPHENSON, Agent, Office, Huron and Eric Loan Building xt

So little has been realized in the way of practical results with horseless carriages that some people have been inclined to discouragement. But the horseless carriage has evidently come to stay, and is moving east, as the fair announcements show.
At the Rhode Island fair this week there have been twelve entries of horseless carriages, and the races have called out the most intense interest. The unsettled question with the moto-cycle is as to the most successful and cheapest motive power. That the cycle is an established success admits of no doubt. Most of the carriages that have been racing in the Rhode Island fair are driven by gasoline and other motors, but electricity seems in all the trials to demonstrate its superiority.

These motocycles easily make five miles within 20 minutes, and fifteen miles an hour is considered a comfortable speed on the road. It is reasonable to expect that the motocycle will in the future appear more or less in evidence, but to what extent men of ordinary means will be able to own them remains to be seen. As for the horse, of course, he is sure to be in demand in many quarters for years to come.

He Says He Has Not Resigned the Leadership of the Liberals in the House.

London, Oct. 14.-The St. James' Gazette (Conservative) this afternoon, referring to the reported resignation of Sir William Vernon Harcourt as leader of the Liberal party in the House of Commons, says it may be stated that he has arrived at no hasty decision. BASEBALL.

JOHN M. WARD SAYS COACHING SHOULD BE ABOLISHED. It would be a long step in advance if coaching were done away with entirely. Of all the howling and noise now indulged in by the two coachers, not one-hundredth part is meant as bona fide direction to the runners. It is almost entirely intended to disconcert and rattle the opposing players, and for all the actual sense there is in anything they say, each one might as well be provided with a tin horn of a big bazoo. They simply bellow and make as much noise as possible, making a semblance of directing their remarks to the runner, but the latter y say. In fact, it is an understood but the instant there a close decents.

cision these coachers are expected to yell "All right!" "All right!" "Hold your base!" "Never touched him!" and such similar cries to influence the umpire and spectators, and if the decision is against them they are immediately down upon the umpire, often backed by the whole team, like a swarm of bees. And the spectator, whose judgment, perhaps, was wavering, has been influenced by their cries and actions, seconded by his own sympathies, and thus an honest and capable umpire soon becomes "rotten" capable umpire soon becomes "rotten" and "a thief." And then, unless the umpire be a man of unexceptional character and disposition, President Young soon has another vacancy to fill. The evil has been developed rapidly in the past two or three years until it has now reached a stage where

About the only way a coacher can be of assistance to the runner is by watching the baseman as the ball pitched, and if the latter starts for the base give the runner instant warning to beware of a throw from the catcher. But 99 out of every 100 men who get up to coach. instead of watching the baseman, follow the ball with their eyes, and so, just at the critical moment, when they might aid the runner they are not able to do it. The only other instance in which a runner requires coaching is when he is coming from second to third and the ball is in the center or right field—that is, behind him. Then a word or gesture from the coacher at third tells him whether or not to make the try for home. In all other cases he has the ball in sight, and not only may but should be obliged to use his own judgment. If coaching were done away with entirely more men might be caught "napping" by the catcher and basemen, but the play is a pretty one, and the added danger would spice to the interest .- John M. Ward in New York Journal.

Four Desperate Characters Escape at Vancouver.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 14 .- A wholesale jail delivery occurred on Monday afternoon, whereby the four leaders of a gang of safe-breakers who have been operating here for the past month or two escaped. The escape was made about 5 o'clock during the few hours the prisoners are allowed recreation in the yard, and it was not until half an hour later when Mr. North, the jailer, went to lock them up before supper that the escape was discovered. The Election Takes Place on Tuesday Next.

Kingsville, Oct. 14.-Yesterday afternoon the nominations for the byeelection for the Legislature in South Essex, necessitated by the death of Hon. W. D. Balfour, took place here. The election takes place on Tuesday next. Sheriff Her, the returning officer, received these nominations: Mr. John Auld, a former partner of the late member, nominated by Mr. Thos. Hide, of Colchester South, seconded by the deputy reeve of Leamington; Mr. Edward Scratch, nominated by Dr. S. A. King, of Kingsville, seconded by Mr. Philip Ferris, of Colchester South. The Liberal candidate appointed Mr. W. T. Wilkinson as his financial agent, and chose red as his colors. Mr. Scratch appointed Mr. J. W.King, of Kingsville, as his financial agent, and named blue as his colors. The speakers at the public meeting were Messrs. Davis, Auld and Pedley on behalf of the Government, and Mr. Clancy on behalf of the Opposition.

Mayor Mullen, of Amherstburg, was elected chairman. MR. AULD'S ADDRESS.

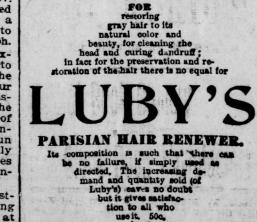

Mr. Auld was received with much enthusiasm, and in his address he did not disappoint the expectations of his friends. He mildly protested that he was not as able to represent the constituency as the late Mr. Balfour had done, but he promised to do his best to voice the views of the people on the floor of the Legislature. Mr. Auld reminded the audience that he had been a resident of Amherstburg for 22 years, and that for nearly 12 years he had been mayor of the town. Mr. Auld defended the course of the late Mr. Balfour and of the Ontario Government in dealing with the drainage question, an important issue in Essex. Mr. Scratch had questioned the matter of submitting claims for damages resulting from the construction of drains to a referee, and had asserted that the system as carried out was productive of lawsuits. Mr. Auld answered this and other criti cisms of the Drainage Act which Mr. Balfour had done so much to perfect.

He also proved that the general policy of the Administration had been eminently in the public interest.

THE PROVINCIAL SECRETARY. There was an outburst of applause when Mr. Davis was presented to the audience. He noticed the general feel-Cabinet the constituency had unani-mously pronounced upon the Issues by electing him without opposition.
Mr. Davis said if there was any defects in the Drainage Act—on the whole a good measure—the Premier would certainly see that they were remedied. Mr. Davis asked where was the leader of the Opposition, and echo answered "Where?" As he could not pretend to enlighten the audience upon that point he turned to the consideration of the relationship between the Government and the farmers. The appointment of a practical farmer as Minister of Agriculture, the establishnent and expansion of the Agricultural College at Guelph, the establishment of the traveling dairy and the appropriation annually of $180,000 for agricultural purposes, were mentioned as some of the things the Government had done for the farmers of Ontario. Mr. Davis showed that the finances of the Province have been carefully husbanded by the Administration, and spent for the benefit of the whole people. It was a significant and gratify-ing fact that in this contest no charge had been made against the Government of the improper use of public money. PREMIER HARDY.

Mayor Mullen read a cordial address of welcome to the new Premier, who was congratulated upon his accession to the high office vacated by Sir Oliver Mowat. The address contained the statement that the elevation of Mr. Hardy gave entire satisfaction to the Liberals of South Essex. Mr. Hardy was enthusiastically re-received by the people. The Premier appropriately and gracefully acknowledged the kind expressions that had been employed in regard to himself. He, too, paid a glowing tribute to the late Mr. Balfour, to invite whom to enter the Cabinet was his first act on becoming Premier. Mr. Hardy commended the succession tax bill to swell the funds used by the province to re-lieve poventy and distress. Those colossal, overspreading fortunes of the Rockfellers, Vanderbilts and Astors were a menace to the people. Speaking of the policy of the Government, the Premier said it would be well to maintain the policy of Sir Oliver Mowat and carry it out in its entirety. He quoted from the Toronto Telegram the statement that the Ontario Government was the best that had ever lived in any country. The Govern-ment had not only been abreast of but had outstripped public opinion, and would in the future deal with occasions as they arose. Mr. Hardy alluded to the opening up of the northern regions of Ontario to settlement, and promised that the efforts of the Government would be directed to the development of these portions of the province. The immigratin of pauper children, of diseased and criminal classes, would receive such legislation as the subject deserved. License legislation would no doubt receive early consideration at the hands of the Government. Government.

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION. Whatever may happen, Mr. Hardy aid, you must trust the Ontario Government never to go backward in temperance legislation. We have advanced for twenty years onward and up-ward. While the rights of those who, under the law, are engaged in the traffic should receive fair attention in any legislation that is passed, I think it is well that all should understand that the cause of temperance, no matter under what name, is a progressive cause, in which any legislation which we have to make will be in the nature of progression.

The Premier said the business of the Province would be conducted on a business basis and by business men. The Government would maintain Liberal principles and advance with the the spirit of the age. It would not advance the interest of any class. The Government believed in equality. The Government's duty would be to protect their civil and religious liberty. They would know no creed or na tionality, as all were equal before the law, and it would be the duty of the Government to see that the law was administered equally to all men. The meeting closed with cheers for Mr. Hardy and Mr. Auld.

MEETING AT AMHERSTBURG. Amherstburg, Oct. 14.—A crowded audience greeted Premier Hardy when he spoke here last night, in support of Mr. Auld. Among those on the platform were: Dr. Hobley, Messrs. Wm. McGregor, M.P., H.W. Allen, ex-M.P., Richard Golden, John Anderson, M. Barrett, F. A. Hough and many other leading citizens. many other leading citizens. Amherst-burg will give a big majority for the Liberal candidate, who will undoubt-edly be elected, but the full vote should everywhere be polled.

The Band of Hope had 52 members, with an average attendance of 35; 25 meetings had been held, and fifteen prizes awarded to pupils. The Young Men's Club had 130 members, and 47 meetings had been held. The report on temperance in the Sunday schools was submitted by Mrs. Heaman. They could look back with thankfulness for the great measure of success that had attended their efforts. She stated that only three temperance lessons had been prescribed for the year. She had written from 22 to 25 letters to the Sunday school superintendents under her charge, at the end of every quarter, offering to supply them with speakers on the subject of temperance, catalogues of temperance books suitable for the Sunday school library, and names of leaflets on the use of liquor and tobacco. During the year 22 speakers had been supplied. In March Annual Gathering of the London 600 letters had been distributed to Sunday school teachers to encourage them to pursue the work with energy. The library report, by Ida A. Spencer, was an interesting one. This was the third year that the library had been in existence, and it was continually on the increase. London Hunt Furnishes a Novel Programme at Queen's Park.

Clever and Amusing Feats of Horsemanship by Local Riders.

A Very Funny Spectacle—Outside Riders Do Not Show Up-Description of the Events.

Between 300 and 400 people planked down their quarters at Queen's Park yesterday afternoon. It was the general opinion that it was well worth the price of admission to enjoy one feature alone of the admirable programme provided by the London Hunt. This was the nomination race, in which such well-known horsemen as George C. Gibbons, Q. C., Major Denison, Major Smith, Walter Smith, Adam Beck, and Hugh Niven were required to prance before the grand stand, arrayed in the most fantastic garments that feminine ingenuity could devise. Solomon in all his glory was not togged out like one of these. The cloak which each was obliged to don looked like a cross between a nightgown, a crazy quilt, and a jail suit, the prevailing colors being black and old gold of the deepest shades. As a crowning beauty, each received from the fair hands of his lady nominator a bewitching head-dress, trimmed with ribbons of the brightest hue. Mr. Adam Beck was decorated with an antique plug hat, adorned with fell by the wayside. Mr. Gibbons variegated streamers. The natural landed his egg under the wire away charms of Major Denison and Hugh Niven were enhanced by white hoods, tied under the chins, such as grandma used to wear. Mr. Gibbons and Walter Smith were extremely fascinating in Mother Hubbards of a striking crimson, while Major Smith's head was cutely wrapped in a poke bonnet, made of the old flag. The spec-tacle sent the grand stand into shrieks of laughter, and no one seemed to enjoy it better than those who created it

Mr Gibbons' horse stood on its dignity at first, and would not budge for a few seconds. The rider could not make up lost time. The scramble for the potatoes was very amusing, several carrying the vegetables in their mouths. Some lightning mounts were made. The nomination race, already referred to, was the funniest thing on the programme. Competitors had to ride to a line where garments were hung; dismount and don the clothes; ride to the starting point; dismount and receive sunbonnets from their lady nominators; mount and ride one-eighth of a mile; dismount and pick up a pumpkin; and then remount and ride to the finish, pumpkins, garments, sunbonnets and all. In the jumping competition there Heather and Dick; A. Beck's Lady-like and Longshot, and Major Denison's Scorcher. Ladylike took all the jumps in the cleanest style, and won the blue ribbon. Scorcher and Heather won second and third respectively. The steeplechase handicap somewhat marred by an accident to Palmer Smith, who was riding Mr. Gibbons' Sir Sidney. Sir Sidney led in the jumping course, and entered the track first for the finish. Sidney is a great hunter, and a hard horse to ride Mr Smith lost his stirrups, and was thrown violently near the fence, sustaining some painful cuts and bruises. The rest of the field made a fine finish. A. R. Col-Hope, narcotics, franchise and fair Niven, passed first under the wire; ley's Prince Albert, ridden by Hugh George C. Queen, ridden by H. K. McCormick, was given third prize instead.

The concluding event was the egg, spoon, thread and needle race. Each rider was supposed to receive a needle and thread; ride to a lady and wait until she threaded the needle; return the threaded needle to a judge; receive an egg and spoon, and carry the egg in the spoon to the finish. The needle and thread passed off pleasantly enough, excepting that Hugh Niven lost his needle; but it. was no easy trick to balance an egg on a spoon while bobbing up and down on horseback. The majority of the eggs lost their equilibrium, and ahead of the others, but as he forgot to carry it on a spoon he was ruled out. Major Denison, by clever balancing, got his egg safely over the line, and then dropped it with a sigh of relief. Walter Smith was the only other competitor to accomplish the trick. In the needle and thread act, Major Denison was assisted by Miss Harris, Mr. Gibbons by Miss Helen Gibbons, Major Smith by Miss Gibbons, Mr. Niven by Miss Macfie, and Mr. Walter Smith by Mrs. H. E.

The Organization Nearly 250 Strong -Choosing Officers.

The Liberal Club of No. 6 ward is a strong organization, with nearly 250 members. They held their annual meeting last night, and nominated candidates for the offices of the club. The reports of the work of the club during the past year were very gratifving, and the treasurer's statement showed the organization to be in first-class condition finencially. During the year the membership has been increased by about 30. The hand-some new club house, of which it would be hard to find the equal for a club of this character, has been occupied by them since May last. It is a neat nine-roomed building, and was erected purposely for the club, who have it leased with an option. It is very efficiently conducted, and generally provided with all the comforts desired. It is their intention to es-tablish a large library in connec-tion with the club at a very early date; in fact, negotiations for its introduction have already been entered

Before next spring a bicycle club will be formed. During the winter frequent discussions on public ques-tions will be held, and it is also proposed to present the talent of the club to the public in a series of concerts. The interest shown on the part of the members is such that speaks well for its success.

At the meeting last night, in less than fifteen minutes, the sum of $100 was raised for the club treasury. While the society appears political in its nature, it is really as much an educative and social organization. Fathers and sons congregate there to spend an hour in harmless amusement, or be benefited by the interchange of ideas when a debate is in progress.

GROCERS MEET

The members of the London Retail Grocers' Association held their regular meeting on Monday, Oct. 12, with a fair attendance. It was duly moved and second to comply with the request of the Elgin Mercantile Association to circulate a petition requesting the Ontario Legislature to amend the act of 1892, relating to hawkers and petty chapmen. and give the municipal council of each municipality power to make and enforce such bylaw as they may deem expedient for governing peddling and transient traders. The secretary was instructed to circulate the petition. The auditors presented their report, showing a balance on hand on July 31, 1896, of $245 10. The report was accepted and a vote of thanks tendered the auditors. It was suggested that the members arrange for a social evening or two during the winter, but after a short discussion it was decided to leave this question over until after Christmas, when there will be more time and they can enter more pleasantly into such engagements. The question of revising the delinquent (dead beat) list book was discussed, and it was decided that it would be in the interest of the mem bers to have the list revised. It was proposed that all the members be requested to hand the secretary any new names they may have that should be entered in the books, and that the members hand in their books to the secretary to be revised.

The question was asked, What kind of measures are best to use for vine-The answer was: Porcelain lined granite iron is preferable to wood, tin or copper, as wooden measures are usually unhandy, are bad to pour from, and liable to crack or split, and tin is quickly destroyed by the action of the acid. Copper also wears with the action of the acid, and renders vinegar unwholesome. A half hour's talk on the state of trade, prospects of handling canned vegetables and fruit, when apples are so plentiful as they are this season, brought the meeting to a close, the members feeling they had spent an hour profitably.

The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, Nov. 9. "Resolved, that the International Typrographical Union denounces the efforts being made by certain corporations to coerce or influence their employes in their votes, as a defiance of the most sacred rights of the citizens, as guaranteed to them by the constitution of the United States, and believing that the permanency of Republican institutions depends upon an honest ballot, we demand that the law relating to the intimidation of voters, no matter to which class, rich or poor the offender belongs, be rigidly enforced."

Toronto, Oct. 14 .- A daring attempt at burglary was committed early yes-terday morning at Toronto Junction, when two burglars gained an entrance into McBride Bros.' hardware store by prying the molding off and smashing the door sufficiently to unfasten the catch in a window at the back of the shop. Policeman Graham, while passing, heard the noise inside, and stepped to the door and distinctly saw the two men, one holding a large sack while the other was stripping the

He threw his dark lantern at them, and it was struck to the ground by one of them, who hit with a crowbar, while the other discharged a revolver at Graham, the ball passing through his helmet. Had the ball been another inch lower he would have been shot dead.

The burglars then ran off, making good their escape across the commons Fraham shouted for help, discharging a revolver after them. Upon searching through the store a kit of burglars' tools was found near the back door, and the sack, filled with a valuable stock. The only goods missed was a box of knives.

Naturally, the first question that the man in the streets wants answered is: "What is dynamite?" To this Colonel Majendie gives this precise and clear

"Considered generically, dynamite may be regarded as nitro-glycerine absorbed in any more or less solid ingredients; specifically, it consists of nitro-glycerine absorbed in an infusorial silicious earth called 'kiselguhr, of which large deposits exist in Hanover and other places. This earth is of such high absorbent quality that the better descriptions of it are capable of taking up and retaining, under all ordinary conditions, about three times their own weight of nitro-glycerine. There are only two sorts of 'dynamite,' properly so-called, licensed for manufacture or use in the United Kingdom, viz., 'Dynamite No. 1,' composed of nitro-glycerine, and 'kisel-guhr,' and 'Dynamite No. 2,' in which the proportion of nitro-glycerine is reduced from 75 to 18 per cent, and the 'kiselguhr,' is replaced by a pulverized preparation composed of nitrate of potash, charcoal and paraffine.' In the Fortnightly Review of May, 1883, Colonel Majendie explained that what is used by dynamiters is nin dynamite," or wood sawdust saturated with nitro-glycerine. The lignin-dynamite used at the Possil Canal bridge, Glasgow, in January, 1883, contained 19 per cent of nitro-glycerine; that used at the Times' office in March, 29 per cent, while the Liverpool seizure showed 70 per cent. Lignin-dynamite is an illegal article, and may not be used or purchased in this country. This vital principle of dynamite the terrible nitro-glycerine, was discovered by the Italian chemist So-brero in 1847, within about a year of the discovery of gun-cotton by Prof. Schonbein, of Basie. Nitro-glycerine bears the same relation to glycerine that gun-cotton does to cotton and that sawdust powder (or nitro-sawdust) does toward sawdust. It migh perhaps be popularly described (behind a chemist's back) as a sort of liquid form of gun-cotton or sawdust powder, these substances being the product of the action of a mixture of strong nitric and sulphuric acids, upon glycerine or cotton or sawdust. Then Colonel Majendie dissipates a few popular fallacies about the explosive. It is widely but incorrectly believed that nitro-glycerine or dynamite are more dangerous when frozen. This is an entire fallacy. Another error, which, unfortunately has led to the sacrifice of many lives, is that dynamite if set fire to will always burn and not explode. Although not inconsiderable quantities may sometimes be burnt without explosion it is extremely dangerous to heat (without igniting) even very small quantities. Place a small piece of dynamite on an iron plate and set fire to it, and it will probably burn harmlessly away; but apply the fire underneath the plate instead of on the top, and the result will be a violent explosion.

Finally, the colonel declares that the prevalent ideas of the effects of dynamite explosions are "extravagantly exaggerated." At the Local Governmen was confined to a window and one room, although the charge probably consisted of about 20 pounds glycerine. He quotes the joint report of himself and Sir Frederick Abel af-A Detroit jewelry store has a queer bimetallic display. There are two fish globes, one containing a solitary gold-fish, the other 16 shiner minnows; 16 alarm clocks with the hands of each pointing 16 minutes to 1; 16 silver-rimmed spectacles to 1 gold-rimmed; 16 silver watches to 1 gold, and so on.

be brought to bear without attracting observation, and the effect of a single infernal machine, containing a few pounds of explosive, would be struc-turally insignificant."

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The total registration in Chicago is very heavy. It is now expected by the election commissioners that the total registration will be 400.000 against 347.574 in 1894. The leaders of all political parties are busy nguring on the probable electoral vote of their respective candidates for President. The total number of votes to be cast is 447, necessary to elect 224. Senator Mat Quay scription impossible, see them on front first computed that McKinley would receive 270, then Senator Butter figured 235 for Bryan, and now Chairman Jones gives out a table in which Bryan nas 279 and McKinley but 81

ADDRESSED 2000 WOMEN Perhaps the most unique feature of for their hanging, Says a gentleman Mr. Bryan's visit to minneapous was his address at the Lyceum Thea-presided. When Mr. Bryan arrived at about 10 o'clock the ladies rose en masse, waved their handkerchiefs and 25c A good Cashmere Hose, we want you to see it, 'tis worth 35c, for 25c.

A good Cashmere Hose, we want you flags, clapped their hands and called his name—in fact, did everything men might have done except give three cheers and a tiger. In the course of his remarks, he said: "My experience teaches me that the mother and the 35c A snap in Table Linen, 60 inches, pure wife are important parts of the family. (A pulsuse) In fact family. (Applause.) In fact, I would rather have the wife on my side in the beginning of a campaign than to have the husband, if I could only have one. (Applause.) And I will tell you why: Because, if I have the wife I am almost sure to have the husband before the campaign is over, and if I only have the husband I am never sure of him." (Laughter and applause.)

HENRY GEORGE IN MICHIGAN. Henry George has been traveling through Michigan for several days past sizing up the political situation from a non-partizan standpoint in the interest of the New York Journal, and his latest letter, written from Jack-son, says: "I have learned enough of Michigan to convince me that if the election came off Monday, Bryan would carry this State by a handexperience con vinces me that the tendency in his fa-vor is steadily growing, and that when he passes through the two peninsulas making the 55 speeches he i booked for, even if most of them be mere greetings to the crowds that will gather at the stations, it is likely to swell into a veritable tidal wave."

SECOND THOUGHTS BEST. Dougald Crawford, the big dryoods merchant of St. Louis, who discharged a baker's dozen of his men last Saturday because they announced their intention to vote for Bryan and Sewall, has repented his action, and today, over his own signature, in public letter, says he will take the mer back. In part he says: "I have invited all the men to return to my store and to occupy their former sev eral positions without prejudice as regards the future, and without loss o salary since they left my employ. A man in anger often makes mistakes, but I do not believe he loses any of his manhood by admitting his error. I desire every man in my emplay to vote as he pleases, but I believe that every man who studies existing conditions should vote for McKinley.'

A K. OF L. VIEW. The general executive board of the K. of L. in session at the head-quarters in Washington looking after routine business of the order. At the close of the session last night, T. R. McGuire, of New York, and H.B. Martin, editor of the K. of L. Journal, gave out a statement to the effect that reports received by them indicate that Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio would go for Bryan. They said a letter had been received from Grand Master Workman Sovereign stating that Ohio and Illinois were certain to go Democratic.

It is not impossible that my readers may have heard of that itinerant Methodist preacher who, all his life long, had gone up and down in the earth, joyfully singing:

"No foot of fand do I possess, Or cottage in this wilderness. A poor wayfaring man," etc. At length, in his old age, a friend resented him with a cottage to serve as a place of comfortable abode in his declining years. For a season the aged itinerant quite enjoyed the truly magnificent present. But, after a while he began to grow resties. What could be the matter with him? Both Sides Figuring on a Sweeping It came out, in due time, that the occasion of his uneasiness was the fact that he could no longer truthfully sing his favorite hymn: "No foot of land do I possess, Or cottage in this wildernes Finally, he requested his kind friend to allow him to restore to himself the cottage. The exchange was duly

AN INDIAN REGULUS. In the Choctaw Indian nation there is no jail in which to confine convicted murderers, and therefore they are allowed to run at large, on parole to be present on the day appointed in the Washington Star:

When I first went to the Indian Territory I settled in the Choctaw naion, and learning that a certain Indian was an excellent hand on the ranch, I hunted him up and asked him if he would work for me. "I will work until the 20th of hext month," he said. "Why not longer?" I inquired.

"I am to be hanged the 21st," was his reply, in an unconcerned way. I hired him, and upon inquiry learned that what he said was true. But one man has ever failed to return for hanging after he has been sentenced, and my Indian did not prove an exception to the rule. On the day before the execution was to take place he' left as calmly as though going on a visit, and the hanging took place at the time appointed. Notwithstanding his approaching doom, the Indian made one of the best ranchers I ever saw, and I regretted to lose him.

Expected to the East End Abattoir Market the receipts of live stock were 700 cattle, 300 sheep, 300 lambs and 60 calves; left over from last Thursday, 150 cattle and 125 sheep and lambs. The attendance of local buyers was large. The quality of the stock was better than usual, and as prices were no higher, the market, on the whole, was more active than it has been for some weeks past. Good to choice steers and heifers sold at 3c to 31-4c; common to fair, 2c to 2 3-4c; and inferior, 1 1-2c to 1 3-4c per 1b, live weight.

Sheep—Owing to the Continued dis-

Sheep-Owing to the continued discouraging advices from abroad and the heavy losses made by shippers of sheep of late, the feeling in this market today was weaker and prices declined 15c to 25c per 100 lbs. The of-ferings were small, and suitable stock for the export trade was scarce, buy-ers only being able to pick about 100 head at $2 50 to $2 60 per 100 fbs, live weight. On the other hand, the market for lambs was stronger, and prices advanced 1-4c per lb, on account of the scarcity of choice stock, and local buyers in some cases could not fill their wants. The demand was active and sales of choice were made at 3 1-2c per 1b, and in some instances a trifle more was realized. Other sales were made at prices ranging from $1 50 to $3 75 each, as to quality.

Calves were well inquired for, and choice sold at $7 to $9 each, and commoner stock at $2 50 to $5 each. The tone of the ocean freight market is firm, and rates are unchanged at 45s to 50s insured.

LONDON AND LIVERPOOL London, Oct. 12 .- A firmer feeling prevailed in the cattle market, and prices improved 1-4c to 1-2c per 1b, owing to the improved demand, and choice States cattle sold at 11 1-4c, choice Canadians at 10c, Argentines at 91-2c, and Canadian sheep at 91-2c. A private cable received from Liverpool quoted choice American steers at 11c. Another private cable received from London quoted choice States cattle at 11 1-2c, choice Canadians at 10 1-2c, average Canadians at 9 1-2c, and sheep at 10 1-2c.

London is so favored. The great Seidl, who was born in Buda-Pesth, played the piano with remarkable expertness at the age of 6, and at 12 was performing in public charitable concerts. He was ambitious for the priesthood, but while at the University of Pesth he began to develop another inclination. It was raining hard when he left the club, a most dreary night in the city. The coach rattled through the muddy streets and brought, as it went along, many a bored, heavy counten-ance to the steaming windows, to watch and to wonder at its pace. Lady Capel had been death-stricken while at whist, and she had not been removed from the parlor in which she had been playing her game. She was stretched upon a sofa in the midst of the deserted tables, yet covered with scattered cards and half-emptied tea cups. Only Lady Suffolk and a physician were with her, though the corridor was full of terrified, curious servants, not unkindly gloating over such a bit of sensation in their prosaic lives. At this hour, it was evident that above everything in the world the old lady had loved the wild, extravagant grandson, whose debts she had paid over and over, and whom she had for years alternately petted and scolded. 'Oh, Dick!" she whispered, "I've got to go-we all have-I've had a good "Shall I go for Cousin Harold? I can bring him in an hour.' "No, no; I want no priests-no better than we are, Dick. Harold is a proud sinner; Lord, what a proud sinner he is!"-then, with a glint of her usual temper-"he'd snub the twelve apostles if he met them without mitres. No priests, Dick. It is you ! want. I have left you £8,000-all I could save, Dick. Everything goes back to William now, but the £8,000 Arabella is witness to it. Dick, Dick! You will think of me And Hyde kissed her fondly. Ugly,

"I know what the town will say— 'Well, well! old Lady Capel has gone to her deserts, at last.' Don't mind them, Dick. Let them talk-they will have to go, too; it's the old round-meat and mirth and then to bed-a-"Grandmother!"

"Don't let Exmouth come to my funeral. I don't want him-grinning

"Put me beside Jack Capel. I wonder—if I shall—see Jack!" A shadow, grey and swift, passed over her face. Her eyes flashed one piecus look into Hyde's eyes, and then closed for ever. And while in the rainy, dreary London twilight Lady Capel was dying, Katherine was in the garden at Hyde Manor, watching the planting of seeds that were in a few weeks to be living things of beauty and sweetness. It had ceased raining at noon in Norfolk, and the gravel walks were per-fectly dry, and the air full of the fragrance of innumerable violets. All the level land was wearing buttercups. Full of secrets-of fluttering wings and and building nests-were the trees. In the apple blooms the bees were humming, delirious with delight. From the beehlves came the peculiar and exquisite odor of virgin wax. Somewhere near, also, the gurgle of running water spread an air of freshness all

And Katherine, with a little basket of flower seeds, was going with the gardener from bed to bed, watching him plant them. No one who had seen her in the child-like loveliness of her early girlhood could have imagined the splendor of her matured beauty. She had grown "divinely tall," and the exercise of undisputed authority added a gracious stateliness of mancomplexion was wonderful, her face full of sympathetic revela-tions. Above all, she had that nameless charm which comes from a freedom from all anxious thought for the morrow; that charm of which the sweet secret is generally lost after the twentieth summer. Her basket of seeds was clasped to her side within the hollow of her left arm, and with her right hand she lifted a long petticoat of quilted blue satin. Above this garment she wore a gown of wood-colored taffeta, sprigged with rosebuds, and a stomacher of fine lace to match the deep rufflings on her elbow running hither and thither, as her eager spirits led him-now pausing to watch her drop from her white fingers the precious seed into its prepared bed, anon darting after some fancied joy among the pyramidal yews, and dusky trelliages, and cradle walks of holly

The deaths were par-ticularly sad, Daniel, died here while going home from work last Friday night. A telegram was sent to his brother, stating that the body would be shipped to Buffalo for burial. It was taken to that city on Saturday night, and when it arrived, Anthony who had been sick, died also. Both men had heart disease. It was intended to bury the former on Monday, but the funeral was postponed until yesterday morning, so the brothers could be buried together. The dual funeral was attended by Messrs. John White, John Hall, Morgan McLaughlin and Fred. Shelter, of this city. Anthony Willman was born in Baden, Germany and with his parents went to Buffalo window, fingering the delicate satin and listening. The peddler glanced from his goods to her face, and talked 27 years ago.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

Miss Florence Hartley Secures a Verdict

Toronto, Oct. 14.—At the Civil Assize Court, Mr. Justice MacMahon on the bench, a whole afternoon was occupied with the hearing of a claim for $5,000 damages, brought by Miss Florence Hartley for alleged breach of promise of marriage against Robert James Jones. The fair plaintiff, who is 24 years old, is cashier in R. Walker & Sons' departmental store, and the sec ond of four daugnters living with their parents at 151 Bleecker street, while the defendant, although half a century has passed over his head, still lives with his father at 30 Wilton avenue She is a good-looking, lady-like blonde of prepossessing manner, the second of the four sisters, and he is a little stick. Both are, or were till recently, members of Elm Street Methodis Church, and during the hearing of the case many prominent members of that congregation were noticed in the court Briefly told, the plaintiff's story was that she first met defendant when they were next-door neighbors, on St. Alban's street in 1892, and that he proposed marriage to her on various occasions, but she refused him un-til 1894, when she succumbed to his importunity and accepted him. The courtship continued into the spring of 1895, and the wedding was set for June of that year, but was subsequently postponed until the fall. In October a year ago, however, deendant secretly married his housekeeper, though he kept up his relations with Miss Hartley as her flancee until the very day of his marrlage, and she did not learn of his faithlessness until several days after the cere mony had actually taken place. This statement was corroborated fully by several witnesses, and the jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,000 and costs. Mr. Hartley H. Dewart, crown attorney, represented the fair plaintiff, and the defendant, who offered no evidence, was represented by Mr. B. B. Osler.

But there was no parachute drop, as expected. Finally the gas became exhausted, and the aeronaut, balloon and parachute began the descent together. The parathute would not work, so Frisbie forced to hang to the rolling balloon, which at first slowly descended earthwards. Then it began to drop quicker. The professor again tried the parachute, but it would not work. The end of the perilous situation came when the whole outfit lodged in a tree, and Frisbie reached the earth not hurt. shot for it? ONE FACT

Outweighs a Thousand Claims-It Is Facts We Give You Backed Up by London Proof.

Facts are what we want. Opinions won't do. They differ. It is hard to pick the correct ones. You have a backache. One friend tells you to use plasters. They will cure the backache. That is his opinion.

Another recommends a liniment. You follow the advice of one; perhaps both. But are you cured? We think not.

The ache perhaps leaves for a time. You don't reach the cause. Go for the kidneys, and the back

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kid-That is why they cure backache. This is a fact which can be proven. London people say so. Here is one: Mrs. Mary Wonnacot, 380 Clarence street, London Ont., says: I have had serious kidney troubles for fourteen years. For the past two years I have been a great sufferer. The loctor said I had what is called 'floating kidney.' I have suffered very much with pain in the back and right side, also neuralgic pains in my head. I was nervous, could not sleep well, had no appetite and was completely dragged out. I was in great distress all the time, and felt thoroughly miserable and sick. "For many years I tried a great number of medicines in order to get relief, but all without avail, until I sent to Strong's drug store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. I told my doctor I had got them, and he said they would undoubtedly do me good, and they have done so, far beyond my expectations. Since I have been taking them I have felt better every day. They have relieved me and helped me in all the distressing ailments to which I was subject. I am stronger; have no more pain. Appetite is much better, and in every way I feel they ne me the greatest good. It is a great thing for me that at last I have found something that suits my case, and which I know benefits me as no other remedy could do."

AN ENDEAVORERS' RALLY

In South London-Reports of the Recent Ottawa Convention by Delegates. Graphic reports of the recent Christian Endeavor convention at Ottawa, were made by London delegates at Knox Church, South London, last night. About 200 Endeavorers gathered. The chair was taken by Mr. Oliver Leslie, first vice-president of the local union.

The president of the local union, Mr. Brown, was the first speaker, and he gave a capital review of the convention, dwelling upon the necessity of individual responsibility to God. Miss Kirkpatrick, superintendent of junior work, discussed that branch of Christian Endeavor. Rev. Robert Johnston, who followed, said he loved to look into the faces of a great crowd of young people, whose hearts were intent on extending the kingdom o God. Mr. Johnston remarked that the work in London was not so prosperous as it had been, and he hoped better things were in store. They did not need so much convention, so much talk, as they needed expanse of work
