CHAPTER XXXVIII

"All his men praise him and speak well of him; they say—" Robert broke away from her impatiently.

"I can't wait to hear all the gossip of the stations," he said. "I am going off to Maida as soon as I can. I'll write to you; she shall write to you." As soon as he could decently get away he started, taking a spare horse with a lady's saddle; and everybody, including the Dartford men, was glad to see the back of him. He did not spare the horses, but he was hampered with the led one, and he was some miles from the hut when darkness fell; but he knew every inch of the way and only slackened his pace a little.

As he approached the hut he expected to hear Carrie's horse neigh. He had regretted that, in the hurry and excitement of the departure, he had left the animal, that he had not come back for it when his man met him with the tidings of the attack on Milda Wolda; but he consoled himself with the reflection that the girls could not possibly get out of the hut, and that therefore the presence of the horse did not matter. His heart leapt as he caught sight of the light from the hut, and he dismounted and tethered the horses and approached, every nerve thrilling with excitement and anticipation; for to look upon Maida, even when she was angry with him, was a painful delight.

He turned the key in the door, rehearsing what he should say to mollify and persuade her; but as he opened the door and looked round, his heart fell and he stood stock still. There were no girls there, but in their place sat a little man on the edge of the couch, smoking placidly. Robert Broseley stared in amazement at the little, common-place figure, and David Jones looked back at him serenely, but with a keen and watchful glint in his pale eyes.

"What the devil—" began Robert, with an oath. "Who are you, and what the blazes are you doing in my hut?" But as he asked the question he recognised David as one of the Dartford men, the man who had led Mr. Tudor out of the room.

"My name is David Jones, and I am waiting for you, Mr. Broseley," replied the little man in his low, impassive voice.

"Waiting for me, are you?" retorted Broseley.

Then he looked round the hut as if he could not believe his eyes, as if he expected Maida and Carrie to come out of some hiding-place.

"When did you come here?" he asked.

"Some hours ago," said David Jones as calmly as before.

"Where are the ladies?" demanded Robert, fiercely.

"Ladies? What ladies?" asked the little man in a leisurely fashion.

"I left two ladies here," said Robert. "Two young ladies."

David Jones shook his head.

"I've not seen any," he said. "They were not here when I came."

Robert stared at him.

"How did you get in, the door was locked?"

David Jones jerked his head towards the shutter behind him and struck it open with his hand.

Robert uttered an awful oath, the blood rushed to his face, his lips twitched.

"By God, they've gone!" he said in a thick voice. Even now he could scarcely believe in their flight.

"I guess they have," said David Jones, quietly. "If ever they were here. Who were they?"

"Maida—the Miss Carringtons," Robert blurted out, off his guard for a moment. "That is—my wife and her sister. How do I know you didn't help them?" he added, threateningly.

David Jones shrugged his shoulders.

"You've only my word for it," he said. "Rather a strange way of treating your newly married wife, Mr. Broseley, isn't it, locking her up in a desolate hut as if she were a criminal? It isn't the way they treat wives in England, or in Australia either, for that matter. But that's your business, not mine—leastways, we won't discuss that. The ladies appear to have gone; and I'm not surprised, seeing the sort of man you are."

Robert glared at him with a mixture of amazement and ferocity. That this little, common-place man should sit there and use such language to him, Robert Broseley, simply astounded him; but he thrust his anger aside, crushed it down, as it were, that he might concentrate all his mind upon Maida's flight.

"If I had you up at Milda Wolda, I'd teach you better manners and a civilier tongue, my man," he said.

"It wouldn't be by example, anyway," remarked David Jones, impassively.

Robert bit his lip and ground his teeth.

"I'll deal with you afterwards," he said. "Just answer a few questions and answer them straight, or it will be the worse for you. Which way did you come?"

"The Melbourne Road," replied David.

"Did you meet two ladies?"

"No," said David Jones; "I met no one."

"You swear that?" demanded Robert, fiercely.

"No, I say it," said David. "You do quite enough swearing for both of us. I met no ladies on the Melbourne road, and I should say that they're gone either to Milda Wolda or Dartford. You seem to have got married in a hurry, Mr. Broseley."

As he spoke, he knocked the ash from his pipe and put his hand in his pocket, as if to take out his pouch. Robert Broseley swore between his teeth.

"D—n you! what business is that of yours? I'll have a reckoning with you presently; but I've no time to waste now. I'm going to follow—my wife. You'd better clear out if you value a whole skin."

"No, you're not going yet," said David, so slowly that he almost drawled. "Don't go for your revolver, Mr. Broseley. I've got you covered through my coat. It's a short range, and I should shoot you as dead as a door-nail."

With the words, out flashed his revolver, and he covered Robert. There was an ominous glint in the pale eyes, a rigidity about the thin lips, which added force to his words.

Robert stood as if turned to stone, for he read death writ large in the common-place countenance.

"See here, now, Mr. Broseley," said David; "you've some devilry in hand here. I suspected you of it, when I saw you up at Milda Wolda. You didn't look like a happy bridegroom; but you did look like a man capable of any kind of villainy, any kind of meanness, to get your own way. When you said that you were married to Miss Carrington, I had my doubts about it—I've got my doubts still. At any rate, if she is married to you, she is married against her will, or why should you shut her up in this place? Don't you trouble to answer; the man who is coward enough to lock up a girl in a lonely hut must be a liar as well. I've my doubts, as I say; and I'm going to settle 'em. It's me who is going after the ladies, and you're going to stay here."

Robert swore; the sweat stood on his forehead, his eyes were disfigured with passion and rage—an impotent one—for the revolver was pointed directly at his heart, and he knew, as surely as he knew that there was a sky above them, that this wretched, little man would shoot him if he moved.

"She's my wife—we were married," he said, hoarsely.

"That may or may not be. I'm going to find her and see," said David Jones, quite calmly.

He arose as he spoke and advanced to Robert Broseley, still covering him, and, with a dexterity which amazed even Robert, he whipped Robert's revolver from his pocket.

"Now, Mr. Broseley, I've nearly done with you. You'd better stay here and make yourself as comfortable as you can until I send someone down with a horse for you, for I'm going to take one of those you brought and loose the other—"

Robert flung himself on the couch and twisted his great hands together—the revolver was not covering him now, but he knew that it would do so if he made the slightest offensive movement.

"Look here," he said, speaking with difficulty. "I don't know who you are, why you want to interfere with me and my business; but you've got the pull on me—for the present, only the present, mind!—and I'm ready to make terms with you. Give me one of the horses, let me go after—after my wife, and I'll make it worth your while. I'll give you fifty, a hundred, two hundred pounds—more; I'm a rich man—"

"You are not rich enough to buy David Jones," he said. "You make my doubts crowd quicker on me. If you were sure of the young lady you wouldn't mind staying quiet here. I've met your kind before, Mr. Broseley; and I've got an uneasy kind of feeling that I'm neglecting my dooty in not putting a bullet through you; but the worst of men ought to have time to repent, and I'll give you yours."

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S GAME.

Red Lions202 101 0-6
B. I. S.201 000 1-4

One of the largest gatherings of fans for the season saw the Red Lions successfully outwit the B.I.S. by 6 runs to 4. A win for the Irish would have ensured them the pennant, but as it stands now both clubs are equal on one game each to play. Promptly at 7 o'clock "Chief" Cheshman called Play Ball, with Major Montgomerie watching the bases. Gowans, the new pitcher, for the red-and-gray aggregation was a success, and received magnificent support from the other members of the team—both at bat and in the field. Hillz's work as backstop was particularly brilliant. The Irish battery worked with its well known precision, but their infield bunched a half dozen errors in the early stages of the game, and very costly ones they were, and are likely to cost them the pennant. The umpires had some very difficult close plays to pronounce on, especially Major Montgomerie on the bases, but their decisions were to everybody's satisfaction and no kicks were registered by the players. There was no heavy hitting, but Quick's batting and Mullings' stealing were features of the game, together with Channing's and French's difficult flies.

1st Inning.

R. L.—Power's liner did not enable him to reach first. Quick had better success. Cooney struck out. Cooney was given free transportation, and Health's hot grounder scored Quick but was left on third himself when Rolls struck out and Mullings' pop fly was grabbed. 2 runs.

B.I.S.—French fanned. Williams and Brien were both given walks. Channing struck out. On passed balls both Williams and Brien scored. McGrath hit safely but died stealing second. 2 runs.

2nd Inning.

R. L.—Mullings took his three fourths. Jenkins' hot fly, but nabbed robbing the keystone. Gowans struck out. No runs.

B.I.S.—The Grace Bros. feeble taps were fanned. Brazie singled and was left on the bases when Carew's pop fly was grabbed. No runs.

3rd Inning.

R. L.—Power and Quick, both reached first through Cooney. Quick hit a double play was worked on him by P. Grace to Brien when the former gathered Hillz's fly to centre. Hillz was on second, but was left on second when Rolls failed to secure a footing on the initial sack. 2 runs.

B.I.S.—French was presented with a walk, as was Williams. A passed ball let the former in before Brien, Channing, and McGrath's feeble taps were picked up. 1 run.

4th Inning.

R. L.—Mullings' Texas leaguer was a beauty, and by clever stealing got around safely. Jenkins swept the air three times without connecting.

with anything in particular. Gowans walked but was left on second when Power fanned. 1 run.

B.I.S.—The Grace Bros. again repeated their previous performance and Brazie was caught out. No runs.

6th Inning.

R. L.—Quick again singled. Cooney's fly found a resting place in Channing's glove in left field. Hillz lined one out but it resulted in Quick being nabbed at second. Heath took his three healthies and retired the side. No runs.

B.I.S.—Carew's hit was too weak to secure him safely. French singled. Williams fanned. Brien and Channing both walked. With the sacks soused the Irishmen had here their one great chance. McGrath was in the pinch, but his gentle roller to Gowans enabled the Lions to work a double play when they got French going home. No runs.

6th Inning.

R. L.—Rolls hit and scored on a passed ball before Mullings struck out and Jenkins' Gowans' hits proved ineffective. 1 run.

B.I.S.—For the third time P. Grace's supine grounder availed him nothing. C. Grace was caught out. Brazie was presented with first, but was left on the circuit when Carew's grounder to Power retired them. No runs.

7th Inning.

R. L.—It was now quite dark, and the Lions were unable to find Carew who struck out Power and fielded Quick's easy one. Cooney popped. No runs.

B.I.S.—French again vainly smote the air. Williams connected and scored on Brien's single. The latter was left on third when Channing struck out and McGrath's pop fly went to Gowans. 1 run.

PLAYERS.

NEXT LEAGUE GAME.

The next game will be played on Tuesday not-to-morrow night as previously announced. The B.I.S. will have to face the Wanderers, and a win for them is essential if they wish to be in the race with the Lions. This night week the Cubs will have another go at the Hillz crew. Should the Lions and Irish lose both these games, all four clubs will have to play off, while if they both win then the race will be between them. Next week therefore will produce the most interesting baseball of the season.

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove all her with gloom. A Gas range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. ITALIAN SUCCESSES.

ROME, Aug. 22.—More than 13,000 Austro-Hungarian prisoners have been captured by the Italians in their offensive on the Isonzo front, the Italian war department announced today. The Italians have also taken 30 guns. General Cadorna reports the Italians have gained new successes along the whole battle line. North of Gorizia operations are proceeding regularly. To the south the struggle is localizing, especially on the Carso front.

The present Italian offensive is on a vaster scale than any previous one. The new features were the shortening of the usual period of artillery preparation, which lasted only 24 hours, but was so arranged that beginning lightly it increased steadily and rapidly until a hurricane of shells was falling. Then when it suddenly ceased a squadron of airplanes flew in advance of the assault troops forming the first line and using their machine guns on the Austrians at short range. Many prisoners were made deaf by the violence of the detonations. They had believed their positions quite impregnable.

ANOTHER BRITISH ATTACK.

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 22.—The British began another operation northeast of Ypres at dawn today on the battle-scarred ground between Langemarck and Frezenberg. No details are yet available from this sector which was the scene of some heavy fighting last Thursday, in the assault by the British. Meanwhile the conflict continues about Lens, though apparently greatly diminished in intensity, with the Canadians still holding the Germans off from the positions which they had gained in the western part of the city yesterday and at the same time clinging tenaciously to the numerous new posts in the German line on the northwestern section. Piers hard to hand fighting continued late into the night, especially in the northwest portion which lies between the Germans and Hill 70. The Germans continued to fling heavy counter attacks against the Canadians and the battle surged back and forth. This morning the advantage rested with the British, and nowhere had the Germans been able to reach lines from which the Canadians began their offensive yesterday morning. It now appears from statements of German prisoners that the German counter attack at dawn yesterday, which by a strange coincidence began at the same hour as the Canadian, was a preliminary to a general counter attack which had as its object the recovery of Hill 70, the possession of which is necessary if the Germans are to continue their hold on Lens.

FRENCH GAINS.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The battle of Verdun has not yet ceased and on the left bank of the Meuse the French troops have captured several points including the village of Regleville. On the right bank the French have occupied Samedieux and carried a system of fortified trenches, which links this place up with Hill 244. The official report from the French war office, announcing the successes, says that all German counter attacks have been repulsed.

CANADIAN GAINS.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Two thousand yards of German positions west and northwest of Lens have been captured by Canadian forces in a drive started early today, says the British official communication issued this evening. Heavy fighting is still going on in the region of the coal city with the Canadians having the upper hand. Three counter attacks by the Germans met with repulse.

GOOD PROGRESS AND PRISONERS.

(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Reuter's correspondent at the British Headquarters in France, telegraphed today: The Canadian troops around Lens launched another attack converging on the western environments of the town at half-past four this morning. The dawn broke with a thick haze. When the infantry went over the top, they saw masses of shadowy grey figures advancing towards them. It was actually a fact that the Germans had planned an attack to be delivered at the identical moment as our men and what is probably one of the most desperate hand-to-hand battles of the war ensued. In the words of an eye-witness the Germans fought like cornered rats. In the shell-torn wire-encumbered zone of No Man's Land, this struggle raged, bomb and bayonet being the principal weapons. Gradually the Canadians beat back the Huns, and about 15 minutes after the clash came the enemy were making their last stand upon the parapet at their trenches. Then they retreated as rapidly as possible into the ruins of Lens and almost immediately a furious machine gun fire began to rattle forth. Along the northern part of the Canadian attack from the direction of Cite St. Emille, good progress was made. Strict orders had been given that the advance was not to be pushed beyond given limits. In the centre and southern portion, the attack was fiercely resisted and the latest news is that fighting is still in progress. A good many prisoners, of whom large proportions are wounded have been brought in.

POSITIONS MAINTAINED.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The following is the official communication issued today: South and west of Lens the new positions captured by us yesterday morning on the outskirts of Lens have been maintained. Further progress has been made at certain points northwest and north of Lens, also. As a result of heavy fighting, in the course of which German counter attacks were repulsed by our rifle and machine gun fire or broken up by our artillery, some additional ground has been secured in advanced positions captured on the 15th. There has been great artillery activity during the night on both sides east and northeast of Ypres.

FRENCH HOLD FAST.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The second day on the new battle of Verdun was taken up, as was expected by desperate efforts of the Germans. The long artillery preparation of the French, interrupted as it was by bad weather, had given the Germans time to mass reserves for counter attack. They had withdrawn their forces from their advanced lines which were too greatly exposed to the French artillery. Massing these men together with reserves around the extremities of the sector attacked between Avocourt and Bezonvaux in readiness for counter attack, the Germans had given the counter attacks were made in the evening. All of them were repulsed. The gains of the French were maintained entirely, further advances were made and large numbers of prisoners added to the previous total. It is known the Germans had five divisions of reserves in readiness for this battle and more than four hundred batteries. They began to weaken before the bombardment, and a great many of them surrendered. One complete platoon in charge of non-commissioned officers gave itself up in a group.

GERMAN COUNTER ATTACK REPULSED.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The Germans made a violent counter attack last night on the Verdun front. West of the Meuse they penetrated the French lines at some points in their attempts to recapture the ground taken from them in the first French offensive, but the war office announces they were again driven out.

The Germans attacked east of the river also but were repulsed. The number of prisoners taken has reached 6,116.

CANADIAN CONGRATULATED.

Canadian Headquarters, France, via London, Aug. 22. (By Stewart Lyon, Special Correspondent to the Canadian Press.)—Sir Douglas Haig, in a message of congratulation to Sir Arthur Currie and officers and men of the Canadian Corps, makes short work of the lying German wireless reports that the Canadians attacked with 4 divisions when Hill 70 and St. Laurent were captured, and failed to reach their objectives, despite extraordinary losses to them. The message follows: "Lieut. General Sir Arthur Currie, commanding the Canadian Corps; General Sir Henry Horne, Commanding the First Army, has much pleasure in forwarding the following message received from Field Marshal Commander in Chief: Please convey the following message from me to Lieut. Gen. Sir A. W. Currie, Commanding the Canadian Forces: I desire to congratulate you personally on the complete and important success with which your command of the Canadian Corps has been inaugurated. The two divisions you employed on the 15th last, totally defeated four German divisions, whose losses are reliably estimated at more than double those suffered by the Canadian troops. The skill, bravery and determination shown in the attack and maintaining the positions won against repeated heavy counter attacks were in all respects admirable." Congratulatory messages have also been received from the Commanders of the armies on the western front. General Byng in his message, after expressing his delight at the fine achievement of the Corps, says his old comrades have been much in his mind during the progress of the operations.

AIR RAID ON YORKSHIRE.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—An official announcement today says: Airships in numbers not definitely ascertained, appeared off the Yorkshire Coast last night. One of the raiders attacked the mouth of the Humber and was fired on by anti-aircraft guns. She dropped some bombs but made off to sea. The message so far reported is slight; one man was injured. An air raid warning was issued in London this morning. About one hour later the announcement "all clear" was made, indicating that the raiders had been driven off.

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL.

PETROGRAD, To-day.—The war office communication issued today says: In the direction of Ivinok there has been animated fusillades. More intense artillery bombardment on the part of the enemy took place in the region north of Lake Drisvaty. In the direction of Vladimir Volynsky and north of Zatur the Germans carried out gas attacks and endeavored to develop an offensive which was frustrated by our fire. On the Roumanian front, on the Pistriz in the region southeast of Krutche, the enemy launched several attacks which were repulsed by our infantry. Yesterday in the direction of Ocha the enemy undertook an energetic offensive south of the River Blotkud and along the Mount Alonous Range between the Slavic and Otman. Towards evening he succeeded in making a slight advance. Fighting for the possession of the factory at Stakleris continued during the whole of yesterday with varying success. In the direction of Fokshani and west of the Fokshani-Ajud railway the Roumanians beat off all German attacks. East of the railway by a series of counter attacks, the Roumanians drove the enemy from the trenches occupied by him on the previous day and the position was restored. On the Baltic Sea on Sunday several squadrons of enemy hydro-airplanes carried out three flights over the Oesel coast in the Gulf of Riga. Our airmen meeting the enemy forced him to retire. Our airmen carried out a flight over the Courland coast line where they dropped bombs on enemy military establishments.

SPANISH RIOTING.

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 22. (By Courier to the French Frontier.)—Violent rioting has been taking place in Barcelona and neighborhood since last month, when a general strike was proclaimed. Firing from the roofs of houses and from behind half closed shutters has been going on daily. A considerable number of persons have been killed and many more wounded, though no reliable figures were available.

ZEPPELIN DESTROYED.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—British light naval forces destroyed a Zeppelin airship this morning off the Jutland-Denmark coast, says an official communication issued this morning. The communication adds there were no survivors from the crew of the airship.

Re-Selective Drafting.

In order to obtain enough men to keep up the numbers of their contingents at the Front decimated by bullet and disease and further to play what they consider a decent and honorable part in the Great War for humanity the non-Front World is waging, the Motherland, the United States, the Australian and Canadian Governments have thought selective drafting of the fit not required at home to do a worthy part there to be indispensable.

In Newfoundland a large if not the entire bulk of intelligent, patriotic public opinion regards as at all events the ideal policy the same course to raise men to relieve the great strain on our veteran Regiment, how to keep it in being, there were a number, including His Excellency the Governor, who is the Colonel of the Regiment, and others of note, who thought it could be done by voluntary recruiting. There are, no doubt, others of prominence that hold the same opinion. There is this much from a practical standpoint to say on the question namely that this country must strenuously support its Boys fighting for us on land and sea. Our National Government cannot do less than keep up the Regiment to proper war strength. If they have made up their mind to continue to try Voluntarism they must accept the responsibility of so doing, and spare neither time, money or endeavour in vindicating their attitude thru insuring and carrying on a great Recruiting Campaign. To adequately keep up our present War Force at the Front is the very least they must do. Most Newfoundlanders that think rightly on the matter will feel sorely disappointed that Britain's Most Ancient Colony is not to play a higher part and take its place now alongside of Canada, and Australia, New Zealand, not to speak of the Old Country and the United States in the great forward move they are forced to put on for honor sake and to bring the war to a quick and satisfactory end will feel disappointed that we at home at our ease will not rise to the heights we should. They should not give over hope and effort to bring their desires to realization. They must certainly see to it that as a minimum our Regiment is not abandoned. —Harbor Grace Standard, August 17.

"In the Greatest Luck."

Chicago Tribune: We are in the greatest luck a nation can ask, which is that if it has to fight it does not fight on its own soil. It has been Germany's great good fortune to keep the battles of German soil except in the case of East Prussia, and the overrunning of a part of East Prussia is regarded as one of the great

These are conditions for which Americans should be grateful. If they protest against the injustice of them they are insane. We do not want to furnish American battlefields. It is bad enough to be obliged to use European ones. Bad enough in Flanders and France, but thank God, not in New York and New Jersey.

Spare Blades kept in stock.

Six Blades with each Razor.

Gentlemen:--

One moment--please. Do you shave yourself? If not; Why not? Secure from us a Durham Duplex Domino Safety Razor and enjoy a LUXURIOUS SHAVE. Used and stropped the same as any ordinary open blade Razor. To the young man beginning to shave it is a boon. To the man who is nervous of shaving himself it is a pleasure. To the man who has never shaved himself it means a save of TIME and MONEY. Impossible to cut yourself while using a Durham Duplex Safety.

Just Try it Yours f.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"There was a young lady said 'Why? Can't I look in my ear with my eye? If I put my mind to it Perhaps I can do it You never can tell you see."

RUTH CAMERON

"That is one of my favorite 'no sense rhymes. I think I have quoted it before in support of the contention that a one can often do much more than one thinks one can. In short that one never can tell till one tries, what one can do."

"Today I want it to point the opposite moral--namely that one never can tell till one tries what one can't do."

He Would Step And Rest.

"A woman I know had a painter working for her by the day. It seemed to her that he was unnecessarily long in getting the work done. 'My dear,' she said, 'he just sits there and brushes back and forth and back and forth over the same spot. If he'd leave the paint there once he got it on, it wouldn't take him half so long. But he'll put the paint on and then go back over it and brush part of it off. And then every half hour or so he stops and lights and his pipe and just sits there for two or three minutes. And I'm paying for all that time. I declare I'm all out of patience.'"

"As it happened, at that time I had never seen any painting (like the woman herself) and consequently I sympathized with her. 'I suppose he wants to make all the money he can,' I said. That was three months ago."

Painting One Of Many Things Not So Simple As They Look.

"To-day if anyone complained to me" because a painter brushed out his strokes or rested a few minutes to give his wrists new strength. I would know what to say. I've been there myself. I know that painting, which looks like the simplest thing in the world has a knack to it like many other things we think if we only cared to try we could do as well (or better) than the men who have studied their craft."

"I know that one cannot slap on the paint and leave it without brushing out the strokes. I know that when one paints any large surface one's wrists quickly become astonishingly tired."

How A Little Experience Would Help.
If people who rage about the slowness and the easiness of the carpenter and the plumber and the mason, and all the other artisans who serve us in one way or another, could have a week's experience at each kind of work, how their sympathies would be broadened!

Of course I do not mean that there is no such thing as soldering or over-charging. On the contrary! I only mean that the layman who criticizes and complains about the craftsman's work never can really know what he is talking about till he tries."

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.
Gentlemen, Ever since coming home from the Boer War I have been bothered with running fever sores on my legs. I tried many salves and ointments; also doctored continuously for the blood, but got no permanent relief, till last winter when my mother got me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT. The effect of which was almost magical. Two bottles completely cured me and I have worked every working day since.

Yours gratefully,
JOHN WALSH.

The Condition of Leslie Street.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Just a word or two as regards the public roads in this city. I see most of the roads here are fairly well looked after with the exception of one, and that is Leslie Street. As far as I can understand the Council has been talking about repairing Leslie Street some considerable time but nothing has been done so far. Go down to the far East of the city and just look at the roads down there: they are kept in fairly good condition. The Higher Levels the same, you then come to the West End. What do you find as regards the roads? They are fairly well looked after, those further up, until you come to Leslie Street. What do you see there? Why Leslie Street is left in a disgraceful state as any of the Council can see for themselves. If left much longer without making it a decent street it will soon become a Commons with carts crossing at all times. Having no drains to carry the rain water down. Look at the beautiful buildings going up there and still going up every year.

At present Leslie Street is a disgrace to those in authority in not keeping the street in good repair as well as others. We hope something will soon be done before the winter sets in so that Leslie Street will be a credit to the Council. The Mayor knows himself that Leslie Street should have been made good. In the first place, however, it is not too late to make it a decent street as we see others. If money is required the Council knows where to get it for Leslie Street in particular. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space.

Old Noah Count, who lives next door, is always steeped in sorrow; to-day has made him hot and sore, and he'll be worse to-morrow. Most men have troubles day by day, misfortunes often fret them, but they go forth and put up with 'em, and laboring, for- get them. Work is the surest, truest salve for all life's sores and bruises, the fairest tonic man can have, when he has his courage loses. But Noah Count won't go and toil at any time or season; he has rheumatism or a boil, or some sufficient reason. When red flag paragon come along, you see him with the hikers; he says the government is wrong, and all our statesmen pickers. He hates the world in which he dwells, he says it's base and sordid, and thinks he would be wearing bells if virtue were rewarded. If Noah Count would go to work, he'd think the world less rotten, and all his griefs that gall and irk would shortly be forgotten. The worker soon supplies his needs, and finds most troubles fictions; and it is idleness that breeds the harvest of afflictions.

GAINS HELD AT LENS.

LONDON, To-day.

In the face of heavy German counter attacks the British have maintained the newly gained positions on the outskirts of Lens. The War Office says that further progress has been made at some points.

SPANISH STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

MADRID, To-day.

The Ministry of the Interior announces that the Rio Tinto and Nerva miners, who have been on strike, have returned to work. Premier Dato left to confer with King Alfonso and submit decrees for his signature.

FRENCH PURCHASING AMERICAN SHIPS.

AT ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 22.

Gaster De Pollerin De La Touche, Director of the French Line, who had been named the delegate of a group of French shipbuilders to visit the States to purchase ships, arrived here to-day on a French steamer. Among the passengers on the same ship were three members of the Polish Mission to this country, one of them being Prince Poniatowski. A number of French Army Officers were on board, coming here to help train American troops.

SHIPPING LOSSES AGAIN SMALL.

LONDON, To-day.

The number of British merchantmen sunk by submarines or mines in the past week was only slightly larger than the previous week, when a considerable falling off was noted. According to the official statement, fifteen vessels of more than 1600 tons were sunk, and three vessels less than 1600 tons, and in addition two fishing vessels, as compared with fourteen large vessels the previous week, two small vessels and three fishing vessels. The Admiralty statement issued to-night says:—"Arrivals 2,558, sailings 2,764. British merchantmen sunk by mines or submarines over 1600 tons, including one previously mentioned, fifteen; under 1600 tons, three. British merchantmen unsuccessfully attacked, including two previously mentioned, 12; fishermen sunk, 2.

LETCHITZKY TO COMMAND NORTHERN ARMY.

PETROGRAD, To-day.

General Letchitzky has been appointed Commander on the Northern front, succeeding General Klembevsky. General Letchitzky was the right hand man of General Brusiloff in the successful drive of early summer last year when he captured many thousands of Austrian troops and occupied all Bukovina. Last March he was appointed on the Central front.

BRITISH MAKE FURTHER GAINS.

LONDON, To-day.

The British troops attacking fiercely again to-day have captured important strategic positions for a mile along the Ypres-Menin Road to a depth of nearly a third of a mile and further to the north carried forward their front about half a mile over an extent of two and a half miles. The fighting, according to an official report from British Headquarters to-night, was of the most desperate nature, the prisoners taken bearing a small ratio to the losses inflicted on the Germans. The text of the statement reads:—"Successful operations were undertaken by our troops this morning to the east and northeast of Ypres for the capture of a series of strong points and fortified farms lying a few hundred yards in front of our positions astride the Ypres-Menin Road and between the Ypres-Roulers railway and Lezennes. Bitter fighting has taken place at all points. The enemy again launched repeated counter attacks which suffered heavy losses from our artillery and machine gun fire. The struggle was particularly fierce in the neighborhood of the Ypres-Menin Road where the enemy fought desperately to retain command of the high ground. Here our line has been advanced to a depth of about 500 yards on a front of about a mile. A position giving important observation to the eastward was captured by us and our troops established themselves in the western portion of Inverness Copse. Further north our line has been carried forward on a front of two and a half miles to a greater depth of over half a mile. The garrisons of the captured farm and strong points resisted with the greatest stubbornness; in many cases isolated positions were only reduced after fighting lasting throughout the greater part of the day. In these operations we captured over 250 prisoners, but by reason of the obstinate nature of the fighting the prisoners taken bear more than a usually small proportion to the total losses inflicted on the enemy. The number of prisoners taken by us in the course of yesterday's fighting in the neighborhood of Lens is 194, bringing the total in this neighborhood since the morning of August 15th, to 1,378. In the same period we also captured in this area 34 machine guns, and 21 trench mortars so far counted. Yesterday there was again great activity in the air. On both sides severe fighting took place. Twelve German airplanes were brought down by our machines and five others were brought down out of control. Twelve of our airplanes are missing, including two which collided behind the enemy's lines during a bombing raid.

FUTILE RAID.

LONDON, To-day.

Lord French announced this evening that the latest reports of the air raid showed that altogether a number of enemy airplanes approached the Yorkshire Coast last night, only one, and at the most two, ventured overland. Twelve high explosive and thirteen incendiary bombs were dropped through small villages near the coast. A chapel was wrecked, several houses were damaged, and one man was injured. Lord French's report shows that bombs were dropped by the raiding airplanes on Dover, Margate and Ramsgate. There were no casualties at Margate, but at Dover and Ramsgate eleven persons were killed and thirteen injured. A hospital and some houses were damaged. The pilot of one of the enemy machines brought down was rescued, having been only slightly wounded. The Admiralty has issued the following amplification of Lord French's report: Ten enemy airplanes of the Gotha type were attacked by Naval airplanes in the vicinity of Ramsgate between ten and eleven a.m. to-day. The enemy machines, which were flying at a height between eleven thousand and twelve thousand feet, were closely engaged, and in addition to the two mentioned by Lord French in the earlier communication another was shot down by Royal Naval Air Squadron machine close to the coast. The remaining seven Gothas returned seaward followed by numerous Naval aircrafts.

FIGHTING IN THE EAST.

BERLIN, To-day.

The fighting activity of the Russians and Teutons revived yesterday on the Baltic and Galician ends of the Eastern front, according to an announcement made to-day by the German War Department. On the Roumanian front strong Roumanian forces attacked Austro-German positions in the region of Grozechi and Soveja, but the statement adds, all assaults were repulsed with heavy losses.

Shamrocks Defeat the City Team
IN PATRIOTIC CRICKET.

There was a big gathering of cricket enthusiasts at St. George's Field yesterday afternoon to witness the game between the old City and Shamrock teams when the latter won out by 2 wickets and three runs after some exciting play. The City went first to bat and rolled up a score of 60 runs, 32 of which were contributed by Rev. E. C. Clench, who gave a magnificent exhibition of batting. Mr. E. Taylor notched up 19 runs. Five of the team made "ducks eggs." The Shamrocks also met with five at the first innings but managed to score up 50 runs; C. Ellis, 12; J. Foley, 15; P. Wallace (not out) 9; P. Berrigan and K. Trenchard 5 each.

In the second innings the City team were dismissed for 42 runs. R. B. Job, not out, stood for 15; Lieut. Shannon, 7; Rev. Clench and L. Jones, 4. The Shamrocks again started to notch up the required runs and with nine men to bat, totalled 55 which put them in the lead. The chief scores were: Wallace (not out) 15; P. Berrigan (not out) 14, and J. Foley, 10. The bowling by Messrs. W. Peters and E. Taylor, for the City, and K. Trenchard and T. Ryan, for the Shamrocks, showed that they had lost none of their old time skill. In the second innings E. Power replaced P. Berrigan for a time behind the wickets, the latter having received a nasty blow from the ball on the nose.

The game all through was well contested and on Wednesday next a return game in aid of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Convalescent Home will take place.

Messrs. P. Myler and J. Donnelly acted as the umpires and the players were:—

A Soft, Clear Skin

There is a very good reason why so many women always keep Dr. Chase's Ointment at hand. The reason is apparent if you will but notice the soft, clear skin of the person who uses it.

Unlike pore-clogging powders, Dr. Chase's Ointment promotes the healthful action of the pores of the skin, and while it heals and cures eczema and every form of irritating skin disease, it is also equally effective as a beautifier of the skin.

Rough, red, harsh skin becomes soft and velvety when this soothing, healing ointment is applied at night after a warm bath. Write us for a free sample box, or buy a large box from your druggist and put this ointment to the test. You will be surprised and delighted at the results obtained.

"FAGS" FOR OUR BOYS.

If conditions are suitable, the much talked of clash between the football warriors of 1901 will come off this evening on St. George's Field. The object is to provide funds to buy cigarettes for the men on active service. So far, we understand, there are three thousand tickets sold for the game. All who possibly can should attend to help the swelling of the proceeds.

Honors for Gerard.

LONDON, Aug. 22. The statement that King George has conferred the Order of the Bath on Jas. W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, appears here for the first time in an official announcement in the Daily Mail, which says the decoration was given Gerard in recognition of his unceasing and courageous efforts to ameliorate the lot of British prisoners in Germany. The Daily Mail adds that the decoration was offered Gerard in February, but that he was unable formally to accept it until his retirement from the diplomatic service. The G. C. B. involves a knighthood with the prefixed title of "Sir."

Domestic Makes Haul of Gold

A young woman, said to belong to Bell Island, was sentenced to three months imprisonment for theft. Only recently she was engaged as a domestic by a family named Soper, at Carbonara, and on Sunday last made a haul of $169 in gold, which was stowed away in a cash box, and a quantity of clothing belonging to her mistress. She then made a quick get-away, quartering at the Central Hotel where she said that she had just returned from a suburban village where she had been on a visit and on retiring informed the proprietor that she desired to be called early next morning in order to connect with the train for St. John's enroute to her home (?) in the United States.

Her absence from the Soper residence naturally caused suspicion. The whereabouts of the domestic were ascertained and she was placed under arrest. She was arraigned before Magistrate Penney, convicted and the sentence, mentioned above, imposed.

Motor Cycle in Collision

While passing through Topsail yesterday on his motor cycle with side car attached Mr. Walter Lawrence had a narrow escape from serious injury, when going up the road he was standing on the road, and Mr. Lawrence was going between the beams when one of the cars swerved and struck his ear, throwing him to the ground violently, as a result of which he was badly cut and bruised. He was attended by Dr. Burden, who passed later. The lady friend, who accompanied Mr. Lawrence, occupied the side car was also thrown out, but was very fortunate in escaping practically unscathed.

At the Crescent.

A quaint story of "Old English Life and Love" is told in "Dora" a biograph masterpiece in three reels, presented at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day, featuring Isabel Rea, supported with an all star cast; another thrilling adventure of Great Police Reporter 58, "The Trunk Mystery" with George Larkin and Olive Kirby. Hughie Mack features in "Tubby Turns the Tables," a rich vitagraph comedy. Madame Timmons sings "The Lullaby from Jocelyn," a classy ballad, one of Madame Timmons' favorite numbers; the usual first class musical programme with drums and effects.

Prohibition for British Columbia.

Victoria, B.C., August 17.—The bill bringing the prohibition act into effect October 1st will be passed to-day. It was introduced by the premier yesterday, given the first and second readings and the committee of the whole house reported progress upon it after voting down an amendment by R. W. Pooley, of Esquimalt, to delay the operation of the prohibition act until January 1st.

The Profits Tax and the Council.

The Special Session of the Legislature summoned to deal with the situation called forth by the Legislative Council throwing out by a vote of 9 to 7 the Profits Tax introduced by the Government, opened yesterday. The Speech from the Throne indicates that no compromise has yet been reached and that the Bill will be introduced, and also another to prevent the Upper Chamber having "any authority over financial matters." The Government expects to enforce its will by adding five members to the present membership of the Council.

The general desire of the country was, we believe, and is in favor of a peaceful settlement of the dispute between the House and the majority in the Council before the session opened. We hope it is not too late yet. Even if the Bill were fatal in the interests of the people at large, which it is universally acknowledged it is not, and which its advocates in the Assembly and outside confessed it was not, everything points to the advisability of not enforcing it in such a way as to unnecessarily antagonize men some of whom have not made exorbitant profits and they have otherwise shown a very patriotic spirit. Had the Bill been one that would have gone after the Big Profiteers and Big Incomes (instead of letting them off easy and arraying some of them in the other camp against men not so bad in that respect as they) and had the Council opposed it, even then a fight in the country over it, if it could honorably be avoided would be deplorable—much more over the present matter in dispute.

As to taking away from the Council its power to do any more than suggest improvements in financial bills, the fact that the House was apparently quite prepared to accept a bill that the Government itself afterwards amended so as not to bear too hardly on the poorer business man shows that a check on the House action is sometimes advisable in the interest of the whole country. But while this may be so we do not say that the subject of curtailing the power of or doing away with the Council altogether is not one for discussion, but we think it should not be done in hot haste, we had almost said, hot-headedness. It might indeed be better to defer the matter till the Councilors as a whole antagonised more the people's interests than they have done or until Confederation looms into sight. Anyhow, unless there was more justification for the act than we fear there is, we don't like packing of the House to carry any measure a government sets its mind on. We, however, deprecate opposing a National Government unless regard for the country's interests demand it, and we should like to see both sides show a disposition to settle the difference between them.

All patriotic sensible men should fight shoulder to shoulder the common enemy, the Teuton Tyrant. Surely both sides can settle how best a quarter of a million can be obtained, and let us add, how the Big Graters can be got to hand back their millions without setting the country in a turmoil and these are the ones, the Big Interests, both the Business man making his ordinary profit and the National Government should go after.—Harbor Grace Standard.

Shark Eats U-Boat Victims.

(From London paper.)
Reuter states that when the steamer Marston, a Glasgow vessel of 2908 tons, was torpedoed on July 15, the first explosion awaked the cook, who, picking up a hatch, jumped overboard. After the ship had disappeared he counted 17 of the crew clinging to wreckage.
At that moment the submarine came to the surface in the midst of her straggling victims, the white officer stood looking through his binoculars for several minutes at the man. He ignored all appeals for assistance.
Then one of the drowning men disappeared with a piercing scream, and a moment later another vanished. The horror of the situation had been enhanced by the arrival of a school of sharks. One by one all these brave men suffered a horrible death.
The scene was too much even for the U-boat commander, for he closed the trapdoor of the conning-tower and submerged. Fifteen hours later the solo survivor of the Marston was rescued by a British steamer.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When a husband and wife are invited to a church wedding and a reception following at the home of the bride's aunt, how should the invitation be answered when the invited ones are unable to accept the invitation on being issued in the name of the bride's parents?" asked Mrs. Maynard.
"Under such circumstances one of the wife's cards should be posted to the bride's parents the day of the marriage," advised her city friend.

Public Notice!

The attention of the public is called to the seriousness of the COAL situation.

There is at present in St. John's a quantity of coal ready for immediate delivery. Those who are able to stock coal for the coming winter would be well advised to secure same immediately.

Coal which has to be stored for autumn delivery is liable to be much more expensive because of possible shortage of supply, shortage of tonnage and because of an additional charge for cost of storage.

Buy now and you not only save money for yourself, but you help to keep the price of coal from soaring to an excessive figure during the Winter and early Spring when navigation is closed.
