HOMES FOR THE PEOPLE.

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," Said God's most holy word; The water hath fish, and the land hath flesh, And the air hath many a bird; And the soil is teeming o'er all the earth; And the earth has numberless lands; Yet millions of hands want acres, And millions of acres want hands

Sunlight, and breezes, and gladsome flowers, Are over the earth spread wide;

And the good God gave these gifts to men— To men who on earth abide;

Yet thousands are toiling in poisonous gloom, And shackled with iron bands, While millions of hands want acres. And millions of acres want hands!

Never a foot hath the poer man here. To plant with a grain of corn; And never a plot where his child may cull Fresh flowers in the dewy morn.
The soil lies fallow—the woods grow rank; Yet idle the poor man stands! Oh, millions of hands want acres, And millions of acres want hands!

Who hath ordained that the few should hoard
Their millions of useless gold? And rob the earth of its fruits and flowers

While the profitless soil they hold?

Who hath ordained that a parchaentscroll
Shall fence round miles of lands, When millions of hands want acres, And millions of acres want hands?

'Tis a glaring lie on the face of day-This robbery of men's rights!
'Tis a lie, that the word of the Lord

disowns—
Tis a curse that burns and blights! And 'twill burn and blight till the people

And swear while they break their That the hands shall henceforth have acres, And the acres henceforth have hands!

Interesting Story.

The Land of Evangeline

A Summer Day's Letter GRAND PRE.

SMILING SCENES AND LOGAL LESENDS. Correspondence of "Boston Commercial Bulletin."

Concluded.

Tom repeated his request and hoped that Mrs M. could spare Madge, as the berries were ripening so fast that they would lose a great many if they could not get help.

"Waal, yes; I guess I can let her go. She's dretful shif'less and not much good here. I'd rather do the him never to come near the house work myself, if I am sick, than to see her sozzlin' 'round half' asleep all the

"Come on, Madge, your ma says you may go. Hurry up and don't keep us waiting all day !"

She reluctantly withdrew her luminous blue eyes from some distant object at which she had been gazing indifferently while hel mother was talking, turned them full upon us and then upon her mother, apparently waiting for

"No; she ain't ready. She can't go back with you now, but the ole man's going down to the village to-night and he'll fetch her."

Tom turned the horse about and drove off with a parting injunction to Madge to be sure and come, which she apparently did not hear, or at least failed to answer.

"I'll start her off," said the mother, flinging a scornful glance at the girl, who was slowly rising. I looked back and watched her till we reached the wood. She stood perfectly calm and motionless, her beautiful round figure outlined against the dark hues of the sky, her head turned with the same indifferent way from her mother, who seemed to be scolding her seriously, judging from her excited gesticulations.

"What kind of people are they, Tom?" I asked as we drove slowly through the woods, fragrant with the balsam of hemlock and pine.

SCHOOLING FACILITIES.

"Why, they are just poor folks. They've lived there ever since I can remember. It's not a bad place in summer, but it's awful lonesome in winter. The road is all snowed up, and after the first heavy storm it is as much as your life is worth to try to get to the village. So they're caged up there till the spring thaw."

"Don't the children go to school ?" "Yes; when they get old enough to earn their board they stop in the village and go to school awhile in the winter-Madge was down last winter but she didn't learn much; my little sister can read better'n she can. She stopped at the Widder B.'s. The widder says she'd never take her another winter. she's so slow and never opens her mouth to say anything. She's awful poor company. But you just ought to

One evening Tom took me to see "Aunt Patience," a quaint, little gentlewoman with soft, brown eyes, and high, smooth forehead. She was the oldest lady in the village and knew the dates of all the marriages, births and deaths in the surrounding country for many years back. She told me the story of Rip Van Winkle, or "Sherman Rogers" as she called him, knitting quietly but rapidly all the while.

hear her sing! She can sing just like

THE LOCAL VAN WINKLE. "Mr Rogers, Sherman's father, was a wealthy gentleman of Halifax. He retired from business and settled in the Cornwallis Valley. He never worked any himself but hired a man to take charge of the farm. His wife had died young, so his children, two sons and several daughters, were left in the care of their father and hired girls,—but they were left mostly with the girls as Mr Rogers was a sporting man and seldem at home. So they didn't have much of any bringing

"Sherman, the oldest child, was a very pretty lad, petted and humored by every one till he was sent away to school in Halifax. When he left school and returned home he could not seem to agree with his sisters' and brother. They were a hot-tempered lot and quarreled among themselves all the

"One day Sherman became angry with his sister Martha and in a blind fit of temper chased her with a large axe in his hand. His father saw him and turned him out of doors telling

"I was a young woman then, my husband alive, and my children were with me. I lived down at Lower Horton, near the Gaspereau river. One day, as I stood in the porch waiting for the men to come to dinner, I saw a man come out of the spruce grove and go down to the shore and dig. Just then John and Will came up, and I asked them if they knew who that fellow was, telling them that I had seen him every day that week, when the tide was out digging in the mud.

"Will spoke up and said:

"Why, mother, that's Sher Rogers. Since his father turned him out of doors, he has slept in the spruce grove aud digs clams at low water for his dinner. Can't I ask him to have dinner with us to-day?'

"I said 'yes' and he called him in. "Well, that invitation seemed to set the example, and after that the man lived about from house to house. He had read a great deal, was a ready talker and people were glad to see him as he was such good company. But by and by he took to drink and people wouldn't have him round, so he decided to go to work. He gave up drinking, worked hard and steadily and had begun to save money when his father suddenly died and left him a large amount of property.

"This seemed to be the ruin of him for he gave up his work, took to drinking and carousing and spent his money freely and ill. Dr Hill, in whose hands his money was, cheated him out of all tut a few hundred dollars, When he lost his property his sweetheart jilted him and people say it turned his brains a little, but I've always found him sensible enough.

"He never married but shut himself up in his little cottage with his books and for a long time never had anything to do with anybody. He read all the time and people say that he has read about every book that has ever been written. Poor old man! he's all broken down and still drinks more than is good for him at times, and he war such a gay, handsome lad in the old days!"

A MEMORY OF LONGFELLOW.

Aunt Patience ended with a little sigh. She put down her knitting and leaving me alone for a few moments returned with a glass of rich, sweet milk, asking me as she took up her work again if I had ever seen Mr Longfellow.

This question was asked me several times; all the people seemed very much interested in him and listened with delight to any anecdotes or stories of him. I could not find any one who had not read the story of "Evangeline" or had it recited to him; even the children were familiar with it.

The beautiful, pathetic idyl has found its way into the homes and hearts of all these people. In many of the farmhouses only two books are to be found—the Bible and Longfellow's "Evangeline."

How "Ruby" Played.

MUSIC EXTRAORDINARY—JUD BROWSIN'S ACCOUNT OF RUBINSTEIN'S PLAYING. "Jud, they say you heard Rubinstein play in New York." "I did, in the cool."

"Well, tell us about it." "What! me? I might as well tell you about the creation of the world."

"Come, now; no mock modesty. Go "Well, sir, he had the blamedest, biggest, catty-cornedest pianner you ever aid eyes on ; somethin? like a distracted billiard table on three legs. The lid was hoisted, and mighty well it was. If it hadn't been he'd a tore the entire inside and scattered 'em to the four winds of heaven." "Played well did he ?"

"You bet he did; but don't interrupt me. When he first sit down he peared to keer mighty little 'bout playin, and wisht he hadn't come. He tweedle leede'd a little on the table, and twoodle-loodle'd some on the base—just foolin' and boxin' the thing's jaws for bein' in his way. And I says to a man settin' next to me, s'I: 'What sort of fool playin' is that ?' And he says, 'Heish !' but presently his hands commenced chasin' one another up and down the keys, like a parcel of rats scamperin' through a garret very swift. Parts of it was sweet, though and reminded me of a sugar squirrel turning the wheel of a candy cage.

"Now,' I says to my neighbor, he's showin' off. He thinks he's a-doin' of it but he ain't got no idee, no plan of nothin'. If he'd play me a tune of some kind or other I'd---'

"But my neighbor says 'Heish !' very impatient.

"I was just about to git up and go home, bein' tired of that foolishness, when I heard a little bird waking up away off in the woods, and call sleepy-like to his mate, and I looked up and see that Rubin was beginning to take some interest in his business, and sit down a gain. It was the peep of day. The light came faint from the east, the breezes blowed gentle and fresh, some more birds waked up in the orchard, then some more in the trees near the house, and all begun singin' together. People began to stir, and the gal opened the shutters Just then the first beam of the sun fell upon the blossoms a leetle more, and it techt the roses on the bushes, and the next thing it was bread day; the sun fairly blazed, the birds sung like they'd split their little throats; all the leaves was movin' and flashin' diamonds of dew. and the whole wide world was bright and happy as a king. Seemed to me like there was a good breakfast in every house in the land, and not a sick child or woman anywhere. It was a fine mornin'. "And I says to my neighbor: 'That's music, that is.' "But he glar'd at me like he'd like o cut my throat.

"Presently the wind turned; it begun to thicken up, and a kind of gray mist came over things; I got low-spirited dir. ectly. Then a silver rain began to fall. I could see the drops touch the ground; some flashed up like long pearl ear-rings and the rest rolled away like round rubies. It was pretty but melancholy. Then the pearls gathered themselves into long strands and necklaces, and then they melted into thin silver streams, running between golden gravels, and then the streams joined each other at the bottom of the hill, and made a brook that flowed silent, except that you could kinder see the music, especially when the bushes on the banks moved as the music went along down the valley. I could smell the flowers in the meadew. But the sun didn't shine, nor the birds sing; it was a foggy day, but not cold.

"The most curious thing was the little white angel-boy, like you see in pictures, that run ahead of the music brook and let it on, and on, away out of the world, where no man ever was, certain. I could see that boy just as plain as I see you, then the moonlight came, without any sunset, and shone on the graveyards, where some few ghosts lifted their hands and went over the wall, and between the black, sharp-top trees splendid marble houses rose up, with fine ladies in the lit-up windows; and men that loved 'em, but could never get a-uigh 'em, and played on guitars under the trees, and made me that miserable I could have cried, because I wanted to love somebody, I don't know who, better than the men with the guitars did.

Then the sun went down, it got dark, the wind moaned and wept like a lost child for its dead mother, and I could a got up then and there and preached a better sermon than any Lever listened to There wasn't a thing in the world left to live for, not a blame thing, and yet I didn't want the music to stop one bit. It was happier to be miserable than to be happy without being miserable. I couldn't understand it. I hung my head and pulled out my handkerchief and blew my nose loud to keep me from cryin'. My eyes is weak anyway; I didn't want anybody to be a gazin' at me a snivlin', and its nobody's business what I do with my nose. It's mine, But some several glared at me mad as blazes. Then, all of a sudden, old Rubin changed his tune. He ripped out and he rar'd he tipped, and tar'd, he pranced and he, charged like a grand entry at a circus. Peared to me that all the gas in the house was turned on at once, things got so bright, and I lift up my head ready to look any man in the face, and not afraid of nothin'. It was a circus, and a brass band, and a big ball all goin, on at the same time. He lit into them keys like a thousand of brick ; he give 'em no rest. day or night; he set every livens' joint in me a goin', and not bein' able to stand it no longer, I jumped sprang onto my seat, and jest hollored:

"Go it, my Rube !" "Every blamed man, woman and child in the house riz on me, and shouted 'Put him out! put him out!'

"'Put your great grandmother's grizzly gray greenish cat into the middle of next month!' I says. 'Tech me if you dare! I paid my money; and you jest come a-nigh me !'

"With that, some several policemen run up, and I had to slimmer down. But I would a fit any fool that laid hands on me, for I was bound to hear Ruby out or die.

"He had changed his tune again. He hog-light ladies and tip-toed fine from eend to eend of the key-board. He played soft, and low and selemn. I heard the church bells over the hills. The candles of heaven was lit, one by one; I saw the stars rise. The great organ of eternity began to play from the world's end to the world's end, and all the angels went to prayers. . . . Then the music changed to water, full of feeling that couldn't be thought, and began to drop-urip, drop, drip, drop, clear and sweet, like tears of joy falling into

Since our last issue we have removed our office to two doors west, over the Custom House, where we have had rooms fitted up especially for us. We have found the office in the Higgins' Building too small for us for some time, and as we intend enlarging soon, we were compelled to make the change. Our new office is much more convenient and we think will be much more attractive when finished, which will, we hope, be very soon. The entrance to our new office is on the east side of the building and we will be pleased to have any of our friends call in and see us at any time. We were sorry to be compelled to miss our regular issue last week, and hope our readers will pardon it. In the future we will aim, as in the past, to give our readers full value for every cent that they may favor us with. Come in and see us and bring your friends subscription with you.

LIGHT WINES.

We see by the despatches that the senate is insisting on the passage by the commons of their amendment to the Scott Act, and that they consider their amendment to be in the interests of temperance. Yes, interests of temperance with a vengeance. Pass that amendment and our country, almost rid of this curse, will be filled to overflowing with groggeries of all degrees of wickedness. Perhaps that sublime array of old toddites called the senate with their immense talents will provide a way of determining how a man is to know just how much per cent of alcohel he is drinking with his wine. Every man his own alcohol meter will be the style and no doubt an immense business will be done in fitting up temperance(?) people with test guages so that they can keep within the bounds of the law.

EXCURSION.

We had the pleasure of attending the excursion to Parrsboro' with "Evangeline" Division, S. of T., on Tuesday last and spent a very enjoyable day. The weather, which was rather for. bidding in the morning, turned out all that could be desired. About 150 persons took the stmr. Hiawatha at Horton Landing and we left the wharf at about 7.45 a. m. The trip across was not as pleasant as it would have been on account of the dense fog, but we arrived safely at the "snag" at about 10 o'clock where the time was spent much as usual on such excurstons, some took teams and went to the village, some stayed at the "snag," some went to Partridge Island, and all seemed to enjoy themselves very much We were among the number who went to the village and we found Parrsboro', although not quite as lively as we have seen it, looking business-like and industrious. At four o'clock the excursionists assembled at the boat and at about 4 20 the lines were cast off and the steamer left the pier for Horton Landing. The sail back across the basin was lovely, the sky perfectly clear and the water as still as a millpond. When about half way home a small black cloud was seen to rise from the southern horizon and spread with great rapidity until the whole sky was darkened and it became evident that we were to have a shower, the one thing needed to complete the day When off Boot Island it struck us, and a general scamper for the cabin ensued The rain fell in torrents for about twenty minutes when it cleared away and when we arrived in the river the sua was again shining brightly. The steamer was made fast to the wharf and before the disembarkation began, Mr A. McN. Patterson in a few words moved that the thanks of the party be tendered to Captain Masters and crew of the Hiawatha, and the managars of the excursion for the very careful and pleasant way in which the excursion had been conducted. The motion was seconded by Rev. Mr Brown, and unanimously passed, after which the excursionists dispersed to their homes thred and happy, and hoping soon to enjoy such another excursion.

MEMORIAL.

The following is a copy of an Address presented by "Prescott" Grange to Mrs Enoch Eaton on the death of her husband :-

Grange Room, June 7th, 1885. Whereas it has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to sorely afflict Prescott Grange in removing by death our Worthy Overseer, Brother Enoch Eaton, one whom we all loved and respected as a brother, as a friend, and above all as a Christian. And when we consider that we shall never see him nor listen to his words of wisdom again in our meetings, we feel that we have been afflicted in very deed. But Worthy Master, Sisters and Brothers, we have the consolation that we do not mourn as those without hope. We believe that our dear brother has left such evidence of his christian principles that we can fully rest assured that he is in possession of the great password that will insure him an abundant entrance into the rest that remains for the people of God. And while we have sustained so great a loss, we believe to him it is great gain.

Therefore resolved that we condole with our sister, Mrs Eaton, in this, her sore trial of deep affliction and would remind her that the widow's God is ever ready to give comfort and grace to sustain her in her painful bereave-ment. And in His own time, she and her companion will meet again in that upper and better world, where there is no more pain nor death, and where an will be spent in singing praises to Him that sitteth on the throne forever and ever.

(Sgd) In behalf of Prescott Grange.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the ACADIAN.

GENTLEMEN: As editors are supposed to know everything and to be ready to impart their kn owledge to others, I take the liberty of asking a few questions, through the columns of your valuable paper, in reference to matters in our village. I have observed that almost every Sabbath during the hours of church service, many persons habitually hitch their horses to the fences of private individuals contiguous to the several churches, thus causing their horses and carriages to stand across the side-walk, wholly bestructing it, causing annoyance to those residing opposite. Now I wish to inquire if it is proper or allowable that such obstruction should exist in our village? If not, how are they to be prevented? Who are the proper persons to apply to for redress? Who are responsible for the droppings upon the side paths during such time, and who should remove them !

I understand that yards have been provided by the various churches here for the purpose of securing the horses and carriages of those attending services thereat. Then why, in the name of common decency or Christian charity, are they PEDESTRIAN. sances, allowed?

Wolfville, June 9th, 1885. [Apply to the Commissioners of for the information above asked for.-ED.]

To the Editors of the ACADIAN. Messers Editors:-Your readers will have seen how the "Senate-Amendment" to the Scott Act was dealt with in the Commons, and the country saved from the evil effects of an increased sale and consumption of alcoholic liquors. The Amendment exempted ale, wine, beer, cider, and all drinks containing not more than 12% of alcohol; thus opening wide the door to deception and the safely illicit sale of all the rest. One of our Nova Scotia Senators, I believe, has the honor of moving that Amendment, and the Senate of passing it, and the people will not forget it. If my memory serves me, Dr Almon of Halifax is the father of that Amendment. No division was attempted in the Commons on the Amendment as it stood. Jamieson moved, "that it be not concurred in," and Small moved in amendment, that it should not be applicable to counties which had already passed the Scott Act, but to such as should hereafter vote for it. A division took place on this amendment of Small's and it was lost-78 to 86-a majority of only 8 against this modified form of the Senate's Amendment. The Montreal Witness gives the names for and against. Among those names I cannot find that of our member for King's, D. B. Woodworth. Where was he when this vote was taken? The temperance people of King's would like to know. It may be of some importance to them and him when next election comes on.

Yours truly, A TEMPERATE LIB-CON.

"NOTA BENE" TO "A REVISER."

In reading a London paper some short time since, my eye fell upon a brief item, which I thought was applicable, in a certain degree, to Nova Scotia; and so I copied it for the Acadian. I performed the work hastily. as the paper was just on the eve of being printed, and forgot to state the item was borrowed. Indeed I did not attach much importance to the scrap in any way; which was probably the cause of my neglect to acknowledge. It never occurred to me that I was setting a trap; still less, if possible, that it would catch any one; and least of all that a wide-awake and wellinformed man like "A Revisor" would be so nicely caught. "A Reviser," it proves, took the whole thing seriously, and applied the waif item to Nova Scotia, King's County, and Ward No. -The old adage about the "cap" is unavoidably suggested. If that useful appendage of the human head fits so exactly, as "A Reviser" intimates, it would be hard to forbid its use, and he is therefore welcome to wear it to his heart's content.

Possibly "Revisor" is setting a trap for me; but as I cannot see it, though warned by his fate, I must go on and run the risk. If he is not, either in humor or in malice, plotting against me, would innocently suggest that it is no matter whether there are "three Lists posted up" in as many "public places," or not, provided no one knows, or can discover, where the places are. The List is certainly not to be found in any of the prost public places of one of the Wards, at least. in King's County, which I could mention; and I have not been fortunate enough as yet to meet with any person, who has seen the document or knows where it is to be found. If I might be allowed to borrow the words of my reviewer, I would say "Try again," Mr Reviser, and see if you cannot hit upon some "public places," which some one can find.

But I have a graver and more unpleasant duty to perform. There was no reason, and can be no excuse, for gratuitously insulting Mr John Best, who did not write the article signed "Nota Bene," and knew nothing about it. If public affairs may not be discussed without such assaults upon private and innocent individuals, they had better not be discussed at all. I do not know whether Mr B. is a conservative or a liberal, and I do not care; all I ask is that he receive the treatment which a gentleman is always glad to accord to any and every one, whatever may be his political opin-ions. "A Reviser" is evidently a scholar and I have enjoyed his article as a literary production; he is therefore acquainted with the form of argument styled, "petitio principii." Is he, or is he not, aware that he is using it, when he assumes, as the tenor of his article shows, that votes are never manufactured as the London paper humorously states they sometimes are, and as I may grayes ly tell him, and can prove, that they are not unfrequently manufactured in Nova Scotia; "Oaths" or no oaths to the contrary notwithstanding. June 26, '85.)

To the Editors of the ACADIAN.

Messrs Editors :- Can you not say something to stimulate the people of this village to more carefulness about the appearance of the streets? Their condition is not at all creditable. Hor cows have travelled on the side-walks and given them in many places the condition of a poorly kept barn-yard. Weeds and tall grass grow along the edges. Papers and litter from some of the shops are tossed out of doors and left to blow about to the disgust of all persons who have any sense for cleanness, and things generally have an uncared for appearance that does not speak well for the character of the residents of Wolfville. We have not much that is costly or grand to show visitors but we might please them and do ourselves good by a little more effort to make our side-walks and street corners cleanly and tidy. EUREKA!

Found! a Plum Tree that will not

The Masters Plum Tree has stood the test 40 years in Kentville. King's County, Nova Scotia. Chas. A, Masters, of Kentville, found this tree growing on lands now owned by Judge G. A. Blanchard forty years ago, and removed the tree to his garden in the village, where it now stands a healthy bearing tree, and is now owned by me. There are scores of trees throughout the village in bearing from 4 to 20 years old which bear every year, and not a vestige of black knot appears on one of them The tree is an annual bearer of rapid growth, growing tall not spreading. The Plum is quite large, pnrple color, and of excellent quality. It is the best preserving plum grown, and sells higher than any plum brought into the market. Last year, while the crop was immense, this plum readily brought $4.00 per bushel, $2.00 more than any other variety offered for sale. We have several hundred first class trees to offer for the Fall planting. That this is the best and most profitable Plum Tree to plant that grown in the Dominion of Cauada, and that it will not black knot we refer the planters of this delicious fruit to

F. S. Masters, Barrister, of whom we purchased the original tree; also to Chas. A. Masters, G. A. Blauchard (Judge), J. R. Blanchard, H. B. Webster, M. D., J. E. Mulloney, M. D., Oho Eaton, John Byrne, T. E. Snith, J. A. Shaw. Address—

THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JULY to, 1885.

Local and Provincial.

JULY 6TH .- Camp Chairs at CALDWELL & MURRAY'S.

Pantaloons are worn longer in July than in June-one day longer.

Holidays in the Public School began this week and will continue six weeks.

Light and dark Printed Cambrics in handsome patterns at Burpee Witters.

Haying has begun and the indications are that the crop will be large. Hoop Skirts-8 and 12 springs at Caldwell & Murray's. 0

Mr Jas. Stewart, editor of the Western Chronicle, met with quite a ser-ious accident last week by being thrown from his horse, and at one time he was thought to be in a very critical condition. We are pleased to learn he is recovering.

PHOTOS.-E. S. Crawley, Esq., laid en our table one day last week some very fine landscape photos, which he has just made. One, a view of the "Village of Grand Pre," is very pretty, a view of Gaspereau Village is also fine. Mr Crawley has become a very proficient amateur photographer.

S. of T .- The officers of Wolfville Division, S. of T., for the ensuing quarter are as follows :-

W P--A. M. Hoare, W A-Miss Florence McKeen. R S-B, O. Davison. A R S-Miss Hattie Bishop. F S—K. E. Bishop. Treas.—Burpee Witter. Chap.—J. D. Chambers. Cond.—C. A. Patriquin. A C—Miss Annie Coldwell, I S—J. C. Jones. O S—J. W. Wallace.

PRESENTATION.-Rev. H. Burgess preached his concluding sermon on this circuit last Sunday evening. At the close of the service, Mr Jas. Elder, in a few well chosen words on behalf of the members of Mr Burgess' church, presented him with a fine copy of Webster's unabridged dictionary. The Rev. gentleman made a short address thanking the congregation. He left this week for Manchester, Guysborough Co., where he is stationed for the en-

LECTURE -A very interesting lecture was given in the Prestyterian church on Wednesday evening July 1, by Rev. El Howie, a native of Lebanon, who, considering the difficulty with which he expressed himself in the English language, gave a very vivid description of Eastern Life. The custom, on the occasion of the birth of a child, of salting the infant, struck us as being the very opposite to that of this country where the child is allowed to reach more mature years, when he generally receives from his countrymen a salting even more liberal than that bestowed upon his Eastern brother. At the close of the lecture Mr Howie gave his audience permission to question him, who received quite a lot of information with regard to making flour, bread, and the different manufacturies, etc. In the Eastern dress which he donned at the close Mr Howia looked like a genuine Arab. On Monday evening he gave an address in the vestry of the Baptist church. Owing to the notice being very short there was only a small attendance.

BIG SHAD .- Mr Robert Palmeter, of Long Island, brought into our office one day last week the largest shad we ever saw. It was caught at the weir at Little Island and weighed 9 fbs. The competition has begun, bring along your big shad.

ENTERPRISE.—We notice that Mr B. G. Bishop has recently precured a very gay express wagon and has his name neatly painted on either side, We are glad to see that there is some enterprise among our young men and hope others will follow his example, as it will not only benefit themselves, but will give the town a much more business-like appearance.

The friends of Rev. W. G. Lane will be pleased to learn of his appointment of R. W. C. T., the highest office in the Order of Good Templars in the world. Mr Lane is admirably fitted for the position. We tender our congratulations.

SODA .- We have no cause of complaint, in Wolfville, of lack of Temperance drinks. Since our last issue Mr J. M. Shaw has also put an Ice Cream Soda Fountain in his shop and is now able to give a good, cool temperance drink. We have three soda fountains in the village now so there is no reason why any person should be thirsty. We have been and tried Mr Shaw's fountain and liked it, go thou and do

PERSONAL .- Mr A. C. Borden was in Wolfville a few days last week, and preached in the Methodist church on Sunday morning the 25th ult. He is stationed at Mahone Bay, N. S.

Mr J. L. Bishop left for Amherst on Tuesday to attend the Grand Lodge 1. O. G. T. as a representative of Acadia Lodge.

Rev. R. D. Ross left on Tucsday for Pictou, his former home, to spend his usual annual holiday. He will remain about a month. We wish him a pleasant visit and hope he will return much refreshed and improved in health.

Mr G. W. Cox arrived in Wolfville on Wednesday evening and will spend a few weeks.

We had a call yesterday from Mr A. J. Pinco, of the New Star.

EUREKA.-Found at last, a genuine oil dressing that will not harden or crack the leather, but owing to its oily nature penetrates the surface, thereby softening and preserving the boots, and at the same time giving a better gloss than any other polish in the market. By baring a large quantity from the manufactury, Caldwell & Murray have obtained the er than the common kinds, being put up in 6½ oz. bottles at the same price as the other kinds which only contain 3½ oz. See that every bottle bears their name as sole agents and take no other. A handsome set of advertising cards given with each bottle.

BERWICK, July 1st .- On Saturday, 27th, we were visited with quite a tempest between 1 and 2 o'clock, consisting of thunder lightening and rain. The rain poured down so heavily for about ten minutes that it had not time to soak into the ground, and it spread in all directions, causing a regular inundation; and we had several nice showers since, which will be a great help to the grass and other crops.

The Aylesford Base Ball Ciub and the Berwick bloods were to have another contest on Saturday afternoon, to take place in Berwick, but the weather proved unfavorable. The Aylesford boys show good pluck and are determined not to stay beaten by any Tuesday being the first trip of the season of the direct boat for Boston, by the time the cars got to Berwick, the baggage car was getting pretty well packed with trunks, where nine more were taken in all checked for Boston.

HOW TO COURT IN CHURCH. A young gentleman happening to sit at church in a pew adjoining one in which sat a young lady for whom he conceived a sudden and violent attachment, was destrous of entering into a courtship on the not, but the place not being suitable for formal declaration the case suggested the following plan :

He politely handed his fair neighbor the Bible, opened, with a pin stuck in the following text: Second epistle of John verse 5-"And now I beseech thee, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which he had from the beginning, that we love one another," She returned it pointing to the second chapter of Ruth 10th verse: "Then she fell on her face and bowed herself to the ground and said to him, Why have I found grace in thine eyes seeing that I am a stranger?" am a stranger?

He returned the book, pointing to the thirteenth chapter of the third epistle of John: "Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with pen and ink, but I trust shortly to come unto you and speak face to face that our joy may

1885-CALDWELL & MURRAY.-1885

To our Customers in Wolfville and elsewhere.

We have not had time to paint our Store, whitewash th hitching post, or straighten up our wood pile this spring, but we have cleaned up the old paint, washed the windows, and are selling that unsightly pile of wood as quickly as we possibly can.

What has kept us so busy? Why we have been selecting, receiving and putting in shape one of the finest stocks of Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes, an Furniture, etc. that we have ever had the pleasure of showing in this place

We are a good deal like the proverbial singed cat, better than we look, and don't try to look better than we are.

We now ask you to come in and see for yourselves that we can back up what we advertise.

Seasonable Dry Goods,

In Dress Goods we have a splendid variety of shades in the following fabrics:—Ottomans, Nun's Cloths (plain and fancy), Serges, Sateens (plain and fancy), Galateas, Peques, etc.

House Furnishings

LACE CURTAINS, LAMBREQUINS, BORDERS, CRETONNES, DAMASKS, TABLE LINENS, NAPKINS, TOWELS, &c.

DOMESTICS

Gents' Furnishings MADE CLOTHING, HATS & CAPS, SHIRTS COLLARS, TIES, ETC.

SHOES BOOTS

WE HAVE GIVEN SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THIS DEPART-MENT AND HAVE A FULL ASSORTMENT.

FURNITURE and CARPETS

Just come and see the improvements we have been making in our Furniture Store. Nothing stale or old to be seen, everything fresh and sparkling.

Come and see for yourselves and if you buy

WE CAN SAVE YOU SOMETHING! CALDWELL & MURRAY.

WOLFVILLE, APRIL 16.

THE BOOKSTORE!

Eagle Building, Wolfville, MAY 19th, 1885.

Riel has been captured and the papers announce that the Rebellion in the North West is practically at an end. This is encouraging news and but it is only a cipher in comparison to makes all loval p the joy we have felt during the last few months as we have supplied our customers with Room Paper at less than cost and seen them depart full of that joy and happiness which can only come to those who feel that they have done a good deed.

True it does not pay in dollars and cents to sell at cost but it does pay in the satisfaction we have of making families happy and homes clean and

And still the great work goes on. People are coming daily and hourly to buy. They do so and go away happy. Probably never in the history of Wolfwille has Room Paper been sold so cheaply as now. We have been (and will continue till our present stock is exhausted) selling our papers at the same prices as we paid for it at the factory in England. You cannot afford to lose the opportunity.

Just think of it, Room Paper at one-third she price you have been paying all your lives. Oh verily, in the words of Burdette, what is home without its wall paper.

We have no second price and ours is a "bona fide" cash sale. Come early! come 3 or 8 times a day, but come! and we will make you smile. Ever keeping in mind the fact that we must work for the welfare of our customers we have after two years of patient waiting been enabled to secure the services of Mr. John F. Herbin to carry on a Watch Making and Jewellery business here. We can assert confidently that although he has spent two years and a half in the west he is perfectly harmless and that he can clean and repair your watch and repair your Jewellery with that neatness and thoroughness which can only be attained from a life-long study and practice of the trade. Give us a call and see for yourself. All his work is guaranteed and must give satisfaction

When you come for your room paper at one-third the usual price bring that Watch that wont go and that clock that points to half past six and strikes 25 when it is only 3:15 and you will be able to get to Church in time to make a full inventor; of Beacon Smith's wife's spring bonnet and silk dress and Squire Jones' whole outfit before your beloved pastor has thought of commencing on sixthly. Oh yes time is a great herb but must be correct in its habits to be properly appreciated. By the way, if John wants a new School Book you might also bring some change with you for we can fit him all out for the next term in about two minutes; and who knows but that he may some day be some kind of a governor if he lives and uses our books to advantage.

Ours is a work of love and we are bound to do it so long as people have homes to beoutify, children to educate, and watches, clocks and jewellery that wont keep time. Don't forget, we live in the Eagle Building and it is next door to the
