DENY HIRING CRIMINALS TO ENFORCE O.T.A.

Fears U.S. Stand Sounds Death Knell of Hague Conference

ENVOYS DEEPLY CONCERNED FOR FUTURE PLANS

Express Disappointment At Not Receiving Favorable Reply.

LLOYD GEORGE HOPEFUL

Believes Refusal Will Not Be Considered As Final Declaration.

Genoa, May 16.—Prime Minister David Lloyd George does not feel it was indicated this afternoon that America's refusal to participate in the commission to sit at The Hague on Russian affairs is her final word, as the document indicates great interest by United States in Russia's economic reconstruction and the reply is regarded as one forming a basis for further correspondence.

Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy, on learning the decision of the Washington government not to join the proposed commission on Russian affairs at The Hague, expressed great surprise, especially at the rapidity with which a decision was taken. Great disappointment at the decision was expressed generally in conference circles, as the belief had gradually been forming here that United States was ready to join with other powers in dealing with Russia's economic problems.

"The only real difference between Genoa and The Hague, as the latter was projected," said a leading British delegate today, "was the participation of the United States at The Hague. Now that the United States has refused the invitation I cannot see why, in a month's time, it should be possible to solve at The Hague through a commission of experts the problems which statesmen, plenipotentiaries and experts to-day failed to solve here. I do not like to prophesy, but it would not surprise me at all if the refusal of the United States should prove a death blow to The Hague meeting."

When announcement of the declaration of the Washington Government was conveyed to the French delegation, great disappointment was expressed by various of its members.

Many Frenchmen, it was indicated, anticipated a gradual conservative development in Russian communism, believing that the Conservative group in Russia is growing.

WILL CAUSE DISAPPOINTMENT.
London, May 16.—Refused by the United States to participate in the proposed continuance of the Genoa conference at The Hague will cause great disappointment in many quarters here, where it was strongly hoped that the Allies' invitation would be accepted.

News of the declaration came too late for the morning newspapers, which feature dispatches from their correspondents at Genoa encouraging the expectation of a favorable reply, and on two going so far as to assert definitely that the United States ambassador to Italy had told Foreign Minister Schanzer the United States had accepted.

The Times and Daily Mail, both of which have been hostile to the Genoa conference, editorially declare that the success of the proposed meeting at The Hague is practically dependent upon United States participation.

CHIEF RETICENT TREAT RAILWAY ON ROBBERIES MOTION AS JOKE

Police Officials Expect To Locate More Loot in City.

Alleged Thief Presented Mayor Thinks It Will Fade Like Flowers in Spring.

"Everything in good time," laughed Chief Robert Birrell Tuesday afternoon, when asked if a warrant had been issued for the arrest of the local young man who spent much of his spare time during the last six or eight months in stealing automobile accessories from motor cars, and who varied the program by breaking into summer cottages at Port Stanley and stealing the contents.

Asked if the police were casting suspicious glances at any other young men in the city who might possibly be implicated in the wholesale thieving, Chief Birrell was not particularly talkative.

"We are not looking for anyone in particular right at this minute," replied the chief. "Everything in good time. We may have something to say later on. That's all I can tell you just now."

Detectives Tom Bolton and Harry Down made a pilgrimage to the east end of the city late Monday afternoon to look up the alleged thief.

Plane Comes to Grief With Load of Choice Liquors Aboard

50 Bottles Undamaged.

NEW YORK, May 16.—An airplane, laden with choice Scotch and Irish whiskeys, was wrecked when it attempted to land on a farm near Croton-on-the-Hudson, Westchester County, last night, revealing what is believed here to be an elaborate system for beating the Volstead law by smuggling intoxicants into this country from Canada.

The plane was a double-seater Curtiss machine, and the passenger cockpit had been filled with bottled goods packed in gunny sacks. The only tangible clue as to the origin of the cargo was a copy of a Montreal newspaper issued yesterday morning.

General J. McCall, a former deputy sheriff of Westchester County, was disturbed during the early evening by the antics of an airplane, which would whirl along just a few feet above the chimneys of his home. The pilot evidently was looking for a good place to land, but failing to find a new survey of the country.

At last the driver decided to make a landing. He avoided fields near Mr. McCall's residence, and chose a side hill for the end of his flight. One wing of the plane struck an ancient machine and a wreck. Mr. McCall ran toward the airplane, expecting to discover someone dead, but found, instead an irate and limping man, who hurried toward him, and who was carrying a briefcase.

Capt. Warber, Lieut. Roberts and three private of the state troopers stationed near Croton were rushed to the scene. They found gathered about the damaged aircraft a crowd of men whose emotions ranged from cheerful to extreme gravity as they cheered to the fragments of upwards of two quart bottles that had been smashed when the machine landed. Fifty bottles had not been broken in the wreck.

Wants Playground For Two Little Streets Which Boast 60 Children

ALD. WATKINSON has discovered two little streets in the east end which he considers are entitled to a playground all their own.

The Alderman is proud of the residents of these two little streets. He is proud of the way in which they propagate the race. "There are 60 children on these two short streets," he boasted, and declared they had to cross the railway to get to a playground. He wanted to know what steps he should take to secure a playground, as there was a splendid spot available.

He was told to take his suggestion to the playground committee.

TEN TANKS OF OIL BURN.

Bayonne, N. J., May 16.—Ten tanks of petroleum had been destroyed this morning by a fire now said to be under control which started last night in the Tidewater Oil Company's yards here when a flash of lightning struck a tank of oil. The loss is said to be in excess of $750,000.

WANTS TO KNOW WHY REVISION COURT NOT HELD

City Council Requests Public Explanation of Failure To Hold Session.

HUNDREDS KEPT WAITING

Angry Deputation Condemns Members Who Failed To Turn Out.

A resolution that the court of revision should offer a public explanation of its action in not holding a court Monday night was passed by the council, following a protest from spokesmen of the citizens who turned out to attend the court.

"We were summoned to appear. There were over 100 of us. Only one member of the court, T. W. Scandrett, appeared, and we were told that the court had been postponed. Is it right that we should waste our time like this?" is the way the spokesmen put it up to the council.

Mayor Wilson said that the council could not be responsible for the sins of the court of revision. It had enough troubles of its own. The deputation would have to fight it out with the court. It was to be regretted, he said, that the citizens should be so inconvenienced.

Ald. Ashplant thought that the matter was one which required explanation. The people were gathered down there as if in a little church.

"They are not in a religious mood," said the mayor.

Ald. Ashplant suggested that some explanation should be asked of the court as to why the citizens were inconvenienced. And he made a motion demanding such an explanation.

City Clerk Baker said that the chairman of the court, W. Fetterly, had been phoned and he promised to be on hand.

Mayor Wilson pointed out that there was probably a good reason for the delay.

Ald. Ashplant said he hoped there was, and the people inconvenienced should know it.

Ald. Ashton agreed, and seconded the motion.

Ald. Childs suggested that perhaps they were going a little far.

Ald. Ashplant, however, said he did not think so, and Ald. Drake also complained of the place of meeting.

He said there should be a suitable place to hold the court, instead of making citizens stand so long out on the sidewalk.

Ald. Cunningham said that he believed there was some apology due these citizens who were deprived of their evening.

Ald. Ashplant also raised the point about the citizens who attend with counsel. They were also being put to a great expense.

The motion of censure was declared carried.

The scene at the court itself was one of excitement, and this morning between one and two hundred citizens of London think that the ideas of the court of revision, ought to be revised.

Though they waited for the court for a weary hour and a half Monday night, jammed in the assessment room of the city hall, forming queues to the very portieres of the city hall when that room overflowed, yet they were turned away disappointed, because no attempt of the court appeared to grant them a hearing of their cases.

"The feast was set, the guests were met"—but where were the members of the court of revision? T. W. Scandrett was the only member of the court who appeared, and he only to advise that on account of his delinquent colleagues, no court sitting could be held.

In the first place appellants who wait on the court of revision are not likely to be in a mild mood, seeing that they come to voice grievances; in the second place they did not at all like the quarters provided, sitting being arranged for in the assessment room, because the oligarchs, the members of the council chamber, were occupying the council chamber, and lastly because they were turned away after an hour and a half wait.

They think that this is a form of persecution not to be endured. After the appellants had stood shifting from one foot to another, stork fashion, in the assessment room, they gathered in assorted groups and all adjured the council to do better ministrations that hand out edicts from the city hall. The two members of the court not present were E. H. Fetterly and Sheriff Donald Graham.

REPORTS LULL IN CHINA'S WARFARE

Tien Tsin, May 15.—There is a momentary lull in the military operations north of this city, owing to the fact that Wu Pei-fu, victorious in his campaign against Chang Tso-lin, has not yet concentrated sufficient forces in the neighborhood of Tang-shan for an attack on Chang's army entrenched there. A movement of Wu's troops on a large scale is expected to begin shortly.

Believes Children Need Music's Rhythm From Infancy

LONDON, May 16.—It is no longer considered good form to rock the baby to sleep at night, and throw in a lullaby or so for good measure.

The modern offspring is placed between the sheets by modern parents who turn out the light and say good-night—like that.

Any vocal selections usually are rendered by the child in protest. Which is all very well, according to Lada, the classical dancer who has just been engaged for a season in London and Paris, but she makes a plea for music for babies.

"I believe a child should hear music and feel its rhythm from earliest infancy," she says.

"If a mother does not wish to sing her child to sleep she should sing to it at some time of the day. Nothing relaxes a child more than music. A nervous, fretful child often will respond to it, and become tractable under its influence when stern disciplinary measures fail.

"RHYTHMIC games, in which children sing as they play, promote better feeling than any others."

"Teachers in the public schools for some time have understood the value of breaking the monotony of school hours by calisthenics and drills to music."

"Now they are going further and teaching dancing to build up the physical system. The ease and grace with which children take up dancing proves that it is a natural expression."

"Nearly every child dances beautifully. It is only when he grows up and becomes conscious of himself and tries to do something he does not understand that he loses grace and ease."

"I hope the day will come when every child is taught to express himself through the medium of song and dance."

"We have rooms to dine in, rooms to sleep in, to write, read and cook in, but how many homes have a room to play in?"

"And if we are going to take away the baby's lullaby, let us compensate by giving him much more than we take away."

CARMEN'S WAGE FIGHT STARTED

Conciliation Board Hold First Sitting Tuesday Morning.

In a final effort to settle the wage dispute between the London Street Railway and the motormen and conductors employed by that corporation, the federal board of conciliation ordered by the minister of labor held its initial meeting Tuesday morning.

John M. McEvoy, K.C., president, with the company represented by E. P. McGuigan of Toronto, and the union by Frank McKay, prominent labor man of London.

The session was brief, considerable of the time being allotted for organization and detail purposes. The men, while protesting against the three-cent an hour wage reduction placed in effect March 1 last, are seeking the restoration of the present reduction in effect they receive 45 cents an hour.

The company has claimed already that with the decrease in salary sufficient returns are not being obtained.

WILL BE NO BRITISH TROOPS IN SOUTH BY END OF WEEK

Sir Hamar Greenwood Answers Query in Commons Regarding Evacuation.

London, May 16.—Questioned in the Commons this afternoon concerning the British troops in Ireland, Sir Hamar Greenwood, the secretary for Ireland, replied that there would be no British troops in Southern Ireland by the end of this week, except those in Dublin and those used for coast defence.

ADOPT RESOLUTION.
Belfast, May 16.—The Sinn Fein executive here has adopted a resolution "in the name of the persecuted and terrorized minority in the city" calling upon the Daily Eirean in Dublin forthwith to establish stable government.

"We are convinced that one of the best means to acquire peace in Belfast is to establish peace in the rest of Ireland," says the resolution.

"Until the special police paid by the British government are disbanded, and the regular police are disbanded, and the rule of the gun and the rule of the law are abolished, we will not cease to demand the rule of the law."

DISCUSS BONUS QUESTION.
Ottawa, May 16.—The bonus question was the main item of discussion at the regular monthly meeting last night of Union 65 of the Associated Federal Employees of Canada. At the meeting there was expressed that the government may alter its proposed policy in regard to the bonus.

City Clerk Rules 'Sunday' Under 'Holidays', But Council Disagrees

City Clerk Baker told the council on Monday night that it was.

The question arose when the recommendation to close Victoria Park to vehicular traffic on afternoons and holidays came up.

"Sundays, also," asked one of the aldermen.

"Sundays are holidays," said the clerk.

"Better ask the Lord's Day Alliance," remarked one alderman.

To play safe the aldermen put the word Sunday in the recommendation. Then after all the discussion the mayor remarked that he did not know whether the council had any power at all in the matter. And so it was left.

Girl Confidence Sharps Run Into Reverse at Sarnia

Go To Reformatory

SARNIA, May 16.—After successfully victimizing unsuspecting Chinamen in London and other centers in Western Ontario, Margaret Allen and Hazel Blue, both former Toronto residents, met with reverses when they attempted, the police say, to obtain money here in a similar manner.

Convicted of obtaining money while posing as authorized collectors for various hospitals, the two women were sentenced this morning by Police Magistrate Henry Gorman to the Mercer Reformatory, the former to serve from six to twelve months, and the latter from three to six months.

All chances for leniency were precluded when inquiries revealed the fact that Allen, the older of the pair, possessed a bad record in Scotland, and since arrival in this country has been persistently victimizing churches and charitable institutions.

There was no record obtainable concerning Hazel Blue, and the court expressed the opinion that she had been led astray by her companion.

TO CHARGE "GAS" STATIONS RENT

Gasoline pumps installed on the curbs of the city in future and those already installed will net the city $25 a year rental, according to regulations which have been prepared and will be voted on by the council at its next regular meeting.

The new regulations are much in line with those advocated by The Advertiser for some time as a solution of this difficulty. For the most part they compare favorably with the Toronto regulations.

In all cases, the city must be indemnified against any loss, and the owners of tanks must agree to move them on a month's notice.

AYEARST SAYS EMPLOYED ONE EX-BOOTLEGGERS

Admits He Has Been Misled in Employees Engaged.

ANOTHER HIRED GORDON

Operator Who Accepted Bribe Was Taken On Again.

Toronto, May 16.—Provincial Inspector J. A. Ayearst, one of the officers responsible for the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, was the chief witness before the public accounts committee of the legislature today.

He denied emphatically that he engaged thugs, criminals and ex-convicts as O. T. A. operators.

Mr. Ayearst stated that he never engaged an ex-convict if he knew it, although he admitted that several years ago he had engaged a man named Slavin as an operator after he had been convicted of bootlegging. He denied several portions of H. H. McCutcheon's evidence of witness engaging men whom he knew to have been previously convicted of offences.

The case of Lloyd Gordon, who admitted he received $600 to leave Kitchener, where he was to have given evidence against persons accused of being bootleggers, went to Legina, and about six months afterwards returned to Toronto, to be engaged by the department, was the cause of considerable questioning.

Mr. Ayearst said he did not engage Gordon when he came back, but instead told him there would be no work for him around there. It was E. D. L. Hammond who re-engaged him.

The witness understood that it was to investigate crime against A. Corrian. He did not understand why a man of Gordon's record had been engaged. He would not have permitted it.

Mr. Ayearst said he believed Corrian had been an honest official and refused to believe the questioning that he was in league with the bootleggers.

Corrian was with the department for years. He emphasized that both under the Drury government, and the former government, it was urged that only men of known integrity should be engaged. He frequently got instructions along that line of course, he had been misled occasionally and men whom he thought were honest had gone bad.

MAJESTIC, WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP, MAKES MAIDEN TRIP

Former Bismarck, Displacing 55,000 Tons, Will Be Given Triumphant Entry.

New York, May 18.—The Majestic, world's largest ship, was rolling down from Nantuxet to Sandy Hook this morning on the last lap of her maiden voyage across the Atlantic. Shortly after daylight, all arrangements had been made to give the new empress of the seas a triumphant entry to the harbor.

The Majestic, which is of 55,000 tons displacement, is not only the largest, but probably the speediest passenger ship now afloat. She has a record of 25 knots an hour, and her engines are still stiff. When they get limbered up her officers and officials of the line believe they will get at least four more knots speed, and during the summer runs eclipse the trans-Atlantic record now held by the Mauretania.

The Majestic, even as a German ship before the war, never made a passenger voyage. She was built in Germany as the Bismarck, laid up in Hamburg during the war, and then sold to Britain by the reparations commission. She was then converted to an oil-burner, made more luxurious and named the Majestic.

FIRE DESTROYS LEAD PLANT

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 16.—The white lead plant of the United Lead Company's plant here was destroyed by fire early today, with an estimated damage of $1,500,000. The blaze, which for a time threatened to spread to the factory of the United States Cartridge Company 150 feet distant, was brought under control after a six-hour fight by the Perth Amboy fire department aided by scores of volunteers.

DAWSON CITY IS FREED FROM ICE

Dawson City, Y. T., May 16.—Old King Winter abdicated Sunday morning with the breaking up of the ice along Dawson's waterfront and, with the exception of a few small bridges, further up the river being washed out, no damage was caused.

It is expected that the first steamers will move out from Lake Lebarge before the end of this week.

SHOWS CLOTHES HUSTON WORE

Attorney-General's Agent Produces Garments and Effects Found On Deceased.

W. L. Elliott Declares Only $50 Was Available For Coroner's Expense.

Fort Frances, Ont., May 16.—Norman L. Croome, agent for the attorney-general for the Rainy River District, last night produced clothing worn by Capt. Orville Huston at the time of his death, also a revolver, watch, filled cartridges, and papers found scattered around him. The latter included a telegram to Hon. E. B. Carvell, chairman of the railroad board, asking him to refrain from authorizing the rate reduction as to pulpwood, because Backus had refused to "come through with his deal."

W. L. Elliott, publisher of the Fort Frances Times since August, 1918, a member of the coroner's jury, which brought in an open verdict, said he had heard nothing to change his mind as to the correctness of the verdict of the jury. He was satisfied that the local coroner officials had done all they could, though more energetic action might have been taken. Only $50 expense money was available. He thought ten times that should have been available, also more expert criminal investigators.

He was not sure that he had ever been interviewed by G. C. Porter, who filed a story to the Toronto Telegram from here dealing with the situation, in which he quoted Elliott.

CLAIMS HE OWED $8,000.

FORT FRANCES, May 16.—When Orville Huston was employed by the Sprague-Roland Lumber Company he was $8,000 short in his accounts, according to the testimony this afternoon of Curtis Williams, timber purchasing agent for the Backus companies, at the hearing of the royal commission of the Province of Ontario inquiring into charges against the attorney-general's department, arising out of the death of Huston last December. Huston had been paid this sum for pulpwood. Mr. Williams testified, but the wood was not in existence. These facts did not come to light until after his death, but the fact would have come to light, Mr. Williams said, as the pulpwood was then due to be shipped, and the shortage would have been discovered.

Since that time Mr. Sprague of that company had told Williams that he hoped the verdict would be murder, in order that he could claim against the estate. The insurance companies would pay over on the police on a verdict of murder.

Charles L. Chandall, assistant traffic manager to the Backus companies, said to Gordon Waldron, counsel for the government, that neither he nor any member of the Backus organization had, to his knowledge, promulgated the idea that Huston had committed suicide.

Albert Newcomb, one of the vice-presidents of the Backus companies, said he had invited Huston to have luncheon with him on the Tuesday before the latter's death, and later talked over the pulpwood situation with him.

Newcomb finally told Huston he could buy up 15,000 cords, and possibly a further 10,000 cords, if it could be arranged to store the balance. Huston said he was not satisfied with the 15,000 offer. He kept saying he would rather not buy any wood, and would resign first.

PEONY SHOW IS CAUSING BIG STIR

International Event Billed For London in June, Attracts Experts.

Floral experts from all parts of the continent are manifesting the keenest interest in the preparations for the international Peony Show, which is to be held in the London Armories during the month of June, 1922.

In a letter dated Constantinople, Lee B. Boonewitz, of Van West, O., rated as one of the world's greatest authorities on peonies, and who is now touring Europe in order to study methods of peony and iris culture, expresses a keen desire to see the London Peony Show a manifest success, and an outstanding event in the horticultural world.

Mr. Boonewitz is expecting to exhibit two varieties of peony, Elwood Peas and a new variety, "Nina Secor."

In his letter he provides an amount of information which cannot help but prove of interest to exhibitors, dealing as it does with ways and means of obtaining the finest results with flowers intended for exhibition, and of preserving them while on show.

L. W. Greshner, horticulturist, of Napoleon, Ohio, has expressed his intention of coming to London to be present at the Peony Show, and incidentally touring the province to consider the various methods employed by Ontario horticulturists.

CYR MUST PAY PENALTY OF CRIME

Ottawa, Ont., May 16.—(Canadian Press)—George Cyr, sentenced at Bracebridge to be hanged on May 17 for the murder of George Withers, must pay the penalty for his crime, a decision of the governor in council refusing clemency having been brought down. Cyr was condemned by Mr. Justice Middleton for the murder of Withers, which took place near Huntsville, when a Mrs. Salave was also killed and an attempt was made to kill her husband. Since being sentenced Cyr has been under observation by experts as to his mental condition. The governor declined to interfere with the execution.

Humane Officer After Those Who Set Traps For Innocent Felines

In the opinion of George Tustin, Humane Society officer, steel traps were originally intended for the capture of bears, wolves, or at the best, the familiar type of house rat. They were certainly not made for catching cats he explains.

Early Tuesday, Officer Tustin was busy out Emery street way investigating four complaints from residents of that neighborhood, who stated that their pets had arrived home that morning in various stages of incapacitation.

Back from the night they came with broken legs, sprained backs,

PANET ADVISES NINE DAYS CAMP

General Makes Recommendation Regarding Training Period at Carling Heights.

Major General H. A. Panet, commanding officer of the London district, has recommended to the militia department at Ottawa that the training camp this summer at Carling Heights be held for nine days, June 12-21. It is almost certain that the recommendation will be adopted at Ottawa.

The personnel of the camp will be practically the same as last year. Gen. Panet stated, with the exception of the Lambton Regiment of Sarnia, commanded by Col. McVicar, which will be under canvas this summer. The other military units which will comprise the training camp are: The Middlesex Light Infantry, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Berdan of Stratford; the Bruce Regiment, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Emmerton of Walkerton, and the Huron Regiment, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Coombs of Clinton.

Other units which will be under canvas during the nine-day training period are: The 1st Field Ambulance Unit, in command of Lieut.-Col. McDermott; a detachment of the Army Service Corps, and the Officers' Cycle Corps, commanded by Major Ross of this city.

Gen. Panet said that the other regiments in the London district would not go to camp, but would have a short training period in their local armories. These changes in training are necessitated by the reducing of the estimates for this year by the militia department.

noon and discovered another cache laden with cushions, automobile rugs, a gray overcoat, an electric lamp and the rest of a fur coat belonging to Miss Wright. The coat had been cut to pieces for throws, the police state.

It is believed that the end is not yet, and that further hiding places will yet be discovered by detectives. The articles so far discovered are valued at thousands of dollars by the police.

The fur coat stolen from Mrs. (Dr.) Rutledge was presented by the young man to one of his friends, and she wore it continuously during the latter part of the winter.

Mrs. Frank Lewis, of 891 Princess avenue, identified at the police station among the coats and wraps that were in her motor car which was stolen from Port Stanley, last July, and was later found in the ditch burned.

FEARS U. S. STAND ENDANGERS PARLEY

night the text of a message to Ambassador Child at Genoa, declining the invitation to participate in the new European conference at The Hague.

"This government," the United States embassy said, "is unable to conclude that it could helpfully participate in the meeting at The Hague, as this would appear to be a continuance under a different nomenclature of the Genoa conference, and destined to encounter the same difficulties if the attitude disclosed in the Russian memorandum of May 11 remains unchanged."

The "inexplicable and ultimate question," the American note said, "would appear to be the restoration of productivity in Russia, the essential conditions of which are still to be assured, and must in the nature of things be provided within Russia herself."

Favors Expert Inquiry. The state department's communication said the American Government "has always been ready" to join other governments in arranging for an "inquiry by experts into the economic situation in Russia and the necessary remedies."

Such an inquiry, it was added, could deal approximately "with the economic pre-requisites" for restoration of Russian production, without which a sound basis for credits "would be lacking."

In concluding the United States communication renewed the offer "to give serious attention" to any proposals issuing from a Genoa conference or any later conference, but added that the suggestion for the meeting at The Hague, in view of the Russian memorandum of May 11, lacked "the definiteness which would make possible the concurrence of this government in the proposed plan."

RUSSIA TO TAKE PART. GENOA, May 15.—Russia will participate in the proposed conference at The Hague to discuss the Russian question. M. Rakovsky made this announcement tonight after a meeting of the entire Bolshevik delegation.

In giving out this information to a large assemblage of newspaper correspondents, Mr. Rakovsky declared crippled feet and wounds of all descriptions. An investigation of the injuries revealed the fact, the officer states, that they had been netted in steel traps and then given their freedom presumably when the owners came on the scene after daybreak.

Although he conducted a thorough inquiry, Mr. Tustin states that as yet he has located none of the traps or has any clue as to the possible identity of the owners. He is determined, however, that such practices must cease if harmless pets are to be injured to such a degree as to resemble wounded soldiers limping back from the front line.

CLOSE ROAD FROM CITY TO CRUMLIN

Authorities Commence Work On New Provincial Highway.

No traffic will be able to go over the provincial highway between London and Crumlin Corners for three months, according to a communication received by Secretary Barnard, of the London Motor League, from C. K. MacDonnell, resident provincial highway engineer at Woodstock.

The engineer also states that he has placed a sign just east of the town of Ingersoll advising motorists to take the Hamilton road. Between Brantford and Hamilton the road is closed one-half mile west of Ancaster, but there are detours plainly marked, he states. This latter closing is due to surfacing work being carried on.

Various portions of the road between the Wainwright County line and the top of Hamilton Mountain will be closed all summer, while at the present time on the road between Ingersoll and Woodstock culvert construction is going on, and a little later grading operations will be commenced, he announces.

"I do not anticipate that we will close the road to traffic, but it will be in very bad condition for motorists," he writes of the last-mentioned road.

Between Woodstock and Eastwood culvert construction is under way and later an macadam base will be laid. While this is being done a detour will be marked out for motorists and other traffic.

GREEKS FORM CABINET.

Athens, May 16.—A new cabinet has been formed under Nicholas Stratos to succeed that headed by M. Gounaris, which resigned last Friday. The new ministers will be sworn in this afternoon.

M. Stratos was one of the organizers in 1916 of the anti-Venizelos party.

that in his judgment, which he said was also the judgment of his fellow delegates, unless the Russian idea of a real mixed commission were adopted, instead of a double committee, the Hague conference was bound to prove as sterile as the Genoa conference.

M. Rakovsky emphasized that the Soviet delegation had found absolutely unacceptable the proposition of the powers, whereby no treaties of any sort could be entered into with Russia, whether political or economic in character during The Hague meeting.

If persisted in, he was confident it would provoke intense feeling throughout Russia against this gathering because of a kind of masked blockade against them.

Wants Peace Pact.

He wanted the entire world to understand that Communistic Russia was heartily in favor of a permanent non-aggression pact by which nations would engage to respect each other's territorial integrity.

Russia, he declared, sought only peace and security, and was always willing to accord peace and security to others. After having disclosed that the Russian delegates would participate in The Hague conference, the Russian spokesman said his delegation would prefer the forthcoming conference to be held in some other city.

There were two reasons for this—first, Holland, unlike Italy and some of the other powers, had concluded no treaty with Russia, nor even tried to do so, and second, communications between Moscow and The Hague would be difficult. His delegation preferred Stockholm or Riga, and he added emphatically:

Objects to The Hague. "We will insist on some other city than The Hague."

M. Rakovsky closed the meeting by reiterating that unless a single mixed commission instead of a double commission was adopted, the difference between the powers and Russia would only be aggravated, and it would be absurd to expect a fruitful result.

The Russian delegates have been asked to meet the political sub-commission at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to discuss plans for The Hague meeting.

The aim of the camp is to provide for older boys and men an enjoyable outing where one can recreate in God's great out of doors, and train for service. The camp plan is to keep the boys busy, happy, healthy, and contented. The camp will cost the boys twelve dollars for thirteen days this year, $7 for one week, or $12.5 a day, as compared to $15 for fifteen days last year.

Take Old Clothes.

Before leaving for camp, the boys will be reminded that camp is a good place to wear out their old clothes. The necessities that each boy must take are: One pair of blankets, cushion for pillow, empty bedtick (size not over 3 feet wide by 6 feet long), anything that will hold straps for two weeks; rubber or oiled cloth for ground sheet to place under bedtick; swimming suit, gym suit, one old suit of clothes, pyjamas, Bible and Tuxis manual, cap or felt hat, heavy leather shoes, underwear, stockings, safety pins, shirts, handkerchiefs, towels, soap, toothbrush, comb, dessert dish, granite plate, cup, porridge plate or bowl, knife, fork and spoons.

Outline Work.

The mornings will be set aside for training in the C. S. E. T. program. The campers will be organized into Tuxis squares under the leadership of an experienced mentor.

During the week each group will carry out the four-fold phase of the Tuxis program, giving particular attention to those activities which have to do with nature and the out-of-doors.

Fisher's Glen is a quaint and picturesque spot for campers. It is situated on Lake Erie, in Norfolk County, three miles from Victoria station. A trout stream runs right through the Glen, on either side is a wooded hill and in front is the inviting water of Lake Erie. The neighboring farmers tell many thrilling stories of the Indians who camped at Fisher's Glen, followed by the first settlers of Ontario. Woods, hills, dunes will combine to give every camper a healthy and invigorating holiday. On the grounds is a hotel for visitors, tennis courts, fishing privileges a large pavilion and a canteen.

Every yard of wooden cloth contains about a mile of yarn.

Girl Who Carried Dead Babe In Handbag Is Sent Down For Trial

HAMILTON, Ont., May 16.—Elsie Beauer, mother of the infant found dead in a handbag, in which she had carried the body for three or four days, was committed for trial by Magistrate Jelfs today on a charge of having murdered the baby. Medical evidence showed that paper had been stuffed in the baby's throat, and that there had been hemorrhages of the heart and lungs.

The court was also informed that while the girl is not mentally bright, she knows the difference between right and wrong.

Ottawa, May 16.—(By the Canadian Press).—W. A. purport of the resolution which had been declared carried on Monday night.

Ald. May was not in accord with the statement that the resolution bound the city to go ahead with the cancellation of the street railway franchise.

"What do we want with that scrap heap," remarked Ald. Holmes when asked what the city would do with the latter, and if the intention was to take the railway over.

Of course, Mayor Wilson did not take Ald. Ashplant seriously at the meeting when the alderman pressed his motion in a lengthy speech, mainly an attack on the railway company for violating the agreement.

He halted the alderman to ask if the two went hand in hand when the speaker referred to "the wisdom and legality" of the city solicitor, and afterwards laughingly remarked that the matter would be safe in his hands.

"It's just making T. G. the goat," said one official while discussing the council action on Tuesday.

IDENTIFY SLAYERS IN CHICAGO FEUD

Police Have Evidence Directly Connecting Big Three With Killings.

Chicago, May 16.—Evidence distinctly connecting bomb throwers and the slayers of two policemen with the Big Three Chicago labor leaders, was claimed today by police and state's attorneys who have worked indefatigably since Terrence Lyons, acting lieutenant, and Thomas Clark, patrolman, were shot down a week ago after two buildings had been dynamited in the so-called labor war.

Four men have been identified positively as the slayers of the policemen, and three of them have confessed, the police said, while John Miller, bartender, owner of the motor car from which the fatal shooting was done, has been identified as the driver through bloody fingerprints on the automobile doors. Two men who rode with him were arrested when they applied for medical aid, the police said, one having a body wound and the other a bullet through the shoulder.

Miller himself confessed early today under constant questioning, the police said.

He was removed secretly to a outlying police station, because of a attempt to poison him. Police said one dish brought from a restaurant contained a quick-acting poison.

The Chinese make out of the substance a substance strongly resembling milk in color, taste and chemical composition.

Liberal Independence.

TO ASK all manner of small questions, to make a front show of economy, and then when it is practiced to turn and rend those who are seeking to save money—such seems to be considered good politics by the Conservative opposition at Ottawa.

HON. HUGH GUTHRIE, who, when minister of militia, demonstrated that he could spend money like water, made a savage attack on the Liberals because they were insisting on a cut of some hundreds of thousands in militia estimates. To quote his own words:

"They have taken him (the minister of militia) by the throat, practically; they have dragged him into the caucus; they have told him that he either had to cut down, to trim, or they would put him out. The minister comes to Parliament and puts himself in the humiliating position of saying: My own followers will not support me; I will have to ask the house to reduce my appropriation for annual drill by $190,000. . . . My honorable friend says that is democracy; I say it is the result of the use of the big stick."

In a very labored effort the member for South Wellington went on in an attempt to show that when the government did not agree with the estimates and ideas of some of the ministers it really amounted to a state of want of confidence, and that it would be about right and proper for such a thing to mean that the government could not carry on.

Such a thing as private members doing their own thinking, or refusing to fall in with what is brought forward by the members of the cabinet, may be new and startling to members of the Conservative side of the house, but we can assure those in doubt at Ottawa that the country regards with appreciation and pleasure the spectacle of private members doing a whole lot of thinking and a whole lot of discussing, and from that, forming their own opinions.

It used to be said of the late Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD that he wanted fellows who were behind him when he was wrong as well as when he was right. That may sound very heroic, and there may have been occasions in the fortunes of that party when a following of that character was needed, and needed badly.

The character of Parliament is changing, and it is changing because the people want it to change. It is becoming a sensitive thing, and it must continue in this course, because in no other way can it be possible for Parliament to register the wishes and desires of the people who sent it there.

All the clap-trap that the Hon. HUGH GUTHRIE can talk about party theories can fool no person. He was facing and trying to destroy a spirit of inquisitiveness and searching out that the people of the country want to see grow, for in its growth lies the safety of the whole country. There is a wide difference between the spirit of independence and the status of a rebel in the camp, and it may be that failure to distinguish that difference accounts for the fact that the member for South Wellington is sitting where he is today.

Building Costs.

PROSPECTIVE builders are discussing and wondering whether the present is a good time to go ahead with any plans they may have in mind. It is a fact that certain lines of materials have come down from their peak, while other items, such as labor, have also decreased to a small extent.

It is interesting, in such a case, to find out what the builders themselves think of the situation. Here is the opinion of one of the largest contractors in Canada:

"Right now we find that we have to cut closer on work than we have done in years, and I know there are fairly large jobs being let on which there is not a cent of profit for the builder—in fact, they will barely carry the overhead. Most of the large contractors have very little work ahead, the result being that they are all cutting the head off prices in order to get something ahead to keep their working organization intact in case something better turns up a little later on. When you find the contractors around looking for something to do, you can depend on it that profits are very meagre compared to a period when there is a boom in the building line."

Of course, the man who is putting up the money has to settle the matter for himself, but at least it seems a favorable time, from the above statement, which was made to THE ADVERTISER by one of the most reliable firms in the business.

William Yeates.

WILLIAM YEATES, for many years one of London's foremost manufacturers, died today at the age of 75 years. He was born in Liverpool, came to London quite young, and was educated at the old Union School under Nicholas Wilson and the late J. B. BOYLE. After leaving school he entered the employment of DAVID DARVILL to become a machinist. While an apprentice in London he went to the front with the Seventh Battalion at the time of the Fenian Raid. For a time he was with MACPHERSON, GLANGOW & Co., of Fingal. On returning to London he became a partner in the firms of WHITE & YEATES and WHITE, YEATES & JOHNSON. He then formed the London Machine Tool Company.

He was thoroughly in love with his work, and was a first-class machinist. No establishment turned out better work than the London Machine Tool Company.

For several years he was a member of the London Board of School Trustees. The establishment of the Technical School was mainly due to his efforts. It was probably the greatest act of his life, and will have far-reaching effect for all time.

He was for many years superintendent of the Wellington Street Methodist Sunday School, and laid the cornerstone of the new Sunday school.

He was the second and last surviving son of the late WILLIAM YEATES, builder. As man and boy he was respected by all who knew him. He was very generous, and had much more than average ability.

During the past two or three years his health had been far from good, and for some months he knew the end was not far off, that he was "knocking at the threshold."

"I'm kneeling at the threshold,
—So weary, faint and sore,
I'm kneeling at the threshold,
—And my hand is on the door."

London Federal Square.

THERE ARE many interesting phases to the proposal of the city to erect an up-to-date office building on the site of the present city hall, and to sell the Federal Square property.

First, there is the matter of policy, and secondly, that of finances. Both are more or less involved. The former because of the several favorable votes taken on the Federal Square proposition, and the second because the funds from the sale of the old hall, the purchase of Federal Square and the present hall, and the sale of a part of the present property to the Utilities Commission are all involved.

On the matter of policy one is treading on fairly safe ground in saying that the majority of the ratepayers would today favor the less expensive office building as against the pretentious structure proposed for Federal Square. Two reasons may be given for this: Firstly, taxes are high enough now, and in their present frame of mind the cheaper structure is bound to find favor with the majority, and more especially as there is a good chance that the profit on the sale of the Federal Square lands may go some distance in the erection of the structure across the road.

The second reason is that the day of high-costing elaborate city halls is passed. Municipalities are coming to the point where it is realized that real business offices are just as essential in the conduct of a civic enterprise as that of a private concern. There may be opposition to the council's proposal, but it can at least be said that the proposal under present-day conditions savors of common sense.

The city has $267,123 tied up in city hall enterprise. This includes the cost of the present structure, with improvements $61,305, in all, and the Federal Square property $205,817.73.

Revenue for this purpose so far raised totals $286,984.58, made up of old city hall sale, $100,000; 1913 debenture issue of $75,000 netted the city $65,845; half of 1913 debenture issue of $250,000 netted $112,987.50; three payments of the Public Utilities for the corner sold at $27,173.60, and the principal and interest totals $8,152.08. Thus the city has on hand

$9,861.55; $125,000 in unsold debentures, and $19,021.52 coming from the Utilities Commission.

Additional expense which the city must meet comes from the debenture sale, $75,000, 4 1/2 per cent, 30 years, and $125,000 4 1/2 per cent, 40 years, which entail the raising of $13,222.17 yearly for sinking fund and interest.

Thus, in ten years the capital charges have cost the ratepayers $132,221.70. Of course, quite a portion of this will be redeemable if the Federal Square property is sold.

In the meantime, however, there have been other costs charged up in the loss of taxes. It is true that several of the properties have been rented at a fair rental, but this rental has not nearly made up for the loss in taxes. Figures are available to show what the general taxes alone for the first five years would have been, and taking the same figures for the ten-year period, adding the special taxes for curbs, gutters, etc., and the street sweeping and garbage costs, would give a total of $30,574 lost in taxes. For the last few years the net rentals have totalled $2,000 yearly until 1921, when they totalled $3,000, and this year will be about the same. Even at a rental of $2,000 for eight years, which is something more than the city got, and $3,000 for two years, would give a net return of $23,000.

Thus, the charges stand:

Sinking fund and interest, 10 years	$132,221.70
Loss in taxes, 10 years ..	30,574.37
Total	$162,796.07
Rental returns, 10 years ..	22,000.00

Members of the London Hunt and Country Club were the guests Saturday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Smallman at the kennels. For this the city has the present city hall, a $19,000 interest in the Utilities and the Federal Square property. The latter it is proposed to sell.

It is declared that the assessment of $212,000 is about 70 per cent of the true value of the land. If such is a fact, such a selling price would net the city $275,000, whereas the property today stands at $205,817.73, plus interest and tax loss, less rent, or $202,527. As there is a part of the $100,000 derived from the sale of the old city hall also tied up in this, there will be the added charge of interest lost on this sum, whatever it is.

To sell, if the council goes ahead with the Federal Square sale, the city has the McCormick corner, 198 feet on Dundas and 165 on Wellington, which cost $125,000. Further on along Dundas street there is 198 1/2 feet, on which are buildings, but these latter are of little value. The total cost of this property was $45,925.

On King street the city has four parcels, 173 feet in all, costing $29,700.

Inspector A. M. PIRER estimates that $250,000 will put up the required building. It will take some figuring to tell just where the involved finances will be before this is spent, debentures issued and the Federal Square proposition cleared up.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

(By Digby Phillips.)

NO. 215—BLONDE BUYERS.

If you are a salesman you probably have noticed that there are several distinct types of buyers, but probably it never occurred to you to note also how often a certain type of buyer is also a certain type of individual in his appearance, his build, his features, his coloring.

Coloring has a great deal to do with it, and if you take note of whether your prospect is a blonde or a brunette it will help you a good bit in outlining your selling campaign so far as he or she is concerned.

In dealing with a blonde buyer, other things being equal, the best method to follow is to say something or show something striking, spectacular if possible, about the thing you have to sell. Brilliant performance and emphatic qualities mean more to the blonde than to the brunette. Be enthusiastic and play to arouse their enthusiasm.

More than this, do not be too discouraged if the enthusiasm you have aroused wanes more quickly than you expected, and don't take the answer "No" too seriously. Simply call again at an opportune time, and you'll probably find it not so difficult to arouse their enthusiasm again, this time to the point of getting the order.

But avoid one thing. Don't point out too freely to the blonde where and how he is wrong. Pass it over. Forget it.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is CONSORTIUM.

It's pronounced—kon-sor-shi-um.

With accent on the second syllable.

It means—a fellowship, assembly, association, combination or union.

It's adopted, directly, from Latin "consortium," with the same meaning as when employed as an English word.

It's used like this—"Upon the terms they name, certain powers are disposed to form a consortium to develop Russian enterprises."

Our Own Country.

Question—Was there ever a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States? If so, when?

Answer—A reciprocity treaty was in force between Canada and the United States from 1855-1866, arranged by Lord Elgin in 1854. The terms were that the products of forests, fisheries, mines and farms should have free entrance, and that both should have free use of each other's canals.

NO TIME FOR AN AFFINITY.

(From the Brandon Sun.)

After all our sympathy with the wife of a farmer, a Kansas lady comes along and says she is glad she married a farmer because:

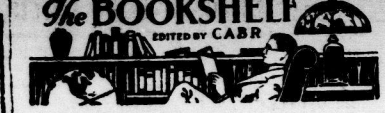

The farmer and his family seldom are actually in want or need of the necessities of life.

He and his good wife do not often figure in the divorce court.

When he goes to town, he usually takes one or two of the children along and after finishing his errands at the stores, has precious little time left, if he did have any money, in which to pursue his affinity.

He works so hard all day he is glad to sit down with his family after supper; his good wife is not in doubt as to where he spends his evenings.

The farmer and his wife and children generally are the closest of business partners.

PAINTED WINDOWS. By a Gentleman with a Duster. G. P. Putnam's Sons, Publishers, New York.

IN "Painted Windows," the Gentleman with a Duster has revealed brilliantly and unsparringly the chaos of opinion which exists in the modern church. By means of a sketch of the lives of twelve men who are of the church and bound up with all which affects it, he has drawn conclusions of the state and need of the present day church, and in his introduction and conclusion he has pointed the way to a triumphant simplification and rectification of religious effort, a direction summed up in the words "Christ should be sought in the living world, and not in the documents of antiquity."

"Painted Windows" takes a decided step toward the author's ultimate object in writing it, to use his own words, that of "throwing off the long and hopeless controversies of theology concerning the person of Christ—and to show that the good news of Jesus was the revelation of a strange and mighty power which only now the world is beginning to use."

Again the author says: "By means of a study in religious personality, I seek in these pages to discover a reason for the present ignominious situation of the church in the affections of men, and to see whether one cannot light upon a cause for the confessed failure of the church to impress humanity with what its documents call the will of God."

There is, however, in "Painted Windows" a lack of the element which appeals to humanity as a whole, and there may be a lack of the compelling, vital, human touch which has enabled an organization such as the Salvation Army to go down to the very dregs of humanity, but the power of the book lies in its skillful portraying and analyzing of the men around whose lives it has been written, and in the inspiration drawn from their guiding characteristics.

Individuality is a good thing in a citizen; it is a good thing in a Christian. The Gentleman with the Duster apparently believes all should think alike, and think his way. He is liberal in his tendencies, with a special aversion for one or two doctrines, the acceptance or rejection of which certainly is not of vital importance. For the present chaos of differing beliefs he would substitute a highly philosophical theology. But it is strong meat, good for those who can digest it, but not for babes. For them there must be milk.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE.

MAY BE THE TONSILS

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

Is your child backward in school? Is he a "mouth breather," does he have frequent colds or constant earache? Does he have trouble in hearing?

If your child is affected in any such way his tonsils may be the cause. It would be well to have them examined by a physician.

Infected and enlarged tonsils are great little helpers to disease. They make the child susceptible to diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough.

The constant trouble, physicians find, is that people would rather allow their children to suffer from diseased tonsils than have them undergo the operation necessary to remove them. Rather than undergo operations people will risk disease and death.

Adenoids are the tonsils' colleagues in infection. They are a small, soft, reddish growth which comes in the back of the throat, where the nose and throat join. A child having them will be a mouth breather, have frequent colds and constant earache or become deaf.

Adenoids dull the expression, destroy the resonance of the voice and distort the facial expression so as to produce a blank, idiotic stare. They hinder mental development by interfering with proper physical development.

Both adenoids and enlarged tonsils can be removed at the same time by a simple and practically harmless operation.

HEADS THAT ACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time. In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels. But no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. which has been on the market for the past forty-five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Center Dummer, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition, and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

Council Supports Street Railway Resolution Introduced by Ald. Ashplant.

Will Build On Present Site and Dispose of Federal Square.

WHAT THE COUNCIL DID:

Adopted Ald. Ashplant's motion that immediate action be taken to cancel the street railway franchise.

Decided to lease or sell the Federal Square property and erect an office building on the present site.

Decided to delay the dismissal of six firemen until the salary committee prepares its report.

Adopted proposed regulations for gasoline curb stations.

Delayed action on Dr. Downham's request for a salary increase.

Adopted a resolution requesting an explanation from the city council of the notice of motion which the alderman gave at the last council meeting was what was voted on, Mayor Wilson ruled after the meeting, and not a resolution which the alderman later presented to the clerk, and which contained a preamble.

The notice of motion reads: "The immediate action be taken to terminate the franchise of the London Street Railway, and the city solicitor be instructed to serve such preliminary notification on the said company as may be required to make such action operative."

Ald. G. B. Drake seconded the motion, and Ald. Ashplant was the only speaker, he going into a somewhat lengthy argument in favor of his contention.

The vote was called and the motion declared carried in a twinkling, Mayor Wilson making the only comment, his remark being: "I suppose as Ald. Ashplant says we can leave the matter to the wisdom and legality of the city solicitor."

Attack School Site. There was quite a little discussion of the resolution of the board of education for an increased debenture issue to $22,000. Several of the aldermen had their say, the majority of them attacking the Dakin street property as a site for a school.

Ald. Childs told the aldermen that Inspector Greer said that he was quite willing to change to another site if a proper one could be found. He suggested that the matter be delayed and that a conference as to the matter of a new site arranged. It was on this suggestion that delay in approving of the debenture issue was decided upon.

Ald. May said that several complaints had been made to him in regard to improper methods of assessors and he wanted an investigation of this department. Mayor Wilson told him to prepare a resolution to this effect. It was not presented.

Quotes Opinion. Chairman Childs of the finance committee read a statement, which he said embodied the solicitor's opinion in regard to income and business taxes in the annex. The opinion was given to Ald. Ashton and himself. It was to the effect that only a fifteen mill rate could be charged on incomes taxable in the annex and that the business assessment could only be on the assessment fixed by the annex agreement and at the 15 mill rate.

Ald. Douglas, who asked for the opinion, later moved that the solicitor be asked for his written opinion on the matter. The motion carried.

Ald. Ashton's motion for the return of the wage cut to the garbage collectors and outside workers of the city engineer's force until the final disposition of the salary question was referred to the special salary committee.

Acceptance of Ald. Drake's motion that the six firemen to have been dismissed Tuesday, be kept on the department until the salary report was received.

Report Amended. There was little or no discussion on the new city hall question. Mayor Wilson did not want the council's hands tied by the finance committee recommendation that the Federal Square property be leased, and suggested that the report read "lease or sell." This ultimately carried.

The Charlton grocery permit and the gasoline station, Dundas street, were both approved by the council.

There was quite a strong opposition to the first permit.

Several citizens who were waiting for the court of revision appeared before the council and protested over the lack of consideration shown by the commission.

Though there were some protests, a resolution calling for a public explanation was passed by the council.

Several Recommendations. There were several recommendations in No. 2 committee's report, which might have been referred to the town planning commission, and Ald. Holmes, a member of the commission, criticised the council for having referred all such questions to the commission by resolution, and then reneging on it.

This brought the statement from Ald. Ashplant that in the past fads have been carried too far, and perhaps the town planning might be placed in this category. He would like to see a committee set up to be made in the cases in point. The matter up at the time was the Charlton grocery permit on Ridout street south.

Ald. Holmes declared that it looked to him as if there was a rush to get permits before the proposed bylaw limiting business areas was put through.

The proposal to delay was lost on a vote.

When Ald. Douglas asked if there was a reply from the solicitor in regard to his request for an opinion on the annex income and business taxes, Ald. Childs replied that he would be of any use before the next election.

Mayor Wilson asked if he meant federal or provincial election, and added that the report would be ready for the next council meeting.

"I have said so," said the mayor. "Well that doesn't mean much," said the alderman.

"You should apologize," said Ald. Drake to Ald. Ashplant.

"What for?" asked the alderman. "Consider the source," said the mayor.

Ald. Holmes told the council that he had been out on Monday afternoon to visit the site of the Dakin Street School, and after going over the ground had concluded that there must be a more central and better site available.

Ald. Childs explained that Mr. Greer was willing to change if a better site was found.

Ald. Drake said that the inspector had been told of a good site. He branded the Dakin site as a "terrible place."

Ald. Ashplant asked if there was a subdivision any way near the Dakin site.

Ald. Ashton said that the present schools would be crowded if all the pupils were in attendance, but this was never the case, and he thought that the new school might well be delayed. Children were never in large, airy schoolrooms longer than an hour.

Ald. Cunningham said he favored the debenture issue if the board would change to another site if a more suitable one was found.

Then came the suggestion for a conference on sites, and the matter was laid over.

When the report of No. 1 committee on the request of Dr. Downham for a salary increase to $5,000, and which refused it, was presented, Dr. Holmes moved that the request be sent back to No. 1. There was a by-law in preparation which would provide for the care of indigent sick and aged.

The mayor replied that he believed they were.

"Is that fair under present conditions?" asked Ald. May.

The mayor replied that it was up to the head of the department.

Ald. Drake said that he did not

How Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Stages His "Ghost" Parties

SIR ARTHUR AND LADY DOYLE

TORONTO, May 15.—Spiritualism is not a blow at religion, but is, on the contrary, an attempt to carry on the work of the spiritual teaching which ministers refuse to carry on.

This was the message delivered at Massey Hall here last night by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who pointed out at the same time that ministers of the Gospel who gibe at spiritualism "are failing in their duty to God's work through their lack of knowledge and faith."

Sir Arthur was quite positive in his declarations that in spiritualism there is nothing contrary to religion, but that, on the other hand, it is an attempt on the part of the leaders of the movement to "give fresh fire and enthusiasm" to spiritual activities, which have fallen off in the present age, and which, as he puts it, are so faint-hearted that not more than one person in ten is taking any interest in religion.

The speaker recognized that he would meet with plenty of opposition of his views when he accepted in faith any messages which come from the other world, or when he declared that spirit rappings and knockings are the signals sent out by the departed spirits in their efforts to get in touch with these still living on the earth.

The illustration depicts Sir Arthur (above) holding "conversation" with the spirit of Madame Eusapia Palladino (below). He "talked" with her through a medium, Nino Becoraro (below).

think it right to let the firemen go out until the whole matter was settled.

Mayor Wilson declared that it was up to the chair. If the city was going to have efficient department heads there could be no interference with them.

This brought the report from Ald. Ashplant that the mayor's principle was a perfectly sound one, if some of the members of the council did not go to these department heads and implant bias and prejudice. He understood that this was the case in regard to the fire department, and that the chief was not following his own unbiased opinion in dismissing the six men. He declared that it was not fair to the chief to first give him to understand what he was to do and then, when the action was challenged, not interfere. It was not right, he concluded.

No Influence Used. Mayor Wilson said that there was no influence brought on the chief. The matter was entered into upon his own initiative, and he called upon the members of the salary committee to correct him if he was not right in stating that the chief had not been influenced at all.

Ald. Douglass said that only to the extent that the council had decided that there should be a 10 per cent cut.

Ald. Ashplant started something about the council's decision, and the speaker said that he was going to be ready to present a report that would be of any use before the next election.

WIDELY KNOWN CITIZEN PASSES

William Yeates, Prominent Manufacturer, Dies After Brief Illness.

Was Active in Interests of Forest City's Affairs.

In the passing of William Yeates Monday night the city loses one of its prominent manufacturers. Mr. Yeates until recent years was head of the London Machine Tool Company, a firm which he organized many years ago.

Mr. Yeates was a son of the late William Yeates, at one time a well-known London contractor. He was born in Liverpool, but came to this city when a boy. After completing his education at the old Union School, Mr. Yeates entered the employ of David Bruce, machinists. To further his training in the machinist trade Mr. Yeates for some time was with the firm of Macpherson, Glasgow & Co. of Fingal. He returned to London a first-class machinist, and went into partnership with a firm which was known as White, Yeates & Jolliffe. Later he went into business for himself.

That London now has one of the finest technical schools in the province is due greatly to Mr. Yeates. When he was a member of the school board he advocated such a school.

Mr. Yeates also served on the Western Fair board. He was a member of the Wellington Street Methodist Church, and for many years was the superintendent of the Sunday school. When the new Sunday school was erected he had the honor of laying the corner-stone.

When Mr. Yeates was a youth he enlisted with the Seventh Battalion and saw service in the Fenian Raid, under the late Capt. Macpherson.

Mr. Yeates was married twice, his first wife being Annie Martindale; his second wife was Emma Magee, daughter of the late George G. Magee.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Richardson and Alice Yeates of Ottawa, Eliza and Agnes of this city.

Five sons, Ernest G. Yeates of London, Roland Yeates of Montreal, P. M. Yeates of Hamilton, Dr. Allan M. Yeates and R. Howard Yeates of Hamilton, and three daughters, Mrs. George A. King of Brantford, Mrs. Stewart Williams and Mrs. Charles Trusdale of Edmonton also survive.

SCORES THIRTY LINE FOR MAIDEN VOTERS

Victorian Order Inspector Points To Fine Service of Younger Women.

"Do you see the Ottawa papers? Look for my views in the subject of unmarried women under 30 being disqualified from voting. To hear some people talk you would think that the marriage ceremony miraculously endowed women with intelligence and a sense of citizenship. What do I think on the subject of disqualifying the 'under 30' from voting? Well, I trust Senator David will not drop dead when he reads it."

The speaker was a vivacious and capable young woman, and the interview with her by the Women's Department of The Advertiser started a long way from the subject of votes and suffrage. Miss Jessie Forshaw, Inspector for the Victorian Order of Nurses, had arrived in town bright and early Monday to see how the work of the order was getting along here. From the efficient service rendered by the V. O. nurses to women's work in general was an easy transition, and women's work suggested the exercise of the prerogatives of citizenship.

"But, if the noble senator does drop dead, wouldn't you consider it justifiable homicide?" asked the newspaper person.

"I hope the jury would take that view," laughingly replied Miss Forshaw. A moment later she was talking gravely of places of responsibility filled in Canada by young unmarried women under 30, in business, industrial and professional life, and the loads many of them are also carrying of family care and necessity for helping to support others.

Naturally, her mind turned to the work which is being done by nurses, and particularly the specially trained nurses of her own order, who require keen insight, skill in social diagnosis, as well as thorough knowledge of the science of trained nursing, in order to make them efficient as visiting nurses. In this connection a warm tribute was paid to the

Flowers, Salute Are I. O. O. F. Tribute

A beautiful tribute to the memory of the late Dr. C. L. T. Campbell, Past Grand Sire, was paid by the Independent Order of Oddfellows, Sunday afternoon, in connection with the church parade to the Centennial Methodist Church. In the course of the march along Queen's avenue, the column of members of the order halted in front of the home of the late Grand Sire, and the Oddfellows' salute was given to Mrs. Campbell, who was seated on the veranda. In addition, an officer stepped forward and presented her with a beautiful bouquet of tulips on behalf of the Grand Lodge of Ontario.

Victorian Order service in this city.

LONDON TO FORE. "I have been through the records with Miss Symonds since coming in this morning," she said, "and I am more than ever convinced that London is getting a fine service, the nurses working to their capacity, paying an average of 1,000 visits a month."

A recent development in the order has been the establishment of Victorian Order of Nurses scholarships in public health, to replace the V. O. N. training schools. Under the circumstances, a part of Miss Forshaw's work on her present tour of inspection, which has carried her through the Maritime Provinces and Quebec, has been to see about assignments for the nurses taking the public health course, three of whom have just finished in London, the first in the Western University, Miss Gladys Wilson, Grace Cruise and Rita Selby. Two more of the eight or nine who have just completed the course are going into the Victorian Order in the fall, Miss Marjory White and Miss Inez Roach.

The first headquarters official to visit in London since the appointment of Dr. Malcolm T. McEachern as director-general of the order, Miss Forshaw had interesting information to give with regard to his proposed course of nursing service in the Dominion, with a view to eliminating overlapping, taking into consideration what is being done by other organizations, voluntary and otherwise.

Visits London in June. Of particular interest to London is the news that Dr. McEachern will probably pay his first visit here as a V. O. N. official about the middle of June, after the annual meeting of the order in Ottawa. "Dr. McEachern," said Miss Forshaw, "will endeavor to find out in his survey the form of work best adapted for urban and rural communities."

"In some communities, owing to the extent of other public health organizations, the bedside nursing seems to be the chief field of service for the order, coupled with the educational work that is done through this. In other communities the nurse must be able to handle the school work and other phases of public health. The idea is to get the best possible nursing service for Canada so far as the V. O. N. can do its part, with elimination of overlapping, and greatest economy in personnel and money."

Miss Forshaw, herself a former resident of Vancouver, a "native born" of British Columbia, resided in that province as a proud distinction, has known Dr. McEachern very well personally, and spoke in terms of high praise of his standing and ability. He organized the British Columbia Hospitals Association, and is vice-president of the American College of Surgeons, which works for the extension of the standardization of the medical profession. "His ability and experience will mean much, I am sure, in advancing the Victorian Order in opening for it a new era of usefulness."

Did Anybody Say Head Lettuce?

What Makes It Dear and Tough in London?

Why, can't London housewives buy tender head lettuce at a reasonable price? Why can't they get something besides wilted or rubbery outer leaves? Why can't superior head lettuce be grown in the vicinity of London, "the garden of Ontario," just as well as other markets? As Mrs. Launder would say, "It's a burnin' question" for the housekeeper who is fond herself of head lettuce, and who likes to serve it by itself for salad or with any of the many combinations with which it is delectable. Compared with other places that might be mentioned, head lettuce as offered for sale here is rarely first quality and invariably dear.

With all its delights and abundance, the Covent Garden market at certain times and on certain occasions must take a back seat for Toronto market when it comes to favorable prices for the consumers. Saturday morning, according to Toronto prices quoted by a reliable authority, head lettuce has two and three bunches for 25 cents. It wasn't discovered in the Covent Garden market. Tomatoes in Toronto sold for 15 cents a pound, green onions three bunches for 10 cents. The uniform price asked for onions on London market that day was 5 cents a bunch straight. Rhubarb in Toronto was offered at three bunches for 10 cents. London's price up to noon was 5 cents or even two for 15, though there was a rumor of a very big drop before night. Radishes in Toronto were four bunches for 25 cents as compared with two bunches for 15 in Aunt Maria's week-end market.

To be sure, eggs were a bit cheaper here, 28 to 29 cents as compared with 29 to 35 in Toronto. But apparently they set poultry by the pond there. Dressed chickens in Toronto were 40 cents a pound.

HOSPITAL TO HAVE 'QUEEN MARY CRIB'

Not only is the War Memorial Children's Hospital to have a "Princess Mary Crib," endowed at a cost of $1,000, but a "Queen Mary Crib."

Jacksonville, Florida, has a big stake in the hospital for sick children which is nearing completion, thanks to the interest of a former Londoner, Mrs. Emery, regent of the Queen Mary Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire of that city. Monday, Mrs. C. T. Campbell, honorary treasurer of the hospital committee, had a happy surprise when she opened one of the envelopes in her morning mail. It contained a check for $500 from the Queen Mary Chapter of Jacksonville to endow a Queen Mary crib. Some months ago, a magnificent donation came from the regent herself, Mrs. Emery, a check for $2,500, to endow a room in memory of her father, and in honor of her mother, the late Mr. Atkins and Mrs. Atkins, at one time residents of this city.

WHO HAS A HOME? Dear Miss Grey,—As I have been a reader of your paper for a long time, I thought I would like to write to the Mail-Box for a little help. I would like to know if any of our readers would have a good home for a boy, 13, on a farm. He is a good, strong boy and has been in a family about 5 years, but they have given up home with the intention of going to England, so I have to get another home for my boy. I would have him adopted, if party wished. Find enclosed 10 cents for S. C. H. fund. I remain, yours, WORKING HOUSEKEEPER.

P.S.—I have a girl in a good home, has been there 3 years, was adopted and is doing fine. I got the home from your Mail-Box. She is 15 years of age. Anyone wishing to correspond with Working Housekeeper, re the offering of a home for her boy, may have her address from the Mail-Box. I sincerely hope you will be as fortunate in securing a home for the boy through our corner as you were in finding one for your little girl.

ECZEMA you are the expert. I have tried everything and nothing has helped me. I have read in your paper that if you mention this paper and send 2 stamps for postage, etc., a sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema, Sales & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Plan To Entertain Overseas Teachers

An invitation to visit in London before returning to the old land is being extended by the London Teachers' Guild to the women teachers from the old land who are on exchange in Canada and returning overseas this summer. The visit, if plans carry through, will be paid in June, when every effort will be put forth to make the strangers as happy as possible.

Discussion with regard to this took place at the annual meeting of the guild held Monday afternoon in Aberdeen School when, it was stated, the British teachers are particularly interested in coming to see London on account of the name. Election of officers was an important part of the proceedings, an illuminating report on the O. E. A. convention, presented by the official delegate, Miss J. Weir, constituting an interesting program feature. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Gahan; honorary vice-president, Miss Campbell; and Miss Jennie Sim; president, Miss F. Lawrence; first vice-president, Miss Dora Kingsborough; second vice-president, Mrs. Christine Howie; secretary, Mrs. Cook; assistant secretary, Miss Edith Johnston; treasurer (temporary) Miss Edna McCallum.

Somebody came between them. She identified the strange young man of the foyer.

"Can I be of service?" he suggested in an amused drawl.

Instinctively she gasped. "No, please!" At the same time Bel tried to shoulder the other roughly out of his way; the gratuitous champion stood firm, merely counseling, "Easy, easy!" Then Bel lost his head. There was a slight scuffle, in which the two, locked in each other's arms, reeled to one side. The bell-boy was shouting: "Now, mam—now's your chance!" She stumbled into the taxi. Holding the door the boy demanded: "Where to, Mam—where to?" She gasped: "Anywhere—only tell him, hurry!" The door crashed, gears meshed with a grinding screech, the cab leaped forward with such spirit that Lucinda was thrown heavily against the back of the seat.

When she recovered, the vehicle was turning a corner. Through its window she caught a glimpse of the sidewalk beneath the canopy of the Blackstone, just a bare glimpse of two figures struggling. She saw several others running toward them. Then the corner blocked out the scene.

AS she was pouring herself a second cup of coffee in the Pullman dining car the following morning the vacant chair at her table was drawn out, and an amused voice asked: "Do you mind my sitting here, Mrs. Druce?"

Lucinda jumped in consternation. The speaker bowed with a smile; her unsought champion of the night before.

"I'm surprised, too," he confessed pleasantly, if you don't mind my saying so. And yet the public continually kicks about coincidences!"

Lucinda found her tongue, but found it incompetent to frame, but the most formal phrases, "I have a great deal to thank you for—"

"Please don't think of it that way. To the contrary, I owe you all sorts of apologies!"

"Apologies?"

"For butting in where any rational being would tread, and particularly for being here." The waiter thrust an order blank with the bill of fare under the young man's nose. "If you'll excuse me . . ."

The head he bowed over the card was well-modeled and matched with a good quantity of hair, light brown and color and amazingly lustrous. A skin whose faint tan resembled that of old ivory, with never a blemish, covered boldly fashioned features. The mobile face had a trick of lighting up when its owner was talking as if aglow with the light of his thought, so that his look was in fact more eloquent than his speech. Lucinda thought she had never seen hands more strong and graceful, or any better cared for, not even Bel's. Nor had Bel ever dressed in better taste.

The object of her interest waved the waiter away and met her openly interested regard without loss of countenance.

"I guess it's time I introduced myself, Mrs. Druce. My name is Summerlad. After a slight pause and with a hint of self-consciousness, he amplified: "Lynn Summerlad."

Sensible that he seemed to expect her to think well of that precious name, Lucinda found no echo for it in the chambers of her memory.

"But how is it you know my name, Mr. Summerlad?"

"That's easy: your husband told me."

Again Lucinda was reduced to a blank "Oh!" This time she felt that she was coloring.

"In the police station?" Mr. Summerlad added with a broad grin. "But don't be alarmed. You see, Mr. Druce rather lost his head—wouldn't be happy till he'd had me arrested on a charge of assault. At the station house your husband cooled down and withdrew the charge."

"How dreadful!" Lucinda murmured, her thoughts with Bellamy. "I'm so sorry."

"No reason to be. If you must know, I enjoyed the adventure tremendously. That's what one gets for having been born with a perverted sense of humor."

Lucinda caught the eye of her waiter and gave him a bill to pay for her breakfast. But she couldn't escape with good grace just yet, unless she wished to administer a downright snub she would have to wait for her change.

without question; Fanny's and her husband's tactful sympathy not only won Lucinda's heart completely, but, together with her reluctance to proceed to Reno before she could feel reasonably sure of living there unmolested, had influenced her to agree to go on with the Lontaines to Los Angeles; whither (she was tactfully led to infer) his motion-picture interests had peremptorily called Lontaine.

It seemed a sensible move as well as one most agreeable in prospect. She could rest in comfort and friendly companionship for a few weeks, consult with Harford Willis by letter, at leisure and with a calm mind plan for the future.

And then it would be amusing to see Los Angeles under the wing of so well-informed a motion-picture impresario as Lontaine. That afternoon at the Culp studios had been fascinating; how much more so would it be to live for a time in a city that was, at least as Lontaine limned it, one vast open-air studio, to be associated with people who were actually doing something with their lives!

"But you haven't told me," she complained, "about those tests. How did I look?"

"You were adorable, everybody simply raved about you!"

"Fact, Mrs. Druce. You outclassed even Alma Daley in that Palm Room scene. No, but seriously; it was you first, Miss Daley's second, Fanny a good third, the field nowhere."

"Well, it's hard to believe, but if you mean it, the Culp and their cameramen would seem to have been right."

"Right about what?" Lontaine earnestly wanted to know.

"Why, they were so sure I would screen well as they put it. Mr. Culp made me an offer, as we were leaving, to act with his wife in her next picture."

Lontaine's eyes widened into a luminous blue stare; and abruptly he threw away a half-smoked cigarette and, helping himself to another, bent forward, tapping it on a thumb-nail.

"Really, what did you say to that creature?"

"Oh, I was kind but firm."

"Ben Culp's a big man in the cinema game," Lontaine commented without looking up. "If he says you'd make a hit, you might do worse than listen to him. That is, of course, if you should ever think of taking a flyer in the motion-picture business."

"I'm not even dreaming of such a thing. Why, it's absurd!"

"Then you're the modern miracle, Mrs. Druce—a woman without either vanity or a secret ambition to be a cinema star." Lontaine laughed and lazily got up. "But if you'll excuse me now, I'll arrange matters with the conductor and porters."

The door was behind Lucinda's shoulder. Closing it, unseen by her, Lontaine contrived to exchange with his wife a look of profound significance.

AWKWARD EXPLANATIONS HAD BEEN ACCEPTED WITHOUT QUESTION.

If you'll let me prattle in your company now and then."

Lucinda contented herself with replying, no, she wouldn't mind, and thrust back her chair. Immediately Summerlad was on his feet, napkin in hand, bowing prettily.

"Awfully good of you, Mrs. Druce. Where shall I find you, say in an hour or two? The observation car?"

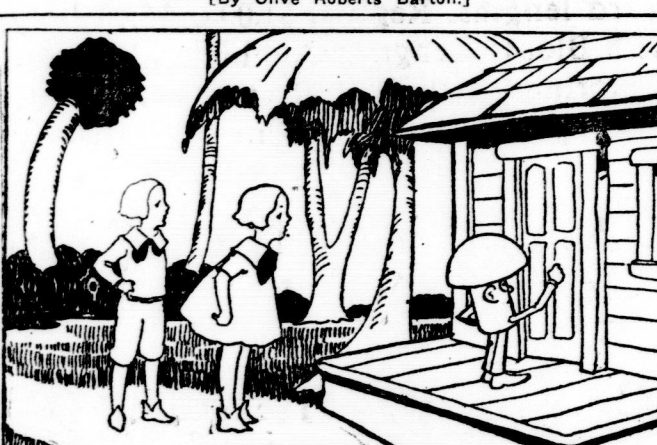

"Perhaps," Lucinda smiled. "She made her way back to her reservation, but was not well settled when she heard a joyful cry—"

"Lucinda! Lucinda!"—and rose, dropping the book in her astonishment, to be enfolded in the arms of Fanny Lontaine.

AWKWARD explanations, haltingly offered, had been accepted.

NANCY AND NICK IN VISIT TO MAN IN THE MOON

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"Here we are," nodded the Mushroom, stepping up to the door and tapping sharply.

ALONG a glittering road went Nancy and Nick and the Magical Mushroom to find Mr. Peerbout, the Man-in-the-Moon.

Nancy supposed he would be living in one of the cities they had seen from the mountain, probably the marble city, with trimmings of jewels, and that his house would be the finest one in it.

She pictured him in gorgeous robes of velvet and fine ermine with, perhaps, a gorgeous crown on his head. Nick wondered if he rode a white horse—or would he be more likely to do his traveling along the glittering roads in an automobile.

Probably that was it—a gold car it would be, no doubt, with ivory trimmings. And would he have two footmen, or four, or six?

What a gorgeous place the moon was! It would certainly be nice to live there. Imagine living in an ivory house with—

Suddenly the Mushroom stopped and turned off on a little side path that led into the midst of the silver forest.

The Twins followed, wondering what was going to happen. But they had not long to wait, for in a few moments they came to a small tumble-down wooden hut almost hidden by the low-hanging branches of a silver-willow tree.

"Here we are," nodded the Mushroom, stepping up to the door and tapping sharply. "I do hope that Mr. Peerbout is at home."

"Home!" exclaimed Nick. "What could it all mean?"

"Yes," smiled the Mushroom. "This is where the Man-in-the-Moon lives. At least he used to live here. Unless he's got so poor he had to move out."

Had the Mushroom lost his senses? What did he mean by talking that way? The poorest person in the world surely wouldn't want to live in such a rickety, tumble-down place.

Allow half an egg for each serving. Two eggs, 1 scant teaspoon anchovy paste, 1 dessertspoon vinegar, 1-10 teaspoon mustard, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 dessertspoon chopped pimento, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, head lettuce, parsley.

Cover eggs with boiling water and let stand just below the bubbling point for half an hour. Pour off hot water and let stand until cold in cold water. Remove shells and cut in half crosswise.

Trim off enough of the round end of the whites to make the halves stand evenly. Put the yolks in a bowl with the anchovy paste, vinegar, mustard, butter, pimento, salt and pepper and work with a silver fork till perfectly smooth and creamy.

Pimentos may be covered with weak vinegar and kept in a cold place for a week. So while these rules use a very little of certain canned delicacies there need be no waste.

HAS WESTERN ONTARIO ANY GENTLEMEN?

MOST everybody is fastidious of his or her company. Ask the man on the street if he would associate with anybody but gentlemen. Nine times out of ten he will tell you emphatically no. But how does he know his company are gentlemen? What mental and moral measurements does he demand for a gentleman? Ask him that, and he will not be so ready with an answer. The same average will likely apply again, nine times out of ten he will be stuck.

Well, then, what is a gentleman? Is he really gentle, or is he harsh, and a man's man, and all that sort of thing? What do you think? Webster says a gentleman is "A man well born; a man of good family, one above the condition of a yeoman, or one of gentle or refined manners. Is Webster right?"

The London Advertiser is offering $5 for the best definition and $1 for each of the next best five. Already 200 readers have sent in answers. The contest will close Wednesday, May 24, at noon. If you think you know what a gentleman is, get busy! The Advertiser will print many of the answers.

MUST BE A MAN.

To be a perfect gentleman, in my estimation, a man must be a man—that is, he must under all circumstances "abhor evil and cleave to that which is good."

He must never use slang, never be profane, never indulge in tobacco or strong drink, never tell an unclean story or a falsehood.

He must be courteous and pleasant in his own home even when company is absent.

He must be particular about his personal appearance. He must never enter a house, not even his own, without first removing his hat, and he must never occupy a seat while a lady is standing.

He must be ready at all times to lend a helping hand to his neighbors, and to be upright in all business dealings.

If a man lives up to the above rules, I'll say he surely is a perfect gentleman.

S. T. B., Thamesville, R. R. 7.

MUST BE CLEAN.

A gentleman must be clean morally and mentally.

An immoral man cannot be a gentleman even though he possesses the grace of a dancing master.

He must be courteous and show consideration for the feelings of others.

True and dependable, he must also be. Possessing these major virtues, all the niceties of manner may naturally follow, but if the bow is somewhat awkward, the hat not lifted exactly at the prescribed angle, he is at heart one of God's noblemen, hence a gentleman. A WOMAN.

COURTEOUS TO WOMEN.

One of the chief obligations of the ideal gentleman belonging to the chivalric age was courtesy to women. Although times have changed and women have come into their own in the political, athletic and professional world, yet to come up to the standard of what the word gentleman implies, a man must show the same deference to the women of today as did the medieval knight to their predecessors.

A gentleman must have respect for age and infirmity. The other day I observed a charming girl get on a crowded street car, accompanied by a young man. They took possession of the last vacant seat.

Shortly afterwards an old lady, showing signs of poverty, came shuffling along the floor. Upon perceiving her, the young man instantly resigned his seat in her favor, chatting away to her and finally assisted her to get off. That young man impressed me as a gentleman. LUCIE.

A MAN WHO IS GOOD.

A gentleman is a man who is good, and scorns to do evil, who is continually helping others; who is good and kind to his wife and children who respects the old no matter what station they are, whose habits are temperate, and who respects the ladies at all times.

It's a man's actions that makes him a gentleman.

MRS. JOSEPH S. SIMPSON, Clatskanie, Ont.

PROBABLY MANY.

Has Western Ontario any gentlemen? Yes, indeed, a few—probably a very great many. What is a gentleman? A man, who regardless of his own station in life is courteous, kind, thoughtful and honest at all times to all men, women and children whatever their age or station in life may be.

YVONNE.

LOTS IN ONTARIO.

A gentleman is a man who is honest and upright in all his dealings, one who will not take advantage of the poor and ignorant, who is courteous and kind to everybody at all times and in all places (especially at home). Yes, we have lots of gentlemen in Ontario.

Theford.

OBSEVER.

A GENTLEMAN.

A man, to be a gentleman, must be honest, gentle, generous, brave and courteous and possessing all these qualities, must exercise them in the most graceful outward manner.

Dutton, Ont.

BORN, NOT MADE.

In my opinion, a gentleman is born and not made, although early training may have lots to do with it. Surely it cannot be hard for men to be polite to strangers, and if a man's husband and father are of a better character, and if he is kind, honorable, considerate, and under no conditions does he tell lies, a good father, then, I think, he is a proved gentleman. I seem to have been surrounded in the atmosphere of a gentleman, so I feel like voicing my opinion.

W. O. E., London.

EVERYDAY ACTS.

Not by an individual act of courtesy on the street, railway or other public place, would I judge a man's claims to the name of a gentleman. The veriest scoundrel might do the same under certain circumstances.

Rather, I would look to the everyday acts of everyday life. One moderate and kindly in the use of his language, considerate and deferential to the feelings and opinions of others, of those in either a higher or lower social scale than his own.

In short, my idea of a gentleman is one who truly and most nearly lives up to the meaning of the word in its fullest sense—a gentleman.

M. A. F., R. R. 8, Woodstock.

RESPECT FOR AGE.

You ask are there any gentlemen in Western Ontario. Most decidedly yes. There are numbers of them, gentlemen in the best meaning of the word.

What constitutes a gentleman? Reverence for holy things, respect for those to whom it is due, gentleness toward the aged and little children, kindness to dumb animals, affection and consideration in the home relationship, faithfulness and honesty in the discharge of business or professional duties, and courtesy. By these I do not mean the superficial manners which are so easily acquired, but that innate good breeding which characterizes the men whom women trust and men are pleased to call friend.

These are the qualities which distinguish our Canadian gentlemen.

MATRON.

THINK OF OTHERS.

My opinion of a gentleman is one that thinks of others before himself and are polite, and are good and kind to old and young wherever they are, and fears the Lord, and tries to do what's right, and does unto others as they would have done unto them. I've met a few I thought were gentlemen in London.

about four feet square, using four turns of Litzendrah wire spaced one-fourth of an inch between each turn.

These wires must not touch even though they be insulated.

The frame of the loop may be constructed of two small pieces of wood crossed at the center. They should be a little more than 5 1-2 feet long for the four-foot-square loop.

Since the loop has a directional effect in receiving, the frame should be mounted on a small wooden upright which can be held in place by a solid wooden base. This should be so constructed that the loop may be turned easily.

To receive a desired station, the loop should be pointed towards that direction. Stations at right angles to the loop will not be heard unless they are very near and use a great deal of power.

No Ground.

It should be noted that no ground is used. One wire of the loop is connected in place of the ground lead.

Since the loop aerials are inexpensive, it is suggested that the radio amateur try several different dimensions and sizes. Experiment also with the grade of wire.

The more turns, though, that you have, the higher the wave length received. Since most regenerative receivers are wound for not more than 700 meters, don't load up your loop aerial with too many turns.

To get better selectivity, use a variable condenser in shunt to the loop leads before they enter the primary of the receiver.

WHERE an outdoor aerial cannot be erected, either on account of lack of facilities or a disagreeable landlord, the radio enthusiast should use a loop antenna.

This can be made easily and placed in a corner of a room or attic, where it would be out of the way. Fairly good results are obtained by using this indoor form of antenna.

The size of the loop aerial depends upon the location of the receiving station, its distance from the broadcasting station, etc.

Don't try to use a loop aerial with a crystal detector or single vacuum tube receiving set unless you are very near the transmitting station. At any distance away one should have at least a detector and two-step amplifier.

PASSES SECOND READING OF BILL TO TAX WAGERS

Ontario Legislature Moves To Speed Up Raney's Measure.

OPPOSITION PRESENTED Ferguson and Dewart Combat Efforts of Government Members.

TORONTO, May 15.—The Ontario Legislature tonight passed without a division being called the second reading of the bill which will place a tax of 5 per cent on the winnings at race track betting, and the tax of $15,000 a year on export liquor companies. The attacks against the government's measure were centered on the 5 per cent tax on race track winnings, which is expected to bring into the provincial treasury about $2,800,000 a year. The opponents of this tax were Hon. H. Dewart, leader of the Conservative group, and Mr. Ferguson, leader of the Liberal group. Mr. Ferguson admitted that the province had no right to legislate in regard to gambling, which was within the jurisdiction of the federal government, but argued that the province had never asked the courts to decide whether it had the right to regulate and limit the number of days of racing. He asked if the attorney-general was serious in wanting to do away with race track betting.

Will Speed Passing. "We are not licensing race track betting houses," he said. "Race track betting has been imposed upon the province. Race track speculation is legitimate by grace of the criminal code, and as such is just as much liable for taxation as other legitimate undertakings." He said the men who had been opposing the bill would have difficulty proving to the people of Ontario that the people who speculated at race tracks, many of them made a business of it, should not be called upon to pay this tax. The government is anxious to have the bill through in time to collect the tax on the opening day at the Woodbine meeting, which is next Saturday. It has yet to pass through the committee of the whole house, where, it is rumored in the corridors tonight, a more determined effort will be made to delay the bill than was possible in the second reading where each member is limited to one speech, and not very many members in the house inclined to speak on it. At the afternoon session Treasurer Smith moved the second reading of the bill.

He explained briefly the effect of the clause regarding race-track betting. For example, if $50,000 was bet on a race, the jockey club's rake-off would be 3 per cent, and the provincial government's tax would be 5 per cent. Thus 8 per cent would be taken off, after which the remainder of the $50,000 would be divided among the bettors on the winning horses. He explained that this 8 per cent was less than racing associations used to take out for themselves before the federal government regulated the race-off. He said he had the advice of well-known lawyers that this act was constitutional.

Dewart Objects. H. Hartley Dewart raised the objection that it was unfair to rush this bill through. Notice of it was given on Wednesday. It was introduced when there were few members in the house on Friday, and the government should not seek to rush it through on Monday before many of the members had returned.

Premier Drury declined to have it held over. Hon. Howard Ferguson advanced the argument that the act was not constitutional. He reasoned that the federal act provided that a racing association should not retain more than 7 per cent of the total amount wagered when that amount was under $20,000, and not over 3 per cent when the betting totaled over $50,000. It was explained that all the major tracks in the province came under the $50,000 class.

Now the provincial government was stepping in and ordering the racing associations to take out 8 per cent, of which 5 per cent would be handed over to the provincial treasurer.

Ferguson Raises Point. Mr. Ferguson thought this presented a nice legal point as to whether the provincial government could enforce this act in that it might be technically forcing the associations to break the criminal code. He thought the bill should be delayed until this phase of the question could be looked into.

The attorney-general promised to have an opinion on this point ready for the house tomorrow. Premier Drury held that this was not a point affecting the principle of the bill and that it should pass its second reading. This was not a tax on the racing associations, but on the holders of the winning tickets. If it turned out that the province could not constitutionally call upon the racing associations to collect this tax, other means of collecting it would have to be provided, but it would not prevent the adoption of the tax.

W. F. Nickle (Kingston) supported the government's contention that the act was constitutional, but he did not think any harm would follow by waiting a day until it could be ascertained for a certainty.

The government held, however, that the debate should go on, and Hon. Mr. Ferguson took the position that the attorney-general was not sincere in regard to race track gambling. He had said it was demoralizing to the youth of this country, and yet was ready to have the government go into partnership with the men who carried on race track gambling. Mr.

Chirping of Bird Disturbs Pastor; Firemen Take It From Roof.

ST. THOMAS, May 15.—The local fire department responded to the most unusual summons for assistance on record on Sunday. A call came from the First Methodist Church, where a little bird had taken refuge in a ventilator in the roof and made so much noise with its chirping that Rev. Wilfred Gaetz was unable to deliver his sermon. The fire fighters mounted the roof and removed the disturbing fledgling while the mother bird scolded them. The service was then concluded in quietness.

Ferguson admitted that the province had no right to legislate in regard to gambling, which was within the jurisdiction of the federal government, but argued that the province had never asked the courts to decide whether it had the right to regulate and limit the number of days of racing. He asked if the attorney-general was serious in wanting to do away with race track betting.

Hay Takes Stand. "I am serious if we could wipe it away altogether," replied Mr. Raney. He explained, however, that it was not horse racing, but the betting that he wanted wiped out. Even if it were found that the province had power to reduce the number of days an association might hold races it would scarcely affect the situation, as enough other associations would exercise the powers they have under their charters to hold races so that the entire summer season would be covered. However, the courts had already found that the province had no power to interfere.

Wellington Hay took the position that the public was concerned with the principle of taxing race tracks than all this technical argument, and he was of the opinion that the public as a rule was agreeable to the race track goes paying this tax. Mr. Dewart said there were two points to this bill. Either it was a money-raising device to supply a spendthrift government, or it was so to tax the wagers at the races as to make betting unpopular. If the object was to tax racing out of existence, then no government in this province had the right to legislate in this way an institution that was legalized by the federal government.

Mr. Raney interjected that this was directly the opposite view to that taken by Mr. Ferguson that the government could legislate the gambling out of the business by stringent regulations on racing.

Mr. Dewart replied that he was not concerned with what the Conservative leader had said. He argued that this tax would be a boon to hand-book makers, who pay no tax at all.

URGES IMPROVED EDUCATION PLAN Mrs. W. E. Groves of Toronto Addresses Woodstock Women's Council.

Special to London Advertiser. WOODSTOCK, May 15.—With all the charm of a woman intensely and sincerely interested in children, and especially those children who go through life with a handicap, Mrs. W. E. Groves, a member of the Toronto Board of Education, was given a very enthusiastic reception when she spoke before the Woodstock Council of Women this afternoon. Mrs. Groves emphasized the fact that this was the age of children. There was a time, she said, when it seemed as if the twentieth century belonged to the women, but women must stand aside and give way to the children. The world realizes today that the boys and girls of today are the men and women of tomorrow, and realizes along with this fact that unless these boys and girls are properly educated they will prove a liability to the country and not an asset.

Will Control Future. If Canada properly looks after her boys and girls today they in turn will look after Canada tomorrow. Mrs. Groves dwelt particularly on the work that is being done by the Toronto Board of Education, outlining in a most interesting manner the special attention that is given in that progressive city to supervised playgrounds, which she characterized as one of the first essentials for all children, medical and dental inspection and auxiliary classes for the children who are not altogether bright.

The real object of education, she said, should be to develop the children's talents. Heretofore she believed there has not been sufficient research in regard to vocational work, and the result has been the tragedy of the misfit. The child cannot be made to fit the curriculum, and accordingly it is necessary to make the curriculum to fit the child.

Experiment Succeeded. Incidentally, she referred to the unqualified success which attended the experiment in Queen Alexandra School, Toronto, where Mr. Wallace was granted the privilege of grading the children according to their intelligence. This system is to be allowed for another year, she said, and she believed that at the end of that time other Toronto schools would follow the example. Relative to the viewpoint of a woman trustee, Mrs. Groves said that there was no such thing, and that she and the other members of the board of education had the same object in view—that of giving their best to the interests of the children and community.

"None but the most intelligent men and women in the community should serve on the board of education, and do not elect a woman unless you are positive she is the right kind and will be just as careful with the money of the public as she would be with the money of her husband."

COST OF HYDRO MUCH REDUCED

Thamesville, Forest, Petrolia, Ridgetown and Wallaceburg Report Savings.

Especially Large Cuts Effectuated in Rates For Electric Lighting.

Toronto, May 14.—(By Canadian Press).—Official reports of the hydro business of five Ontario towns, each more than 200 miles from Niagara Falls, were issued today by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Thamesville has a population of about 1,000; Forest, about 1,500; Ridgetown, about 2,500; Petrolia, about 3,000, and Wallaceburg about 5,000.

Revenue for 1921 in Thamesville was $9,299.73; expenditure was $5,862.59, which included $572 for renewals reserve, leaving a surplus of $3,437.14. The balance sheet, after about six years' operation, shows total assets of $17,819.92, and a debenture debt of $9,452.92. The reserves and accumulated surplus make a total of $8,367, which is 88.5 per cent of the debenture debt.

Forest Rates Reduced. Forest is 27 miles from Niagara Falls. Before the town began taking hydro-electric power in 1917, the average kilowatt hour rate was 10 cents. The rates today for a standard 24-hour service average 9.9 cents for domestic light, 9 cents for commercial light, and $33.83 per horsepower for industrial energy. The money value of rate reductions by the provincial commission since 1918 is $1,738.64. The average load has increased from 98.3 horsepower to 113.6.

Despite increased generating costs at Niagara, the price for delivered power has declined from $63.27 to $50. Revenue of the Forest system for 1921 was $15,998.46. Expenditure, including a contribution of $1,171 to renewals reserve, was $14,021.26, leaving a net surplus of $1,977.20.

Ridgetown began taking hydro-electric service in December, 1915, requiring 76.5 horsepower. The load last year was 191.9 horsepower. Because of the steady increase in demand, the price for delivered power to Ridgetown has declined from $47.17 to $45, despite an increased generating cost at Niagara.

Pre-hydro rates are 10 cents per kilowatt hour, with 25 cents a month meter rent. The first hydro rates averaged 8.7 cents per kilowatt hour. They now average 5.7 cents domestic, 5.3 cents commercial and $32.46 per horsepower for industrial energy. The money value to consumers of rate-reductions made by the provincial commission is $10,664.84.

Petrolia Cost Cut. Before hydro came to Petrolia, the average rate for electric lighting was 14 cents per kilowatt hour, with a service charge of 20 cents a month. The first rate quoted by the Hydro-Electric Commission averaged 6.1 cents domestic, 6.2 cents commercial, and $30.86 for power. Subsequent readjustments have brought the rates to an average of 5.5 cents, 5.9 cents and $29.39, respectively. The load has increased from 250.2 horsepower to 589.2. The cost of this power delivered to Petrolia is slightly lower than in 1917, despite increased generating costs at Niagara.

Before February, 1915, when hydro came to Wallaceburg, the average rates were 11 cents per kilowatt hour for domestic light and 10 cents for commercial. The first rates quoted by the provincial commission averaged respectively 7.3 cents and 6.8 cents. These have been reduced to 4.9 cents domestic, 4.4 cents commercial and $27.34 per horsepower for industrial energy, due to the gradual increase of the load from 116.1 horsepower to 734.2.

The assets of the Wallaceburg system are $122,481.46. The liabilities are $68,414.07. The reserves and accumulated surplus make a total of $54,067.39. The revenue during 1921 was $48,213.54, the expenditure, which included a contribution to renewal reserve of $2,784 was $38,058.88, leaving a surplus of $10,154.66.

MOTHERS' DAY OBSERVED IN MELBOURNE CHURCHES

Children Aid in Services at Both Methodist and Presbyterian Gatherings.

Special to London Advertiser. MELBOURNE, May 15.—Mothers' day was observed in both the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches on Sunday morning. In the Methodist Church, the pastor, Dr. Brown, took charge, assisted by Clarence Beattie, Laura Collier, Ronald Lewis and Jennie Robinson. At the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Mr. Rose, of Delaware, took charge of the service, the children forming a choir and furnished special music suitable for the occasion. Stella Long and Mildred Campbell sang a duet. The church was beautifully decorated with carnations and other cut flowers.

The evening service was a union service and was held in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Mr. Rose preached an excellent sermon to the large gathering. The choir, assisted by Mrs. Sparham, who sang a solo, added greatly to the service. Constance Howell has accepted a position in an office at Dunville.

TURK MASSACRES ARE WORST EVER

London, May 15.—The probability of international action to rescue the remaining non-Turkish populations in Asia-Minor, is indicated today by the Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent. The recent and continuing deportations and massacres behind Mustafa Kemal, Pasha's lines, are unprecedented, he says, even in Turkish history. They surpass in magnitude those of Gladstone's day, and those of 1915, not being sporadic but systematic and aimed at complete extermination of the Christian races.

Propose To Send Russian Refugees To Canada and Australia

LONDON, England, May 15.—Negotiations are proceeding at Geneva, says a Reuter dispatch, to send 15,000 Russian refugees, who are now at Constantinople, to Canada and Australia, according to a statement made at the League of Nations' council by Prof. E. J. Nanson, of the University of Melbourne. Australian funds for this purpose, however, are lacking. The council decided to request all the states that were members of the league to assist in the evacuation of these refugees. Great Britain already had promised from £10,000 to £30,000 if required.

STILL OPERATOR JAILED 6 MONTHS

Joseph Sagesse, Brantford, Unable To Pay Fine of $500.

Special to London Advertiser. BRANTFORD, May 15.—"It will cost you $500 and costs or six months," so spoke Magistrate Blake to Joseph Sagesse in the police court this afternoon.

Last week while the Egyptian inquest was in progress in the police station, the inland revenue officers were making a raid on the farm of William Winegardner in the Brantford Township. There they found a still in operation, and Sagesse as the operator. When found the still had over five gallons of alcohol in the vat and a keg nearby held a large quantity which was produced in the court this afternoon.

It appears that Sagesse had been living on the farm of Winegardner for some time, and the former had been in the habit of making illicit liquor. The officers located the still and made the raid, and consequently the latter was arraigned on a charge of having a still on his property contrary to section 150 of the inland revenue act.

The case was started at the morning sessions of the court and lasted until well into the afternoon, during which time two other culprits were brought in to testify, and they were placed under arrest on a charge of carrying illicit liquor. They were James Elliott and Joe Miller. It was alleged that the liquor that they were carrying was made at the farm of Winegardner, and that Sagesse was the maker.

After hearing the case Magistrate Blake decided it was too much for one day, and he remanded Elliott, Miller and Winegardner until next Monday. In the case of Sagesse, who was unable to meet the requirements of the law, he accepted the hospitality of the city until the snow would cover the ground.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe To Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advt.

Three Windsor Youths Draw Terms in Ontario Reformatory.

WINDSOR, May 15.—Wilfrid Donnelly, John McCauley and Fred Hughes, all Windsor young men, who pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing an automobile two months ago, the property of Harry J. Neal, were sentenced to serve from one to two years in the Ontario Reformatory, when brought up for sentence before Acting Magistrate Ellis in Windsor police court today.

Magistrate Ellis refused to allow the young men their freedom on suspended sentence in spite of strong pleas made by counsel for the defence, W. H. Furlong and W. D. B. Turville.

Mr. Furlong asked permission to enter a plea of not guilty. He stated that the men were only guilty of riding in a stolen automobile; that the man who is guilty of the theft is now serving a jail term for breaking and entering a store in Chatham. The boys did not know the automobile was stolen, he said.

Although the magistrate refused to be lenient he granted Mr. Furlong a stay of case. The convictions will be immediately appealed, Furlong said.

Alkali In Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just plain Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.—Advt.

Women of Middle Age

THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these:

Viscount, Saskatchewan—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female weakness. I had pains in the back and bearing-down pains in the abdomen and was in a general run-down condition. I could not sleep, rest, or work, and was quite unfit to do even slight household tasks. A friend told me about your Vegetable Compound and I in my turn truly recommended it, as my severe symptoms vanished and I am better in every way. I do my own work, look after my children and see to chickens, a cow, and my garden. I also recommend it for young girls who are weak and run-down, as my 16-year-old daughter has taken it and is quite her own gay self again."—Mrs. FRED WILEY, Viscount, Saskatchewan.

Brockville, Ontario—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and female disorders. I was so weak at times that I could not stand up. I had been this way for nearly three years, and the different medicines I had taken had not done me any good. I found one of your little books at my door one day, and I thought I would give your medicine a trial. I am now on my fifth bottle, and it has helped me. I am feeling much better, have no weak spells and can do all my work now. I am recommending your Vegetable Compound to all I know."—Mrs. CASEY LEMERY, 176 Abbott St., Brockville, Ontario.

IMMIGRANTS TO PASS NEW TEST

Canada Will Freely Admit Those Adapted To Desirable Occupations.

Relaxations of Rules Allowed in Case of Britons and Americans.

OTTAWA, May 15.—(By Canadian Press).—Announcement is made by the department of immigration and colonization of a change of requirements concerning immigrants entering Canada.

The change going into effect immediately under the new regulations will be a test to determine the fitness of immigrants by their occupation. The regulations will, it is claimed, facilitate the movement of Britons from the mother country and the other self-governing dominions to Canada and are framed particularly to encourage settlement in Canada by the agricultural and domestic servants classes as these are the classes immediately in demand.

In the case of persons of other classes entering from the United States, Canada will freely admit those whose labor is required in the dominion.

Under the new regulations the landing in Canada of any immigrant is prohibited except:

1.—A bona fide agriculturist entering Canada to farm and with sufficient means to begin farming in Canada.

2.—A bona fide farm laborer entering Canada to follow that occupation and with reasonable assurance of employment.

3.—A female domestic servant entering Canada to follow that occupation and with reasonable assurance of employment.

A strict application of the above would mean that only the agricultural and domestic servant could land in Canada, but provision has been made under which immigration officers have authority to admit:

Families Admitted.

(a)—The wife and family of any person legally admitted to and resident in Canada, who is in a position to receive and care for his dependents.

(b)—The national of any country in regard to which there is in operation a special treaty of agreement or convention regulating immigration.

(c)—Any British subject entering Canada directly or indirectly from Great Britain or Ireland, the United States of America, or any self-governing British dominion or Newfoundland, who shall satisfy the immigration officer in charge at the point of entry that he has sufficient means to maintain himself until employment is secured.

(d)—Any American citizen entering Canada from the United States provided it is shown to the satisfaction of the minister of immigration and colonization that his labor or service is required in Canada.

A new passport regulation requires that immigrants (except Britons from the United Kingdom or any self-governing dominion, and Americans from the United States) shall carry a passport issued in and by the government of their own country. It is further provided that immigrants coming from the continent of Europe shall have their passports examined and vided by a Canadian government immigration officer stationed on the continent of Europe.

All others requiring passports must have these passports vided by a British consular officer. It is provided that a fee of $5 is chargeable for Canadian examination and vise of passports.

Asiatic immigration (except nationals of a country in regard to which there is in operation a special treaty agreement) must have $250 to land in Canada.

Sarnia Park Board To Co-operate in Establishing Camp For Tourists

Special to London Advertiser. SARNIA, May 15.—The city park board has announced its intention of co-operating in the movement to establish a tourists' camp on the Beach road, and there now appears every reason to believe that this project will materialize this year.

The idea of the tourists' camp is to provide accommodation for the overnight resting of the hundreds of American tourists who pass this way on sightseeing tours to Canada and visiting the Eastern States via the London-Niagara Falls-Buffalo route, and also for Canadian tourists who cross the Sarnia-Port Huron route to the American side of the St. Clair River.

DOWLER BUYERS ORDER FALL LINES

Well-Known Clothiers Select Stocks by New Methods.

Buyers for the well-known Dowler organization of clothing stores have just completed a four-day buying convention, during which they placed orders for next fall and winter overcoats.

A very interesting and efficient method is employed by these buyers, entirely unlike that generally followed by most smaller merchants.

Headed by R. H. Dowler and J. Dowler, this corps of experts meet the representatives of fourteen of the leading manufacturers in convention.

"They then institute the most rigid examination and comparison of values offered. Fabric is compared against fabric, style against style, tailoring against tailoring, until only the very finest and most desirable is chosen."

This efficient and highly-scientific process secures the very choicest and best the market affords for the Dowler stores. The price concessions offered for such large quantities purchases all at one time actually save thousands of dollars.

Competition among manufacturers for the Dowler orders is very keen. Not only on account of the annual size of these orders, but the fact of having sold these recognized leaders seems to carry a good deal of weight with many smaller merchants throughout Western Ontario.

The Dowler buyers are enthusiastic about the goods offered at this convention, as they include most beautiful overcoats, rich, luxurious weaves, tailored and finished in a manner that will instantly inspire men to enthusiastic ownership.

Western Ontario men will have a wonderful opportunity awaiting them next fall in choosing from such coats. They should be well dressed, indeed, if they take advantage of the fine showing.

OTTAWA, May 15.—By Canadian Press).—At the opening of the House of Commons today Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, moved first reading of a bill to amend the Dominion election act. In a brief explanation Mr. McKenzie said that the amendment was based on two resolutions which had been introduced during the present session and received the approval of the house.

Both amendments were to section 29 of the act. The first provided for removing the disqualification of female voters of foreign birth and the second for continuing the qualification of both male and female voters who changed their residence within two months prior to the date of an election. The bill was given first reading.

DISASTROUS FIRE OCCURS AT ELMIRA

ELMIRA, May 15.—This town was visited at an early hour this morning by one of the worst fires in its history, and a conservative estimate places the loss at $50,000, although it will be a few days before the loss will be known.

The blaze was first discovered in Klunk's hardware store, and it spread to an adjoining barber shop, then to the Phoenix Company's store, Arthur street. From there it spread to Church street by the rear, catching on to Klunk's jewelry store, which was badly gutted, while the workshop of the Signet Printing Company was badly scorched.

RULES DAYLIGHT TIME TO STAY

Kitchener Council Refuses To Repeal Bylaw Passed Recently.

Notice of Motion To Quash Order Served On Aldermen.

KITCHENER, May 15.—Kitchener City Council tonight in the face of a monster deputation and also a monster petition asking for the repeal of daylight saving time stuck to their guns and turned down a motion which asked leave to introduce a bylaw repealing summer time.

The action was taken so quickly that it was some time before the crowded council chamber realized that the council voted to maintain daylight saving time throughout the period set by the bylaw. Among the communications was a notice of motion for the quashing of the bylaw which will be heard at Osgoode Hall, on May 22. This is the next stand which the opposers of the bylaw will make. The party taking this step is A. R. Goudle, manager of one of Kitchener's largest department stores.

One of the communications in protest against daylight saving was of a threatening nature and stated that if the council did not repeal the bylaw they should take warning, as the writer, who was the leader of a gang of eight bandits, would teach some of the aldermen a lesson by calling at their homes some night for the purpose of shooting to wound.

The name signed to the letter was that of G. B. Hull, who is unknown to the city. The signature is believed to be fictitious. The aldermen took the threatening letter in the nature of a joke.

REPORTS SUIT ENTERED

Action Is Causing Considerable Comment Amongst St. Thomas City Officials.

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, May 15.—A suit reported to have been entered in the county court by Charles Jackson against Terrence Brady, Yarmouth farmer, and is causing considerable comment among the water commissioners and city officials. The writ is for $500, and is for the price of cattle sold.

The comment arises out of the fact that Mr. Jackson represented the defendant in arbitration proceedings last year when Mr. Brady's farm was expropriated by the city for water storage purposes. The arbitration board allowed Mr. Brady $3,700 for the property. The water commission complained that the amount was exorbitant.

BARN BURNS AT ONEIDA

Property of William Windecker Completely Destroyed By Fire.

Special to London Advertiser. CAYUGA, May 15.—The barn of William Windecker's farm in Oneida, about three miles from Cayuga, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. Cause unknown, loss about $500, partially insured.

Fire broke out in the kitchen of D. P. Foster's house in Cayuga about 6 p.m. on Sunday, and the back portion of the house, with contents, was burned to the ground. The main house, a handsome brick structure, was saved. The contents were removed as at one time it seemed doubtful if the fire could be checked. Much damage was done by water and breakage and the loss, which will be heavy, is only partially covered by insurance.

LONDON, May 15.—Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, stated in the house today that no preparations were being made either in France or Belgium for the extension of the area of occupation in Germany if reparations due May 31 were not paid.

In reply to a question, Mr. Chamberlain said the next meeting of the League of Nations would be held September 4, but that the question of admitting Germany and Russia into membership had not appeared on the agenda.

PARIS, May 15.—The Metz municipal council has been dissolved by presidential decree. The dissolution was the result of the refusal of several members of the council to co-operate with the mayor, and their failure to vote the budget as a protest against the mayor's administration.

The administration is still practically under German municipal laws, to which the councils object, desiring that the city be run in accordance with French law.

MEXICO CITY, May 15.—Protesting against the high rents charged by Mexico City landlords, and demanding that they be reduced 75 per cent, several thousand members of the Tenant Union paraded the streets in a demonstration last night.

The paraders, however, used no violence.

STOCKHOLM, May 15.—The government announced today that the consultative plebiscite on prohibition will be held Aug. 27. The Rigsdag recently voted to submit the question to the people at large.

Sweden is at present on a liquor rationing basis, whereby every head of a family and all single adults, male and female, are entitled to certain allowances of strong liquor. There is a government monopoly on the sale of light wines and beers. The liquor, wine and beer trade is a government monopoly, and yields a large yearly revenue to the state.

Adherents of the rationing system declare that since its adoption in 1914 the consumption of strong liquor has been reduced by 50 per cent in Sweden.

Beauty Without Grit

Without any harm to the teeth

Don't try to whiten teeth with grit that scratches the enamel. That's harmful. Use a soft polishing agent—the Pepsodent agent. Then combat the dingy film twice daily in this new, effective way.

That's what millions of people the world over are doing, largely by dental advice. Look about you and see the beautiful teeth that result.

Clouded by film

Teeth are clouded by a film. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Stains enter it, then the film, if left, forms the basis of dingy coats. That's why teeth lose luster. Film is also the basis of tartar.

Most tooth troubles are now traced to that film. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germes breed by millions in it.

They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Stays on teeth

Under old methods, much of that film remained on teeth. It made teeth cloudy. Night and day it threatened serious damage. That's why so many brushed teeth discolored and decay. Tooth troubles have been constantly increasing.

Now dental science, after long research, has found two film combatants. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists almost the world over are urging their daily use.

A new-type tooth paste has been created, based on five modern requirements. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants are embodied in it for daily application.

Old ways wrong

Pepsodent also aids Nature in two essential ways. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva.

That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth before they ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids that cause decay.

Every use of Pepsodent thus gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Old-time tooth pastes had the opposite effect. They reduced mouth alkalinity, reduced the starch digestant with every application. That was due to their soap and chalk.

We urge you to see and feel these effects, then judge how much they mean.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch these delightful effects for a few days and you will always want them. Cut out the coupon now.

BILL TO FORBID OLEO IMPORTS EVOKES DEBATE

Members Ignore Party Lines in Division On Neill Motion.

CRERAR OPPOSES PLAN

Euler Declares Act Would Be
Protection in Worst Form.

BULLETIN.

OTTAWA, May 15.—At a quarter to 1 o'clock in the morning, the house divided on Mr. Neill's resolution, which was defeated by 26, the vote standing: For, 57; against, 83.

OTTAWA, May 15.—The last private members' day of the session was devoted to discussion of oleomargarine. The act under which the importation and manufacture of oleomargarine are permitted expires on August 31 next, and in the house today A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni) moved that from September 1 said importation and manufacture be discontinued.

The debate followed no party lines; indeed, it provided the curious situation of one cabinet minister speaking in direct contradiction to another. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, opposed oleo; Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, favored it. Mr. Motherwell declared it was grossly unfair to expect the "good honest dairy cow" to compete with the oleo factory. Mr. Fielding, on the other hand, declared that the kind of guardianship provided for children, Indians and lunatics, he would support the resolution, but he thought the people could be trusted to buy what they wanted.

Crerar Urges Liberty.
Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, also had criticism for Mr. Motherwell. Mr. Motherwell, he said, had hauled down the flag of liberty to support the grossest form of protection.

Mr. Neill's motion was as follows: "That in the opinion of this house it is desirable that in the best interests of the dairy industry and of the public generally the manufacture and importation of oleomargarine should be discontinued in Canada after September 1 next."

Mr. Neill declared that the dairy industry was one of the most important branches of agriculture. It should be protected with that form of protection which any ordinary citizen was entitled to receive, the same kind of protection a man asked when he found his house had been broken into. It might be called preservation instead of protection. Oleomargarine was not a substitute for butter. It was only an imitation.

32 Per Cent Imported.
Approximately 68 per cent of the oleomargarine in Canada was manufactured in this country, said Mr. Neill. The remainder came in from the United States. The demand for this product was lessening, as indicated by the fact that the consumption dropped from 14,000,000 pounds in 1918 to 3,000,000 pounds last year. The restrictions surrounding the manufacture of oleo in Canada

$1,000,000 Deposited in Ontario Savings Bank in Two Months

TORONTO, May 15.—Deposits in the provincial government savings bank branches are coming in at an unexpectedly rapid rate, totalling now almost a million dollars, although the first branch was only opened in March and comparatively few have been in operation any considerable length of time.

It is expected that branches will be opened in Brantford, Seaforth, Hamilton, Walkerville and Pembroke during the next few days.

Not only are the deposits coming in at a rate faster than anticipated, but the applications for loans from farmers of the province are piling in, and it looks as if applications for loans totalling from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 will be received during the year.

The security will be carefully investigated before the loans will be allowed, but with so great an amount loaned to the farmers of the province in one year, it should have a pronounced effect, it is claimed, on the standard of agriculture in Ontario, as most of it goes to improve buildings, cattle herds and farm conditions.

had concentrated this business in the factories of two corporations. The product he considered satisfactory for kitchen use, but it was being palmed off as butter.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, former minister of agriculture, was opposed to the resolution because he did not think this Parliament should prohibit the use of a wholesome food which was permitted in practically all the countries of the world and had been used extensively by Canadian soldiers at the front.

Oleomargarine was made under better conditions than prevailed on the average dairy farm in Canada. Dr. Tolmie admitted that he had been opposed to the introduction of oleo at first, but after going through the plant where it was manufactured and making a very careful inspection of the process he was very favorably impressed.

Thinks Protection Ample.
Both the dairymen and the consumer was protected by the regulations governing its manufacture and sale. It was impossible under the law to attempt to sell oleomargarine as butter. The name "butter" was not allowed to appear on the container of oleomargarine, nor may the word "creamery" be used, nor the name of any brand of cattle. The retailer must sell it in the original package, which was clearly marked, and it was easier to control the sale of oleomargarine than butter.

Cheers from a group of Progressives were drawn by W. D. Euler (Liberal, North Waterloo) when he called the resolution "protection in its worst form." He thought there was no more reason for prohibiting the use of oleomargarine than for forbidding the manufacture of cotton stockings in the interest of the silk stocking industry.

M. A. Stewart (Conservative, Leeds) supported the resolution on the ground of protection.
"I believe," he said, "in protection for all interests, for the manufacturer, for labor, and for the farmer."

A. T. Leger (Liberal, Kent, N. B.) said the question was whether Canada was going to stop the dairying industry or the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine.

BOARD DECIDES TO

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, May 15.—The main discussion at tonight's council meeting arose over the recommendation of the board of works to purchase a second road roller. It was claimed two road rollers were necessary to carry out the program of road work and it was considered economical to buy a roller rather than pay $2,000 for rental, which was due last year. By a vote of 912 the recommendation carried.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, May 15.—The highways department has decided that the Kitchener-Preston road must enter the Mineral Springs town by a new route, objection being taken to the present road because of a steep hill in the town which, to be reduced to the regulation grade of 7 per cent, would mean a costly outlay.

The town council of Preston has not expressed a decision on the matter so far, and there is some objection to the change locally, but the decision of the highways department is final, and if the new route is not accepted by the municipality the highway will stop at the corporation limits.

After a lingering illness Richard A. Conner of 32 Cambridge street is dead. He was in his 55th year, and was born in Dundas, having resided here for 35 years, and for the last seventeen years had been in the grocery business. A widow, one son and one daughter survive.

Knox Church was the scene of great activity today, with local women busily engaged preparing for the opening of the sixth annual meeting of the general council of the Women's Missionary Society. Elaborate preparations have been made for the five days' convention.

The reception committee had everything well in hand, and all trains today were met by women with motor cars, and the delegates welcomed and then taken to their billets.

The largest contingent of delegates arrived by a special train from Toronto this evening, but they were well handled, and soon all found homes awaiting their arrival. British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba, Quebec and Ontario delegates are now here, and others are expected on early trains.

MAY IMPOSE TAX ON MOTOR BUSES

Ingersoll Fears Competition
Will Injure Railway Paying Rental To Town.

Special to London Advertiser.

INGERSOLL, May 15.—Mayor McCarty, at a meeting of the council tonight, emphasized the fact that for 20 years the town had received an annual rental of $300 from the Woodstock, Thames Valley and Ingersoll Electric Railway Company. Buses now being operated between this town and Woodstock, he said, were taking traffic away from the electric railway.

He strongly advocated a license being imposed on the buses. He pointed out that the matter was one of financial interest to the town, and he considered it high time some action was taken to govern the existing situation.

File Curfew Request.
Recently the request was made by a local women's organization to have the curfew rung. Councillor Hutt expressed himself emphatically on this matter when he stated he did not believe in saddling onto the chief of police duties that belonged to parents in keeping their children from the streets. Other members stated this was their view, and no action was taken.

In regard to taxing taxi drivers a bylaw will likely be introduced at the next meeting.

According to announcement made by Mayor McCarty, an engineer from the department of public highways is expected to visit Ingersoll this week in connection with Charles and Bell streets, which form a connecting link with the provincial highway. When the matter of improving these two streets was taken up recently with the deputy minister of highways, Mr. McCarty was told that the department would be represented by an engineer here this week.

Anxiety Entertained.

Citizens view the situation both with interest and anxiety. Permanent work is regarded as necessary on these streets, owing to the extent of the traffic, and it is felt that the government should assist in the work. If some agreement can be entered into it is probable that permanent work will be commenced this year.

While splendid progress has been made in restoring the service of the Ingersoll Telephone Company which was put out of commission by the recent ice storm, it is expected that two months will elapse before the storm damage has been overcome. Communication has been established with Salford, each of here, and work is proceeding on the line along the highway connecting with Salford.

About 90 per cent of the lines, it is understood, have been restored to service. There is still much work to be done, but it is believed that everything can be completed in two months.

FEAR COLLAPSE OF FIRE HALL TOWER

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, May 15.—At the request of the building committee of the city council City Engineer Shupe is making a thorough inspection of the tower of the fire hall on Frederick street, as it is alleged to be unsafe. It is the opinion of the committee that the constant daily vibrations of the big bell have weakened the structure, and they fear it may collapse. It is expected the engineer will report on his finding in a few days.

Oxford Crops Very Much in Need of Rain.

WOODSTOCK, May 15.—The cereal and hay crops of Oxford are very much in need of rain, and the farmers are very much alarmed at the present outlook unless the county is blessed with a few real downpours. The ground is exceptionally dry and so hard that plowing is carried on with difficulty. The milk industry promises to receive a boon from the exceptionally fine outlook of the sweet clover fields. With treble the acreage the crops promise at least double reward over last year.

WOMEN OF HURON DIOCESE CONVENE

Hold Annual Meeting in St.
James' Anglican Church, Stratford.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, May 15.—Upwards of three hundred delegates have signified their intention to attend the Women's Auxiliaries of the Anglican diocese of Huron convention, to be held in St. James' Church, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The convention will be unique in that it is the first time that it has been held out of London since the organization of the diocesan branch 35 years ago. Bishop Williams, of the Diocese of Huron, will preside at all sessions.

The task of finding housing accommodation for the delegates during their stay in the city has been accomplished, practically every member of the church arranging for one or two delegates.

Mrs. Sage Resigns.

An important item of business in connection with the convention will be the appointment of a new president to succeed Mrs. Sage. Mrs. Sage's resignation from the presidency which she has held for the past 12 years is deeply regretted by the branch members who, however, are rejoicing in her promise to carry on her interest and activities in the Women's Auxiliary, although in a less exacting post.

Announcement of the new president will be made by His Lordship Bishop Williams, probably at the Wednesday afternoon session of which the election of officers will be an important feature.

Many officials of the G. T. R., including Sir Joseph Flavelle, chairman of the board of directors and Mrs. Flavelle; Vice-President W. D. Robb and Mrs. Robb; General Superintendent of Ontario lines, C. G. Bowker and others, are expected here Thursday evening for the big get-together meeting in the armories, when the first aid hockey and baseball trophies will be presented.

Fined $200 and Costs.

Charged with having liquor in other than a private dwelling house, Herbert Schantz, of Kitchener, was today sentenced to six months in jail and August Waechele, also of Kitchener, was fined $200 and costs.

"The public should be seized with the fact that the purpose of education is not solely a means of the attainment of a livelihood, but a means of living our life more fully as a necessary accoutrement to our life. When we realize this we will have solved the problem of education." So declared Major Ney, of Winnipeg, a representative of the national council of education in an address before the chamber of commerce at the regular noon-day luncheon today.

The speaker deplored the fact that in our present system of education little attention is paid to the training of the character of boys and girls. The school should have the co-operation of the home, the church, the press and the theatre. "We're getting as much as we can expect from them as much as we can expect from them," said Major Ney, "but the trouble is that many people regard education in the degree that they have to pay for it."

CITIZENS' BAND BEGINS SEASON AT TILLSBURG

Hold Sacred Concert in Washington
Avenue Park on Sunday Afternoon.

Special to London Advertiser.

TILLSBURG, May 15.—The citizens' band opened their summer season Sunday afternoon with a sacred concert in Washington Avenue Park, and fully 2,000 people were in attendance from the town and district. Comprised of 30 pieces under the direction of Frank Barkley, the band has become very popular in Western Ontario during the past two seasons. The regular Thursday night concerts will be inaugurated in a short time.

Mother's Day was fittingly observed in all the local churches at the morning service. At Avondale Presbyterian and St. Paul's Methodist the Sunday school scholars assembled in the classrooms with their teachers and marched in a body to the centre pews of the church. Special music was rendered at all churches.

GEORGE ROSS RESIGNS.

TORONTO, May 15.—George Ross, general superintendent of postal services for Canada, has sent in his resignation, and it is expected that the supplementary estimates will make provision for his retirement on a substantial pension. It was stated tonight that the regulations of the department provide for a superannuation of $3,600 per annum, but that this amount might be increased in the case of Mr. Ross.

The public health service insists that European immigrants be reasonably clean when embarking so that they will not bring with them

NAVAL PROPOSAL MAY BE OPPOSED

Government Expects Sharp
Conservative Opposition
To New Bill.

OTTAWA, May 15.—(By Canadian Press).—That the government proposals to reduce the Canadian navy to one small ship and two trawlers on each coast, involving the laying up of the present fleet, will meet with sharp Conservative opposition was indicated in official circles here today.

It is understood that when the proposals announced by Hon. George Graham, minister of militia, on Friday, are debated tomorrow, the Conservative opposition will base its objections on the following grounds:

1.—That Canada's responsibility in sharing the defence with the mother country and other dominions of the empire is not being met.

2.—That it is wholly unfair to leave the burden of naval defence of the dominion on the shoulders of the British taxpayers.

3.—That the proposals for a volunteer naval force will not produce the required efficiency to justify the expense.

Conservative members agree that the other dominions of the empire are all doing something of a concrete nature in the way of participating in the naval defence of the empire, and declare that both as a matter of empire policy and for the maintenance of Canada's self respect, Canada should maintain a naval force.

Progressive support of the new naval policy means that it will be carried in the house.

15,000 ACRES OF WHEAT DAMAGED

WINNIPEG, May 15.—The first estimate of the damage caused by the overflowing of the Assiniboine River, contained in the crop report issued today by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, states that between fifteen and twenty thousand acres of seeded land, or land ready for seeding, has been seriously affected.

Farmers in the Kemway district are perhaps the heaviest losers, according to the report, with 1,170 acres of wheat-seeded land flooded. Taking the situation generally, excepting some farms where the water will lodge after the river has receded, and where the water will make it

Home for a Hot Dinner

TOM JACKSON used to complain about losing his "pep" about the middle of the afternoon. The cold noon-lunch in his tin can didn't stand by him through the long afternoon. And he certainly got good and sick of carrying his cold lunch with him every day. His wife also got tired of putting up lunches.

Tom Feels Fine Now

He bought a C. C. M. bicycle and goes home for a hot dinner.

He says there's nothing like a noon spin to freshen one up, and nothing like a good hot dinner to stand by you through the afternoon's work.

Tom says if he were an Efficiency Expert he'd order bicycles and hot dinners at home for all the "lunch-pail sufferers" in the place.

He would go even further than that. He would have them get bikes with the

C.C.M. Triplex Hanger

Tom is a "Triplex" booster.

He says, "It's the hanger that gives the most speed—and pep—and power." Every bit of weight you put on the pedals counts for speed. And there are none of those mean "tight and loose" spots often developed by other crank hangers.

Tom also admires the accuracy of the C. C. M. workmanship. Being a master mechanic himself, he can appreciate the value of a bicycle many of the parts of which are made to even closer limits than were the time fuses on shells.

THERE are over 1,000 C. C. M. Service Stations in Canada carrying genuine C.C.M. parts and giving C. C. M. service. Look for the above sign.

He also knows that the sparkling C. C. M. nickelling will keep bright and not rust, because it is done over copper. And he says he never saw smoother, niftier, or tougher enamelling than that on his new C. C. M. bicycle.

Hercules Coasts Farther

The other day when he was riding with a friend, Tom found he could coast farther with his Hercules Brake — "the Little Fellow with the Giant Grip" — than his friend could with another make. That tickled Tom, but didn't please the other fellow, who now wishes he'd chosen a C. C. M.

Fewer Repairs

Lasts Years Longer
C. C. M. Bicycles have many features that make them worth more than ordinary bicycles. The extra satisfaction you get more than pays the difference in price between a cheap bike and a C. C. M. And there are always fewer repairs required on a good bicycle, not to mention the extra years of service it gives. Many C. C. M. Bicycles are giving good service after ten to fifteen years' riding over all kinds of roads.

A C. C. M. may be had to-day for fewer days' wages than before the war.

Tom says his C. C. M. isn't costing him a cent. He will soon have it paid for with the money he's saved on car fare and shoe leather.

And he never felt so well in years.

WILL INSPECT CHATHAM PLANT

Windsor City Officials To Visit Kent City On Wednesday.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, May 15.—Windsor City officials are coming to Chatham on Wednesday of this week for the purpose of inspecting the city paving plant, according to an advice received from City Engineer Ed. Brian of Windsor today.

It is understood that a similar plant has been erected in Windsor, and that the city engineer and others of that municipality are anxious to see what benefits Chatham has derived by using the plant here.

Yesterday was the hottest Sunday so far of the year, and scores of Chathamites motored out to Government Park at Rondeau to enjoy the spring woodland sights.

Reports of building activities at the park have been received in this city, and it is expected that the year 1932 will see several decided improvements for the better in Kent's summer playground.

The U. E. O. and U. F. W. O. executives in Kent County are planning a monster picnic for Thursday, June 22, at which several noted U. E. O. officials will speak.

Tentative plans, which were discussed at a meeting in the city on Saturday evening, indicate that the picnic will be held on the fair grounds of the West Kent Agricultural Society in this city. The U. E. O. committee will meet with the directors of the agricultural society on Wednesday evening next for the purpose of discussing the plans in detail.

Kent County crops are stated to be in an excellent condition at present, and according to reports issued at the local agricultural office today the 1932 production may break all records.

The corn crop looks very promising. In some places a rapid growth has been noted with the result that cultivating will probably commence early next week. Nearly three-quarters of the sugar beet crop has been put in, and indications point to an excellent crop for 1932.

A. F. Bels of this city, who is an ardent horticulturist, has one of the finest flower gardens in the city. His tulip beds are stated to be the largest in Western Ontario. They contain 3,500 tulips of 51 varieties, and of colors from a brilliant snow-white to a deep black.

Hundreds of flower lovers and school children pay a visit to his gardens every day.

HOMELESS YOUTH SHOT BY POLICE

TORONTO, May 15.—While attempting to escape from the police, Erwin Whelan, a 16-year-old orphan, and homeless, was shot in the back by Constable Victor Coote in an alleyway on Boston avenue today.

The shooting took place following a robbery at Mrs. Della McLean's grocery shop, 105 Pape avenue, just 50 yards from Pape avenue police station, when the till was robbed of $40.

There is a chance that Whelan will recover. He was hit in the back, and the bullet lodged below the lung. He was removed to St. Michael's Hospital, and following an operation the bullet was located and extracted. Whelan did not lose consciousness.

COHEN CONVICTS LAWYER OF THEFT

TORONTO, May 15.—Magistrate Cohen today convicted W. E. Lear, a solicitor, on a charge of stealing $600, the property of John H. Gibson.

Gibson had given the lawyer the money to make a deposit on a house, and arrange the purchase for him.

Lear was remanded till the 15th for sentence.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE SLUMPS.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—United States foreign trade slumped in April after its recent advances, according to reports issued today by the commerce department. Exports for the month aggregated $321,000,000, compared with $330,000,000 in March, and imports totalled $217,000,000, against $256,000,000 the previous month.

APPEAL DISMISSED.

TORONTO, May 15.—When the Kingston election appeal for the unseating of Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross was called at Osgoode Hall this morning no evidence was forthcoming and the application was dismissed. The cross-appeal was also dismissed.

Guelph Batteries Not To Go Under Canvas.

Special to London Advertiser.

GUELPH, May 15.—Lieut.-Col. William Simpson, officer commanding the local militia artillery brigade, has received definite word from military headquarters at London, Ont., to the effect that the Guelph batteries will not go under canvas camp this summer, owing to the fact that the militia allowances for camp purposes were cut down in the estimates at Ottawa. The local units will be given six days' training at the armories, however, following which firing detachments from the 16th and 29th Batteries, about 40 strong, will proceed to Petawawa Camp for six days' firing and competitive practice. The detachment from the 16th Battery will leave for Petawawa on July 16, and the 29th squad on July 18.

U. S. COURT BANS FUTURE TRADING

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The United States supreme court today held section four of the future trading act as unenforceable. This section proposed to levy virtually a prohibitive tax of 20 cents a bushel on all future trades banned under the act. It made exceptions of actual owners of grain or legitimate hedging contracts.

The court held that section three, nine and other sections could be enforced.

Section three of the act provides for tax of 20 cents a bushel upon "privileges," "puts and calls," "bids" and other so-called speculative trades.

BANDITS ROB PAY CAR OF $30,000

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 15.—Four bandits in an automobile intercepted a machine carrying the payroll of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad Company this morning and escaped with $30,000 in currency and silver. Police Detective Ben Lamb was hit in the left arm by a shot fired by a bandit. The driver of the car in which the bank messenger was riding was wounded in the back.

UNEMPLOYED STONES POLICE

SHEFFIELD, England, May 15.—Unemployed workmen, led by extremists, who are said to have been intimidating willing workers during the last few weeks, staged a determined attack upon the Jessop Company's plant this afternoon. Mounted police were stoned by the demonstrators and were obliged to retreat. The mob smashed a number of office windows, after which the police, being reinforced, charged them repeatedly and finally dispersed the crowd.

WILL CALL FOR TENDERS.

WINNIPEG, May 15.—The Manitoba government will call for tenders for a $2,500,000 30-year 5 per cent bond issue on May 25. Hon. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer, announced today on his return from making a survey of the eastern money markets.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unannealed tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

STEWART PLEA DISPELS DOUBT OF SIX NATIONS

Liberal Minister of Interior Quickly Sets Troubled Reserve At Rest.

HEARS ALL GRIEVANCES

Wins Hearts of Warriors and Chiefs Alike by Promise of Justice.

BY RUSSELL F. BOYD.

COT NCIL HOUSE, Ohsweken, Ont.

May 15.—Tuscarora, the Six Nations Indian Reserve, is tranquil tonight.

No longer do the 4,400 survivors of the greatest Indian confederacy North America has ever known fear for the future of their race, for all day their great white guardian, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior in the King government, heard their many grievances, guaranteed their future safety from invasion, and set their troubled minds at rest.

As superintendent-general of Indian affairs, the minister met the chiefs, the warriors and the women of the Six Nations on common ground, reasoned with them as man to man, and gave them his frank opinion of their arguments, winning their whole-hearted confidence.

Mr. Stewart promised equal rights for returned men and civilians, as well as to both political factions on the reserve, the progressives, who want the Six Nations Council elected by vote of the people, and the supporters of the hereditary council system, which has been in vogue for centuries.

Assured of Justice.

From dawn to dusk the reserve was a hive of activity. Truly, it was a momentous day for the Indian, a day when he at last could lay his claims directly before the great white chief, assured that justice would be meted out to him.

Hardly had the minister of the interior's special car arrived in Brantford, when the Indian deputation sent by their council to meet him decided that he had arrived with the full intention of righting any wrongs which they claimed had been done them.

Although, through Indian department officials, he had arranged to meet the Six Nations chiefs in Victoria Hall, Brantford, Mr. Stewart cancelled all pre-arranged plans, and went to the reserve at the request of a deputation consisting of Chief Deskaheh (Chief General), Chief David Hill, Chief Chancey Garlow, and William Johnston, president of the G. W. V. A. branch on the reserve.

This deputation explained that a brass band and the whole tribe were awaiting his arrival, and that all the people could not go to Brantford, because of the expense such a trip would entail.

Discussion Begun.

With few preliminaries the discussion was begun when the minister arrived at the council house.

"I came here at the request of the prime minister of Canada himself," began Mr. Stewart.

"I am now in the Indian department. I know your brethren in the West, but I know little of you. However, I intend to visit all the tribes in Canada when the session closes."

"I do not propose to discuss the question of your status. There are a great many transactions involved. The government is willing to discuss all things with you, even your status."

"You people are going to grow. The country needs more population. Of course, there will come an increased burden of education. Schools and roads must be kept."

"We are not going to propose to do anything without the consent of the council."

"Regarding compulsory enfranchisement I would like to say that the premier of today opposed it when it was put on the statute books in 1920."

Council to Approve.

"Of course, if any of you people want to become citizens you can do so, if the council approves."

"We don't want to enfranchise anyone without your consent, chiefs. We want to arrange it so that you will know who is being enfranchised."

"In respect to your lands, let me say that the government is willing to make it plain by legislation at this session that the lands will not be sold outside the reserve. We will make it doubly plain that the ownership is to remain within the control of the tribe itself."

The question of keeping the reserve intact was a vital one, Mr. Stewart declared. "I know you are proud of your traditions. I know you are proud of your forefathers. If you are to hand those traditions to your children you must continue as the Six Nations Reserve."

"I can understand your desire to preserve your reserve. If you want to part with it, you can only do so by request of your council. I will see that legislation makes that plain."

Mr. Stewart confessed that when a deputation of chiefs met him regarding the settlement of soldiers on the reserve, a few months ago, that he did not understand the provisions for such action. He did not know, he admitted frankly, that the deputy-superintendent-general was authorized to settle the returned Indian soldier on the reserve.

Proud of Indians.

"The government appreciates what the Indian soldiers have done," declared the minister. "We are just as proud of them as we are of our white brothers. I would do a very great deal for the returned man. Anything done for the soldier I would want to stand behind. When doing it, however, we must be fair to everyone."

Mr. Stewart assured the council that when the soldiers were settled on the reserve lands, they did not own the lands, when the lands were repaid. The lands were only made for improvements and stock. The Montreal 'Dips' Must Put Up Heavy Bonds or Stay in Jail.

MONTREAL, Que., May 15.—

"Ten thousand dollars cash or $15,000 real estate," represents the lowest bail that judges of the criminal courts in future will grant pickpockets.

In looking over court docket records the judges have found so many instances where pickpockets with criminal records who have been arrested, only to secure low bail which they promptly "jumped," that no chance is to be taken with the light-fingered gentry in future.

It is anticipated that adoption of this policy, together with the heavy sentences which have been meted out to those convicted of picking pockets, will quickly make Montreal unpopular with the "profession."

land remained the property of the tribe.

"If there is doubt about the matter, I will see that it will be cleared away."

"The loan does not attach itself to the land. We can make that sure by legislation."

Somewhat lengthy discussion centered round the ultimatum that was read to Indian chiefs at Brantford on April 15, when it was stated that the law would be enforced on the reserve by "force" if necessary.

Repudiates Action.

"We gave no instructions as to what should be said," explained the superintendent-general. "It is unfortunate. Force is the last thing the government of Canada would resort to. I would rather come down here 50 times or stay here, than have that."

The Six Nations chiefs were assured that there would be an accounting of their funds, so that they would know how much was available for expenditures such as schools and roads.

"We will not spend any money until the council comes to an agreement. It is better to know how the money will be spent before it is spent than to know afterwards."

In the Indian act, Mr. Stewart said, there was provision for money being taken from the capital trust fund for schools and roads, but not for any other purpose. That was why there was no allocation for relief purposes. However, Mr. Stewart declared he had instructed officials to provide relief for any needy Indians.

The council was invited to appoint an expert accountant to represent them in auditing the Indian accounts and determining the amount of money the Six Nations still owned. The government, Mr. Stewart stated, would pay their representative.

Chief David Hill and Chief Deskaheh outlined a number of complaints, which were embodied in Mr. Stewart's speech, and which he promised to deal with.

The minister stated that if any of the officials were not acting in the proper manner, he wanted to know about it, so that he could investigate the matter.

Chief Hill told of the sale of land to the T. H. and E. Railway for $17,500, and the turning over to the Indians the sum of $20. He wanted to know where the remainder had gone.

"I know that the minister is friendly," said Chief Hill to the council. "We are not dealing with an autocrat now. You have one here who believes in democracy. There is one under him, however, who does not. He has been called the autocrat of the Indians—Duncan Campbell Scott."

Chief Deskaheh asked the superintendent-general what he thought of the Haldimand treaty of 1784, which states that the Six Nations are allies of the crown.

"If you hired the two best lawyers in Canada, they would differ on it," replied the minister. "If you were self-contained you admit there would be difficulties."

"An aged lady on the reserve told me that there was no trouble on the reserve in the good old days. Let's return to the good old days," declared the minister.

During the noon hour recess the cabinet minister accepted an invitation to dine at the home of Chief Chancey Garlow, one of the most prosperous Indians on the reserve.

Before he finally was able to get away from the council meeting late in the afternoon to speed to another meeting in Brantford, the minister promised to return for the fall fair.

In Brantford Mr. Stewart met a gathering of Indians, known as the Progressives, in the Indian office.

"They petitioned him to change the system of government on the reserve."

Moses Elliott, one of their speakers, stated that the hereditary council did not represent the people. He also complained that the number of chiefs was too large. His party, he said, wanted the chiefs elected, as provided for in the Indian act.

"There is a danger of the pagan element getting the better of it," said Mr. Elliott. "It is trying to overthrow the Indian department."

All of the speakers at this meeting were in favor of working in harmony with the government and the department. They advocated better education for the rising generation so that they could take their place in the world and compete with their white brothers. In this the minister agreed.

One Indian, a former sergeant in the C. E. F. in France, stated that the present Indian council was obsolete, in fact, no further ahead than it was 100 years ago.

He admitted there were a number of fluent speakers in it, but stated that the majority of the members were ignorant, illiterate and superstitious.

"The council speaks for itself, not for the people," he said. "I consider that I am a British subject. The majority of the people want to be British subjects."

William Johnston, president of the G. W. V. A. branch on the reserve, disagreed with the sergeant, stating that the majority of the returned men were behind the chiefs in any
