county, Montana, to serve three years for the theft of cattle. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and this morning Judge Craig delivered the sentence as previously stated.

The prisoner stated before sentence was passed upon him that he desired to say just a word or two, and when granted permission said that he hoped the court in passing sentence upon him would not take into consideration the The Time Frank Satler Will testimony of Nesbitt, as he was prepared to prove conclusively that at the time Nesbitt had testified to his having been a convict in Montana, he was in the employ of a man named Adams in Santa Ana, California. He had been employed there during a whole year, during which time he had delivered milk to nearly every resident in the town, and where he had been married.

Everyone who has followed the case since it opened is agreed on one point at least, namely, that Frank Satler, whatever may be his shortcomings from a moral standpoint, has shown himself to be a man of remarkable genius and quickness of intellect.

With the close of the Satler case and the charge of assault against Williams SAID TO BE AN EX-CONVICT growing out of the former case the jury cases came to a close. Judge Craig left the bench after delivering the sentence against Satler and Justice Dugas took the place, and dismissed the Williams case.

> Then came the hearing of the charge against Charles E. Severance of having stolen $160.35.

. The first witness called was Mr. Burton, the informant, who testified that on the 29th or 30th of September he had given Severance $88.35 in gold dust and had paid one Angust McIntyre $72 in currency on behalf of Severance, the to Mohr & Wilkins in satisfaction of his (Burton's) account with that firm.

Mr. McIntyre testified that he had received the $72 as a part of the money due him from Severance.

Mr. Severance took the stand and testified that he had received the dust from Burton as alleged. He said that on the evening when the transaction occurred there was a social party in progress at his house on Chechako Hill, and that when the dust was weighed, he did not remember what had been done with it. He remembered that he took a poke containing about $160 of the dust from one of their cleanups and placed it in the pocket of his trousers intending to bring it to Dawson for the purpose stated, but that he changed his trousers before leaving for Dawson early the next morning, and the dust had been forgotten and left in the pocket of the trousers hanging on the

He did not know of what he had been accused or by whom till his preliminary hearing in the lower court.

Under cross examination he went over a list of the creditors in whose collective interests he had made an assignment before going to Whitehorse, and said that when he left here he had expected to be gone about eight days, and had feared that some of his creditors might make imperative demands before he could get back and he wanted them all to be equally protected. There had also been an indebtedness of about $2000 to some 17 men employed on the claim,

The prosecution admitted the finding of the $160 in dust in the pocket of the trousers left hanging in the house on Chechako Hill.

Justice Dugas said he would pronounce the prisoner innocent, but that in so doing he would say that the full been given him.

Railroad Doctor Examines all Outgoing Dawsonites - Strike Looks Ominous.

Skagway, Oct. 9. - United States Consul J. C. McCook, who lately arrived here from Dawson on his way to whole amounting to $160.35 to be paid the outside brought news that smallpox is prevalent in Dawson and in view of close study of the Porcupine are not his statements the customs officer here decided that all persons arriving from Dawson must be able to show clean bills of health, with the result that people from Dawson on their arrival at Whiteherse are examined by a doctor and if they have not already been vaccinated, are required to submit to the operation then and there.

At the summit the passengers are again stopped and subjected to another examination at the hands of the railroad's physician and surgeon, Dr. I. H. Moore, who issues a clean bill of health, that to be off First avenue was to be turns it over to the customs inspectors. The inconvenience to passengers, however, is not great, but it is well that Dawson 1 cople who contemplate coming out should be informed of what they are to meet in order that they may be

At Skagway there are practically no fears of finfection from Dawson, but owing to the reports here, people en route to Dawson have considerable hesitancy about continuing on to that place.

Strike Still On.

Philadelphia, Oct. 4, via Skagway, Oct. 9.-The strike of the coal miners has begun to assume a very ominous and threatening phase. The miners are as fully determined now, many of them more so, as on the day when the strike became effective. They seem determined to ignore all offers of advance the offers are made direct to the Consolidated Mine Workers' Union, and to the union the mine owners firmly de cline to make overtures.

In many of the large cities, particu-Tarly in the manufacturing centers, coal is already becoming scarce and should the strike hold out 20 days longer many of the largest iron industries of Pennsylvania will be forced to suspend for want of fuel.

In the Lion's Den.

New York, Oct. 4, via Skagway, Oct. -News comes from Nebraska, Bryan's home state, that the ovations with which Roosevelt is being met there excel in enthusiasm anything ever witnessed in the history of that state. The campaign is daily growing warmer and from all over the United States come reports to the effect that the old time fires of enthusiasm are being kindled.

For a Joint Meeting.

It is encouraging to learn that the present district campaign is not to be brought to a close without at least one more joint meeting of the candidates in this city, as it is understood that an effort is now being made to arrange for such a conclave.

It is such things as joint meetings of candidates in the Yukon that smooth At Whitehorse and If You Are life's rugged pathway to the man who owes for his last meal ticket in which there are but two"punches" left, and it is to be earnestly hoped that the arrangements may be completed and the meeting brought about.

> It has been suggested that in the event of the meeting, and to avoid all danger of a squabble over the chairman, that Chief Isaac be agreed upon for that position before the meeting convenes.

Klondike Is Excelled.

Placer diggings have now been opened up in the Porcupine richer than in the famous Klondike, says the Juneau Dispatch. The latest news from the district which arrived by the Alert Satur day night is to the effect that a bedrock cut was made on No. I above discovery, that opened up a pay streak that yielded over $1000 in gold for a space not over two square feet.

This claim is a bench claim owned by Willey and Finley, and has been under operation for two seasons and yielded over $30,000 during the season of 1899. This has been the first time that the water has been handled so successfully that the owners could cut to the pay streak proper and two China pumps are now being operated to clear the pit of water.

Those in the city who have made a surprised at this marvelous yield on the pay streak, as Porcupine is generally conceded to be the richest placer camp in the world today, but necessarily backward in coming to the front, owing to the fact that the ground is hard to

Business Reaching Out.

One indication of Dawson's business growth and expansion is the fact that it is now considered possible to conduct all branches of business successfully at stands and locations other than on First avenue. Previously the merchant, jeweler, butcher, restauranter and, in fact, representatives of all branches of which is given to the conductor who out of business. Now conditions are other avenues and streets and fortunes in trade are being made in locations which would one year ago have been refused at any price. Dawson is no longer a one street town, and a year hence will undoubtedly see flourishing business houses scattered all over the flats where six months ago there were even no dwelling houses. In lines of business industries and business solidity the progress of Dawson within the past few months has been nothing less than

Successful Candidate to Be Presented With Souvenir and Certificate of Election.

Are you an American? If so, who would you support for the presidency of the United States were you back at the old home?

At the time of the last presidential campaign, 1896, the Klondike was unknown and thousands of American voters now here were then at home where they exercised their God-given rights as free born American citizens. But for many of the pioneer settlers of the states most recently admitted to the Union, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas, to forego the pleasures and privileges of voting for a presidential candidate will be nothing new, as many men who when young settled in these states, then territories, never voted for a president until 1892, those territories having then been but recently admitted as states. Residents of Alaska and of the District of Columbia, as well as of the few remaining territories, are no better business industries, entertained the idea the Yukon so far as the matter of voting for a presidential candidate is con-

But to the former resident of the older states, those who have been accustomed to voting for the nominees of their respective party ever since the first presidential campaign after they reached the age of 21 years, the fact that their votes will not be cast this year is a matter of considerable moment as well as of regret, and it is for this class in particular and all other American voters in general that the Nugget has arranged for holding a presidential election which will resemble the general election in many respects, except that the candidates for the preside and vice-presidency will be voted for pox in Dawson or vicinity, and medical directly instead of through electors, and in the further respect that the been, they have certainly been of a polls will be open from now until the evening of election day which is Tues-

SHOULD BE REVIVED.

Some time ago a movement was inaugurated in Dawson for the purpose of organizing a local stock company, the objects of which were to secure and develop placer mining properties in this district. The idea, while it did not at the time develop into any substantial results, was certainly along the right lines. Some such plan, headed by the solid conservative business men of the town, would furnish a strong inducement for the retention of local capital for home investment. It would also present an opportunity to persons of small means to safely invest their savings with a prospect of getting a share in the riches of the Klondike, whereas under present circumstances mining investments are luxuries which ing out and will soon have the Yukon men of large means only can afford to make. The Nugget is of the opinion that a company such as suggested would that the people of the Klondike are have little or no difficulty in securing better prepared to undergo a winter's all necessary subscriptions for stock, provided only that the men backing it up held the confidence of the community. The idea is a good one and should be again taken up and carried through to a successful issue. The present is a favorable time for carrying the plan into effect. The complete change in the attitude of the Dominion government toward the Klondike has made mining a more profitable industry than ever. The same influence has created opportuniities for investment which did not exist heretofore, and has restored confidence generally among the people, as to the future prosperity of result that one of the cannibals knock the district. The time is ripe for such an undertaking, which carried out along the right lines could not be otherwise than successful.

As fully set forth in another column of this paper the Nugget proposes to give the Americans of Dawson and the Yukon territory in general an opportunity to express themselves as to their choice for president and vice president of the United States. To this end a form of ballot has been prepared which will be published each day in the Nugget until the night of election which occurs on Nov. 6, when the polls will close. The terms of the contest are pullished with the ballot. We hope all Americans will interest themselves in the contest sufficiently to vo

The gold dust thief receives very little consideration at the hands of a Klondike jury. It is a good thing that such is the case, for it is the easiest of all crimes to commit and the one which above all others strikes most deeply at the welfare of the general community, Were men allowed to rob sluice boxes with impunity, the business of placer mining would cease to be profitable. Public opinion will sustain the administration of the law in giving severe punishment for this crime.

The school question has not been adjusted satisfactorily even yet. The council did very well, as far as they went, the only fault to be found being the fact that they did not go far enough. All who had given the matter any consideration at all were unanimous in the opinion that the building at the south end of town would in no degree accommodate the number of pupils. The use of the churches for overflow purposes is highly unsatisfactory. A commodious building at some Editor Daily Nugget: point north of the central part of town is absolutely necessary to meet in any respect the pressing requirements of move in behalf of the tidal wave sufferthe situation. The council ought certainly to have had sufficient time to ponder over the matter by this time. If some action is not taken immediately cold weather will be on us and it will be too late.

It is a remarkable fact that people who have spent a year or two in Dawson are seldom satisfied to go outside to remain permanently. It may be due to the fact that it is human nature to be dissatisfied under any circumstance or it may be the result of some hypnotice influence in the Klondike atmosphere. At any rate it remains a fact that the sour dough who betakes himself to the outside will in the end turn his face toward Dawson again as did the faithful Mussulman toward his Mecca.

Some sort of public recognition ought to be taken of the fact that most of the reforms which have been sought so earnestly during the past three years have been granted by the government. The period of new birth and regeneration for the Yukon is at hand. We ought to plant a tree, or set up a monument, or do something else equally appropriate in honor of the state of

A few small blocks of ice have already swept down the Yukon past Dawson, furnishing the very best of evidence that winter's icy hand is slowly reachterritory well in its grasp. It may be said, however, by way of consolation seige than ever they were before.

Kafir Fairy Story.

Here is a Kaffir fairy story. It is called "Demane and Demanza" and is a very good example of the kind of story current among the dusky "boys" of South Africa.

Demane and Demanza are husband and wife, living together in a cave. Demane one day goes out to hunt, but tells his wife before starting that on no account must she cook any food during his absence, lest the cannibals, attracted by the smell of the cooking, find out the cave and carry her off and eat her.

Demanza, directly her lord has gone, commences to prepare a meal, with the at the "door" of the cave and demands admission. This is refused him. So the cannibal goes and consults with his tribesmen, and they burn his throat, which changes his voice to a very smooth tone, like that of a girl. He returns to the cave and is this time admitted. The canibal at once ties Demanza up in a sack he has brought with him and takes her away to his own habitation. Demane, returning with a swarm of bees he has found, discovers his wife's abduction. Forthwith he tracks the cannibal to his lair. The latter has left Demanza tied up in the sack while he goes to fetch ome relations to share in the feast which is to follow. So Demane releases his wife and substitutes in the sack the swarm of bees, and the husband and wife at once make themselves scarce. The would be leasters arrive, and the canibal tells one of them to get something good out of the sack.

He attempts this, but is stung for his pains. So mine host himself, to disprove the charge of practical joking that has been unanimously preferred, goes to the sack, on opening which all the bees swarm out and sting him so unmercifully that he rushes from the cave and jumps into a pond headfirst and sticks in the mud at the bottom.

Thus he dies, and Demane and Demanza appropriate all his wealth and live happy ever after.

There are plenty of other "fairy tales" equally strange, and nearly all of them treat of the fruit of disobedience, virtue is its own reward and like matters, but they have no story em-blematic of our well known proverb, "Honesty is the best policy."—London

CURRENT COMMENT

Is Sympathy Dead? Bonanzza Creek, Oct. 7th, 1900.

I have been waiting and watching for some person in Dawson to make a ers of Galveston, but as yet I have seen no movement or symptoms of a movement in that direction. If I remember rightly, it was only last May that many of us, in fact the whole Klondike country, were canvassed for aid to those who lost their homes, few if any lives were lost, by a very disastrous fire which swept over the city of Ottawa. At that time we all responded according to our means and goodly sum was realized for the sufferers. At that same time a mine explosinon down in Utah had killed a couple of hundred family supporters and I thought at the time that something should be done for them, but it wasn't. Now Galveston is furnishing the most extensive field for help that has been known in the past decade and yet I hear of no movement being made in her behalf.

About the only thing I see left for us to do is to fervently pray that Ottawa will not have another fire, or that cities contemplating disaster will first change their names to Ottawa. TEXAN.

How He Got It.

In one of Chauncey M. Depew's stories he told of meeting a man as funny as himself.

"One day," said Mr. Depew, "I met a soldier who had been wounded in the face. He was a Union man, and I asked him in which battle he had been injured.

" 'In the last battle of Bull Run. sir,' he replied.

". But how could you get hit in the face at Bull Run?' I asked.

"Well, sir,' said the man; half apologetically 'after I had run a mile or two I got careless and looked back.'

The Situation Serious.

New York, Sept. 27. - A dispatch to the Herald from Shanghai says:

The situation in China is now more serious than ever before for those who are interested in preserving the integrity of the empire. The Chinese government is in the power of Boxer leaders who are not likely to submit to the empress dowager's proposition unfavorable to them. The friendly viceroys of the south are still loyal to the throne, and any foreign aggression in Southern China will precipitate an armed uprising.

Already the governor of Nganhwei province has addressed a memorial to the empress dowager, declaring that his signature to the viceroy's agreement with the foreign consuls in Shanghai was forged. There is danger that the friendly viceroys will be replaced. Sheng, the friendly taotai of Shanghai, has been ordered north.

Russia is holding all the forts and strategical points from Taku to Pekin. Russia's possession of the railway shows by the permanent arrangement which her officers are making that she intends to swallow the north of China.

No one here believes that Russia will ever move out except under overwhelming pressure from other powers. Germany's assurance that she does not desire territory in China if the latter be able to pay an indemnity is mislead-

Her demand for the punishment of the leaders of the Boxers as a condition precedent to peace negotiations means continued war and perhaps the complete disruption of the Chinese government. Friendly feeling between Russia and Japan is increasing. France is hand in glove with Russia. Vice-Admiral Seymour's attempt to undertake the isolated British occupation of Shanghai and to patrol the Yangtse Kiang has weakened the British position, while losing an opportunity to make a definite agreement for non-partition of the empire with Japan.

The United States is consistent, but powerless. Lu Li Cuan Liu, who it is unofficially announced, is to be the new viceroy of Canton, is anti-foreign. Unless the allies protest, the friendly viceroys are likely to have no friends left in China.

The only method for dealing with the situation not involving the division of Chinese territory is through the friendly viceroys, gradually removing the throne from the power of the Boxer leaders. Americans on the spot believe that the settlement of the present question will decide the fate of the enormous and increasing American and Chinese trade.

or columns of the general question of be remembered by all serious stuts of public affairs, addresses us toby upon the more special problem of taxation involved by the war, says the London Times. The precise amount of new taxation required is, of course. loubtful. Some of the data are obviously imperfect and must so remain for some time to come, while, on the other hand, there is room for some difference of opinion upon the question of how the necessary expenditure, whatever it may be, should be divided between capital and revenue. We need not, therefore, pin ourselves to particular figures. It suffices for the moment to let the figures remain avowedly provisional and to deal with principles. There is one great distinction to be drawn at the outset between expenditure directly due to the war and expenditure arising out of the lessons the war has taught us.

The expenditure directly due to the war ought to be and must be, as Sir Michael Hicks Beach has already intimated, a charge upon the territories involved in the struggle. The exactiond a war indemnity from the vaned is perhaps the best established riple of modern international rela-

People who say that this is a capitals' war will no doubt reflect with asure that this is the way to make e capitalists pay their proper share of its cost. Apart from direct war expenditure we have in sight a continug extra expenditure of apparently at least some ten millions per annum. It is made up of what is called normal increase of the army and navy estimates -say a couple of millions—another ouple of millions due to projected additions to the army and six millions or "temporary" measures of home deuse. So far as really temporary the ost of these measures ought to counteas art of the war cost. #### Habit Is a Horse's Work.

"When I retired from the contracting business a short time ago," said a well known man, "I had a number of horses that I was anxious to dispose of. Among them was one named Jerry, which for several years had been used to working on a drum. In such work a horse becomes accustomed to lifting his feet high to avoid striking the hoisting ropes. When the horses were put under the hammer, Jerry went to a Har-

"About a week later the purchaser of Jerry called at my house and told me that he had a lot of trouble with the horse. He said that Jerry would go a short distance, when he would stop short and lift his feet high, and after doing this would go a little farther, only to repeat it again. I told the grocer why the horse stopped short and lifted his feet and also advised him to look up some contractor and sell the animal to him for hoisting purposes. He did so, notifying me that he received a larger price than he paid me for the horse."-Ex.

The Grubstaked Men.

The grubstaked man from the States old-time miner. His experience with reservation. these individuals has taught him a few lessons which all have had to learn since time began and man had to carn his bread by the sweat of his brow. Generally speaking, it is fair to assume that a person who has not hustle and 'go' sufficient to enable him to accumulate enough funds "in the States" to take him to the Alaskan gold fields is of too poor timber to make a successful mine hunter in this northern region. There are many good, ambitious and industrious men in Alaska who have been grubstaked by friends. They are the exceptions, however, and form a different class from the professional "grubstake chaser," who is ever a ne'er-do-well. The "grubstake chaser" is peculiarly the product of the Klondike. That is, he only existed in a mild form before that era of northern mining excitement. There are so many fine points about the business, as now carried on, however, that it may be characterized as a distinct profession, and it requires no little ingenuity on the part of the professional "grub-stake chaser" to make a good living out of

The crop of "grub-stake chasers" is always very large and in full evidence wherever and whenever there is a new gold strike. The richer the strike the more numerous the "grub-stake chaser." In Alaskan winter camps he flourishes like a green bay tree.

Numerous instances are known of his operations in Nome last winter, where the said individual and a few friends work the graft very successfully. They would build a cabin a long distance up or down the beach or back in the hills somewhere. Then they would strike for a grubstake on which to "mush" and stake claims! The grub-stake obtained they would retire to their cabins and live on good, grub until the grubstake was exhausted. Then they would return with a lot of filled out location notices of claims, which claims, and often the creeks, too, only existed in the fertile imagination of the "grubstake chaser." These would be turned over to the grub-staker, who dreamed the long winter through of vast wealth when summer came. Periodically the 'grub-stake chaser'' repeated this operation and the recorder's books have on them hundreds and hundreds of these bogus locations, for which some person has put up the expense.

There are some people in Nome who not now grubstaking as many "grub-stake chasers" as formerly.-Nome Gold Digger.

Easy to Explain.

They were sitting in the club and discussing plays and plots and actors and actresses and hoc genus omne, Said he: "I rather like these ingenious, intricate plots. Now, for instance, I have a great idea for a plot. Two men are in love with two girls. Charlie is in love with Edith and Jack is enamored of Nellie, but Nellie loves Charlie and Edith loves Jack. That is simple, isn't it?"

The friend said it was.

"Well, they all go to a masked ball, Charlie is to wear the disguise of a harlequin, Jack that of a Boer. Edith will appear as Spring and Nellie as Mary, Queen of Scots. Before the ball they all get to know somehow what the disguises of the others will be. Then at the last moment they reverse the characters, each couple exchanging their dresses. Do you follow?"

The friend gasped a reply

"This means to say that Charlie, who Donald B. Olson, Manager. was going as a harlequin, really goes as a Boer, and so on. Well, Charlie, as a Boer, makes love to Nellie, who was going as Mary, Queen of Scots, but who is masquerading as Spring, while Jack, who was going as a Boer, but who takes the part of a harlequie, devotes himself to Edith, who should have gone as Spring, but who has taken Nellie's part of Mary, Queen of Scots, Now, to make this plain, you will see that I hvae drawn all the characters on paper, and if you will follow these lines which I have made you will see also that, supposing they change dresses before the time of unmasking, everything will appear to be right when they come face to face. Isn't that so?'

No answer came. 'So that Charlie, who was in the disguise of a Boer, now appears as a harlequin and makes love to Edith, who was Mary, Queen of Scots, but is now Spring; while Jack, who was a harlequin, is now a Boer, and spoons with Nellie, who was Spring, but has now taken her right costume of Mary, Queen of Scots. Well, when they unmask, Charlie, who was a Boer, and who is now a harlequin, can't make out why or how Edith, who was to appear as Spring and appeared as Mary, Queen of Scots-why, where on earth has he gone

The friend had fled from the simplest plot in the world, but he may be seen in a certain ward mutering to himself: "Now, Charlie went as a Boer and

The Nora left Whitehorse on the 6th, running night and day, made the trip in two and a half days. Capt. Gardner reported the following steamers: Zealandian on a bar at Hellsgate, blocking the channel; the Gold Star on her way down and the Canadian on her way up are tied up waiting an opportunity to get by the Zealandian. The Bonanza King was also stranded at Hellsgate, but succeeded in getting off and passed Selkirk this morning on her way down. The object of having each ballot signed by the voter is to prevent repeating and stuffing of the ballot box.
Only ballots clipped from the Daily or Semi-Weekly Nugget will be "official" or will be counted. Each ballot must, after being correctly marked and signed, be placed in an envelope, sealed and directed to the Nugget and marked "vote." These envelopes will be dropped in a ballot box which has been provided and which will not be opened until after 6 o'clock of the evening of November 6th, when to three competent judges and two clerks, carefully selected from the ranks of the two parties, will be delegated the task of opening the ballot box and next the envelopes, counting the votes and announcing the result and cetifying to the same.

Mr. J. L. Sale, the popular jeweler and "compiler" of Klondike souvenirs, will prepare a suitable souvenir which, with the certificate of election duly attested by the judges and clerks will be forwarded to the candidate who is the choice of American voters of Dawson and the surrounding country, no matter what the general result on the outside may be. The candidate who carries the Klondike vote will re-

On the beach between the company's warehouses may be seen an immense pile of empty oil cans which stand as a monument to the loss their leakage occasioned.

When the leaking cases were piled up on the beach the oil ran down in streams to the river below, where it floated upon the water and was dipped up and saved by some men who were fortunate enough to be on hand and in a position to take advantage of the proverbial ill wind. One man dipped up and saved 75 gallons, and another got 50 gallons, while several others saved enough to furnish light for the winter.

What the amount of the company's loss will be is not stated, but that it will foot up enough to be considered a comfortable fortune by many, is quite evident.

Muir Glacier Is Intact.

Alaskan and northern tourists will learn with delight that Muir glacier has not been damaged, but stands today, as for ages past, grand and majestic, the great king of glaciers. Among the passengers on a recent excursion trip was William E. Pearce, of the Pacific Coast company, and in speaking of the glacier, he said:

"The statement that Muir glacier was seriously damaged by the earthquake of a year ago is untrue. It is just as grand as ever, but the trouble this season has been that vessels have not been able to get close enough for passengers to see it. On August 8 we got within four miles of it and I can say it is the same old glacier. The earthquake did take off large masses of ice from the face, and these floating in the bay appear as huge icebergs and block the passage of vessels, but next season the bay will be clear and the glacier can be approached as in former years. The damage by the earthquake is but as a drop in the bucket, or I can better explain its work by saying that it took off the face probably 50 feet, while the main body extends back, visible to the eye, 20 miles.

"The report of its destruction is all wrong. The glacier extends from its face on Glacier bay back to the head of Davidson glacier, which faces on Lynn canal, a distance of 45 miles. All this season Muir inlet has been full of small bergs so that vessels after proceeding as far as they can are forced to back out. On our August trip the surface of the glacier looked to be from 25 to 30 feet high, but in reality it is from 100 to 200 feet high. Next year we will be able to get close to it and will find it just as large and grand as at any time in its existence."-Ex.
