LONDON ELECTRIC READY TO CONTINUE PLANT'S OPERATION ON $12,000 MONTH GUARANTEE

Submits Proposal to City, Which Will Consider It Tomorrow, Making Alternative Offer of Purchase by City Through Arbitration.

The London Electric Company has made a definite offer to the city, either for operation by the company or purchase by the city of the company's plant which, it was announced by the company, would suspend operations at the end of the month. The 1,800 patrons of the company have been anxiously waiting the outcome. It will not consider any proposition to rent the plant to the municipality. R. J. Fleming, general manager of the Toronto Electric Light Company, of which the London Electric is a subsidiary, sent the offer this morning to Mayor C. R. Somerville, who has called a meeting for Friday morning to discuss it.

The first offer deals with the operation of the plant by the company. It states that the company will operate the London Electric for six months or less for a guaranteed gross income of $12,000 a month. Mr. Fleming estimates that the average consumption is 200,000 kilowatts a month, or an average of 6 cents per kilowatt hour. This is practically double the amount paid now.

So far as renting the plant to the city, Mr. Fleming states that the company does not care to rent the plant to the city.

The London Electric would sell after the expiration of six months, or at any period between now and then on the basis of arbitration. The city under this arrangement will name one arbitrator, the company another, and these two name a third.

"We will call a meeting on Friday morning to deal with the offer," said Mayor C. R. Somerville. "So far as I am personally concerned, only one proposition is to be considered seriously, and that is the operation of the plant by the company. We will have to go into it carefully, and see whether or not we will pay that amount of money. It looks rather large to me. Purchasing the plant is out of the question. We will not do that. The company will not rent it to us, so that cannot be considered. However, the meeting on Friday morning will consider it."

The letter of R. J. Fleming to the city council is as follows:

S. Baker, Esq.,
City Clerk, London, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—Replying to your letter of the 28th ultimo, addressed to our London manager, with reference to The London plant, we desire to inform you that for the accommodation of the people of London, we will be willing to continue the operation of the plant for a period of six months or less, provided the city will guarantee a return of $12,000 a month gross revenue.

At the present time the output in kilowatt hours from this plant averages 200,000 a month, which would mean an approximate rate on the present output of 6 cents a kilowatt hour. This from a steam plant is a very reasonable rate, but we would require to have a assurance that the gross return will during the term be sufficient as above to cover our cost and carrying charges.

No. 2—We would not care to rent the plant to the city of London.

In answer to your third question, would say, should the city desire to purchase, we will recommend to our board of directors that they sell, and that the price for the same be left to a board of arbitrators, one member to be appointed by the city, one member by ourselves, and the third member to be appointed by the two so selected, their decision to be final and binding. Yours truly,

ROBERT J. FLEMING.

GREAT BRITAIN AND U. S. SEIZE DUTCH VESSELS

London, March 14.—Because of the long delays in the negotiations with Holland over Dutch ships in the Allied ports, and the slowness of the Dutch Government to act in this respect, Great Britain and the United States have reached an agreement to end the negotiations and take over all such ships next week for the use of the Allies. Every precaution will be taken to safeguard the rights of the owners. The ships will be insured and armed, and any ships sunk will be replaced at the earliest possible time after the war.

The amount of tonnage made available to the Allies through the Dutch arrangement is one million tons, of which 70 per cent is in the United States, 15 per cent in British ports, and 15 per cent in other Allies' ports.

THIS SAYS LAST CHANCE.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The United States and Great Britain have presented a final notice to Holland that unless the pending agreement for Allied use of Dutch ships is accepted by March 18, the ships will be taken over for Allied use.

TRADE FIGURES KEEP AVIATING

Total For Year Shows an Increase Over Former Period.

Ottawa, March 14.—A total Canadian trade of $2,373,724,883 for the eleven months of the current fiscal year ending with February is shown in the monthly trade statement for February issued today by the department of customs. This is a considerable increase over the similar period last year, when Canada's total trade aggregated $2,018,447,397. For the month of February alone, Canada's trade amounted to $143,231,607 as compared with $140,162,700 for February, 1917. Exports of domestic goods for the eleven months period, inclusive of coin and bullion, were to the value of $1,440,459,944 for the eleven months as against $1,029,046,435 for the corresponding eleven months of the previous fiscal year. Goods entered for consumption were valued at $886,942,750, on which customs duties to the amount of $145,789,221 were collected.

CANADIANS AT LENS BRING DOWN FLIERS

Allies Continue To Retain Superiority in Aerial Warfare.

[By W. A. Willison, Canadian Press War Correspondent.]

Canadian Army Headquarters, March 14.—Not since the battle of the Somme have the Allies on the western front enjoyed such unquestioned superiority in the air as now. Not only in the air fighting and in other activities, by day, but in bombing operations at night, our pilots and observers are more than a match for the enemy. The outstanding feature in the forward areas during the past three days has been the amount of aerial activity, while our anti-aircraft and machine guns or those of the enemy are constantly busy. There was a hilarious celebration on our front line yesterday when the men of an infantry regiment engaged a low flying Boche airplane with their machine guns and brought it crashing down in Lens. Last night another enemy machine came down behind our lines on a trial trip with a crew of two officers, noncommissioned officers and mechanics, who were made prisoners.

MAXIMALISTS WAGING GUERILLA CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE TEUTONS

Amsterdam, Wednesday, March 13.—There has been an intensification of the fighting in the Ukraine, where the ranks of the Maximalists commands are receiving reinforcements from bodies of Czech and Austrian deserters according to a Berlin dispatch to the Rhenische Westfalische Zeitung. The Germans, the dispatch adds, have been frequently engaged in furious battles with bodies of such men and when they fall into German hands they are shot.

Experiments are being conducted on the Canadian Government railways with a telephone apparatus that permits verbal messages to be transmitted to and from moving trains, and have met with highly gratifying results. Connection between the instrument and railway is made through the car wheels. It will be possible for connection to be made between the train instruments and that of any regular telephone subscriber. Train speed is no consequence, as satisfactory results have been attained with the train traveling at the speed of 60 miles an hour.

THE NORTHERN CROWN BANK IS PURCHASED BY THE ROYAL BANK

Montreal, March 14.—Arrangements have been completed for the purchase of the Northern Crown Bank by the Royal Bank of Canada. The purchase price will be approximately $200 per share, and will be paid part in Royal Bank of Canada stock and part in cash. The minister of finance has officially given his consent to the sale, it is announced.

The Royal Bank, prior to the purchase of the Northern Crown Bank, had a paid-up capital of $12,911,700. The paid-up capital of the Northern Crown Bank was $1,431,200.

MAY ASK EMPLOYERS TO SPECIFY STATUS OF THEIR EMPLOYEES

New Questionnaire Form Under M. S. A. Fomulated.

Although Deputy Registrar W. E. Wismer has received no information to that effect it is understood that in the near future all employers of labor will be asked to furnish the deputy registrars with statements showing the definite status of each employee.

It is understood, however, that the information thus gleaned will be used to check up men who have been exempted because of their particular employment. The "questionnaire" designed to bring out the desired information is now in the course of preparation.

Between 40,000 and 50,000 persons within the Ontario Registrar's jurisdiction will be addressed for further information concerning men of the first class, as the result of which the decisions of the tribunals will be reviewed and as many rehearings ordered as are deemed desirable.

No official word has yet come to Deputy Registrar Wismer regarding the decision of Mr. Justice Duff of the appeal of the bank clerks. It is understood, however, that an extension of ten days has been granted and that those affected by the decision will become liable to call on March 25.

SEVIGNY RESIGNS FROM BORDEN GOVT.

Nothing Yet in Sight for Twice Defeated Minister.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, March 14.—The resignation of Hon. Albert Sevigny from the Government has been finally accepted by Sir Robert Borden. The announcement was given out this morning. There will be no successor appointed, as the inland revenue portfolio is to be transferred to the customs portfolio, under Hon. Arthur Sifton. Mr. Sevigny has as yet not been "provided for," and as far as can been learned there is no governmental appointment in sight for him. However, he has had the compensation of three months' extra salary as a cabinet minister at the rate of $7,000 per year, since his defeat in two constituencies on December 17 last.

RUSS DOWAGER EMPRESS ASKS FOR ASSISTANCE

London, March 14.—The former Dowager Empress Maria Feodorovna has applied to the Council of Commissaries for assistance, a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd reports. She declares she is destitute in consequence of the confiscation of the funds of the imperial family.

MEAT EXPORTS FROM U. S. TO ALLIES TO DOUBLE

Washington, March 14.—Meat exports to the Allies will be increased 50 per cent, and perhaps doubled shortly under arrangements being negotiated by the food administration with the Allied food representatives here.

The purpose is to build up the allied meat reserves from the great surplus which has been accumulated in this country and which recently brought a relaxation of restrictions on meat consumption. The Allies would furnish all the ships for moving the meat. The increased exports are dependent on the shipping procurable, but it is understood Great Britain expects to find the vessels. News from London of the imminent requisitioning of Dutch shipping encouraged the belief of officials today that arrangements for the increased export might be regarded as certain.

2 BRITISH SEAPLANES ROUT FIVE OF ENEMY

London, March 14.—Two British seaplanes on Tuesday engaged five enemy aircraft over the North Sea, destroying one seaplane and downing another, it is announced officially. Both the British planes returned.

MAY FINISH SURVEY OF WEST MIDDLESEX BALLOTS BY NIGHT

Special Recount Now in Progress at Court House.

The recount of the urban ballots cast in West Middlesex in the 1917 federal election is in progress at the court house today before Judge Talbot Macbeth. The recount commenced at 10 o'clock this morning, and continued until 12:15, when an adjournment was made again until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The interests of George Elliott, the defeated West Middlesex Unionist candidate, are being looked after by Edmund Meredith, K.C., W. A. Boys, M.M.P., of Barrie, member for West Simcoe, and J. S. Carstairs, formerly Conservative organizer.

J. C. Elliott, M. P. P. of West Middlesex, is representing Duncan Ross, M. P., at the recount.

The recount will finish today, it is expected.

Word that a judge receiving a request for recounts in Prince Edward Island had refused the application, both for military and civilian votes, was received in the city yesterday.

The Unionist party is making every possible effort to have the rejected soldiers' ballots counted, although officers appointed by the Borden Government refused to permit these votes to be counted.

Owing to a typographical error it was stated that the majority of Duncan Ross, M.P., was now 99. This was incorrect, as with the total vote counted, Mr. Ross still has a majority of 399.

The vote for the riding was as follows:

| | Civil. | Nor. Am. | U.K. | Fran. | T'l. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Elliott | 3,105 | 65 | 176 | 185 | 3,531 |
| Ross | 3,856 | 18 | 20 | 86 | 3,930 |

Majority for Ross..... 399

It is significant that the soldiers' vote polled in West Middlesex was 500 in round numbers. This will equal if it does not exceed the total number of men entitled to vote in that riding.

SOLDIER FROM LONDON TO GET MEDAL IN U. S.

Former Member of Old 6th and 12th Batteries Will Have Unique Distinction.

WON D. C. M. IN FRANCE

Presentation, However, Will Be Made in Madison Square, New York, Sunday Night.

Another London soldier—a member of the old 6th Battery, which left London under the late Lieut.-Col. Woodman Leonard—is to be signally honored. Press dispatches from New York today make the announcement that the unusual distinction of having a war decoration bestowed on him in a foreign country will be accorded to Sergt. Alfred W. James, Canadian Artillery, at the military and naval meet in Madison Square Garden on Sunday night next.

Sergt. James enlisted in this city and served with the 12th Battery, C. F. A., formed from the old 6th, in France. The New York announcement says that when Brig.-Gen. L. R. Kenyon of the British war mission pins the Distinguished Conduct Medal on James' tunic on Sunday night it will be the first time that a modern British soldier has been so decorated on American soil.

The decoration—the D. C. M.—was won three years ago for Sergt. James, then a gunner, was wounded on April 28, 1915, at Wiltze and was invalided back to Canada in December of that year, landing in Quebec on December 8. The official war office record of the award said:

"Gunner A. W. James, 3rd Brigade, artillery, for conspicuous gallantry and ability at Patyge, when he repaired telephone wires under shell and rifle fire. He continued to do after being wounded, and showed a fine example of devotion and duty."

At the time of his landing in Quebec, and subsequently in a special article which Sergt. James wrote for The London Advertiser, the decorated soldier, who also won the Russian Medal of the Order of St. George, paid the highest

"If anybody merited the V. C., be tribute to the late Lieut.-Col. Leonard, did," wrote the sergeant, referring to his commander. And again he said: "I can simply say that Major Leonard was a man among men, as all the 12th Battery officers were, and that the old 12th is one of the best batteries out on the western front, and all the boys of the 12th were the finest body of men it has ever been my pleasure to meet. Remember, that any credit I may have received at the front should by all rights go to Major Leonard for the splendid training he gave his men and the fine example he set.

"Just one word more. One one occasion the major was retiring from the observation post, tired and weary, yet I saw him stop and work at binding wounds at great personal danger."

Sergt. James' wound and the winning of his decoration followed hard on the baptism of fire undergone by the 12th Battery, for he wrote:

Our first baptism of real heavy fighting was at Ypres. I venture to state that on April 22 the 12th Battery was holding the most foremost position in the Ypres salient. On the evening of that day, about 7 o'clock, the Germans commenced to bombard from all sides of the salient, and launched the powerful gas fumes. It was simply hell let loose, and no one seemed to know just what was really happening. The attack was so heavy and accurate that one shell passed clean through the shield of No. 3 gun.

The major never turned a hair. He just watched the French falling back past our guns, and questioned some of them till he found out the exact position of the break in the line. Then he ordered the guns switched on the break, and then gave them some gun-fire.

Switching Saved Guns.

I certainly believe that the switching of the guns saved them that night. It held the Germans long enough for brave Lieut. Scandrett to come up with the horses, limber up and take the guns out of action. We then retired to a position directly opposite the break, and from that position we were chased to another, but never once did the German artillery succeed in silencing the old 12th. We pumped shells into the Germans till we simply had to cease fire to cool the guns.

On April 24 the Germans opened a terrific fire on our battery. The shrapnel commenced to burst 100 yards directly in front of the battery.

As soon as the major saw the shells bursting on our front he ordered all men to take cover at once, and thank God he did. He had studied the German method of firing so thoroughly that he could tell what their next range would be, and sure enough the next range burst directly over the battery. They fired about 50 rounds at that range, and had the major not ordered us to take cover, every man would have been killed or had the major lost his head and tried to retire, the result would have been the same.

Major Stayed With Guns.

Though Major Leonard ordered his men to take cover, he would take none himself, nor leave the guns. He stayed with them right through all the fire.

As soon as the Germans ceased firing, believing they had silenced our battery for good, we dragged our guns to a safe position without the loss of a life.

Although James' home is in Smith's Falls, he was working in London when war was declared, and was one of the first to sign up with the 6th Battery for overseas service, and went with the battery when it left London August 28, 1914. The sergeant has been on the staff of the British-Canadian recruiting mission for some time, and is now on duty at New York. This is the reason that the belated award is being made on American soil.

Marvelous Work by British Airmen and Thunderous Duels Preface the Coming Stupendous Conflict Between Allies and Teutons.

London, March 14.—British raiders brought back prisoners from the German position near Epehy, southwest of Cambrai last night. The official statement from the war office today also reports the repulse of a German raid in the Ypres sector.

BELGIANS ROUT BOCHES.

Paris, March 14—French aviators on Wednesday accounted for thirteen machines, according to a statement from the war office tonight, which also reports a successful Belgian forward movement near Lombaertzyde.

"Belgian communication: Shortly after daybreak, after a violent bombardment our troops entered the enemy trenches southeast of Lombaertzyde. After killing the occupants of the trenches in the first line and moving forward, we checked a violent counterattack in hand-to-hand fighting. The enemy then retired to his second line. The artillery was active along the whole front Tuesday, most violently in the Nieuport and Dixmude sectors.

British Front in France and Belgium.

Tuesday, March 12.—This has been another day of ideal fighting weather, but there has been no change in the situation. The British and German military machines, tuned up to the finest pitch and probably as nearly perfect as it is possible to make them, are still awaiting the signal which will send them crashing against each other.

Thunderous Duels.

Meanwhile the artillery pounds away in thunderous duels at various points and myriad airmen are busy bombing, photographing and acting as eyes for the respective armies.

The British airmen have been doing marvelous work recently. The first ten days of March, as a whole, have been among the best yet recorded for the service. During that period, in addition to a vast amount of reconnoitring and photographing, the intrepid Britishers destroyed 39 German airplanes and brought down 40 others out of control, despite the fact that the first two or three days of the month were so stormy that aerial activity was virtually impossible. Against this great total fifteen British machines are reported missing. Yesterday another fine record was made, but the official figures are not yet available.

Carry the War to Huns.

There have been many air battles and virtually all have occurred behind the German lines, which means that the British airmen have been carrying the aerial war vigorously into the enemy territory. Of the German machines destroyed, all but two were sent crashing down back of the German lines. The amount of photography work that has been done is amazing and a large number of the pictures were taken at close quarters.

Bombing raids by British aviators have been almost continuous. One of the most successful expeditions was that against three enemy airdromes on March 9. This raid was carried out by a large number of machines during the daytime. A British aerial fleet arrived at an hour when numbers of German machines about to start were standing in a field near their hangars. The British attacked at a height of four hundred feet, and, because of their low altitude were able to shoot with disastrous effect. Several buildings were set on fire, and direct hits were observed among the German machines.

Attacked Transport.

The British returned flying at a height of a hundred feet, which just enabled them to clear the tree tops. They used their guns on every military object in sight. The first attack was made on a horse transport. Some of the horses were killed, and the rest stampeded, upsetting the wagons. Another horse transport was stampeded and then a detachment of marching infantry came into range. Equally effective was the shooting against some cavalry, two officers being among the men toppled from their saddles.

All the British machines returned safely. As a matter of fact, they were not attacked by the enemy at all.

THE WAR SITUATION

Favorable weather on most of the western front has led to increased fighting, but none of the armies has yet made an attack in great strength. All apparently are keyed up to the highest pitch, and the raids into opposing trenches are becoming stronger each day.

All Raids Repulsed.

In the Champagne, where the German artillery has been very active, the French have withstood a German attack. The effort was repulsed by the French with severe losses to the attackers. British troops in the Ypres area Wednesday took the initiative, and in a raid southeast of Polygon wood captured 37 prisoners and one machine gun. The German artillery activity is intense on the Ypres sector, and between Arras and Armentieres, where strong German raids earlier in the week were repulsed by British and Portuguese troops.

On the coastal sector in Palestine, north of Jaffa, the British have advanced three miles on an eleven-mile front. Six villages were taken and two streams crossed in the face of Turkish resistance. A slight advance also has been made on the Jerusalem-Nabulus road in Central Palestine.

Germans Hold Odessa.

In the east, the Germans now hold Odessa, the great Russian seaport on the Black Sea, which probably will be used as the base for an invasion of India by way of Persia or as the terminal of grain shipments from Russia to the central empires. Turko-German plans in the Caucasus, which included the surrender by Russia of three Caucasan provinces, which would provide a roadway to Persia and the Caspian, were opposed by the Caucasus Government. Turkey has been informed that the Caucasus Government does not recognize the treaty with the Bolsheviki, and that it should treat with the Caucasus direct.

Shipping Losses.

British shipping losses for the past week total 18 vessels, the same number as lost in the two previous weeks. There is an increase, however, in the number of larger ships sunk. Fifteen of 1,600 tons or over is reported this week, while in the previous two weeks the ships of large tonnage numbered fourteen and twelve, respectively.

German airships again raided the east coast of England Wednesday night and a number of bombs were dropped. Tuesday night's zeppelin raid was ineffective, all of the bombs dropping harmlessly.

CLOUDBURST INUNDATED ONE-THIRD OF HORNELL; BRAVE PHONE GIRLS

Rochester, N. Y., March 4.—Scores of families have been driven from their homes and all industries in Hornell are paralyzed as the result of a disastrous flood due to a cloudburst that swept down the valley of the Genesee early this morning, inundating one-third of the city.

Soon after the storm broke and a flood was threatened, the girls in the Hornell Telephone Exchange sent warnings to persons living in the danger districts, probably saving many from harm and possible death.

MICHIGAN ALSO SUFFERS.

Detroit, March 14.—Damage estimated at more than a million dollars has been wrought in Lower Michigan by the tremendous rainfall of the past 24 hours. In some districts railroad traffic has been abandoned. In the outlying section of Detroit flood conditions prevail.

HARTLEPOOL IS BOMBED BY ZEPPS; FIVE KILLED

London, March 14.—In last night's air raid one airship crossed the coast and dropped four bombs on Hartlepool. Six dwelling houses were demolished, and thirty were damaged. Five persons were killed and nine injured.

Last night's raid was the second in two days over England by zeppelins, which previously had not been employed in these attacks for several months. In neither case, however, was an attempt made to reach the London district, where German dirigibles met with disaster on previous expeditions. In Tuesday night's raid Hull was bombed. Hartlepool, attacked last night, is a North Sea port of some 65,000 inhabitants, in Northern England.

DOMINION MUST PLAN FOR FUEL SUPPLIES FOR NEXT TEN YEARS

Engineering Expert Declares Coal Situation Is Serious.

Toronto, March 14.—"Canada must plan for a fuel supply, not merely for next year, but for a decade to come," said Prof. Peter Gillespie, chairman of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, in discussing today the plans and purpose of the conference which has been called to meet here on March 26 and 27 to discuss the fuel situation in Canada.

Prof. Gillespie declares that the situation is serious. "It would not be surprised if the United States should soon put an embargo on its coal. Canada has large fuel resources even if they are not ideal. It is our purpose to have the men who know tell the facts as they are about these fuel resources so that the public will know the situation as it is."

Prof. Gillespie points out that the general view is that electricity cannot be used for heating purposes as yet at a reasonable cost. Peat may not be available for heating for another year at least. Oil may be suitable for use in large buildings, but possibly not in the ordinary dwelling. Gas and wood as city house heaters are also problematical. All these points will be discussed by experts at the conference.

One feature of conference will be the offer of free wood to the people of Ontario by provincial officials. Albert O. Riggs, deputy minister of lands and forests, and E. J. Zavitz, provincial forester, are to tell where the wood can be had for the hauling.

SECOND HOSPITAL SHIP ATTACKED BY GERMANS IN BRISTOL CHANNEL

London, March 14.—The hospital ship Guilford Castle was attacked unsuccessfully by a submarine in the Bristol Channel on March 10, it was announced officially today.

This is the second submarine attack on British hospital ships recently. A fortnight ago the Glenart Castle was sunk in the Bristol Channel, about 150 lives being lost. The sinking, an official announcement said, was a violation of the German pledge as to the immunity of hospital ships in that area.

The Guilford Castle is a steamship of 8,036 tons gross. The Bristol Channel in which the attack was made is an arm of the Atlantic extending into the southwestern part of Great Britain between Wales and England.

She was flying Red Cross flags and had all her hospital lights on. Two torpedoes were fired, the first missing and the second hitting the vessel's bow. Although badly damaged, she was able to reach port. There were many sick and wounded on board. These were transferred to a hospital.

ALAND ISLANDS ASK FOR CONSIDERATION AT CONFERENCE ON PEACE

London, March 14.—The people of the Aland Islands have sent an appeal to the Finnish Government and the German and Swedish monarchs asking that their wishes be considered before the final peace conference is held, the Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph says.

The Aland Islands, in the Baltic between Finland and Sweden, belong to Finland. Sweden, several weeks ago, sent a small force there to protect their nationals, and recently Germany was reported to have landed troops on the islands.

CAUCASUS GOVERNMENT HAS NOT RECOGNIZED AGREEMENT OF BREST

Suggests There Might Be Some Negotiations at Least.

Stockholm, March 13.—The Caucasus Government has communicated with Constantinople, inquiring if Turkey does not desire to conduct peace negotiations with it, in view of the Turkish commander's proposal that the Caucasus armies evacuate the districts of Batum, Kars and Ardahan, in conformity with the Brest-Litovsk agreement. This agreement the Caucasus Government has already announced it did not recognize.

SAP SEASON FAST APPROACHING HERE, WITH BIG PROSPECT

No Concerted Action, However, To Tap City Trees.

The sap season is well under way in Southwestern Ontario in the vicinity of Essex. Gradually the spring is creeping north and east and it will not be long before the sap harvest will be in full swing in this district. Already some farmers have made a start.

Maple sugar and syrup production from the sap are the first step in the 1918 greater production campaign. Farmers are being urged to tap every maple tree possible. Some centres are taking it up and preparing to have all the trees in the cities and towns tapped. No such action has been taken here. It is said that the majority of the trees here are too young for tapping.

There is one stumbling block in the way of a large increase of sugar and syrup. That is the scarcity of wood and the disinclination of the farmers to use the wood to boil the sap while they may get $17 a cord for this wood.

There is a big market for syrup and sugar. The Allied countries are on sugar rations. There is a great shortage of beet and cane sugar. Canada in the past has absorbed 75 per cent of the sugar maple production, and the United States has eagerly grabbed up the balance and looked for more. Maple sugar is one of the most wholesome substitutes for sugar and the candy-makers of the United States have been asked to conserve by the use of substitutes.

There is another new and large market for maple sugar, the front. Canadian soldiers have introduced it and the demand is ever increasing. Thousands of pounds have been sent overseas by the Red Cross. This has also created the foundation for a permanent export trade and a market without limit.

Local dealers in materials necessary for the gathering of sap report a brisk demand for them among the farmers of London district.

WANTS CITY DOCTOR

Special Physician May Be Retained to Pass on Charity Cases.

The city council is considering the advisability of appointing a physician to pass on all indigent cases sent to the hospitals or charitable institutions. At present physicians send indigents direct to these hospitals, and the city, as a general thing, must pay the shot. It is believed the city could save a considerable amount of money by naming a physician to pass on all such cases. It is claimed that many who are sent have no right to be in such places at the city's expense.

A special committee will probably investigate.

ARMENIAN, CONSCRIPTED BY TURKS, COMES HERE TO ENLIST IN C. E. F.

Man Who Was Forced To Serve Under the Crescent Volunteers To Fight Against Oppressors.

After serving under the Turkish crescent—albeit compulsory — Joseph Bloom, a 21-year-old Armenian, aspires to wear the Maple Leaf of the Canadian Expeditionary Force on his collar and fight against the Teutonic allies of his late taskmasters and oppressors of the Turkish army.

Bloom arrived in London today with a detachment of men signed up by the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission in New York City. He is now undergoing his medical examination before the mobilization centre medical boards and if found fit, will take his place in the ranks of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R.

According to the story of the Armenian recruit, he was captured in a Turkish raid at the beginning of the war, and dragged off by his captors to serve in the Turkish army. He escaped, he says, with 100 fellow countrymen one night, and managed to reach Jerusalem. From there he made his way to Havre, France, and across to the English channel, landing in England. From England he took passage to Halifax, and later went to New York after having been given a refugee bonus of $40 by the British Government. For the past 17 months, he declares, he has been making munitions in New York and enlisted there on Wednesday with the British-Canadian Recruiting Mission.

Speaking of his experience in the Turkish army, the would-be Canadian soldier, declared that neither he or his countrymen knew at what moment they would be killed to gratify the caprice of their officers. The slaughter of so many fellow countrymen in the Armenian massacres bred a blood lust in the Turks, says Bloom, which found an outlet in the slaying for little or no cause of the Armenian conscripts forced against their will into the ranks of the army of oppression.

REFUSAL TO GIVE INFORMATION IS SIGNAL FOR ARREST

Discourtesy Results, in One Case, in Court Charge.

As a result of the questioning of 105 men in London on Wednesday and today, by investigators on the staff of Lieut. C. H. Atkinson, deputy inspector of Dominion police for this district, two were arrested.

Archibald McAuley, a Delaware Township youth, was taken into custody by Lieut. Atkinson at 9 o'clock this morning after his refusal to satisfactorily answer questions put to him. McAuley was approached on the market square. He informed Lieut. Atkinson that he was 19 years of age, but when pressed for additional information as to the exact date of his birth, told the officer he "could find out for himself." Lieut. Atkinson therefore placed him under arrest, and had him charged in court with a breach of the military service act.

McAuley assumed an air of utmost indifference when being questioned by Magistrate Graydon. Leaning his elbow on the ledge of the prisoner's dock, with his hand resting on his chin, he chewed gum as he answered the magistrate's questions. McAuley still maintained that he was only 19 years of age. He was held in detention pending the arrival of his father, who was communicated with. If the father can satisfy the authorities that the boy is only 19 he will be released, otherwise a certificate will have to be procured.

The other young man who was arrested Wednesday was released after being held for some hours. He was arrested by one of the deputy inspector's men because he also declined to give satisfactory answers to questions. When told to show his birth certificate, he told the investigator to go and get it if he wanted it. His discourtesy resulted in his immediate arrest. His mother was informed and secured the birth certificate.

Lieut. Atkinson issues a warning that any further discourtesy to his men, who are merely discharging their duties, may be met by additional charges laid as provided under the act for men who refuse to give information or give wrong information concerning themselves. A penalty is provided for such an offence under the act, even if the man's age does not make him eligible.

It is also advised that all men liable to be taken for men between 20 and 34 ages secure birth certificates and carry them. Marriage certificates or certified copies, if kept in their possession by married men, might relieve them at times of unnecessary trouble, the deputy inspector states.

Quick, Safe Way To Remove Hairs

(Toilet Talks.)

Keep a little delatone powder on your dressing table and when ugly, hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.—Advt.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

STREET RAILWAY FARES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The manager of the London Street Railway Company asks what we would do if we owned the London street railway? If Mr. King really intends someone to suggest, I would say that the first thing I would do if I owned the London street railway would be to give some better service. If London street car fares are the cheapest in Canada, the service is equally as cheap. A couple of days ago, the writer got off the C. P. R. train, and walked, no car being in sight, and got as far as Dundas before the first car caught up to me. I have often walked from Adelaide to Richmond without a car overtaking me. In the evenings, very little if any provision is made to take care of the working people from the factories. If I owned the street railway I would put some pepper into every employee and speed up those old cars. If they got out of that way of snailing along, there would be better car service. Go over to Chicago or Detroit and see if you see a street car dragging and grinding along like you see here. See if you have to wait for an age for a car standing out these cold days. If I owned the street railway I would first give the people something for their money, then if I could not make money on my investment, I would go to the city and ask them to either put on some efficient bookkeepers and see the real money (not watered or promotion stock) I had in the railway, and prove to their satisfaction that I either had to have the same fares as other cities or I would quit business or sell out to the city. Nearly every citizen here will tell you that if the street railway would speed up a little there is not a day but they would have room on the car when otherwise, no car in sight, they walk. I like to see a man or a company who invest their money for gain or loss take their gain or loss without squealing. The city of London made a bargain with the railway, and the city of London has no more right to change that bargain with the railway people than the city has a right to refund me half of my taxes. The writer came here a few years ago, and my taxes have doubled. I have just as much right to ask for half of my money back as the railway. Rents are not as high with me as they were before the war, and more than that my property won't sell for more than half what I could have sold for before the war, and I would be ashamed to come to this city and say I had made a mistake when I came here and want a refund on my taxes. The same thing applies to the street railway, and if as a citizen of this city I had anything to say about it the street railway would have to do a lot more than crawfish for more fares by writing daily talks of this kind. They would have to open up those books and have their line of railway valued by people who know railways, and then if it's true they are losing money, let the city buy them out, and give us some service that is worth the extra price. No city should allow any private company the rights of street railways. Thanking you for this space. Yours truly,

RATEPAYER.

TOMMY'S CIGARETTES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your issue of March 7 appeared a letter over the signature of Scottish-Canadian, in which the writer deprecated sending tobacco to soldiers overseas, and, if he had his way, would also deprive the boys in the trenches of stimulating drinks.

He says he would not thank anyone for sending cigarettes to his boy. Very good. If his boy does not like cigarettes or strong drink, he certainly will not be compelled to take them; and if he is manly enough to refuse them as a matter of principle when offered, then he is indeed an exemplary man. But, in the name of common sense and justice, why should your correspondent or anyone else seek to deprive others of these things to whom they may be essential, or a comfort? Personally, I am a non-smoker, and not addicted to drink, but I say give the boys in the trenches all that is necessary of such things for their comfort and well being.

Scottish-Canadian argues that because tobacco is a poison it is detrimental to the soldiers. Fudge! If your correspondent didn't get any poison into his system, he wouldn't live very long, for there is poison in many of the foods he eats. It is the excess of poison that kills; moreover, it takes one poison to kill another, and tobacco is a splendid antidote to kill many other insidious diseases.

Supposing the men who smoke and drink, in moderation, were to argue that it was wrong to go to church and Sunday school, that ministers of the gospel were wasting their time, and should be engaged in productive labor; and should enact legislation to that effect. Hully gee! Wouldn't there be some howl? They surely have as much right to do this as any church organization has the right to enact legislation infringing on the rights and liberties of others with regard to smoking or drinking. I was pleased to see in The Advertiser of recent date that ten young ladies of Ailsa Craig had collected a lot of money to buy smokes for the soldiers. I take off my hat to these young ladies, regardless of what religious denomination they are.

In conclusion, I think we should endeavor to look at these problems from the standpoint of the golden rule: "Do unto others even as ye would they should do unto you." Because if we don't, then some day they may "do" us in a way we may not like.

FAIRPLAY.

THE SOLDIERS' SMOKES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Would you please give the following a place in your "Voice of the People," being a reader of your valuable paper? I would like to ask you or the people of London if they think "Scotch Canadian" is in his or her right mind, wishing tobacco cut out for the boys at the front.

Now, I have two brothers, two brothers-in-law and a father that has returned, and the one comfort for them, when they came out of the firing line, was a good smoke and a toddy of rum. My two brothers (one of whom was killed in action) never took a drink of intoxicating liquor in their civil life, but they did look for a swallow of rum after wallowing in mud and water for days at a time, so if "Scottish Canadian" and a few more of his or her kind would go away back and sit down and mind their own business, why it would please a good many more to look after theirs, and if their life is too miserable to live, why do they try and pull others into their way of thinking? But a few of those so-called temperance people have got pretty near what they want in the way of drink being kept out of Ontario that they have got to find another hobby to play with, and that is tobacco. They are so mean that they cannot mind their own business. They have to meddle with other people's instead of staying around where they belong, and conserving their voice to give the boys a cheer as they come home. I would say to cut out the wind and gas, and try and mind my own business, and I guess the boys can look after theirs. I don't know what age your boy is if you have one, but from what I can make out by your letter, he is not far away from home, and if he is near or of military age I hope they send him out and give him some of your own medicine, and then he might be able to tell you what is good for the boys. I do not wish him or anybody else harm, but I guess he would come to a more sensible way of thinking what was good for him, rather than have other people dictating what is good and bad for him, and if a pipe of tobacco and a toddy of rum would save his life, why you could not be mean enough to refuse it. Thanking you in advance, I am. Yours truly,

SISTER SUE.

DOWN TO BRASS TACKS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

While the street railway company is seeking concessions from the people in the way of increased fares with which to meet what it claims is the burden of war time conditions, I would like to inquire into the actual willingness of the company to deal with the people on a fair and broad basis.

The company claims that it is suffering and that the efficiency of the service is in danger. Furthermore, the company's advertising is constantly shouting a willingness to co-operate with the people. Under these circumstances we should get down to brass tacks.

Letters published in your columns reveal the prevalence of the opinion that the company is seeking higher fares for the purpose of gobbling greater profits when conditions return to normal and costs come down after the war. There should be some means of safeguarding the people's interests, and the only way to do that is to give the people a voice in the affairs of the road until such times as they are prepared to consider applying the principle of public ownership to the system.

I would suggest that this could be accomplished by holding the company down to a definite percentage of profit. If at any time the earnings of the road exceed that definite rate, then I would compel the company to hand over the excess to the people. This money could be held in a separate account by the city treasurer, and used to adjust fares. As soon as this amount showed a sufficient increase, I would have the council order the company to reduce the fares to the people to that extent, and if it should ever happen that the reduction was too great, the fund in the hands of the city treasurer would provide the safety valve. Then we would be able to give the people service at cost.

But by such a plan the people would have to have some protection against a possible scheme of the company to run the road in an extravagant way, and then boost the fares. Throwing open the books to us is all right, but by the time we see the books the money may be spent. What we want is actual representation for the people in the management of the road. Let the city council appoint two or three of the company's directors, to sit in at all sessions and to keep in close touch with what is really going on. That is not a bit too much for the people of London, who own the streets, to ask of the company that uses them, and if the company is really in earnest in its claims to be fair, it will come accoss. Yours truly,

GEORGE F. COPELAND.

BILIOUS SPELLS BECOME A HABIT

And It Requires Active Treatment to Break Up the Sluggish, Torpid Condition of the Liver.

Drumbo, March 13.—So often you meet people who are feeling miserable and out of sorts, unable to relish their food and suffering from headaches and indigestion. "It is only one of my bilious spells," they will tell you. "I have had them for years."

In other words, they have allowed this condition to become so established that it is like a habit to them to have periodical spells of biliousness.

It is easy to break up such an unfortunate habit by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. By acting directly on the liver they insure the activity of this organ in removing bile from the blood, the action of the bowels is corrected, and the digestive organs resume their natural functions.

Mr. D. C. Maynard, retired farmer, Drumbo, Ont., writes: "I was subject to sick headache and poor appetite. These bilious spells would come on me about every two weeks, and often I would have to go to bed and could not eat. This trouble was overcome by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which aroused the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels and made me feel like a new man.

"As I had also suffered from catarrh for years and was quite deaf, I began using Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder. This treatment has done wonders for me, clearing the stuffed-up air passages, restoring hearing and overcoming foul breath. It is a pleasure to recommend medicines which have done so much for me."

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advt.

WOMEN WHO FASCINATE

The art of fascination and attractiveness in women is founded on good health. Women who drag through long hours, days, weeks and sometimes months of suffering with headaches, backache and dragging-down pains, soon wear the tell-tale expression of woe and misery. If every such woman would only turn to that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to alleviate such ailments it would surely prove the greatest aid to health and consequent beauty that she has ever known.

CANNED VEGETABLES ARE TO BE BANNED AGAIN THIS SUMMER

Food Board Wants Intensive Backyard Cultivation.

As was the case last summer, stores will this summer be forbidden to sell canned vegetables while fresh ones are in season. Fred Abraham, head of the home garden section of the Canada Food Board, is the authority for the statement. Mr. Abraham is making an appeal for increased cultivation of vacant lots. He says garden production is second in importance only to the production on the larger farm areas, and these must be reserved for the growth of staple necessities, such as wheat, beef, bacon and exportables for allied armies.

Mr. Abraham's warning is timely this year. It will enable many who did not plant gardens last year to get into the game and provide against the time when canned goods are not available.

What Government Officials Say

In his report for 1917 the United States Comptroller of the Currency, Hon. John Skelton Williams, emphasizes the importance of maintaining the efficiency and credit of public utilities.

If such enterprises are allowed to sink into inefficiency through lack of revenue, he states, much of the most important war work of the Government will be crippled or paralyzed.

Mr. Williams says further: "The first and most direct relief can be given by . . . municipal and local authorities, with the broad-minded co-operation of the people generally. It is essential . . . that the companies also be permitted to make such additions to their charges for service as will keep them solvent, protect their owners against unjust loss and give them a basis of credit on which they may obtain funds to meet the strain put on them.

. . . The breaking down of these companies would be a national calamity."

President Wilson and the secretary of the United States treasury, William G. McAdoo, have also discussed the public utility problem in public recently. They, too, agree that increases in price should be granted where necessary.

"ONE WOMAN ENOUGH" SAYS DESERTER DENYING BIGAMY

Admits Theft and Desertion, But Says Army Separation Statement Was To Get Money for Sister.

Without the slightest hesitation, Charles Mallings, 338½ Ridout street, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to two charges of theft and one of desertion from the Canadian army, but when the magistrate read a fourth charge, that of bigamy, Mallings replied: "Nothing doing on that stuff. I have one woman, and that's enough."

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon remanded the prisoner to jail for one week in order to permit the crown attorney to secure information from Chicago before proceeding with the trial.

The thefts of a typewriter from the office of Sergt.-Major W. H. Prouse at military headquarters and a bicycle from Corp. E. Poulter on September 10, 1917, were admitted by the prisoner. His plea of guilty to deserting from the Canadian Engineers on September 17 last was registered next.

When it came to the charge of bigamy, Mallings strenuously denied that he had more than one wife. He admitted going through a form of marriage with Dora Plank on August 1, 1917.

Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop produced papers to show that when he enlisted in July last the prisoner stated he was married and gave his wife's name as Rose Mallings, Chicago.

Mallings explanation was that he had informed the military authorities that he was married in order to defraud the army, as the separation allowance supposed to have gone to his wife had in reality been assigned to his sister.

Mallings was arrested in Toledo a few days ago, and was handed over to Detective Egelton at Windsor Wednesday by a Toledo officer.

VETERANS DISAPPOINTED AT SMALLNESS OF GRANT

Continue, However, With Canvass for Funds.

Members of the Great War Veterans' Association are disappointed at the smallness of the city grant, $200, recommended by the finance committee, as the municipal aid to the association's work. Under the city bylaws this is the largest grant possible without a vote of the people, however.

The association, a committee of which is now canvassing the downtown district for financial support in securing new quarters, is reporting good success, however, and the G. W. V. A. will go on with its plans.

The officers hope to secure a vacant hotel, such as the Brantford branch has, and equip it as a soldiers' home. It is the intention to build such a home, after the war, but in the meantime temporary quarters were sought. In Brantford the city furnished twelve of the rooms for the G. W. V. A.

The London grant is the smallest of any of the city branches in Canada. Ottawa gave $40,000; Toronto, $11,000 last year, and $10,000 this year; Hamilton, $3,500; Brantford, $1,200; St. Thomas, $600, with free light, fuel and rent; Welland, free light, fuel and rent, and Guelph, $2,500.

He became ill there, and was invalided home to Canada. He is now under treatment in the Guelph Convalescent Hospital.

THE GREAT NEED FOR RICH RED BLOOD

To be perfectly healthy the human body requires a constant supply of new rich blood. Nearly all the ills from which people suffer arise from one cause—poverty of the blood. If the blood is rich and strong it absorbs nourishment from the food which passes into the stomach and distributes that nourishment to the brain, nerves, muscles and every part of the body. When the blood is weak and poor in quality it cannot do its natural work of feeding brain and body—hence weakness and disease.

Headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, poor digestion, nervous irritability, pimples and unsightly blotches on the skin all indicate that the blood has become impure, that it is not doing its appointed work, and that your condition if not remedied will grow worse and worse. To bring about a perfectly healthy condition no medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their one mission is to make new, rich red blood, which reaches every part of the body bringing with it new health and increasing vitality. Thousands testify to the truth of this statement, many of whom may be found in your own neighborhood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

LIST OF DEFAULTERS IN LONDON DISTRICT ISSUED BY MILITIA

Eighty-Two Names Handed Out at Headquarters.

MANY TIMES RECHECKED

Effort Made Not To Include Names of Men Not Absentees.

After being several times checked and rechecked by both the military authorities and the deputy registrar's department, the first list of defaulters to be issued in this district was handed to The Advertiser today at district headquarters.

Lists have been published in other districts for some time, but the authorities in Western Ontario were determined not to give out the names until they were absolutely certain that they were correct.

Instructions issued from Ottawa required, that the names be forwarded by the deputy registrar to the military authorities, so that the names of those men who had reported before they had been ordered to do so, and those who had reported late, could be struck from the list of those who had failed to report. After a second checking by the military authorities, they were again checked by the deputy registrar, and have now been returned to district headquarters today.

All Failed To Report.

The list contains the names of 82 men who have failed to respond to the orders to report for service under the military service act.

"It is as nearly correct as it is possible for us to make it," said a headquarters officer to The Advertiser today. "Great care has been taken to avoid publishing the name of any man who is not a defaulter." The names of those sick and have sent certificates, and who will report when better, are not included in the list.

This list, each name preceded by the serial number, and followed by the address, follows:

AGED JOHN PROBYN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Mail-Carrier in Hospital and Skull May Be Fractured

John Probyn, aged 68, a mail driver, residing at 379 Grosvenor street, was so badly hurt in a collision at the corner of Wolfe and Waterloo streets last evening that he may not recover. He was rushed to Victoria Hospital, and at 3 o'clock this afternoon Victoria Hospital authorities stated that Probyn's condition was still critical. It is not yet known whether he will survive or not. He is still in a semi-conscious condition.

Mr. Probyn was making a collection of the evening mail when, it is stated, his wagon was hit by an auto driven by Arthur Harrison, 871 Dundas street. The wagon was wrecked and the horse ran away. The mail was scattered and Mr. Probyn was picked up unconscious and carried into a nearby house. The mail was taken to the home of Inspector McLean of the postoffice staff. Mr. Probyn is the father of John and Samuel Probyn of Detroit, and his wife only left a few days ago to visit with them. She was notified and is expected home today. Sam Probyn was a member of the London police force for many years.

After the accident Harrison called a doctor and an ambulance, and then went to the police station and reported what had happened.

When interviewed today, Harrison stated that the accident was purely unavoidable, and that he was only proceeding at a rate of speed less than 15 miles an hour. He stopped, he claims, within 20 feet after his car hit the mail wagon. He further claims that Probyn was on the wrong side of the street, and that the aged man had admitted this in an interview to him at the hospital this morning.

CHARGE INDIAN DESERTED

County Police Completes Round-Up of Alleged Absentees.

Peter Schuyler, an Indian, whose home is on the Muncey Reserve, was arrested at Dorchester Wednesday by County Constable Alex. Shaver on a warrant charging him with desertion from the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R.

The information states that Schuyler deserted from the unit to which he was attached early in January last. He was handed over to a military escort today and will be dealt with by the military authorities.

Under the recent order-in-council in which Indians were given exemption from compulsory military service, Schuyler will escape serving in a military capacity, although he may be sentenced on the desertion charge.

Schuyler's arrest completes the list of a number of warrants given to the county authorities who have been successful in apprehending every man sought.

READY FOR SPRING

McCormick Gardening Association Organizes for Year.

At the initial meeting of the McCormick Manufacturing Company's Gardening Association, held this week, C. H. Joyce was elected president and John Wilson secretary-treasurer.

Ald. Fred Watkinson addressed the meeting, emphasizing the necessity for growing as much food as possible this season. Addresses were also given by employees of the company.

The association will work in conjunction with the London Vacant Lot Association. The company has donated the use of ten acres in the rear of the factory. Last year 50 lots were cultivated.

Three prizes will be given to the employees who make the best use of their lots. Quantity and quality of the vegetables grown will be taken into consideration when the prizes are awarded.

The secretary is receiving many applications from the men for plots. These will be allotted at the next meeting. Some of the employees are asking for four lots.

Many of the employees have large gardens at their homes which they will work in addition to the lots at the factory.

POKE SHAPE IN FAVOR

Brilliant Millinery Display Today at R. J. Young's Store.

Although the rain came drizzling down from the murky overhead and gloom prevailed in London streets today, a far different aspect was presented in R. J. Young's store, where the brilliant millinery display recalled once more sunny skies and dainty flowers of a season almost forgotten. Hats of every color and every shape, ready to suit the most fastidious taste and become faces of every shape and coloring, were on display. Large picture hats, many of them transparent shapes, are what Dame Fashion decrees for dress occasions, while the small toques are for tailored wear. The poke shape, with its dainty floral trimmings and French combinations of color, was most in evidence. Blues and gold, rose and sand, are to be seen combined in the most exclusive models, while milan, leghorn and lisere are the most popular straws. Fancy braids and lace straws are used to finish the edges of some of the best models.

Troubled for Years With BRONCHITIS

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Gave Instant Relief.

Bronchitis is a disease which is very prevalent during the late winter and early spring, when there are sudden atmospheric changes. It is a condition of inflammation of the bronchial tubes which produces mucous or phlegm. This irritates the throat and causes you to cough in order to get rid of it. The cough may be tight or loose according as to whether this mucous is sticky and hard to remove, or soft and easily expelled.

Bronchitis is not really dangerous, but the complications which are liable to follow makes it necessary to get rid of it on the first sign. This you can do by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A remedy that has been on the market for over 25 years.

John D. McFarlane, Jr., S. W. Margaree, N. S., writes: "I was troubled for years with bronchitis, and could not find any relief. I was especially bad on a damp day. I went to a druggist and asked him for something to stop the constant tickling in my throat. He gave me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I found gave me instant relief. It is the best remedy for bronchitis I know of, and I now take care that I always have a bottle of it on hand."

See that you get "Dr. Wood's." Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c; manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RIGHT OF WAY FARMS

C. P. R. Employees Urged to Cultivate Waste Land.

In order to assist in the greater production movement the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has sent out notices urging all section foremen, station agents, and other employees to cultivate all vacant land available along the right-of-way.

The company states that no rental will be charged for the land, and calls upon all its employees to produce as great an amount of foodstuffs as possible.

If the employees take advantage of the company's offer it is estimated that hundreds of acres of foodstuffs will be produced along the right-of-way.

103 PER CENT PROFIT ON PAPER.

A STATEMENT just issued by the Riordan Pulp and Paper Company shows that concern to have made a profit of 103 per cent on its preferred stock during 1917. The net earnings were $1,943,651. A large allowance was made for depreciation. More than 21 per cent was earned on the common stock. The company made $375,364 in 1915.

It is safe to make the assertion in view of this showing that in 1917 this paper company made more money than all the newspapers of Canada put together.

FREE SPACE AT AN END.

THE press of Canada is to all intents and purposes the official mouthpiece for the nation. The business of all governments is promulgated through the columns of newspapers. If the governments had to make known by any means the business which they transact, the cost would run into millions. At the same time the issuing of dry documents to the public would not be designed to increase the spread of public information. Newspapers get at the vital facts of government and serve these facts in such a manner as to appeal to the public, together with world and local activities and many special features.

The Government having permitted an enormous increase in the price of newsprint through its commissioner, the tendency for newspapers will be to print less and less of the thousands of columns of free publicity which are given each year to Government enterprises. Newspapers will be compelled to conserve their space as never before. The free reading notices sent out by most Government departments will be "boiled down" or thrown away. The Government will find that in its appeals to the public and its principal movements it will become necessary to reach the public through the medium of paid advertisements. For many years the newspapers have been giving away much of the only stock-in-trade which fills their shelves—news space. The enormously increased cost of paper does not leave the newspapers any choice in the matter.

For every page of a daily newspaper of 30,000 to 100,000 circulation the cost will range from $50 to $100. Every page must yield a certain return unless the newspaper is to close its doors The paper-makers will receive the large share of this yield. For the next year most Canadian newspapers will be working largely for the profit of the paper manufacturer.

BRITAIN CURTAILING BEER.

BRITAIN has made some concession to American and Canadian opinion in deciding to reduce immediately the tonnage to be used for the carrying of brewing material. The figures given in the House of Commons show that only about one-third as much tonnage will be allowed the brewers in 1918 as was placed at their disposal early in the war.

This reduction of 60 per cent in the manufacture of ales, beers and porter would have been looked on as extremely radical had some other Allied nations not gone much farther, and would have been almost drastic enough to satisfy, temporarily, the most extreme temperance people. It is when comparison is made with the total prohibition coming in Canada and the steps taken towards the same end in the United States that it fails to impress with its true force.

Britain has more difficulties to face in dealing with the liquor problem than have Canada, and the United States. It has to make the utmost possible use of every man in the kingdom, and it has to take cognizance of the life-long custom of many of these of drinking beer as freely as water. Discontent among the workers means slackening in production, and there has been the fear, rightly or wrongly based, that the total stoppage of beer production and sale would lead to discontent. Against this has been placed the weakening caused in man by intoxicants, and an attempt has been made to compromise.

Gradual reduction of the supply of beer is a step in the right direction. While it does not go as far as some would wish, it marks progress and points to the conclusion that before many years Britain will be among the countries where there is no opportunity to "look upon the wine when it is red."

THE BACON SITUATION.

WHILE Canadian soldiers in England are giving up their breakfast bacon, voluntarily, in order that their comrades in the trenches may be supplied during the shortage which exists over there, stocks are piling up in Canada because the French cannot finance purchases they desire to make here. The statement regarding the surplus at home is made by Alberta's minister of agriculture, and is given by him as the reason why the consumption of bacon at home has not been prohibited.

Canada's civilian population has been appealed to to eat as little bacon as possible in order that there may be enough to send overseas. We are continually having it impressed on us that the eating of bacon is unpatriotic, as well as expensive.

Does it not seem inconsistent that Canadians are asked to go short so that the bacon may be sent overseas, while stocks are accumulating here for lack of European buyers? If France needs, as is said, 70,000 tons of bacon, could some of that Victory Loan money not be used to finance the purchase on her behalf? If this is not possible, could not some of the surplus pork be sent over to Britain in order that the men in khaki there could have their needs supplied?

Bacon held too long deteriorates in food value, and eventually becomes unfit for human consumption. It would be a serious loss if any of that accumulating in Canada should reach this stage, and those who were responsible for causing it to be held would be guilty of crime. The food controller and Government ought to co-operate to see that stocks are kept moving, and that no waste is allowed to occur.

JOHN DILLON, IRISH LEADER.

JOHN DILLON, M.P., is now the Irish Nationalist leader, and brings to the position years of parliamentary experience and devotion to the Irish cause. In relation to the war, he has not appeared quite so whole-heartedly determined that nothing should stand in the way of Allied victory as did his predecessor, the late John Redmond, but of his loyalty there is no doubt.

Perhaps the greatest difference between the old leader and the new is that John Redmond realized that the war problems were so immense and so pressing that everything else must wait, while in John Dillon's view Ireland comes first.

WESTERN COAL TO THE RESCUE.

"WHY SHOULD the homes and industries of Ontario want fuel while the coal mines of Alberta lack orders?" asks a booklet recently issued by the coal operators of Northern Alberta.

This question is well worth immediate consideration by the dominion fuel controller and by the people of Ontario. Mr. McGrath was formerly manager of one of the western mines, and should be able to bring his experience to bear upon the matter. If the statements made by the western coal operators and by John T. Stirling, chief inspector of mines of the Province of Alberta, are based on facts, there can be little defence for continuing the present system of coal supply for Ontario and the district west of the Great Lakes.

Mr. Stirling points out that during 1917 the production of coal for Alberta was 4,863,414 tons, and with sufficient demand the mines at present in operation could increase this production to 7,500,000 tons without increasing the amount of labor at present engaged or the overhead charges.

The inspector asks why it should be necessary to import into Western Canada 3,000,000 tons of coal per year from the United States at a time when the operation of industry in the United States and Canada is being slowed down because of the shortage of coal. Not only could the western mines provide more than sufficient fuel to meet all demands existing in the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, but the mines could also provide a considerable amount for the American territory within easy reach of the mines.

The westerners claim for their coal that it is entirely suitable for both domestic and industrial consumption. "It is used in stoves and furnaces with immense satisfaction," to quote the pamphlet.

"Why, then, should Canada be cold?" ask the mine operators. At the present time the mines of the west are operating less than fourteen days a month. Full operation would enable the railroads to make use of boxcars at a time when grain is not being carried. Redistribution of the whole coal supply of Canada would enable the country to dismiss its coal problems for next winter, and prove to the United States that Canada was willing to relieve her ally's burden as much as possible. The fuel controller should take some steps toward making full use of Canada's coal supply. Three million tons would help mightily in relieving the eastern situation. Now is the time for action rather than next winter. Since $25,000 fuel experts did not seem to effect much benefit, why not try a little common-sense?

THE FOOD OF LOVE.—A LYRIC OF MEATLESS DAYS.

[Punch.]

Eat to me only with thine eyes
And I will munch with mine;
Or let my lips but brush thy locks
And I shall seem to dine;
The hollow 'neath my belt that lies
For flesh of beeves doth pine;
Yet might I wolf a roasted ox,
I would, of course, decline.

I sent thee once a juicy steak
To prove thy troth and see
If in that stern ordeal's test
Steadfast thou still wouldst be,
And thou thereof one sniff didst take
And post it back to me,
Since when I wear it next my chest,
Potted, for love of thee.

A JUG-HANDLED BILL.

[Toronto Star.]

Although Mr. Dewart stood alone in his opposition to the bill extending the life of the Legislature, the case against his argument is not as strong as the majority. If an extension is necessary, one year is enough for the present, and future extensions can be provided for as they appear necessary. As the Government, notwithstanding the law, can dissolve the Legislature whenever it pleases it is not too much to say that the arrangement is jug-handled.

Three Questions for You To Answer ---But You Must Answer NOW

(1) If I order The Encyclopaedia Britannica, is it not a bargain if the publishers give me, with the Encyclopaedia, the best dictionary of the English language, absolutely free? I can get the two works at the price of one if I order the Britannica before this sale closes.

(2) Is not the Britannica a fine work in itself? Is it not a superb book to have in the house? I am sure that it is the greatest work of its kind, a veritable library in itself. 200,000 sets of it have been sold, and that certainly speaks well for it. By adding the Dictionary to it, using the two works as occasion arises, would I not be equipped to answer any question, or to learn about anything under the sun?

(3) Is not The Century a fine work, too? 200,000 persons have already bought it. Is not The Century, therefore, a valuable work for me to have? The publishers are selling it separately at $31.50 cash, and this is what I would have to pay for it were it not for the war. To increase the sales of the Britannica here in Western Ontario, the publishers are making an offer good for a few days more, of a free copy of this incomparable dictionary to anyone who orders the Britannica without delay. Do I not owe it to myself to investigate this offer before it is too late to profit by it?

THE ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA---A UNIQUE WORK DEDICATED TO THE SERVICE OF THE PUBLIC

The Encyclopaedia Britannica is the name of a work the purpose of which is to enable a reader to learn whatever he may wish to know about anything. No matter what the subject or fact in which he may be interested, the Britannica will tell him about it, and what it tells him is invariably written with the utmost care and accuracy, by a man or woman who is qualified to write about it because of some special knowledge he or she may have acquired from actual experience or study.

The 1,500 contributors represent, some as scholars, some as industrial experts, some as explorers, financiers, chemists, surgeons, agriculturists, engineers, sailors, soldiers, administrators, and so on through a long list, every variety of work and every sort of human interest. The Britannica is therefore —a complete summary of authoritative knowledge, written by authorities. It consists of 29 volumes, containing 30,000 pages and 41,000 complete articles, comprising some 44,000,000 words of text. There are over 15,000 illustrations and maps, including 450 full-page plates, many of them in color. Every article in the Britannica is founded on the fullest knowledge, and gives the results of the most recent progress.

A LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL INFORMATION

The contributors were selected solely with a view to their commanding knowledge of the subject upon which they were invited to write. For example, a Dutch scientist wrote on light, a Columbia professor on ancient China, a Toronto University professor on the blood, while the article on Mahommedan law came from the Hartford Theological Seminary, notwithstanding the fact that the British Empire has more Mahommedan subjects than any other country. The Britannica is an international work—world-wide in its point of view.

The present or 11th edition is the lineal descendant of ten preceding editions, of which the first was issued in 1768-71. During this long period, more copies of the Britannica have been sold than all other encyclopaedias in all other languages combined.

It has come to be regarded as an institution, rather than a mere book. It has lived because it deserved to live. Here men of learning, men of action and men of practical experience have eagerly co-operated to hand on their knowledge for the instruction of the public. The educational value of the Britannica thus appeals to all intelligent or ambitious persons.

REMEMBER—THAT IF YOU ORDER THE BRITANNICA, YOU ALSO GET THE COMPLETE

CENTURY DICTIONARY

FREE

THIS illustration shows, on the left, The Encyclopaedia Britannica, "Handy Volume" issue, and The Century in its ideal new form, and on the right The Encyclopaedia Britannica, Cambridge University issue, and The Century. This is the Revised, Enlarged New Edition of The Century, complete in 10 volumes, now bound in ONE. The two works together constitute a perfect library of universal reference and utility unparalleled for scope, compactness and convenience. They contain 38,250 pages; 66,000,000 words of text (equal to 660 ordinary books); 866,000 headings (anything suggested by a word or a name); 24,639 illustrations (every one of them instructive and authoritative); 492 full-page plates; 569 maps (more than in any atlas); 300,000 quotations; 50,000 phrases (scientific, technical, descriptive and colloquial); 600,000 definitions—and all for only $1.00 down with order for The Encyclopaedia Britannica "Handy Volume" issue, or $5.00 down for the Cambridge University issue, but in either case, you get the complete Century Dictionary free.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica, "Handy Volume" issue, 29 volumes printed on India paper, and on top the complete Century Dictionary, 10 volumes bound in ONE, printed on specially made thin paper.

"WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD"

Read the letter which follows, written by a purchaser of the Britannica, in which he says that this work is "literally and honestly worth its weight in gold." What does he mean by this?

For the answer ask yourself why has gold always been a symbolic of the highest worth, the most precious or highly prized thing? Because in it value is concentrated, because of its purity, its freedom from dross, its rarity.

Manufacturing thousands of sets of this book so as to multiply its distribution, reduced the cost of each set so as to make it to the purchaser one of the cheapest things money can buy, yet its priceless value remains in the book itself. It is there for you—all pure gold, and for a first payment of only $1.00, if you seize this opportunity so soon to be gone.

PURE GOLD, AND JUST AS VALUABLE.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica is literally and honestly, in my opinion, worth its weight in gold, and yet the terms of purchase are so easy that practically everyone may possess it. If they do not, theirs is indeed a great loss. M. G. Nicolson, Attorney-at-Law, Pretoria, Transvaal.

THOUSANDS COULD NOT BUY HIS SET.

The volumes I have are used by myself, wife and three of five children daily, and we would not be without the book for several thousand dollars. I wish you success, which you deserve, and thank you for the information afforded me.

SAMUEL McFADDEN, Chester, S. C.

NOT FOR SALE AT ANY PRICE.

"There is nothing quite like the Britannica . . . If I should be unable to buy another set of it, all the money in this country would be of no avail in purchasing it." G. W. Sussdorff, 92 Cornell Street, Springfield, Mass.

"Be a Superior Man" ---own the Britannica

I unhesitatingly say that if I were a young man, whether a clerk, a salesman, a farmer, a mechanic, or engaged in one of the professions, as a lawyer, physician, teacher or preacher, I would own this set of books if I had to go without lunch every day and wear a shiny coat.

It is a luxury for which one may well do without some necessities.

It is the mind's wife, a comfort in leisure hours, a stand-by in a crisis, an insurance of virtue.

For any man's intellect, I care not whose, is crippled without this mute and myriad-minded friend at his elbow.

Get the encyclopaedia habit. In other words be a superior man.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.

Copyright 1917 by George Matthew Adams.

JIMMY COON GOES TO SEA.

Jimmy Coon slept all night in that hemlock log as it floated out to sea. You see, there was a nice little bedroom in the top of that big log, and it was just as if Jimmy Coon had a berth in a steamboat.

I think Red-cap, the Woodpecker, had made that hole in the log; for there was a front hall that led to the little bedroom; so that Jimmy Coon was warm and dry as the log floated out to sea.

But during the night there came up a thick fog, and when Jimmy Coon woke up and looked out of his little window he could see water, water, everywhere, but not a grain of sand anywhere. And Jimmy rubbed his eyes and looked to find some land. Jimmy was so surprised that he couldn't speak a word, even to himself. And a great terror crept into his little heart.

Nothing Could Be Seen But Water, Water Everywhere.

Jimmy saw that now he was out on the water, and he was frightened almost to death. He trembled all over with fear. Jimmy can swim, but he saw no shore to swim to. He got out on the log, and walked back and forth to see if he could discover any signs of land in any direction. And Jimmy got terribly hungry for his breakfast. But he couldn't find a mouthful or a crumb to eat.

Then Jimmy said to himself, "Well, I must take a drink of this nice water, anyway!" And Jimmy leaned over and took a big swallow of water. And Jimmy spit out the water, saying, "My, what makes this water so salt? It makes my throat sore. I guess I'll take a drink on the other side of the log"; and he took a big swallow of the water on that side. And Jimmy made up an awful face, and gagged, and spit out all the water, saying, "My, but that water is horrid! Where did it get so much salt? I wish Quilly Porcupine was here.

"For he loves salt so much he would drink all the water up in this pond, and then I could get ashore!"

And poor Jimmy was discouraged; for the thick fog covered up the ocean, and nothing could be seen but water, water everywhere. And Jimmy Coon began to cry. He had to wipe the big tears away first with his right-hand coat-sleeve and then with his left-hand coat-sleeve. And Jimmy kept crying out loud for his mother. And his little voice sounded very sad, like the voice of a little child crying!

That was the saddest day of Jimmy Coon's life. And the hours dragged on; and Jimmy was almost starved for food, and almost famished for water. You see, Jimmy was a castaway at sea! And it seemed very dark for Jimmy!

BACKYARD GARDEN HINTS

(By The Girl With the Hoe.)

TOMATO.

Planting Table:
Plant Indoors—March 1-15.
Transplant Outdoors—May 20-June 5.
Plant—3 to 5 inches deep.
Harvest—July 15, frost.
Varieties for Ontario:
Red—Earliana, Bonny Best, Chalk's Jewel, Red Rock, Red Canner.
Pink—Byron Pink, Imperial.

The tomato is a native of South America, and is classed with tropical plants. For this reason it cannot stand cold weather, and must not be put outdoors until the ground has become thoroughly warmed, usually about the first of June. The great object in growing tomatoes in the garden is to have them early. It is very uncommon for the amateur gardenere to have early tomatoes, and this should not be if the directions for growing them are closely followed.

Procure good seed, and sow it in well-drained flats about the first of March. For the main crop of fruit the seed may be sown a month later. It requires from nine to ten weeks for the young plants to have developed far enough to be planted out in the ground. The seed should be sown thickly in rich, loamy soil in rows about 4 inches apart, and from one-quarter to one-half inch deep. Press the soil firmly over the seeds with the hands, and then cover with a pane of glass to induce quick germination. The soil should be kept moist, but not wet.

In about four weeks' time, or when the rough leaves appear, pick out the little plants into other flats, about 2 inches apart each way. Later, when they have filled up the spaces now between them, transplant again to 4 inches each way. This will be about another three or four weeks. The final transplanting indoors is done three or four weeks from the second planting, and the plants are then put 6 inches apart in flats, or preferably in 6-inch pots or strawberry boxes, a single plant in each. Some growers transplant even a fourth time, but this is not necessary. The object is to produce as sturdy and stocky a plant as possible, and this should be borne in mind when plants are bought. Do not buy small, spindly plants, for they will give but a poor yield, late in the season. An ideal tomato plant is from 6 to 8 inches long above the roots, half an inch through the stem at the base, with leaves of a dark green color. It is good to have the plant in flower, if not already bearing small fruit, with the roots filling a berry box or 6-inch pot. A plant having these requirements, when planted outdoors, is sure to yield a fine crop of early fruit.

But a good plant is not the only requisite, although it is a great help. A warm, sandy loam or light clay soil, moderately rich in plant food, is also necessary. A soil which has been manured for a previous crop is usually in good condition for tomatoes. Fresh manure is not usually applied immediately before tomatoes are planted. Choose land with a southern exposure, protected from severe winds, and after thoroughly preparing the ground, plant late in the afternoon of a cool day. The time for planting out tomatoes ranges from the middle of May to the first week in June. Set the plants from 1 foot to 16 inches apart in rows 3 feet apart, or 1½ feet each way. This is for early garden varieties which are going to be staked. Unstaked tomatoes should be 4 feet apart. In planting, be careful not to disturb the soil about the roots of the young plants, when they are taken from the flats or pots. This will check the growth and make the tomatoes later. Lanky plants should be planted deeper than stocky ones. It is advisable to mound up the soil about the plants, to protect them from frosts and support hem against strong winds. Should a frost occur, killing the plants, two or three inches of the surface soil may then be removed, and new shoots will be thrown out. Cultivation should be kept up once a week until the plants begin to ripen fruit. They should then be mulched with straw to preserve moisture in the ground.

Women's Gardening Association

The Women's Gardening Association is now preparing for its second working season, and hopes to increase the interest in gardening and food production, not only in London and its surrounding districts but in many parts of Canada.

Letters have been received from Cape Breton, Edmonton, Cobourg and Strathroy within the past few weeks, asking for particulars of organization. As other towns may also desire to know, it is perhaps better to give a short sketch in this article of how the society is conducted.

The executive is composed of a president, honorary president, honorary vice-president, three vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, and the conveners of all community gardens. Last year there were eight community gardens. This year it is hoped there will be fifteen. The membership began last year with 40 members and increased to 170 during the season. The object of the society is, first, to increase food production, and, secondly, to encourage gardening for women and girls, and thereby give a greater love of nature and its many lessons and also improved health. The general report last year from the community gardens of girls and women, and also from farms, where women were employed to hoe, rake, pick berries or other light work, was of improved health and great interest in the work. It is hoped that intensive farming for women and girls will be the result of this beginning. Many of them may marry returned soldiers, and, with the taste for outdoor life, going back to the land may not be as far distant as we think, or as distasteful as it has been to many of our young people. It should be made popular and with the improved facilities for farming, hydro in the country districts, motors, telephones, electric railways, added to an intelligent and scientific knowledge of the easiest and best methods of farming for men and women, it should be an ideal life.

Many of the members of the W. G. A. have their own gardens, and it is hoped this season will become competitors for prizes. The land for the community gardens is lent by the owners for the season, and is plowed and harrowed by the city. The gardens are divided into plots, according to the number of workers. One or more sub-conveners have full control of each garden, keep a record of the names of owners of the gardens, where gardens were plowed and fertilized, and names of seeds planted and the result of the yield of each plot. One convener is appointed for each district, who will inspect all the gardens of her district once a month and report to the executive. Good and impartial men gardeners will be asked to judge the gardens twice at least during the season. The society proposes having a cart filled with vegetables from the gardens for sale at the market twice a week or more and the proceeds given for some patriotic purpose.

There will be an exhibit of vegetables at the Western Fair in the autumn both from the community gardens and private gardens. Prizes for best exhibit for the greatest number of marks for gardens during the season will be awarded at the annual meeting in October. All women and girls desiring to become members and wanting plots in community gardens should apply now or in the very near future to the president, Miss Carling, 677 Talbot street, or Miss Mary Campbell, Huron street, the secretary, who will try to place them in gardens in their own districts. It is much desired that school girls between the ages of 10 and 15 should apply. They would be supervised by their conveners. Girls of that age from the Empress Avenue School last year did good work and won the first prize. Women and girls, come one, come all.

Owing to the shortage of coal for public halls this winter the association has been obliged to curtail the lectures and it is too sad now that the members should attend the free lectures of the Horticultural Society during the next month or two. The subjects will be vegetable growing with accompanying slides, the soil, seeds and everything appertaining to vegetable growing.

Many of the trees are being cut down now in the city. It has been suggested that the brushwood should be used for making temporary rustic fences for training tomato vines, green peas and beans. Another suggestion has been given that the scrapings from the streets (provided the streets have not been oiled) should be used for fertilizing the gardens. The oil destroys the plants.

From all sources we hear that the Allied nations will depend almost entirely this year upon Canada and the United States for their supplies.

Let us be up and doing.

DAILY BIBLE QUESTION CLUB

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 17, 1916. ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION. By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Jesus Sending Forth the Twelve. (May be used with missionary applications).—Mark vi. 1-31.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

12. Verses 18, 19—Even if an act should not be wrong in itself, is it ever wise or not, for a person to do anything which outrages the moral sense of the community. (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

13. Why is it right, or wrong, to seek a divorce for a legal cause, for the purpose of marrying another?

14. Verses 19, 20—When a person is rebuked for his sin, how does he generally feel toward the reprover?

15. If Herod had such faith in the goodness of John, why did he put him in prison?

Golden Text.—Freely ye received, freely give.—Matt. x., 8.

WE SHOULD GIVE TO EVERY GOOD CAUSE.

The grace of giving can be cultivated like every other grace, and it can be best cultivated by its practice. Giving to every good cause to the measure of our ability should not be considered as a grievous thing, but as a joyous privilege. In these days of stress and strain, of blood and iron, of war and rumors of war, the call upon our benevolence is very insistent. When we give to advance the cause of righteousness, to succor the wounded, and care for the dying, or when we give to feed the hungry, or to mission the world, it is an opportunity for us to "lay up treasure in heaven where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt and where thieves do not break through nor steal."

WINDSOR PUPILS OFFER AN EXCELLENT RECITAL

Miss Theresa Langis, M.T.N.A., of Windsor, presented her local piano class in a delightful recital in the Girl Guides' Hall last evening. The hall was well filled with the parents and friends of the young performers, the majority of whom were of tender age. With admirable composure each in turn played her part, the performance in each case being marked by delicacy of touch and clearness of tone.

In her rendering of "At Evening" (Henry Sartorio), Miss Marie Ballard, an advanced pupil, showed genuine artistic appreciation, and little Eulalia Langis of Windsor demonstrated decided ability with her violin. The pleasure which Miss Monica Langis' singing afforded was evidenced by an insistent encore, to which she graciously responded. Miss Langis played the accompaniment in her usual charming manner. In addition to those above mentioned the following took part: Genevieve Odette, Annie Coutts, Alice Campbell, Dorothy Holland, Claire Tremblay, Genevieve Larsh, Lena and Anna Annesser, Elizabeth Kelly and Jeanette Tremblay. Frances and Muriel Foster were prevented by illness from fulfilling their parts.

MRS. IRENE MOODY ADVOCATES WIDER STUDY OF EUGENICS

Mrs. Irene Moody, chairman of the school board in Vancouver and one of the leading women of Canada, spoke yesterday afternoon at the Women's Canadian Club on the subject of educating the men, women and children of the nation for the purpose of controlling and, if possible, stamping out the venereal diseases which have such a hold on the human race today. Mrs. Moody dealt with her subject in a way which was most scientifically comprehensive and appealing to women than has any other lecturer who has visited this city. Her address was the outcome of years of study, which included even a course in the operating room of a hospital.

Mrs. Moody does not advocate the teaching of sex hygiene in the schools. "That would entail the segregation of classes and would consequently create just what should be avoided—sex consciousness," declared the speaker. "This branch of education must be the duty of the mothers and it is our duty to teach the mothers how. Men and women should not be ashamed, but proud, of their part in the creation of new lives. This pro-creation on their part but shows their nearness to the Great Creator.

"It is hoped that by the education of the mothers and fathers, who, in their turn, will see to the proper instruction of their children, the great menace of sexual disease and immorality of the race may be combatted successfully. The facts which are forthcoming in regard to this terrible menace are appalling. The persons directly affected are numbered by millions, and those who will suffer in consequence are in untold numbers. The loss in life alone due to venereal diseases is unbelieveable. And we can not afford to lose life today. The war is forcing upon us the fact that we must not neglect this great menace.

"The study of eugenics is absolutely necessary to mothers and fathers, but mostly to mothers. It is they alone who are privileged to suffer for the new life, and who thereby know something of the suffering of the Great Saviour of the human race. It is they alone who climb to the highest heights. Oh, God, how good Thou art to grant us the joys that were all thine own! What strength, what wisdom should belong to her who helps God to fashion an immortal soul!

"The fathers and mothers often do not know where their children are at night. They know that at sundown their horses and their chickens are all safely housed, but of their sons and their daughters they know nothing. Yet these parents must some day answer to their Creator for these children. Therefore, I say, make your homes cheerful and bright for your children, so that they will want to be there, and so that they will get to love homes of their own just like them. Oh, there are so many persons in the world and so few great souls. God has given mankind the privilege of helping Him to create souls, and mankind is abusing this privilege to populate the earth."

Mrs. Donald McLean was in the chair at yesterday's meeting and read two communications which are of interest. One was from the Canadian Club of Hamilton and told of their intention to give a luncheon for the men of the first Canadian contingent, shortly to come home on leave. The letter expressed the hope that all the Canadian Clubs of the country would do something to make the home-coming of these men more joyous. The second communication was in regard to the memorial which is to be raised in honor of Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, the well-known writer of "In Flanders Fields."

PRINCETON. — The Red Cross League packed seventeen boxes of Easter gifts for that number of Princeton men on active service. Each box contained 1 pair socks, tins of Oxo, cocoa, a bar of chocolate and a packet of loaf sugar.

BURGESSVILLE.—The Women's Institute is being held on Thursday afternoon, March 14, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Jaques.

A Red Cross tea is being held on Friday afternoon, March 22, at the home of Mrs. Vernon Mollins.

CARGILL. — The Red Cross box social held in the C. O. F. Hall under the auspices of the Red Cross League was a great success, the hall being crowded to overflowing. A splendid program, consisting of duets, solos, instrumentals, etc., was ably rendered by the participants, and greatly appreciated by the audience. Following the program the auctioneering of the numerous attractively decorated boxes took place in the banquet room, and prices ran high. Much credit is due the ladies for their splendid work in organizing such a pleasant social, which was unique in every respect, and by which means a goodly sum was raised for Red Cross purposes.

KERWOOD.—The Kerwood Patriotic Society received $100 from the Adelaide Council, which they appreciated very much. The society has sent away this last month 49 towels, 20 caps, 39 pillow slips, 7 pairs slippers and 186 pairs of socks.

The Woman's Institute held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Mills. This was two weeks earlier than usual on account of the visit from the district president, Mrs. Mathews of Delaware, who gave an excellent paper on "Women." Other addresses were given by Mrs. Cheshem, Mrs. Sullivan, and several letters from soldiers were read. Musical selections were given, and a dainty luncheon served by the hostess.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. A. Brush on March 14.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MUNICIPAL CHAPTER SHOWS RECORD YEAR

The annual meeting of the Municipal Chapter of the I.O.D.E. was held in Cronyn Hall yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. Niven, the regent, in the chair. Mrs. Niven expressed her delight at the splendid record which the various chapters had made during the year, mentioning the fact that since the war the London chapters of the I.O.D.E. had raised nearly $80,000, and expressing the hope that the year 1918 would be the banner year. The treasurer's report, read by Mrs. A. E. Miller, showed that the total receipts for last year amounted to $20,406.07, while the total disbursements amounted to $19,316.67. The soldiers' comforts report showed that during 1917 $17,356.93 had been expended and $18,351.28 received, leaving a balance on hand of $994.35. A total of 2,515 pounds of wool passed through the hands of the Municipal Chapter during the year.

Life Membership Presented.

A very interesting event which took place at this meeting was the bestowal of a life membership on Miss Ora White, who offered herself for overseas service. Mrs. H. A. Boomer made the presentation on behalf of the Municipal Chapter. A recently organized chapter from the Ealing district was introduced to the Municipal Chapter by Mrs. A. A. Campbell, the organizing secretary. This new chapter first took for itself the name Victory, which was later changed to Adelphi' on account of the existence of another Victory chapter. Mrs. E. B. Smith, who was largely instrumental in the forming of this new chapter, presented the regent with the chapter flag.

March Dedicated to I. O. D. E.

Prof. Venuta was present at the meeting and made the very generous offer of dedicating to the I.O.D.E. a march which he had recently written. This march is to be sold by the order and the proceeds devoted to any work which the order may see fit, especially to that of helping crippled soldiers. Prof. Venuta expressed his great admiration for the work of the Daughters of the Empire and his gratitude to the people of Britain who had helped his fellow-countrymen in Italy.

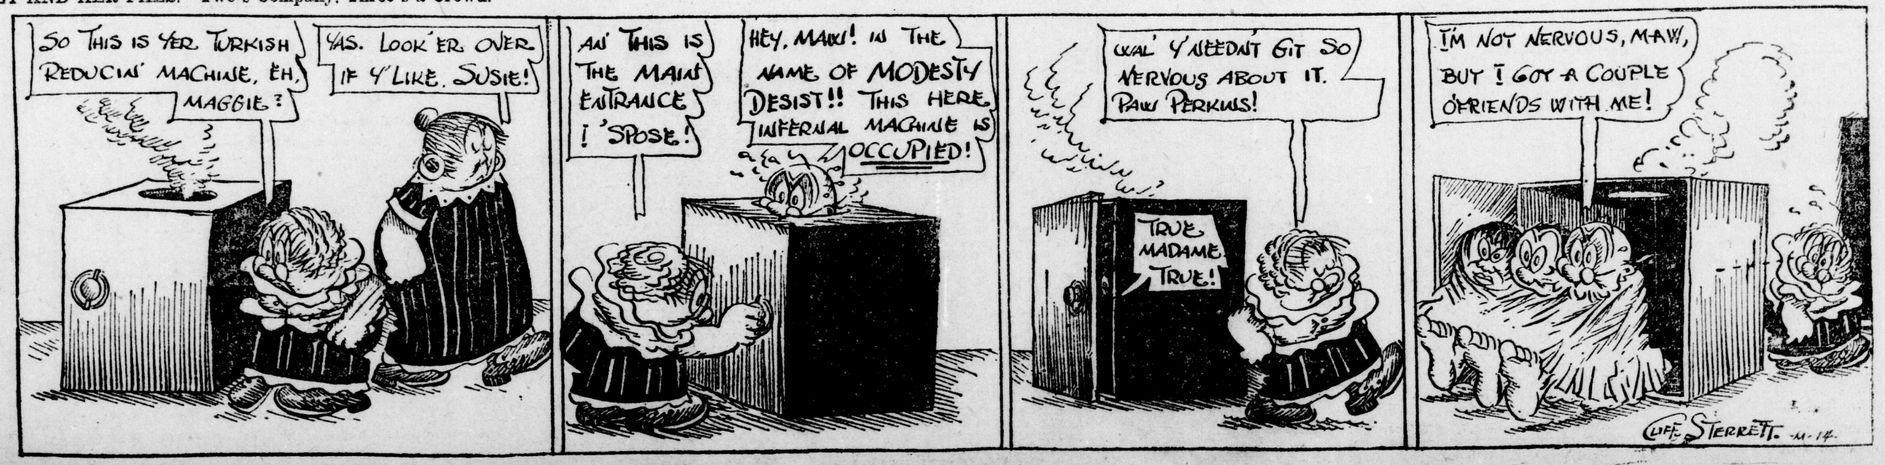

The subject of social diseases was brought up by Mrs. Boomer, who requested that the chapter take up the matter of fighting these diseases and work in co-operation with the women's sub-committee of the men's organization. The question was put before the meeting, and it was moved by Mrs. Williams and seconded by Mrs. McDonald that the Municipal Chapter would put itself on record as being ready to support this work. A letter from the mayor on the subject of greater production was also strongly supported.

The reports of the soldiers' club visiting committee, organizing secretary and educational secretary, as well as the reports of the various chapters, showed that a splendid year had been concluded, and that the prospects of even a better year were opening up. However, since the chapter roll has greatly increased, the reading of these reports proved very lengthy, and a resolution was made to the effect that the next annual meeting begin in the morning and be continued during the afternoon.

Officers for 1918.

The newly-elected officers were as follows: Honorary regent, Mrs. H. A. Boomer; honorary vice-regents, Mrs. T. H. Smallman, Mrs. R. W. Puddicombe, Mrs. Norman L. Tucker, Mrs. A. E. Miller and Mrs. Dillon; regent, Mrs. Niven; first vice-regent, Mrs. Ernest Smith; second vice-regent, Mrs. R. M. Graham; secretary, Mrs. Allen McLean; assistant secretary, Miss Waugh; educational secretary, Mrs. George McDonald; Echo secretary, Miss Carlyle; treasurer, Mrs. C. T. Campbell; standard bearer, Miss Coles.

KITCHENER MEETS YPRES IN LAST OF ROUND TONIGHT

STANDING.

| | For. | Against. |
|---|---|---|
| Winnipeg | 3 | 2 |
| Kitchener | 2 | 3 |

TORONTO, March 13.—With a one-goal lead to overcome Kitchener meets the Winnipeg Ypres in the second and last game in the Allan cup finals at the Arena Gardens tonight. Both teams are in the best condition possible. The O. H. A. champs are not the least bit worried about that one-goal lead, and figure on triumping the "Wipers" tomorrow night.

Just how much the one-goal lead is going to matter should not worry the fans. The general consensus of opinion among Toronto sportsmen is that a whole lot depends on the condition of the ice. On Monday night the ice was sticky and greatly hindered Kitchener's speed. The sweaty surface of the ice prevented anything like real team play or combination. Stick-handling was offset, too. If the ice is soft there appears to be little doubt but what the trophy will take another trip to the west, but if the ice is hard and conditions come up to the mark it is not easy to say just what will happen. It is hard to judge correctly the ability of the Ypres on hard ice. Kitchener is the favorite under these circumstances.

Every fan who has followed the Kitchener appregation during the season will admit that they are first and foremost a hard-ice team. During the season there was absolutely no holding them when the slippery was solid, but when the weather was mild they were considerably slowed up all the way around.

Commenting on the chances of the O. H. A. defenders holding the silverware, the Mail and Empire says:

"The Ypres may have a margin of speed as an all-round aggregation, but Hiller and Parkes can skate with any of them, and as for stick-handling, they outclass any of the western team. The issue then resolves itself as to whether Ypres can back-check hard enough. They did so Monday night, aided by the sticky surface, but on hard ice one has a hunch that the system will not be nearly so effective, while the Winnipeg defence, which looked so good, will not find the going nearly as easy with Hiller, Parkes and Solomon crashing in on them with their trick plays. This last contention is corroborated, it is believed, in that on the two occasions in the first game that Kitchener got away and showed anything like their usual style of play, they made the Ypres defence look very bad and Winkler an easy mark."

PRES. RITZ CONFIDENT IN ABILITY OF HIS TEAM

KITCHENER, March 13. — "We're not down-hearted," said President Ritz of the Kitchener team when interviewed today in connection with the chances of the O. H. A. championship to hold the Allan cup. He declared that he has every confidence that Kitchener will win the game tomorrow night. Sizing up the teams, Mr. Ritz thinks that they are about 50-50, with the weight in favor of the Winnipeggers, and the teamwork in favor of Kitchener. He attributes Kitchener's loss Monday night in a measure to the injury received by Hiller in the early part of the game. Mr. Ritz stated that Hiller received a bad dig from the butt-end of a hockey stick in the shoulder-blade. This took the famous centre's wind and was accountable for the fact that he did not show up better.

O. H. A. CHAMPS NOT WORRIED.

Toronto, March 14.—The News says today: Kitcheners are confident of winning the second game of the Allan Cup series tonight from Winnipeg, despite the fact that the game will be played under western rules. A record crowd is promised for the game.

FULTON OFF TO SIGN UP FOR FIGHT ON JULY 4

ST. LOUIS, March 13.—Fred Fulton, heavyweight fighter, and his manager, Mike Collins, will leave here tonight for Kansas City, where they expect to sign for a championship bout between Jess Willard and Fulton on July 4. Telegrams to Collins from J. C. Miller, who will meet Fulton and Collins in Kansas City Thursday, say that Willard has agreed to meet Fulton on July 4.

A New Orleans promoter, it was stated, has offered $120,000 for the fight.

MAY FIGHT DEMPSEY.

ST. LOUIS, March 13.—Fred Fulton this afternoon was matched to meet Jack Dempsey in an eight-round no-decision bout on March 30. If the weather is favorable to an open air contest the bout will take place at Newark. If the weather necessitates an indoor meeting the contest will take place at Atlantic City.

The contest will be called off in case Fulton is matched to fight Jess Willard on July 4.

HOLD OUT ON PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—Although the Philadelphia Nationals are scheduled to leave for training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., on Friday, seven players have refused to sign their contracts. They are Outfielders Whitted, Williams and Fitzgerald; Infielders Nieboff and Stock; Catcher Dillhoefer and Chief Bender, the Indian pitcher.

Nothing has been heard from Gaboy Cravath, but he usually is late with his contract, and seldom signs until he reaches the training camp.

VANCOUVER TO MEET TORONTOS IN FINALS FOR THE STANLEY CUP

Seattle, Wash., March 14.—The Vancouver "Millionaires" are monarchs of western hockey. While the greatest crowd that has witnessed a sporting event here in many a season cheered the efforts of the rival teams, the Seattle Mets bowed to the superior defence play of the invaders and lost to Frank Patrick's skaters by the narrow margin of one goal to nothing.

Last night's struggle, the climax of the hockey season, will go down in puck annals as the fiercest ice battle in coast hockey.

Vancouver will leave tonight for Toronto, where they will engage the Toronto, Eastern Canada champions, in the title series, for the Stanley cup.

While all broken up over their failure to win another championship for Seattle, the Mets give Vancouver credit for playing a wonderful game.

Summary:

First Period—No score. No subs.

Penalties—Riley, three minutes.

Second Period—Vancouver, Stanley from MacKay, 11:50.

No penalties; no subs.

Third Period—No score. No subs.

Penalties—Moines, Wilson and Foyston, each three minutes.

Referee—Ion.

COLLINGWOOD CAPTURES INTERMEDIATE FINALS

COLLINGWOOD, March 13. — Collingwood defeated Oshawa tonight in the first home game for the final O. H. A. intermediate championship game by a score of 4 to 1. A fine exhibition of hockey playing was given, considering the bad condition of the ice. Both teams lined up at 8:30, each confident of victory, Collingwood scoring two goals in the first period and Oshawa their only one. Collingwood scored one in each of the next two periods.

About a thousand people witnessed the game. It looks bright for Collingwood winning at Oshawa on Friday night.

The line-up:

HILLER COMPELLED TO LAY OFF TONIGHT WITH INJURED ANKLE

Kitchener Star Suffering From Blow Received Tuesday Night.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 14.—It certainly looks as if the Allan cup will go west with the Ypres team of Winnipeg, the western champions. Not only do they go into the final contest tonight with a one goal lead and logic favorites, but George Hiller, one of Kitchener's brilliant forwards, by many rated the best man on the team, will not play tonight. He is on crutches today with a small bone in his ankle broken, and of course cannot play. His injury is the result of a clip from the stick of Bostram, the giant Ypres defence players, in the last 30 seconds play on Tuesday night.

WESTERN TO MEET AGGIES IN SECOND OF ROUND TONIGHT

The Ontario Agricultural College basketball team come to London today to meet the Western University squad in the second of the home-and-home series of the O. A. B. A. semi-finals. The Aggies were defeated, 23 to 15, by the University men at Guelph last Saturday afternoon, and the locals dope it out that if they can defeat the O. A. C. on their home floor, they can defeat them again tonight when they play on strange boards.

Art Smith announced last night that he will use the same men tonight who played in the first game. The Varsity men are working well together, and showed plenty of combination work in the Royal City. The game will be played in the university gymnasium on Oxford street.

A preliminary game between the Western University girls and the Swastikas will be put on.

The college teams will line up about as follows:

O. A. C.—Left forward, Odell; right forward, Matheson; centre, Michael; left guard, Musgrave; right guard, Grant; spares, Smallfield and Begg.

WILLARD AT KANSAS CITY TO DISCUSS FIGHT TERMS

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—Col. J. C. Miller, oil magnate of Oklahoma, with whom Jess Willard, champion heavyweight, last Monday signed a contract to defend his title on July 4 next, and Mike Collins, manager of Fred Fulton, heavyweight of Rochester, Minn., were to meet here today to confer on terms for a fight between the two pugilists.

While several places have been mentioned for the contest there has been no indication of where the fight may be held.

8 TO 1 AGAINST SUN BRIAR

NEW YORK, March 13.—Emil Herz, who owns Short Grass, is laying 8 to 1 against Sun Briar to win the Kentucky Derby. War Cloud and Escoba are on equal terms with Sun Briar, in Herz's opinion, but he is willing to lay 30 to 1 against Papp, last year's futurity winner. Herz and other turfmen believe that Papp, as a sprinter, will not like the Derby distance at Churchill Downs. The presence of eastern cracks in the big Louisville classic is arousing unusual interest among those who enjoy shooting at future prices.

ONTARIO'S DRY LAW IS MADE STIFFER BY NEW AMENDMENTS

Toronto, March 13.—Amendments to make the O. T. A. "airtight" were presented to the Legislature today. They put a stop to indirect delivery. When liquor is delivered to any other person than the consignee or to another address, the shipment of liquor may be seized.

Manufacturers of cider must get a permit from the Ontario license board.

New clauses are also added to coincide with the new Dominion act.

Intoxicated people can be arrested without a warrant.

Essence of ginger is also hit. No essence, tincture, compound or preparation containing alcohol shall be sold except in bottles containing not more than two and a-half ounces. A record of the sale must be kept by the manufacturer, merchant or druggist selling the preparation. Druggists are forbidden to dispose of any tincture, essence or extract of ginger except on the order of a properly qualified physician and then only to a person having a permanent residence in the municipality, in which the sale takes place and after an affidavit has been taken that it is not required for beverage purposes.

Further powers to regulate patent medicines containing more than 2½ per cent proof spirit, is another. Doctors issuing a prescription will have their names placed on the bottle by the vendor, and the name of the person for whom prescribed. More vendors are to be named to import wine for sacramental purposes. Amendments are made to exclude apartment blocks over stores.

BLUE SHIRTS CHAMPIONS NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE

MONTREAL, March 13.—Torontos won the championship of the National Hockey League and the right to play the Pacific Coast League champions for the Stanley cup tonight, when the Canadiens failed to wipe out the four-goal lead which the Queen City team secured on their own ice in the first of the home-and-home games Monday night. Canadiens won tonight's match from Torontos 4 to 3, leaving the complete score for the series, Torontos 10, Canadiens 7.

The game was rough, with the Canadiens contributing most of the penalty list. The Frenchmen played an individual game for the most part. Torontos never forgot the lead they enjoyed, and whenever in real danger dropped into a defensive, which easily and successfully checkmated the one-man efforts of the Frenchers.

Cameron and Randall, of the Toronto team were marked men, but knowing this, they played a consistent game, and they refused to dislocate the machinery of their team by retaliation. They were injured early in the game, but after a short absence from the ice returned to play for the remainder of the evening, obviously suffering from the effects of the rough handling they had received. Adams, a brilliant player from the amateur ranks, for the orief periods when he was substituting for the other players, showed some fine bursts of speed. Holmes did some sensational net minding for Toronto, and only let the puck get by him when the championship was virtually assured for his team.

For the Canadiens, brilliant work was done by Lalonde and Hall, though much of it went for naught, owing to the cleverness of the Toronto defence.

The officials always kept a tight grip on the game and nipped in the bud every outburst of roughness on the part of the Canadiens.

Frenchmen Favorites.

The Toronto players were received with loud boos when they jumped on the ice from their warming up. The crowd was out-and-out Canadien, and gave the French team a great reception when they appeared for their preliminary practice.

Wide-Open at Start.

Both teams hit up a tremendous pace at the start-off, and a series of spectacular rushes were indulged in, both teams pressing in on the goal-tenders alternately. Hall was the first casualty, being accidentally poked on the nose with a stick. The pace began to warm up the players, and rough work put Pitre and Randall on the penalty bench. Corbeau soon followed for hitting Meekking, who had been taking Randall's place. Couture, who had succeeded Pitre, was benched for hooking Cameron. Crawford relieved an awkward situation by a fine run up the ice, but his shot was easily accounted for by Vezina. Malone repeated the performance for the Canadiens, but shot wide. Holmes was hard-pressed a moment later, when three shots were put in in quick succession, but his defence work was perfect.

Randall was badly cut on the head during a mix-up, for which Hall was penalized.

Rushing right in on Vezina when play was resumed, Noble scored after taking a pass from Skinner.

Cameron was slashed across the leg, and was forced to retire. With Randall and Cameron off, Torontos went on the defensive, and Holmes was challenged repeatedly. Adams went on for Cameron, and pulled off a couple of rushes that momentarily took the puck to Canadiens' goal, but the period ended with Holmes once more working hard.

Cameron and Randall returned when the game was resumed. The Canadiens, however, took up the offensive again, and Corbeau and Malone came near scoring. Holmes was finally jockeyed out of the nets, and Malone got in behand him and scored. Cameron was incapacitated again, but resumed after a few seconds' rest. The puck remained arcund Holmes, and McDonald beat him with a short shot. The crowd yelled for several minutes.

Shirts Work Hard.

Torontos made a great effort at this point, and took the attack away from the Frenchmen. Lalonde was benched for hooking Meeking. The Canadiens resisted strenuously, and a spectacular spell resulted, abounding in off-sides, cross-checking and tumbles of the players, and the handing out of a number of minor penalties. Noble's stick was smashed, and he came on with half of it until a dangerous situation was relieved. Lalonde had only been on the ice again a second when he was chased to the bench for roughing it with Meeking. After lying back on the defensive, Torontos evened the score for the game when Skinner worked the puck up the ice and passed it to Crawford, who netted it. The remainder of the period was passed in ragged work by both teams.

Torontos Stall.

The Canadiens' team-work brought success to them within a minute and a half after the rest period. Lalonde took a long shot at the goal, and Holmes misjudged. It was a streat of luck for the Frenchmen. The luck switched to Torontos after a fierce period of struggling on both sides, when Crawford caught Vezina off his guard, and the puck lying motionless in front of the nets. He simply had to tap it in. With almost effortless ease, Lalonde scored again. The Toronto players began to stall for time. Aimless shots from mid-ice were pulled off, while the wings did figure skating stunts every time they got the puck. The Canadiens staged rally after rally. Lalonde and Hall tried every trick in their repertoire.

The game ended with the Canadien wings bombarding Holmes, but to no purpose.

Line-up:

WHEN YOUR BLOOD WORKS HEALING CUTS AND WOUNDS

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

When you cut certain worms in two, new worm will grow out of the head, nother from the tail.

The planaria—another worm—can be ultiplied into a score and more of w worms by the indiscriminate use f a pair of scissors or a knife.

A frog will grow a new leg if the d one is lost, and a crab will repair n amputated claw with a new one.

When you crack your skull, if the omplicated disorders do not kill you, he breach will be cemented by the ormation of new bone cast forth by the ges of the fractured cranium.

Similarly, the bones thicken, grow out ke green bay trees and make their wn splints when fractures occur.

What Fibrin Is.

A clean, smooth slice into the human kin, with the edges approximated at ace, will result in reparation by means r new skin. Lost blood by way of a emorrhage is regenerated via the cor-uscles themselves. The white ones are id to divide and multiply, as do ani-alcules amoeba, while the red ones ud out like a cactus or the yeast ant, and each bud becomes a new cor-uscle.

So it goes. All that is needed, per-aps, is some super-normal Gargantua r Pantagruel to so synchronize the re-air and regeneration of the lost or in-ured human fabric, that all, even the ost complex, structures of man will prout forth new ones at the same stant.

This would be making a new Faust f you with a vengeance. The point of any of these facts and proposals hes the much-debated feature of wound-ealing, as well as the origin and struc-re of ordinary fleshy, connective sue.

When blood clots, little cobweb strands stringy stuff called fibrin form in the agulated network.

A Double Process.

Dr. G. A. Baitsell has called atten-on to the fact that this fibrin can e changed into fibrous tissue. This re-mbles connective tissue and really be-omes ultimately the whitish, pale, most bloodless new tissue of scars and dhesions.

The fibrin net in a blood clot contains undles of wavy fibres. These are now lmost surely the source of the newly-ormed tissue of injured and destroyed esh.

One thing seems to be absolutely dis-osed of by Dr. Baitsell's discovery; issue formed in a blood clot that has ealed arises from the fibrin and not rom the connective tissue.

Connective tissue itself distributed verywhere in the human anatomy can, f course, give rise to offspring of its wn texture. It probably does so, as ras proved by the Rockefeller Institute esearches of Dr. Alexis Carrel.

The process seems to be a double one. When a cut is clean and there is little bleeding, the connective tissue replaces and repairs the severed fabric. When there is a huge hole and lots of lost tissue, blood fills up the cavity and its fibrin builds up the healing scar.

Answers to Health Questions

HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments! Try this!

Hair stops coming out and every particle of dandruff disappears.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its delightfully exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Happened When Madge Reported to Lillian.

"This is a wild and improbable idea, perhaps his life in order to save my I know," I stammered, "but as Mr. Underwood was talking about my father, the thought flashed upon me that perhaps he had found out the danger my father was in, and had joined the conspirators, headed by Grace Draper, when he was given the opportunity, in order to be in a better position to protect him."

Lillian jumped up, and putting her hands upon my shoulders shook me lovingly.

"You provoking mouse!" she said. "That self-depreciation of yours will be the death of me some day. Of course, that's the key to the whole thing, and why didn't you tell me half an hour ago is a mystery to me. That was the first paragraph of your story, my dear, as the newspaper reporters say, and here I've had to drag it out of you the very last thing."

I made her no answer. I had nothing to say, and I saw that she needed no further words of mine. She had reseated herself and cupped her chin in her hands, her invariable attitude in thinking out a problem.

"This simplifies matters in one way, and complicates them in another," she said at last. "I don't think you will have much more to fear from Grace Draper's personal enmity—Harry will watch her like a lynx in that direction —but until your father's fate is definitely known Harry will probably be mixed up with that gang, will have to be, and I am afraid he will get himself so involved that there will be no saving him."

Madge Is Reassured.

Her face was tragic with anxiety, and I put out my hand and laid it over hers.

"Don't misunderstand me," she said, turning her palm upward and gripping my hand tightly with nervous, clinging fingers, "I am not in love with Harry—never was, in the true sense of the word, during the years we were married—but despite all his shortcomings there was always something about him that commanded my admiration. Why, Madge, Harry Underwood was a captain in the Spanish-American war. And then to think of his being mixed up with his country's enemies, laying himself liable to death! After all, no matter how badly he treated me, he was my husband for years."

I sat silent, miserable. Every word was a dart that struck at me. According to the theory I had just advanced, and which Lillian had accepted, her recreant husband had put himself thus in jeopardy of losing his liberty and

"There is no necessity for mental flagellation like that, Madge," Lillian observed, and her firm tone indicated that she had regained her normal poise. "I'm very sure that Harry's main motive in entering this thing was to save your father, but take it from me, he was smirched a bit with it first before he found out your father was involved. Harry, almost broke and drinking, isn't particularly scrupulous.

"But you don't know how it relieved my mind to believe, as I must, that his was only a fringy, outside participation at first, and that if he's deep in the thing it's on account of your father.

"And now, to business," she said briskly. "You say Harry asked to see you occasionally, so that he could let you know anything that came up concerning your father. What arrangement did you make?"

"Why," I hesitated, "he wanted to know where he could reach me by telephone, and, of course, here was the only place that would be safe for me, and I didn't think I ought to suggest your number."

"As far as I personally am concerned it wouldn't make the slightest difference in the world," Lillian rejoined, and I realized that she spoke the truth—she is above all petty trials and humiliations. "But I don't want him to connect you too closely with me, he might suspect something, so you were quite right, my dear. What did you decide?"

"On a terribly cheap device," I responded bitterly, my cheeks burning with a recurrence of the resentment I had felt toward Harry Underwood for suggesting the plan.

"A personal in the newspaper?" Lillian queried in a matter-of-fact manner that not only saved my explanation, but made me feel immeasurably better.

"Yes, I'm to watch the Era every morning," I replied.

"That is really the only possible method he could use," she said. "Well, there's one compensation about the whole business, and that is the clearing up of those miserable anonymous clippings. Your father may be in deadly peril, but at least he did not die as those terrible things said he did."

She rose as she spoke, for Katherine's low knock had sounded on the door.

"Come in," she called, and my little friend came rapidly into the room, holding out an envelope, at the sight of which I began to tremble.

"A cablegram for you, Lillian," she said.

"DOING MY BIT"

Practical Suggestions on Individual Ways to Help Win the War.

BY ALBERT BARRETT SAYRES.

Ordering Shrubs Early.

If you're planning to have shrubs in your food garden it would be the height of wisdom to order them now. Not only may there be a shortage of shrubs and delays in delivery, but shrubs are usually dug in the fall and stored in cellars during the winter. If orders are delayed until late spring the shrubs may lose in vitality.

Remember also that the earlier shrubs are planted after the soil is workable the better will be their growth. In planting always have the holes somewhat larger than the roots. Furthermore, you should be sure to trim the top of the shrub to maintain a balance between it and the root growth. If the soil is dry when you plant your shrubs water them freely and apply a mulch of coarse manure.

Serving More Salads.

Not only the patriotic duty of saving meat on meatless day and serving a meatless meal or two on other days, but sound health demands that you should give thought to the amount of meat you and your family eat. To reduce the amount of meat you may have been accustomed to serve, and do it almost without it being noticed, it is well to give thought to the salads.

Chief among the salads that give a large amount of nourishment at small cost is potato salad. Every one knows how to make potato salad, but many hesitate to serve it often because they have "bad luck" with mayonnaise Here is a way to make a salad dressing that's simple and easy to prepare:

Whip a few teaspoonfuls of vinegar into one egg, season with a dash of pepper and salt, and add just a touch of sugar if you find it too sour to the taste, put the mixture on the stove, and, stirring the whole, let it "set."

This is not only a fine dressing for potato salad, but is excellent for cold veal, chicken and other meat salads that make such good use of leftover meats.

Making Meat Timbales.

Another method of making use of small portions of leftover meats is in the making of timbales. For instance:

If you have a cupful of chicken add to it a tablespoonful of fat, a tablespoonful of onion, two cupfuls of stock, two eggs that have been well beaten, and salt and pepper to taste. Mix these thoroughly, and bake in greased molds in a moderate oven until they set.

Observing Saving Suggestions.

Here are seven suggestions for the saving of food expense:

Use more milk in every way and less meat need be bought.

Use more greens, carrots, turnips, parsnips and cabbage, serving them in place of canned goods which cost more.

Use dried fruits sometimes instead of fresh fruits.

Learn to use meat merely as a flavor in vegetable dishes.

Use nuts—peanuts are cheapest—in place of meat.

Learn to know and to use more beans of all kinds.

Cater to your family's food needs—not to its whims.

FOR YOUR SCRAP-BOOK

Boil one pound of rice in a gallon of water, and when quite soft pour into a washtub, and leave till lukewarm, and then put in the chintz covers and rub with the rice, instead of using soap. Rinse in cold rice water, put straight through the mangle, and hang up to dry; then iron. They will look like new.

Here are three hints on the cleaning of a light-colored cloth dress that may be of use to you:

Take a lump of common salt and lay it on a paper in the oven till warm. Place the dress on the table, then break off a piece of salt and rub the dress till the salt is soiled. Repeat this till the dress looks clean. Then hang it on a clothesline and brush with a clean brush.

First brush the dress free from dust. If there are any grease marks, put a sheet of blotting paper under, and one over the grease marks, and press with a hot iron. Make a paste with fuller's earth and cold water, then lay the paste on the stains and let it remain until dry. Brush off with a soft brush, and the stains will have disappeared. If the dress needs pressing, lay a damp cloth over it and press well with a warm iron. Then hang the dress out in the air.

Dissolve four ounces of washing soda in one quart of boiling water. When dissolved, add one moderate-sized ox gall. Lay the garment to be cleaned on a table, and with a sponge wetted in the liquid rub well the grease spots first, and then the whole garment. When sufficiently rubbed, go over it again with a sponge dipped in clean cold water. Shake and hang out in the air to dry. While still slightly damp press it on the wrong side with a warm iron. Clothes cleaned in this way look almost equal to new.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

Solving the Problem of a Smart Afternoon Gown for Luncheon or a Reception.

"Come here, Claire, I want to tell you all about Isabel Langdon's luncheon party," said Madame, as I was hurrying through the studio on my way to see Sheila Maynard about some sketches. "We had such a surprise, I'm still excited about it.

"We were all seated at the table, which was decked out in the usual 'fixings'— candle shades, favors, floral centrepieces, etc., and were having a lovely time eating the goodies, when a messenger boy appeared with a telegram for Isabel. She read it to us. It was an announcement of her engagement to Billy Weatherly. Wasn't she clever to break the news in such an original manner?"

Instead of answering Madame's question I asked another:

"What did she wear?"

"Of course, you have no interest in anything but clothes, and you'll not be satisfied until I tell you what every last one of the guests had on."

"You're wrong," I contradicted; "I don't care a straw about any of the others. I only want to know about Miss Langdon's frock."

Afternoon Frock of Sand Crepe Georgette and Crepe Meteor.

"Bring me a pencil and a sheet of paper and I'll sketch it for you," she promised.

I sat down beside her while she drew the frock.

"In the first place, it was made of sand-colored crepe Georgette and crepe meteor. The bodice had a plastron front of crepe meteor, extended to form a broad, draped girdle, which came a little beyond the normal waistline. The plastron back was divided in the centre, the frock buttoning at the back with small, bullet buttons covered with the silk.

"The underbodice was of the Georgette, cut gracefully full, with long kimono sleeves. The latter were finished with bindings of the silk and tassels to match.

"A triangular-shaped medallion of embroidery, done with heavy silk, ornamented the front, while the same effective trimming was repeated on the girdle.

"You would have liked the skirt, Claire. It was made with a full tunic of Georgette, which hung from the sides and across the back. The irregular line of the hem was extremely artistic, and a binding of crepe meteor outlined the edges. The tunic opened in front over the pleated underskirt of the silk. Isabel wore a large bunch of violets to add a touch of color to the frock. The effect was charming. Here is the finished sketch. How do you like it?"

It is very good-looking, quite the proper thing for a hostess to wear at her luncheon party," I said, picturing how lovely Miss Langdon, with her red-dish-brown hair and brilliant complexion, must have looked in it.

"I'd love to hear more about the party, but Miss Mitchell is coming in this afternoon to look at designs for some sports clothes. Sheila promised to have them ready at 11, and, of course, you must look at them to see if the color schemes are according to your ideas. Will you wait here until I get them?" I asked.

"I'll come right along with you," answered Madame, all business now.

It consists of an upright brass rod about nine feet long, bearing at its upper end a crosspiece to which a number of equi-distant vertical spikes are attached. This forms a basis from which he reckons the speed

It is said that the native in India is extremely particular about regularity in his meals; once accustomed to eating at a certain hour he must stick to it at all costs. An English engineer had an awkward experience of this when erecting a 100-foot steel pole with the aid of about 30 natives and the minimum of tackle The pole was halfway up when the "headman" intimated that it was dinner time Only the most desperate entreaties, coupled with threats, prevented the men letting the pole come down with a run, though it had taken several hours to get it into this position.

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, MARCH 15.

A quiet and well ordered day is admonished in order to circumvent certain ominous astral influences which may lead to rashness, anxiety, disappointments and regrets, especially from quarrels and litigation, and at Saturnine obstruction. Opposed to this, however, Jupiter is friendly to money matters, and Uranus promises some advantages of a sudden and unconventional order. The occult and metaphysical, also inventions and all pursuits engaging the finer forces and faculties While business will have some interesting phases a favorable Mercury aiding the above Jupiterian benefit, yet there must be a word of caution against deception and intrigue.

NATURAL GAS

Farmers and Municipal Councils

ATTENTION

t a meeting of farmers held at Chat- on the 11th of March, at which undersigned committee was apted, it was decided to call a genmeeting of farmers from Western ario, to be held in the ODDFELWS' AUDITORIUM AT CHATHAM, SATURDAY, THE 16TH DAY OF RCH, 1918, at 2 p.m., for the purof discussing the Natural Gas Act ed at this session of the Legisla- and of taking action, if thought sable, in the way of appointing a tation to wait upon the Govern- and to ask that this act be nded in several important particu- before the closing of the present on of the Legislature.

his act gives the Ontario Railway Municipal Board full power to cone the property of the landowners ntario, and without compensating n for it in any way; the property be confiscated is not to be even n for the benefit of Canada, but be either taken for the benefit of big corporations or for the supd benefit of a few of the people Ontario who are fortunate enough ve in the vicinity of land whose rs have been progressive and darenough to develop and produce natural gas which they own on land.

e Natural Gas Act of 1918 contains following clause:

he Railway Board may make an for ) The division of any field of proon or distribution between two or corporations, companies or indils, engaged in the business of prog or distributing natural gas.

) The closing down or stopping up ny natural gas well, or any work he production, transmission or disition or supply of natural gas," and act does not contain any provision compensating the landowner.

e act further gives the railway d absolute power to disregard and aside any agreement or franchise een a municipality and a gas com- under which the municipality fixed the rates to be charged for to its inhabitants, and allows the way Board to increase the rates onsumers, and gives no right to al from the decision of the board. y municipal council should protest strongly against the law which les this board to take away from the rights and powers which the icipality may have under franchises as already granted.

nder this act, which was introduced rushed through the House all in afternoon (the Opposition corating with the Government for purpose), the Railway Board may r any gas wells on a farmer's land be shut down for any period what- r, and there is no provision in the for compensation to the farmer the loss he sustains.

ll the land in Western Ontario uld be developed for gas and oil poses, but while this drastic law ains in force, without amendment, useless to expect the expenditure hose in the oil and gas business ny further money in the way of ecting, drilling and development. call for this meeting is being because the farmers of Kent believe that all the farmers Western Ontario should have a thoroughly understanding the isions of this act, which has be- law in this province with only w hours' discussion in the Legisla- and because we believe that when farmers really understand what the means there will be an uprising of ic opinion in this province that Parent will be forced to take some on in the way of amending the law.

JAMES SLATER,
EDWIN HEA,
Committee.

WAS OFF WORK FOUR OR FIVE MONTHS A YEAR WITH CONSTIPATION

If the truth were only known you would find that over one-half of the ills of life are caused by allowing the bowels to get into a constipated condition.

When the bowels become constipated the stomach gets out of order, the liver does not work properly, and then follows the violent sick headaches, the sourness of the stomach, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They work on the bowels gently and naturally, and will cure the worst cases of constipation.

Mr. Sylvester Clements, Galt, Ont., writes: "I desire to express my heartfelt thanks for what Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have done for me. I have been suffering from a bad stomach and constipation, and would be off work four or five months a year. I was hardly able to be inside without getting a severe headache. I tried doctors' medicine and other remedies, but got no relief until a friend advised me to use Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. Now I can work inside without any headaches or pain. I would not be without your remedy for anything. I write this so that anyone suffering the same as I did may use them and be cured."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FOR THIRD WEEK IN SUCCESSION VESSEL LOSS IS EIGHTEEN

LONDON, March 13.—The admiralty reports the loss by mine or submarine of 18 British merchantmen in the last week and one fishing vessel. Of these, 15 were 1,600 tons or over, and three under that tonnage.

The arrivals at ports in the United Kingdom numbered 2,046; sailings 2,062. Merchantment unsuccessfully attacked, eight.

For the third time in as many weeks eighteen British merchantmen have been destroyed through mine or submarine. In the previous week twelve of the vessels were of 1,600 tons or over and six under that tonnage, while in the preceding week fourteen of the vessels were of more than 1,600 tons.

WANT L. & P. S. RY. TAXED

Toronto, March 13.—St. Thomas wants to tax the L. and P. S. Railway. C. A. Bower, East Elgin, will ask the Legislature to amend the municipal act, and would give power to Port Stanley (and as a consequence, other places) to tax the London and Port Stanley Radial Railway. Ten thousand dollars, J. Doherty told the premier, would be lost in two years if some relief were not given, and asked that the law be amended to read as it did before the amendment of last session was passed. Other members of the deputation said that the London and Port Stanley Railway enjoyed an unfair advantage in being exempt.

Sir William Hearst said that if a compromise could be arranged whereby the municipalities would assess the land itself apart from any buildings the railway might have, he would give the matter further consideration. If this could not be done, the bill would have to go to the special assessment committee, which is to meet during recess. However, the deputation decided that, while the municipalities affected might agree, Port Stanley would not, and the bill will go to the committee to be dealt with there.

WALTER BURRIDGE GETS FIVE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Young Londoner Found Guilty of Serious Thefts at Ingersoll.

WOODSTOCK, March 13.—Five years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence tonight imposed on Van Walter Burridge, of London, by Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, when the prisoner was found guilty of theft from the Northway Store at Ingersoll. Burridge appeared nervous and shook occasionally like a leaf, but was not visibly affected when sentence was pronounced. The court room was thronged to capacity. The jury announced its verdict after conferring for five hours.

Today's session of the assizes was occupied in hearing the prisoner's story. Following his examination the jury left the court room at 4:20 this afternoon, and at 9:15 tonight returned with a verdict of guilty. John Godfrey for the defence pleaded for leniency on the ground that it was Burridge's first offense, and was committed under the evil influence of Roberts.

Justice Falconbridge in imposing sentence for the second of the three charges against the prisoner, theft, said he had associated with Roberts and been a partner in his plans, knowing him to be a bad companion. He said he thought the prisoner was part and parcel in the whole transaction.

Investigation Into Davies Storage in Winnipeg Ordered

WINNIPEG, March 13. — J. D. McGregor, of the Canada food board, has appointed T. B. Tustin, chief food and dairy inspector for the city, to investigate the conditions at the William Davies cold storage plant, with full powers to act. Last week 8,500 pounds of chicken were found to be rotten in the cold storage plant and had to be sent to the incinerator.

MUNICIPALITIES HAVE AUTHORITY TO HANDLE ALL WASTING OF FOOD

Can Prosecute All, Including Cold Storages.

OTTAWA, March 13.—Prosecution and enforcing of penalties in regard to food waste has been placed in the hands of municipal authorities under drastic new regulations which were approved by the cabinet today. They provide machinery and authority for preventing or punishing willful waste of any food or food product either by individuals or by cold storage or other companies which handle food. Machinery is also provided for seizure and prompt sale of food supplies held by wholesalers, retailers or warehousemen in such a case as when the hoarding of that food would result in deterioration.

ONTARIO FIXES LAW FOR HOLDING BY-ELECTIONS

Vacant Seats May Be Filled by Arrangement.

TORONTO, March 13.—Four vacant seats in the Legislature may be filled without by-elections being held, but the attorney-general, Hon. I. B. Lucas, announced in the Legislature this afternoon that the Government is drafting a special bill providing for the taking of the votes in the event of contests being held. The vacant seats are North Oxford, formerly represented by Hon. Newton W. Rowell; South Huron, formerly represented by A. H. Musgrove, now postmaster of Wingham; Manitoulin, represented by the late R. R. Gamey; and Lennox and Addington, by the late Mr. Carscallen. An effort will be made to fill the vacancies by arrangement, and the probability is that the political party which held the seats after the last election will be allowed to retain them without a contest.

G. H. Gooderham introduced some more fancy ideas re motors. He wants the speed laws increased by five miles an hour.

ACTRESS GIVES RECIPE FOR GREY HAIR

A Well-Known Actress Tells How to Darken Grey Hair With a Simple Home-Made Mixture.

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, who was recently playing at the Imperial Theatre in St. Louis, Mo., made the following statement about grey hair and how to darken it:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken grey streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or any druggist can put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a grey-haired person look 20 years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

LOCAL MARKET

Only Small Offerings on Square Today Because of Weather.

There was a small market this morning on account of the weather.

Hay and straw continue slow. The price of hay remains steady, despite the small demand. Oats are firm, but there are few loads being offered for sale.

Butter continues firmer. Eggs are falling off in price. The prevailing price now is 42c to 45c in basket lots. One farmer received 50c per dozen, but this was an exception.

The supply of small vegetables exceeds the demand, and the prices are unsteady.

A few dressed chickens were offered. Some farmers asked $1.50 each for choice fowl.

There were 28 loads of hay brought into the market Wednesday. This makes 64 loads during the first three days of this week.

GRAIN.

Chicago, March 14.—Opening: Corn—May, $1 27⅛.

Oats—89⅛@89c.

Chicago, March 14.—Corn prices had a downward tendency today, influenced more or less by uncertainty due to meetings here to discuss enlarged facilities for hedging trades. In this connection, a representative of the food administrator is expected to be here tomorrow. Bears put some stress also on the fact that primary receipts continued in excess of last year. After opening a shade lower, with May at $1 27⅛, the market rallied a trifle and then sagged lower than before.

Oats receded on account of commission house selling, due to rapid progress of seeding. All the transactions, however, were in small lots. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅛c advance, were followed by a moderate general decline.

Winnipeg, March 14.—The oats market opened ⅛c to ¼c up for May at 96¼@96⅝c; July opened ¼c up at 96½c.

The flax market opened ¾c higher for May at $4 00½.

Inspections of all grains yesterday totaled 272 cars.

WALL STREET.

New York, March 14—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Reading was the striking feature of the uncertain opening of today's stock market, advancing 3 points in the first half hour. The balance of the list, notably coalers, hardened appreciably under this movement. Union Pacific, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric and specialties, including Corn Products, Linseed, American Can and Enameling gained large fractions. United States Steel soon made up its slight setback, and coppers improved. Liberty bonds were irregular.

Noon. — The morning's operations were governed largely by the strength of coalers. Reading extended its advance to 3⅜ points on heavy obsurption, and Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio and Lehigh Valley rose 1 to 2 points. Pacifics, Atchison, St. Paul, Illinois Central, New York Central and Rock Islands embraced the other active and strong rails. Equipments and specialties were featured by Bethlehem and Crucible Steels, American Can, General Motors and oils at 1 to 2½ point gains.

1:30 p.m.—Reading mounted to its highest price of the year in the afternoon, at an extreme advance of 4 points. Other active rails added to early gains, and steels and shippings attracted speculative attention.

WIARTON.—Sergt. Spicer, who went overseas with the Bruce battalion, after training with the home guards at Tobermory, has been returned to Canada.

RIGID INQUIRY FOR ALL CHARITY CASES IN INSTITUTIONS

City Determines on Check—$300 Voted G. W. V. A.

A rigid inspection of the need of charity will be made in every case sent to a hospital or other institution by medical men in the city. This was decided by the finance committee of the council. It has been the custom of physicians and others to send persons to these institutions, and the city had to pay the cost. Relief Inspector J. W. McCallum was of the opinion that the inspection should be made before the patients are sent to an institution, so that the city could have some check on them. This will be done.

The Great War Veterans' Association was given a grant of $300. The sum of $1,000 was asked for, but as the city cannot make a grant for more than $300, without the consent of the citizens, the smaller amount had to be voted.

It was the intention to discuss street railway questions next week, but that week will have to be given up altogether to the discussion of the tax rate, so nothing will be done.

Fire Chief John Aitken recommended the purchase of a motor ladder truck. This was laid over until the estimates are considered.

HORTICULTURAL BOARD ARRANGING EXHIBITS

The board announced its intention of making the 1918 exhibit the best on record.

GETS HOSPITAL DISCHARGE

Corp. William Varley, the returned soldier and Labor man, who spoke on behalf of George S. Gibbons here during the recent campaign, has been discharged from hospital, after he had been placed in confinement by the officers. His treatment created a big stir in Toronto, as politics were thought to be behind it. He was specifically charged with writing letters to the press, in which the treatment of soldiers coming home on transports was severely criticized.

Corp. Varley was refused the right, during confinement, to see his family, and other indignities were alleged to have been done him.

It is said that he will probably be shortly discharged from the service.

LAST OF FORESTRY IS LEAVING TONIGHT FOR EASTERN DEPOT

Engineers Also Send Draft to Hamilton.

The weekly draft for the Railway Construction Training Depot at Hamilton went forward today from the Service Company, Canadian Engineers, at Carling Heights Camp.

The detachment, which was 25 strong, left at 7:25 a.m. via C. P. R. in charge of Capt. R. Garrett, and the men will continue their training in railway work at Hamilton.

What will probably be the last of the Forestry Corps to leave here for some time, leaves via G. T. R. for Brockville tonight, four men composing the party. Recruiting for forestry work has been stopped, and with the dispatch of the last remaining "foresters" to the Forestry Training Depot at Brockville, no more will be seen here unless recruiting for the branch is resumed.

Several trades have been added to the list of those in one of which recruits for the Canadian Engineers must be qualified before accepted. The addition to the list should now make it possible for many more men to join the Engineers. Men qualified in the following additional trades may now be taken on: Masons, painters, surveyors, machinists, mechanics and miners.

HURON PASTOR IS A STRONG CONTENDER IN ASSEMBLY RACE

Regarded as Likely Moderator of Presbyterian Church.

The meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church here in June is attracting much attention, and plans are going forward at a rapid rate for the entertainment of the distinguished visitors.

The principal interest is in the selection of a moderator. There are eight nominations for the highest honor in the church, Rev. Dr. Thomas Stewart, Halifax; Rev. Dr. A. T. Love, Quebec; Rev. Professor W. G. Jordan, D.D., Queen's University, a former pastor of the Strathroy Presbyterian Church, and well known in London and Western Ontario; Rev. Dr. Andrew S. Grant, Toronto; Rev. Dr. John Somerville, Toronto; Rev. Dr. Colin Fletcher, Thames Road, Huron County, and Rev. Dr. S. G. Murray, Winnipeg. In addition, J. K. Macdonald, Toronto, head of a large life insurance company, has been nominated by the Presbytery of Honan, China. No elder has ever been elected moderator of the church in Canada, although one was elected in Scotland in 1567.

There will be keen competition for the position. It would seem that Dr. Fletcher, Thames road, and Rev. Dr. Stewart of Halifax will be the two strongest candidates.

We considered the request reasonable and hoped co-operation could be secured, but regret this was not attained.
