

SIR CHARLES TUPPER SPEAKS ABOUT CANADA

Canadian Climate Makes Men Rulers --The Dominion Has Advantageous Position--Sir Charles Speaks of His Own Life.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: The splendid nonagenarian, Sir Charles Tupper, arrived in London Thursday night and yesterday talked with a representative of the Daily Chronicle about his beloved Canada and all she is doing and all she is hoping to do in the future.

not have had its ten million negroes were it not for the warmth of some Southern states, and these are increasing in those states, while native American white men are decreasing. We have been saved from that great peril.

SCOTLAND YARD HAS THREE GREAT MYSTERIES TO SOLVE

[Canadian Press Despatch] NEW YORK, May 10.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: Three great mysteries are being investigated in this country at the present time, two by Scotland Yard and the other by lawyers. All are concerned with persons who disappeared. The cases are:

(1). The mystery of a young German shot in Toulon. The strange movements in London of a man answering his description, the shadowing of him by another German and inquiries made for him by a woman make this mystery one of unusual interest.

(2). The mystery of Amos Briggs, a barrister of the Middle Temple, and nephew of Sir Forest Fulton, recorder of the city of London. Briggs has not been seen since April 29.

(3). The mystery of W. R. Liddell, bank manager at Ilminster, Somerset who disappeared in 1879. On Wednesday when the case came before the probate court, Justice Bargaive Dean, decided that further inquiries were necessary before Liddell's death could be presumed, and the lawyers in the case are now searching widely for information about a mysterious yacht, the Foresight; and for various persons mentioned in the case.

DISORDERLY SCENES MARKED HOUSE CLOSING

Conservatives After a Fight in the Commons Sang "Rule Britannia" and Liberals Replied With "O Canada" --Grits Refused to Vote.

[Canadian Press Despatch] OTTAWA, May 10.—Scenes of much disorder marked the hour before adjournment of the House at 3:40 this morning, the row starting when the motion to report the bill was presented.

As the Prime Minister rose to move that the committee report, Mr. Carroll of Cape Breton got up to present an amendment. At the time the chairman did not say whom he recognized.

Mr. Carroll persisting, there were cries of "Order."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier precipitated an argument as to whether the amendment of Mr. Carroll was in order. He contended that while the closure rule said the vote must be taken at 2 a.m., there was nothing to prevent another amendment being moved afterwards.

The Prime Minister answered that the amendment might as well have been moved in the afternoon.

After considerable discussion the Premier offered to withdraw his motion for the committee to report, providing the amendment was voted on at once.

"We ask for our rights, not for your courtesy," said Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Chairman Blondin stated that he had recognized the Premier first to the floor.

W. F. Carvell railed the chairman and said that he had accepted the suggestion of a private member as to who shall be given the floor.

The chairman ordered him to withdraw.

"I repeat," said Mr. Carvell, "that you accepted the suggestion of a private member in giving your ruling."

After more harangue the vote was called, and the Ministerialists rose and voted for the motion to report the bill. The Opposition, with cries of "Shame!" and "Gag!" refused to vote.

When Speaker Sprule took the chair to receive the report his voice was drowned in Opposition jeers.

"I ask honorable members to remember," he said, when a semblance of order had been restored, "that when the Speaker is on his feet it is the duty of Liberal members to keep order. I ask them to join with me in preserving the dignity of the House."

There was renewed tumult. "The chairman has made a false report," asserted Mr. Pugsley amid Ministerial jeers.

The shouting and yelling kept up, and the Premier moved the adjournment of the House.

"I ask you to sustain the rights of the minority," said Mr. Pugsley. "The way to do it is to maintain the rules of the House," replied the Speaker, who proceeded, amid rampant disorder, to put the motion, and then declared the House adjourned.

As he left the chair the Conservatives burst forth with rousing cheers, while the Liberals replied similarly. Then the Government members sang "Rule, Britannia," the Liberals "O Canada," and in the grey dawn the members filed out.

SUFFRAGETTE BOMBS ARE FOUND IN A CROWDED LONDON DEPOT

The Militants are Endeavoring to Scare the British Public and are Succeeding in Doing So--The Fuses Died Out.

[Canadian Press Despatch] LONDON, May 10.—Two more of the now familiar bombs, with which the militant suffragettes are making an attempt to scare the British Parliament into giving the Parliamentary franchise to women, were discovered this morning. One of them was found in the passengers' waiting room at the busy Lime street railroad station in Liverpool, and the other in the sorting room of the post office at Reading.

The fuse of the Liverpool bomb had been lighted by the perpetrator of the outrage, but had died out before it reached the gunpowder. The instrument of intended destruction consisted of a tin tobacco box, filled with gunpowder and iron nuts, and the long fuse was laid in the centre.

The Reading machine was wrapped in a bulky parcel, to which the attention of the post office employees was attracted by the sound of ticking. The police were called in, and on examination found that the parcel contained an electric battery connected with explosives and accompanied by quantities of suffragette literature. The parcel was addressed to a municipal official of Reading, who is now on his vacation. The police express the belief that it was timed to explode in his residence during his absence. The clockwork arrangement was in perfect working order.

RUSSELL ADAMS POPULAR LOCAL BOY DROWNED FRIDAY

Russell Adams, son of Mr. David Adams, 46 Northumberland street, one of Brantford's most popular young men, was drowned in a canoe near Fort William. The sad intelligence was received in this city this morning. The tragic event happened yesterday. Russell had just taken a position with the Government at a roundhouse on the Transcontinental. He only left Brantford a week ago, and announcement of his being a successful candidate at the School of Science examinations at Toronto was only made yesterday. The cause of the accident was 250 miles north of Fort William, and only was recovered. It is being brought back to Fort William, and will be later brought home. The distressing news will be learned with heartfelt regret in this city. Russell was a most lovable boy. Mr. and Mrs. Adams, and to the sisters, Gladys and Grace, sincere sympathy will be extended. The family are heartbroken over their heavy loss.

VERY BAD FIRE AT CHATHAM

Two Lost Life in Newspaper Office Fire--The Planet Destroyed. [Canadian Press Despatch] CHATHAM, Ont., Saturday, May 10.—Two men were burned to death and three others were narrowly escaped when the Chatham Planet office was completely destroyed by fire between 9 and 12 o'clock Friday night. Alex. McDougal, foreman of the composing room, and Robert Birch, a linotype operator, have not been seen since the fire was discovered, and although the ruins are too hot to search for them, there is little doubt but that they were burned to death. Charles Hicklin and H. Tremo, pressmen, and Arthur Carrier, linotype operator, had narrow escapes, but managed to get out of the building. The office, and plant were completely destroyed, with a loss of $75,000; insurance is $50,000.

A Record FOREIGNERS REMAIN OUT

The Courier Carried Over 18,000 Lines of Advertising on Friday. For some weeks, The Courier has been setting a new pace in the matter of telegraphic and local news—giving a service to its readers that has never been excelled in Brantford. and the general public has shown its appreciation by the circulation which is jumping up every day.

FOREIGNERS REMAIN OUT

The foreigners employed on the sewer department, who went out on strike for an advance in wages, are still out and judging from what can be learned will remain out, as the authorities are of the opinion that they were paying them every cent they were worth. Other men can be secured to take their places and the construction work will go on just the same.

WILL POPULARIZE BRANTFORD LIBRARY

Proposed Extension Will Place All Standard Works Immediately Available to the Public Other Plans. At this time as in no other time in the world, speed coupled with efficiency is what the people want and have. If it is at all possible to get just as much out of the allotted time for man to live, three or four years and ten, as it is possible to get out of the present time, business houses have become systematized in order to do the work with speed and efficiency. In a business order that it may be procured when wanted, just so with the volume in the modern library. During the past ten years the work of the public libraries throughout the world has been to make the library board have not hesitated. The latest achievement of the board is the securing of a sufficient sum of money from the Corporation of New York to build a new public library, the gift of Andrew Carnegie.

MAKES DEAL

Brantford Syndicate Buys Property in City of London. (London Free Press) The Coe Building, a four storey structure situated on the corner of Talbot and Dundas streets, this city, was sold yesterday to a Brantford syndicate of which Mr. W. N. Andrews of the Brantford Conservatory of Music, is an interested party. For the sum of $30,000. The recent owner, Mr. W. C. Coe, conducted what was known as the Western Ontario Business and Shortland College in this structure for many years. Two years ago he removed to Toronto. The building is one of London's oldest downtown structures, having been built more than 50 years ago. It has a frontage on Dundas street of 51 feet and on Talbot street of 85 feet. The lower floor offices are at the present time occupied by a bank. From an investment standpoint the property is a good one. Its rental amount to nearly $1,000 per annum. The deal was made by the Metcalfe Agencies of this city.

THE MARKET

There was an exceedingly large market this morning, nearly all the walks on the square were occupied and the market house was crowded with people who had produce for sale. There was a lot of flowers offered for sale, also a lot of vegetables and a large quantity of meat. Butter sold for 30-31 per lb., eggs 21-22c. per dozen; chickens were up at the $1.10-$1.15 mark. Potatoes were sold at 90c and cheese 17c for new and 20c for old.

WITH THE POLICE

There was an uneventful and quiet session of the police court this morning. There were six cases heard, five of which were results of yesterday's sprees. Only one of the five was fined the customary $3, the others being beginners. A young man arrested on a drunk charge, claimed he was not drunk but doped. The case was adjourned till next Friday in order to look into it more fully. Benny Rockmaker, who has been employed by Nausbaum and Zipper, decided to get out of town but before doing so, it is alleged he decided to take something by which they would remember him by. In the first place it is said he pinched a suit of clothes. He then took the boss's bicycle and went to J. H. Lake, and according to evidence collected $20, saying "He was collecting for Nausbaum and Zipper, for a freight bill Lake owed. Rockmaker thought he had sufficient when he salted away the ten spot and was just making ready to get out of town when the bobbies got him. The case was adjourned until Monday.

ARMENIANS HAVE BEEN LONG SUFFERING PEOPLE

Resolution of Sympathy Passed at Meeting Last Night in Victoria Hall - Mayor Was Chairman. About one hundred and fifty Armenians and other citizens were present last evening at the meeting in Victoria Hall. The meeting was all to deal with the Armenian question in the mother country or home of these people and to take whatever steps were necessary and advisable to remedy these conditions. Mayor Hartman who officiated as chairman in opening the meeting referred to Armenian trials, showing the hardships, race wars and massacres which had besmirched the history of this people. The Mayor thought that Canadians as Christians people should lend them a helping hand. Personally, the Mayor stated, "He had always found them good, law-abiding people—the class of foreigners with which we have the least trouble." Armen Armenkamean, formerly of this city, now of Galt, followed the Mayor. He spoke at some length using as his subject, "Freedom for Armenians." He confined his remarks to the present day conditions in his country, the necessity of overcoming the manner in which they could best be overcome. The speaker stated that the Armenians of this country were entirely satisfied. It was not so of the Armenians in their own land, nor could it be until the unreasonable conditions which they are subjected to are overcome. Mr. Armenkamean dealt in detail with some of the more recent uprisings and massacres, showing plainly that the Armenians are far from free men. "Mr. W. S. Brewster, M. P. P., followed with a few remarks, stating his sympathy with the Armenians and remarking he believed some action should be taken by the congress of nations with regard to the subjection of the Armenians living under the Turkish flag. Mr. Brewster said "He thought the age was past when the treatment of Christians in the manner prevalent in Turkey, should be tolerated."

Resolution of Sympathy Passed at Meeting Last Night in Victoria Hall - Mayor Was Chairman.

The Ven. Archdeacon Mackenzie seconded. The interpreter read it for the foreigners and at the conclusion of which a standing vote was taken, every person in the hall standing and clapping heartily. The Darwin orchestra furnished music throughout the evening, giving the programme a very finished appearance.

Resolution of Sympathy Passed at Meeting Last Night in Victoria Hall - Mayor Was Chairman.

Moved by W. S. Brewster, M. P. P., seconded by Rev. Dr. Mackenzie: That this evening citizens of Brantford desire to express our sympathy with the down trodden Armenians now living under the Turkish flag. We deeply regret the massacres and other wrongs done this ancient people mainly because they were Christians and remained true to their faith. The time has come when such treatment of a Christian people should no longer be tolerated. In our city we have found the Armenian residents a hard working and law abiding citizen.

Resolution of Sympathy Passed at Meeting Last Night in Victoria Hall - Mayor Was Chairman.

We do most respectfully request the Hon. R. L. Borden, premier of the Dominion of Canada, to make such representations to His Majesty's government as will bring about a consideration of this question by the Congress of the Powers of Europe, soon to be held to consider Eastern problems.

Resolution of Sympathy Passed at Meeting Last Night in Victoria Hall - Mayor Was Chairman.

We further resolve that a copy of this resolution be sent to W. F. Cocksbutt, M. P., representative at Ottawa, with a request that he exercise his good offices to promote the objects of this meeting.

Resolution of Sympathy Passed at Meeting Last Night in Victoria Hall - Mayor Was Chairman.

Mr. Pitcher Optimistic, S. P. Pitcher & Son, the well-known real estate agents, claim that comparing the year 1912 with 1913, this year has far exceeded last.

They say that business has more than doubled, in fact it was the busiest April they have had in the last six years, and business never was so good with them as at the present time, no only local buyers but many from outside points have purchase-property and they find that the better class of houses are in great demand, which is most encouraging to buyer and seller.

The rapid growth of Brantford seems to have spread over Ontario, and the indications are that this city will have a great future.

P. A. Shultis Has Important Survey, The owners of Oakley Heights, the beautiful survey on Brant St., have appointed P. A. Shultis sales manager, and they predict that the sub-division will be sold out within 60 days after the opening.

This is a nice compliment to Mr. Shultis, who recently returned from Toronto to enter the realty business. Before going to Toronto he was em-

Will Be Paid

All Men Who Go to Military Camp This Year Will Get Paid - Other Notes

A meeting of the Dufferin Rifle Finance Committee held last night at the armouries, it was decided to pay every man who goes to camp on June 9th, at Niagara-on-the-Lake, $7 for the five days at camp.

This is a very thoughtful act on the part of the officers and will no doubt be greatly appreciated by the men.

The regiment will go into camp about 300 strong, including the two bands. One of the best camps in the history of the regiment is looked forward to. Col. Howard and his officers will have the slightest detail well in hand.

Quarter Master Ward and staff Sergeant C. Taylor will have the catering in hand and nothing will be left undone by them for the comfort of the men. The Sergeants of the regiment will be looked after by Mr. A. Burnley, whose last year's reputation has not been forgotten.

Capt. Ballachey examined the N. C. O. class last night.

The Cadets will shoot the Schumacher match one week from Tuesday, and next Tuesday as was at first expected.

The rifle ranges will open one week from to-day. The contract has been let for the repairing of the targets.

A meeting of the Rifle Association will be held Tuesday night when arrangements will be completed for the season.

Cadet Capt. Harry Genet leaves for Toronto to-day to try his R.M.C. examinations.

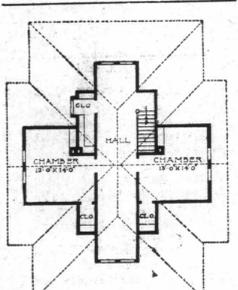

The entertainment committee of Chapter Daughters of the Empire, held a meeting at the armouries yesterday afternoon to complete arrangements for their shirtwaist dance on the 22nd. Two thousand tickets are for sale at 25c.

A VERY PRETTY TYPE OF BUNGALOW HOME

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK, ARCHITECT

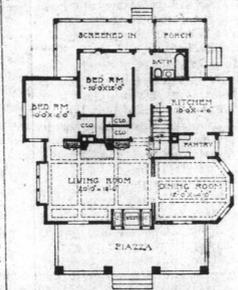

In this design we have a bungalow the general size of which is 34 feet in width, by 50 feet outside of the front and rear piazzas. It is set up well from the grade with a bowlder stone foundation. It is built with 8 ft. 6 in. story, the outside walls are sheathed, papered and shingled, back plastered between the studs and plastered again on the inside. The roof has a wide overhang of six feet with the rafters showing. The pitch of the roof is medium low but of sufficient height to afford two good rooms on the second floor, lighted with gable windows and a wide central hall from front to rear lighted with dormer windows at each end. The shingles on the wall are stained a light brown, and all of the casings, trimmings, cornices etc. are painted white. It is estimated to build this bungalow, not including heating, plumbing, electric work or fixtures, for $3,600. It may even be built for less than this amount in some localities and in other localities the cost would be greater.

There are five good rooms on the first floor a large living-room with ample fire place and bookshelves on either side, entered from the centre of the front through vestibule with small coat closet on each side of the vestibule. At the right of the living room and in front is the dining-room opened with sliding doors. There is a central hall connecting the living room through to the rear piazza

There are two good bed-rooms with ample clothes closets and a good kitchen with pantry. A fair sized basement that can be used for laundry and heating purposes. The finish of the interior is of pine stained and natural hard wood floors. This is a very commodious bungalow, very conveniently arranged and liberal in its appointments.

BORDEN'S MEETING

Great interest is taken in the proposed monster meeting in the Toronto Arena to be addressed by Premier Borden on Monday evening, May 19th. Speeches will also be made by Hon. J. D. Hazen, Hon. Mr. Crothers and Sir James Whitney.

Preceding the gathering there will be a large parade, and "Fory Toronto" helped by other Tories throughout the Province, will see to it that it is the greatest event that has been.

THE FUTURE OF BRANTFORD

Some people seem to incline to the belief that property values just now in Brantford are somewhat too high. Such critics concede, as all must, that the stability and the progress of the place is assured beyond any peradventure, but there is the doubting note that perhaps too much soil has been clapped on.

The Courier does not think so. Viewed from all standpoints, there is not to-day in the whole of Canada a better situated industrial centre than this—in fact, perhaps none as good.

For Niagara Falls power we are very close to the source of supply, and also have the competition derived from DeCew falls. It might be argued that Hamilton is closer to both, and also has a water front. Quite true, but when a direct line runs to Port Dover, and vessels carry freight across the lake from Erie, Pa., we will have Hamilton, Toronto and other places beaten miles with regard to cheap transportation here of the soft coal from the Pennsylvania fields, and of steel from Pittsburg, the greatest centre of the kind in the world.

THE LATE CAPTAIN SCOTT

Agaton Road, St. Budeaux, Devonport, April 29th, 1913. Editor Courier. Sir—The sad death of this hero after attaining his object in the Antarctic has led to a desire on the part of his native town of Devonport, Devon, England, to erect a memorial to his honor and memory, and which it is thought probable his widow, Lady Scott, may be asked to execute, to be placed in a public building in his native town. I am sure there are many Devonians in many parts of the world and of the British Empire who would like to contribute, however modestly, their share toward the accomplishment of the proposed memorial. Will other papers please copy this appeal, for Devonians are everywhere, and have been since the days of Drake and Raleigh, and will Devonians everywhere pass on the appeal?

the Mayor has so much at heart. Donations should go direct. Yours faithfully, CHAS. R. ROWE.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Miss May just at the present is suffering from an attack of cold feet. Closure was once more applied in the British House recently to facilitate business. Right here is where the Toronto Globe, the Brantford Expositor and the other Globules are due to throw about forty different brands of fits.

In Washington the Democrats have just passed a closure bill which the New York Sun declares is "unsurpassed as to effectiveness." The world over the people are desirous of having public business handled with due despatch, and they are heartily sick of wind-jammers and gabfests.

During March the number of Scotch immigrants who landed in Canada was 24,019. As the Scotch always coyly admit that they are the noblest work of God, this seasoning ought to help some of the rest of us a whole lot.

"With far less provocation, in the days of the Ross Government, Sir James Whitney used to characterize perfectly harmless transactions as being gigantic robberies and phenomenal steals."—Expositor.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE TO BRANTFORD CITY OFFICIALS

The following is from the Galt Reporter: Galt has in the past twelve months lost hundreds of dollars—a couple of thousand in one case—in the marketing of its debentures. One lot of $22,908, covering roadways and sewers constructed in 1911, issued at 90 per cent, brought a premium of $2,100—at least that was the offer received in June 1912. Then the issue was turned over to one J. G. Clark, a bond lawyer in Toronto, who occupies a dual position with reference to the requirements of the Act, having it is said been part author of the Local Improvement amendments that open the way for the exercise of much red tape, while giving the bond lawyer an opportunity to insert himself between the purchaser and seller. Mr. Clark will probably not deny the soft impeachment.

The interminable objections raised by the bond lawyer gave the buyer, the Montreal City and District Savings Bank, an excuse to duck. That institution had sent in its bid when the market was favorable to municipalities. When the bond lawyer got through mauling the Statutes for objections the condition of the market was reversed. It was then the buyer's. So the Montreal Bank repudiated the purchase, the municipality having "delivered the goods" at the time of purchase, the premium of $2,100 disappeared with repudiation. Not only that, the town, in the present condition of the market cannot get more than 98.

Brantford Library

(Continued from Page 1) pose of selecting books from the catalogues. Board Room The board room, which is at present located in the basement, where the extension is made, will be next to the office of Mr. Henwood, the librarian.

The Basement Where the present board room is situated in the basement there will be a large and commodious room to be used as an auditorium and museum. The little room which is used generally by the different societies in the city as a meeting room, will be used as a cataloging room and all societies wishing to meet in the library will meet in the auditorium. An extra furnace will be installed which will enable the building to be heated from the floor instead of having the radiators hung from the ceiling as at present.

The interior finish will be in keeping with the present furnishings. The material used for the exterior and the brick work will match the present building, the color of which is terra cotta. The Present Gift During the year 1912 it was discussed by the members of the Public Library Board the advisability of communicating with Mr. Carnegie asking him for a further grant to the citizens of Brantford to be used for the purpose of enlarging the present library.

With this view in end, the board employed Mr. L. D. Barber, architect, to prepare plans showing the proposed addition. These plans were forwarded to Mr. Carnegie by His Honor Judge Hardy, and were handed by him to the Carnegie Corporation of New York. They considering the plans in detail and finally consented to the grant sufficient to make the alterations asked for. Final plans and specifications were completed by the architect and tenders have been called for the extensions and alterations which it is expected will be completed this fall.

The Library Movement The library has been in existence since prior to the rebellion of 1837, and for a great number of years was known as "The Mechanics' Institute." In the year 1884 the "Library Act" was passed by the Ontario Government, and very soon afterwards Brantford voted on and carried the by-law establishing the Brantford Free Public Library. The late J. H. Horning was appointed the first librarian and ably fulfilled his duties till the year 1901. The present librarian, M. E. D. Herwood was appointed to succeed him.

Mr. Carnegie's Gift In the year 1902, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, known throughout the civilized world for his philanthropic generosity, offered the citizens of Brantford, in a communication addressed to His Honor, Judge Hardy, $30,000, which he subsequently increased to $35,000 to build a new library building, on condition that the city council would pass a resolution guaranteeing to provide a site and an annual grant of 10 per cent of the cost of the building for the maintenance of the library. These conditions were complied with, and on July 4th, 1904, the present beautiful building was completed and opened to the public.

Doubtful Wisdom.

We very much doubt the wisdom of the Town Council in returning to the Waterworks Company the fire engine borrowed from it two months ago to meet an emergency created by changes under way at the Pumping station. That emergency has scarcely been removed. The full plan of the Waterworks Commission has not yet been completed and there exists real danger in the situation as it presents itself to those in direct authority over the Fire Department, as well as to the officials who are at present engaged in pushing to completion the power plant at the Pumping station. —Galt Reporter.

The meeting is an extremely important one and should be well attended.

Fire This Morning

The central fire department was called out at about 10 o'clock this morning to extinguish a blaze at the West Brantford dump. The paper from the dump blew in every direction, rendering the work of extinguishing the blaze very difficult. A couple of roofs in the vicinity were set on fire by flying sparks on paper, but little damage was done. One stream was laid. It is believed that boys were responsible for the fire. In the event of their being found out police court proceedings will follow.

ANNIE RUSSELL, WHO WILL BE SEEN AT THE GRAND HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY IN "SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER."

role and capacity of actress-directress. Her own company, of which she is a member, called Annie Russell's Old English Comedy Company has just completed a brilliant season of nine weeks in New York, where at the 30th Street Theatre, a repertoire of the classical English comedies has been played with artistic achievement and financial reward. A brief road tour has been arranged and the Brantford offering is to be "She Stoops to Conquer," Oliver Goldsmith's famous comedy.

Miss Russell was last seen with the New Theatre Company, of which she was the leading woman member. The realization of Miss Russell's long cherished ideal represents her own capital and experience gained through years of faithful service in our theatre—a service that has touched practically and ideally the theatre's best traditions. The undertaking of the present organization was greatly encouraged by a number of New York men and women variously distinguished in artistic, social and public life, who endorsed her plans and generously subscribed to the series of performances. The success of the New York engagement has made it possible for Miss Russell to make the organization permanent, enlarging the repertoire, which next season will include other classical plays, and perhaps some modern ones in harmony with the others now in the repertoire.

Miss Russell begins modestly but earnestly, in the matter of productions. She has aimed not for any stupendous effects but rather an artistic expression of the period, colorful, quaint and in good taste. Studios consideration has been given to historical accuracy. The company was also selected with a knowledge of the requirements and demands of the old comedies. The cast includes beside Miss Russell, Oswald Yorke, George Giddens, Fred Permain, Murray Kinnell, Littledate Power, Thomas Fallon, Harold Meltzer, Fiolliott Paget, Henrietta Goodwin and many others. At the Grand, Wednesday, May 14.

At the Apollo

The bill at the Apollo for the week end is exceptionally good and is sure to draw packed houses. The Menzies, a high class and refined English team, present a very humorous comedy skit on the most troublesome human personality, The English Suffragette, which causes an uproar of laughter. Mrs. Menzies makes a very clever change in full view of the audience from a beautiful young wife to a dreaded old militant fully deceiving her husband who has a particular dislike to this unpopular organization.

At The Colonial

Manager Symonds of the Colonial Theatre certainly used good judgment when he secured the Palalaika Orchestra. The bill is one of the best ever presented in any of the play houses in the city and made the greatest hit ever recorded in the Colonial. The audience could not get enough of them last night, and they were given a tremendous ovation. The orchestra is certainly well worth hearing, and those who miss the opportunity of hearing them will certainly miss a rare treat.

Tightness and wheezing means your trouble is deep-seated. To delay is dangerous. Inflammation must be drawn out at once. Rub the throat and chest with Nerviline, and put on a Nerviline Porous Plaster. Relief comes in an hour. The counter-irritant effect of the plaster relieves the

The penetrating qualities of Nerviline enable it to soak to the very core of the trouble, and you experience a feeling of warmth and relief that proves the danger is past. Music and Drama

The Reckless Age A wild nocturnal "joy ride" by several members of the fast young society set of a Pennsylvania city is taken as the base of Lee Wilson Dodd's new comedy drama which will be the attraction at the Grand Saturday evening May 10th, under the direction of Cecil B. De Mille. The story of The Reckless Age has to do with a young society girl who has been brought up in uncomfortable surroundings by her stern father. After his death, leaving a large fortune she starts in to enjoy life and is soon the harum-scarum head of the local social set which is more or less noted for the gaiety of their parties and the recklessness in which they dash about in their automobiles.

DON'T STAY GRAY! SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFULLY

A Mixture of Sage and Sulphur Prevents Dandruff and Falling Hair.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell because it's done so naturally; so evenly. It is also splendid to remove dandruff, cure itching scalp and stop falling hair.

but make it too sticky, so insist you want "Wyeth's" then there will be no disappointment. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and draw it through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning all gray hair disappears and after another application or two becomes beautifully darkened and more glossy and luxuriant than ever. You will also discover dandruff is gone as dandruff has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and you'll look years younger. Inquiry shows all pharmacists in town here sell lots of it.

DELACOUR The City That Will Be Built Delacour is Now a Townsite—in a Year It Will Be a Hustling Western Town WHAT THE C.P.R. was to the old Northwest the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is to our present grain-growing Western Empire. The Canadian Pacific opened up Provinces—the Grand Trunk Pacific is covering these Provinces with thriving towns. Alberta, on account of its situation, its climate and its magnificent grain and cattle lands, is growing so fast that it is striding far ahead of its sister Provinces. Its influx of immigration is tremendous—its railroad building enormous. The towns that are springing up along the Grand Trunk Pacific right of way in Alberta will be cities in a few years, and the wise investors who put their money into these townsite lots can rest assured of immense increase in the value of their holdings. DELACOUR is the choicest townsite on the Grand Trunk Pacific, being right in the heart of the great grain-growing section of Alberta, only twenty miles from Calgary. Lots can be had now as low as $1.00 per foot, but a material advance is expected shortly. A small cash payment will secure the lots, and easy terms on the balance arranged. WOMAN

WHAT SHE IS DOING

The House by the Side of the Road. They are hermit souls that live withdrawn.

In the peace of their self-content, There are souls like stars that dwell apart in the cynic's ban.

In the fellowless firmament; There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths

Where highways never ran; But let me live by the side of the road And be a friend of man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road,

Where the race of men go by— The men who are good and the men who are bad,

As good and as bad as I, I would not sit on a scornful seat, Or hurl the cynic's ban.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road

And be a friend of man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,

By the side of the highway of life, The men who press with the ardor of hope,

The men who are faint with the strife, But I turn not away from their smiles or their tears—

Both parts of our infinite plan; Let me live in the house by the side of the road

And be a friend of man.

I know there are brook-gladdened meadows ahead,

And mountains of wearisome height; That the road passes on through the long afternoon,

And stretches away to the night, But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice,

And weep with the strangers that mean, Nor live in my house by the side of the road,

Like the man that dwells alone.

Let me live in my house by the side of the road,

Where the race of men go by— They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,

Wise, foolish, so am I, Then why should I sit in the scornful seat

Or hurl the cynic's ban? Let me live in the house by the side of the road

And be a friend of man.

Conquer" ever conceivably received. The central figure of Tony Lumpkin is played by George Giddens, one of the finest comedians of this generation, who, it is generally believed, has not excelled in this part by any actor, living or dead. On this continent only two other actors of any considerable fame have played the part within the past quarter of a century the late Stuart Robson and the late Kyle Bellew. It is impossible to believe, however, that either of them could have been so rich in unctious and humor as Mr. Giddens. Next month Mr. Giddens will celebrate his 68th birthday; yet he plays this roysterer with a youthful lightness of touch that makes one forget that time exists. As one has said, Miss Russell lacks vitality, but she has a winsomeness, a deftness and a grace, quite exceptional among actresses to-day. The role of Mrs. Hardcastle is played by Miss Ffolliott Paget, a comedienne of very exceptional gifts, as those who saw her in the wholesome farce, "Aunt Jack," in the playlets that Rosina Volkes used to present and in other forgotten pieces will remember. She plays this dowager role with unstrained humor and ripe knowledge of the resources of the stage. The role of Young Marlow, which is the most difficult in the comedy is acted in the most courtly manner by Mr. Oswald Yorke, who shows a delicacy in the presentation of a great variety of moods, that stamps him as a truly fine artist. In naturalness—in the ability to get under the skin of a character—nothing more could be asked than is imparted to the role of Squire Hardcastle by Mr. Fred W. Permain; while other actors who show real distinction are Mr. Murray Kinnell, Mr. Little-dale Power, Mr. Thomas P. Falcon and Miss Henrietta Goodwin. A more satisfying or well balanced performance. It has seldom been one's lot to witness.

Messrs Turnbull and Cutcliffe have very generously offered to give a special price on all articles required and bought from them for use at the Brant Sanatorium, and will keep a list of all things purchased which customers may inspect, so that there may be no duplicating. The following is the list of things required, and with very few exceptions all are ordinary utensils—and may be sent or taken to "Wynarden" the residence of Mrs. Herbert R. Yates, on or before the date advertised, the Brant Chapter J. O. P. D. E. transferring them to the Sanatorium. Football Games To-Day

The change in the weather will be fine for football and there will be some good fast games in the league this afternoon.

SPORTING COMMENT

By FREE LANCE

Yesterday Catcher English worked behind the bat for the Red Sox, and his work was a decided improvement on that of Chapdelaine of the day before.

Clermont made his debut in Canadian League company yesterday and got credited with a victory. The boy had good stuff—in fact, he had everything—although he got into a dangerous predicament with three men on bases and no one out.

Both Wagner and Ivers did some hitting yesterday, and when Orcutt comes along there will be some fine doings.

Apparently Peterboro, peeved at getting beaten in Berlin, endeavored to pull off some rowdy ball at the park yesterday. This is one thing Brantford won't stand for, and the player who used language which might shock sensitive ears should be suspended by the league president.

Catcher English was the pivot of a fast double play yesterday. He and Clermont, without any question of doubt, make the best 19-year-old battery there is in Canada.

Apparently Deneau has a team of hitters, but poor fielders. It remained for Bill Baker, who got his start in Brantford last year, to beat London.

Kane says he can hop better every day on his lame ankle. The umpire made him hop back to the bench yesterday.

Lacrosse

The Lacrosse management have completed arrangements with the Toronto Senior A.L.A. team to play a game here on May 24th.

In connection with the lacrosse match against Toronto on May 24th, the management are endeavoring to arrange a number of other games, such as races, etc.

Most infants are infested by worms which cause great suffering, and if not promptly dealt with may cause constitutional weakness difficult to remedy.

RED SOX WALLOPED PETES BRUNDAGE BINGLES BALL BEST

Score Was 12-4—Umpire Daly Chases Visiting Players off the Field for Obstreperous Conduct—Clermont and English, 19 Year Old Battery, Worked in Fine Style.

Peterboro opened their two-days engagement at Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon and were defeated by 12 to 4. They made a very poor showing and justifying their playing and the way they conducted themselves on the field they have not had very much experience in organized baseball.

Manager Rowan received a terrible roasting from the handful of fans who were in the stands. It is not likely that President Fitzgerald will stand for any such conduct as that exhibited by the Peterboro team.

The afternoon was too cool for good baseball and the game was quite in keeping with the weather. There was not more than one hundred and fifty people, players and all in the park.

In the third innings, with two on bases Brundage, when he came to bat was presented with a bouquet of flowers by a friend. He accepted the flowers, thanked the donor, bowed and then hit the first pitched ball over the fence for a home run, sending in the two runners.

The Peterboro aggregation did not show any form in their game yesterday and are no comparison to the first Ottawa team, and if they can't play any better class of ball than they exhibited yesterday, they will remain where they finished up last season, down at the foot.

Outside of Collins the pitchers have not showed up any too strong. Donovan had to be pulled out of the first and second game with Ottawa and Clermont only lasted seven innings yesterday when he had to be relieved by Coose.

The performance of English behind the bat yesterday was superior in every way to that of Chapdelaine on the day previous and he seems to have the call over the Frenchman.

Kane sent Clermont in to do the pitching and Sterling started for Peterboro. The Red Sox scored in their half of the opening innings, on a hit, a sacrifice and a slow hit to short.

In the fifth the Petes got two runs over the plate. Beard and Burns were passed and came home on singles by Sergeant and Belding.

The fracas happened in the sixth. White, the first batter up missed the first strike "Strike two," called Daly. "What!" yelled White. While White was kicking viciously over having the second strike called Clermont shot out. "You're out!" said Daly.

"I'll give you one minute to get out of the grounds," said the umpire and pulled his watch.

Manager Rowan became wrathful and turning to Daly said: "You are a bum umpire." "That will cost you $5 and get out of the grounds," said Daly. "Don't care if it costs me fifty—and Ottawa going to Berlin must have had a little conference about Umpire Daly. Both kicked: It's too early for President Fitzgerald to start firing umpires.

It will be sad news in Chatham when Brundage doesn't get a hit. Buster Burtill will be here next week, also Slemin.

The Red Sox won't be home for a whole week. What'll the town do? The Peterboro team look quite spry in their natty grey uniforms.

Straw hats looked as much out of place yesterday as an ice cream suit in winter.

English caught McNeill the first man who attempted to steal second. Riley, McCauley and Ahern occupied one of the boxes.

Most of the fans were clad in overcoats yesterday and they certainly needed them.

The Peterboro team have discarded the white caps for the road.

Sterling fanned Tesch, Diem and Clermont in the second.

Wagner and Orcutt singled. Ivers actually beat out a bunt. Brundage hit safe and the first pair came in.

Tesch sacrificed the other two down the line. Diem sent a couple more home with a single. English was hit by a pitched ball. Linneborn drove out a single and Diem crossed the plate. Wagner walked and pulled a throw from the Petes' catcher and English came home with the twelfth and last run. Orcutt ended the agony by striking out.

The eighth and ninth innings were of the easy old kind and the game ended 12-4 in favor of the Red Sox.

Carnations for Brundage! Brundage bunched ten bingles in three games.

Manager Kane is well satisfied with Clermont.

English caught fine ball threw well, and used good judgment at bat.

Linderburn is a good ball player and works better for Kane than he did in London.

Rose, the Brantford hoodoo, beat Guelph yesterday. Knotty Lee is lucky to get him back.

Pretty cold weather for ball. Society had furs on yesterday.

What Ottawa did to Berlin! Guess the Senators are not a good club. Umpire Daly looks like a good umpire.

"E" COMPANY
AT BANQUET

Very Enjoyable Event Was Held at the Tea Pot Inn.

The officers and members of the E Company, Dufferin Rifles, held a very jolly theatre party and supper last night. The members of the company assembled at the Colonial and then marched to the armory and theatre where they witnessed the splendid program which Manager Symonds has on the bill this week. After witnessing the bill at the cosy theatre, the company adjourned to the Tea Pot Inn, where proprietor Crumbach had a dainty lunch prepared for the boys.

After the soldiers had done justice to the "rations" Sergeant Forgie called the boys to order and proposed a toast to the King, followed by the singing of the National Anthem. Sergt. Forgie, chairman of the entertainment committee, then called upon Major Genet, who gave the boys a lot of good advice. The Major dwelt upon his hobby, that is shooting. He stated that he would like to see the rank and file take a great interest in shooting and turn out to the butts regularly. The Major complimented Captain Newman on the splendid work he had accomplished in the short time he has had charge of E Company stating that he had brought it up to such a state of proficiency that it was looked upon by the officers as one of the crack companies of the regiment. Major Genet made some very complimentary remarks about the men who are interested in the company.

Bugler Wright gave a whistling solo, also imitated a number of different kind of birds and made a great hit with the boys.

Song, C. B. Todd.
 Sergt. Forgie sang a couple of very funny songs and was given rounds of applause.

Lieut. George Sage made a few flattering remarks in reference to the regiment, and the commander and officers of E Company.

Song, Bugler Wright.
 Song, Pte. Warren.
 Col. Sergt. Mack called the attention of the soldiers to the fact that they should spend more time at the ranges so as to become proficient in shooting. He proposed to have a monthly and divide the shoot into two classes, so as to give the weaker shots a chance for the prizes. Col. Sergt. Mack said he would do all in his power to help the company along and make it the banner one of the regiment.

Song, Pte. Holder
 Lieut. M. Paterson made a few excuses for not being at drill.

Capt. E. H. Newnan, on rising, was given a great reception. He thanked the men for the splendid support they have given him as commanding officer of the company. He asked those present to endeavor to secure some good recruits and to turn out on Saturdays at the rifle ranges. Captain Newman stated that he hoped to see the company the finest in the regiment in every department. On resuming his seat he was loudly cheered again.

Song, Sergt. Forgie. Song, C. J. Sergt. Mack.
 The singing of Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King brought the gathering to a close.

Wants a Game
 Hamilton, Ont., May 10, 1913
 Sporting Editor, The Courier: "Sir—I have the pleasure of presenting to you the Royal Stars Baseball Club of Hamilton, Ont. We have a very fast team and being desirous of arranging a date in your town, we are writing you with that object in view. We stand ready to meet any team in your town at the earliest possible date and would be glad if you could put this matter before some who are interested in baseball, either through the columns of your paper or privately."

J. C. HOLLAND, Manager.

Fourteen robberies have been committed by a policeman at Coventry. The officer, Henry Madle, 2, at Warwick, the other day, received a sentence of eighteen months at hard labor. Among other articles Madle had stolen a bicycle, carpenter's tools, and furniture. He was previously connected with the Metropolitan Police force for about five years, and then had a very good character. With the goods stolen from a single warehouse in Coventry he had practically furnished a house. He confessed that he had committed numerous robberies. When Madle left the London force he emigrated to Australia. There he deserted his wife and children and returned to England. On landing in England he began a correspondence with a young woman and posed as a single man. The first of his robberies was committed at the residence of the Mayor of Coventry a month after he joined the force. Madle was detected after he had stolen a bicycle, the person with whom he left it noticing he was wearing a policeman's trousers and boots.

KING ALFONSO'S VISIT TO PARIS EXPLAINED

Referring to King Alfonso's coming trip to Paris, Comde de Romanones the Premier, in an interview, recently said:—
 "The King's trip to Paris is the cherished project of my predecessor, Señor Canalejas, and one of the features of his programme which I promised to fulfil on coming to power. The King has long desired a meeting with the French President, once the treaty between France and Spain on Morocco was signed, as it was considered this would crown the diplomatic work and demonstrate Spain's friendship for France, her good will and determination to co-operate in the mission in Africa which the interests of civilization have intrusted to nations.

Latest News of the Boxers

It is the day of the fighter, a la Beau Brummel.
 From the instant that victory in the ring brings fame and wealth to the pugilist from that instant he aspires to push his robust frame into the kind of raiment that converts him into a fashion plate.
 The modest clothes that were good enough for him in the days of his struggles to reach the top are swiftly discarded.
 The sweater that served him so long and faithfully is banished, except during the period of road work in actual training.
 Mysteries of the claw hammer and the frock coat are speedily mastered; the top hat takes the place of the cap, and the haberdashers are fine-combed in order to obtain the most radiant neckwear.
 An instance of the result obtained will suffice to show just the extent of the pugilist's accomplishments in setting the sartorial pace.
 Recently an eastern newspaper that makes a specialty of society news, and that prefers as illustrations for its pages the features of the club, sent one of its photographers to Atlantic City to snapshot the fashionable during the Easter Sunday morning parade along the board walk.
 But Dressed.
 "Pick out the best-dressed men and women to be found on the promenade," was the word of the city editor grave to the photographer, when explaining the assignment.
 The man of the camera took his place on the board walk and studied the passing procession, which represented the gay pleasure-seekers of a dozen cities and presented about as many a picture of special commensurability as could be found anywhere.
 He took a number of pictures, and particularly found delight in one group of three. This included one man and two women. The ladies were in the top of the mode, but this was not the occasion for special comment, for there were thousand of well-gowned ladies.
 It was the swell male who was the special hit.
 He was very tall, towering over everybody in the procession.
 His clothes were the product of the finest tailoring. He wore a frock coat, light trousers, patent leather boots, a big puff tie and, above all, a most modish silk hat.
 The photographer fired.
 "I don't know who that fellow is," he said to the society reporter who accompanied him, but he must be a big gun and somebody at the office is sure to be able to identify him."
 But at the office nobody could. Everybody conceded that he had the class and must be nothing less than a millionaire clubman of the most select circle. His flawless front eliminated all doubt as to that.
 But in spite of the most complete investigation it was impossible to find out who the swell was, and the picture went unused.
 For days it lay on the desk of the city editor awaiting identification and the man who finally solved the riddle was one from whom help was least expected.
 It was Luther McCarty.
 Happening to see the photograph, he picked it up, gave one look, and tossed it on the desk with the remark: "Luther McCarty."
 Which was quite true.
 The dominating figure on the board walk parade, the man who set the

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL
Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

PENTECOST NOT GREAT JUBILEE

Still Greater Blessings Are Coming—Gifts of Holy Spirit.

Boston, Mass., May 11.—Pastor Russell gave two addresses here, under the auspices of the International Bible Students Association. We report one of these, from the text: "Upon the servants and upon the handmaidens in those days will I pour out My Spirit. After that I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh."—Joel 2:28, 29.

The Pastor called attention to the fact that he had transposed the two parts of this text to make their meaning more apparent. He declared that the Prophet unquestionably taught two outpourings of the Holy Spirit, only one of which has yet come. The Pastor remarked that Pentecost by Catholics and Episcopalians is the first of these—the pouring out of the Holy Spirit on God's faithful servants and handmaidens. The second one is not to be upon the same class, but upon all flesh—not upon the Elect, but upon all mankind, the non-elect. The Pastor remarked that Pentecost was a Jewish festival celebrating the harvest. On that day, nearly nineteen centuries ago, God poured out His Holy Spirit upon His waiting servants and handmaidens, in the upper room at Jerusalem. That event was important, not only to those who then participated, but to all of God's people from that time until now. Prior to that day of Pentecost, no one except Jesus had ever received spirit begetting—the Holy Spirit of sonship. Prior to that date, God held all humanity at a distance from Himself, declaring that because they were sinners He could not accept them as sons, that first their sins must be atoned for.

Pastor Russell pointed out that this alienation from God had continued for more than four thousand years before Jesus came. Adam was called a son of God, but after him no one was styled a son of God until Jesus. During all that time, Abraham alone was styled a friend of God, because of his devotion, his faith. But a friend is not a son, and none other than Abraham had even so high a title as friend. The Jews had the honorable title of servants of God, attaining that through the Law Covenant, under Moses.

Not only do the Old Testament Scriptures not refer to the Jews as sons of God, but the Jews themselves have never claimed such a relationship. On the contrary, after Jesus had received the Holy Spirit and begun His ministry, He spoke of Himself as being the Son of God, and this the Jews resented, taking up stones to stone Him. They declared it blasphemous to claim so close a relationship to Jehovah. Again, we read of the disciples before Jesus' death. The Holy Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet glorified.—John 7:39.

From these testimonies of the Bible, the Pastor deduced that it was necessary for Jesus to finish His sacrificial work, and to ascend on High, into the presence of Jehovah God, and present the merit of His sacrifice on behalf of the Household of Faith, before the Apostles or any of the Church could be recognized of God. The desire which Jesus had awakened in their hearts was that they might become His footsteps followers in doing the Heavenly Father's will—even to the extent of laying down their lives for the Truth, for righteousness. And so His disciples declared that they had left all to follow Him.

Before leaving them, Jesus admonished that they should not attempt to begin their work until after receiving the Father's recognition of them as sons. He said, "Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be endued with power from on High." While He was with them, He breathed upon them and gave them of His Holy Spirit and power, by which they healed the sick, cast out demons, etc. But when He left them they had not this power, or authority, and must wait until the Father gave it to them directly, even as He gave it directly to the Lord Jesus, at the time the Holy Spirit came upon Him at His baptism.

For ten days the Apostles and other faithful brethren tarried, praying in the upper room, waiting for the promised demonstration of Divine acceptance that would indicate to them that Jesus had appeared in the presence of God, and had made satisfaction for their sins, and that the Heavenly Father had accepted Jesus' sacrifice on their behalf, and by the begetting of the Holy Spirit would recognize them as sons of God—not as human sons, however. The sonship to which Jesus and the Church have been begotten during this Gospel Age is on a far higher than human plane—far above the angelic, also. St. Peter explains that our begetting is to the "Divine nature."—2 Peter 1:4.

Without this begetting there could be no ultimate birth to the Divine nature in the resurrection. Thus it was with Jesus. He was begotten of the Holy Spirit at the time of His baptism, and gradually developed during the three and a half years of His earthly ministry. But He was not born of the Spirit until His resurrection, as we read: "He was the First-born from the dead"—"the First-born amongst many brethren." The Church are begotten of the Holy Spirit under the same Covenant of Sacrifice, that if faithful they may attain to the same Spirit birth by a similar resurrection.

St. Peter explains that while the gift of the Holy Spirit was from the Father, it would not come to the Church direct, as though ignoring the Lord Jesus. He says of Jesus, "being by the right hand of God exalted, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, He hath shed this forth." (Acts 2:33). Again he says, "Who is gone into Heaven, and is on the right hand of God, angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto Him." (1 Peter 3:22). The Pentecostal blessing, therefore, was a double attestation. It proved that Jesus as the great Redeemer accomplished, in a manner pleasing to the Father, the work which the Father gave Him to do. It proved that those who received the Spirit were accepted as sons of God, their original sin being canceled through the merit of Christ's sacrifice.

And although the miraculous manifestations of God's favor have not been repeated during this Age, we know that all of the same class are participants in the same blessing. "The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ . . . which according to His abundant mercy hath begotten us again." (1 Peter 1:3). While we are required to "Walk by faith and not by sight," nevertheless our faith has its sure footing in that original Pentecostal manifestation. We, as well as the Apostles, can realize that the sacrifice of Jesus was acceptable to the Father, and that we have been accepted through our Redeemer as members of His Body, which is the Church.

It is because the Church is one Body, although of many members, that no repetition of Pentecost has been necessary. As soon as we consecration come into the one Body, we are sharers in all the blessings that belong to that Body, the start of which came on the memorable Pentecost Day. "By one Spirit ye were all baptized into one Body, which is Christ." Jesus the Head of the Church, the Messiah, first got His blessing, which was completed on the plane of glory. Then He made application of His merit for all those who desire to become members of His Body, the Bride of Christ.

This was the foundation necessary for Divine acceptance of the Church. On this basis, the gathering of the Church has progressed for now nearly nineteen hundred years. Soon, we believe, it will be completed. The last member proving faithful and passing beyond the veil, the Body will complete in glory—united to the Head, or under the other figure, the espoused virgin Church, united to her Lord, will be the Bride, the Lamb's Wife.

Pentecost represents to the Church liberation from the thralldom of sin and death, as well as introduction into the family of God. Thus it signifies the beginning of all the blessings which the people of God have known as the fruits of the Spirit—meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness, love, joy, peace, fellowship with God and our Lord Jesus Christ.—Galatians 5:22, 23.

Nevertheless, the Pastor explained, these wonderful blessings are not complete. The resurrection—the glorious change from imperfections in the flesh to perfection on the spirit plane—will be the consummation of all the Church's hopes, and that consummation, although near, we believe, has not yet been attained.

God has purposely deferred the secondary outpouring of His Holy Spirit—that upon the world, "all flesh"—until the establishment of His Kingdom. That will be a great Jubilee. It was, by Divine appointment, typified in Israel's experiences. During the fiftieth year, every Israelite was set free from bondage and debts of every kind, and had a fresh start. Thus was pictured how during Messiah's glorious reign as Mediator of the New Covenant, God on account of Jesus' sacrifice will cancel the sins of the whole world, and grant release from all weakness, and assistance back to the fulness of Divine favor.

In other words, the Jubilee of Israel typified the coming Times of Restoration of all things, when Jesus the Head and the Church the Body, as The Messiah, will reign for a thousand years, for the purpose of blessing all the families of the earth and uplifting them out of sin, weakness, depravity—mental, moral and physical.

Oh, what a Jubilee that will be! No wonder St. Peter, in describing it and telling us that it will begin at the second coming of Jesus, also tells us that it will be Times of refreshing from the Divine presence! It will be the world's Pentecost. The Holy Spirit will then be poured out upon all flesh. We are not to understand, however, that it will be done unconditionally. Rather, we may surmise that the conditions on which it will be manifested at the beginning, we merely assume that the first manifestation will be in connection with those worthy patriarchs, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the Prophets. They have already been tested and proven loyal to God. They have merely been waiting, "sleeping" until the completion of the Gospel Church. As St. Paul says, they cannot be perfect, nor enter upon their reward until we first are perfected and enter upon our higher reward, as the Spirit Kingdom.—Hebrews 11:39, 40.

Our text is in full harmony with all the Scriptures in indicating that God has special blessings for His Elect—His servants and handmaidens of this Gospel Age. Not only do these receive the Holy Spirit first, but to them its manifestation is different from what it will be with the non-elect, by and by. As already pointed out, the Holy Spirit fits and prepares the Church for glory, honor and immortality on the spirit plane. But the Holy Spirit's operation upon the world in the next Age will be totally different. Then its work will be the perfecting of all who will of the human family—an earthly blessing.

We are not to forget that God was wise to make Father Adam an earthly being, perfect, in His own image and likeness, a little lower than the angels, as He was pleased to make the angels of a higher order in His own image and likeness. The Church, now being begotten of the Holy Spirit to the Divine nature, is to be far above angels, but it is to be a Holy Spirit which operated in all God's creative work, whether of angels or of men, or of the Church of the First-born.

Adam undoubtedly had the Holy Spirit of God in his perfection. Mankind in general, during the thousand years of Messiah's Kingdom, will be receiving more and more the Holy Spirit. Its operation in them will be the perfecting of their flesh. Thus the Lord declares it, "I will take the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them an heart of flesh" (Ezekiel 11:19). The Scriptures speak of Adam in his perfection as crowned with glory and honor, and set over the beasts of the field, as responsible to the Almighty. (Psalm 8:4-9.) Sin disarranged all this, as we have seen, but God has provided the Redeemer. His work of a thousand years, by pouring out of the Holy Spirit upon the world of mankind, will result in bringing all the willing and obedient back to human perfection—to that which was lost in Adam, and re-deemed at Calvary.

This does not mean, said the Pastor, that the Holy Spirit will be reseed upon Divine but merely that God's Spirit will be available to all flesh, even to all His servants and handmaidens, in proportion to their love and zeal. So the world's progress back to perfection will depend largely upon their appreciation of the call to God and of the privileges extended to them.

"The gift of God is everlasting life, through Jesus Christ our Lord." This gift will not be given to any except to those who demonstrate their desire for it on God's terms. The wicked will not be granted everlasting life at all. On the contrary, we read, "All the wicked will God destroy." It shall come to pass that every man that will not repent, his name shall be blotted out of the book of life, and he shall be destroyed from amongst the people.

Neither does this great generosity on God's part, the forgiveness of sins and provision for the return of humanity mean that sins of the present life will go unnoticed. We may be sure that it is because we are content to just as respects the guilt and responsibility of others that the Lord has so strenuously guarded His people, saying, "Judge nothing before the time, for we must therefore, that any judgment we might form, would be more or less defective, proportionately different, in God's judgment respecting wickedness, we perceive that He takes into account all the circumstances—the ignorance, the superstition, the hereditary taints and weaknesses, etc. From God's standpoint any transgression of His Law is sin, but the seriousness of the sin depends upon the willingness with which it is committed. The Lord will deal justly with all of our race; and the Church, associated with Him in glory and in the work of judging, will then be fully conscious of the work that appointed work. So we read, "Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world?"—1 Corinthians 6:2.

The Scriptures, therefore, warn everybody, "Whoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." This indicates that our words, our thoughts, our deeds, all have a bearing upon the future life. While only the spirit-begotten are yet on trial for life or death eternal, nevertheless the world's words and deeds have either an elevating or degrading influence upon their consciences. Accordingly their opportunity in the future will find them either lower or higher, with more or less steps to retrace, in order to reach the perfection of character in the flesh.

Surely all who rightly appreciate the Church's Pentecost of nearly nineteen centuries ago will rejoice to see the Divine arrangement made for the world's Pentecost, under Messiah's Kingdom. Nor can it do harm to let the Truth be known. The lack of the knowledge of the Truth and creation of misrepresentations have doubtless led many to despair, and robbed others of peace as well as joy. By these means the Heavenly Father's character has been slandered. It is time to tell the world about the Love of God. It is time that Christians should remember that it was not fear that drew them to God, but as St. Paul declares, "The love of Christ constraineth us."—2 Corinthians 5:14.

Why The Slater Shoe Gives Better Wear

The genuine Slater Shoe is made to live up to a standard selling price, which is fixed by the factory and plainly stamped on the sole BEFORE the shoes are shipped. This puts the responsibility of VALUE up to the factory. The shoes must "make good" in style, workmanship and material, otherwise the makers couldn't afford to spend thousands of dollars in advertising their product as THE BEST FOR THE PRICE.

For over 40 years the genuine Slater Shoe has been advertised as the standard of value at the price stamped on the sole. During that time their sales have CONSTANTLY INCREASED year by year. There must be a REASON. The reason is that Slater Shoes (the genuine) wear better than other shoes. They are built to a rigid standard of VALUE, which is THE BEST POSSIBLE TO OBTAIN FOR THE STAMPED PRICE.

GIBSON BOWLES BILL

The provisional bill giving statutory sanction to the collection of income tax on the authority of a Budget resolution was passed by the House of Commons on Monday by 256 to 109.

EXTINGUISHED LICENSES

Mr. McKenna stated on Wednesday that from 1905 until the end of 1912 8,767 licensed premises were closed, with compensation under the Licensing Act.

M. P.'S AS DIRECTORS

Mr. Swift McNeill (N.), in the House of Commons on Wednesday brought in a bill to restrain directors of incorporated trading companies contracting in their corporate capacity and concerned in any contract, commission or agreement made for the public service, from being elected or sitting as members of the House of Commons.

He stated that Sir F. Banbury who raised the question of Sir Stuart Samuel's contract, was himself a director of the Great Northern railway company, which carried out contracts with the government. In the house at the present time there were seventy seven railway directors and fifty five directors of coal companies.

Territorial on Duty at Compulsory Service Meeting

Sir W. Byles (L) asked the Minister for War in the House of Commons on Wednesday whether his Majesty's troops were used to welcome and accompany Lord Roberts on his recent visit to Leeds—a visit entirely non-official and undertaken to promote a political object of a controversial character and opposed to the declared policy of the government.

Colonel Seely said the local territorial force applied for permission to furnish a guard of honor to Lord Roberts. Permission was given by the general officer commanding the district. It was proposed that a distinguished field marshal like Lord Roberts, received by the Lord Mayor, should receive the courtesy generally shown to a distinguished officer. The meeting was held to advocate a policy in contradiction to the declared policy of the government.

Sir W. Byles: When I go down to speak a guard of honor shall I have a guard of honor? (Lord Laughter).

Colonel Seely: Yes, if he is a field marshal. (Laughter).

RURAL HOUSING BILL

Passes Second Reading After Strong Opposition by Mr. John Burns, President of the Local Government Board, gave scant encouragement to a measure introduced by Sir Randolph Baker, a Unionist member, in the House of Commons, on Friday, with the object of improving the housing conditions of the working class.

Mr. Walter Long, who formerly filled Mr. Burns' post, speaking from the Front Unionist Bench, committed his party to the principle of State grants to local authorities for housing projects. But he scouted the proposal for a Housing Commission and the particular method of distributing the million sterling to be set aside each year for this purpose.

Mr. Burns agreed that Mr. Long had fastened on the cardinal defects in the measure. If Mr. Long were to succeed him—and he knew of no man more qualified to do it—(loud laughter)—he would be sincerely sorry that he had not stood by his (Mr. Burns's) side in resisting one of the most pernicious attempts to apply the system of grants and doles which would be secured either by the landowner or by the farmer. He would save the right hon. gentleman from the sentimental Thomases who sat on the back benches opposite. (Laughter).

On the land question he would dispose of a lot of nonsense in a sentence. If a generous landlord gave free sites for all rural cottages required on his land it would only make a difference of a halfpenny a week on the rent of the cottage. (Opposition cheers and laughter).

The Government would not oppose the second reading of the Bill, but they would not provide any money for the purposes set out. The Bill was scarcely worth the paper it was printed on.

Later Sir Randolph Baker moved the closure, which was carried by 100 to 49. Mr. F. Neilson's motion for rejection was rejected by 181 to 41, and the Bill was read a second time without a division.

The Bill will accordingly go to a Grand Committee. This is what happened to an identical Bill fathered by Sir A. Griffith Boscawen (C) last year, which also passed its second reading in the face of vigorous criticism from Mr. Burns. This measure met the fate of many other innocents.

TO VITO FACTORY FINES

Mr. Albert Smith (Lab. Chichester) introduced in the House of Commons on Wednesday a Bill to abolish the system of fining workpeople in cotton factories. He said that 20,000 pounds a year was deducted from the wages of cotton weavers alone in fines—often for matters for which they were not responsible.

A tragedy of spiritism was enacted at Cambridge, a few days ago. With bright and warm, and the sea placid, when the little ones set out for the tune, an army captain of Hungarian nationality, Albert Schule, murdered his two little children, Natalie and Albert, aged 9 and 7 respectively, and then committed suicide. During his rather eventful life, Captain Schule had been subjected to much misfortune and six weeks before his wife died. Both he and his wife were confirmed spiritualists and believed that they were on earth only for a short and unimportant period.

Lord Alfred Douglas, son of the late Marquis of Queensberry, after a verdict against him on Tuesday in the High Court libel suit brought by himself, was, at the Old Bailey on Thursday, convicted of libelling his father-in-law, Colonel F. H. Custance.

Lord Alfred was bound over on his own recognisance of 500 pounds to keep the peace and to come up for judgment if called upon.

The libels were contained in various telegrams and postal missives accusing the colonel of dishonesty in the handling of a post-nuptial settlement.

Lord Alfred who was wearing a dark grey frock overcoat, leaned carelessly on the edge of the dock while the jury were being sworn. He pleaded not guilty. Mr. R. D. Muir, in opening the case, said the first of the libels complained of was a telegram sent to Colonel Custance imputing to him dishonest conduct in connection with a settlement on the defendant's wife Olive.

Colonel Custance was also accused of dishonesty against the defendant's father-in-law, Colonel Custance, on the following day, Feb. 14 last. In this he also accused his father-in-law of dishonesty and invited him to take proceedings.

Counsel next read three post cards in which defendant further made still graver charges of dishonesty against Colonel Custance, saying he would continue to write such post-cards to him at the Carlton and other clubs until he was compelled to prosecute and give defendant an opportunity of "showing him up before the whole of England."

Mr. Muir next read a letter written by defendant to Admiral Sir Reginald Custance a cousin of the colonel, in which he said he would "show him up in such a manner as would make the name of Custance stick in the nostrils of the world."

Proceeding, counsel explained that Colonel Frederick Custance formerly commanded the Grenadier Guards. In 1902 defendant clandestinely married Colonel Custance's daughter, Olive, and thus there was no marriage settlement.

In 1910 Colonel Custance, said Mr. Muir, was in the position, his wife being dead, of being entitled to a sum out of the trust funds exceeding 10,000 pounds, which was his absolute property. His daughter, witness, intended to marry unless she survived him. Colonel Custance desired to settle the whole of his property upon his daughter, including that property which he had absolute right of disposal.

Though the defendant was not a party to these settlements, he was entitled under them to a protected life annuity of 1,000 pounds if he survived the colonel and his wife. An important fact in regard to these settlements was that 2,500 was raised out of the colonel's settled property for the payment of the defendant's debts.

At this time it was arranged that defendant's son Raymond should spend three-quarters of his holidays with his grand-father. In June, 1911, defendant was received into the Roman Catholic Church, and in January last the boy Raymond was sent to a Catholic school, but was taken away by his father, who wrote to the colonel that he would never see his grandson again.

Colonel Custance was called, taking a place close to Mr. Muir, who had to speak to him in a loud voice owing to his (witness's) deafness.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hayes, witness said that of the 2,500 pounds for the payment of the defendant's debts, he could not say how much Lady Alfred had. He believed 200 pounds.

Admiral Sir R. Custance recognized a letter produced as having been received by him from defendant. He was not on friendly terms with defendant, as he seldom saw him.

Lord Alfred did not go into the dock, and Mr. Hayes, in his final address, declared that the marriage was a love match, and that the colonel soon became perfectly friendly with his daughter's husband.

The Recorder said no attempt whatever on the part of the defendant had been made to prove the truth of the libels or to justify their having been sent.

The jury returned a verdict of "Guilty."

Mr. Hayes said on behalf of Lord Alfred Douglas, that he was prepared to give an undertaking that nothing further should be written by him to Colonel Custance.

The Recorder said he was glad that the defendant had in no way attempted to justify his conduct. He had done so, he would have felt it his duty to deal severely with him. As 10,000 pounds, which was his absolute property, unless she survived him, he would take such measures as would prevent him from so acting again in the future.

BIGGEST LINER LAUNCHED WITH 25 TONS OF GREASE

Huge Cunarder Aquitania is Let Down on the Clyde Before 15,000 Spectators.

The largest ship ever built for the British Mercantile Marine—the Cunarder liner Aquitania—which has been well described as a ship within a ship, was successfully launched by the Countess of Derby on Monday from the Clydebank yard of Messrs. John Brown and Co., Limited, the builder.

Both banks of the river in the neighbourhood of the famous shipbuilding town were lined by interested crowds, and inside the yard accommodation was found for the guests and the owners and the builders, and the latter's workmen. Seven rock in search of wrinkles. At four o'clock two gamekeepers saw the trio of children at work about thirty yards from shore. When the children did not return to tea at the usual hour their parents became anxious. The father searched the shore and the child until darkness fell, but without result. He then obtained the help of the coast guards, who carried on the search all night with the aid of lanterns. At two the next morning the bodies of the two youngest children were found lying on the sand about half a mile from the spot where they were last seen alive, having been left there by the receding tide. The body of the other child was not found.

The tide at the spot, where the tragedy occurred is very treacherous. It runs in very swiftly, covering the rocks inshore, whilst those further out are left comparatively dry for a time. Even local fishermen and coastguards have had narrow escapes from being cut off.

Five thousand pounds worth in cash and jewels were stolen from, or left in, a taxicab at London recently by the Hon. Mrs. Charles Craven, sister-in-law of the Earl of Craven. After lunching at a London hotel, Mrs. Craven engaged a taxicab to drive her to her home. She had with her a locked green leather jewel case with the initials "A. C." in silver on the top. It contained jewels and three hundred pounds in cash and notes.

She cab and entered her house that the case was missing. The police were informed and inquiries were made at taxicab garages throughout London. The missing property included: a valuable tiara set with a large diamond, a ruby and diamond necklace and a quantity of other diamonds and ornaments.

special steamers conveyed other spectators to the scene. Thousands, too, had waited all night in the meadows, so as to get a good position, and altogether it is calculated that at least 15,000 people were present at the launch. As she stood high and dry before launching the vessel presented a wonderful sight. But for the manner in which she dwarfed a block of three story houses, it would have been impossible to realize the greatness of her dimensions, owing to the grace of her lines.

For the launch the Clyde in the vicinity had had to be bath deepened and widened. The river in the line of the building berth was dredged to a maximum depth of 45 feet 5 in below high water of ordinary spring tides, and in addition, the river was widened on the south side, over a stretch of three acres being cut away and the Clyde Navigation Trustees, Messrs. John Brown and Co., contributed ten thousand pounds. It is stated that the contract for the building of the liner involved an expenditure of two million pounds.

The over-all length of the Aquitania is 907 ft., with a breadth of 97 ft., and a gross tonnage of 43,000 tons. In dimensions the new liner is exceeded both by the Vaterland, which has an over-all length of 950 ft., and by the Imperator, which is 920 ft. long. The Aquitania has not been designed for the very high speed but the intention is that she shall be engaged for a speed of twenty-three knots.

Could Hide Fleet-Street. Eight million nuts have been used in the construction of the Aquitania, and the total area of the nine decks is about 650,000 square yards. The steel plating used in the ship's construction, if placed on the ground, would cover an area of a quarter of a mile square; whilst the lifeboats, if piled end to end, would stretch for half a mile. Fleet street could be hidden beneath the main deck, and at least ten railway trucks could be placed abreast upon the main deck. Twenty-five tons of grease and rallow were used in preparing the ways for the launching.

EDISON'S MASTERPIECE

The Edison Disc Phonograph marks the attainment of an ideal by a man whose ideals are many years in advance of the age in which he lives. A certain musician of note when listening to the Edison Disc Phonograph, said: "You do not know what you have. You call this the greatest phonograph in the world. But it is more than that. It is greatest musical instrument in the world." (No needles are used). H. J. Smith and Co., 112 Colborne street, have secured the agency for these wonderful instruments and have received the first that have come into Brantford. Come and hear them and decide for yourselves.

Stonewall Jackson

By HOWARD L. RANN

THIS is the 50th anniversary of the death of Stonewall Jackson. Confederate General Jackson was not named Stonewall by his parents, who preferred Thomas Jonathan, but by the entire Union army, after it had run up against Jackson in the performance of his duty. The only foe that Stonewall Jackson ever turned his back to were liquor, profanity, backbiting and other similar pursuits.

General Jackson was born in the mountains of Western Virginia when a mere child, and soon after was made an orphan without any action on his part. After attending country school and learning how to throw the damp paper with unerring accuracy, young Jackson worked his passage into West Point and took the full course, including the highest degree in plain and fancy hazard. When the Mexican war broke out, Stonewall broke out with it and returned home with a collection of shoulder straps which caused him so much embarrassment that he had to cover it with a heavy undergrowth of whiskers.

At the opening of the Civil War Jackson offered his sword to his state, which commissioned him to attack, defeat, scatter, separate, segregate and decimate the Union army whenever he felt in the mood for doing so. As Jackson was in this mood about nine-tenths of the time, his methods of doing business became very annoying to the Union generals, who were never able to whip him with any success except in the press despatches to the northern papers.

General Jackson had the disagreeable habit of running around the Union army in circles and then penetrating a neat surprise by piercing it in the left flank with great vivacity. It was while engaged in one of these movements that Jackson encountered the fire of some of his own men and fell. His death stilled a valiant, chivalrous heart and deprived the Confederate army of its most successful general.

Troop Notes.
Brant Avenue Troop is parading almost 30 strong, and Scoutmaster Williamson and Assistant Scoutmasters Perry and Jones are being kept busy.

The Headquarters Patrol will be examined for the Royal Life Saving Society's certificate and Medallion in about two weeks.

The Wellington Street Church Troop Scouts are busily preparing for their concert at present. Grace Church troop is working hard for the Rally and should make a good showing on the 24th. Trinity Church Troop Scouts attempted to carry a dispatch through to Paris on the 3rd inst., but they were intercepted and the despatch captured by the Paris Scouts in the vicinity of the second toll gate. The despatch and dummy were both concealed in buns.

General Notes.
Twelve Scoutmasters and assistants were on parade at the church parade last Sunday night. Brantford is securing efficient officers who are willing to give their time to Scout work, and that is all that is required to double the membership of our brotherhood of Scouts.

If Mr. W. H. Hammond takes charge of organizing and managing Scout Troop at the First Baptist Church (and the local Scout Council trusts that he will), several carter troops and patrols will have to look to their laurels.

The Brantford Scout Bugle Band acquitted itself splendidly at the recent church parade. If Bugle Master Maich can raise the band to such a state of efficiency in a few weeks time, it should be second to none in a very few months.

Captain M. A. Colerhoun and Captain G. D. Watt will be asked to act as judges in the drill and display competition at Paris, for the Brantford district and Captain G. A. Ward will be requested to act as an officer in the marksman competition.

The Brantford Scouts will be pleased to see every member of the Brantford Scout Council at the Rally. The presence of the council will be very encouraging to the local troop and the officers will greatly appreciate its attendance en masse.

General Notes.
The Brantford Scout Council will very shortly launch a Scout Employment Bureau in order to assist Scouts in securing suitable positions when they leave school. This idea should meet with the warmest approval of employers and Scouts. The council will have a complete list of Scouts requiring positions on Saturdays, and after school or permanently, and as the Scouts will be recommended by men who know just what they are capable of doing, their disposition, ideals, etc., satisfactory results should be attained.

Pointers for the Rally.
Select your rifle team now for the Queen Chapter, I. O. D. E. trophy. Rules have already been published but can be secured from Headquarters if necessary.

See that every Scout wears his scarf with the same color on the right side in all cases.

If the scarf does not come directly between the shoulder blades or if it hangs down beyond them it gives the Scout an untidy appearance.

Each troop will find a compact shoe cleaning outfit a safe addition to have on hand. The odds may be heavy during the march out in the afternoon, and nothing looks worse in parade than dirty boots, (unless it is a hat brim drooping gracefully round the ears).

Finally—BE PREPARED.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MAKING A REPUTATION IN THE WEST.

Saskatchewan Man Tells How They Cured Him, After Four Months Suffering from Backache and Other Forms of Kidney Disease.

ST. PHILLIPS, Sask., May 5.—(Special)—In a new country, where changes of climate and impure water are among the difficulties to be surmounted, kidney trouble is prevalent. It is the kidneys, the organs that strain the impurities out of the blood, that first felt and unduly strain on the body. Consequently, Dodd's Kidney Pills have been well tried and tested in their neighborhood.

They have stood the test. Many settlers tell of backache, rheumatism and urinary troubles cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Otto Olsheski is one of these. In speaking of his cure he says: "I suffered from kidney disease for four months. My back ached, I had heart fluttering, and was always tired and nervous. My skin had a harsh, dry feeling; my limbs were heavy; I had a dragging sensation across the loins. "I consulted a doctor, but, as I did not appear to improve, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used six boxes, and now I am all right."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always stand the test. Ask your neighbors. A priest's heroic conduct was witnessed at a recent fire in a Sheffield suburb. A house at Woodscats, occupied by Father Rooney, a Catholic priest and his housekeeper, an elderly lady named Coffey, was found to be on fire. The housekeeper awoke at an early hour with a sense of suffocation, and found her room which was on the floor of the house, filled with smoke. Rushing out she aroused Father Rooney and they attempted to descend the staircase, but were driven back. With great promptitude and presence of mind the priest knotted a number of sheets together and tying them around the terrified woman, lowered her from the window to the ground, a distance of 50 feet. By this time the neighbors and a policeman had arrived and assisted the housekeeper to alight. Father Rooney then drew up the improvised rope, secured one end to some furniture in the room and let himself down. The fire, which had originated in the kitchen, assumed somewhat

Your Furs are Safe in our Vaults!

Why send them out of town when they can be stored just well in Brantford?
Furs are so highly prized by everyone, it follows that great care must be taken to protect them from the ravages of moths. It is a fact that more furs are ruined by these pests than by actual wear.

The cold, dry air system of storage is a positive safeguard against moths. Much work and worry can be avoided by simply telephoning us at 819, and we will call for your furs and other winter apparel. You place your own valuation on each article, and we are responsible to you for that amount in case of loss by fire or moths. Our charge for storage and insurance is 3 per cent. of the value—a moderate charge when it is remembered that we carefully dust each article, and hang them in a vault that is intensely cold.

Nothing is packed or folded. Everything is kept on hangers, so that the most delicate article will not become creased or mussed, and will carry no odor of moth preventive.

Lady Marjorie's Love

"I was very foolish my dear. If my father or Gerard had been with me, if I could have spoken to or confided in them I should, I am sure, never have done it; but they were both away on business in the North I don't excuse myself Marjorie—I was rash, ungrateful, wicked, heartless; anything you like. I thought only of Loftus and of showing him that the barrier of which he spoke should never keep us apart. He did not know I was to be rich, that Mr. Chadburn had promised me a fortune when I married. I was childish enough and romantic enough to enjoy the idea of keeping the secret until I was his wife." Norah paused a moment, steadying her voice.

"When I left home," she resumed "when I wrote the letter you have heard of telling my father and Gerard that I had gone to the man I loved, and whom I was going to marry, I had no thought in my head no shadow of a suspicion but that I should be his wife as soon as he could make me so."
"You went to him?" asked Marjorie softly, and then he had to tell you about me?"
"Yes. Don't ask me to say too much about it, Marjorie. He did all he could do—he urged me to return home. My letter was gone: I could not do that; I think I would rather have died!" She shivered. "Oh the misery of that time—the misery of it!"
"The shudder shook her again; she was pale. Marjorie leaned forward and caressingly clasped her arms around her waist.
"I think I know pretty well what was next, Norah dear—I can guess from what Gerard has told me. You couldn't go home because of the letter and you couldn't stay with Loftus because he was coward, enough and foolish enough—I cannot help saying just that much dear. I must—to keep to me whom he didn't care ought to have been ashamed to give for, instead of throwing everything else on one side and making you his wife as he should. Yes, he should—for if his word was pledged to me his love was pledged to you and you had thrown your home and friends and everything away because you believed in him and trusted him. And if he was miserable and ashamed of himself—well, so he ought to have been, and I am sure I hope he was—there! Now I won't abuse him any more because I know you don't like to hear it!" She kissed the other again and withdrew her arms. "And what did you do North? Went and lived by yourself, didn't you?"
"My dear, it was all I could do. I had some money and I had my jewels and I am clever enough to earn a little with my pen besides. I knew that I could manage to live for a time at least and Loftus—"
She stopped. "Marjorie I won't be ungrateful enough for your kindness, my dear little sister to make you a half confession. I lived in one possible hope—the hope of the day when his honor and his love for me would triumph over both you and your money and he would set me right and marry me."
"Of course you did," said Marjorie with conviction. "Naturally you did. You knew he loved you and didn't care for me, and why should you care about a girl you never had seen?"
"But I had seen you, my dear. Don't you remember I told you so that day I saw you in the park? I followed him down here one day when he came to see you, and listened and watched when you were together in the wood. That set a most miserable doubt at rest for me, Marjorie—I saw that you did not care for him."
"Oh not a bit," agreed the girl readily. She hesitated. "And when were you married Norah? Oh I do hope to do—that it was before I lost my money."
"No, my dear!" Norah hesitated in turn; her color deepened a little. "But you must do Loftus justice in this Marjorie. He pledged me his word that night that he would break the engagement and do me justice, and I know he would have done it if nothing had happened to your fortune. But for your father's death and all that followed it he would have told you the truth and asked you to release him. Do you recollect the last visit he paid to you here. He came down then with a fixed resolve to tell you, but you were so unsuspecting, he said that although he tried he could not do so. We were married just a week after that."
"So long ago as that?" Marjorie's eyes widened with wonder and reproach. "Oh, why didn't you let them know—Gerard and Mr Chadburn?"
"My dear, I could not." Norah flushed painfully now. "I had promised Loftus that until he gave me leave I would keep it a secret."
"Yes, but why? Why should not everybody have known?"
"Easily told, my dear unfortunate. You know Loftus is poor, Marjorie, but I don't think you quite know how very embarrassed he is. Things were tolerably easy for him while he was engaged to you a great heiress; they grew much harder when it was known that you had lost your fortune; they would have grown very much harder still had it been known that he had married a penniless woman."

MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised An Operation. How She Escaped Told By Herself.

Buckner, Mo.—"For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my feet to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and draggy all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation."
"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written her a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. LIZZIE SCOTT, Buckner, Mo.

contingencies meet foreign vessels armed and equipped in the manner described. If the British ships had no armament they would be at the mercy of any foreign liner carrying one effective gun and a few rounds of ammunition.

The cost of preparing the British ships for carrying arms is being met by the companies, but the Admiralty supplies the guns and ammunition, and provides for the training of those of the crew required for the working of the guns.

"I Guess It's Near Enough"

By RUTH CAMERON

THE pupils in a cooking school were making some cream sauce for the first time. They had been told to mix one tablespoonful of flour and one-quarter of a cup of cold milk, stir until perfectly smooth and then pour in three-quarters of a cup of hot milk. Two girls stood side by side stirring vigorously. Finally one reached for the hot milk. "What! Have you got yours smooth already?" asked the other girl, who was still struggling with some obstinate lumps. "Not quite," said the first girl impatiently, "but I guess it's near enough," and she poured in the hot milk.

The other girl went on stirring a little while longer until the mixture was really smooth.
The first girl's sauce was lumpy and imperfect.
The second girl's sauce was smooth and right.
And "I guess it's near enough" was responsible for the difference.

Could anything be more typical of the attitude of mind which produces the mediocre worker than that phrase, "I guess it's near enough?"
It seems like a simple matter to do a thing just as one is told to, or exactly as one knows it should be done—in other words, to do it right; and yet how many people never rise above mediocrity because they haven't the ambition or the stick-to-it-iveness or the time to do a thing just exactly right!

Especially does time seem to be lacking in this hurry-driven country of ours. Why is it that "made in Germany," or France, or England, or any other country than America, is a hallmark of honor upon any article? Partly, of course, because of the feeling which some people have that anything which comes from a distance must be more desirable than the simple home product; but partly because the foreign-made articles are more likely to be sound and lasting. They are made by people who have time enough to do things not "near enough" right, but right.

The very simplest thing can be done in the makeshift way of "near enough" right, or it can be done just exactly right, and the difference between the two methods even in this simplest thing is very wide.
The world needs workers who have the patience, the ambition and the time to do even the simplest thing, the making of cream sauce or the copying of a business letter, just right. It will soon find plenty of bigger things for them to do in the same way.

ENGLAND'S QUEEN IS QUIETLY PREPARING TO TRAVEL ABROAD

Queen Mary to See Italy with Princess This Year

Will Meet the Italian Sovereigns During a Short Holiday on the Continent Toward the End of Summer Before Joining King George at Balmoral.

PRINCE OF WALES ENJOYS SOJOURN IN GERMANY

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, May 10. A PRIVATE meeting between Queen Mary and the King and Queen of Italy is being talked about, though no announcement has been authorized. The Queen, it is understood, proposes to take a short holiday on the Continent toward the end of the summer before joining the King at Balmoral for the grouse shooting. Her Majesty will pass about three weeks in the North of Italy, and it is understood that a meeting with the Italian sovereigns will occur before Queen Mary returns.

She will, probably, take Princess Mary with her, and the trip may be, therefore, regarded as semi-official in character, so far as the Princess is concerned. It is understood in court environments that Princess Mary is to remain under the social tutelage of the Queen throughout the year. The question has been in some of interest, such as that which was arranged for Princess Victoria eighty years ago, but no "grand tour" need be looked for. Indeed, it is unlikely that, apart from the autumn trip to Italy, Her Royal Highness will see much of the Continent during the next two years.

The Prince of Wales has enjoyed himself in Germany right royally. Automobiles, walking and shooting caperellas in the neighborhood of Stuttgart, the Prince would appear to have passed his time very pleasantly with his host and hostess, the King and Queen of Württemberg. But an end had to come to even this idyllic existence.

The Prince is to return to Oxford and pass the remainder of the year there. Indeed, it is said now that he will complete his university career at Oxford, "coming down" His Royal Highness will have a commission in the Grenadier Guards, but his first real military experience will be gained with the Tenth Hussars, the regiment which bears his name.

Queen Alexandra's Rings. Queen Alexandra has added to her collection of mourning rings one in memory of her brother, the late King of Greece.

Needlework Done by Poor Gentlewomen. It has somehow become known that the lingerie being prepared for the young bride will be chiefly of fine batiste, hand embroidered and characterized by the quiet elegance displayed by the Kaiserin in all sartorial matters.

Mrs. Frederick William Wile was hostess at a brilliant soiree musicale, which closed the regular season at the American Women's Club. The programme was contributed by Mrs. Eleanor Painter Schaidt. An American soprano was engaged from the new Deutsches Opernhaus in Berlin, and Mr. Paul Tietjens, who is here writing a new opera, was at the piano.

Alexander Popular. An American of Teak has been invited to the house which has taken for the moment in Sussex square. She is one of the most popular of all the younger beauties and a charming hostess. With her as hostess, the Queen, who is a great favorite, and who both in town they are a great deal of each other. The Princess had once the funny experience of being asked to stand behind a stall in a bazaar and smile, the woman who was running the affair inquired how much she would smile of a Princess would cost for services.

Great Tragedy in County Meath. Margaret Brady's Sow Ate Thomas McCann's Goat and Latter Recovers Only Fifty Cents.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 10. AN Irish tragedy-comedy about a sow that ate a young goat convulsed all who heard it in the Castle Pollard (county Meath) Petty Sessions.

Thomas McCann claimed compensation from Margaret Brady for "injury done to the goat," and started his narrative well. "Your Worship," said McCann, "her sow ate a goat of mine on April 1 and made a right fool of me. Of course it wasn't quite a goat; but it was a kid. The sow is a perfect devil, and she'd eat my children if she got hold of them. I tried to get one of the kid's legs before she was gone altogether, but the sow was so smart 'availing my poor kid that I couldn't get even a crumb of her."

Mrs. Brady: "I can give ye the names of six brats who will give me a good dinner if she got hold of them. I tried to get one of the kid's legs before she was gone altogether, but the sow was so smart 'availing my poor kid that I couldn't get even a crumb of her."

When the new term of the Royal Naval College at Osborne opened on May 5, the cadets who entered was Prince Albert Victor, the younger son of Prince Louis of Battenberg. The young Prince was born at Windsor in 1891, and is to follow in the footsteps of his elder brother, Prince George of Battenberg, who is now serving in the Baltic sea.

Foremost Speed and Heaviest Guns Requisites of British War Ships

Our Naval Correspondent in London Writes of the Designs the Admiralty Is Putting Into Effect to Bring the Navy Up to the Standard Needed in These Rushing Times.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 10.

THE First Lord of the Admiralty has officially confirmed the reports that in the last group of dreadnoughts laid down for Great Britain an important change of design has been made. The main feature of the new battle ships, as compared with the ten 16-inch guns of the preceding class, was discussed in the American newspapers, but another and perhaps more interesting change in the design, the increase of the speed from twenty-one to twenty-five knots, has not been commented upon.

The new battle ships will be capable of steaming at a rate equal to that of the first battle cruisers of the British navy, but in addition to this advantage they can bring to bear an armament of principal battery of eight 15-inch guns, as compared with the ten 16-inch guns of the preceding class, was discussed in the American newspapers, but another and perhaps more interesting change in the design, the increase of the speed from twenty-one to twenty-five knots, has not been commented upon.

It is said that it was built in the seventies by an old woman named Jupp for her maid to live in, and that it was then endowed with a separate existence as a house and a number placed on the street door.

RED CURRENT DESTROYS OYSTER CROP IN A DAY. (Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 10.

RAISING pears for market, although it sounds like an industry which would have fabulous returns, has a great many drawbacks that sometimes make the life of the pear farmer one of deep anxiety. In the Bay of Ago, Japan, where there are flourishing pear farms, the owners of these plantations shiver with dread when the "red current" arrives and sweeps over the beds, sometimes destroying an entire crop in the space of a day, according to the Marine Journal. Seaweed and starfish are also dangerous to the oyster beds from which the pearls are to be got. The seaweed, or rather one peculiar variety of the growth, called the Miruno, smother the crop, and the starfish or octopus will destroy many oysters and of course the shell which is embedded between the shells.

One pear farmer makes a bed for his crop in the shallow water and then scatters a great number of small stones along the bottom. The oysters attach themselves to these stones. Women divers then transplant the oysters to deeper water, where they stay for three years. By this time they have become fully attached to the stones. The divers then bring the oysters to the surface and a small seed pearl is inserted in each oyster. The oysters then go back to bed for another four years. At the end of that period it is time for the oyster to be brought to the surface for the last time for the little seed pearl, through the crevices of more in the oyster, will, by this time, have grown to the large, brilliant and iridescent gem demanded by the jewellers.

Washington Star: "Your long speech did not make very interesting reading," said the cruelly candid friend. "It wasn't meant to," replied Senator Borah. "I try to make my speeches long enough to appear important, but not sufficiently interesting to invite criticism."

Purely Personal Impression. Washington Star: "That fellow is a bluff," said the observer. "He merely imagines that he is bluffing people," replied the student.

Drawing Society Buys Sketch by Child of 8

Exhibition in London Also Includes Pencil Notes of a Duck and an Engine Made by Mr. Roderick Hill When a Baby Two Years Old.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 10.

THE twenty-fourth annual exhibition of the Royal Drawing Society at St. James' Vestry Hall, Piccadilly, is even more interesting than its predecessors. There are greater variety and a vivacity of expression in many of the sketches that indicate intimate observation and industry. King Edward VII, who was the first patron of the society, always followed its movements, and his memory is honored by the society in forming a collection of drawings from each exhibition. This year's purchases include a series of clever heads by Miss Flora Twout and an exceptional sketch of a rabbit by Miss Clematis Waring, a child eight years of age. It is a vivacious and intelligent study. The curious are attracted to pencil notes of a duck and an engine made by Mr. Roderick Hill when a baby two years, and compare them with the admirable drawings of an aeroplane, made in his seventeenth year, which have been given to the King Edward memorial collection.

Other remarkable studies are to be seen in Miss M. Chadforth's "Girls in a School," vivacious groups by Miss Joyce W. Gow, really extraordinary sketches by Miss Cicely Hardy, aged eight, some excellent mice and frogs by Miss Dorothy Forster Knight, the horses of Miss Joan Bramwell and the water babies and lobster fantasies of Miss Janet Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Coultis Michie are being congratulated on the intention that finds practical issue in the exhibition works of art now open in the Grosvenor Galleries. Their chief desire was to bring to notice artists of ability whose achievements have not yet been known or recognized in London. Most of the works come from Scotland, but there is little that is national in them. They are strongest in landscape, and among the best are Sir George Bell's "St. Mary's Loch," which has a certain emotional evocation; Mr. A. K. Brown's "Winter Twilight in the Highlands," suggestive of the mood when witches and warlocks are on evil bent; a bright "Home with the Catch" representing Mr. R. W. Allan, and a tender winter scene by Mr. Coultis Michie himself.

Among the works of Englishmen which add interest to the show Mr. Tom Mostyn's "The Minister" is a daring exercise in color, and Mr. Priestman's "Storm Cloud in Wharfedale" is a characteristic rendering of landscape portraiture. Attractive figures, subjects include Professor Gerald Moira's decorative "Autumn Leaves" and "The Milky Way," Mr. Raven Hill's vivacious "Cock Fighting" and Mr. Mostyn's beautiful "Beyond."

The exhibition of Mr. Robert Gustav Meyerheim's pictures at the Carroll Gallery, to which the title "The Soul of the Countryside" is attached, is interesting because it shows typical aspects of English scenery seen as an unaccustomed angle, yet retaining accustomed effects. Some of the exhibits, such as "The Ferry at Bury, Sussex," and "At Close of Day," have a note of great sincerity and all have charm.

Lady Constance Emmett is exhibiting her large oil painting, "The Crowning of the Hills," at the Modern Gallery. It was at the Royal Academy last year, along with other oils and water colors, all of these Scottish scenes. "A Rift in the Storm Clouds" is an effective sketch, and even better is "Autumn's Touch Over Strathearn, Perthshire."

In her water colors of Devonshire and the South of England at the Dudley Galleries Mr. I. Armstrong again interprets this scenery in the terms of the old aquatint print. There is much that is attractive in such drawings as "Strand, Rye," "Trowlesworthy Warren, Dartmoor," and "View Near Mundesley, Norfolk."

Thirteen Club To Be Revived. Mr. Robert W. Bowers Seeking Members Who Are Willing to Defy Superstition.

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, May 10.

THE Thirteen Club, founded twenty years ago to laugh at superstition, is to be revived by its surviving members. They think that 13 is a most appropriate year to revive it, and Mr. Robert W. Bowers, the historian of Southwark, the only surviving officer, is receiving applications for membership.

"We are reviving it," he said, "for the purpose of once more showing that there is nothing in superstition. Of the thirteen times thirteen members of the club who met on that eventful opening night in 1893 met in No. 13 room at the Holborn Restaurant, sat thirteen at table, walked under a ladder, and sheltered looking glasses with the chairman, not one died within the following year, nor has any met a tragic death from that time to this. Some, of course, in twenty years, have died, but in quite a natural way, long after the club was formed."

"The number of members required will be, as before, sufficient to complete any set of thirteen-thirteen thirteens it may be, but not necessarily any number of thirteens. It is a daring exercise in color, and Mr. Priestman's 'Storm Cloud in Wharfedale' is a characteristic rendering of landscape portraiture. Attractive figures, subjects include Professor Gerald Moira's decorative 'Autumn Leaves' and 'The Milky Way,' Mr. Raven Hill's vivacious 'Cock Fighting' and Mr. Mostyn's beautiful 'Beyond.'"

Thirteen Club To Be Revived. Mr. Robert W. Bowers Seeking Members Who Are Willing to Defy Superstition.

(Special Dispatch.) PARIS, May 10.

MANY fashionable women take a great interest in the achievements of the aviators and like to follow and admire their doings on the different aerodromes. At Buc, Juvisy and Etampes there are quite frequently aviation meetings which are attended by a crowd composed of both sexes of admirers of this daring sport.

Most people go to these meetings in an automobile, so the toilette worn should have an air of being at once practical and smart. There are the long coats, which wrap one well in their warm, cozy folds and which hide the rather smart frock which may be seen at breakfast time, or in the tribunes if the weather is mild enough to dispense with the wraps. These coats are chiefly made in ratine or homespun. Many are of reversible materials, with Scotch plaid on one side, as these allow of very attractive effects in the way of trimming, which is finished off with large horn or wooden buttons.

The soft felt hat is always the most popular, no matter what may be the season. It may be trimmed with a bouquet of woolen flowers, and is covered with a large veil in mousseline, arranged so as to hide the face and protect the hair in the automobile.

The costume for the aviatrix will be especially spoken of in a supplement reserved for this fashion, but one may safely prophesy, "en passant," that in four years Fashion's decrees will also be recognized in this domain. With the incessant progress made in aeroplane construction, the security will be much greater, and many women will venture to experience the intoxicating pleasure of flying. Without any doubt we shall then have delightful costumes specially designed, parachute skirts and hats trimmed with eagles' plumes.

At the present moment the cautious aviatrixes are anything but coquette at all events when they are on their aeroplanes, for their professional costume is not very attractive. But it was just the same when ballooning was in its infancy, and one remembers how little the silhouette of those days resembles that of to-day. When they indulged in this sport women used to wear gaiters, caps and casquettes, and many other details, which were quite very unattractive and made them look like their masculine companions. To-day all that has been quite changed. Women have learned how to protect themselves from the cold and the dust, and yet continue to wear attractive garments.

Warm combinations are worn not on the skin, which are both useful and comfortable. Coats of knitted silk may be worn over blue-wool dresses, and the long coat of English waterproof cloth, lined with rabbit, Beaver or opossum, are now so truly popular. Sleeves which have hitherto sheltered on the inside are a fashion which are both cold and dusty with a muff. Finally, the coefficient of safety will be both practical and attractive picture under a draped and arranged veil.
