THE MACHINISTS STRIKE AT DEFIANCE IRON WORKS

Four Men Obey Union
Mandate And Walk out—
Four Remain

They Want A Nine Hour day—Company Disregard
The Demands

In accordance with a mandate issued by the Machinists' Union, several of the union men employed in the machine room of the Defiance Iron Works have gone out on strike. The strike is in sympathy with the strike in Toronto and other places for a nine hour day. The men have no grievance with regard to wages. They simply ask for a nine hour day instead of the present ten hour day.

Information gained by The Planet after considerable inquiry was to the effect that there were eight union machine men employed at the Defiance Works. An organizer from Toronto ordered them out on strike until such time as a nine hour day is granted. These men at present work ten hours a day, and receive from $2.40 to $2.65 per day. They want a nine hour day at the same wages.

Four of the eight men obeyed the union mandate and went out on strike, while the remaining four disregarded it and are still at work in their places.

Manager W. S. Marshall, of the Defiance Iron Works, when interviewed this morning, said that he did not care to discuss the subject at any length, but admitted that four of the men were out on strike. The Defiance Company are disregarding the strike, as they do not intend to grant the nine hour day at the ten hour scale of wages. The men who have gone on strike have been dismissed, and other men are being secured to take their places.

LAKE SHORE ELECTRIC PARK

C. W. & L. E. Company's Resort To Be Known As
Chatham-By-The-Lake

Lake Shore Cars Will Make
Regular Trips To Ontario
Beach

Milton Bates is at present drawing up the plans for the new electric park, which the C. W. & L. E. will shortly commence to fit up on five and one-half acres by the lake shore. Once the Lake Erie extension is completed, and the lake shore cars are making regular trips, this should become quite a popular resort with Chatham people.

The portion of the lake shore occupied by the cottagers will probably be called "Ontario Beach," while the name "Chatham-by-the-Lake" has been suggested for the new electric park. The line to the lake will mean that a great number of Chathamites and possibly Wallaceburg people will summer at the coming "Ontario Beach," while the transient pleasure-seekers will spend their evenings at "Chatham-by-the-Lake."

The five and one-half acres purchased by the railway company is admirably adapted for park purposes. It is a pretty spot along the lake shore, extending from the Harwich and Raleigh Townships to the side road to the east. The new park will be brilliantly lit up with different colored incandescent lights, and band concerts, summer theatricals and other amusements will most likely form features on the nightly program.

This Messenger Raced With Death

Toronto, Aug. 1.—The death sentence to have been executed on Frank Capelle at Port Arthur this morning was postponed by reprieve until Aug. 15, granted by Judge Britton at noon yesterday. This is the first time such an order has been granted by a judge who did not try the case.

The application was made by C. A. Moss, agent for F. H. Keefe, of Port Arthur, counsel for the prisoner. Capelle was found guilty at the last Parry Sound Assizes of the murder of one Dow and was sentenced by Judge Teetzel to be hanged on Aug. 15.

A special messenger, Mr. Hugh Hoyle, was immediately dispatched to Port Arthur with the order of postponement.

The ground on which Mr. Keefe based his application was that he could produce evidence not heard at the trial when Capelle was sentenced which he claims would change the verdict of any jury from death to manslaughter.

Capelle was indicted jointly with Emile Marano. The latter was acquitted.

Mr. Keefe also claims that he can produce an eye-witness of the tragedy, who was ill at the time of the trial, whose evidence will show that the death of Dow resulted from a drunken row in which Capelle was struck on the head where he had been previously injured.

The shortness of the time between his application for reprieve and the day of sentence was due to his not having been advised of the result of his application for clemency from the Crown until July 28, the day he made application.

Capelle will be remanded back in custody until the 15th, and an application for a new trial made.

New York Policeman Branded A Coward

New York, Aug. 1.—A remarkable scene closely paralleling that memorable one in Paris, when Capt. Alfred Dreyfus was publicly degraded before the French army, was enacted in the trial-room at police headquarters yesterday.

For the first time in more than 30 years a patrolman had been adjudged guilty of cowardice. He is Stephen Walsh, who, according to the charge made against him, last week fled from an armed man who had shot and killed a woman.

The keen interest with which the unusual case was followed rose to a point of dramatic intensity when Police Commissioner Bingham, who had presided personally at the trial, announced, in a voice choked with emotion, that the charge against the unfortunate man had been proven.

The commissioner turned to Inspector Richard Walsh, in whose district Stephen Walsh was a patrolman, but who is no relative of the dismissed man, and directed the inspector to strip Walsh of his shield and uniform buttons, so that he might not leave the trial-room with the emblems of his former position as a policeman in good standing on his person.

The dismissed man stood still and offered no resistance as the shield was unpinned from his breast, but when the inspector started to detach the buttons of the uniform, Stephen Walsh stepped back and appealed to his attorney from any further humiliation being put upon him in the presence of his former comrades.

was formally directed to leave the building.

Throughout the unusual proceedings Walsh maintained his composure. As he was being escorted from the room, Commissioner Bingham, with a wave of his hand, indicated that he desired the other men in uniform to remain.

"Come up close in front, all you men in uniform," said the commissioner in a voice choked with emotion, while his eyes brimmed with tears. "I have a word to say to you all, but you must remember the proud record of thirty years before, when not one man in the many thousands failed to do his duty in the face of any danger."

Stephen Walsh was one of the two men against whom a charge of cowardice was made last week, when Frank Warner was permitted to escape after killing Esther Norling in 42nd street, Warner then shot and killed John Wilson. It was shown that Walsh had followed Warner into a building and was shot at. Walsh ran down a flight of stairs and into an office, where he locked the door and ordered two civilians not to open it. Walsh tried to attach the stigma of cowardice to fellow policeman also.

The Dominion Commission Listens To Deputations Of Kent County Fishermen

Commissioner Burnie Knows of no reason why the Close
Season Should Be Such A Long One—Objection
Raised to Restrictions On River Fishing

The Dominion Fisheries Commission, composed of Mr. John Burnie, K. C., and Mr. James Noble, of Collingwood, opened their sessions in Harrison Hall yesterday afternoon at two o'clock. Professor Prince, the third member of the Commission, is in British Columbia at present. There was quite a large attendance of fishermen and others at the session yesterday afternoon. Mr. Burnie conducted the examination, sworn evidence being taken in order to get the best available information on the claims and grievances of the fishermen and others interested. All the witnesses were given a courteous hearing, and the Commissioners were most obliging. The evidence taken was as follows:

John Bagnall, sworn, said: I have been 30 years fishing on the lake, and about 12 or 14 years on the river. Only seine nets were used on the river, about 50 to 75 yards in length. I live on lot 11, on the north side in Dover South. No licenses have been granted there in three or four years. Hook and seine nets are used in the lake. They are set from Oct. 1 till April 15, and are taken out at the latter date when the close season begins. I don't know for what reason the close season is so long. I have five nets, which are sometimes out in two strings. I catch mullet, suckers, carp, perch, cat-fish, pickerel and sturgeon. In my belief sturgeon do not always have spawn in the spring of the year. My total catch last year was between 15 and 17 tons of fish, one-eighth of which was pickerel, and about 500 pounds of sturgeon. There were also a great number of sauger. An experienced man can tell the difference between a sauger and a sturgeon, but I don't think an inexperienced man could. I never ship pickerel and sauger in the same packages. The proportion of sauger caught was about one-eighth of the 17 tons. I got from 8 to 20 cents per pound for the fish, f. o. b. here, according to the season. Carp command from 4 to 15

THE WORDS WERE PUT IN HIS MOUTH

The Banner's Interview With Alderman Potter Was Manufactured

Ambitious Young Reporter Indulges In A Rare Bit Dream

"The most of it is all rot, and made up purely out of the Banner reporter's head. I was very angry when I read it in the paper."

There are some more of the "kind words" that Ald. Potter had to hand out to the Banner this morning.

Last night the Banner came out with a wonderful article. It was headed "Kind words from Ald. Potter," in which that alderman was quoted as saying that he was pleased with the full account of the Council meeting which appeared in the Banner, when the Chairman of Property gave that paper such a severe and well-deserved calling down.

This was all right, but the verdant and would-be treacherous young individual who parades the streets in the disguise of a Banner reporter, was not content at sticking to the truth. Not he. In spite of the lessons he has had as a result of deliberately misquoting people for the sake of gaining personal ends, he proceeded to put words in the mouth of Ald. Potter and in his alleged interview made him say a lot of silly, sensational and highly colored stuff directed at The Planet, which that worthy alderman very rightly wishes contradicted.

We have no fault to find with the Banner for trying to square things with Ald. Potter. The Banner would be better thought of if it would square up more of the yellow and misconceived articles which find their way into its columns. But when they try to excuse themselves by starting a slanderous campaign against others, it is time to take exception.

In the interview yesterday it was said: "Imbued with this inherent craving for reports uncolored by prejudice or reeking with attempts to grasp any possible opportunity for mud slinging or disparaging comments, he invariably, the day following a council meeting, looks to The News for the latest of reports that he so much admires."

"The alderman further intimated that the effects of the yellow journalists of the city to make much of the matter was entirely uncalculated for. It was something for which he was not in the least responsible, nor did he approve of such tactics."

Speaking of this, this morning, Ald. Potter said:

"I said nothing of the sort, and I did not say anything which could be construed to mean anything like that. It is pure rot and wholly made up out of the Banner reporter's head."

"What I said was that I was pleased with their full report of the Council meeting. I stated distinctly that this did not refer to their editorial. As for their editorial, if it suits them I will not complain,

Departure

Capable Young Superintendant Will Be Missed By The Institution

The Public General Hospital Board met yesterday afternoon and presented Miss Kennedy, the retiring superintendent of the hospital, with an address, setting forth their appreciation of the work that this lady has accomplished in connection with the work of the hospital since the time when she first took charge.

The following was the address: To Miss Kennedy,

Superintendent of the Public General Hospital:

You have been connected with the Public General Hospital, of this city, for five years. After graduating from the institution you became its superintendent, and have discharged the duties of that office ever since. While we regret exceedingly that you are leaving us, and that we are now met together to wish you goodbye, we find sincere pleasure in testifying to the great ability and efficiency that you have displayed in the discharge of your difficult duties. You have been unremitting in your efforts to further the objects of this institution, kind and considerate of the patients under your charge, careful of the property entrusted to your care, courteous to the nurses and staff under your control, gaining thereby their esteem and affection. In cases of emergency you have always proved equal to the occasion. Possessing the qualities you do, we feel that the hospital is losing a most capable head.

We unite in thanking you for your long and faithful services, and in expressing the hope that you may be successful in all your undertakings, and happy in your new life.

FIRST NEW WHEAT

The first new wheat of the season was brought into the Canada Flour Mills by Sidney Knapp, of the Township of Chatham. Mr. Knapp brought in seven loads to-day, and he is threshing about 600 bushels. "It is splendid wheat," Mr. N. H. Stevens told a Planet reporter this afternoon. "The grain is hard and bright, and of good quality."

For I figure that my character, which is well known throughout the city, will answer any improper charges made against me by the News. I called them up specially to tell them that my remarks did not refer to their editorial. You have my full permission to state that I should not be held responsible for what was credited to me in the News, because I did not say it."

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1907

A CONSERVATIVE PICNIC.

The announcement that Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party in the Dominion Parliament, will come to West Kent during the month of September and address a meeting of the electorate in this city, should be received with pleasure and anticipation by every voter in the riding, and especially by those whose convictions are in support of Conservative principles.

The Conservative party has not in years advocated a policy which is more deserving of acceptance as the people's policy, than the one now presented to the electors of both the province of Ontario and the Dominion.

In view of this the Conservatives of Kent should put forth every effort to make the visit of their chief, one long to be remembered. It should be a red letter day in the history of this riding. With this end in view it is suggested that the time is most opportune for the holding of a big Conservative picnic to commemorate Mr. Borden's visit. Tecumseh Park offers every advantage for a successful event of this kind, and the representatives from the rural districts would no doubt be eager to take advantage of such an opportunity to enjoy a day's outing as well as listen to a discussion of the political questions of the Dominion as it will be given by Mr. Borden and those who will accompany him on his tour.

This is something for the local executive to take into their serious consideration, and if it is viewed favorably no time should be lost in making immediate preparations.

The Brantford Expositor (Liberal) in referring to Mr. Borden's proposed tour, says:

"There are many advantages to a political leader in appearing before the people and personally presenting his case.

"With the growth and development of the press as a leader of public opinion the power and prestige of the platform have declined somewhat.

"But, in the face of the great problems which are forcing themselves to the front for solution, there will be abundant scope for discussions both in the press, and on the platform.

"Great political leaders are too seldom seen on the platform in this country. The public discussion of national issues should not be confined to the halls of Parliament. The greatest speeches of the day should be delivered before the common people, who constitute a tribunal, from which there is no appeal."

BOTHWELL BOYS PINCHED

Two young men from Bothwell were gathered in at the C. P. R. depot an early hour yesterday morning by Officer Henry Darr, of the city police force.

The young men, it seems were attempting to beat their way from Bothwell to Detroit, and the conductor had telegraphed ahead for a policeman. They were both respectable-looking, well-dressed young fellows, and they appeared to have lots of money. Why they should try to beat their way is a mystery. They spent the night in the cells, but as no one appeared to lay an information against them they were

NOTES FROM ERIEAU

Erieau, August 1.—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Samson entertained at cards last night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Weir and Miss June Weir are spending a few days on the bar.

Yesterday was the Orford Civic Holiday and the township had a monster basket picnic at Government Park. The Togo took over a large party in the afternoon and another in the evening.

J. P. Wright took over a party of young ladies in his sail boat to the Orford civic picnic.

The Misses Ethel and Helen Paxton, Marguerite Ardagh, and Muriel Holm took in the picnic at Government Park yesterday.

The Misses Ruth and Doris Moore, daughters of Mr. M. Moore, are the guests of their aunt, Mrs. Roy Tobey.

Miss Georgie Massey was successful in securing two large fish yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goulett, of Blenheim, are guests of Erieau friends.

Mr. Stanley Merritt has joined his friend Ted McDonald at the O'Brien cottage.

Miss Beulah Colby is one of the bright young visitors on the bar.

The families of Mr. W. Brock and Mr. W. K. Merrifield are now comfortably settled in the Nichol cottage.

Mr. P. Miles is visiting them.

Harold Paxton, of St. Clair street, is spending his holidays at the Eau.

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE WEED NUISANCE

The weed nuisance in this city is getting more offensive to citizens every day. This morning a citizen mentioned several places that were really detrimental to the appearance of the city. The first mentioned was the vacant lot on Victoria Ave. The burdock and grass there looks worse than will be seen in the country. There are several lawns and fronts on Lorne Ave. and on Laurox Street that are badly in need of attention. Several fronts on William Street were also mentioned, and should be looked after. Superintendent Paxton should advise the citizens, whose lawns and lots have been neglected, to attend to them, and if they do not do so, the city should attend to it and charge it to the owners of the property.

Minard's Liniment cures Distemper

DETERMINED SUICIDE

Wallaceburg, Ont., July 30.—W. H. McDonald, of Port Lambton, in a fit of despondency, tried to commit suicide at Port Lambton yesterday morning by jumping off the dock. Messrs. J. Cook and Charles Davis saved the man by a pike-pole on his coming up the first time to the surface.

Mr. McDonald has been in poor health for some time and while in a despondent mood took this means of doing away with himself. He shouted to his rescuers to let him go and even tried to pull off his coat while in the water, but he was held fast by the pike-pole, and with the assistance of a boat was pulled out of the water. They took him to Algonquin to see a doctor. On his return to Port Lambton he attempted to hang himself.

About two years ago Mr. McDonald kept a general store and sold out the business to W. H. Cain. Much sympathy is extended to his family, as they are highly respected by all.

BRONCHIAL TROUBLES

Readily Yield to Soothing, Healing Treatment of Hyomei.

Bronchial troubles are purely local. They cannot be helped by stomach dosing. They are caused by irritation in the air passages and can be relieved and cured by medicated air alone. In this lies the secret of the great success of Hy-o-mei in the treatment of bronchial troubles.

The Hy-o-mei medication, laden with natural remedies, is breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, reaching every part of the bronchial tubes and killing at once the disease germs. It allays all irritation and heals the inflammation of the mucous membrane with astonishing rapidity.

Treatment with sprays, douches and steamers in bronchial troubles is condemned by the best physicians, as they cause further irritation. The first breath of Hy-o-mei's medicated air seems to soothe the inflammation, stop the cough, and thus relief soon becomes permanent and a cure results.

Hy-o-mei has made many remarkable cures in the worst and most chronic forms of bronchial troubles and is sold by C. H. Gunn & Co. with the same guarantee as they give when Hy-o-mei is purchased for catarrh, that is, to refund the money does not give satisfaction. The complete outfit costs but $1.00.

Fortune by Forgery.
Caryon City, Col., July 31.—Chas. B. Hodge, alias Benton, who pleaded guilty to forging a cheque on a bank at Florence, Col., was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten to fourteen years. Hodge had the court that he had practiced forgery for 15 years and had secured more than $750,000 during that time. He said his system was to secure introductions through persons.

HE HAD HIS DOSE.

An Incident of the Terrible Battle of Montreal.

In February, 1814, the French army made a heroic stand against the allied forces of Europe, and in one week retrieved for a short but glorious period its lost prestige.

Though composed largely of half raw recruits, it escaped from the very center of 250,000 foes, attacked an army of 70,000 men, won 4 battles and captured 68 cannon, 5 generals and 28,000 prisoners!

After the terrible fight at Montreal Major Bancel, staff surgeon to the guard, was attending the wounded as well as he could, close behind the columns still engaged. Looking up from one unfortunate man whose wounds he was dressing, he perceived within a short distance an old mounted chasseur of the guard, who was tranquilly smoking his pipe and watching the surgeon.

Bancel did not at first pay any attention to him. By and by he noticed the man again, still in the same posture, tranquilly smoking his pipe.

"What are you doing there?" cried the surgeon.

"Smoking," answered the man. "Does the major forbid me to smoke?"

"What?" returned the officer. "Aren't you ashamed to be loitering around here while your comrades are covering themselves with glory?"

The chasseur blew out a cloud of smoke and, driving his right spur into his steed, made him execute a half turn. Then he said, taking his pipe out of his mouth:

"Look, major. Don't you think I have got my dose as it is? Can I do anything more?"

The major looked. The chasseur's leg was shot off half way between the knee and the ankle, so that his left foot was hanging and dangling against his horse. The veteran's question required no answer. But it may be surmised what care and attention the surgeon lavished on the imperturbable chasseur.

LINCOLN'S GROCERY.

Result of One Partner's Hunger and the Other Partner's Thirst.

A giant in stature, he was as awkward as he was strong. His rustic appearance was enhanced by an ill fitting suit of homespun. Thus at the head of the ox team he made his debut in the outer world, without means, without education, without influence. This may seem a sorry beginning, but let it be remembered that if on that day he had graduated from Harvard in a fashionable coat the gates of history would probably have been closed against him.

Mr. Lincoln's first business venture resulted in downright failure. He formed a partnership with one Berry, under the firm name of Berry & Lincoln, to carry on a grocery, for the purchase price of which the firm note was given.

Berry was a jolly, irresponsible soul, who was born thirsty and who gave his undivided attention to that part of the stock known as "wet groceries."

Mr. Lincoln, on the other hand, having a keen appetite, devoted himself to the crackers and cheese, smoked herrings and other edibles at the dry end of the shop. This happy adjustment rivaled the familiar case of Jack Sprat and his congenial spouse, but the meager stock could not long withstand the inroads of hunger at the one end and thirst at the other, and a crisis came which required the sale of the remnant of stock. The purchaser defaulted, and Mr. Lincoln was left to pay all the liabilities—a task which plagued him for several years. Thereby he had impressed upon him a legal proposition that a partner is liable in solido.

It is related that Mr. Lincoln bought a barrel of a customer, in the bottom of which, among other rubbish, was found a copy of "Blackstone's Commentaries." This was a great find for the law student, but as the book thereafter engrossed his attention the grocery business collapsed. Thus ended the first lesson—J. V. Quarles in Putnam's.

Humor and Philosophy

A MODEL CIRCUS.

I wish I owned a circus. With elephants and bears and lions and a lot of things. At which the small boy stares. The man whose job it was to watch. Would far away be sent. So any one without the price. Could crawl beneath the tent.

The cages should be open wide. When in the grand parade. The big procession moved along. While all the music played. And every boy who wanted to. Could hear the lion roar. And take upon the elephant. A ride or maybe more.

If any fellow came along. With twenty kids, I'd say: "Come in. One ticket for the bunch. Is all you have to pay. And if he left a few at home. I'd say: 'Why, that's a shame. Go back and bring the others down. The price is all the same.'"

The way they run the circus now. Don't suit me, I must say. It all appears to be a scheme. To take your cash away. You bet I'd run my circus so. The boys who couldn't pay. And didn't have a single cent. Could get in anyway.

Difficulty Solved. "What is puzzling the artist?"

"He is trying to paint a picture that will represent silence, and he can't figure just how."

"Pshaw, that's easy! Let him put in the foreground a picture of a telephone graph labeled 'Out of repair.'"

The Japanese Scare. From time to time we may expect to have orators mount the platform in the next few years and tell us that the Japs will get us if we don't watch out.

It is getting to be a popular fad to have a vision of the Japanese army bearing down on the Pacific coast, swimming ashore and marching east over the Rocky mountains to eat their Christmas dinner in the turkey belt of the Mississippi valley.

It may be that the enterprising little yellow men have some ideas of that sort. It is said that they know the plans of all our forts and how many pounds of embalmed beef are in the larder, but even with all of that knowledge the task might be a difficult one.

We would like to ask those persons who are allowing themselves to be scared out of a year's growth just what we would be doing meantime and sitting mumble-de-peg, we trust.

Quite an Improvement. "He was born of rich but honest parents."

"That is a new kind, isn't it?" "Oh, I don't know. That is the kind all the wise children are selecting these days."

Quick Results. "What is the best way to make a man repent of his evil deeds?"

"And try for a square deal!" "Yes."

"Put a good detective on his track."

Recognized Them. "See those two men? They are partners in crime."

"Looked to me like a song and dance team from the moment I set eyes on them."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Trouble sometimes comes C. O. D., and you pay and open the package before you know what you are up against.

Lots of men can make money, but money somehow can't make men.

The man who kicks just for the fun of kicking oftentimes gets kicked just to make fun for the kickers.

No creed is a good creed until you meet a fanatic.

The best way to do a thing is the one you know.

A money making scheme is more concerned with success than with respectability, for if it finds the means for the one it will know the way to the other.

The marriage of the ultra fashionable approximates more nearly to ragtime than to classical music.

Exchange in Neckties. A South Penn square business man has evolved a plan of how to dodge wife, but there is merit attaching to it in this case. His wife insists on buying his neckties and dotes on lavender and red or green spots or a pale shimmering Nile green shot with purple. Rather than cause her anguish by seeming to decry her taste in cravats, her husband most deceitfully starts for the office every morning wearing a tie of her selection. Once in the office, however, the traitor quickly exchanges the offending necktie for something quieter which he keeps under careful lock and key in his own private desk. It would be interesting to find out his wife's sensations should she pay him a visit some day in office hours or should he forget to make the exchange again before his trip home.

Hats With Tempers. There are hats with tempers, as every woman is aware—the hats that "go on" beautifully one day (for preference in the hat shop five minutes before they are bought) and which in the next refuse to assume the right pose and poise for love or money. There are few conditions more trying than to fall under the ban of a hat's displeasure. The only thing to be done is to put it away for a week or so, and wait till it has recovered from its temper, like a naughty child. One can argue with a hat and smacking is not to be recommended.—London Queen.

He Understood. A late judge whose personal appearance was as unprepossessing as his legal knowledge was profound and his intelligence keen interrupted a female witness:

"Humbly, you, my good woman! What do you mean by that?" said he sternly.

"Well, my lord," replied the woman, "I don't know how to explain it exactly, but if a girl called your lordship a handsome man she would be humbugging you."—London Tit-Bits.

Willing to Risk It. Mr. Winks (solemnly)—A noted physician says that deadly bacteria lurk in bank notes, and many diseases, especially smallpox, are spread that way. Mrs. Winks—Mercy on us! Give me all you have. I've been vaccinated, you know.

It is necessary to hope, though hope should be always deluded, for hope itself is happiness, and its frustrations, however frequent, are yet less dreadful than its extinction.—Dr. Johnson.

At a wedding the best man can't always prove it.

The Knock-out Blow. The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for five cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

HEAVING COALS OF FIRE.

An Instance in Which the Biblical Injunction Didn't Work Well.

Mrs. Fanny Crosby, the famous author of "Rescue the Perishing" and hundreds of other hymns, is still, though 37 years of age, in first rate health.

"Not long ago," said a clergyman, "I visited Mrs. Crosby and found her exceedingly entertaining. I shan't soon forget some of the youthful memories that she recounted."

"Our talk turned to the subject of children's quaint misunderstanding of Biblical metaphors and parables, and Mrs. Crosby told an amusing story."

"She said that a little boy came home one day from school in a very bad humor. Another boy, Jack Jones, had given him a thrashing and he wanted revenge."

"Oh," said his mother, "don't think of revenge, Willie. Be kind to Jack. Heap coals of fire on his head. Then he will become your friend."

"Willie thought he would try this method. He did not see Jack Jones all the next day, no recess. Just as he was buying a lemon pie for lunch Jack appeared and said:

"Look here, I licked you yesterday. I didn't give you enough. Now I'm going to lick you again."

"And he planted a blow on Willie's little stomach."

"Willie gaped and grunted, but instead of striking back he extended his pie to Jones."

"Here," he said in a kindly voice, "I'll give you this. I make you a present of it."

"Jack Jones in glad amazement fell upon the pie greedily and it had soon disappeared."

"Gosh, it was good," he said. 'What did you give it to me for?'"

"Because you struck me," said the heaper of coals.

Instantly Jones struck him again. "Now go and get another pie," he said.

CUT OF RHINOCEROS' HORN.

Keeper Found a Way to Get Animal Used to It.

There is an old story about a man who had his arm amputated and began by cutting off his fingers and then his hand in order to get used to it before undertaking the larger job.

It does not sound historically accurate and may have grown up from a tale narrated by Richard Bell about a rhinoceros which was "broken in" to having its horn sawed off. This animal, which lived in the London Zoo, was troubled by its horn, which grew down in front of its mouth, so that only with difficulty could it eat or drink. To save its life the keeper decided on amputation.

The horn of the rhinoceros is not a horn at all, but an accumulation of hair and skin which has hardened and become cemented together by some gummy substance. The owner of this one had a very touchy temper and was not easily approached. He kept, however, decided to try what he could do.

For some days it required all his skill to persuade the beast to come to the front of the cage and put its horn through. Then for some days he stroked the horn—much to the animal's disgust—first although later it seemed to like it. When he found he meant no harm it let him take the horn in his left hand and then with the right imitate the motion of a saw across it.

When this had been done some time and the rhinoceros no longer held it a piece of wood was held in the right hand and at last when even this no longer worried the animal, a real saw was brought in and the horn cut off—without the slightest remonstrance from the owner of it.

The French-Canadian. The Montreal Witness gives this picture of French-Canadian life and character, so little understood in many parts of Ontario:

"We who know him in town have a high opinion of his social character, and those who know him in the country admire his sterling, joyous and free-franched nature. One feature of the working-class French-Canadian character in the city is a love of rural life. On the slopes of the mountain and in all parts of the island one finds the French-Canadian and his family luxuriating among scenes of natural grandeur and beauty; operated upon by the purest and most elevating of external influences; simple, joyous, contented, devoted to one another. Perhaps that, after all, is the greatest charm and the chief asset of the French-Canadian—the calm and settled security of family life; deep and touching attachment for each other that buttresses the moral character and homebred virtues. Indeed what 'Washington Irving said of the best English peasant many years ago may well be applied to them to-day. It is a pleasant sight on a Sunday morning, when the bell is sending its sober melody across the quiet fields, to behold the peasantry in their best finery, with ruddy faces and modest cheerfulness, thronging tranquilly along the green lanes to church; but it is still more pleasant to see them in the evenings, gathering about their cottage doors, and appearing to exult in the humble comforts and embellishments which their own hands have spread around them."

Milk as a Food. Milk is in itself a perfect food—that is, it contains all the elements necessary to sustain life and to build up and repair the bodily tissues. As it is a food, it should not be considered as a beverage, to be used as such in addition to solid foods. When so used it adds to the tax made upon the digestive organs. Many persons who they "cannot take milk" because they drink it at meals as if it were water would find that no disagreeable effect would follow when used in place of food and not as a food accompaniment.—Pearson's Weekly.

FEAR OF GHOSTS.

Harmless Visitors From Whom We All Shrink In Terror.

Deep down in the heart of man there abides a firm belief in the power of the dead to walk upon the earth and afflict, if such be their pleasure, the souls of the living. Wise folks, versed in the sciences and fortified in mind against faith in aught that savors of the supernatural, laugh ideas of the kind to scorn, yet hardly one of them will dare to walk alone through a graveyard in the night, or if one be found so bold he will surely hasten his footsteps, unable wholly to subdue the fear of sheeted specters which may rise from the grass grown graves or emerge from moonlit tombs and follow on, for, strangely enough, the dead, if not actually hostile to the living, are esteemed dangerous and dreadful to encounter.

It used to be the fashion, says a writer in Lippincott's Magazine, to sweep away all such notions by saying that they had their origin in the childhood of the race and that they sprang from fear of the unknown. This unquestionably was the easiest way to dispose of them, but was it fair? The subject possesses intense interest for a great majority of mankind, and though the existence of ghosts is unproved, the subject is undeniably a vast deal of testimony in their behalf that deserves serious and respectful consideration. Fortunately, within the last few years the attitude of science toward the problem has altogether changed, and, actuated by a new spirit of inquiry, the wise men have been engaged, thoughtfully and without prejudice, in studying it out.

While it cannot be said that any final and definite conclusions have as yet been reached, an immense amount of evidence has been sifted, enough to show pretty conclusively for one point that the traditional specter of the Cock Lane school, with clanking chain and attributes disagreeably suggestive of the grave, has no basis in fact. On the other hand, there are certain phenomena, altogether different in their character, in whose behalf a mass of testimony is adduced far greater than would be required to establish complete proof in any ordinary case in a court of law. Nothing short of absolute demonstration in such a matter can be satisfactory, but the evidence in question certainly staggers incredulity.

Our fear of phantoms appears to spring from a dread of the unknown, the mysterious and the intangible. That it is a groundless terror is proved by the fact that in many thousands of cases of alleged spectral appearances subjected during the last few years to painstaking investigation not a single instance has been found in which an injury was inflicted by the ghost upon the person or persons to whom it presented itself. So that, even if we are to accept apparitions as veritable, we ought to regard them with curiosity rather than with apprehension, and instead of trying to avoid such supernatural visitors we should eagerly seek an opportunity to be haunted for the sake of observing for ourselves phenomena so intensely interesting.

No Ballast Needed. A dear old lady, on reading that several acrobats weighing five hundred weight each had fallen in the Ghazipur district of India, remarked that these ballonists appeared to be astonishingly heavy people.

At the end of some generations races perish or degenerate in towns. It is necessary to renew them, and it is always the country which furnishes this renewal.—Rousseau.

THE STRAWBERRY.

It Was First Cultivated by a Blind King of Hungary.

Where Eperies, the picturesque Hungarian town, is now surrounded by beautiful gardens and fruited fields there was at the time of King Bela II. nothing but thick wilderness. Once this blind and unhappy sovereign was traveling in his realm. It was a hot, sultry summer day, and while searching for a shady spot in which to rest he became lost. Dead tired in consequence of his long wandering, he asked his attendants for a drink of water. They seated him on the soft, green grass in the cool shade of big old trees, and then the cavaliers separated to hunt for a refreshing spring.

Meanwhile the king wanted to find out more about his resting place and began to grope about him with his hands. Thus he discovered strawberries growing all about him, says the New York Herald. He ate them; he partly quenched his thirst; he waited quietly for his gentlemen. After a short time they returned, some with empty cups, some with pearly spring water.

The king then said to his attendants: "Have the trees cut down around this place where my hands found these refreshing strawberries. Here shall rise a town whose name shall be Eperies (strawberry) in remembrance of this day for all time."

As the king commanded so it was. The wilderness was cleared, and in its place is a town whose arms carry the strawberry even today.

His Idea of Scoring. At a country cricket match in Lancashire a local farmer's boy was appointed scorer, his duties being carefully explained to him. The first inning was not very productive of runs and soon came to an end, and every one made a rush for the score. Judge of their surprise, however, when they found that not a single mark had been made in the carefully ruled book that had been provided.

When reproached in somewhat strong terms the boy was not in the least disconcerted, but with the most ingenious air in the world said: "I was so interested in the sport that I quite forgot to mark the crosses. But it doesn't matter—that wee liddle wi' the red face is the smartest runner among ye."—London Tit-Bits.

MILK IS PURIFIED

Last evening in an interview with Dr. Geo. T. McKeough, The Planet was given information regarding the new purifiers that have been installed in C. E. Lister's creamery.

"I had heard of milk purifiers," said he, "and as Mr. Lister had installed one, I went and saw it acting, and was much surprised to learn that milk directly from the cow contains so much impurity, as was indicated by the purifiers after the milk had passed through. All the dirt, etc., is separated from the milk. Milk that looks perfectly pure and good before passing through the purifiers contains a surprisingly large amount of impurities. This process is a most interesting one and acts very much as an analogous to a sedimentation basin. It removes all the dirt and impurities, but not the bacteria, although the activeness of the bacteria is greatly checked. Mr. Lister should be commended for his enterprise in having installed this purifier, as it is of great advantage to the citizens of Chatham in giving them a pure sample of milk."

In further conversation he spoke of Mr. Lister's creamery, stating that it was the most up-to-date little creamery in Ontario. The purifiers are a great aid to the people of Chatham in the way of providing them with pure milk. It does not take any of the nutrients from the milk, but acts directly upon the separation of all dirt, etc., from the milk.

NATIONAL EXHIBITION AT TORONTO

Great efforts are being put forth by the Executive of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, this year to attract an exceptionally large number of visitors. Although last year that number reached the magnificent total of three-quarters of a million. The expenditure this year will reach, including building expenses, $400,000; premiums $50,000; special attractions $50,000, running expenses $75,000, close upon $600,000, a sum which far exceeds the expenditure ever made in one year by any annual exhibition on this or any other continent. Both in exhibits and in entertainment the Toronto Exhibition, to be held from August 26th to September 9th, promises to exceed in value and attractiveness anything that has ever been attempted in Canada before. A number of the highest class attractions have been secured, and something like $10,000 is to be spent upon a spectacular production of the "Siege of Badajoz," with fireworks and an army of men. Some idea of the magnitude of the Toronto Exhibition can be gathered when it is stated that $16,000 is given in prizes for horses, $10,000 for cattle, $7,000 for dogs, $3,500 for sheep, $3,500 for swine, and a similar amount for poultry and pet stock. Handsome premiums are also given for ladies' and children's work, and in other departments, the whole, as has been said, making a magnificent total of $50,000. Entries for all these classes close with the Manager at the City Hall offices, Toronto, on Saturday next.

DISTRICT

BLENHEIM

Blenheim, August 1st.—Miss Eunice Fellows, of the Lighthouse, was in Blenheim on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. McGregor is feeling quite indisposed this week.

Miss Neile Fraser, of Blenheim, was a Guilds visitor over Sunday.

Miss Maud Groves is the guest of Mrs. L. H. Edmonds at present.

Mr. H. L. Merritt, of Stratford, was renewing old acquaintances in town last week for a few days.

Miss Jean Newcombe has returned to Windsor after having a pleasant visit with Mrs. J. Mercer Denholm.

Dr. J. A. Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, of Wheatly, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Blenheim.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Samson have gone out to their cottage at Erieau, "Drumtochty Lodge," for the remainder of the season. Mrs. Ira Burke and daughter Alice are staying with them at present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Brien, of the Sheldon House, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding day last Sunday, July 28th, in honor of which they entertained at dinner Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Brien and a number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Brien and a number of friends in town all wish them many happy returns of the day.

Miss Beatrice Cameron, sister of Mrs. Neil Campbell, with whom she resides, had the misfortune to fall downstairs yesterday morning and dislocate her arm.

Mr. W. T. R. Smith, of the staff of the Bank of Commerce, Blenheim, left last night for St. Catharines, where he will assume a position on the staff of the same bank in that city. Mr. Smith will be missed by his many friends in Blenheim, and all wish him well.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon, July 31st, at the home of Major C. D. and Mrs. Rowe, Centre Ridge, Harwich, when their daughter Stella J. was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Saddington, the enterprising young general merchant of Mull. Owing to the recent bereavement in Mr. Rowe's family the wedding was very quiet, only the immediate families of the contracting parties being present.

Miss Grace Saddington, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was ably supported by Mr. C. Stanley Rowe, brother of the bride.

At 4 o'clock the strains of the wedding March, played by Miss Maud Gales, of the choir of the bride, sounded from the organ, and the groom and his best man took their places under a beautiful arch of maple leaves, ferns and sweet peas. They were followed by the bridesmaid, who took her position. After an interval came the bride, escorted by her father, who placed at the left hand of the groom. The ceremony was then proceeded with the Rev. J. McQuinn officiating, after which the guests all adjourned to the dining-room, where a tempting "dejeuner" was partaken of. The table was very prettily decorated with ferns and sweet peas, and was very efficiently and pleasantly waited on by Miss Jennie Rowe, assisted by the Misses Cora and Hilda Saddington.

WHEN LONG BREATHES HURT.

You know that troubles exist which need quick attention. Proper action consists in a vigorous rubbing of the chest and side with Neroline, which sinks into the tissues where the pain is seated, and gives relief in a few minutes. No liniment so clean, so strong, so powerful. Results guaranteed with every 25c. bottle of Polson's Neroline. Get it to-day.

HOW DO YOU JUDGE A PIANO?

Musically inclined people naturally judge a piano by its tone—and that's why "Nordheimer" Pianos are found in the homes of so many musicians of note.

If you have an ear for tonality the remarkable beauty, sweetness, purity and volume, soothed "Nordheimer" will appeal to you.

We could explain at length the various mechanical contrivances which are incorporated in the "Nordheimer" piano to produce its unrivaled tone, but they would be understood by a mechanic only.

We much prefer you to judge this piano from what your own ear tells you about its tone—then you are sure to be satisfied.

Pleased to have you call at your earliest convenience and examine the "Nordheimer." The One Price System assures you a fair and square deal.

Our Mr. R. V. Carter will visit Chatham frequently in our interest and will be pleased to furnish you with any information you may desire. Correspondence addressed to him in care of the Gamble House will receive careful attention.

DOWN PANAMA WAY.

By
Louise J.
Strong.

Copyright, 1907, by P. C. Eastment.

Retta in the rose arbor was reaching for a bud above her head when her cousins, Charlie and Alf, came out the side door and stood drawing on their gloves.

"Don't get reckless, old man," Charlie counseled as if continuing a conversation. "Retta means all right. She's a little flighty; that's all."

"That's what I used to think," Alf returned gloomily, "but I'm convinced now that she really shrinks from a marriage with me. I suppose she doesn't love me as she thought she did when we became engaged."

Charlie shook his head. "Oh, no, Alf, you're mistaken. She's wrapped up in you."

"Looks like it," Alf laughed sarcastically. "This is the third time she's backed out, declaring she was not ready when the day loomed close. I haven't wanted to hurry her. I know a girl gives up a good deal when she marries. But a fellow with nobody and never a home to remember naturally thinks considerably of having a home of his own, especially with a little wife that's just."

He broke off for an instant, then went on: "I'm able to provide for her in the style she is accustomed to or I would not have asked her to marry me. And if we are ever to be married there's no use in waiting longer. If she's found that she cares for me."

"None of that, Alf!" Charlie interrupted. "Retta flirts a little, but that's all. Have you told her how seriously you regard the postponement?"

"No, and I'm not going to either," Alf declared sulkily.

"Some one should," she—"Some one should and shan't!" Alf said fiercely. "No girl is going to be coerced into marrying me. I suppose if I howled around and raised a great racket she would give in, but we'll be married until she's perfectly willing without outside pressure. I'll get out of the way for awhile and let her have a chance to find herself; won't even write to her. I've influenced her too much, maybe."

Charlie still shook his head, but offered no further remonstrance, merely asking, "In what direction are you going to perambulate and when?"

"Oh, down Panama way and as soon as I can fix my business to leave it, and that won't take many days."

Charlie whistled. "Not going in for an engineering job in that sickly hole, I hope."

"I may find a job when I get there, but I'm going foot loose. I've always been interested in the big ditch scheme. It'll be a diversion to examine it at close range."

"And Retta?" Charlie began.

"I'll tell Retta and leave her free to find herself, as I said. And I don't want any one to interfere to say one word to influence."

They passed around the corner of the house on the way to the gate, and Retta sank limply upon a bench. She had been too startled to move at first and then perceived the impossibility of revealing her presence. It was eavesdropping, but she was not thinking of that or of the errand to Aunt Anna that had brought her across lots through the rose arbor. The "finding" of herself had come with a suddenness that shook her breathless as she listened. She had not realized before how much her happiness depended upon Alf and Alf's faithful love or how very dearly she loved him.

"Poor fellow!" she sighed tenderly, wiping away eyes. "Poor fellow! I've been with him I knew he never had a home and how he is looking forward to one of his own! He's such a home body, and I've been cheating him—keeping him in lodgings when he hates it so—and when I want—yes, I do—only I'm such a flyaway! I do want to make the dear boy a home. And he's going off to—to—Where is Panama way? A sickly hole, Charlie called it. Oh, he mustn't! He mustn't!"

She fled home, into the library, and began a search for information concerning Panama way, a search that was somewhat hindered by her linking the two words. But by the aid of the encyclopedia, the physical geography and magazine articles she soon acquired more knowledge of the country than her erstwhile boarding school teacher would have deemed possible. For Retta's strong point was not learning. She was just a sweet little girl, womanly and tender, with a careless shrinking from responsibility, engendered by her entire freedom from such. But now her heart was aroused, and she was aghast with horror at the idea of Alf, her own Alf, going down Panama way to endure all sorts of torments and dangers and finally die of the dreadful fever! He should not! He should not! She would prevent it somehow, and it must be done at once, for he would be making arrangements to leave his business, even this minute, perhaps!

She rushed away to consult her mother, but that good lady, being deeply engrossed in some charitable function, was out indefinitely, and Retta, feeling no time could be wasted, determined to act for herself. Perhaps if she had had the advice of an older head she would have been less precipitate and irrevocable in her actions.

"I'm moving a clean swath, burning my ships behind me," she commented confidently, in the middle of a tempestuously busy afternoon in which she did some very unconventional things.

"I suppose it does look curious to them; I suppose the bride to be's mother is usually to the fore and the b. to b. hangs back in blushing confusion, but I can't wait on mamma when Alf's getting ready this very minute for Panama way. I've got to fix it so there's no getting out of it and leave me a rag of—and I don't care much if they do stare—and I guess I'm sure of dear old Alf!"

Yet she was a bit anxious as she waited in a convenient spot for way-laying him as he left his office. If Alf were bent and determined on Panama way, she would be in a pretty predicament! She whirled around the corner, apparently oblivious of him until she almost collided with him. Then her heart sank at his grave and formal apology. He had been more deeply hurt and offended than he had shown the evening before when she had insisted on a further postponement, but she must—she caught her breath as he said coldly:

"I am glad to meet you. It will save my coming up this evening to tell you."

"And I'm glad to meet you," she broke in, laughing nervously. "I want to tell you that I've—I've changed my mind, Alf."

"Changed your mind?" he repeated blankly.

"Yes, about—about—it was harder than she had imagined with his cold, unresponsive eyes upon her; what if he should—she quaked, but plucked on—about our wedding—and we won't postpone it, after all."

He flushed angrily as he replied. "You were not asked to change your mind—nor the arrangements you made last evening."

"You mean that you don't want to—that you won't now," she cried, with wide eyes.

"I mean that you are not to be compelled, influenced. When did you see Charlie?" And between his teeth he muttered savagely, "Just wait till I see him!"

"I haven't seen Charlie to speak to since yesterday morning!" she declared, and burst into a bewildering torrent of explanation and tears. "Oh, if you won't, Alf, if you've changed your mind and don't want me now, when I've found out how much I want you—I won't—I'll have to run away! For, oh, Alf, I went alone and bought the dress—and took it to madame's and was measured—and I've ordered all the invitations—and engaged the caterer—and the flowers, all—just as we planned—because I wanted to show you how much I care." Sobs that she struggled to repress choked her.

"And you haven't seen Charlie—no one has influenced you?" he demanded incredulously.

"I—no one has said a word to me about it! I—I found out how much I really cared, and I couldn't get ready fast enough, though mamma was away, and I had to do it alone," she panted impetuously.

He melted entirely. "You dear little whirlwind! You have smashed the proprieties!" he breathed softly and proudly. "I wish"—he glanced about furtively; no, it was too public! "Anyway we can have an hour at the store selecting our furniture."

And, tucking her hand under his arm, they wandered away down the "primrose path," the journey down Panama way entirely and forever forgotten.

Strength in Vegetable Growth.

"Strength is not a thing usually attributed to maidenhair fern," remarked a local florist, "and yet if its roots have not sufficient room they will break the strongest flowerpots. Blades of grass will force the curbstones between which they spring out of place. Indeed, the strength of vegetable growth is wonderful. The most striking example is the island of Aldabra, to the northwest of Madagascar. The island is becoming smaller and smaller through the action of the mangroves growing at the foot of the cliffs. The roots break off immense pieces of stone, which fall into the sea. Into the gaps thus formed the waves eat their way. In a few years it is likely that by the combined action of the waters and mangroves the island will disappear."—Philadelphia Record.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Used House for Fortress.

Athens, July 31.—There has been a pitched battle between Turkish troops, supported by Bashi-Bazouks, and a small band of Greek insurgents, who had entrenched themselves in a house in the outskirts of Sares, European Turkey (50 miles northeast of Saloniki). The band was completely wiped out, but 30 men were killed before the soldiers, aided by artillery, succeeded in capturing the miniature fortress.

During the fighting the Bashi-Bazouks pillaged over a hundred houses and burned a number of Greek buildings in Sares.

T. & N. O. Report.

Toronto, July 31.—The May report of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission was issued yesterday by Provincial Treasurer Matheson. The report shows:

Receipts, $77,041; disbursements, $51,496; profits, $25,545. The expenses include $3,312 paid for insurance.

Passenger traffic brought in $40,027 and freight traffic $30,842. The number of miles in operation was 138.9, as against 112 miles a year ago.

Taft for President.

Columbus, Ohio, July 31.—At the meeting of the State Republican Central Committee yesterday a resolution was adopted endorsing Secretary Taft for the Presidency by a vote of 15 to 6. An amendment, proposed by the friends of Taft and opposed by Foraker men, was adopted by a vote of 11 to 10, saying in effect that there is no intention to eliminate Senators Foraker or Dick from politics in Ohio.

Commission's Busy Year.

Ottawa, July 31.—The Secretary of the Railway Commission says that the annual report is almost ready for publication.

During the last twelve months the Commission considered 1,200 applications for certificates of public utility, the previous twelve months, an increase of 200 per cent.

Insane Man on Train.

New York, July 31.—Frederick Ford of Philadelphia became insane in a train after leaving Albany yesterday, and made several efforts to kill his two-year-old daughter by throwing her from a window of the train. He was restrained by other passengers. Ford also tried to leap from the train.

Boy Drowned.

Kingston, July 31.—An immigrant youth of 18 was riding horses across a long bar from Big Island to Amherst Island, when the horse was carried off its feet by a wave and the boy drowned.

Elections in Philippines.

Manila, July 31.—The independence factions that united in the campaign under the name of the Nationalists, appear to have won the general election held throughout the islands yesterday.

Woman Drowns in Creek.

Uxbridge, July 31.—Mrs. Wilkin, probably 75 years of age, was found drowned yesterday morning with her head and shoulders in a small creek that empties into the electric light pond.

A Titled "Drummer."

Detroit, July 31.—Lord Sholto Douglas, son of the Marquis of Queensberry, has taken a job as drummer for a local jewelry house.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

THERE FOR HIM.

Observe the careless green goods man. He doesn't have to worry. Or when he goes out after coin Undignifiedly hurry. For you can put this in your pipe—The sucker crop is always ripe.

He knows he will have time enough To dawdle at his dinner. That he can loaf most all the time And still come out a winner. That men with coin will live in wait To hand him money on a plate.

He doesn't have to turn his hand Or bend his back in labor. He only has to exercise His sharp and trusty Faber, Inviting them to bring it in. Then hold his sack to catch the tin.

That's why he wears a holy calm About his placid features. He knows full well the weakness of His simple fellow creatures. And, knowing how to turn the trick, He doesn't have to carry brick.

Her Feelings Hurt.

See the poor actress. She is very sad. What is the cause of her woe? Has her salary been cut from $10,000 a week?

No; she is still getting that trifling sum, at least on the billboards. Has some millionaire who once loved her ceased to do so?

No; she still has four of them on the string.

Is she in danger of losing her complexion?

Hardly; it is nailed on.

Are any of her grandchildren sick?

No; they were all well at last account.

Then why does she weep?

She has cause enough. A horrid newspaper man has threatened to print her picture in the paper.

And she is afraid he will do it?

No; she is afraid he won't.

Soft Snaps.

What do you do for a living?" "Just draw my salary."

"You don't look as if you ever drew it very far."

Similarity.

The flamingo is mostly neck; It twirls and turns a hundred ways. Reminding us how like we are To flamingoes on rainy days.

—Buffalo Evening News.

The stork is mostly legs. And therefore we'll agree That this odd bird is like A musical come-dee.

—Kansas City Times.

The peacock's mostly made Of feathers and of pride. To many women these Remarks may be applied.

—Chicago Record Herald.

The pelican is mostly bill. As we have read, by gum! And, darling, you will have to own That's like the coal man some.

—Buffalo Evening News.

Wouldn't Go Hungry For Principle. "I thought you didn't believe in tipping the waiter."

"I don't."

"But you just gave him a coin."

"Sure. I don't believe in going hungry either."

No Wonder.

"Jones has such a prosperous air in the past few weeks."

"Yes. His wife is working now."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

If you need more money than you have, try cutting out some of your needs.

No matter how fast you get on in the world, you can't do even handed justice to more than three good meals a day.

The girl is mighty shy on charms who cannot look beautiful in the moonlight.

A happy pessimist is one of the sad sights of a gloomy day.

Your sympathy isn't really so valuable that your friends ought to stop the universe while they give you a testimonial for it.

It takes a lot of nerve to stand upon your rights when they aren't used to being stood upon.

There are lots of people who would like to have a good time if they knew how.

The biggest joke that some men ever played they played when they got married.

The fellow whose grouch is different from yours always talks like an idiot.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—United States Markets Are About Steady.

LONDON. July 30.—London cables are steady at 12c to 13c per lb. dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 14c to 15c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, July 30.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways, since last Friday were 54 carloads, composed of 733 cattle, 445 hogs, 612 sheep and lambs and 227 calves.

Exporters. There was little doing in export cattle, no good to choice loads being on sale. One load of 120-lb. cattle was reported by Crawford & Hume as being sold at $4.50. Thomas Cantlin sold one choice quality bull, 220 lbs., for $4.50. J. McMillen sold one choice quality steer, 220 lbs., for $4.50. Light feeders of good quality, 300 to 500 lbs. each, $3.50 to $4.50 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers. There is little doing in feeders and stockers, a few of good quality, but buyers seem to be generally too busy at the present time to pay any attention to the cattle market. Common stockers were quoted at $2.50 to $3.50 per cwt. Light feeders of good quality, 300 to 500 lbs. each, $3.50 to $4.50 per cwt.

Veal Calves. Prices were about steady for veal calves, selling all the way from $3 to $3.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs. Export ewes sold at $4.50 per cwt.; butcher sheep of choice quality, many of which were yearlings, sold at $3.50 per cwt.; lambs sold at $3.50 to $4.50 per cwt. or 10c to 75c per lb.

Hogs. The run of hogs was light. Mr. Harris quotes prices steady at $3.50 for select, and $3.00 for lights and fats.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, July 30.—Cattle—Receipts, 20 head; steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 50 head; slow and steady; $5 to $6 higher; good to prime heavy, $5.50 to $6.50; medium to good heavy, $5.00 to $5.50; light to medium, $4.50 to $5.00; packing, $4.00 to $4.50; selected, $3.50 to $4.00; bulk of sales, $3.00 to $3.50.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 600 head; active and steady; unchanged.

New York Live Stock. NEW YORK, July 30.—Steers—Receipts, 100; no trading. Feeder steers, weak for bulls and cows. Dressed beef sold at 10c to 11c. Exporters to-day, none. No more than 200 calves, 200 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 200; steady; butchers and exporters weak; $3 to $3.50; calves at $3.50 to $4.50; no sales of butchers or exporters; city-dressed veal, $3.50 to $4.50 per pound; country-dressed at $4 to $5.

Britain and Russia.

LONDON, July 31.—It is announced that the negotiations between Great Britain and Russia have resulted in an agreement amicably adjusting all outstanding differences on the Indian frontier and in Persia.

Both powers have consented to the delimitation of their spheres of interest in those regions.

Dropped to His Death. Toronto, July 31.—Wellington Grant, 38 years, employed by Hane & Miller on the waterworks tunnel at Allan's Point, is dead, as the result of a 20-foot fall from a trestle at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He died at noon of a fractured skull. He came to the city from Prince Edward Island a year ago.

Home Government Taking Steps to Apply Check. Ottawa, July 31.—The Japanese Government has under consideration the further limitation of Japanese emigration, and as a means to this end, which is in pursuance of its own national policy, welcomes the proposed limitation of immigration of Japanese into this country.

The present arrangement is that not more than one passport per month will be issued for each of the 40 districts of Japan to those wishing to emigrate to Canada. This number has not been reached.

However, the difficulty in the anticipated large immigration to Canada from Honolulu, includes Japs who are United States citizens and over whom Japan has now no control. An arrangement will thus have to be come to with the United States Government.

Off for South Pole. London, July 31.—The English south polar expedition sailed yesterday for King Edward VII. Land, where the party of twelve will spend the winter.

The equipment includes a motor-car provided with different sets of runners for travel over surfaces of varying softness, twelve Siberian ponies and 24 dogs. Several scientists, with elaborate apparatus, accompany the expedition.

Escapes From Hospital. Barrie, July 31.—Simon Marshall of Lindsay, who was brought to Barrie Hospital by the Orillia police on Friday morning, suffering from pneumonia, disappeared from the institution at midnight. His own clothes had been put out of his reach, but he managed to secure a youth's coat and pants and made his escape through a window. He was wanted on suspicion of being implicated in the Algonquin Park fur smuggling case.

Divides Estate Among Employees. New York, July 31.—The will of John C. Wilson, who was shot in his office, by John Warner, director of his business, and $100,000 personal estate be divided, share and share alike, between employees and Bernard J. McLean, the Bowery hatter, who had been a friend of the deceased for many years.

Salaries Too Small. Windsor, July 31.—Hon. R. F. Sutherland announced yesterday that all efforts to obtain larger pay or a higher age limit for letter-carriers had failed.

It is probable that free delivery will not be given Windsor for a long time, as few men wish to work for $1.25 a day.

Big Cheque for Province. Toronto, July 31.—The estate of the late Senator George T. Fulford has paid to the Treasury Department of the province a cheque for $100,000. This with $250,000 makes a total of $350,000.

The estate was assessed at $5,745,000, not including charities and debts.

TROOPS POUR INTO BELFAST.

Revolt of Police Makes Strike Problem More Serious.

Belfast, July 31.—That the authorities view seriously the local situation arising from the strike of the dock laborers for increased pay and shorter hours, which has been aggravated by the revolt of the police, who are demanding more pay, because of the extreme work the strike entails, is evidenced by the arrival here yesterday of the first battalion of the Cameron Highlanders, with a Maxim gun and a detachment of cavalry.

In addition the 13th Hussars are now on their way into Belfast, and the Berkshire and Middlesex Regiments have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

Special camp accommodations are being provided and it is expected that a total of 6,000 troops will be in Belfast within a few days.

At Cork the police are full in sympathy with the Belfast force and have asked the permission of the inspector-general to hold a public meeting.

CANADIANS LAND TROPHIES.

Captured Londonderry Cup and the Prince of Wales' Cup.

Peterborough, Canada, July 31.—The results of the artillery competitions were announced last night.

The Canadian composite team has won the Londonderry Challenge Cup and the Prince of Wales' Cup on the aggregate score.

The results were: British 549 in field artillery and 507 in heavy; Canadians 524 in field and 539 in heavy.

The Canadian heavy artillery team yesterday morning made an excellent showing, surprising many by the accuracy with which they carried out the firing and manoeuvring. Major Leigh was battery commander in the direct firing, with Capt. McKinnon in command of the sections, and on direct firing, Capt. Ewing commanded, aided by Lieut. McGowan.

Lord Strathbrooke and Countess Strathbrooke were present, and along with the party was Major Tanaka, Japanese artillery attache to the embassy at Washington.

TEMPLE OF PEACE.

Foundation Stone of Carnegie Structure Laid at The Hague.

The Hague, July 31.—The foundation stone of the Andrew Carnegie Palace of Peace was laid yesterday afternoon at Zorgevict, in the midst of the wooded park stretching from The Hague to Scheveningen, by M. Neidoff, president of the second peace conference.

The inauguration of this monument which Mr. Carnegie is raising to commemorate and carry on the work of the international peace conferences was marked by considerable ceremony.

Practically all the delegates, a number of high court officials, the members of the states-general and delegations from numerous civic and municipal bodies were grouped around the stone which, when the structure is completed, will form the corner of the Grand Hall of Justice.

The Hague, July 31.—Great Britain has presented an amendment to the American proposition regarding the establishment of a general court of arbitration, under which any contracting power may withdraw from the agreement upon six months' notice.

You cannot make sweet butter in a foul, unclean churn. The stomach serves as a churn in which to agitate, work up, and disintegrate our food as it is being digested. If it be weak, sluggish and foul the result will be torpid, sluggish liver and bad blood.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are just such as best serve to correct and cure all such derangements. It is up without a drop of alcohol in its composition; chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol. Now this glycerine is of itself a valuable medicine, instead of a degenerative dyspepsia agent like alcohol, especially in the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of it: "In dyspepsia it is a very excellent purpose. It is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs."

Involuntary Manslaughter. Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 31.—The verdict of a coroner's jury in the case of Miss Elizabeth Cadenhead of Ferguson, Ont., who was shot and killed by Pte. Cyrus Gillette, who was aiming at a deserter, charges him with involuntary manslaughter.

A demand will be made on officers at Fort Brady for the man, which probably will be refused until a court-martial is held. This will likely acquit Gillette.

Heirlooms.

By Donald Kennicott.

Copyright, 1907, by Donald Kennicott.

It was my father's sword.

As he spoke Knowlton replaced the dented brass scabbard on the elk horns over his fireplace and turned to the grave-eyed young girl who stood beside him.

"You see, Miss Marble," he went on, trying to smile away the tinge of bitterness in his voice, "I have no other heritage to cherish."

Where I stood the girl's low voiced reply was inaudible, but a dull flush crept over the young Englishman's clear-cut features, and it seemed that he echoed her words, saying a little sullenly, "No; I do not wear it."

The sound of footsteps on the veranda called him to welcome other guests, and I joined Nannie Marble in straying about the rooms, furnished oddly enough for a New Mexican ranch house, yet eloquently descriptive of their owner's life.

The battered photograph, with its heap of dusty records, the well worn cloth of the solitary table and the many shelves laden with innumerable paper novels spoke plainly of the deadly ennui of his present existence. The hunting trophies on the walls, the old cut crystal service on the sideboard, above all the many pictures and photographs, among them his father as general of division and himself as lieutenant of the guards, told that once at least he had lived other-wise, had been something other than a far straying "remittance man."

As I passed before the two portraits I knew that this thought was uppermost in Nannie Marble's mind, for ever since Knowlton's advent in the Blue Water country his love for her had been common knowledge. Yet she surprised me after a moment by saying very quietly, "Do you know why he is here?" and before I could reply answering herself: "He was cashiered for cowardice in the Boer war. Mrs. Loring told me. She showed me a paper that told about it."

There was a deep quiver of grief in her voice, and as she turned away her head for the first time I was certain of what I had for some time suspected—that if she had repulsed him it had been against the dictates of her own heart. It was hard for me to see her in distress, for I had been her father's comrade and had known and loved her, since the days when old John Marble's quartz ledge had started the short lived boom at Eldorado City and Nannie, in her little pink pinafore, had ridden about on our shoulders, the undisputed belle of the camp.

"Nannie," I said, "if something else were the reason; if—if cowardice were merely the appearance, could you forgive it?"

Her lip trembled, but she looked up at me bravely enough. "Yes," she said—"yes, if there were anything else in the world; if he had—Oh, it is so hard to believe when one looks at him, and yet the paper told all about it and gave the official order that disgraced him."

I hesitated a moment, still uncertain as to whether it were best to let this girl know the truth about Francis Knowlton. And in that moment my opportunity was gone, for McAnnon called from the other room, "Come on here; we're off," and we had to join the company assembled for an excursion to the ruins of Eldorado City. It was one of the many jaunts that had been arranged to entertain some visiting school friends of Nannie's and, like most of our entertainments, included the whole neighborhood, for we are too few and too isolated for social subdivisions. All were there—Breach Promise McAnnon, the Remittance Man, the Lady of the Absent Husband, the Linger, the Man Who Invariably Went Armed, I, who—But this is not an autobiography.

What with the gaiety of our young guests, the cool moonlight and the very good supper that Knowlton's Chinese boy had provided the time passed pleasantly enough, although to me, of course, the ruins of Eldorado City were a familiar and not altogether amusing story. Yet when a coyote appeared in the open doorway of the old Golden Light dance hall and a string of bats came flitting from the entrance of Denny Monahan's tunnel I will con-less that the moonlit wreckage took on an uncanny appearance not altogether devoid of interest.

As a climax it had been planned to explore this tunnel, known as Denny Monahan's Lead, from the old Irishman, who had dug steadily into the mountain for three years, bringing out some gold, breaking in upon a seemingly limitless limestone cavern and eventually disappearing forever in this pit which he had dug. McAnnon led the way in, unreeling as he went the cord which was to guide our return, and with lighted candles the rest of us followed in line. Above us the bats passed out in a continuous stream, and amid tiny shrieks of delight and trepidation from the ladies we proceeded to the limits of the tunnel and out into the natural cavern that had swallowed up the body and, so the delightful tradition ran, the treasure of Denny Monahan.

The play of candlelight upon the glittering drops of moisture, the curious formations of onyx and limestone, the infinitely repeated echoes, all called forth their share of admiration, and, although the footing was becoming more difficult, we continued onward, the Linger taking the lead in order to leave McAnnon free to manage his cord.

Fatigue began to manifest itself in the cessation of talk and laughter, and when one of the ladies in the rear of the procession called out some belated jest of the Linger the boy glanced back in surprise. The next instant he disappeared as if blotted out. I saw McAnnon leap back, heard a dull splash, and then Knowlton brushed past me, tearing off his coat as he ran. He, too, plunged out of sight, and we heard sounds of a struggle in water and of some one gasping for breath. Holding my candle over the brink of the pit into which the Linger had fallen, I could faintly discern the glimmer of water below me, but nothing more. The sound of splashing had ceased also, and for a long time we waited in breathless silence for some reassuring noise from below. Then from out the darkness to the left the even voice of the young Englishman startled us.

"Come a bit this way with that candle, will

LISTENS TO DEPUTATIONS

cents per pound, and mullet 4 to 5c. Sauger are the most valuable of the coarse fish. A two and one-half inch mesh is used for the pot of the hook-nets. This lets the pound pickerel through on the average. Two pound pickerel can get through a three and one-half inch mesh, and something over a pound sauger can get through the present net. The weight of the average pickerel caught is 4 pounds. If we were to use a large mesh it would have the effect of killing the fish, and this would kill them. We have no gill nets here. We catch a few undersized fish, but we let them all go afterwards, as we can't sell them legally. The law is well observed. The amount of fish returned to the water out of a day's lift would be about 25 pounds to a ton or a half-ton lift.

There are no white fish in Lake St. Clair. Pickerel are on the increase, and have been increasing for the past six or seven years. The reason is that there is more feed for them now. The drains and outlets produce the feed. The coarse fish do not prey on the pickerel, and they have no enemies in the water. They will continue to increase if they are not all caught off. There are no bass in the Thames between Chatham and Lake St. Clair. After

May 15 a few might be caught, but we never put our nets in after April 15. We were forbidden to fish in the river this year, through representations made by a delegation from London and Chatham, who claimed that we were destroying the game fish. It is a hardship on us to be deprived of the privilege of fishing for coarse fish below Chatham, and I think we should be allowed to use the hook net from Sept. 1 till May 1. Under the present regulations, we have to fish one-half mile away from the mouth of the river. I would suggest that the season be changed to open on Sept. 1.

Commissioner Burns—This will be carefully inquired into. I do not know of any reason why the close season should be such a long one, and I have never been told of any reason.

Theodore Peltier, fisheries inspector from Louisville to the light-house gave much the same evidence as Mr. Bagnall. He said the law was well observed by the local fishermen, and there were no prosecutions. A number of cases of fish had been wrongfully seized, the officials who made the seizure mistaking sauger for pickerel. Mr. Peltier gave some sworn statistics, as follows:

There are 51 sets of hook nets in my inspectorate, and 11 licensed fishermen. The hook nets are set in from 6 to 14 feet of water, and are lifted sometimes daily and sometimes once a week. I don't know any reason why the close season should extend from April 15 till Oct. 1, nor do I know any reason why the fishermen should be restricted from fishing in the river. The game fishermen have no just cause for complaint.

B. Taylor, sworn, said in part: I formerly fished on the river, but for some reason or other my seines have been taken away, and there is now no seine fishing allowed in the river. I now fish down at the lake, using a 150 foot seine net, with a two inch mesh. We catch sheepshead, saugers, mullet, carp, shiners and pickerel. We are now allowed to fish from April 15 to Oct. 1. The only reason for this that I have heard of is that it is to protect the pickerel when they are coming up to spawn. I sell all the fish I catch. Last season I caught from 5 to 8 tons of soft fish, and perhaps a ton of pickerel. I pay $10 each year for my license. My district was formerly 150 feet along the river. There was no "ground" on the opposite bank. I never found any bass in the river, and I never saw a bass come up. There were formerly 15 seines between Chatham and the lake.

James Hamilton, sworn, said in part: I was formerly a fisherman on the river between Chatham and the lighthouse for ten years. I fished on Lake St. Clair for about 30 years, using drag nets and seines. I use a 4 inch mesh. I fished in the river in 1906, but I couldn't say off-hand what my catch was, as I haven't my book here.

Commissioner Burns—Would it be six tops in a season.

Mr. Hamilton—I think it would. About one-quarter of these were pickerel. They were caught going up stream. Most of the pickerel are caught in the spring of the year before April 15. The pickerel stay in Lake Erie during the winter months. I own five hook nets, for which I pay a license of five dollars each. The whole five nets would take up about 550 yards if stretched out in a straight line. I couldn't say just what an average catch would be, but I have lifted a ton in a week. I don't know why the close season should extend from April 15 till October 1. I have caught a few bass with the hook. They were all green bass. I am using a five inch mesh. We can't use a larger mesh and return them all to the river. I have both seine and hook nets, and I catch about as many fish with one as the other. I don't know what my total catch was last year, but it might be 15 tons. About one-quarter of this catch was hard fish. My market is in New York, where I ship direct. It pays best to ship to New York. I would not want to fish if I had to sell in Canada. No white fish are caught unless at Belle River. I consider it a hardship that we are not allowed to catch pickerel under 15 inches, as the 15 inch pickerel is a number one fish. The principal fishing station is at present at St. Clair river. There was formerly one at Sarnia, where a catch worth $1,000 was made in one haul. If we didn't catch the pickerel they would get too thick. We get as high as 35 cents per pound for pickerel, but the average is 10 cents per pound.

On Commissioner Burns inquiring if there were any others who wished to be heard, Caleb Wheeler, of the Fish and Game Protective Association, replied that the Association would be in a position to give evidence this afternoon. They had not their statements prepared yesterday. A meeting of the Association was held last night for this purpose.

Before adjourning, the Commissioners announced that it was their intention to visit some of the fishing grounds while here. They will be taken out to the lake in a gasoline launch during their stay here.
