FREED FROM HUN SLAVERY

With the French Army in the Laon Area, Oct. 14.—Gen. Mangin, in driving the Germans out of Laon, freed the 6,000 inhabitants that remained there from actual slavery. They were not only despoiled of their household goods, their money and other possessions, but they were robbed of their time. The different officers commanding in the town pretended that the right of "requisition" extended to labor, and accordingly obliged men, women and children to labor, for the German army various ways. The requisitioned labor was paid for as were requisitioned products-in orders upon the mayor. The town, consequently, paid for the labor done by its citizens for the occupying forces. Men and girls were forced to serve as beaters for German officers on hunting expeditions. The girls were also obliged to go to the fields and gather nettles from which the Germans made a fabric that served as a substitute for burlap in making sand sacks, for their trench fortifications. No discrimination was made between persons of different classes and conditions. All had to bend to the will of the invader.

Measures to Stop Spread of Influenza May Be Followed by Others More Drastic-Many Deaths Taking Place as Result of Epidemic Now Raging.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Dr. Charles Nicolle and his colleague, Dr. Le Bailly, who isolated the microbe causing Spanish influenza at the Pasteur Institute at Tunis, of which Dr. Nicolle is director, announce that the germ is too small to be visible even with the microscope. It has been clearly identified, however, because by its use the malady has been reproduced in a monkey and a man.

Downham, approved by the board of health. The street cars smell like a hospital, scrubbed and ventilated until they scarcely know themselves, then treated to a thorough dose of disinfectnts. Health inspectors have visited restaurants and other eating places serving meals to the public to give notice that utensils, dishes and cutlery must be thoroughly scalded in order to destroy the evil germs.

In addition to the cleaning and disnfecting of street cars, orders have been issued forbidding the crowding of street cars. All these precautions are being taken in order to more effectively cope with the dread malady.

Lieut.-Col. O. A. Cannon, A.D.M.S., stated today that so far as the camp is concerned, the epidemic appears to be abating. At least, fewer new cases are making their appearance. Spanish influenza was brought to the camp on Continued on Page Three.

Germany Wants Peace In Order To Pursue Plans in Far East

Hon. N. W. Rowell Outlines His Opinion of the Situation.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Oct. 15 .- The reasons for Germany's present desire for peace were clearly outlined this afternoon by Hon. N. W. Rowell, in an address delivered before the Canadian Club in the St. James' Parish Hall. Mr. Rowell pointed out Germany's real purpose in waging the present war was to aggrandize territory in the far east and link her possessions by the Berlin to Bagdad railway. "After four years of war," said Mr. Rowell, "Germany is desperately anxious to conclude a peace on the west, so that she may have the opportunity to pursue her designs and plans of devel-opment and expansion in the east."

The great trouble is to secure filled up. The great trouble is to secure competent nurses, there being a great dearth of help and a general appeal has been Issued for all capable of nursing to respond in this grave situation.

The difficulties confronting the health authorities were not lessened this morning, when Dr. Parson, M. O. It is thought that a way cut of the difficulty will be found, and a meeting of the board of health will be held this afternoon to take up the matter. The city council will also meet tonight and further action is likely.

The Debt You Owe London

The businessman who imagines that he can live independently of the activities of his fellow citizens is engaging in a costly self-deception. Every civilized man is dependent upon others.

The retailer needs customers; the lawyer, clients: the manufacturer laborers; the worker, employment. Even the thief needs victims; the snob, the gaping crowd; the tightwad, an opportunity to hoard money and pinch his spirit. Absolute "independence" may be the subject of foolish boasting, but it does not exist. The whole fabric of civilization is so woven that no thread may be neglected without the imperfection showing. It may appear like the vaporing of a dreamer to say that cities must set about the development of citizens with vision; must create fine community ideals; must raise the standard of citizenship, even though all other matters are neglected; but it is these intangible things that have made cities great all the way down through history.

For ages China had the most populous cities in the world. The black population of Africa far outnumbers the white, but because it wants few of the so-called necessaries of life there is little business in the black regions; because no value is set upon the arts and sciences, both are absent; because no high ideals hold sway, there is no progress. The great cities of history-Athens, Rome, Venice and Florence-did not owe their fame to the numbers of their inhabitants. Athens' popula tion at the height of her power and glory was never more than 20,000 freemen who held 180,000 serfs in bondage. Rome at the time of Nero had a population of about 750,000—a number approached by one Canadian Venice was the home of about 120,000 souls at the pinnacle of her giory when she controlled the east-west trade of the world. Florence had a population of about 110,000 when her bankers were financing the The 20,000 freemen of Athens gave to the world poets, whose songs remain the models of modern times, philosophers whose teachings still live, sculptors that are immortal and statesmen whose policies and maxims are impressed into the national life of this Dominion. The modern world pays a money tribute to the Greece of today because Plato and Sophocles and Pericles did their work there. It is said that the greatest source of revenue enjoyed by Greece prior to the great war, was the "tourist crop," attracted by the scenes amid which her great men, of ancient times, moved.

There are dozen of Canadian cities with sufficient population to do the work of ancient Athens or Florence or Venice. But these cities lack the spirit-the intangible force to drive ahead on right lines. Perhaps i would be more nearly correct to say that the cities have not organized their citizenship to the end of bringing out all the genius, all the enterprise, all the vision their people possess.

It is this organization of spiritual forces for human advance that the board of trade is called to promote. Surely it is worth while. Such work is immortal, and the man who engages in it will find that his thoughts and his actions will be guiding other men long after he has passed to the great beyond. The survival value of his public efforts will be projected into the lives of generations yet unborn. Compare this to the routine servitude of selfish endeavor, and choose

The introduction of Peps, the famous, new breatheable remedy for coughs, colds and chest troubles, has revolutionized the treatment of these ailments.

Previously, when suffering from any of these, it was customary to dose oneself with drugs which were not only harmful, but practically useless, because, being generally in liquid form, they did not reach the lungs and chest, but the stomach.

Thinking people, long ago, realized that any remedy that was to reach the lungs direct must be in breatheable form, but for lack of a better treatment the old-fashloned method of swallowing liquids into the stomach.

U. S. President's Reply to Germany May Bring About Revolution in Kaiserland-No Peace With Autocracy Guarantees Must Be Furnished By Enemy Before Hostilities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.-President Wilson has answered Germany's peace proposal with a decision which not only fulfils the expectation of the supporters of his party, but also dispels the fear of those who predicted he would substitute victories at arms with defeats at diplomacy.

with defeats at diplomacy.

No peace with kaiserism; autocracy must go; no armistice can even be thought of while Germany continues her atrocities on land and sea; one cannot be considered unless it fully is dictated by the Allied commanders in the field in such terms as absolutely provide safeguards and guarantees that Germany's part will not be a "scrap of paper."

This, in a few words, is the president's answer. If it does not bring a capitulation which may be more than an armistice.

From that point the United States and the Allies might proceed to dispose of what remained of kaiserism if the German people themselves have not done it before, as President Wilson in his note plainly invites them to do.

Guilt is Personal.

While nowhere in the note does the president openly join with the Entente statesmen in the demand that the "chief criminals" must be delivered up for trial, the president's confidents

This, in a few words, is the president's answer. If it does not bring a capitulation which may be more than an unconditional point out that he plainly subscribes to surrender, Allied diplomats and American officials believe it may cause a revolution in Germany

The dispatch of the President's reply was followed by the issue of this formal statement at the White House by Secretary

President Wilson, according to this view, has now finally informed the German people that if they want peace they can only attain it by getting rid of the kaiser and his system.

What Armistice Entails.

An armistice it is true might come. An armistice, it is true, might come first and the details of the downfall of the German autocracy might be arranged later.

But this is what an armistice would ntail.

Consider the Extra Dollar

A PAIR of shoes at a dollar more may easily wear twice as long as a similar-looking pair at a dollar less. That dollar of difference buys as much as all the rest of your investment.

Watch these extra dollars carefully. Consider what they will buy before you spend or save them. Spend them wisely, for real service rather than for mere appearance, and they will buy many times their own value.

You can buy quality shoes at fair prices if you will do this.

But don't spend too much. Watch the extra dollars at the other end of the scale. An extra dollar spent for "frills" is a dollar wasted.

To buy wisely in these days of high prices, do this:

Large sleeves, cut kimono fashion, end with wide curved cuffs of boa marten to match the collar. The coat buttons at the side, white satin buttons of large size being used.

The outstanding feature of this charming suit is the versatile "throw" over the shoulders. This can be used to change the shape of the coat in many ways. Opened and tied under the belt it gives the costume an outdoorsport look. Fastened high around the neck it gives the suit a military appearance. It can also be tied in the back, under the belt, crossing the waist or carelessly thrown across the shoulders, instead of being severely tied in straight lines.

On account of the wide effect given by the side buttoning and the long throw of the scarf, this costume is to be worn only with some tight-fitting toque or small hat. A boa marten toque gives a smart finishing touch that harmonizes with the entire costume very well.

What to Do to Avoid Those Beauty Destroying Wrinkles

BY LUCREZIA BORI

A mother of a young girl recently wrote me, in considerable anxiety: "Do you think it should be necessary to massage the face of a young girl still in her teens? My daughter of 17 already has a most wrinkled brow, and it is most embarrassing, because the child does not worry, and I do not know what to do. Is the massage habit perfectly safe to start at that early age?"

I believe that this mother is seeking only a superficial remedy. Massage, artificial light as soon as daylight goes.

properly manipulated, 4s not harmful, yet I scarcely believe that it would go to the root of the trouble in this case. Wrinkles around the eyes and forehead, when they come normally, come slowly, as a result of the gradual experiences and concerns of adult life. When child dren have these lines at an early age it is caused by one of two things: The child may have the common habit of wrinkling its forehead and eyes, for no other reason than nervousness.

The only cure is to teach the child to exert its will to refrain. Do not speak to her about it frequently, for after a while the repetition of the "Don't wrinkle your forehead" becomes so monotonous and irritating that no attention is paid to the warning. Quietly bring a hand mirror and place it before her, where she can see herself, and she will quickly smooth out the wrinkled forehead of her own accord. Teach her the counterseting habit of gently massaging her awn forehead with her finger

"There he is now," one of them was saying, while from all over the field men came running, and we noticed the ambulance men spring to the ground.

The speck became larger—dropped lower rapidly. One of the officers who had retraced their steps nearer us I noticed had his fingers clenched in his palm in his excitement.

"He's in trouble all right, he said."But he's clever. He must have dropped 1,500 feet before making that tail spin. almost got it into control now. No, his grip's giving, and he's within a hundred feet of safety—the ship's nosing into the ground!"

His last words came back over his shoulder, for both men had started on the run toward the machine when it made its final dive, throwing the daring aviator into a crumpled, shapeless mass on the ground. With a scream, Edith Fairfax sprang after them.

But I—I stood motionless, repeating aloud and parrot-like to myself the officer's last words:

"His grip's giving, the ship's nosing into the ground."

My brain seemed incapable of action.

AST year the people of Canada lent the nation $425,000,000, by buying Victory Bonds.

And because Canada now needs more money and will presently ask the people to lend it, the people have a right to know what was accomplished by last year's loan.

Every dollar of it was spent in Canada.

Not only was it spent in Canada-it was circulated-it became the working capital of the nation.

T financed millions of dollars worth of munitions for Great Britain through which great sums of money were passed along to the workers in a hundred cities and towns and to the coal and iron miners of Nova Scotia and New Ontario.

It financed the purchase of thousands of aeroplanes for Great Britain through which again, millions of dollars were passed along to scores of lumber camps in British Columbia and to thousands of workers in the

It financed the export of millions of dollars worth of copper, lead and zinc and that again gave employment to an army of miners and metal workers all over Canada.

It financed the building of 112 steel and wooden ships in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia through which many more millions were passed along to the artizans, miners, steel workers and lumbermen of Canada.

It financed the purchase of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of foodstuffs as a result of which the money passed along to the farmers all over Canada.

And the farmers and the workers of Canada deposited their savings in the banks and the banks in turn loaned it to more producers who circulated it again and yet again, until every individual in Canada felt the benefit.

THE money from the Victory Loan, like any other working capital, was "turned over" several times, It kept working, over and over again, until it built up a tremendous commerce—it developed the greatest export trade Canada ever had, greater by several times, than the amount of the loan itself.

And this trade furnished the market for Canada's products of the field, the mine, the forest and the shop.

Thus was Canada's prosperity, upon which her war efficiency depends, kept at a high level.

And by reason of this prosperity, Canada has maintained and equipped an army of over 400,000 men-an army which has brought glory to Canada by its courage and prowess in the field, and by its heroic spirit of sacrifice.

So when Canada asks us to lend our money to carry on we have an opportunity to contribute again to the nation's prosperity and to the fighting efficiency of her noble sons on the battle line.

How Canada's Exports have Grown

What Canada's war activities and financing have actually achieved for the nation's export business may be seen at a glance by comparing certain items for the year epding March 31st, 1918, with the average volume of trade in the same items for three years previous to the war.

From the Farms:	Average for 1912-13-14	For fiscal year 1918

Canada's fisheries will yield, in addition to the above, during the present year about $9,000,000 worth of export. In addition to the forest items 248 million feet of aeroplane spruce timber averaging over $20 per thousand is contracted for in British Columbia as the result of Canada's financial assistance to Great Britain.

Not ranking as exports, but nevertheless directly financed by the Victory Loan 1917, is 446,000 tonnage of ships valued at $70,000,000 which will be completed by the end of this year. These ships use millions of dollars worth of lumber and steel which again circulates vast sums among the workers of Canada.

WILSON'S REPLY NO. 2.

RESIDENT WOODROW WILSON of the United States is not the guileless schoolmaster that many shivering observers may have believed him to be. If he plays the game of diplomacy gracefully and, with what might be regarded as a refined sarcasm, begs the German chancellor to "accept, sir, the renewed assurance of my high consideration," beneath the velvet of my high consideration," beneath the velvet glove he extends a hand and wrist of steel. These are revealed to his most recent critics in the note which on Monday he dispatched to the German Government within a few hours after the receipt of the second statement from Prince Maximilian, a note which goes swiftly and surely to the heart of the issue, and speaks for the rockbound resolution of the Allied nations to scorn every mouthing appeal of the whipped Huns while the super-hypocrites slay and destroy as fiendishly as ever.

Woodrow Wilson has not chosen to be cast as Little Red Riding Hood of the great world war. The German wolf may disguise himself in the clothes of respectability, and grovel in the ashes clothes of respectability, and grovel in the ashes of repentance, but always the tusks appear in the blood-flecked and frothing jaws of the brute. As the animal comes near, the hunters hold their spears ready to send home the final stroke. All about the wolf are his victims, fresh victims, and in the homes he has occupied are the signs of his wicked destruction. When he comes forward to treat with the hunters, he must submit to the net and be bound in meshes that have been forged in the fires of war.

The President of the United States is the hunter to whom the beast has made his overtures. Democracy is a soft thing, reasoned the German. Democracy will be glad to stop this gruesome struggle. But the democracy that fights from coast to coast. There will be very sincere for all the decent world has shown moral sinews that are more than a match for the trained thews of autocracy, and has proclaimed that there must He volunteered. be no peace until the foe has ceased to murder the defenceless and to destroy for the sheer lust of devastation. Peace with such a monster while he remains free to strike would be an unclean peace, and only the hunters themselves, the men who have been battling the beast and his tribe, may say when and how the end of the struggle

.Wilson has answered the demand for an armistice by pointing to Foch, the supreme head terribly distressed over the closing of the temples of Allied military power. "I am not the man who of learning. And all the teachers, too. shall discuss questions of arms. Talk to the one who holds you at his mercy, and who has accomplished your military downfall." Foch stands as son and feared he might desire the war to end the one man to whom the united Allied people too soon, will now be saying that he wants it to would entrust their safety. Foch will write no go on forever. notes. He will report upon the military outlook, and if the enemy has laid down his arms, he will make it known that surrender has taken place.

A further statement is that while atrocities the considered. The murderer who shoots a victim and at the same moment cries out for terms to the besieging police force is not a more mad or sinister or at the same time more ridiculous figure than Germany. Maximilian may plead that the Hun boat commanders do not know of the peace negotiations or he may be defied by the military caste which takes his efforts with ill grace, but the Allies can never treat with a chancellor who cannot command and speak for his people. Let the German people repudiate not only their bestial militarists who would go on and on with their treachery, but let them send their chief He-Wolf and his pack to perdition.

As a steadying influence and as a clarifier of the whole situation the note of the President appears to be a masterly document. Those who were in fear that he had no terms of reparation in mind need rest in peace. ONDON has followed the example of a number of other cities and through its board of health decreed that schools and theatres shall be closed for an indefinite period because of the outbreak of Spanish influenza. When human life is at stake and the menace to health stalks everywhere, the effect upon the business or pleasure of the community cannot be considered, and the authorities were well advised to take every precaution. It would be better that one life be saved as a result of the restrictions than that any interest should be protected, even though the Government were forced to compensate the losers.

To The Advertiser, however, the closing of public places is only an incident in the campaign that must be waged against this terrible plague. First of all the responsibility must come home to the individual. If he would save himself and his fellow-citizens he must adopt personal precautions so seriously as to make the contracting of the disease almost an impossibility. The ordinary dictates of common-sense must be exercised, and the man or woman who feels that he or she is becoming a victim should act at once as though in the most grave danger. The personal precautions are well known, and should be followed to the letter.

Then it would be advisable that the board of health should be in constant touch with the situation. Meetings should be held each day, and the members of the medical profession consulted as to the requirements of the situation. The epidemic is a challenge to the medical profession, and those who are aware of the straits to which they have been put in order to cope with the disease will his fellow-citizens he must adopt personal pre-

In those places where people congregate in numbers there is always danger when an epidemic of this nature is raging. Children may carry the disease from home to school, and it may be transmitted to other homes. This applies with equal force to every other gathering, and while it will be the part of wisdom to restore normal conditions as soon as possible, the loyal cooperation of all those affected will aid materially had made him too astigmatic as to eyein preventing the spread of the disease and rensight to be of military use to his countries to be of military use to his countries. dering unnecessary far more stringent regulations: try. Thousands have died garded as quite a catch. For the little and the death rate is not abating in Canada, but appears to be increasing.

So far there has been no serious effort on the part of the Dominion or Provincial Governments to cope with the epidemic in such a manner as to indicate that general care is being exercised. The influenza situation is handled by Canada and Ontario in about the same manner as the coal question. The question is national in scope, but the whole responsibility is passed over to the municipalities. To say the least, the provincial authorities should be promulgating literature to the public in general. The general official attitude is to "Let the newspapers do it." The was no other doctor in the place, Paul made a special appointment for consultation and went to see her in old Dr. Peters' office.

Paul had realized before that there would be difficulties in consulting a woman physician, but the difficulties were different from those he had expected. For Dr. Kate proved to be a most radiant and betwitching young woman, who somehow sent strange thrills coursing through one's veins when she felt one's pulse, and for lack of a stethoscope she had to lay her golden-crowned little head against his heart for full three fninutes at a time to find out the state of that organ. But, anyway, there were advantages in this new embarrassment. At least she was taking him seriously—even though she received a fee for doing so—and that was more than any woman had done since the encampment was established near Marden. She told him that he surely did need treatment, but that she would have to think the matter over before she could prescribe.

Meantime Paul went home encouraged, and Dr. Kate cultivated the acquaintance of Paul's sister and mother. She had suspected something and she found it to be true. Then she laid out a plan for a cure, and proceeded to apply it. But the cure did not come in any pill boxes or medicine bottles. The first dose was an invitation to dinner at her house, on the pretext of meeting her mother. And Dr. Kate watched with satisfaction that was not all professional as he accepted his fifth muffin—they were made with as much wheat as the Hoover regulation allowed—and watched him eat the dessert, to make which she and her mother had foregone sugar for two days. Dr. Kate had a wonderful way of finding things out, for Paul himself never told her about his socks. But before many weeks had passed he was actually bringing his socks stealthily to Dr. Kate's mother, who assured him she had a perfect passion for darning, and since her own boy had gone to the front she had had none to do.

Then Kate prescribed some sort of electrical treatment for her patient that had to be administ "We'll pay you forty bones—we can't go higher!" "But I've waited now three month to hear, and you cut my price in half,"

The four swimmers shave a big scare.

Tom and Jerry Beaver had the tussie of their lives with Dick and Billy Otter. It was a very even match. The Otters could swim faster, but the Beaver Twins were very strong, and wonderful divers, and no one could hold his breath longer, or stay under water longer, than the Twins. All four swimmers were now getting out of breath and puffing like locomotives. They breathed so fast and hard that they had to stop to get their second wind.

Other neighbors came to watch the ducking-match. Several Bluejays lighted on a tamarack overhanging Mirror Pond, and they took seats in the Grand Stand.

Jerry Beaver caught an Otter Boy by the hindleg and pulled him under water, and kept him so long below water, that all thought he would surely drown, but came up at last and panted like a running dog on a hot day in August. Tom grabbed the other Otter boy by his ears and held him under a long time, so that he, too, was crying for help.

The Bluejays were now scolding, and thouting, and enjoying the funt and they, with the Red Squirrels, made such a racket that all the little people of Mirror Pond came out to see the water-sports.

The Muskrat boys and their folks all stood on top of their houses to watch the antics. The Mink boys and their families stood on the bank clapping their hands in great glee. And all the Beavers gathered about their houses and on the roofs to see the tussle.

But Tom Beaver suddenly yelled for dear life: "Jerry, come quick! There tomes a big bear, swimming like a whale!"

(3) I canned 5 quarts of peas from a receipt from your page, and they are beginning to spoil. Have you or any of the readers advice on how to preserve them until winter?

Ans.—(1) At midnight on Sunday, October 27, the "old time" will be resumed.

(2) Depends partly upon whether you have a pale, sallow or rosy complexion. Shades of blue are usually considered a far person's best colors, but many look equally well in mauve or helio, green, tan or black. Pink usually becomes a "pale-faced" blonde, and grey one with rosy cheeks.

(3) I am sorry the peas are not keeping. Has any reader a helpful suggestion to make? A memorial to the late Miss Maud Hotson was unveiled at a meeting of the Women's Institute. Just received this recipe for chocolate bars, and it's too good to hoard: One cup each of rolled wheat, puffed rice, chopped dates, mixed nuts, rolled; mix all together in a dish, and have one cake of sweetened chocolate, melted with enough milk orgawater to make it as thick as cream; bour over the mixture in the dish, stir all well and spread on a greased pan about half an inch thick; cut in one-inch strips, put into a warm oven long enough to dry out. The kernels from plum and peach stones are good to mix with the nuts.

SECOND YEAR MEDS DROP RUGBY DUSTLESS M'KINNEY TAKES 2:09 PACE AT GAME TO ST. THOMAS FOURTEEN

McGinnis, Ferguson and Cline Featured for Local Team -Corp. Finlay Star for St. Thomas Aggregation-Five Substitutes on the London Lineup.

Fourteen stalwart youths representing the second year Meds at Western University journeyed to St. Thomas yesterday afternoon, where they engaged in a friendly game of rugby with the Railway City Collegiate Institute team, and incidentally were defeated, the final result being 7 to 1. The game, which was arranged recently had been called off last Friday, but final arrangements were made for the fray on Saturday, Western being minus five regulars, who were at their homes during the holiday. However, Dingman, Gillies and McCartney of this city filled in the gaps, and Campbell substituted for Douglass, who has the "filu".

The St. Thomas a gregation also had one or two members on the sick list, and substitutes were used. Corp. Final lay, a veteran player, being called out for the game. In addition to this the yardsmen went to sleep at their posts several times, causing further the first of the game, and without for service, giving a great exhibition and scoring six of the seven St. Thomas apoints. His lightning end runs were a feature of the game, and without the near future.

Western will play a practice game with the local collegiate fourteen on Wednesday, as the latter aggregation is booked to meet the St. Thomas lads in the Railway City on Friday afterneon.

GUELPH, Oct. 14.—The chief Thanksgiving Day attraction at Guelph today was the king's royal horse race and show meet which proved to be an enjoyable success. The weather was cool, although the sun shone brilliantly all afternoon, and the track was heavy, making very fast time out of the question and taking this into consideration, and the fact that a regular gale was blowing down the back stretch the horses made excellent time. There were three races on the card, a 2:09 pace, a 2:17 pace and a 2:29 pace, a 2:17 pace and a 2:29 pace, a called off. There was a big crowd on hand, and the racing was thoroughly enjoyed. The greatest interest centered in the 2:09 pace with such campaigners as Dustless McKinney, Milton Hal and Haledo to fight it out. The first named was returned the winner, but did not have things all his own way, and it took four heats to decide the race. The 2:17 pace went to Darkey Todd of Toronto after he had finished third in the first heat, but was always pushed hard by Freebond. In the 2:20 pace Billie Sunday proved to be class and won as he pleased in three straight heats.

In addition to the races there were

Throughout the 1901 season the war raged merrily, to the disgust of fans, and to the great profit of the players, some of whom jumped back and forth many times, and were never certain one day what league they would be playing in on the morrow. At the close of the 1901 season it was seen that the Milwaukee club couldn't hold its own with the other cities, and the franchise was transferred to St. Louis, Baltimore was also considered a losing proposition, and when it was decided to have a club in New York the Baltimore franchise was the one transferred. As the sun of life sinks toward the west

Life has been said to consist of a constant succession of breakdowns and repairs. In old age, the former predominate. The body machine is more or less worn out. Digestion is less perfect, elimination of waste is increased in quantity, but reduced in efficiency.

Hence, constipation is particularly pernicious. Constipation means more than mere failure of the bowels to move regularly and thoroughly. It meams stagnation of the contents of the intestine, increased fermentation, putrefaction and germ action, the production of irritating and poisonous substances, that are absorbed into the blood and carried all over the body.

This is always serious—in old age it is especially

SOME PHASES OF THE PROSPECTS FOR PEACE. THE SWORD OF THE AVENGER. By William C. Cornwell.

Do not let us be misled by this pharisalcal agitation in Germany to establish parliamentary government. The representatives of a people steeped up to the eck in the bloodthirsty crimes of an unjustified and bitterly selfish war, are no better to treat with than their present autocratic leaders. The German people are particeps criminis with the kaiser and his horde of brutal Pan-Germans.

There has not been one minute when Germany and all of Germany, including all the German people, have not been ready to share in the plunder whenever and wherever her war bandits were able to seize it; no time when they have not approved oppression and the frightfulness of their armies wading through the blood of women and children to reach the spoils.

The attitude of the whole German nation was defiant and unrelenting when her armies began the drive in Jarch. It was not until after the turn of the tide at Chateau-Thierry in July that she began to relent, and as she was swept on further and further, holdness turned to fear, and boastfulness changed to

And now with Bulgaria out and the shell cracking, Germany turns, or pretends to turn to parliaments and popular representation, as a hypocritical means of wresting an armistice from the avengers.

After Germany has surrendered, whether the swords are handed in by a German parliament or by Hindenburg, there should be not an ounce of pity for the German people. They must pay the price—a bitter price—for all the horrors for which there is a surrendered with the statement of the price—as the price—for all the horrors for which there is a surrendered with the MANY SERIOUSLY ILL—Mrs. Percy Strong of Edward street this city, is seriously ill at her home with pneumonia. Many such cases are to be found throughout the city. Mrs. A. McTaggart of Tecumseh avenue, also is seriously ill with Spanish influenza. Salesmen for different firms report that in every second house a case of sickness is encountered. The symptoms usually point to Spanish influenza.

In an parliament or by Hindenburg, there should be not an ounce of pity for the German people. They must pay the price—a bitter price—for all the horrors for which they, as much as the kaiser, are to blame; for they supported him in his brutal policies to the very last, and will have adopted the superfuge of a people's parliament only because the sword of the avenger hangs of them.

A PEACE THAT MUST BE DICTATED.

The London Statist takes occasion, in a recent issue, to emphasize the necessity that the great body of the people through all the Entente countries (and it says "especially in England," but it might also have added in America), study carefully the conditions from Germany which here is hould be not an ounce of pity for the German people.

They should, it says, feel the obligation they are now under to their families and to their descendants, not to trust to governments; "on the contrary, they should take it for granted that governments will, as a matter of course, go wrong, and they themselves should feel the great obligation that rests upon them, UNDERGONE OPERATION to see that the coming peace will give security against the renewal of war a ast for two generations." The Statist then recites the conditions laid down by ex-President Roosevel in his Lafayette speech, as a model for the people to study, that they may insist upon the conditions therein laid down. The things contended for in this speech are: That Germany had no provocation, that before the war she was free to Archibald McLarty, son of Mr. and Mrs. McLarty of Wardsville, and one of the most popular of the fifth year medical students, died at Victoria Hospital at 11:30 o'clock Monday night from pital at 11:30 o'clock Monday night from compelled, when the fighting ends, to recompense to the fullest extent all the pital at 11:30 o'clock Monday night from pneumonia, which developed following a recent operation. He had been acting as house surgeon in St. Joseph's Hospital for about one year, and had spent considerable time in the same capacity in Victoria Hospital. He was beloved of all the boys in his class, and was prominent in all sports, especially rugby football. He was president of the fourth year class, and it was said by one of his fellow student's, "Mac was the best scout in the whole class."

In London he leaves a wide circle of friends. All his relatives live in the district of Wardsville. Mr. McLarty was to have graduated this coming June, and it was his ambition to have gone overseas at the first possible chance.

Decounties the fighting ends, to recompense to the fullest extent all the countries she has injured.

First, France should be compensated for all the injury done to the occupied provinces, and should also receive back Alsace-Lorraine. Secondly, full compensation must be made to Belgium, Luxemburg, Serbia, Montenegro, Rumania, and so on; and likewise, provinces wrenched from Denmark in 1864 should be restored. Lastly, the portions of Germany which were robbed of home rule in 1866 should get it back—for instance, Hanover; and that Prussian Poland should be added to the new kingdom of Poland—that is, that Poland should be restored to the full management of her own affairs and that she should comprise the Austrian and Russian portions of what once were Poland, as well as those of Prussia. The Statist adds: "We do not dispute that Germany will regard the taking away from her of all the provinces as a great wrong, but German opinions of what is right and what is wrong between nation and nation, deserve no consideration.

* * The German people never had a right and never can have a right to domineer over nations which have proved to be not strong enough to maintain their independence." their independence."

THE WAR MUST NOT HAVE BEEN IN VAIN.

Our own people would do well to get these formulas well fixed in their inds. Our whole country is devotedly united to win the war. The New York Tribune says:

struck, this new unity of the nation must stand high upon the credit side. We never conceived such a magnificent swinging step to be possible. We were too large, too composite, too individualistic. Yet it has come. No nation has shown a truer and stancher face, a more complete surrender of sectionalism and every petty, contending scruple to the one sacred cause. We are proud of America as never before."

This splendid spirit of unity must not have been developed in vain. The one great danger is that, having crushed the Hun and won the war, the dective shall be frittered away by politicians. If the country is united on what wants dictated into the peace, no power on earth can turn aside its demands THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

while possibilities seem to point to war termination in six months or so, there are also possibilities of a fierce continuation for a year, Under these circumstances there will be no let-up in war purchases and contracts. Such action would be fatal. The war must be fought as intensely now as ever, and war equipment must go on up to the last minute. were numerous calls for assistance, however.

Many of the large offices of the city are completely tied up because so many members of the staff are laid up. Manager J. W. Clark of the Prudential Life Assurance Company, was battling alone today, all members of his staff being laid up.

Then follow high class railroad and foreign government bonds; after that, good railroad and industrial bonds. Then, and most attractive by reason of high yield, the preferred stocks of the seasoned industrials.

The common stocks of the very best railroads have the Government guarantee of rentals to assure their dividends for a period. It is true this period is fixed now to terminate twenty-one months after the war. The uncertainties of future readjustment would tend to cause more or less speculative fluctuation in prices. Against this, at the present time, is the fact of the comparatively low prices at which such stocks are selling. And one most favorable factor in the whole situation is that stocks are, a rule, selling at compartively low levels, all along the line.

WHAT AFTER THE WAR?

With every indication of an early cessation of hostilities in Europe comes the recurring thought, "What about business after the war?" Will a peace set-tlement open the way to a big slump and depression? Answering these questions some days ago, J. J. Whitacre of Ohio, a large employer of labor, nad the

WHY SHOULD WE HAVE A BUSINESS SLUMP?

"There will be a lot of work for this country to do when the war is over, and there will not be any too much labor to do it. We need have no fear of being swamped by immigrants from Europe. Before the war is over many of the young fellows of Europe will have made the supreme sacrifice and the old ones never move. We shall not have to restrict immigration; on the contrary, we could employ a lot of laborers if we could get them.

"This country will be the greatest nation the world has ever seen. We are now enjoying the most wonderful prosperity we have ever known. It's not hard to explain. We are supplying the world. When it is all over, we shall take the lead necessarily in the work of reconstruction. We shall have to furnish the world, particularly Europe, that has been devastated by the war, with raw materials and manufactures. Here at home there will be plenty of work to do. Why, the railroads alone almost can insure prosperity. In the past railroads have taken more than 50 per cent of all the steel produced. Since 1913 they have been taking very little, because the war has demanded the bulk of the world's supply. There have been no extensions built. Railroad work, except the absolutely necessary repairs, has been almost abandoned. But following the war it will be resumed on a more extensive scale than ever before. With the Government controlling the roads, it will mean employment at good wages for many thousands. I don't imagine the Government is going to give up the roads after the war. For a long period after the war there will be a system of half socialism in this country. But it will all make for prosperity. I do not believe we have anything to fear for a long time, and, in my judgment, wages will continue to be high, perhaps not so high as now, but higher than they were before the war began.
"Then there is shipbuilding. America will keep on building." and we shall have the greatest merchant marine in the world. We shall not let it go again."

The following appointments to the 2nd Tank Battalion were published in orders today: To be major: Major N. K. Cameron, from 63rd Battery. To be captain: F. B. Scullard (24th Regiment). To be lieutenants: Lieut. Gordon H. Tennant, Lieut. W. J. Brownidge, Lieut, J. N. Cantin and Lieut.

THE IDEA OF THRIFT AND SAVING Woodrow Wilson.

If a man does not provide for all who are dependent upon him, and if he has not that vision of conditions to come and that care for the days that have not yet dawned, which we sum up in the whole idea of thrift and saving, then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life.

STABILITY OF THE BUSINESS WORLD

Theodore Roosevelt.

Life insurance increases the stability of the business world, raises its moral tone and puts a premium upon those habits of thrift and saving which are so essential to the welfare of the people as a body.

WALL STREET AND PEACE POSSIBILITIES.

CHURCHES IN ANNUAL RALLY. ALLAC CRAIG, Oct. 14.—The annual raily of the Baptist Young Peoples' Societies of Middlesex and Lambton was held in the Baptist Church here on Thanksgiving Day. October 14. There were two sessions at 2:45 and 7:30, and a very interesting program was given. Supper was served in the basement by the young People.

Germany's readiness to evacuate all occupied territory to get an armistice, was interpreted by Wall Street yesterday, as an admission of utter defeat, and peace stocks went forward during a million-share day, with leaps and bounds. The railway and oil shares made spectacular advances. Union Pacific passing 132 and Canadian Pacific 174, while Texas Oil reached 193 and Mexican Petroleum closed at 139½. For the past three months the market has developed in strength from reap their harvest at the hands of a hungry horde of buyers, who will only buy when the market has exhausted over 75 per cent of its legitimate rise in values. Yesterday dealings totaled about a million shares and the market looks good for further advance from present prices for many stocks which, in the scurry for some of the specialities, were lost sight of Monday.

Four Reasons for Life Insurance BECAUSE IT GUARDS AGAINST DANGER: Life is uncertain, health is insecure, and accidents are innumerable. Insurance taken now will guard you against the pecuniary damage threatened by such perils.

BECAUSE THEREBY CAPITAL IS CREATED: You can create a capital instantly by investing a small sum annually in a life insurance policy. The only other safe methods of accumulating capital are by arduous toil and slow saving-and such efforts are often cut short by death,

BECAUSE IT PERPETUATES YOUR EARNING POWER: Your salary, or the income from your profession or business will terminate at your death. Insurance furnishes the best method for continuing such income after your death.

BECAUSE ITS BENEFITS ARE CERTAIN: Fire may come, death must come. The fire premium is a necessary expense; the life premium is a desirable investment. Your fire policy may never mature. Your life policy, if kept in force, will inevitably mature.

Chicage, Oct. 15.—Bullish sentiment, based chiefly on the president's note to Germany, brought about fresh advances today in the corn market. Beside that, the fact that large amounts of corn were to be purchased for the Government continued to be a strengthening factor. Pit trading, however, was mostly in small lots. "That applies only to the United States," he was informed by the court.

Explanation Satisfactory.
A. H. Burrows appeared on the charge of having two different numbers on a nutomobile belonging to him. He admitted that this was a fact, but explained that both numbers were his, and one of his employees them on a car which he was placing to another man.

Magistrate Graydon was satisfied with this explanation, but Chief W. T. Williams thought that as a whiskey bottle had been found in the car late on Thursday morning the case ought to be further investigated. "Perhaps the mixed numbers can be accounted for by the presence of the bottle," intimated the court as the case was dismissed.

The man who borrowed the car from Mr. Burrows, who was charged with miracles, if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There we vast numbers of men and women who immediately upon arising in the merutag drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measures. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the theirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indirection of the millions of bacteria which infrest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins, which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, billious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood.

The color of the first half hour, probably as a result is poisons and toxins, which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, billious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood, and all sorts of aliments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply cannot get feeling right, are urged to obtain a quarter-pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Rid of Dandruff There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—

TODAY! London Starts To Go After a Bigger Future!!

N Ultimatum has been served on Old General Apathy and Field Marshal Indifference. Emperor Let-Well-Enough-Alone has already abdicated and his policy of allowing other communities to forge ahead of London is forever repudiated.

To Those Canvassed---

NOW OR NEVER is to decide whether London shall step forward and "stake out" her rightful place as the leader among Western Ontario municipalities. There has been lots of talk in days gone by-lots of profitless argument, discussion, planning that led no where-NOW IS THE TIME FOR ACTION-A-C-T-I-O-N.

You will be approached by a volunteer canvasser within the next few days-just an average citizen like your self, who has the city's interests at heart to an extent that has made him volunteer, not only to take out his own membership in the new Board of Trade, but to give of his valuable time, day after day, without any recompense except that glowing satisfaction which will come to every worker when this campaign is worked out to the fine achievement it is going to be.

These men have a definite, dignified, profitable proposition to offer you. Please receive them courteously, matching your few moments of time against their free gift of days for the welfare of the community. If already decided to have your share in the new march forward of London's progress, deal with them quickly, give them the encouraging word, and send them on their way to the next call without delay.

The Speaker at the First Luncheon of the Teamworkers Today at 12:15 Tecumseh House, Will Be

Dr. D. Frank Garland

Commissioner of Public Welfare, Dayton, Ohio, one of the best-known community experts on the continent.

To the Canvassers---

There is no need to apologize for your errand today. You are conveying to every man you approach a privilege and an honor in the invitation to participate in the coming growth and prosperity of London. You know beforehand how many keen men of business in London, large and small, have applauded this move, hailing it as London's biggest opportunity in years, and stating their intention to have a hand in the big results that will come from it. Remember, you are giving your time day by day, as well as investing in your own mem= berships. What you have BOUGHT as a mighty good investment you can SELL. We will get more than the planned eight hundred. GO TO IT! Every live business force in London will be in on the new Board of Trade. You'll see!
