

WHEAT PUT ON FREE LIST BY
U. S. SENATE AFTER CLOSE VOTE

Democrats Stand Together to Defeat Attempts to Put Any Duty on Wheat, Flour and Eggs—Big Fight Is Expected in Congress Over New Proposals.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Democratic amendment putting wheat on the free list and striking out the 10c per bushel tariff rate, offered by the House Democrats, was adopted by the Senate yesterday by a vote of 37 to 23.

A subsequent motion by Senator Gronna to fix a duty of 6c per bushel on wheat and one eighth of a cent per pound on wheat flour was defeated 37 to 31. Senators Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana voted with the Republican side.

The Democrats also defeated an amendment proposed by Senator Gronna to restore the duty on eggs contained in the House bill. The vote was 35 to 25 in favor of the Senate committee's proposal for free eggs.

First Effort Failed.

The first definite effort of the Democrats to ensure an agreement for an early vote on the tariff bill failed in the Senate today, when Republicans served notice that consideration of the measures would be continued indefinitely.

Leading Senators of both parties, as a result of the day's developments last night predicted a session of congress that would remain over November.

No Recess Allowed.

Early in the day President Wilson had made it known that he would not approve of any congressional recess until the currency reform bill had been disposed of. This attitude was endorsed by Democratic leaders and those who had favored a recess after the passage of the tariff bill apparently had resigned themselves tonight to a continuous session of Congress.

Senator Simmons, as manager of the tariff debate, made a formal request when the Senate took up the measure, for an agreement to vote August 25. Republicans of both the "regular" and "progressive" elements objected. Senator Gallinger, the Republican leader tried to draw the Democrats out as to whether they possess weapons, but in many cases they declined to answer. The Democrats declined to commit themselves on the subject.

ATHLETIC IRISH LASSIES

Here's a group of winsome Irish lassies just about to start in the young ladies dash at the Irishmen's Picnic at Port Stanley.

CHAOS REIGNS
AS RESULT OF SULZER'S ACTION

Preparations as if for a Siege Are Being Made by Glynn.

Locks Are Being Changed and Guards Placed at Each Entrance.

[Canadian Press.]

Albany, Aug. 15.—Formal demand for the surrender of the executive chamber and offices, the privy seal and all books, papers, records and documents relating to the executive department was made upon Governor William Sulzer this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor Martin H. Glynn.

Governor Sulzer refused to comply with the demand.

Included in Governor Sulzer's refusal, according to D. Cady Herick, chief of his counsel, is a proposal that Glynn and Sulzer prepare an agreed statement of the facts in the controversy and submit them to the courts to determine who is governor of New York State.

A HOPELESS MIXUP.

[Canadian Press.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Lieutenant-Governor Glynn, on entering his office at the capitol today, confirmed the report that he would call upon Governor Sulzer formally by letter to vacate his office today.

Preparations as if for a long siege were made at the executive chamber upon the arrival of Lieutenant-Governor Glynn at the capitol.

The locks on every door leading to the chamber and the governor's private office were changed and an attendant was stationed at each entrance.

Secretary Is Back.

Secretary of State May returned from Saratoga today and called at the office of Lieutenant-Governor Glynn, before the latter's arrival at the capitol. "I merely called to pay my respects," said Secretary May, "and to assure Mr. Glynn personally that I have decided to recognize him as acting governor of the state. As I read the law I can see no other way to act consistently. It is not with me a case of taking sides. I can see no other way to perform my duty under the constitution. I have not yet asked the attorney-general for an opinion as to whom I should recognize. However, if I am asked to certify an act of William Sulzer as governor, I shall submit the question to the attorney-general and await his formal opinion before taking action."

Chaos at Capitol.

The second day of the dual administration in New York State dawned on a whirlpool confusion in the capitol. A steel chair, with a heavy padlock, secured the great seal; the privy seal lay under lock and key; the way to the executive chamber, William Sulzer's stronghold, was barred and barred, and from two offices the rival claimants to the governor's chair continued to exercise their functions.

Control of the national guard, access to the great seal, recognition by New York's secretary of state, and by the governor of the neighboring state of New Jersey were prerogatives stripped from Governor Sulzer, impeached by Lieutenant-Governor Glynn, who claims to be the acting governor. Possession of the privy seal, whose imprint validates all documents coming before the governor or affairs wholly within the state, and occupancy of the executive chambers, remained with Sulzer.

Sulzer Is Firm.

Governor Sulzer continues firm in his determination to occupy the executive chambers and administer the state's affairs today. The possibility of being served with a court order, enjoining him from so doing, had been the topic of long discussions among his counsel, but they gave no indication of their course should such a step be taken.

Lieutenant Governor Glynn expected to visit the capitol today in his asserted capacity as acting-governor, and attend to any matters that might come before him.

Still Critically Ill.

Mrs. Sulzer still lay ill of a nervous disorder, unable to see her friend and with specialists in constant attendance at her bedside. She was improved when she awakened this morning from a refreshing sleep, but was still gravely ill. Aaron J. Levy, majority leader of the Assembly, who led the fight on the Assembly floor for impeachment, was suffering from a nervous breakdown. He is at a local hotel, and was reported better this morning.

The impeachment of Governor Sulzer will not affect his salary check preliminary to or during the impeachment trial. He will continue to draw $833 a month, the office of the comptroller during the remainder of his term, unless convicted on the impeachment charges. Then, of course, his salary would stop.

HENRY DOAN IS MISSING
DETECTIVES INVESTIGATING CASE

Elderly King Street Man Disappeared on Civic Holiday, and Nothing Has Been Heard of Him Since—All Efforts to Locate Him Fail to Furnish Clue.

Telling his daughter Violet, that he was going away for over the holiday, but without saying where, Hy. I. Doan, 778 King street, an employee of the McClary Manufacturing Company, and a man of from 65 to 67 years of age, left home about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Aug. 2, and has not been heard of since.

Expected to Return.

Miss Doane told The Advertiser that she asked her father where he was going, but he would not tell her. She expected that he would return home after civic holiday, Aug. 4, but when he failed to do so she communicated with the relatives of the family, including several of her married sisters, whom she thought he might possibly have gone to visit. After waiting for nearly two weeks, Detective Thomas Nickle was informed of his disappearance and the police are now working on the case.

A Steady Worker.

He was employed steadily at McClary's Chelsea Green foundry, sweeping floors and doing similar work, but he appeared contented with his work. He had worked at McClary's for about three years past. Saturday, Aug. 2, before quitting work at noon, he told some of the men that he was not coming back.

Melancholy at Times.

According to Miss Violet Doan, he had never left home before without telling his family where he was going. Two years ago his wife died, and since then he has been subject to fits of melancholy and considerable brooding at times. His daughters are afraid that some violence may have happened to him or that his purpose in going away as he did may have been self-destruction. Miss Doan said that she had been keeping house since her mother's death. Three sisters younger than she are living at home, the youngest a child of 8 years.

Mr. Doan has eleven daughters, five of whom are unmarried. One of the married daughters is Mrs. J. A. McKay, of 136 Mamelon street. She did not see or hear of her father before he left home. According to his family, Doan was strictly temperate and had no bad habits.

The family home is a large, comfortable, and attractively furnished two-story frame house at 778 King street. He had not been complaining of ill-health, his work or anything else, nor had he been brooding or suffering from melancholy just before he disappeared.

Leader of Rebels
Asks Intervention

Col. Carranza Wants U. S. To Take a Hand in Mexican Troubles—Thousands of the Indians Reported To Have Risen and Situation Is Very Critical.

[Canadian Press.]

Mexico City, Aug. 15.—The Mexican consul at El Paso reported to the Government late last night that Col. Jesus Carranza, a brother of Governor Venustiano Carranza, of Coahuila, the head of the revolution, had asked the United States to intervene in Mexico.

John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, had a conference lasting an hour late last night with Federico Gamboa, the Mexican foreign minister, at Senor Gamboa's private residence. Mr. Lind went and returned unaccompanied.

Indians Have Risen.

Several thousand Indians in the Huasteco district of the state of Vera Cruz, have risen in revolt, according to official reports received here. The Indians are said to have listened to promises made to them that the land is to be divided among them.

These promises are declared by officials to be similar to those alleged to have been made by agents of the rebel governor of Coahuila, Venustiano Carranza. The Indians are poorly armed even when they possess weapons, but in many cases they have no arms at all. The governor of the state of Vera Cruz has sent a mission to try to bring about their pacification.

Sending Troops.

The presence of bands of adherents of Emiliano Zapata, the rebel leader, in the neighborhood of Milpa Alta, within the federal district southeast of the capital, and other groups of rebels in the neighborhood of Texcoco and Otumba, to the northeast of the city, has caused the authorities to dispatch detachments of federal troops against them. Some minor engagements have taken place as a result of which the rebels have retreated.

WESTERN ONTARIO CROPS

Farmers Will Have a Greater Return Than Ever This Autumn.

Dun's trade report says: The crops throughout Western Ontario are higher than the average, and the result must give the farmers a greater return than ever before, for the acreage in most lines has increased, and prices are good. Oats and wheat are good; corn excellent; tobacco fair; sugar beets good, while fruits and roots indicate a large yield.

Retail trade, for the year, to date, is ahead of last year by 10 or 15 per cent, and collections are nearly normal. Manufacturers and jobbers find Ontario business good, but in some lines, cigars, metal goods, furs, carriages and implements, in dealings with the Northwest, orders are less and collections poor. Money is tight, but for legitimate purposes there is sufficient without causing hardship; building permits so far are ahead of all last year, and there is still a scarcity of houses. No failures.

Took Poison in Mistake For Salts

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Aug. 15.—A few minutes after taking a dose of what he supposed to be salts, Johnson Porter, aged 45, a boat builder, died at his home on Richmond street west this morning. His son had bought the bottle in Winnipeg, but none of the contents had been taken until Mr. Porter's fatal experience. Symptoms pointed to strychnine poisoning and the contents of the bottle will be analyzed. An inquest will be held.

FIRMAN COOK
FOUND DEAD

Neighbors Broke Into His House When He Was Not Seen.

A WESTMINSTER PIONEER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Lambeth, Aug. 15.—Firman Cook, aged 55, a farmer living on the 7th concession of Westminster, was found dead in bed this morning. He had not been seen around the farm for a few days, and the neighbors, fearing that something was wrong, broke into the house. Mr. Cook lay dead in bed.

The appearance of the body indicated that his death had occurred some days ago. Mr. Cook was a bachelor, and had lived alone all his life on the farm where he was born. He was in his usual health when last seen, and the cause of death has not yet been ascertained.

The neighbors' phone to his cousin, Mr. G. F. Morris, who left this morning with Coroner Dr. Rutledge to investigate. Mr. Cook is survived by two sisters in Muskegon, Mich.; another in the Territory of Washington, and a brother in British Columbia.

Found Groaning on Road.

The man in question was found lying on the side of the road shortly after the crash. He was groaning and complaining of pains in his back and stomach, and as an ambulance arrived shortly after he was placed in it and taken to Victoria Hospital, where he was confined for nine days, leaving the institution on Aug. 2.

While in the hospital, an Advertiser reporter attempted to interview the man, but was unable to get any information from him, on account of injuries to his back, which he claimed were causing him considerable pain.

Says Not in Wreck.

Mr. Frank Spettigue, a dairyman who lives in Westminster Township, was with the man taken to the hospital on the night of the wreck, and claims that when the collision happened the man was in a buggy with him driving into London from the farm of County Engineer Talbot, where they had been looking at a barn.

Mr. Talbot's farm is on the Governor's road, nine miles from London, and Mr. Spettigue declares that it was 9:30 o'clock or later when he and the man in question left the farm to drive into the city. They drove slowly, and while coming down Dundas street hill from Potteryburg noticed a train across the interswitching tracks.

Mr. Spettigue says that he suggested to the man that instead of waiting for the train to pass, they drive around onto another street, but just before arriving at the street onto which they were to turn, the train parted and they noticed the street car considerably damaged.

"We were then told that a collision had just occurred between the car and a freight train," said Mr. Spettigue. "Quick as a shot out of a gun the man sprang out of the rig and disappeared. I did not see him any more until the next day when I went to the hospital and saw him lying in bed."

"Too Much for Me."

"The other man who was injured at the time was in bed also, and I turned to him and asked him if this man had been in the wreck."

Mr. and Mrs. William Mowat, 497 Charlotte street, received a telegram yesterday from their daughter, Mrs. W. K. Charge, of Winnipeg, informing them of the death by drowning of the latter's three and a half year old son, Wilfred Mowat. The telegram stated that the little lad had been drowned in the river. Mrs. Charge and her little son spent six months in London last year, and the early part of this year. They left for their home in Winnipeg about the end of January. Wilfred was a regular attendant at King Street Presbyterian Church Sunday school, while in the city and was a bright, clever little fellow.

Mrs. Charge was Miss Margaret Mowat before her marriage, while Mr. Charge is a Winnipeg boy.

A NEW SUB-STATION
FOR THE HYDRO SERVICE

Will Be Located on Dundas Street East Near Factory District.

Another sub-station is to be added to the city electrical service, and the private transmission line to the asylum from the government station in East London, will be taken over by the water commission. These two announcements were made by General Manager H. J. Glauz, of the water commission, who returned this morning from a conference with Chief Engineer Gabey, of the Ontario power commission, and Chairman Hon. Adam Beck.

A New Station.

The new station will be located on Dundas street, near the new McCormick factory site, and will serve the entire factory district of that locality. The power for the asylum will also pass through this sub-station, which will be known as Station 4. Sub-station 2 is over a mile away from the location chosen for No. 4, and as there will be a power consumption of 750 horsepower in the vicinity of the latter within a year, the department demands were for a station where the power could be stepped down.

ONE SHOT IN DERRY RIOTS

Fierce Street Fights Between the Nationalists and Orangemen.

THE POLICE KEPT BUSY

Londonderry, Ireland, Aug. 14.—The police again today were constantly employed in suppressing street fighting between Nationalists and Orangemen. Numerous charges were made by the police, who used their clubs freely. An elderly man named Armstrong was shot dead during the fighting, which began at a political celebration Tuesday. Mr. Armstrong was looking out of an upper window of his home when he was shot. His brother says he saw four constables pursued by a mob, four of whom were carrying revolvers. The mob was so dense and the confusion so great that it is difficult to tell what happened. According to many persons, however, the police fired over the heads of the mobs, the members of which replied with revolvers. Several persons were removed to hospitals suffering from wounds. Among them was a constable.

Early today the magistrates held a meeting, and decided among other precautionary measures to have all taverns in the disturbed district closed at 7 o'clock this evening. Late tonight it was decided to requisition troops. Quiet had been restored at midnight.

 LONDON, FRIDAY, AUG. 15.

WEDDING TWO OCEANS.

It is announced that the first boat will pass through the Panama Canal next month. The canal will be open for general traffic next spring.

Thus the greatest engineering project of modern times is drawing to completion. How great it is beyond the conception of any who have not seen the works or followed their progress
 in its multiple and staggering detail.
 The results that will come from the snapping of the iron cord that tied two continents together by imagination.
 When the two oceans rush together and become for ever one, the earth will be in a measure made afresh, as though by a universal chemical change. For vessels sailing from the Atlantic to Pacific ports a distance of 8,000 miles,
 the diameter of the earth, is annihilated.
 Montreal is brought nearer, commercially,
 to Vancouver than it is to Winnipeg.

The world's commerce will take turns that cannot well be foreseen. Those few who can read to some extent the future are the coming men. The changes in direction of traffic will almost compare with the results of Columbus's voyage in 1492. In fact that voyage westward to Cathay will now at last be finished. It was stopped at San Salvador and at the Panama barrier, but after 400 years the barrier falls and the Santa Maria with her tiny companions, now grown to great steel steamships in endless converging lines,
 may sail straight on to a rejuvenated
 China and an Australia of which Columbus had no idea.

But Canada will gain proportionately
 even more than Europe or the United States itself. Great masses of our food products will go to Europe and Asia by the all-water haul. Canadian railroads also will gain by the general enrichment of the west, and the same may be said perhaps of the American lines, or of the Suez Canal. What is good for a country or for the world
 at large is good as a rule for its parts.
 The wedding of the two oceans will help further to rouse the Far East, it must contribute ultimately to the peace
 as well as the commercial profit of nations, and it will enable most sailors to say good-bye to the hardships and dangers of the Cape Horn passage.

THE SUBJECTION OF WOMAN.

Mr. Justice Donnelly, of one of the United States courts, has given a ruling which on the surface seems very important. He has laid down the law that a husband's word in his own household is supreme, and must be received with due submission by the members of the family, including the wife. Some of the newspapers are quoting this decision, as though it were of a very serious nature. We have not noticed that any of them, so far as we have seen their comments, undertake to indorse Mr. Donnelly.
 From which we draw the conclusion
 that the editors are all married men.

At the same time they do not undertake to argue against the decision.
 From which we infer that in the domestic court they are going to take ground that it would be less majestic
 and high treason, also misdemeanor
 and felony, to criticize a judge.

Now, let no one who imagines himself the victim of connubial tyranny become unduly excited. In the first place, this is the decision of a United States judge, and therefore is not law
 in Canada, nor will any patriotic Canadian judge accept it as a precedent either to be quoted or acted upon. In the next place, even if a Canadian judge made a ruling of this kind, it would not be worth a tinker's condemnation. It would be one of those rulings which a judge is permitted to give
 when he wants to show off a little;
 it would not be used for working purposes.

A law of this kind, in any civilized country, would be inoperative. And in an uncivilized country it would be unnecessary, because, whether a man
 in such a country is master of his own family or not depends altogether on the man and not on the law. In Canada (we do not want to speak for other countries), it depends altogether on the woman. No legislative enactment, no royal decree, no judicial decision,
 ever did, could or would, have the slightest effect in establishing the order of precedence or power in the domestic circle. The laws of nature and of heredity have settled the question.
 Whether under the guise of humility,
 or in the garb of arrogance, the master moves in a flowing skirt, or a hobble skirt, as the case may be, and issues commands in a voice that is always heard, no matter how mild and gentle it may be; and which has to be obeyed, promptly, if the family is wise;
 less promptly, but not less surely, if there is a disposition to rebel. Occasionally, owing to mental defects, the ruler of the house submits to dethronement, but the exceptions only prove the rule.

Great men have tried to overcome
 the natural law, and they have found out how little they were. Solomon was a great man, with a most exceptional matrimonial experience, but when it came to ruling his own house he had to admit that there was no exception to the general result. "All is vanity and vexation of spirit," Samson was a very strong man, but Delilah played havoc with his strength when she got her hands in his hair. Adam had to obey the orders of his wife. He knew he would get into trouble if he did obey her in once case, but still he probably thought it safer than to run the risk of disobedience. Paul ordered wives to obey their husbands, but he did not take a wife himself.

But why multiply illustrations? There have been only two notable cases where a great man managed his domestic affairs with some satisfaction to himself, and they in both cases used the same means. Thirteen hundred years ago, Mohammed was at the height of his power. He had quite a number of wives. He could sway multitudes of wild men, and sweep across Arabia with conquering armies. But he could not rule his own household.
 His wives went on strike. They thought he paid too much attention to the servant girl. They made it hot for him.
 He quit talking to the girl. But that was not enough. Mrs. Mohammed's success made her bungling, and she stepped into her natural position as "She-who-must-be-obeyed." Then Mohammed played a trump card. He got a special revelation; another chapter was written in the Koran; and his many-voiced wife had to come down off her perch. Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism, had a similar experience. He only had one wife; in that respect he was better off than his brother prophet from Arabia. He had only one ruler instead of a score.
 For many years he obeyed orders, but when his mistress began to interfere with his nights out, he rebelled. He took a leaf out of Mohammed's book.
 He got a special revelation. And it was effectual. Emma's resignation as domestic ruler was accepted.

But it would be no use for any disgraced man to try and play Mohammed or Joe Smith in this country.
 The police would run him in before he got fairly started. So, in view of past experiences and present conditions, we would advise all men to disregard Judge Donnelly, and not try to disturb the natural order of things. It cannot be done. If it could be done, unfortunately man would not be as well off as he is. Leave well enough alone. "Better to bear the ills we have than fly to those we know not of."
 That is, if there are any ills under the present arrangement, which we make haste to say we do not believe.

WHY NOT AN ELECTION?

With New Zealand determining upon a policy that will certainly prove of great service to the Empire in time of need and be a guarantee of peace with Australia carrying out a very admirable program, which,
 though different in detail from that of the Island Dominion, is inspired by the same spirit, it is high time that Canada let it be known what she proposes to do in her behalf.
 It is time to place the responsibility
 where it belongs, and in doing so we are speaking wholly without regard to what has happened in Parliament. The hour has come when there ought to be a strong and unmistakable expression of the views of the Canadian people upon their duty in this behalf. What seems to be the great thing to be demonstrated now is not whether one policy is better than another, but whether the people of Canada demand that there shall be any efficient policy.—Victoria Colonist.

An unimpeachable statement, but when the Colonist goes on to advocate
 the immediate adoption of the Borden policy it is guilty of an egregious non sequitur.

Look at some of its assertions.
 First, Australia is carrying out "a very admirable program." Wherein does this program differ from the Laurier one, except that the latter is more extensive? Australia is building a fleet unit which is not to leave Australian waters without the sanction of the Australian Government. The same provision in the Laurier act brought a chorus of denunciation from the Col-onist's party friends. They called it a separatist design; they branded its authors as conspirators against British connection. In Australia the same plan is "very admirable," the spirit behind it is the same as that shown by New Zealand, whose example is lauded
 by the centralizers here and elsewhere.
 Why is the Laurier idea so excellent in Australia, and so abominable in Canada? Let the Colonist answer if it can.

Again, the Colonist says, "It is time to place the responsibility where it belongs." True enough. Who was responsible for abandoning the Canadian navy idea to which both parties pledged themselves in 1909? Sir Richard Mc-Bride and his British Columbia satellites, including the Colonist, cried for a Canadian fleet unit in Pacific waters in the election campaign of 1911. Why do they decry the same policy today?

"The hour has come when there ought to be a strong and unmistakable expression of the views of the Canadian people." So there ought, but the Canadian Government refuses to ascertain the views of the Canadian people. The Colonist is barking up the wrong tree.
 It has really argued for an immediate general election as a means of speedily determining Canada's naval policy. But it shrinks from the deduction from its own premises.

Sylvia Pankhurst has starved herself

out of jail again. To the Pankhurst family life is just one arrest after another.

The Ontario farmer wishes the West would grow its own crop of harvesters.

President Wilson has apologized to Great Britain for the utterances of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson. The trouble with Henry Lane Wilson is that his tongue is as long as his ears.

The staff of the local Custom House has nearly doubled in two years. If this is going on all over the country,
 no wonder the national expenditure is availing.

The Pere Marquette required 50 cars to handle the Irish picnicers, and the crowd was not so large as on many former occasions. How would an electrified L. and P. S. R. handle such a crowd with the six cars and six trailers which the Gaby-Storer report calls for?

"If Sir George Ross looks for approval of his patriotic eloquence let him find what he can in the sneers
 of the German press."—Ottawa Journal.

Sir George Ross's speech was an eloquent and cogent expression of ideas which the Ottawa Journal itself professed until a year ago.

THE PRECIOUS PIG.

[Spangfield Republican.]
 England, which depends greatly on bacon for breakfast, is shocked to have the favorite delicacy go up to 30 cents a pound. For some time there has been dearth of beef, the explanation being that a swine fever has curtailed the supply of pigs, while regulations of the board of agriculture have been made so strict that many agriculturists have ceased to breed. Supplies from Canada and the United States, which Britons have grumbled at but bought, have been nearly cut off of late by the increase of the home demand. Germany, too, it may be recalled, was agitated last year by the sudden rise in the price of pork. The pig has seldom been so appreciated in all Christian lands as now.

THE MYSTERY OF HAY FEVER.

[McLanburgh Wilson in New York Sun.]
 If you should live in Podunk
 And cry "Achoo! Achoo!"
 You seek to cure hay fever
 The climate of Podunk.
 And when you reach that haven
 With wonder sweet and sure
 Your troubles all will leave you
 And you will find a cure.

Meanwhile a sneezing mortal
 Who dwells in Timbuctoo
 Will seek the Podunk climate
 To cure his dread "achoo!"
 And when his sage, cousin
 Breathe in that happy clime,
 Oh, miracle and wonder,
 It cures him every time.

SUMMER OUTING LUXURIES.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
 "Let's see, your summer cottage is on Lake Hoopahcoochie, isn't it?"
 "Yes, been there?"
 "No, friend of mine had a cottage
 there last year. You get your drinking water from the lake, don't you?"
 "Yes."
 "And bathe in it?"
 "Yes, but never until after we drink."

WUFF!

[Cincinnati Inquirer.]
 Gabe-Smith is an unwelcome cuss,
 isn't he?
 Steve Should say so. Why that guy wouldn't even talk in his sleep.

POSSIBLY.

[Boston Transcript.]
 Blanche—I can't imagine how I got the hay fever.
 Marie—Perhaps it was from using that strawberry color hair dye.

A RIDDLE.

[Children's Magazine.]
 Oft sought in the country, much prized
 in the town;
 Like a king, above all, I can boast of crown;
 I'm seen in most colors, am brown
 black or white,
 Blue, green, gray or red; and when
 good, I am light;
 In demand with all persons, selected
 with care;
 I'm prized by most men, and add
 grace to the fair;
 Of no use to my owner while kept in
 his sight,
 I attend him by day, and sometimes
 by night.
 A hat.

APPROACHING THAT.

[Boston Transcript.]
 "Don't you think women are getting too daringly original in the matter of dress?"
 "Original. They are getting positively aboriginal."

WOULD BE A CINCH.

[Judge.]
 Oh, for a straw hat that will keep Forever clean and bright!
 Oh, for a melon hat that
 Is ever stiff and white!
 Oh, for tan shoes that ever shine,
 For ties that never fray!
 Oh, for a pair of summer pants
 In which the creases stay!

A SUMMER JOY.

[Cleveland Plaindealer.]
 And some of us went to New York for our vacation. We went and sweltered and detoured and came home glad. Glad not because of the vacation, but because the vacation was over. Possibly there was a week to rest up in before returning to work.
 Oh, glorious week!
 The metropolis calls. Undoubtedly it calls. Its greatest potency of call is in the winter, but winter is not vacation time for the workers, save for only a blessed and evil Christmas. One vacation in the summer because everyone else vacations then. It is shameful to do something that everyone else does not do. So, as one vacations in the summer, and as New York calls all the year around, one may be weak enough to go to New York.

A BABY BET.

[London Chronicle.]
 People at sea bet upon all sorts of contingencies. An emigrant ship from England was recently approaching the Australian coast, and an interesting event was expected at any moment in the married people's quarters. Considerable speculation and excitement were developed over the question whether the happy event would take place within or without the three-mile limit. A great cheer went up when it was officially announced that the little stranger was legally an Australian,
 and had earned the £5 baby bonus of the Commonwealth. A minute or two earlier and the child would have been a native of St. Stephen, London, to which parish children born at sea belong.

IRISHMEN DINE AT GRAND FINALE OF THEIR BIG DAY

Emerald Isle Toasted by Large Number of Banquetters
 Last Night.

The "Ould Sod" and Its Candian Associations Praised by Many Speakers.

Crowning the Irishmen's picnic was a banquet, which the officers and their guests enjoyed at the Tecumseh House at 10 o'clock Thursday night. A special car brought the banquetters back from the lakeside. John P. For-restal, president, was an eloquent toastmaster. Harry Kanah, second toastmaster, spoke to a toast to the first vice-president, Dr. Becher, who was absent. Mr. George S. Gibbons responded to the toast to "Ireland," and dealt upon the beauties and endearments
 of the green isle.

He spoke of the ties and associations that bind the hearts of the Irish the world over to the island of their birth and ancestry. A few weeks ago he had passed close to the shore of Ireland, while returning from a trip to Great Britain, and the hearts of all the Irish on board, and the hearts of all who had Irish blood in their veins, strangely warmed as they neared the land of their fathers. He felt that the picnic had been a successful one this year, as in other years.

Responding to "Canada," Major Thos.
 Beattie, M. P., claimed the honor of being a genuine Irishman, born in the Emerald Isle. Canada was, he said, a country to be proud of, and if Canadians did their duty there would be no doubt that the world would be better for their presence. He spoke of the coming of the Irish to Canada, and of the attendance at the picnic, he said, that if the roadbed of the Port Stanley Railroad had been in a safer and better condition, the crowd would have undoubtedly been larger. In crossing a bridge that was perhaps none too safe, many passengers on the long and heavily-loaded train exhibited more or less nervousness. If the road were in good shape next year there would be a much larger turnout.

Past President Samuel Stevely pointed out that it was the 37th annual picnic of the society. He had never, he said, held another office of which he had been so proud as that of president of the Irish Benevolent Society.

Many Speakers.
 Addresses were also given by Past President H. E. Buttery, G. T. R. St.
 perintendent W. R. Davidson and Thos.
 Quirk, the oldest Irishman present, 81 years of age. In one of the best speeches of the evening, Mr. Quirk waxed eloquent upon the achievements of Ireland's sons in war and statesmanship.

Songs were contributed by Mr. Frank Nancekivell, Toronto; Mr. Thomas
 Treleaven, Charles Martin, and E. J.
 Ryan.

History of Sulzer Case From Time Governor Took Office to His Impeachment.

Jan. 1, 1913.—William Sulzer, one-time Speaker of the New York Assembly, and for a number of years representative of his state in Congress, and chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs in the Sixty-second Congress, took office as governor of New York as the avowed representative of the people and antagonist of Tammany and "Boss" Charles F. Murphy.

January Governor Sulzer advocated numerous reforms in the New York Stock Exchange, chief among them being the incorporation of the exchange and the levying of a stock transfer tax to help "break up stock gambling." After a conference in Albany with a committee of brokers, headed by Melville B. Fuller, through whom, it has been revealed, Governor Sulzer conducted heavy stock speculations, these efforts were abandoned.

January-February.—Governor Sulzer conducted a strenuous fight for direct primaries in an effort to reduce Murphy's power in the state.

May 3.—The Legislature adjourned without passing Governor
 Sulzer's direct primaries bill.

June 16.—Extraordinary session, Legislature met, called by Governor Sulzer to pass a direct primaries bill.

June 21.—Senator James J. Frawley was appointed chairman of a legislative committee to investigate Governor Sulzer's use of patronage and veto power in his direct primary fight.

June 25.—Extraordinary session adopted a concurrent resolution giving the Frawley committee power to investigate Sulzer's campaign funds.

Aug. 2.—Attorney-General Carmody decided the Frawley committee was within its legal rights in investigating Sulzer's campaign funds after the governor had made every effort to halt the investigation.

Aug. 6.—Frawley committee unearthed campaign checks from Jacob H. Schiff of $2,500 and Abram I. Elkus $500, of which no record was made in Sulzer's sworn statement of campaign receipts and disbursements.

Aug. 7-8.—Frawley committee unearthed more unrecorded campaign checks, bringing the amount of unlisted receipts to $2,250, and discovered that the governor was not the poor representative of the masses he had claimed, but had carried on extensive stock speculations and lost heavily, paying, after his election, $21,248 of an $48,599.38 indebtedness to the brokerage firm of Harris & Fuller, part being paid in cash.

Aug. 9.—Announcement made that enough evidence had been secured to impeach Governor Sulzer, but that more startling evidence than yet revealed is available if necessary.

Aug. 15.—Senate approves resolution deciding to consider impeachment proposals.

Aug. 13.—Senate, by a vote of 79 to 45, decides in favor of the impeachment of Governor Sulzer.

Farmers Complain of Tight Money

[Canadian Press.]
 Saskatoon, Aug. 15.—Declaring that it is impossible to get one dollar from the banks on personal loans, and that money on mortgages could only be obtained at from 8 to 10 per cent, a large number of representative farmers from the Saskatoon district attended the royal commission on agricultural credits and grain markets here yesterday afternoon. Farmers declared that from 50 to 95 per cent of the farms in the district were mortgaged and complained of the heavy charges for negotiating the loans.

HOW TO TAKE CARE OF YOUR SKIN IN SUMMER, By Madame Millefleurs.

Go out doors as much as possible during the long summer days. Exercise enough to get often into profuse perspiration. But do not needlessly burn or tan your hands and face. If you are going for a motor ride or a game of golf rub your face over with cold cream made after the following recipe and then powder plentifully.

This skin food and cream is used by nearly all reputable beauty specialists, and time and use has shown it is much the best ointment for preserving and softening the skin that is known: White wax, one-half ounce; spermaceti, one-half ounce; lanolin, one ounce; sweet almond oil, two ounces; coconut oil, one ounce.

Take off the fire and heat until cold, adding little by little, two ounces of orange flower water, to which five drops of tincture of benzoin have been added. Be sure to beat the ingredients constantly until quite cold. They must be of the best and purest quality, and the druggist from whom they are purchased must weigh them carefully.

After wiping off all the cream dust your face and neck with a pure powder. If unfortunately you get sunburned, cover your face with a paste made of sublimed bismuth and lemon juice. Put this on immediately and it will allay the pain and take the redness out. Use hot water freely on your face at night, and then cover for a few minutes with cloths wet in cold water.

Do not tan your face and hands needlessly. Tan does not always denote health, for you can be just as healthy with a fine complexion as with an ugly one.

Never put water on your face, hands or arms immediately after coming in from out doors. Try rubbing the dirt off with cold cream.

I think that once a day is often when I take a bath," said Bobby.

enough to wash one's face with water, either summer or winter, and this should be done just before going to bed.

Use plenty of pure soap, much hot water, and scrub your skin well. The remainder of the time you can do as the little son of a friend of mine did. He had been sent to the bathroom for a bath and came out with a very dirty face.

"Why, Bobby," said his mother, "didn't I tell you to take a bath?"

"Yes'm," "But your face is very dirty."

"Well, I don't always wash my face."

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

A Bride's Troubles.

Dear Miss Grey—Will you please be kind enough to help me with my troubles:

1. A nice way to cook green peas (not soup)?

2. How to cook green beans?

3. I have a linen table cloth which I have to hem by hand; it is two yards wide, 25 2/3 yards long. What width of hem will I put on it?

4. Will I hem the cloth all around?

5. The napkins to match are 21 1/2 by 22 1/2 inches. What width hem will I put on them? Please answer soon.

BRIDE-ELECT.

A-1. Green Pea Souffle.—Boil a pint of peas until very tender, and mash with two tablespoonsful of melted butter. Beat three eggs light and stir into them a pint of milk and the mashed peas. Season with salt and pepper, beat hard and turn into a greased pudding dish. Bake covered for twenty minutes; uncover and brown. Serve this souffle as soon as it is removed from the oven.

2. Boiled String Beans.—The neatest way to rid beans of bad tastes is to pare each the whole length with a sharp knife. This is much better than the ordinary way of "stringing" them. Lay a handful of the beans upon a board with the ends even, and cut through all into inch pieces. Wash and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, season with butter, salt and pepper and serve.

Full-grown beans demand much more time for cooking than do the underdone beans have a rank taste and are unwholesome.

3. Just a very narrow hem, not more than half an inch wide.

4. Just hem the cloth at the ends.

5. Put the smallest hem you can on them.

Better Ask Mother.

Dear Miss Grey—I am a constant reader of your column, will you please answer the following?

1. I am nearly 13; am I too young to wear my hair puffed?

2. Is rubbing the teeth with a rough cloth as good as using a brush?

3. Is a girl of 15 too young to have a "fellow?"

4. What is the meaning of Gladys, St. Clair, Belle, Euell, Ada?

Thanking you in advance.

THE STAMP LANGUAGE.

Dear Miss Grey—Please print the stamp language in your column of The Advertiser.

A—Left corner, top, upside down, I love you; straight, I wish to be rid of another; straight, I wish to be rid of your correspondence; left corner, bottom, straight, do you love me? Upside down, I am displeased; crosswise, I wish to have your friendship; crosswise, upside down, I am engaged; crosswise, right corner, top, straight, business; upside down, friendship; crosswise, right corner, bottom, upside down, yes; right corner, bottom, straight, accept me as a sweetheart.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME TREATMENT

"THE GLORY OF A WOMAN IS HER HAIR."

A expert sunlight. Clipping is better for the hair than singeing. It should be done sensible and every six months or at least once a year. The effect of "rats" must be done on the care of the hair. People whose hair is thinning or falling out, or who have cracks and breaks will find this due to uric acid in the system. This should be eliminated rather than try to treat the hair directly. For brushing the hair, use a bristle brush, never one of wire. A very wide comb is best. A hint for the thoughtless is never to leave combs or brushes on the dressing table where the dust will get into them. After washing a brush in hot water, having a few drops of ammonia in it, or a small lump of washing soda—rinse it with very cold water to stiffen the bristles. Never use a harsh bristle brush on the hair. The last word and the first on this subject is massage. If the scalp is very hot this shows congestion, and gentle massage is necessary. Half of all the difficulty one may have with the hair, for summer, since looks much fresher and crisper than the usual soft mob cap.

Leghorn is immensely popular this year, not only for dressy summer millinery, but also for simple tailored hats to be worn with linen and cotton frocks of the same genre, or with light tailored wool suits.

The Norfolk jacket has almost a monopoly of popular favor in outing suits.

The sport coats which have been shown in chinchilla and velours de laine are now produced in linen, either in white or the natural color, and in various novelty weaves. The chinchilla coats are admirably adapted to cooler resorts, but are too heavy for average summer places, so these linen sport coats will supply a very general need. Novelty rattles are also used by invisible wires, and when the standing frill reaches the front of the neck opening it droops forward, toward the throat and not away from it, against the gown, as is the ordinary habit of neck frills.

Style Notes

The small hat has yielded place to the wide brim, as was almost inevitable, for the hot sun makes some protection for the face a necessity, and the small chapeau affords no protection whatever. The fairly wide-brimmed tucan and leghorn hats are fashionable, and they are simply trimmed, often with dull blue or black velvet ribbon. Sometimes the crown of the hat is composed of colored satin veiled with chiffon. For sometimes this "peasant" style of hat is popular, usually trimmed with a wide scarf of colored satin, or in similar style.

Ratine, so much used for summer one-piece dresses and suits, is particularly good for golf and tennis costumes. There is nothing more attractive for the purpose than white, and, of course, such a dress should be quite plain, in the one-piece effect. The belt may be of the material, or of suede matching the green, or red, or dull blue silk tied knotted under the flat collar.

In the newest summer dresses of soft sheer materials, the skirts are gathered at the waist, the gathers extending around almost to the front. The skirts are cut almost as wide at the top as at the hem, and are gathered in at the waist. Sometimes this "peasant" style of skirt has two or three wide tucks at intervals, again it is inserted with a wide band of lace, and the blouse has a deep yoke with long shoulders forming the upper portion of the bodice.

Frills of delicate net are predicted as the next style of neckwear to succeed the popular flat collar. In its development the frill goes all around the neck and runs clear down to the belt along the edge of the bodice in front—often down both edges, outlining a little vest of shirred net, or crisscrossing in demure, surplice fashion. At the back the smartest frills rise in Medici effect and are supported by Spiced Ginger Cup.—Turn into a granite saucepan a cupful of preserved ginger syrup. Add a cupful of boiling water, some bits of lemon peel, six whole cloves and a tiny spice bag, containing a bit of stick cinnamon, half a nutmeg and half a dozen allspice. Simmer for ten minutes, and then remove the spices, add the juice of three lemons and a cupful of sugar. When cold place directly on the ice to chill, add at serving time three pints of ginger ale and a pint of shaved ice. Serve in stemmed goblets, with a slice of candied lemon arranged on the rim of each glass.

Mrs. Philip Lydig's Sandwiches

Mrs. Philip Lydig has been called by artists the most beautiful woman in New York and Newport society, and she delights in making new dishes.

Mrs. Philip Lydig, who delights in epicurean dainties, was the inventor of some very tempting sandwiches, which were eaten with great relish by her friends at a Newport picnic.

Between the thin slices of bread, from which the crusts had been cut, were laid a leaf of crisp lettuce, then a slice of Roquefort cheese so thin that it was like a shaving, a layer of caviar, a slice of Spanish pepper, then another lettuce leaf.

The combination was a great success and there were not half enough to go around. Since that time the Philip Lydig sandwiches have appeared on the luncheon table of many of the smart set.

It is very probable that Mrs. Lydig will not be eating epicurean dainties this summer, as she has just undergone a serious operation for stomach trouble.

WELL TO KNOW.

An accommodating silversmith is authority for this bit of advice. Never put your silver away in white bags to keep it in good condition. Use dark red or blue or green cotton flannel bags—the kind that jewelers and silversmiths use. And there is a reason for not using the white bags. There is in the bleaching process to which they are subjected a certain amount of sulphur and other chemicals that have a tendency to tarnish the silver when it comes in contact with it. The colored bags do not possess this dangerous characteristic and are much safer than the white ones.

The Drop of Water

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

CHAPTER II.
Again the visitor sat down at the table and glued his eye to the glass. It was a terrifying sight. All the inhabitants were running about, kicking and cuffing each other!
Some of them had fallen down! Some seemed to have lost an arm! Others were struggling to get on top.
Others appeared to be headless. It was a horrible scene!
Here and there were little heaps of inhabitants; the ones on the bottom yet, I cannot spare any more time for you. Say what you think they are. If "Look, look," they seemed to be saying. "He is bigger than I. Let's cut you off his head."
"She is finer looking than I. Let's pull out one of her arms!"
"Others are creating a stir by itself and seemed to be saying, "He is bigger than I. Let's cut you off his head."

THE STARVED HEART.
Commenting on the letters of Charlotte Bronte, just given to the world, the British Weekly expresses regret that her devotion to M. Heger was in no wise returned.

"Mr. Heger no doubt thought that he was on dangerous ground, and he refused to go on. She bore up as best she could. It is plain she never dreamed of marriage or of anything nearer than a kind of friendship that from time to time exchanges tokens of interest. Such a friendship would have no sin in it, and one is inclined to deplore that M. Heger could not give it, for this starved heart had learned to live upon very little, but not to live upon nothing at all. Let it be remembered that Miss Bronte met M. Heger she had probably never known a gentleman. Her father had good qualities, but in many ways he was a savage. Her brother became a monster, and his associates seem to have been no better than himself. Among her neighbors she was familiar with rough tempers and harsh judgments. There was little or nothing of the amenity and the courtesy of life. To Miss Bronte M. Heger represented the world of intelligence and culture and sympathy. She believed that she saw in him something really noble and high-principled. Her heart awakened, and her mind with it.

It is not so much her devotion that surprises one as its extraordinary persistency. We can see that it lasted to the end. It is dominant in nearly all her writings.

"M. Heger need not have been afraid. He might have trusted his correspondent. No one was ever more grandly faithful to her primary duties than Charlotte Bronte. She lived a life of habitual self-sacrifice, of decorous and uneventful simplicity. It may be said she sacrificed too much. The keen and daring mind in that fragile body made life a perpetual struggle. May we not hope that her fame at least brought a gleam of light over her heavy and clouded years?"

When a man gets sick he doesn't want to take any medicine; when a woman gets sick she wants to take about 17 kinds at once.

During the sultry months of midsummer informal parties held on the vine-shaded verandah, or in a cool room in town, where a few congenial friends may pass the time with their embroidery, while an interesting story or magazine article is read aloud, will prove deservedly popular. The simple refreshments to be served consist merely of a variety of delicious food drinks, that not only appeal to the eye by their attractive and dainty appearance, but strengthen and refresh the summer guests by the cooling ingredients of which they are composed. A dainty platter of home-made wafers or sandwiches is the only accompaniment necessary.

Fortunately the art of concocting summer beverages is not a difficult accomplishment. As examples of delicious "temperance drinks," especially good when a number of young people are to be among the guests, the following tested recipes are suggested:

Red Raspberry Punch. Boil a quart of boiling water over two tablespoons of Ceylon tea. Allow it to stand four or five minutes, and then strain it into a large mixing bowl. When it has cooled add the juice of three lemons, the juice of three oranges, a heaping cupful of powdered sugar and a pint of crushed red raspberries. Allow the fruit to steep directly on the ice, and when ready to serve pour slowly over a block of ice arranged in the punch bowl, mixing in a cupful of ice water, and a quart of chilled mineral water.

Mint Frappe. Either limes or lemons may be used for this beverage, although if the former is used a larger quantity of sugar will be required. Slice four lemons into an earthenware bowl, add a large handful of crushed mint sprigs, two sliced oranges and one and a half cupfuls of sugar. Then with a potato masher crush the fruit to extract the juice and mix well with the sugar. Now set the bowl on the ice to chill and at serving time stir in a small bowlful of cracked ice, the contents of a half-pint of Maraschino cherries and syrup, and about a quart of cold water. Stir well and serve in tall crystal glasses, ornamenting each with a tiny bouquet of fresh mint.

FOR FRECKLES.

Freckles come more quickly than tan to some skins and they are troublesome to combat. Massage is one remedy, which is effective in getting rid of them; for anything that increases the activity of the skin is said to help to do away with them.

A simple home remedy is horseradish lotion. This is made from a teaspoonful of scraped horseradish put in a cupful of sour milk. Let it stand for six hours, and then apply it three times to the freckled skin.

Another simple remedy is made from four ounces of lactic acid—the acid of sour milk—two ounces of glycerine and an ounce of rose water. This lotion should be applied three or four times a day with a soft cloth. It may prove irritating, although it is quite harmless, and a little elder flower water can be used to counteract its irritation and soothe the skin. Zinc ointment is really one of the most soothing creams for freckled skin. It can be bought in small boxes for 10 cents, and so can be easily carried in a handbag.

When a dwelling burns down the family usually manages to save everything except the things that were worth saving.

The Poets' Corner

ALL FOR LOVE.

O talk not to me of a name great in song;
The days of our youth are the days of our glory;
And the myrtle and ivy of sweet two-and-twenty
Are worth to you your laurels, though ever so plenty.

What are garlands and crowns to the brow that is wrinkled
Tis but as a dead flower with May-day besprinkled;
Then away with all such from the head that is hoary—
What care I for the wreaths that can only give glory?

O Fame! if I'er took delight in thy praises,
'Twas less for the sake of thy high-sounding phrases;
Than to see the bright eyes of the dear one discover
She thought that I was not unworthy to love her.

There, chiefly I sought thee, there only I found thee;
Her glance was the best of the rays that surround thee;
When it sparkled 'twas as though that bright light in my story
I knew it was love, and I felt it was glory.

—Lord Byron.

PIRATES HIT BALL AND BEAT BROOKLYN

Made Nineteen Hits Off Dodgers' Pitchers for Thirteen Runs.

GIANTS WON TWO GAMES

Cubs Beat Boston Twice and Phillies Took Two Games From the Cincinnati Reds.

Brooklyn, Aug. 14.—Pittsburgh beat Brooklyn 13 to 8 today in a heavy hitting game. Manager Dahlen, of the locals, used four pitchers to stop the fusillade, but the Pirates treated them all alike, accumulating 19 hits for a total of 31 bases. Cooper, with Pittsburgh ahead, was relieved by McQuillan in the fifth, and is credited with the game. Both were batted hard at times, but Brooklyn never gained a lead. Wagner's long hits were timely for Pittsburgh, as was Cooper's double with the bases full. Carey got a triple and three singles. Score:

EX-MONTREALER HONORED.

Both games of a double-header took Boston today, the first 9 to 7 and the second 5 to 1. To celebrate "Connolly Day," in honor of Joseph Connolly, the local team's clubhouse, several hundred of the player's friends from Woonsocket, R. I., his home city, gave him a silver loving-cup in which there were sixty $10 bills. Connolly's teammates gave him a diamond scarfpin, and he also received a large, ornate horseshoe from his friends, Governor Abram J. Pothier, of Rhode Island, and Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, of Boston, made the presentation speeches. The scores:

CRAVATH HAD TWO HOMERS.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—Philadelphia opened at home today by winning both games of a double-header from Cincinnati by 1 to 0 and 7 to 2. Philadelphia took a big lead in the second and third innings of the second contest by punting Brown's delivery, and easily held it in each of these sessions. Cravath drove a home run into the bleachers, Johnson, the Indian twirler of Cincinnati, is on the missing list, and nothing has been heard of him since the team reached here yesterday morning. QUIGLEY IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

New York, Aug. 14.—New York easily won a double-header from St. Louis today by scores of 11 to 4 and 7 to 3. The St. Louis club probably will protest the first game, owing to a decision by Umpire Quigley, calling a drive by Konetchy a two-base hit in the third inning. St. Louis claims this ball was hit into the left field bleachers and should have been a home run. Spectators in the bleachers said the ball went in and bounced out again. The decision cost St. Louis two runs. Score:

DETROIT MEETING WILL CONCLUDE TODAY

Dudie Archdale and Anvil Will Meet in Free-for-All Trot, the Feature Event.
[Canadian Press.]
Detroit, Aug. 15.—For the final day of the grand circuit meet at the State Fair tracks, the free-for-all trot, in which Dudie Archdale and Anvil, both M. and M. winners, and Cascade were entered, was the main attraction. Both Anvil and Dudie Archdale are owned by Mr. Jones, of Memphis. Geers was scheduled to drive Anvil, and Mr. Jones was to pilot the mare, and as each would rather win this event than a stake race, a warm contest was anticipated.
Only three events were on the card, the other two being the 2:15 pace, with ten starters, and the 2:12 trot, with five.

Just Chatter

The Red Sox are largely composed of the cast-offs of other clubs in the league. What with Red Rowe, Jo-Jo Keenan, Joe Lill and others, the Brantford team is a mixture of every club in the league.

Earle Powell was missed. Many of the fans expected to see him at first base, but were surprised when he did not appear on the line-up.

Jo Keenan's arm is still as good as ever. When that arm goes, Jo will have to retire from baseball, but it looks as if he won't retire for a while yet.

Rube Deneau's four put-outs came in succession. In the seventh inning Rube retired the side by making three nice catches, while the first man up in the eighth also flied out to him.

Coose demonstrated yesterday that he can play left field as good as any outfielder in the league. London has seen him in every role but that of catcher. He is undoubtedly the best all-around player in the league.

In the last two games London has played no extra base hits were made. There were none at St. Thomas on Wednesday and none in yesterday's game.

Bill Baker was in good form yesterday, although the Saints only managed to beat the Dutchmen out in the last inning. In Baker's recent games the team behind him seldom gives him any runs to work on.

Gero was going nicely in yesterday's game until he developed a wild streak in the fourth. After that he had little that the locals could not fathom.

Matty Matteson flies out to the outfield more than any other player on the London team. Matty goes out this way two or three times in nearly every game.

Dad Stewart was there with the stick yesterday. Dad has apparently recovered from his batting slump.

Gero thought Stewart was sleeping at the plate in the seventh, and he tried to slip over a strike as soon as the ball was returned to him. Dad landed on the pill for a single to center, and the crowd gave Gero the laugh. Stewart scored before the inning was over.

Louis Cook's Guelph Maple Leafs are getting beaten regularly now. They dropped two games at Hamilton yesterday and will soon be down in sixth place.

Del Chaput was beaten by Hamilton yesterday in the morning game. Guelph was leading until the seventh, when Chaput had a bad inning.

Del Chaput, former London pitcher, who went with the Guelph club a couple of weeks ago, was in London this morning. Del was released by the Guelph management on his own request. He has been pitching good ball lately, and the Guelph management wanted to keep him. Del did not want to remain with the Leafs, and after pitching against Hamilton yesterday morning asked for his release.

WHIPPING FINISHES AT DETROIT RACES

Marigold Took the 2:08 Trot in Straight Heats—View Elder Won 2:12 Pace.

Detroit, Aug. 14.—There were only three races on today's Grand Circuit program, but they furnished plenty of excitement. There was a whipping finish in almost every heat, and the winning margins were always narrow. Two of the three entries in the free-for-all pace, which was included in the original card, were scratched, and the race was declared off.

Marigold took the 2:08 trot in straight heats. View Elder was returned winner of the 2:12 pace after five heats, and Grand Marshal captured the 2:15 trotting in four.

Eleanor G. led all the way in the first heat of the 2:15 trot, but Grand Marshal was the best in the next three. Frances Graham was always near the front, finishing second in every heat, but Geers could not quite land her ahead.

Both Cheeny and Peter Thompson made a poor showing in the 2:08 trot. Marigold was always ahead in the first heat. In the second Murphy kept her back until entering the stretch, when she sent her into a winning race. A unusual feature this afternoon was the parading in front of the stand of the three horses which Geers had driven to victory in the M. and M. They were Dudie Archdale, winner in 1910; Anvil, winner in 1911, and Reusens, 1913. The first two of these are in the free-for-all tomorrow, the third contender in which will be Cascade. Summary:

TIGERS BEAT SENATORS

Red Sox Blanked Browns While the Yanks Handed a Shutout to the White Sox.

Cleveland, Aug. 14.—Cleveland today won in handy style the first game of the last series which Philadelphia will play here this season, hitting Plank hard and backing up their own pitcher. Blanding, in splendid style. The score was 6 to 2. Lajoie, Turner, Chapman and Blanding made sensational stops and throws. The batting feature was Baker's home run over the right field wall in the eighth inning. Score:

BALENTI'S BAD ERROR.

St. Louis, Aug. 14.—After featuring in the field for ten innings, many of his stops cutting off hits, Balenti missed an easy roller in the seventh inning, enabling Boston to defeat St. Louis by 4 to 0. It was a pitchers' duel between Bedient and Allison. The score:

BRITISH BOWLERS WILL TOUR CANADA

Captain Rennie, of Canadian Bowlers, Says Tour Will Be Made in Two Years' Time.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Aug. 15.—Thomas Rennie, Toronto, captain of the Canadian bowlers team, which won so much success in the British Isles, returned this morning on the Allan liner "Tunisian." Mr. Rennie said that he expected another British bowling team would tour Canada, probably in two years' time, as the visit of the Canadians to the old land and their success, has stirred up the players there to desire another trip to the Dominion, when they could get their "revenge."

PHILLIES PRESIDENT SUCCEEDED YESTERDAY

William H. Locke Passed Away After Illness of Several Months' Duration.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—William H. Locke, president of the Philadelphia National League baseball club, died this afternoon at Ventnor, where he had been for several months.
Death was due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Locke became president of the Phillies last winter. He succeeded Horace Fogel, who had been at the head of the club for several years. Mr. Locke, who was then with the Pittsburgh club as secretary, bought up the stock with the aid of his uncle, William Baker, former police commissioner of New York, and a group of Philadelphia men. Since the opening of the season Mr. Locke has been unable to see a game, and the active direction of the club was practically in Manager Doolin's hands.
Mr. Locke was identified with baseball of Allegheny, having been born there in 1859. After a high school education, Mr. Locke became a reporter on the Pittsburgh Courier, then a photographer. Later he became the head of the sporting department of that paper. In such a capacity he came in contact with all the leading baseball men and writers in the major leagues.

No Other Way

BY GORDON HOLMES.

Author of "A Mysterious Disappearance," "The House of Silence," Etc.

"In what kind of solution, Dr. Gilman?" said Clancy.

"In brandy, I believe; but that is nothing more than a well-founded guess. I mean that brandy was found in the stomach; but whether it was partaken of about the same time as the poison, or used as an agent for disguising the taste, I cannot be positive. For the result of your analysis," said Clancy, taking the lead in the inquiry with the air of one who was merely confirming a theory arrived at long ago. For his humor sometimes assumed a sardonic guise, and he loved to bewilder his listeners.

"Oh, yes, I am sure of my facts. As it happens, I am an honors man in toxicology, and have made special researches into the nature and effect on the body of nicotine in its various forms. There are few poisons so little understood, and so widely misunderstood. The quantity of nicotine in tobacco is very small, seldom more than two per cent. in good cigars, while its oxides and volatiles when exposed to the air, so it is nearly, if not quite, harmless in that form. But in crystals—it is worse than arsenic!"

"It can also be detected in tobacco smoke," commented Clancy.

"Yes," commented Clancy, "the manner of man this strangely wizened little fellow could be; for that was an addendum rather than a rather by anyone without close study of the subject under discussion. It was a pity Sielgnah was not present. He would have enjoyed the perplexity of the Atlantic City men."

"Those would be fatal!" inquired the detective.

A sixteenth of a grain induces active symptoms of poisoning. A grain will kill anybody. I have come to the conclusion that this unfortunate person, Kyle, must have swallowed at least ten grains. But, of course, in a serious matter like this, you will need to have my opinion confirmed, and I have brought a specimen of the viscera for submission to the State analyst," whereupon the doctor produced a gruesome looking sealed bottle, and put it on the chief's desk.

By this time the local official had smothered any feeling of resentment he might have felt against Clancy for what looked like a display of unnecessary knowledge during the preliminary chat. Here was a criminal mystery of the first magnitude, and his professional soul glowed over the prospect.

"Great Scott!" he cried. "What a sensation this will cause tomorrow!" put in Clancy pleasantly. "It would never do to blurt out all we know in that fashion. Dr. Gilman will simply stick to his original belief—that the indications pointed to a fatal attack of heart disease,—and the doctor will be confirmed in the same."

We can take the coroner fully into our confidence, and he will then close the inquiry at once. I need hardly say that the less fuss we make about it now the more chance we have of laying hands on the criminal—supposing, that is, a crime has been committed."

On a second thought, the chief agreed that Clancy was right. "We must not allow ourselves to be carried away from the main issue. Whatever the cause of death, the man was found in the boat, miles out at sea, and he was a very unsocial personage, though he had lived in 'The Rosary' during the last five years as being a case of determined suicide, carried out in a rather melodramatic manner."

He thought he had summed up the affair rather neatly, and gazed complacently at the bottle on the table. Though he had expected it to gurggle forth its approval. This, however, the bottle did not do. A great blob of red, glowing green fluid glass revealed nothing of the noxious contents, while a red label, bearing the word "Poison" in big, black letters, stared back at him, but whether in agreement or reproach no man could say.

Clancy and the doctor exchanged glances. Each had the same thought—that someone else might also be warned of the danger of being "carried away from the main issue." The chief, Clancy changed the subject of the conversation. Generally he was tactful with the members of his own profession; and, indeed, he was tactful with the members of the Bureau, whom he would read and scold with when he was really in earnest.

"Is anything known in Abscon of the widow, Mrs. Kyle?" he asked.

"The two did not live together. I am told they have been more or less separated during some years; but I have asked, by telephone from the police at Abscon that Mrs. Kyle visited the deceased on Saturday week—came over from New York for the week-end—and went off on Tuesday. It is not quite clear whether or not any strictly independent witness saw Kyle alive subsequently. Though two servants in the house are sure that their master was about the place for some hours after Mrs. Kyle's death. However, the widow is in Atlantic City now. She came here from Abscon last day, and she has promised to attend the inquest tomorrow."

"They were not exactly at daggers drawn, then?" said Clancy.

"No. It doesn't strike me as being a complete servance between husband and wife. Oh, there is one odd thing which the man at Abscon told me. No one there, outside the household at 'The Rosary,' knows Mrs. Kyle by sight. She was seldom seen by daylight, although, when she turned up, she usually remained several days. Mrs. Kyle's maid went about deeply veiled. Indeed, the women who saw her believed that she must be suffering from some disfigurement, and was unwilling to reveal it. Even I, after having met her today, could not describe her features; although she is a woman of very elegant appearance."

You will see her face tomorrow, at any rate," said Clancy. "I suppose the coroner will insist on her veil being raised."

quity, will you kindly jog his memory?"

"Well, as you are interesting yourself in this business—" "But I shall not be here."

"Not at the present stage, and not officially at all. You see, tomorrow's proceedings will be quite formal,—identification, an order for burial and an adjournment—not another word, eh? Perhaps you can arrange to dispense altogether with Dr. Gilman's evidence; though, of course, he is just giving a colorless opinion founded exclusively on his earliest impression. Not a hint of a clue, not another word, eh? By the way, Doctor," and Clancy swung round on the edge of his chair as if he were pulled by invisible wires, "what was your first impression? You saw the body in the boat, I take it?"

"Yes, Dr. Gilman hesitated a moment. 'In a matter of this sort,' he went on, 'where a haphazard word might be mischievous, one ought to be careful in expressing oneself. But I think I can say that the naturalness of the position of the body was somewhat suggestive of a sort of stage effect—some man of immense resolution might have kept himself unmoved on the litter seat provided a corpse of the cutter, notwithstanding the frightful spasms induced by the preliminary effects of an irritant poison. But I should expect to find him doubled up with contortions. Then, again, the scattered cigarettes had an air of deliberate care. To my mind, if Kyle committed suicide he tried to convince those who found him that he had died instantly from heart disease; on the other hand, if he was murdered, and put in that boat by those who killed him, they aimed at achieving the same result.'"

To Be Continued.

Big Distribution of Imperial Pattern Outfits by The Advertiser.

It is not improbable that many of our lady readers are on the tip-toe of expectation, anxiously awaiting the great opportunity of getting the complete assortment of the most up-to-date embroidery patterns which will be available tomorrow at The Advertiser.

These embroidery patterns are in keeping with this progressive age, and are operated by a new and improved process, which permits them to be transferred a number of times in perfect detail and without injury to even the most delicate fabric.

When it is considered that embroidery patterns bought in the usual way never cost less than 10 cents each, and often more, the lady reader of The Advertiser will appreciate the advantage of a complete outfit for 88 cents, which at the regular rate would entail an expenditure of more than $10. To obtain one of these outfits will only require necessary to clip coupons from any date or dates of The Advertiser and present them with 88 cents at The Advertiser office, or if the outfit is to be forwarded by mail, send three coupons and 78 cents, the extra ten cents being required for postage on the packet.

A coupon will be printed in this paper each day during the distribution until the complete assortment of Imperial Pattern Outfits is completely exhausted.

Milk Bylaw To Be Rigidly Enforced

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Aug. 15.—The bylaw governing the sale of milk in Ingersoll is being rigidly enforced, according to the announcement of the police. From now on, can be learned the bylaw is not generally understood.

In all cases where milk is peddled it is sold for a license fee of one dollar. Where milk is sold privately from one cow, the bylaw requires the parties selling the milk to register their names with the town clerk, in order that proper inspection of the milk and the cows may be made by the board of health.

Some of the vendors who have been asked to take out the license have hesitated, advancing as a reason that there are 62 small dealers, who do not have to have a license and who are not complying with the bylaw. The police are looking into the matter, and will see that the bylaw is lived up to.

Temperance House Will Open Shortly

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Aug. 15.—Arrangements for the transfer of the Daily House into the possession of the recently organized Joint Stock Company were completed yesterday. Mr. V. N. Dyer, of Waterford, will act as manager for the company, and will assume control of the house on September 1.

It is the intention to make the house strictly up-to-date. One thousand dollars will be spent in improving the interior, and all phases that will insure greater comfort and convenience will receive immediate attention. The hotel will be run without the bar.

Mr. Dyer has proven himself to be a very capable hotel manager in a local option district, and under his guidance the venture here will doubtless be successful. In view of the general sympathy in the movement, it is expected the hotel will be accorded very liberal patronage. The house has been leased for a term of three years.

Villacoublay, France, Aug. 15.—new self-righting flying apparatus invented by Lieut. J. W. Dunne, a retired British army officer, underwent most successful trials on the aerodrome here yesterday, in the presence of Brigadier-General Auguste Hirschauer, commander of the aerial corps of the French army.

The apparatus displayed a degree of stability which drew expressions of amazement from all the experts present. From time to time Major Felix removed his hands from the levers and held them above his head, to show that the automatic equilibrium of the machine, which retained a perfect level even when it encountered eddies, air-pockets or squalls.

HAMILTON PARADE OF SOLDIERS WAS GORGEOUS SIGHT

Regiments From All Sections of the Province Given a Mighty Welcome.

Sixty Thousand People Witness the March Past at Jockey Club Grounds.

Hamilton, Aug. 14.—One of the most gorgeous scenes of pageantry ever presented to the public eye was the military celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of this Ambitious City. In addition to the variegated display of colors with which the ranks of humanity were given the opportunity of several hours of witnessing a moving rainbow of colors as characterized the uniforms of the defenders of Canada as they paraded en route to the Jockey Club.

From 9 o'clock in the morning till the hour appointed for forming up there was a continual alighting of troops at the Grand Trunk station, and the first to arrive were the Nineteenth Regiment from St. Catharines, and shortly afterwards came the Thirty-eighth Dufferin Rifles from Brantford, and the Seventh Regiment from London, followed by the various contingents from Toronto.

Formed in Line. On arriving at Cannon street, they formed up in conjunction with the local regiment, numbering over 300, in the following order, and headed by Colonel Sir Henry Pellatt, and the brigadier chief, General Lessard, and Hamilton's Ninety-first Highlanders, Hamilton, 100 of old army veterans, Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto; Queen's Own Rifles Cadets; Seventh Fusiliers, London; Army Service Corps, Hamilton; Artillery, Toronto; and the Field Hospital Corps, each regiment headed by its own band. The route of the procession was Cannon to James, James to King, along King to Wellington down Wellington to Cannon, along Cannon to Sherbourne, then to Hamilton Field Battery, with new 18-pound quick-firing guns, Thirteenth Regiment with Maxim quick-firing gun; Nineteenth Regiment, St. Catharines, Thirty-eighth Dufferin Rifles, Brantford; Ninety-first Highlanders, Hamilton, 100 of old army veterans, Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto; Queen's Own Rifles Cadets; Seventh Fusiliers, London; Army Service Corps, Hamilton; Artillery, Toronto; and the Field Hospital Corps, each regiment headed by its own band. Line of Route. All along the line of route the sidewalks were inundated with spectators, who, from the various valleys of cheers as the various regiments passed by. Everything was orderly and the procession exhibited a magnificent spectacle. At the Jockey Club in the afternoon there was a grand military review by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario at 3 o'clock. The troops lined up in the same order as they were in the street procession, and paraded along the course in front of the grandstand, and as the lieutenant-governor stood on the balcony of the judges' stand the various officers saluted his honor as they passed.

March Past. The troops marched in time with the various march selections, which were rendered by the mass bands, which were conducted by Bandmaster Lieut. Slater, of the Seventh Regiment.

Khaki, and red and the diller greens and blacks of the rural companies and the colors which own the town. The men of the Forty-eighth engaged in a tug-of-war in front of the city hall at night and then proceeded to tie up in the rope as many of the crowd as could be caught.

60,000 Visitors. Notwithstanding the fact that every point on the mountain from which the cricket grounds could be seen was lined with people, and that 10,000 persons were crowded into the cricket grounds, bigger crowds remained down town than have been seen on any previous night. It is no exaggeration to say that 60,000 visitors have spent some time in the city during the celebration, and the number will be well on to 100,000 before the week is out.

Considered as a military spectacle, the tattoo, which capped the climax of the celebration, was a magnificent affair. The heat today was most oppressive, and in a few moments the sun began to rain or cooler weather. Those in uniform felt today's warmth most, for nearly everyone else went hatless and coatless. It will take a good many degrees of sunshine to keep anyone off the streets until the week is over.

Save One Ton of Coal in Every Six

The Economizer will do it.

While the cost of living has undoubtedly been growing greater, at the same time it is true there are some inventions that will offset this increased cost of living, and the careful housewife takes advantage of these inventions.

On every Gurney-Oxford range there is an Economizer which controls not only the drafts but also the entire combustion or burning of fuel to create heat.

This Economizer will save 1 ton of coal in every 6 that you would use with the ordinary range.

The Economizer is a simple device, absolute in its control. By merely moving the lever you can obtain any degree of even heat in the oven. This insures the satisfaction of always having light, delicately crusted bread and biscuits.

The kitchen fire ceases to be a worry if the Economizer is on your stove.

The Gurney-Oxford is the final result of experimental thought. Science has given it a Divided Flue, a new Special Grate, and a Broiler attachment.

This Gurney-Oxford range is primarily a saver of money, time, and energy.

SEVENTH BOYS BACK PLEASED WITH THE TRIP

Regiment Made a Fine Showing at the Hamilton Celebration.

Delighted with their trip and the reception accorded them, the men of the Seventh Regiment returned from Hamilton this morning, arriving by special train at 1:30. After leaving the coaches they fell in and marched to the armories, where they disbanded.

In conversation with The Advertiser several of the officers said the Seventh was one of the strongest city regiments in the celebration yesterday. Major McCrimmon stated that both men and officers had enjoyed the outing and the reception given to them by the people of Hamilton.

The weather was unusually warm, and the men, dressed in tunics and busbies, suffered considerably from the heat.

HUERTA IS UNWILLING TO DISCUSS ELECTIONS

Will Not Make Any Statement for About Two Weeks.

[Canadian Press.] Mexico City, Aug. 15.—President Huerta is unwilling either to deny or confirm that he will be a candidate for the presidency of the republic. The Mexican newspapermen, in a written communication, requested Gen. Huerta to make a statement on this point, calling his attention to the declaration made by Minister of War Blanquet, Wednesday, that Huerta was his choice for the presidency.

President Huerta instructed Minister of the Interior Urrutia to reply for him that the present time was too early, and that he would make no statement regarding his possible candidacy within ten to fifteen days.

Much interest has been aroused in political and social circles by the announcement that President Huerta expected to reopen the Chapultepec castle on Saturday, inaugurating his residence there with a farewell dinner to Francis William Stronge, the British minister, who shortly will be succeeded by Sir Lionel Edmond Grey-Carter, former British minister in Central America, who twice has been connected with the legation in Mexico City. The castle has not been open since President Madero was overthrown. It recently has been undergoing repairs. The dinner to Mr. Stronge, it is said, will be the first of a series of brilliant functions planned by President Huerta.

Picnic at Shetland Drew Record Crowd

Fine Program of Speeches and Sports Was Thoroughly Enjoyed.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Shetland, Aug. 14.—Yesterday was the greatest day of the year for Shetland, the occasion being the annual picnic. The weather was ideal and everyone had a most enjoyable outing. The crowd arrived early and gathered from all parts of the district.

John Farrell, of Forest, presided, and the program included addresses by R. J. McCormick, Dr. Fairbank, Messrs. Porter, Latimore and Stritett. Violin numbers and solos by Mr. Minn, of Wardensville, were rendered most acceptably.

The sports were keenly contested. The baseball game between Florence and Bothwell was a feature and some sensational plays were made. The Florence nine finally won.

The Croton Brass Band rendered a fine program during the afternoon. The baby contest was then put on and some 20 babies faced the judges. After a long time it was decided that Mrs. Clayton Sharpe's baby should get first, and Mrs. Roberts' baby second.

In the evening a high-class entertainment, consisting of solos by Mr. Mino, readings by Miss Northworthy, violin solos and Scotch dances, was thoroughly enjoyed.

England Surprised at Page's Apology

[Canadian Press.] London, Aug. 15.—Surprise was caused in England by the news from the United States that Ambassador Page had been instructed to apologize to the British Government for the comments made on British-Mexican policy by Henry Lane Wilson, American ambassador to Mexico. The affair had not excited the slightest attention, and the incident has aroused no ill-feeling.

The British newspaper had hitherto ignored Ambassador Wilson's statement, but they print it today as an explanation of the grounds for the apology.

Mr. Cecil McRoberts, of the city police force, and wife and children are spending a few days with Mrs. McRoberts' cousin, Mrs. (Capt.) Bryant, who is occupying Mr. Ashdown's cottage near Sunny Acres Fruit Farm, Port Frank.

THE PILGRIM FATHERS SAILED

Beautiful Memorial Unveiled at Southampton by Ambassador

Page—Erected on Site of Historic Pier From Which the Pilgrims Sailed.

[Canadian Press.] Southampton, Aug. 15.—A memorial in celebration of the tercentenary of the departure of the Pilgrims from Southampton for America, was unveiled here today by Walter Hines Page, the United States ambassador. It is in the form of a column erected on the site of the pier from which they embarked.

The ceremonies opened with a luncheon in the pier pavilion presided over by the mayor of Southampton. Speeches were made by Sir William W. Portal, Dr. Alexander Hill, president of Hartley University, Southampton; John Morgan Richards and Percy Alden, M. P., who is well known in the United States as a lecturer. Members of the Alden, Wylow and Frewster families also spoke briefly.

A Big Procession.

After the luncheon a procession, accompanied by bands and the banners of various societies interested in the monument, formed and proceeded to the memorial by way of the West Gate, through which the ship's company passed to the Mayflower on Aug. 15, 1620.

A brief religious service opened the unveiling ceremony, and as an indication of the undenominational character of the occasion it was conducted by the Bishop of Winchester, and Rev. G. S. Saunders, minister of the Above Bar Congregational Chapel, Southampton. The singing was led by the Free Church Choral Union.

Wanted God, Not Gold.

Ambassador Page dedicated the monument with an oration in which he quoted James Russell Lowell's saying that the Pilgrims were only colonists who went in search of God instead of gold.

The monument, designed by R. M. Lucas, is a column of stone, with bronze panels representing heroic scenes in connection with the Pilgrims. The cost of the monument was defrayed from public subscriptions taken in the United States and in England while the bronze panels were donated by various Pilgrim societies and the descendants of Pilgrim families.

It is located on the pier beyond the West Gate, through which the Pilgrims passed on their way to the Mayflower. This spot was famous long before the time of the Pilgrim Fathers, for tradition asserts that King Canute sat there when he ordered the sea to retreat, and from this pier Shakespeare, who knew Southampton well through his visits to the Earl of Southampton, made the armies of Henry V. embark for their triumphant invasion of France.

Apples Scarcer

Than Last Year

[Special to The Advertiser.] Wyoming, Aug. 15.—The recently-organized Wyoming Fruit Growers' Association has representatives about amongst its members making an estimate of the apple crop.

The yield in this portion of the district covered by the society was light as compared with last year, and greatly reduced in the northern orchards by the winds of last week. The members of the association have been careful to spray and tend their orchards in accordance with the rules and regulations of the society, so that the good results may be felt even more noticeably another year.

Saved His Life By Hiding in Station

Strikebreaker Had a Lively Time at Nanaimo.

[Canadian Press.] Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 15.—Though matters were quiet during yesterday in the Nanaimo strike zone, towards evening there was a recurrence of the previous day's disturbances, though not on quite such an extensive scale.

The arrival of the militia had the effect of bringing the strikers to their senses, but when the regulars had left Nanaimo, the crowd again got out of hand and an exciting scene was witnessed when a strikebreaker was sighted. His taking refuge in the police station was the means of saving his life probably.

Part of Nanaimo is in ruins. Extension is in a worse plight, and many of the strikebreakers are in the hills seeking refuge. Last night between 300 and 400 militia left Vancouver, the majority of the men going to the strike region, while a small number proceeded to Victoria to replace regulars, who are at extension.

No definite steps have been taken towards a settlement, though there are rumors to the effect that efforts are being made in that direction.

GRAND DAY FOR THE IRISH THOUSANDS AT THE PORT FOR THE ANNUAL OUTING

Between Five and Six Thousand Turned Out to the "People Picnic" Everything Passing Off Without a Hitch—A List of the Prize Winners in Baby Contest and the Athletic Events.

It may not have been the largest ever, for Irish Benevolent Society picnics have set too high a record in the past, yet the Irishman's picnic at Port Stanley Thursday was an entire and gratifying success. What the Mardi Gras is to New Orleans, the Irishman's annual gala day on the shores of Lake Erie is to London, Ont., the most distinctive and typical outing of the year. Civic holidays might be decreed in plenty, but the Irish Benevolent Society's picnic would still remain the people's holiday. In common with thousands of other towns and cities, London observes Victoria Day, Dominion Day and Labor Day, but Irishman's Day at Port Stanley belongs to London alone.

Thousands There. Between five and six thousand people, it is estimated, went to Port Stanley Thursday. A train of fifty coaches on the Pere Marquette carried thousands. A half-hour service on the Traction line with extra limited cars carried thousands more. Farmers from miles around Port Stanley drove into the village to witness the festivities and sports. Everywhere the color of the green was in evidence. The Emerald Isle was in evidence. There were the green badges of the committee and members, the green flags waving in the breeze from the lake, green hats and green ribbons, yes, and green petticoats that caressed dainty ankles encased in green stockings. There was Irish music in plenty, well chosen and well rendered by the First Hussars Band and the Dayton & McCormick Orchestra. There were no dull moments in the program, for every interval was filled with a selection that carried the hearts of native Celts back to the shores of old Erin. And in the evening the Hussars gave a band concert in front of the Invererie.

The Baby Show. Of course, the big event of the day was the baby show. All babies were eligible. They say across Lake Erie that every baby born in the United States has a chance to be president some day, a phenomenal chance. Every baby born this wide world over has a chance to win a prize at the Irish Benevolent Society baby show, an honor really worth while. Dr. Shoebottom, as chairman of the baby show committee, had an excellent prize list arranged. This was to be expected, for associated with him were London's valiant fire chief, John Aikens; the cheerful and good-natured Mr. Harry McEwen; the irrepressible Mr. B. McCann; Mr. Jack Daley; the youthful-looking Dr. J. Cameron Wilson; and the earnest and hard-working alderman, John H. Saunders.

Digger is Dutch. Now for Judges there were none other than Dr. J. H. Guest, of St. Thomas; Mr. Alfred Evans; and Mr. William Digger. Some exceptions were taken to Mr. Digger having a place on the judging committee. Mr. Digger is not Irish, and it was accordingly held that he could not fully appreciate the good points, and bad points (bless you, there are none) of Irish babies. However, Mr. Digger did his share of the judging in a conscientious and unprejudiced manner.

The Winners. For boys under 1 year the Beck cup went to Edward Evans, 495 Horton street, and the J. H. Fowler cup to Robert Liston, 726 Adelaide street. For girls of the same age, the prize offered by Mrs. Adam Beck was won by Bertha Bolton, 688 Grey street. The Dennis Mason special prize for any baby up to 2 years, went to Graham Ross, of Dorchester. Bertha Bolton, 688 Grey street, is the best baby in London or Middlesex County, Major Thomas Beattie, M.P., offering a special prize. Charlie Bruce, of St. Thomas, took the silver cup offered by Dr. Fred Guest for the best boy under 1 year from Elgin County. Margaret Williams, of 8 Balclava street, St. Thomas, won a similar cup for the best girl of the same age.

A unique double special offered by George O'Neil for the youngest niece and the youngest aunt on the grounds went to Nellie Astel, 20 Front street, London, aged 4 months, niece of Mary Astel, of 957 Hackett street, aged 6 months.

The other prize-winning babies were: Boys under 1 year—Hon. A. Beck cup, Edward Evans, 495 Horton street; Fowler cup, Robert Liston, 726 Adelaide street; Dr. Becker's cup, Charlie Bruce, 8 Fourth avenue, St. Thomas; Lillian prize, donated by A. M. Hamilton, Jack Little, St. Thomas. Fattest baby boy, under 1 year, C. H. Ward cup—Harry Miller, 87 Marmalad street. Girl under 1 year, Mrs. Adam Beck prize—Bertha Bolton, 688 Grey street. Dr. Shoebottom prize, Alice Helmsley, Buffalo; Fire Chief Aikens' cup, Lillian Geary, 238 Hill street; H. E. Buttrey prize, Dorothy Reaume, Port Stanley.

Fattest girl, under 1 year, Fred Onn cup—Jean Calhoun, 820 1/2 Maitland street. Boys, 1 to 2 years, George A. Henry prize, Lowther Avery, Fanshawe; E. J. Carty cup, Jack Burger, Lambeth; third prize, donated by Purdom Hardware Company, Fred Dennison, London Junction; fourth prize, donated by John Gleason, Stanley Carson, 658 Queen's avenue.

Girls, 1 to 2 years—T. F. Kingmill's prize, Adele Cave, 36 Windsor avenue; prize, Lowther Avery, Fanshawe; E. J.
