IN MEMORIAM

Last Sunday evening a Memorial service was held in Kentville Baptist Church which was attended by a large number. The pulpit was very effectively draped in black and purple and on the right of the pulpit was a large portrait of the Queen heavily draped. The service was of a most impressive nature. Special music being sung by the choir. The Rev. Mr. Day delivered a most eloquent discourse based on the following text.

VICTORIA, THE GOOD; OR THE SUPERIORITY OF INFLUENCE TO AUTHORITY.
Text. Prov. xi. 16. A gracious woman retaineth honor:

The progress of the world during the last two years marked as it has been by the increase of wealth, the expansion of commerce, the extension of political privilege and the spread of knowledge, has fostered a spirit of criticism, of independent thought which has not scrupled to flash the search light of investigation upon every institution, claiming the homage and support of mankind.

Its light like that of the X ray's has penetrated the trappings of office, rank and privilege, and has beat with a fierce glare upon the throne itself. As a result men have demanded more and more loudly that office should correspond to ability and character and should not be made a refuge for incompetence and vice. In the progress of this demand, privilege and rank and even thrones have been overturned, as in the case of France and Brazil, while all nations have been more or less imbued with a true democratic spirit, which claims that a government shall exist only by the suffrage of the people, and only as long as it faithfully carries out the people's wish.

The doctrine of "The Divine right of Kings" has given place to that of responsible government, at least among the most progressive nations.

England has been the true home of Democracy, ever since the time of King John, when those sturdy barons representing the nation, wrested from their unwilling prince those rights and liberties contained in Magna Charta.

At the present time it is doubtful if any country in the world, not even excepting the United States of America, is more democratic than England; and yet in this same democratic England we see the throne apparently more firmly established than any where else in Europe. It is indeed a strange anomaly to see a nation, yea an empire of free, independent, fearless men, and men too, believing most thoroughly in the doctrine of "rule by the people," who yet only reach their highest enthusiasm as they sing "God Save the Queen." How are we to explain it? I think the answer lies in the almost worship of monarchy in an age of republican sentimentality in the personality of the Queen herself, a woman whose power over her subjects, lies not in the fact that she holds a sceptre and wears a crown, but rather in the purity, goodness and sweetness of her character.

At first a Queen by the authority of State, she came at last to rule over myriads of hearts by the influence of a righteous life. Even had Her Majesty been a private citizen, her long record of good deeds, would have had an uplifting and sanctifying force, but exalted as she was by the hand of Providence, to the supreme headship of the greatest nation on earth, her virtues have had a royal setting and her influence for good has thus been emphasized and magnified.

I have said that influence was a greater power than mere authority and so it has proved in the case of our late Queen. Had she depended alone upon her authority as Queen of England, had she rested all her claim to the obedience, love and good will of her subjects upon that, she never would have attained that sublime height of ideal affection in the hearts of her people which she did attain, and she would have departed from the grandeur of royalty and the glories of a throne at least "unwept," if not "unhonored and unsung."

Her power lay in that gracious, uplifting and righteous "influence" which she was able to exert in all directions and upon all minds with whom she came in contact. "Let us think for a moment of that influence as exerted on the home."

Napoleon I. once remarked contemptuously that the English were a nation of shopkeepers. "Had he more truly gauged the English character he would have said rather, "England is a nation of homes." "Every Englishman's home is his castle" is a saying which reveals the emphasis put upon home life in Britain.

The Englishman is a home-lover and wherever he may wander in the broad world, it is the thought of home that lies nearest his heart.

London, the largest and most populous city in the world has steadily resisted the encroachments of the large tenement or apartment houses, where from ten to fifty families could be sheltered, because we are ready to believe that the great buildings were unsuitable for homes in the true sense.

The suburbs of this great city are laid out for the most part in streets of small self contained houses in here the words "Home, Sweet Home" are more than mere phraseology.

This being so, namely that the home is the fountain and source of the nation's strength and vitality, it can readily be seen that anything tending to affect the home life of England, or indeed of any nation where the home truly exists in the Anglo-Saxon sense, is a matter of the greatest importance to the welfare of the country.

It is therefore with peculiar pleasure that every well-wisher of the empire studies the beautiful home life of the Queen, where can be seen magnified and intensified those domestic virtues which every Englishman holds dear.

Queen Victoria's home life was like a beautiful and pure picture, ever showing in its brilliant light and deep shadows the loveliness of inmost joy, the sweetness of love in husband and care of children and the grandeur of submission to the will of God in affliction.

Such a picture was hung in the sight of the British people throughout the period of a long life. Who can estimate its power for good?

Love! purity! fidelity! These are the words that might have truly been written over the portals of her dwelling, whether it be at Osborne, Balmoral or Windsor. These are the words which reveal the influence, by which she elevated womanhood, purified her court and adorned her own character.

But the influence of the Queen did not cease with the home. "It was felt with equal power in the political sphere." Not directly, of course; that would not do for a constitutional sovereign, nevertheless her firm, quiet pressure in the direction of what she believed to be right, was a force to be reckoned with in English Politics.

It is the fashion among certain writers to say that as far as the exercise of real authority goes, the occupant of the throne of England is a mere figure head. This it appears to me is a mistake. The throne is a power and has a real influence politically and never was the statement truer than when applied to Queen Victoria.

It is not my purpose here to go deeply into this subject, but merely in passing to refer to the beneficial influence which the Queen has been able to exert on the relations between the classes and the masses. This is not so much a political question perhaps as it is a social one, and yet it is the soil from which many vexing political problems arise.

The Queen early recognized the fact that the will of the people constituted an authority, superior to her own and she was ever ready graciously to acknowledge this fact. No real clash ever occurred between her will and that of the people.

The result has been that the rising tide of democracy instead of sweeping away aristocracy and royalty together has but lifted the Queen into greater popular favor than any monarch ever before enjoyed.

Her attitude, suggestive of a desire always to conform to the wishes of her subjects when constitutionally expressed has modified and softened radical set-ment and deprived socialistic investment of its sting

Men, no matter how strongly they were opposed to royalty, were loath to enter on a campaign against a Queen whose only thought was for the welfare of her subjects.

It is for this reason, partly at least, that we do not find the same bitter spite in England between the different classes as we do for instance in Germany.

In the latter country social Democracy is very strong and threatens with a bitterness, born of ages of overbearing tyranny on one side and social ostracism on the other, to overturn all existing forms of government. In spite of its apparent strength, the German government, according to many thinkers rests on the edge of a slumbering volcano.

But in England, the fact that the line between the Lord and commoner is not so closely drawn, and the readiness that the Queen has ever shown to confer titles of honor and distinction upon deserving persons from whatever class of society, has certainly smoothed the relations between aristocracy and democracy, perhaps even to the extent of preventing a revolution.

Besides all this, by her womanly sympathy with the poor and distressed, ministering often as she did to the needs of the sick with her own hands, cheering those in trouble by her presence, the Queen still further contributed to the spirit of peace, forbearance and goodwill among the different classes of her subjects. As far as the army is concerned, her influence has been exerted in numberless ways for the good, and happiness of her soldiers. Even the most humble private could not but be thrilled with new loyalty and devotion when he heard that the Queen was daily found sobbing at midnight for the brave men who had fallen in defence of the Empire at South Africa.

The extent of the Queen's influence on international affairs only the future can reveal. The keynote of the foreign

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Hantsport Advance

A united memorial service for our late Queen was held in the Baptist church on Saturday morning at 11 a. m., when music and addresses appropriate to the solemn occasion were given. The church, pulpit and pipe organ were tastefully draped with black, and a large and handsome picture of the late Queen stood at the left of the pulpit. The Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian choirs rendered familiar hymns and tunes in an impressive manner, while Miss Mary Davidson did her part nobly on the organ. Mayor Whitman impressively conducted the service. After the organ voluntary and the hymn "Lead Kindly Light," the chairman offered the invocation prayer. The hymn "Our God, our help in ages past" was rendered, then Pastor White spoke of the magnificent and impressive funeral pageant that was marching to the grave, while memorial services were being held throughout the Empire, as the whole world mourned the loss of our Queen. He said we owed much to our departed Queen. The world owed her much as this world-wide mourning testified. The speaker said there is a sense in which a noble spirit never quite quits the earth. In spirit and immortal deeds she is still here. Though dead she speaks in reason's ear.

And in example live
 Her faith and hope and mighty deeds,
 Still fresh instruction give.

The hymn "Shall We Gather at the River" was sung, when Mr. Shields, principal of our high school, spoke in a touching way of the gift of such a Queen as Victoria. How we all loved her and how truly we mourn her loss. He spoke of many events of historical importance, and showed how they stood related to progress of the Kingdom of God. Mr. Shield's address was well worded, rich in thought, tender in spirit, and well received. After another hymn Pastor Akins spoke on some lessons to be drawn from the life of our noble Queen. These facts the speaker said, should relieve the darkness of the moving. We will not attempt an outline of this excellent address. It was to the point and most appropriate. The final hymn "Asleep in Jesus" was beautifully rendered while the congregation slowly filed out to the solemn strains of "The Dead March in Saul."

This was regarded by the large congregation that filled the house, to be a most helpful, fitting and impressive service.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICE TO THE QUEEN

At St. Andrew's on Saturday.

Hantsport Advance
 At the last toll of the bell (81), in St. Andrew's church at 11 a. m., on Saturday morning Feb. 2nd, the memorial service for the late Queen commenced. The Rector, Rev. John Reeks called the attention of the congregation to the fact that the service for the burial of the dead which they were about to engage in, was the same as was being said in St. George's chapel at about that same hour over the body of the late lamented Queen. The service is very solemn and on this occasion was made more so in the midst of black drapings, which lent a further sadness to the occasion. The sermon was from the text found in the last part of the 24th verse of the 35th chap. of 2nd Chronicles, "and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah." The preacher drew a beautiful picture of the lives of these two God fearing rulers. The Queen, like Josiah, was called upon to reign over her people while yet in her youth, and as is said of Josiah, that he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord so we all believe the Queen's life was in harmony with the Divine ruler also. We have no space to even outline the splendid sermon. The whole service was heartily supported by the congregation who also assisted the choir in singing appropriate hymns in the ancient and modern collection, viz. 399, 289, 184 and 499. The most perfect order and decorum was manifested during the service, and all present must have been impressed with the last service here, to the late Queen of blessed memory.

Another consignment of 1100 tons of Canadian hay has been ordered by the War Office of Great Britain to be sent to South Africa by the steamer Micmac, now on the way or soon to leave Cape Town for Canada; 14000 pounds of jam and 250,000 pounds of corned beef are also to go on her to the British soldiers. She will be the 14th steamer to take a load valued at over $1,000,000 from Canada to South Africa, and it is claimed that the British authorities intimate that Canadian meat and forage are superior to those from the United States.

About 25,000 feet of floor spaces has been reserved for the Dominion Government at the forthcoming Glasgow Fair, and a fine building is to be built for Canada. Exhibits have all now, we believe, been shipped from this country.

VALUE OF FRUIT DROP IN N. S.

The annual address of President Bigelow of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Ass'n, read before the Ass'n last week contained some very interesting statistics on the value of the fruit crop of this province. The past year was an unprofitable one for the growers and such a year has never before been recorded. In some cases the apples were not of the quality and quantity as in former years and the prices obtained were exceptionally low, the latter being due to transportation. The frequent changes during the mill' winter injured the buds, the cold wet May produced an increased fungus and insect development, and the disastrous storm of Sept. which injured the trees and fruit. This followed by the severe frost of Oct., which produced skin rot. The bad year is partly due to the above.

Mr. Bigelow estimates the annual value of the Nova Scotia fruit crop at 1,000,000. The net receipts for apples shipped in 1899 to England were $800,000, but in 1900 only $200,000. It is calculated that the value of orchards now bearing is $4,500,000 or $500 an acre for 9,000 acres. The annual addition to the wealth of the province by young orchards is computed to be $1,000,000. Mr. Bigelow says that 4,000 men are employed in fruit culture, by which he probably does not mean that they give their whole time to it. He supposes that 4,000 others are employed in subsidiary industries, such as making barrels and boxes, tending nurseries and preparing fertilizers. This seems to be a large estimate, if it is intended that the whole, or the greater part, of their time is to be paid for out of fruit sales. If a million dollars were divided among the 8,000 men mentioned by Mr. Bigelow, it would give them only $12 each, or say forty cents per day. The railways are said to have received $60,000 for carrying Nova Scotia fruit while $200,000 went in freight to the steamboats. Allowing for over-estimate of labor it remains that the fruit business is pretty large considering that it belongs practically to two counties and only a small part of these.

FALLING HAIR Does this illustrate your experience? And are you worried for fear you are soon to be bald? Then cease worrying, for help is at hand. You need something that will put new life into the hair bulbs. You need a hair food, such as AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It brings health to the hair, and the falling ceases. It always restores color to gray hair. You need not look at thirty as if you were fifty, for your gray hair may have again all the dark, rich color of youth.

MOUNT DENSON Miss Ada Pentse spent Saturday in Hantsport. Mr. and Mrs. James Pattison spent Tuesday of last week in Falmouth. Mrs. T. E. McDonald spent Saturday with friends in Hantsport. Mr. H. L. Shaw accompanied by Miss Nettie, spent Wednesday in Martock, the guest of Mrs. L. Millett. Miss Ada Pentse entertained a number of her friends on Monday evening. A surprise party was given to Mr. Crossley on Friday evening by a large number of his friends. The evening was spent very pleasantly by music, games, and refreshments. The question is now asked who next to surprise?

Aroused At Last To the terrible ravages of consumption in Ontario, the Government is petitioned to establish hospitals for consumptives. As a preventative to consumption there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine which promptly and effectually cures every cough and cold. It has by far the largest sale of any remedy for throat and lung troubles. 25 cents a bottle. Family size 60 cents. All dealers. 'It seems to be an actual fact that an Indian never laughs.' 'Nonsense,' Didn't Longfellow mean Minnehaha? Philadelphia Press.

Dear Sirs,—I was for seven years a sufferer from Bronchial trouble, and would be so house at times that I could scarcely speak above a whisper. I got no relief from any thing till I tried your MINARD'S HONEY BALSAM. Two bottles gave relief and six bottles made a complete cure. I would heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from throat or lung trouble. J. F. VANBUSKIRK, Fredricton. The Post office at Falmouth, which has been conducted by Mr. Edward Armstrong at the D. A. R. station, (Mr. Armstrong being also Rv agent) has been removed to the store of Messrs. A. G. and F. H. Manning. Mr. Fred Manning having been appointed Post Master. Minard's Liniment Cures Garget & Cows.

Hantsport Judge deWolfe of Windsor, was in town on Thursday on business, he is looking well. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eaton are visiting Mrs. Eaton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. North. Commissioner Eva Booth is to visit Nova Scotia again in the interests of the Army. Miss Pigeon of Windsor, spent Sunday with her friend, Mrs. H. K. Francis. A bean supper and fancy sale in the new hall Upper Falmouth, tomorrow, Thursday evening. Miss Edith Lawrence and Miss Grace Lawrence left on Monday for Gaspeaux to spend several weeks. The barque Swansen, Carl, cleared at St. John on the 29th January, lumber loaded for Buenos Ayres. Mr. Wm. O'Brien, Collector of Customs, Windsor, was ill last week at his residence in Halifax. Quite a number of the returned troops from South Africa are in the lecture field, including one chaplain. Mrs. Daniel Cameron of Halifax, has returned to her home after several weeks spent with relatives in Hantsport. The str. Tanagra arrived at New-castle on Tyne Feb. 1st from Bremen, where she is to be docked for some repairs. The first of the great furnaces of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. Sydney was lit on Saturday night. Miss Moxham applied the match. Influenza, or a light form of La Grippe, is in town several cases developed. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton have each been afflicted with the malady. Trains on the D. A. Ry. have been draped in black and purple during several days past, in respect to the late Queen. This was noticeable on the locomotives and some of the passenger coaches. M. S. F. E. Dodge is home from New York, her husband (Capt. Dodge) is ill in Hospital at New York with la grippe. It is said there has been 100,000 cases in that city this winter. Mr. Alex Nel-son formerly of Newport and later of Bridgewater, N. S., died recently in Braintree, Mass. He will be remembered by many of our readers as proprietor, at one time, of Minard's Liniment and other proprietary medicines. The Bridgewater Bulletin says: Angus McDonald of that town fell down stairs and sustained injuries from which he died last Thursday, lacking one day of being 97 years old. He was born in Hants County. Several Publishing houses in Canada and the United States are already advertising for agents to sell the History of the Life of the late Queen. We think the Guelph Publishing Company will issue as good a work as any, they seem to be on the ground floor in some respects. The Sunday School Association field secretary, O. M. Sanford, of Burlington, has been addressing meetings in West Hants and Kings Counties during January. Through February he will speak at the principal places in Lunenburg and Queens counties. Mr. Elbert Weathers who has been in Boston two or three years, married and settled there, has been in this town and Summerville a week or more. He is leaving today to return. Mrs. and Miss Brison, relatives, accompany him and will reside with him in his new home. Mr. Lewis Woolaver of Walton, was here last week, on his way home from Central America. Mr. Woolaver has been in Central America over two years working at his blacksmith trade, for the Mahogany lumbering company of Chelsea, Mass. Few white people from the north stand the climate there as he has, he looks in perfect health. Somebody says that speculators are offering $2 per barrel for apples for shipment to England. A King Co. correspondent to the Sun says:—The prices for apples are improving both in Kings and Hants counties. Five barrels of Golden Russets shipped from Falmouth to England brought twenty dollars to the owner recently. The Sheriff of Portland, Me., throws a side light on the prohibition laws of his State, which do not prohibit, when he reports that in order to make the city a "dry" town he must permanently stop the sale of liquor in 13 hotels, 88 saloons, 17 kitchen bars, 3 wholesale drug stores, 20 retail drug stores, 4 bottling establishments, and about 50 other places which he cannot accurately classify.—U. S. paper.

I Advise All women who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce. That advice is based upon practical experience. After suffering for months, and finding no benefit result from the treatment of the local physician, Miss Belle Hedrick wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. She acted on the advice, regained her appetite, recovered her strength, and gained several pounds in weight. Write to Doctor Pierce in good advice for every woman to follow. It costs nothing. Dr. Pierce invites sick women to consult him, by letter, from Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. In a little over thirty years, Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured over half a million women. I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick of New Putnam Co., N. Y. "I was treated by a good physician, but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took thirteen bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and eight of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicine a month my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it has improved. I have gained several pounds in weight. I advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

ST. JOHN LETTER The city was as silent as a graveyard last Saturday for business of all kinds was suspended. Many public and private buildings were heavily draped with mourning symbols and memorial services were held in most of the churches which were largely attended. It will be a week or more before the city assumes its customary appearance. Twenty one births, three marriages and nine deaths were recorded in the city last week. Steamer Micmac is here taking in a cargo of hay and provisions for South Africa. Henry Gilbert died suddenly at Hampton last Thursday. He was formerly vice president of the Bank of New Brunswick. The snow storm of last Thursday kept the street railways snow plow in active service for nearly 24 hours. A female member of St. John A. M. E. church is bringing an action against her pastor for slander. Robert King a laborer, had his skull broken by a fall from a trestle on North wharf a few days ago. He is in the hospital and his recovery is uncertain. The market changes of the week are insignificant. Hand picked beans are quoted at $1.85 per bush. Yellow eyed 2.40 Evaporated apples 6 1/2 lb. Dried Prepared breakfast foods are becoming very popular in city and country. They cost no more than oat meal, are made fit for the table in a few moments, and furnish an agreeable variety. The leading foods of this sort are Swiss Food (wheat) Mall Food (barley) and Beaver Rolled Oats. Messrs George S. deForest & Sons have largely increased their stock of domestic and Havana cigars, ranging in price from $16 to $140 per 100. Edward Edwards. St. John, Feb. 4.

Untold Agony From Salt Rheum Mr. Chas. F. McLean, Palmerston, Ont., says "I suffered untold agony and misery for years with salt rheum in my feet. I tried almost every remedy I could hear of. I was told by the best physicians I could not get more than temporary relief. I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. After one or two applications I received great relief, and when I had used only two boxes I was completely cured." At all dealers, 60 cents a box. Ma, I think Mr. Perkins is getting ready to propose. Oh, daughter don't get engaged again so near Christmas, I have all the Christmas presents to give that I can worry through now.—Indianapolis Journal.

SUMMERVILLE A great sadness has been over our place since the death, and on the day of the burial of Her Majesty the Queen. The beautiful life of our beloved Queen is ended, but her deeds will live after her. Work has been going on for the last two weeks on the schr. Calabria at the Summerville wharf, which makes employment for quite a number and is therefore much appreciated in this place as an advance on so many past winters that there has been no work all through the winter months. Capt. Harry Dexter who is keeping ship on schr. Calabria for the winter has his wife and little son with him. Logs are being hauled to repair the Great wharf in the spring. An incident which might have resulted seriously occurred here not long ago, and should be a warning to those wearing celluloid in any shape. A young lady of this place who has been in the habit of wearing a celluloid pompadour comb in her hair was stooping near the stove wherein was a hot fire, when the comb took fire and burned rapidly, and only by the promptness of her father in smothering it out, after burning her hair considerably, was serious results averted. Mrs. Alex Smith, a very aged lady of this place, has been ill for some time. Capt. Geo. Marsters is not improving very fast as he has had to have his leg put in plaster of paris again. The treatment of Forrest Harvie's eyes in Halifax was glad to learn, has been successful, and his eyesight is very much improved. Catarth Philanthropy This is how it operates: Mr. Thomas Sissons, of Pearl Lake, Que., had suffered from Catarth for years, and being informed by his father, who had found Catarthozone alone was the only positive cure for that disease, he forthwith commenced its use, and before long was entirely rid of his former enemy. Then by means of his philanthropy six friends were also permanently cured of Catarth, for Mr. Sissons sent each of them a complete Catarthozone outfit, and states they would not now part with them for twice their cost. He says a great deal more about the merits of this great preparation, but his action in sending for six outfits for friends stands for conviction that he has discovered a remedy of superlative value. Druggist all sell Catarthozone; ask them to let you try it. We guarantee every dollar outfit to cure Catarth, Bronchitis and Asthma. Small size, 25c., a trial sent for 10c. by N. C. Pulson & Co., Kingston, Canada, or Hartford, Conn., U.S.

Little Willie—This paper says that Mr. Hamlet Smithers received an ovation. What does this mean? Father—The word "ovation" my son, is derived from the Latin "ova" which means an egg. Ovation means shower of eggs.—Exchange. My gracious, James, what are you here for? exclaimed the kindly slum worker on a tour of the station houses. Burglary, replied Jimmy Does coolly. Oh, you don't mean it? Well, I am surprised at that! So wuz I, or I wouldn't be here.—Philadelphia Press.

A Fine Ocean Race The following named ships, all of and for England, will sail from San Francisco during the present week: Pora Stanley, Spring Bank, Sokoto, Crown of Scotland, Cromartyshire, Flintshire, Crowder and Glecoe. These eight ships have a combined tonnage of 19,000 tons. Five of them are four masted. All of them are iron or steel built, and all are loaded with grain bound to Queenstown for orders. This should prove an interesting race.—Yar. Telegram.

A GREAT BOOK From the Guelph Herald, Jan. 25th, 1901. The death of our illustrious Sovereign will naturally be followed by the publication of many "Lives of the Queen." A well written and artistically produced book on her Majesty's life and reign, will unquestionably command an immense sale. An old book with a few pages added, a rehash of newspaper articles thrown together in a day, or American books by American authors, will not fill the bill. The Herald is glad to announce that THE WORLD PUBLISHING COMPANY, OF GUELPH, who have been foremost in the past in the production of high class literature, have had for some time in preparation THE LIFE AND REIGN OF QUEEN VICTORIA, which will be a standard work of great excellence, and is being prepared with great care. It is written by John Coulter, the celebrated Historian and Journalist from London, England, and assisted by John A. Cooper, Editor of the Canadian Magazine, Toronto. Mr. Cooper will give special attention to Canada under the Queen's Reign, including the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada, and the Regal and Vice-Regal connection of Her Majesty with the country. From advanced sheets and prospectuses that have been examined, The Herald takes pleasure in stating that the workmanship will be more than excellent. There will be a great number of portraits and engravings, all of which are genuine works of art, and equal to the best work to be found in any magazine of the day. The paper and manufacture will be in keeping with the high character of the publication, and the whole is in every great contrast to an opposition work which had been submitted to us for inspection. The Herald predicts a sale of this LIFE OF THE QUEEN greater than has ever been reached by any other book in Canada, as it seems to us, every loyal subject will desire a copy. The work is to be sold at low price to bring it within the reach of all. The advertisement of "THE WORLD PUBLISHING COMPANY, calling for agents, will be found in another column of our issue of to-day.

The Shadow of the Past She laid her face against her mother's breast and sobbed. My poor child, what is it? the older lady asked. Has Reginald been cruel to you? No, mamma, the bride replied, it is not that. It is all on account of a terribly discovery. I— Ah, the fond mother exclaimed, then he did not tell you all before it was too late! Oh, my poor child! Oh, the monster! There is a dark page in his life! Ah, how can man be so base; How— He found the photograph of me sitting in a wash bowl, the stricken one interrupted, that you had taken for a baby food advertisement. Then they sat there dumb with grief.

MILLIONS OF WOMEN IN THE WORLD ACKNOWLEDGE THE GREAT ADVANTAGES AND SUPERIORITY OF DIAMOND DYES

For twenty-five years Diamond Dyes have been acknowledged as the standard of excellence for domestic dyeing in every part of the world.

Jealous competitors have labored hard to find the cruel preparations on the market, and in their work of deception have imitated as best as they dared the style of packages used by the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes.

The manufacturers of adulterated dyes have deceived many people in the past. However, one trial of the common dye-tuffs was enough for those who bought them. The deceptions sent home dyes back to the ever reliable Diamond Dyes, so easy to use and always successful.

The new century comes in with Diamond Dyes leading the whole world, and the demand increases every day. While many crude dyes have died with the old century, there is still need to exercise care in buying as some merchants have still a stock of common dyes which they desire to dispose of. Home dyers who wish to save money, avoid failure, loss of goods and bitter disappointments, should insist upon getting the warranted Diamond Dyes when they ask for them.

Why do you keep your window shades down all the time lately, Mrs. Brasley? It looks as if your house was closed up. I have a friend visiting me from Boston? But what has that to do with the window shades? The trees around the house are all naked, you know.

The Princess Aline Dramatized

A play has been made of Richard Harding Davis's charming story of The Princess Aline. The dramatic adaptation has been submitted to Mr. Davis who is highly enthusiastic in its praise. He likes the people of his romance better as real men and women on the stage than as inanimate beings in a book. The Princess Aline will make her first appearance in The Ladies' Home Journal.

She Looked the Same.

Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster tells a story of an old time acquaintance who had begun life at the foot of the ladder and had made a good deal of money, but found little time to acquire culture. When his first child was still small, he had a picture of his wife and the baby painted. With each of the eight successors the reigning baby's face was painted over its predecessor's, while the mother's face remained the same. Mrs. Sangster once asked the man why he did not have a new picture of his wife made, as she had changed somewhat with the years. 'Oh, she looks just the same to me as she did then,' he replied, pointing to the old time portrait. 'and I cannot be having her painted with every baby that comes.'

To Clean Sponges. Don't throw a sponge away because it appears to be good for nothing. Very often old sponges can be cleaned to be as good as new.

Make a strong suds with hot water and soap, dissolving in it a small handful of washing soda. Plunge the sponge into and allow it to soak for some time. Then knead and rub it until perfectly clean. Rinse in very hot water, then in tepid water until every particle of soap has disappeared. Lay on a clean cloth to the sun to dry.

Care of Shoes. To alternate in wearing shoes and to keep those not on the feet on wooden lasts helps to keep away those unpleasant creases which will spoil the appearance of shoes which are not treated with this care. The lasts are not expensive. As much care as possible in regard to the change of temperature will help to keep them in good condition. With these shoes, more than the others, the use of the last and the giving of an occasional rest are valuable.

Cleaning Fine Lace. Occasionally a piece of fancy work on the lace order does not show well enough to justify sacrificing its lace fineness to the process of washing. If such work is laid away for a week in a heavy book between blue tissue paper, having had rubbed into the soiled places calcined magnesite or pipe clay, it will come out cleaned and brightened by the process. This is a good way to treat Battenberg and point lace work which has become dingy or yellow.—Woman's Home Companion.

Part Payment. Contributor—I have sent several jokes to your paper. None was ever printed, and I never got any of them back, although I always inclosed a stamp. Editor—That's all right. I considered the stamps part payment for the trouble I had in reading the jokes, as you are pleased to call them. You can remit the balance any time you have the money to spare.—Boston Transcript.

Matter of Memory. The man who was attempting suicide was not sinking for the third time. Of course it was necessary hereupon that he recall everything in his past life in the space of one instant. He Has New Moon Spells. The investigation made by Humane Inspector Wilson in the case of Edward Kennedy, a colored man found bound hand and foot to a stake in the rear of his father's home, 1515 Asbury street, has brought to light a strange condition. Edward Kennedy was born an idiot. He is harmless until a new moon appears in the sky. Then his quiet nature becomes demoniacal, and he can only be controlled by being tightly bound. His new moon spells, as his father calls them, have increased in violence and duration during the last few years, and his father, a North Carolina negro, feared he would kill the family by the sudden change in demeanor. It was for this reason that Edward was placed in bondage.—Indianapolis Press.

But one American girl has ever married a King, and she, a New England woman, now a widow, is living in a royal palace in the country of her adoption, almost lost sight of by her American sisters and friends. The romance of this fascinating, gifted American girl, who won the hand and heart of a King—one of the prettiest of love stories—will be one of the features of the March Ladies' Home Journal.

The White Plague

ONE-SIXTH OF ALL DEATHS DUE TO CONSUMPTION

Its Ravages Spares No Class—Rich and Poor Alike Fall Its Victims—How This Dread Trouble May be Prevented.

Consumption has been well named the great white plague. One-sixth of all the deaths occurring in Canada annually are due to the ravages of this terrible disease. Its victims are found among all classes; rich and poor alike succumb to its insidious advance. Only a few years ago the victim of consumption was regarded as incurable, and horror-stricken friends watched the loved one day by day fade away until death came as a merciful release. Now, however, it is known that taken in its earlier stages consumption is curable, and that by a proper care of the blood—keeping it rich, red and pure—those who are preyed upon by the disease can escape its ravages. Consumption is now caused among the preventable diseases, and those who are pale, emaciated, or show any of the numerous symptoms of general debility should at once fortify the system by enriching and purifying the blood—thus strengthening not only the lungs, but all parts of the body.

Among those who have escaped a threatened death from consumption is Mrs. Robert McCracken of Marshville, Ont. Mrs. McCracken gives her experience that it may be of benefit to some other sufferer. She says:

A few years ago I began to experience a general weakness. My appetite was poor, I was very pale; I was troubled with shortness of breath and a smothering feeling in my chest. Besides these symptoms I became very nervous at times dizzy and faint and my hands and feet would get as cold as ice. As the trouble progressed I began to lose flesh rapidly, and in a short time was only a shadow of my former self. I had good medical treatment, but did not get relief, and as a harsh cough set in I began to fear that consumption had fastened itself upon me. This was strengthened by a knowledge that several of my ancestors had died of this terrible disease. In this rather deplorable condition I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I at once procured a supply and had not taken them long when I noted a change for the better. By the time I had taken six or eight boxes I was able to move around the house again and felt better and stronger in every way. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken a dozen boxes, when all my old time strength and vigor had returned, and I was as well as ever. During the time I was using the pills my weight increased twenty-six pounds. Several years have since passed, and in that time not a symptom of my former trouble has made itself apparent, so that I think I am safe in saying that my cure is permanent. I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life, and I strongly advise ailing women to give them a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic and not a purgative medicine. They enrich the blood from the first dose to the last and thus bring health and strength to every organ in the body. The genuine pills are sold only in boxes with the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, printed on the wrapper. If your dealer cannot supply you send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

A CLEVER STROKE OF BUSINESS.

A Detective Chases the Wrong Parties, While the Thief Takes Himself Away.

In July, 1897, M. Henri Gretry died in Paris, leaving a large fortune. A few days later there was a large family gathering at the house of his son, M. Charles Gretry...

"I am afraid I am late, Jacques," he said as he entered the hall. "No, monsieur," the servant answered, supposing that he was one of those invited...

With that he ascended the stairs, and the servant joined the company, who were examining the shattered mirror in the saloon...

"Ah! What was that?" the gentleman said, and then, not waiting for an answer, continued: "See, I have soiled my hand. I will go up stairs to the lavatory and return instantly."

"When was it last seen?" "It was in my morning and wear no jewelry at present," Mme. Gretry said; "but I made it my business every evening when preparing for dinner to see that the case and its contents are safe in my escritoire, and I did so last evening. This morning I discovered that the escritoire had been forced and my jewels removed."

Percelet examined the grounds around the house. He questioned the concierge and learned all about the gentleman in black carrying an overcoat who had passed out the previous evening just after the catastrophe and who had said that he was going to inform the police.

"He knew my name," Jacques said, "and I supposed he was one of the persons invited, and when he proposed to go to the lavatory I thought it was all right."

"That was the man," the detective said. "And the person who fired the shot was his accomplice. It was a very clever stroke of business."

The concierge didn't remember having seen the man who passed out enter by the gate. The man who fired the shot might have entered the grounds by the gate, but he certainly did not leave that way, as no one passed after the firing of the shot except the man already described and Charles Gretry.

some fine dwarf oaks growing in the grounds adjacent to expand. These grounds belonged to M. de Sainne, with whom his daughter and her husband lived.

"You had better see M. Moyet, M. de Sainne's valet," said the concierge. Percelet did so and was confronted by a gentlemanly man of about 40, who instantly granted the favor asked and accompanied the officer over the grounds.

M. Moyet expressed unbounded astonishment when he heard of the robbery at M. Gretry's. The detective saw that it was an easy thing for a nimble person to ascend the walls by a chimney person to get into M. Gretry's grounds and to return.

"No, monsieur," the servant answered, supposing that he was one of those invited; "they had just assembled when an accident happened which has disturbed them."

"Ah! Do you know who it was?" Charles said. "I didn't recognize him," was the reply. "He was a gentleman in black, with an overcoat over his arm."

"I cannot think who it could be," Charles said. "At all events, my going also can do no harm."

"Show me your authority," Percelet did so, and M. Bradier, after speaking with his wife for a moment, said: "You are a public officer, and as such are bound to keep secret the explanation which I am about to give of our sudden departure from Paris. It is true that Mme. Bradier was at M. Gretry's house the day on which you say the jewels were stolen."

Percelet admitted that it was, and much crestfallen, made his bow and departed as soon as he could for Paris. On his reaching that city he found that M. Moyet, M. de Sainne's respectable valet, had disappeared, but having been seen from the day that Percelet left Paris on his wild goose chase. So far as this record goes, he was never found.—Brooklyn Citizen.

"The Lake Erie Grape Belt. Americans are accustomed to great figures of almost any kind in relation to the fruits of California. It seems natural to read of thousands of tons of raisins in that state, and oranges by thousands of carloads. But who would estimate the grape crop of the strip of country along the southern shore of Lake Erie between a point about 25 miles west of Buffalo and Sandusky at the immense total of 135,000,000 to 150,000,000 pounds?"

"That means nearly or quite two pounds for every man, woman and child in the United States, and yet the belt of country in which the grapes are grown is so narrow that its total area is small. Some parts of it are very scantily provided with vineyards, and no section is wholly devoted to grape growing. Yet it takes about 7,500 carloads to move the crop every year.—Cleveland Leader.

Yes, and then estimate the crop between a point 15 miles of the east and west line of Sandusky, which takes in Kelly's Island and the Bass Islands, and you have more acres of grapes proportionately than in the territory east of Sandusky to Dunkirk, N. Y.—Sandusky (O.) Register.

In creaming chicken in the chafin dish Mrs. Herrick recommends that it be marinated in two tablespoonfuls of oil and one of vinegar to two cupsful of the meat. The chicken should be left in this marinade for half an hour before creaming.

Protruding, Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist Minister, Conescon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps of abscesses formed, so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stool. At this severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose."

"Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared, and also the external swelling, and yet the felt of ointment to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation and many years of suffering. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

BROOKLYN STREET

On the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 29, a jolly crowd of young people gathered at the home of Mr. T. T. C. in obedience to the invitations issued by Miss Alice. The game of croquet caused more than usual excitement and may have added some instructive knowledge of Natural and Social History. Light refreshments were served during the evening. Every one went home with that happy and satisfied feeling which comes over one who has had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith from Wolfville were the guests of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. George Skinner, on Friday last week.

Mr. Stephen Schofield, assisted by his daughter, Mrs. Hibbert Schofield, gave two very enjoyable parties last week. Judging from the excitement caused by a game of croquet, we would not be surprised to hear of a progressive Croquet club among the other people.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Melbourne, Merchant attended the Fruit Growers Association in Wolfville last week.

Mrs. Isabella Rockwell and Mrs. Elizabeth Bowles spent a few days in Church Street last week. They were the guests of Mrs. J. S. Belcher.

W. F. Newcombe is visiting his son Burgess, the popular young agent at Hectanooga.

The interest manifested in the contest which is being carried on in our Literary League is very great. According to some news it reached its culminating point last Friday evening at the close of Capt. A. P. Skinner's very interesting programme which was the best ever listened to by our Brooklyn Corner audience. However one of Captain Gladys Rockwell's workers was heard to remark: "We can do likewise" and so next evening a programme is being looked forward to with much curiosity.

James Dove spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Kentville.

A number of Mrs. John Lantz's friends very pleasantly surprised her last Wednesday evening. The gathering was particularly enjoyable, because every one was rejoicing on account of Mrs. Lantz's recovery. A few months ago her life was despaired of but under the judicious advice of Dr. A. M. Covert, she went to Halifax to the hospital. There she underwent an operation which was so successful that now she is enjoying perfect health.

The Brooklyn Cor. Sunday School was well represented at the District Conventions, both in Kentville and in Cambridge.

H. D. Woodbury the popular merchant of Kingston Village, called on a number of his friends here last week.

Mr. A. Bruce Graves of Kingston, paid a flying visit to friends in this vicinity.

Every one was glad to welcome F. C. Skinner home after a few weeks absence in Somerset. Frank is such a standby in the League, that one side in particular has cause for rejoicing.

The colt Rattum, owned by Mr. John Rand, is creating quite a sensation. This, by the way, is the same colt we mentioned a year ago, but under the skillful management of Lester M. Boyle its development has been so rapid as to astonish the wildest prophets, and has rendered their prophecies null and void.

GENTREVILLE

Mrs. B. L. Lowden who is on the sick list is improving.

As our mill has been moved to the mountain there has not been much logging going on. It is rumored that Mr. Woodworth intends moving his mill to which he has at Rockland where he has been sawing this winter.

Mr. Watson of Halls Harbour was in town to-day he says that the telephone is a sure thing. J. E. Kinsman intends having an instrument and also B. A. Newcombe.

Centreville has two insurance agents and one undertaker.

Emerson Palmer who has been in the employ of R. S. Thorp is now with W. E. Sarsfield of Kentville.

Our school term spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents in Kentville.

Harry Kidson who has been sick is out again.

This is about all this time, thank you for the space I remain
Feb. 4. Union.

The election trial of P. E. Island is still going on and at present the evidence given shows that there were lots of money and liquor about.

The Municipality of Digby is to build an almshouse and insane asylum

Every Mother A Doctor

It is an anxious time for mothers when the little ones get their feet cold and wet, and come home hours and coughing or awaken in the night with a cold or croup. Then it is that the mother turns to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Who, through the use of this famous remedy again saves the little ones and their mothers from suffering and death.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine brings relief when the throat is sore and inflamed, when the cold is in the chest, and the cough painful and distressing. It allays the inflammation, heals the sore and soothes the membrane, soothes the nerves and clears the air passages.

People who know of the singular virtues of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine do not think of accepting the cheap substitutes which many druggists offer in its place; 25 cents.
